Still, as like a gentleman way Sārvabhauma anyhow hesitatingly put this bold question to Caitanyadeva: "Then You say that what I'm explaining for so many days that is all unsubstantial, unreal. Then can You give the proper meaning – this is improper, this is false – the real meaning of Vedānta?"

[Caitanyadeva replied] "If you order Me I shall, I may try. Vyāsa sūtra, it is very ornamental, it is very lustrous in itself. It is all leading towards that Parabrahman, that Kṛṣṇa." Then, anyhow Mahāprabhu began with this introduction and He told: "The Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is the real explanation, explanatory book of Vedānta."

artho 'yaṁ brahma sūtrānām, bhāratārtha-vinirṇayaḥ gāyatrī bhāṣya rūpo
'sau, vedārthaḥ paribriṁhitaḥ

["Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam represents the real purport of Vedānta-sūtra. And although it is very difficult to draw out the real purpose of the one hundred thousand verse epic Mahābhārata, the great history of the world, Śrīmad Bhāgavatam has come to give its real meaning. The mother of all Vedic knowledge is the Gāyatrī mantra. Śrīmad Bhāgavatam gives the gist of Gāyatrī in a very full-fledged way. And the supplementary truths of the Vedas are also found within Śrīmad Bhāgavatam."] [Garuḍa-Purāna]

In Padma-Purāna or Garuḍa-Purāna it is mentioned perhaps. Artho 'yaṁ brahma sūtrānām, this Bhāgavatam is the real, represents the real purport of Vedānta-sūtra, brahma sūtrānām. Bhāratārtha-vinirṇayaḥ, and that vast literature of Mahābhārata, one lākh of śloka, it is very difficult to take out the real purpose of that book. Śrīmad-Bhāgavata has come to give the real meaning, bhāratārtha-vinirṇayaḥ. Gāyatrī bhāṣya rūpo 'sau, the mother of the Vedic knowledge is Gāyatrī, and Śrīmad-Bhāgavata really gives the very gist explained in a full-fledged way, that of Gāyatrī. Vedārthaḥ paribrimhitaḥ, and the conscious supplementary teachings of the Veda are also here. So Bhāgavata is the – Vedānta must be explained in the line of the truth which has been expressed in Bhāgavata, then the real meaning will be.”

Then when the question of Bhāgavata came, then Sārvabhauma could not, as smārta he could not deny Bhāgavatam, so he told, “Yes. Bhāgavata also I like, and especially there is a śloka:

ātmārāmāś ca munayo, nirgranthā apy urukrame kurvanty ahaitukīm
bhaktim, ittham-bhūta guṇo hariḥ

“A very beautiful śloka there is.” Then Sārvabhauma himself, to regain his lost prestige, he began to explain this ātmārāmā śloka, and in eight ways he explained it, this ātmārāmā śloka.

Then Mahāprabhu, as previously, He's hearing, then after finishing his eight ways of explanation of this śloka Sārvabhauma thought that he had regained his position, to certain extent. Still, as courtesy, he put to Mahāprabhu: "Are You satisfied with this explanation? But if You can give more light to that, of course I may listen to that."

Then Mahāprabhu: "If you order Me I may try." Then Mahāprabhu gave eighteen different types of explanations of that śloka, leaving away those nine [?] already taken by Sārvabhauma.

Then while attending to that explanation Sārvabhauma gradually losing his position – finished. The pride is finished. "Such consistent and beautiful, devotional and irresistible explanations are coming, superseding all those that with great energy and effort I came to the position to explain. And what I thought, no human being can cross this sort of explanation. So it is no human intellect can cross my, these different sorts of explanation. It is all covering. But this young boy what's He doing?"

And gradually he lost his faith in him, nonplussed. And then he saw, when the thought came that, "Gopīnātha told that He's not a man. This is not possible for a man to explain things in this way, so He's something super natural."

Then he found Caitanyadeva in His, that Nārāyaṇa and Kṛṣṇa, He's there. And he almost fainted. Then anyhow when he rose from his trance found that that boy with humility He's sitting there, and He's in the position of a student.

Then Mahāprabhu told that, “Today I may go, by your consent?”

[Sārvabhauma told] “Yes, yes, You may go now.” Mahāprabhu went away and Sārvabhauma remained there. After some time he recovered and began, “What is this I saw, Catuḥbhuja Nārāyaṇa, then Vaṁśīvādana Kṛṣṇa? He’s not a man. So I’m not defeated by a man; that is my solace.” Sārvabhauma became a changed man.

[“I surrender unto the lotus feet of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is an ocean of mercy. He is the original Personality of Godhead, Kṛṣṇa, and has descended to teach us the real meaning of knowledge, renunciation, and devotion to Him.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 6.254] kālān naṣṭam bhakti-yogaṁ nijaṁ yaḥ, prāduṣkartuṁ kṛṣṇa-caitanya-

[Sārvabhauma Bhaṭṭācārya said: “Let the honeybee of my mind dive deep into the lotus feet of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Kṛṣṇa Himself. He has appeared to revive the path of unalloyed devotion, which had almost become lost due to the influence of time.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 6.255]

These two ślokaś composed by Sārvabhauma expressing that He's the incarnation of Nārāyaṇa.

Next morning, very early morning, Mahāprabhu with some prasādam from the Jagannātha temple ran to Sārvabhauma. Sārvabhauma was still in bed and Mahāprabhu came and asked aloud: "Sārvabhauma, what a wonderful taste of this Jagannātha prasādam, a very extraordinary taste. You please take it. I have come to you with this prasādam."

Sārvabhauma anyhow rose up from the bed, and Mahāprabhu is offering, and he can't but take. But not cleansing his mouth, a brāhmaṇa paṇḍita he will always cleanse his mouth, then he'll do some functions, sandhya, vandana, jāpa, then he'll take prasādam. But Mahāprabhu came and He's about to give it to his hand, what to do, he had to take.

Mahāprabhu told: "We have got from our previous experience what the taste is of these things, this is ghee, the rice, the sweet, and the spices, we all know how, what taste they have got, but this is wonderful. This has touched the lips, the saliva of Kṛṣṇa Himself, so it is wonderfully tasteful."

Then Sārvabhauma took and with uttering some mantram.

śuskaṁ paryuṣitaṁ vāpi, nītaṁ vā dūra-deśataḥ prāpti-mātreṇa bhoktavyaṁ, nātra kāla-vicāraṇā

["One should take the mahā-prasāda of Śrī Kṛṣṇa as soon as one receives it, without consideration of time or place, even though it may be dried up, stale, or brought from a distant country.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 6.225]

na deśa-niyamas tatra, na kāla-niyamas tathā

prāptam annaṁ drutaṁ śīṣṭair, bhoktavyaṁ harir abravīt

[“The prasāda of Śrī Kṛṣṇa is to be taken by gentlemen as soon as it is received, without hesitation. There are no regulative principles concerning time and place. This is the order of the Supreme Personality of Godhead.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 6.226]

Before taking any food, and began to dance. And Mahāprabhu also began to dance. And Mahāprabhu told: “Today I have conquered the whole when I conquered a scholar like Sārvabhauma.” [?] “Sārvabhauma he has got so much faith in mahā-prasāda that without doing any Vedic function he took the prasādam. My mission is successful.”

He began to dance and Sārvabhauma began to dance [?] and Sārvabhauma fell in a swoon. And then after some time Sārvabhauma’s rising he came to the feet of Mahāprabhu: “Please deliver me from...

“No, no, Sārvabhauma you are so great. You are My guardian. For you I have come here.” All these things! Then Gopīnātha Ācārya said: “Well, Sārvabhauma, how are you?” [Sārvabhauma replied] “It is by your grace that I got the grace of Mahāprabhu. You are my friend, in this way.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. So, today I may stop here.

81.11.11.A

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...it is not possible for us to observe the right day, then the day after we shall select. In the case of especially Ekādaśī it has been mentioned, not day before but day after. That should be accepted. That is the direction of Jīva Goswāmī.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: According to the almanac, this is the most inauspicious day of the year.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is the happiest and most fortunate day for you because being born on this day you came to Guru and Kṛṣṇa. Many birthdays already passed, but this birthday has taken you in connection of Kṛṣṇa. So it should be respected by you also. Not only by your disciples, friends and relatives but you also have some respect for this day blessed you.

So, in Rāmānanda Rāya Saṁvāda we find:

ye kāle vā svapane, dekhinu vaṁśi vadane, sei kāle āilā dui vairi ‘ānanda’ āra ‘madana,’ hari’ nila mora mana, dekhite nā pāinu netra bhari’ [punaḥ yadi kona kṣaṇa, kayāya kṛṣṇa daraśana, tabe sei ghaṭī-kṣaṇa-

pala diyā mālya-candana, nānā ratna-ābharāṇa, alaṅkṛta karimu sakala]

[“Whenever I had the chance to see Lord Kṛṣṇa’s face and His flute, even in a dream, two enemies would appear before Me. They were pleasure and Cupid, and since they took away My mind, I was not able to see the face of Kṛṣṇa to the full satisfaction of My eyes.”] [“If by chance such a moment comes when I can once again see Kṛṣṇa, then I shall worship those seconds, moments and hours with flower garlands and pulp of sandalwood and decorate them with all kinds of jewels and ornaments.”]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.37-8]

“When in My trance I came to have a divine vision of Kṛṣṇa, two enemies suddenly appeared.” Rādhārāṇī said; these are the sayings of Rādhārāṇī. ‘Ānanda’ āra ‘madana. “The ecstasy and also a feeling which is corresponding to the extreme love in complete self surrender. Ānanda’ āra ‘madana,’ hari’ nila mora mana, dekhite nā pāinu netra bhari’. And I could not see Kṛṣṇa very clearly. These two enemies disturbed Me. The ecstasy made Me self forgetful. And also My greed for His touch, that also another enemy. They did not allow Me to have a clear vision of Kṛṣṇa, darśana. So My thirst is not quenched of seeing Him.”

pala diyā mālya-candana, nānā ratna-ābharaṇa, alaṅkṛta karimu sakala

“Again if I get chance of that darśana, if fortunately any more chance I get of His darśana then what should I do? I shall rather, avoiding Kṛṣṇa, I shall rather try to worship the time, that moment, that minute, that second. I shall try to worship and propitiate the time that time may stay for some time. Punaḥ yadi kona kṣaṇa, kayāya kṛṣṇa daraśana, tabe sei ghaṭī-kṣaṇa-pala, diyā mālya-candana. With garlands and with sandal paste I shall try to worship the time, and not Kṛṣṇa. If time stands being propitiated with My respectful behaviour, then Kṛṣṇa will be there.

_____ [?] alaṅkṛta karimu sakala. Try to fix this time. You stay for some time. The Kṛṣṇa showing time, you be eternal here. Like lightening you come and go, vanish.”

So the time, we are to worship, deśa, kala, patra. The time, the place, that is also cinmaya, the paraphernalia of Kṛṣṇa is also worth, be fortunate to worship the paraphernalia more than we shall have to honour the paraphernalia more than Him. That is the clue to success. Kāṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa sambandha. They are devotee and He is at their disposal. So if we can propitiate them, they will take interest about me and they can keep them, I can't. I am helpless.

Devotee: So that is why we have come to take shelter at your lotus feet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

ārāadhanānām sarveśām, viṣṇor ārāadhanam param tasmāt parataram devi, tadīyānām samārcanam

[“O Devī, the most exalted system of worship is the worship of Lord Viṣṇu. Greater than that is the worship of tadīya, or anything belonging to Viṣṇu.”] [Padma-Purāṇa] & [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 11.2.45, purport] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 12.38, purport]

Once, Pārvatī-devī asked Mahādeva: “Of all the worship, whose worship is the best?”

Then Mahādeva told plainly: “The worshipping and devotion of Lord Nārāyaṇa, Viṣṇu; that is the highest.”

Then Pārvatī was a little mortified and disappointed: “But I am serving Mahādeva, so I’m holding a little lower position.”

But the next line came: Tasmāt parataram devi, tadīyānām samārcanam. “That more than that, devotion of the devotees of the Lord, that is more than that, more than the devotion of the Lord Himself.”

Then Pārvatī smiled. “Then I am serving the devotee of the Lord, Mahādeva is a devotee, vaiṣṇavānām yathā śambhuḥ. So I am in the right side, doing the best.”

[nimna-gānām yathā gaṅgā, devānām acyuto yathā vaiṣṇavānām yathā śambhuḥ, purāṇānām idam tathā]

[“Just as the Gaṅgā is the greatest of all rivers, Lord Acyuta the supreme among deities and Lord Śambhu [Śiva] the greatest of Vaiṣṇavas, so Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is the greatest of all Purāṇas.”] [Śrīmad-

Bhāgavatam, 12.13.16] & [SCSM's Śrī Śrī Brahma-saṁhitā, p 144]

And also Kṛṣṇa has said:

[ye me bhakta-janāḥ partha, ne me bhaktaś ca te janāḥ] mad bhaktānām
ca ye bhaktās, te me bhaktatamā mataḥ

“Those that worship Me direct, they are not devotee of the right type. But real devotees are those who are devoted to My own devotee.” [Ādi-Purāṇa] & [Laghu-Bhāgavatāmṛta, 2.6] & [BBT's Mukunda-mālā-stotra, 25, purport]

So, and that is true. If you love me, love my dog. To love ones dog, how much intensity to love, be with the master when one can love his dog. His dog, of course, not to take away the dog for himself: not with that idea, independent love for the dog. But because his dog, so I love him. That is the higher test to our love, whether real love or not.

So, because the Lord Himself is more pleased if He sees that His servant is being served. Why? Because His servants, they always serve Him and they won't take anything in return from Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa tries to give something, but they won't take. No express to enter something in return of the service. Cent per cent service: and not any possibility of any remuneration there. Not a hole through which some remuneration can be pushed. Wholesale servant, nothing but. He tries His best to give something in return, but He fails. But when He sees that this desired end is done by someone else, some third person, He becomes indebted to him, more.

“What I want to try My best to do, and I can’t, but another person is doing My job. What I wanted, he’s doing, I can’t. I fail. I like to do, but I fail, not accepted. But another person is doing the same thing which I desired.”

So He’s more inclined, Kṛṣṇa is more favourable to the man who is serving His servant. Then He comes to serve him. That is the underlying purpose, that, mad bhaktānām ca ye bhaktās, te me bhaktatamā mataḥ. “Those that are devotee of My devotee, they are My real devotee of My heart.” So bhakta-pūjā.

Devotee: Kṛṣṇa feels that through these devotees He can pay back His debt to His servants. Is that the mood Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, on His behalf, what He can’t, He’s unfit, another man is doing that, then He cannot but be satisfied from the core of His heart. “I’m trying my utmost, earnest to give something, to help me, but he won’t accept.” But another man is doing that, so He’s much inclined to that man who is doing that which He could not do. Mad bhaktānām ca ye bhaktās, te me bhaktatamā mataḥ. Superlative degree: so bhakta-pūjā, honouring the devotee.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Affirmed in Bhāgavatam and in Veda. Also it is mentioned by Caitanya-Bhāgavata, Vṛndāvana Dāsa Ṭhākura, amāra bhakta-pūjā, amā haite bala [“Worship of the devotees is the best kind of worship.”] So bhakta-pūjā is also necessary.

[ādarahḥ paricaryāyām, sarvāṅgair abhivandanam

mad-bhakta-pūjābhyadhikā, sarva-bhūteṣu man-matiḥ]

[Kṛṣṇa said: “My devotees take great care and respect in rendering Me service, offering obeisances with all their bodily limbs, and - above all - worshipping My devotees. They see all living entities as related to Me.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.19.21]

Devotee: In the Bhāgavatam it mentions Mahārāja that, amāra bhakta-pūjā, amā haite bala, but till we heard it from you, we did not know why.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You know it, guru-pūjā, bhakta srestha guru, mukunḍa prestha, bhakta srestha gurudeva, to worship Him, to respect Him, to devote everything to Him, that is a big thing. And you are aware of the fact, through Swāmī Mahārāja, of bhakta-pūjā. But at the same time we should look for that, who is bhakta. That is also to be ascertained, what is the sign of a real Vaiṣṇava, bhakta. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Yesterday you were discussing the progression from the sense objects, to the senses, to the mind, to the intelligence, and then to the conscious background of our life, the Brahman, and then beyond that to the person who is the source of the Brahman. And if someone were to succeed in going beyond the cloudiness of the mind, intelligence and so forth, and to reach the basic level of the conscious background of existence, then what kind of conscious adjustment has to be made at that point in order to pierce into the Vaikuṇṭha, or to go into the Vaikuṇṭha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say? Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Do you understand?

Devotee: The later part I couldn't.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Again repeat.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: If the soul, freed from that cloud, infinitesimal soul, fully aware of himself as spirit and not body and mind, then in that position, he is aware of the existence of Nārāyaṇa above him in the Vaikuṇṭha. And he wants to direct his consciousness towards that, what is the system at that point. How is it to be done?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen? Devotee: [17:10 - 17:55, Bengali [?]]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The real man who will worship his inside by sādhana, he is being discovered. And he will come to do the needful, the inner man. The inner soul, he will awake, and it will be his duty to do. And the external cover that will go away, vanish away gradually. And the inner man will come out to do his duty. Whatever circumstance he is faced, to do justice to the circumstance. Whether Nārāyaṇa, or Vāsudeva, or Kṛṣṇa, Baladeva, it is already there and he will come and recognize the object of his worship and love and duty. Am I clear?

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Yes, very clear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Back to God, back to home. He will recognize when he'll enter into the home, he will gradually recognize who is who, and to whom, how to deal. To enter into home means that, to be reinstated.

kr̥ti-sādhyaḥ bhavet sādhyā-bhāva sā sādhanābhidhā nitya-siddhasya bhāvasya prākāṣyaṁ hṛdi sādhyatā

[“The process of devotional service - beginning with chanting and hearing - is called sādhana-bhakti. This includes the regulative principles that are intended to awaken one to devotional service. Devotional service is always dormant in everyone’s heart, and by the offence-less chanting of the Holy Names of Kṛṣṇa, one’s original dormant Kṛṣṇa consciousness is awakened, as the beginning of sādhana-bhakti. This can be divided into many different parts, such as, - faith, association with devotees, initiation by the spiritual master, engagement in devotional service under the instructions of a spiritual master, steadiness in devotional service and the awakening of a taste for devotional service. In this way, one can become attached to Kṛṣṇa and His service, and when this attachment is intensified, it results in ecstatic love for Kṛṣṇa.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.2.2]

What is already there, only to discover, remove the cover, that is what is sādhana. The sādhana confines itself to uncovering. And it is there, he will recognize his own object, and duty also, everything.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: It lies in his nature to be attracted to that. So that nature will come out.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Yes. The atmosphere, paraphernalia, inner tendency, they will say, ‘you are to do this.’

During the last Great War, here, in Calcutta in the Writers [?] building, perhaps the government, they had painted a picture of the dress of the soldier. And there, just below, it is written, “Take this dress and the dress will say you what to do. Dress yourself with this uniform, and the uniform will say you what to do.”

So the paraphernalia and the inner awakening, they will say [to] you more clearly, this life is a vague one. But that is more and more clear, and more real, and more and more tasteful. So once it begins to vanish, it will be nowhere. When it will come in contact with that high power of divine love or anything like that, knowledge, this will vanish like anything. It will fly away of its own accord. That is reality and this is after all unreal foreign thing, which has covered. So when the sun rises, darkness flies away. What direction it can’t ascertain.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: We’ve heard that Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was worshipping Gaura and Gadādhara at some time. Could you explain that relationship?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaurāṅga and?

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Gadādhara.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gadādhara, yes. When devotees of Gaurāṅga, they have got twofold characteristic within: one, participating in Kṛṣṇa līlā, another in Gaura līlā. One in mādhyāya: another in audāya. One confined into their own līlā with Kṛṣṇa, another with the idea of distributing that to the public, mādhyāya and audāya.

Now, amongst those fortunate souls, or parṣadas, or servitors, there are also three gradations. One more attracted to Kṛṣṇa līlā, another more attracted to Gaura līlā, and some in the middle position. But when one is in Gaura līlā if his innate hankering comes to have a darśana of Kṛṣṇa līlā then of course the Gaura-Gadādhara appears to him as Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa.

And when participating in Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa līlā if sometimes he has got any will to have a conception of the figure Gaura līlā, how it will come, then he says that Rādhā-Govinda is transformed into Gaura-Gadādhara, in this way.

In this way, when inclination is to have the hankering for the service of particular līlā the Lord Himself manifests Himself in that paraphernalia, that nature, to satisfy the inner will of the devotee, for giving room to that sort of service. A peculiar tendency of service arises at times in the heart of the devotee, the Lord appears in that way to receive, to fulfil his desire to receive his services in that way, in that form. That is the reason, sometimes.

Sometimes a servant he is seeing his master in a plain dress. But suppose he had some hankering, 'I want to see my master in a gorgeous dress,' then the master, when he comes to know that, he appears before him in a gorgeous dress, grand, And sometimes in plain dress.

Sometimes one may appear as a king, as a lover, as a friend, according to the demand, or the hankering of the circumstance and the paraphernalia. But both, or everything, is eternal, only change of phase. And that also, some devotees are seeing in some way, another in another way.

And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is saying, "Gaura-Gadādhara and Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa They are."

Another devotee standing by the side, he may not see that. To satisfy the inner hankering, the opposite, the relative side also comes to response, the other side, vice versa. The law of relativity makes it possible.

When Rāmānanda Rāya, Mahāprabhu wanted to show His own: ‘Who are you?’

Rāmānanda Rāya, from the nature of the inquisitiveness of Mahāprabhu, Śrī Caitanyadeva, he had some mystic idea in his mind. “Who is He? He’s not an ordinary person, or sannyāsī, or a scholar, but something more. These inquiries are coming from where? His high inquisitiveness is a mystic, most undetectable thing. He must be Kṛṣṇa Himself, otherwise all these subtle points rising in my mind and making me, and forcing me to relate all these things.” Then he came with his open statement. “Who are You? I don’t think You are an ordinary sannyāsī scholar. But You must say to me who are You? You are Kṛṣṇa Himself. I have got a great impression, inspiration like that. And You must not hide me.”

Raya kahe chare bhuli bare bhuli [?] “First I saw as an ordinary brāhmaṇa sannyāsī, preaching about devotion of Kṛṣṇa. But gradually as You rise in a gradual improving process in Your inquiry, then the doubt in my mind arose. You have come to me. I have not gone to You. You have kindly come to me, to purify this nasty person. And now You conceal Yourself from me. I can’t understand. But whoever You be, I am sure that what You are inquiring after, You are that thing. You are He, Him, He is You.”

“Gradually my vision, my estimations about You are changing, changing, changing. First I saw You as a sannyāsī, brāhmaṇa, a devotee. And gradually I am of opinion that You are śyāma gopa rūpa, that cowherd boy, absolute in the garb of cowherd boy.”

“What is the peculiar thing I am seeing? That a golden figure is just standing by Your side, and the grace of that Lady has covered Your body. I see like that. What is this? What is the mystery? Please divulge it to me. With folded palm I ask You.”

Then Mahāprabhu told:

gaura aṅga nahe mora — rādhāṅga-sparśana, gopendra-suta vinā teñho touched the body of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. However, She does not touch anyone but the son of Nanda Mahārāja.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.287]

“My colour, My own colour is not yellow. But by the touch of Rādhārāṇī it shows like, appears like yellow. Her grace has covered Me. And:

gopendra-suta vinā teñho nā sparśe anya-jana. And She never touches anybody than Her lover, the cowherd Kṛṣṇa. So who am I? Now you know for yourself.”

Rasa-rāja mahābhāva dui eka rūpa, Rasa-rāja, the ecstasy, highest ecstasy personified and the highest appreciator of that ecstasy, both combined. Rasa-rāja mahābhāva dui eka rūpa.

[tabe hāsi’ tāñre prabhu dekhāila svarūpa] ‘rasa-rāja’, ‘mahābhāva’ — dui eka rūpa

[“Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the reservoir of all pleasure, and Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī is the personification of ecstatic love of Godhead. These two forms had combined as one in Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu. This being the case, Lord Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu revealed His real form to Rāmānanda Rāya.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.282]

dekhi’ rāmānanda hailā ānande mūrcchite, [dharite nā pāre deha, paḍilā bhūmite]

[“Upon seeing this form, Rāmānanda Rāya lost consciousness in transcendental bliss.

Unable to remain standing, he fell to the ground.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.283]

Rāmānanda could not stand any longer there, could not retain his normal consciousness, but fainted. Dharite nā pāre deha, paḍilā bhūmite. Of course they are seating, but he could not maintain his seating posture: a swoon.

prabhu tāñre hasta sparśi' karāilā cetana, [sannyāsīra veṣa dekhi' vismita haila mana]

[“When Rāmānanda Rāya fell to the ground unconscious, Caitanya Mahāprabhu touched his hand, and he immediately regained consciousness. But when he saw Lord Caitanya in the dress of a sannyāsī, he was struck with wonder.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.284]

Mahāprabhu touched him to awaken him, to take him in the normal position. Then Rāmānanda again saw that sannyāsī, that golden sannyāsī sitting in his front. Then after a pause Mahāprabhu told: “Now I can come? Now it is late, I am going.”

Rāmānanda struck dumb there. Mahāprabhu went away to the brāhmaṇa's house. pahile dekhiluṅ tomāra sannyāsi-svarūpa, ebe tomā dekhi muṇi śyāma-gopa-rūpa

[Rāmānanda Rāya then told Lord Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, “At first I saw You appear like a sannyāsī, but now I am seeing You as Śyāmasundara, the cowherd boy.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.268]

Only once Mahāprabhu showed Himself in this way, to Rāya Rāmānanda, and never anywhere in His whole līlā, we find. [?] There He expressed Himself, showed Himself in that type, who am I? Who am I? Rāmānanda Rāya, Rāmānanda Rāya.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura told, of course in his own humble way he is producing himself to us: “That when I began the study about Caitanya līlā, very sweet, charming. But I failed to understand why Caitanyadeva, a great scholar and man of character, He recommended to us the highest līlā of the Lord in Vṛndāvana. That is in His autocratic way, thieving, stealing, then quarrelling with the neighbours and friends. And so much so that He’s having illicit connection with the girls there. What is this? And this has been supported by a person like Caitanyadeva, of the purest character and the finest intellect. How is this possible? I prayed fervently. Lord if I am fit, You please reveal it in me. I can’t, I fail to understand, follow. That this is the highest attainment we should aspire after. How it is possible?” Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura said that: “That revelation came in me, how it is the highest conception of our all sorts of ideas, highest ideal. And at the same time, this simultaneously came in me that Caitanyadeva was that Kṛṣṇa Himself, none but.”

So absolute good, good, He is the autocrat. Everything belongs to Him. Everything belongs to Him. Then what filthy impression we go to bear about Him, that dirt is within us. We think that we are masters, that someone of my position is master of the world, so Kṛṣṇa is the trespasser. But in reality just the opposite, everything belongs to Him. And to establish any right over anything, that is trespassing. That is encroachment, unfair encroachment. Everything belongs to, īśāvāsyam idaṁ sarvaṁ [Śrī Īsopaniṣad, 1]. The opposite is cent per cent true. And we think that it is in my possession, it is mine, that is misunderstanding, that is untrue.

So in the realm of Yogamāyā such posing is there but to enhance the pleasure of Kṛṣṇa Himself. It is necessary. It is couched in that way. As if it belongs to others. This is a peculiar process by which one can serve Kṛṣṇa in a variegated and ever new nature. A plan by Yogamāyā: the paraphernalia has been dressed in such a way. That is Īśāvāsyam idam sarvaṁ, everything is the object for Him to enjoy, the absolute owner, the absolute enjoyer, the absolute good. And by His enjoyment everything gets its highest fulfilment of life. His position is such. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Parakīya: a peculiar thing. Svakīya, He is the absolute master over everything. That consciousness normally it is the highest conception. But anything more, then something like māyā, not māyā, Yogamāyā, brings some more efficient plan, efficient plan to increase the intensity of the rasa as they are, in its proper pervasion, how, to make it what is very cheap, to make it unavailable. Just here in the present day the capitalists to increase the price they put underground, many things underground. And they keep the market strong, sharp.

So it is necessary that to arrange in such a way that the union is not very easy. It is very rarely to be found. To increase the demand, to increase the hunger of both the parties, and to increase the intensity of the love in union, it has been planned like that by Yogamāyā. To make it rare, not only rare, but also risky: from the social consideration, and also so much so that as if we are committing something unlawful. The risk, the intensity of risk, how much love: love, only rightful transaction. Can't you take any risk for love? That is more intensified if one can take, baits himself. Both the parties take bait of their good name, fame etc., for the risk of that. Still the attraction: everything one side and attraction another side. The attraction gets the better hand. This is love proper, this is parakīya.

The highest love mādhyura and that is also vātsalya also. Yaśodā sometimes she hears that some say that He is Devakī's son. "No, no, no. Why? Some say that He's not my child, but some god has come to become my child. How it can be? Never! He's my child."

That sense of parakīya, some say like that: "One day then He may go away, leaving, that I may lose His affection." So that is more intense than her filial love, parakīya. But it is not mine. It won't stay permanently. Anyhow the separation may occur...

81.11.11.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...in vātsalya also, so in sākhyā also. In Vṛndāvana, this is the peculiarity, parakīya. The sakhā, "His will and thought and His conduct, seems to us that He is not sometimes our superior, superior thing. So not an ordinary friend we may hanker that a permanent friendship with Him. Maybe that He will leave us and go away in His own higher place. How then should we live? It would it be impossible to live. How we are enjoying this cow driving and also in the forest and these things, if He is withdrawn? He is the gem in the garland in the precious gem. If He is withdrawn then how these things will be conducted? It will be impossible for us. Our very limbs won't move. We may lose Him."

This apprehension exacts the love, more intensely from the core of the heart. This parakīya, a process, a peculiar process adopted in Vṛndāvana. Of course it is eternal but it has been devised there. It is eternally devised, the mādhyura rasa, and then to make every rasa to be more intense, the scarcity of that union has been always pushing in the background. You may lose it, be alert. Be alert to the maximum degree. You may lose it any moment. This idea makes the thing more, more intense. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

And the background, you will always think of, that no enjoying temperament is there. That is also though similar, but not same. That is all, and the purity that both the parties not aggressor, they serve Him. Here both parties aggressors, both have got some demand in union. But there it is the outlook, or the object of to serve the other. In every, in vātsalya rasa, śakhya rasa, mādhyura rasa, only with a serving approach it will serving temperament. Though it seems aggressor or aggressed, but really no enjoying spirit can be there. Lord Himself, Kṛṣṇa Himself, Nārāyaṇa Himself, though are master: Raja prakṛti ranjana [?] Rāmacandra's ideal is the ideal king. And what is the ideal of the king? prakṛti ranjanath [?]

One who can please his subjects more, he is called raja. So their thought is in the highest degree of goodwill for all, the whole organization. The stomach gets the food, but in the interest of the whole of the body. The root takes water but whatever direction but for the whole organism. Distributing, not consuming, to attract and to consume in a centre, but it is also being distributed. That is the very nature of that land of dedication. That is Vaikuṇṭha, and Goloka, more intense. Not only in consideration with law but spontaneous love, distribution, self distribution by spontaneous love. That is Goloka: both the parties seeking the pleasure of the other, both the parties. Both the parties seeking self pleasure can unite, and both the parties seeking the serving of the other party also unite.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: Mahārāja, in our preaching we meet with many difficulties and disturbances. So, by understanding the philosophy of Kṛṣṇa consciousness we see that these are being arranged by Kṛṣṇa, but yet somehow in spite of this knowledge we are still disturbed. So how do we actually come to the point of removing the disturbance altogether?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Just what we talked is the basis of your question. The answer is there. To make it more important, more valuable, these things are arranged. You were saying they are taking, then no importance, much importance in the transaction. You see, what is undesirable, that is also utilized in the preaching. That is also getting the chance of service. What is undesirable to us, that is also harmonized, given some position. And it helps us to have a real taste of the thing. If earned with labour, the sweat of our brow, that is more tasteful. And what is easily accessible we do not find much taste there. To make it more valuable such things are necessary. And one who is favoured to undergo more pain for carrying this good news to the doors, he is more benefited and more favoured, gets more remuneration. Vini, vidi, vici. It is not so simple. Christ had to give his life. Socrates only declared that soul is immortal; for that he had to give up his life. And what is disturbance? Sometimes the devotees of real type they invite such pain, such misery. Kuntī Devī told:

[Queen Kuntī Devī prayed to Kṛṣṇa: “I wish that all those calamities (poisoning, arson, cannibalism, the vicious assembly, exile in the forest, the battle), would occur again and again so that we could have Your darśana again and again, for seeing You means that we will no longer see repeated births and deaths.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.8.25]

“Let the danger, calamity may visit us always because that calamity attracts You, our friend to us. Only our calamity draws You to us. And we consider ourselves to be most fortunate.”

Calamity is no calamity when calamity can draw my friend to me. And peace of life, it keeps my friend away from me, that peace is not desirable. The pain of hunger is necessary for the enjoyment of feeding, taking food, it is necessary.

Devotee: So then sometimes the argument is given. We say that the spiritual world is sat-cit-ānanda. And people say if there is no pain then how can you enjoy pleasure? So that is actually a valid argument even in spiritual world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. There is pain, there is pleasure. And pain is also there. But pain may be of different quality. The pain; suppose a patriot he sacrifices his life for the public, for the country. When there was fasting in Ireland, five or six persons continuously they observed fighting for their country. Feeling pain but in that pain there is a sort of pleasure; the quality, that is quality.

So Rādhārāṇī and gopī they are also: “We may lose the company of Kṛṣṇa.”

That is very painful. Their separation for a moment is very painful, but the pain of another type. The pleasure is also of another type, pain also another type.

When preaching in Madras, one gentleman put this question to me: “You say the highest ideal of you is Caitanyadeva, and what He is doing? He is always crying and lamenting, ‘I don’t get Kṛṣṇa.’ He’s rubbing His mouth in the wall, and what not, so many signs of ecstatic pain, great pain. And that is the ideal? We rather shuddered to have a conception of that highest realization of Caitanyadeva.”

That will cover your question, is it not? Ousted! I told him as it was mentioned. bahye viṣajvāla haya, bhitare ānandamāya, kṛṣṇa premara adbhuta carite

[“The wonderful characteristic of divine love of Kṛṣṇa is that although externally, it works like fiery lava, internally it is like sweet nectar that fills the heart with the greatest joy.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.50]

The pain only superficial, and the ānanda is there. When one sacrifices his life for the others, in ordinary for love of country, and also society, something, or religion, they feel some pleasure within of a higher type, and the pain outside, negligent. As you like! Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

But do you like, because when awake you cannot but feel some pain. So when in sound sleep you don't feel any pain. Do you like to sleep all the time? Because no pain can enter your mind, like the Māyāvādī's in samādhi, do you like that? That if you are awake, some sort of pain or other, but when in sound sleep, no pain, morphine injected, no pain. Will you prefer that? Why? If not, why not? Then what is more pleasing, to stop all sorts of feelings and to become a stone, fossil? Do you want to go back to fossilism, because no pain, no pleasure? But there is such pleasure which can utilize pain also in its service. Just as suppose hunger. Hunger means a slight pain. And when otherwise, when you are eating, that pleasure will be absent if hunger is not there. It is removing that pain, that apparent pain. That is being appeased by your taking food. That is necessary measure, in the background. Pain is more than pleasure. Such, internally it is so pleasing. Ke?

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

_____ [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja is my Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu also accepted Īśvara Purī as Guru, and Keśava Bhāratī as sannyāsa Guru.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Paramahansa Mahārāja is saying that Śrīdhara Mahārāja is his sannyāsa Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Utilising me.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja is saying that even Caitanya Mahāprabhu accepted sannyāsa from Keśava Bhāratī.

Devotee: [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] When that Maṭha came to light then Prabhupāda himself proposed him to take sannyāsa. But he was reluctant at that time. Perhaps he thought that what sort of service he's engaged in, that is more suitable for him. So he did not show much earnestness for taking sannyāsa. "The service is all in all, and what is the necessity of the red cloth? That may bring some sense of prestige, pratiṣṭhā. We don't like that." That was his idea. But ultimately he preferred that, "Prabhupāda loved that tridaṇḍī-sannyāsī, and in his last days to fulfil his proposal which formally he put to me, I should accept the garb of a sannyāsī, I admit."

Sannyāsa, of course for preaching it is an advantageous position of dignity. Otherwise Mahāprabhu said: sannyāsī more prema prayojana ye kadasa sannyāsa koina canya haila more [?] He says that, "External renunciation is no renunciation at all. The internal purity of the heart, preparedness for the service of Kṛṣṇa and His devotees, that is really what is necessary for our good. Not to accept the external role and then do whatever you like. That will bring rather a reaction into the society."

So prema prayojana. Anyhow the gr̥hastha:

gr̥he vā vanete thāke, 'hā gaurāṅga' bo'le ḍāke, narottamo māge tāra saṅga [Sāvaraṇa-śrī-gaura-mahimā, The Glories of Śrī Gaurāṅga, from Prārthanā] [BBT's Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 75-80]

[Bhakti Nandan Svāmī's Śrī Bhakti Rakṣaka Bhajana Madhuri, p 7-8]

Narottama Ṭhākura says: “It matters little whether he is a householder or he is a sannyāsī. But how much love for Gaurāṅga he fosters in his heart; that is to be considered most valuable.”

But because it is necessary for the preaching purpose to take the favourable role of a sannyāsī we accept that. And sannyāsī of two kinds, bābājī for bhajan and the tridaṇḍī-sannyāsī for the propaganda of the Vaiṣṇava cult: tridaṇḍī. And ekadaṇḍī just the opposite says that, “We are God. We are more than God because Brahman is above God. The God conception is Brahman mixed with māyā, sattva guṇa. And when we are liberated we go above God, Brahman.” So, they are more than God. They do not want any God. That is, they are the highest stuff. But when they are asked that: “From the Brahma kabe, you are that Brahman, and from the Brahman this jīva has come. Again after you acquired the same position you will have to come down. Then what is the good of attaining the same position?

ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ āruhya kṛcchreṇa paramṁ padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādr̥ta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ

[Lord Brahmā said: “O lotus-eyed Lord, although non devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

You can't catch the other current carrying high, can't catch, you can't secure any visa. By the power of passport you can go to the last extremity of this country. But if you can't get any visa, you will have to come back home, come in the lower position again. So, vimukti, going to the last extremity of the country, vimukta-māninas, 'I am out of danger which may be expected from my country.' Suppose one has committed something wrong and going away from the country, and he has gone to the buffer state and thinks that, 'I am safe.' But he wants to enter into the other country, but if he fails there to secure a visa then he will again have to come back. Ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas. He thinks himself, 'There I'm completely free.' Tvayi asta-bhāvād. Because there is some obstacle between yourself and Him, aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ, there is something, he has got miscalculation, something wrong in his calculation. He will have to come back again here.

And in Rāmānanda-Saṁvāda more clearly, but in a mystic way it is mentioned. Mukti, bhukti vāñche yei, kāhāñ duḥhāra gati?' “There are two sections. One aspire after salvation, another aspires after good enjoyment. What is their respective goal?” Mahāprabhu's asking Rāmānanda Rāya.

Rāmānanda said: 'sthāvara-deha, deva-deha yaiche avasthiti'. Their fate meets these two stages, deva-deha, and sthāvara-deha. Who gets deva-deha? Those that aspire after good enjoyment, necessarily they get the svarga loka, and there for the time being gets some pleasure, deva-deha.

And sthāvara-deha, that is the remaining must have to go to the liberated section. They come to the life of fossil, sthāvara, because that is nothing to them. Only unconscious stage, in sound sleep, that is also not self conscious. And the body of the Himalaya, sthāvara, sthāvaranam Himalaya, he's within Himalaya, the soul of Himalaya. That is also unconscious of his own self, in the fossil figure, sthāvara-deha.

‘mukti, bhukti vāñche yei, kāhāñ duñhāra gati?’ ‘sthāvara-deha, deva-deha yaiche avasthiti’ [“And what is the destination of those who desire liberation and those who desire sense gratification?” Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu asked.] [Ramananda Raya replied, “Those who attempt to merge into the existence of the Supreme Lord will have to accept a body like that of a tree. And those who are overly inclined toward sense gratification will attain the bodies of demigods.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.257]

And sthāvara-deha, and that Bhāgavata śloka: [10.2.32]

āruhya kṛcchreṇa param padam tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādr̥ta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ

That Professor Sanyal he interpreted in this way. That when, after liberation, they go, they rush to occupy the throne of the Lord, and for that crime they are hurled down, down, to the last extremity. So they have to go to the life of a fossil, that Himalaya and other, this solid. The very meagre conscious within a big solid figure, more low than the creepers and the trees: the last point of creation, the stones, sthāvara-deha, we find in Rāmānanda Rāya. And also in Bhāgavatam [10.2.32], ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa. Though they may think themselves to be the occupier of the highest position, they're extremely liberated, in the extreme point of liberation. But because they have not in their calculation the other aspect of reality, only in the verge, the world of misconception, and no proper conception of any touch, then to come again in the deepest portion of the misconception. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Ke?

He has also composed one book by name Govinda-līlāmṛtam, and there the aṣṭa-kālīya-līlā, the eight prahara līlā of Rādhā-Govinda has been described elaborately in that book, Govinda- līlāmṛtam.

Devotee: Is that in Sanskrit?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Sanskrit.

Devotee: With anybody's translation or tika?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, it is there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. But it is for the higher students. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: But in the Jaiva Dharma Mahārāja, Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura mentions some of the aṣṭa-kālīya-līlās.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he's given everything in a nutshell, with much caution. [naitat samācarej jātu manasāpi hy anīśvaraḥ]

vinaśyaty ācaran mauḍhyād yathā 'rudro 'dvijaṁ viṣam

["One should never imitate the behaviour of great personalities. One who foolishly does so, even mentally, is doomed, just as one who imitates Lord Śiva drinking poison."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.33.30]

vikrīḍitaṁ vraja-vadhūbhir idaṁ ca viṣṇoḥ, śraddhānvito 'nuśṛṇuyād atha varṇayed yaḥ bhaktiṁ parāṁ bhagavati pratilabhya kāmaṁ, hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty acireṇa dhīraḥ

[“One who hears with firm faith the supra mundane amorous affairs of Lord Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs, as described by a pure devotee of the Lord, soon becomes freed from mundane lust and achieves divine love of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.39]

Here Jīva Goswāmī explains, 'nuśṛṇuyād atha, must listen from a real source - so he will get there the caution that it is not like lust, just the opposite of lust, so with that attitude you are to approach. Dhīra, who is master of his own senses, he is only qualified to try to accept, listen, to enter into this līlā. Not those that are not masters of their own house, own senses.

And if he does, it is in another śloka. Vinaśyaty ācaran mauḍhyād, if due to ignorance, anyone ventures to enter into this domain, due to ignorance, ācaran mauḍhyād, manasāpi, even in mind, even mentally, vinaśyaty, he will be doomed. How? If, who is not Śiva, if he takes the poison he's sure to die. And Śiva took the poison and then ornamental thing came in his throat, Nīlakaṇṭha. By the folded palm, Śiva he drank the poison, but that was an ornament to his throat, in the body, but if who is not Śiva if he takes poison he's sure to die. So one who is not dhīra and who has got no anu-śravaṇa, proper listening, if they venture to enter into this domain, he's sure to die. The warning is given in Bhāgavatam by Śukadeva Goswāmī. It is nectar, but still, you should, properly you must come to it. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise there is a possibility of mistaking it for your awkward enjoyment. Then you will be doomed forever. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He delivered lecture to Calcutta. Where is he? In Bombay?

Devotee: He did not come to Calcutta Mahārāja. Mādhava Prabhu could not come to Calcutta for the programme. He was supposed to come.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Did he come here? No? Mādhavānanda, or what is his name?

Devotees: Mādhava Prabhu. Scientist. [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Scientist. Doctor; he is concerned with the Bhaktivedanta Institute in Bombay.

Devotee: Yes. So he went to Vṛndāvana and from there he went to Bombay, he was supposed to come to the program but he did not. Even Bhakti Svarūpa Dāmodara Mahārāja was supposed to come, but he also could not come.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Could not come, but the name was there.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, Navadvīpa has, just like this is Gupta Govardhana here, so that must mean also that there is Sevā Kuñja here in Navadvīpa, and Rādhā-kuṇḍa is here also?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rādhā-kuṇḍa is somewhat distant, on the other side of the rail line. There is little deeper Rādhā-kuṇḍa to be located there.

Devotee: Sevā Kuñja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There maybe. It is mentioned in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Dhāma-Parikramā, and Narahari Sarakara's Dāsa-Parikramā: details to be found there.

Devotee: Mahārāja, why wasn't Jagadānanda Paṇḍita told by Mahāprabhu not to go to Vṛndāvana, or stay in Vṛndāvana?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why?

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī

Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...was very simple, plain, and full of sentiments, and only, his highest qualification, the greatest attraction for Mahāprabhu. So, Mahāprabhu did not want that that sort of sentimentality will be out in Vraja maṇḍala at the time. After all there was Mohammedan rule, and so many different sections also there underground. Rūpa and Sanātana, especially Sanātana was the most sober person to deal with things in that locality.

And so He asked him: “If you want to go, go, but don’t remain there for a long time. And as long as you will stay there you must remain under the care of Sanātana. And another two instructions, don’t climb up the Govardhana. Govardhana is Kṛṣṇa Himself, consider that. And also don’t imitate the practices of the vraja-vāsīs. Only give them your respect from respectable distance. Don’t try to mix with them. Then you will have the chance of misunderstanding.”

With all these instructions He sent him there. Over sentimental reasons: that was the cause for which Mahāprabhu did not like that he will go there and freely display so much sentiments for Mahāprabhu, still he did.

And Sanātana Goswāmī came with red cloth as turban around his head. Then Jagadānanda was very much overjoyed to find, “Oh, is this the cloth of Mahāprabhu Himself?”

“Is it?” He was then just going to place the cooking pot on the oven. And with that pot he came to... “Who can tolerate. You are one of the principle followers of Mahāprabhu, Caitanyadeva and you put another sannyāsīs cloth on your head? Who can tolerate?”

Sanātana Goswāmī told then, “Yes, what I came to see I have discovered that. Your love of such degree of intolerance, exclusive devotion of Mahāprabhu in you Paṇḍita, only to find out that, I came with this robe.”

And then [?] he was nonplussed what to do? He went on, so over sentimentalism.

He took one pot of chandana paste for the use of Mahāprabhu and took it from here three hundred miles to Purī and put it just before. “I have got it with much trouble this one pot full of chandana oil and Prabhu must use it in his here, here (head).”

“No, no, it is not possible. What you say? I am a sannyāsī, that sandal scent oil I shall smear on My head and when I shall go to have darśana of Jagannātha what will the people, the public will say? They’ll say, ‘so much of a luxury of a sannyāsī. They call bad name for Me. And it will please you? Your labour will be successful, just hand it over to the temple of Jagannātha, and there the lamp will burn with this scented oil, and Jagannātha will enjoy and your labour will be fulfilled, you do that.”

But Jagadānanda he took the big pot and just before Mahāprabhu thrust there, threw it down, and pot broken and the oil spilled out in the compound. And he straight run to his own quarter, and closing from inside, and stayed there for three days without food. Without food three days passed.

At the end of the third day, Mahāprabhu could not contain any longer. He went straight to him. “Hey, Jagadānanda, what is the matter? So sentimental! Anyhow, get up. Today I shall come and take My prasādam here cooked by your own hand. Get out.”

Then what Jagadānanda can do? “Mahāprabhu will take prasādam in my own hand, cooked by my own hand.” He had to get out and began cooking.

Then Mahāprabhu came. “Very, very sweet today, especially things are very, very sweet.

Perhaps the labour of anger, angry labour is more valuable than ordinary labour.” In this way! Then after taking food, “Now you take food. I am standing.” “No, no, no Prabhu You must go and take rest. I shall take, I shall take.”

“Then, Govinda, you remain. And after he has taken his food you just inform Me that he has taken.”

In this way Jagadānanda was over sentimental, as Satyabhāmā’s character, abhimānī, very sensitive, very sensitive for small things, much sentiment. Jagadānanda Prema vivarta. The reaction, a particular characteristic of the reaction of love divine, a peculiar type. That is also reckoned in the signs of divine love.

Just as Satyabhāmā bhāma-bhāva, bhāma, and that is the highest class, that bhāma nature in nayika. Whatever is offered from the nayika, from the lover, apparently that is refused, instantly. “No, that is not possible.” And to increase the earnestness of the lover, that sort of nature is more valuable in the signs of love, we are told, nirantara-bhāma.

Rādhārāṇī’s nature is also of that type, nirantara-bhāma, always with opposition, the spirit of opposition, a peculiar thing. And we are told by the experts of that rasa learning, that this is of the highest type, which enhances the intensity of the other side.

In Jagadānanda a peculiar type as in Satyabhāmā. So it has been told when Vṛndāvana līlā after Kṛṣṇa went to Mathurā then that was underground. That it is underground means under this ordinary vision – and apart from – and the gopīs they went to Dvārakā. And Satyabhāmā went from a portion of lustre of Rādhārāṇī, and Rukmiṇī from Chandra, Chandra. Chandravālī more judicious, and Rādhārāṇī more sentimental, sentiment has got the upper hand than judiciousness in love matters. So in Dvārakā the judiciousness got the upper hand, Rukmiṇī. The liberation there came to the upper hand, and the sentiment had to go down. Rādhārāṇī’s connection, Her shadow was considered of lower value. And the judiciousness of Chandravālī, the cleverness, that came in the first rank in Dvārakā. What was adored in its highest glory in Vṛndavana there in that circumstance it cannot play so highly, a little less; secondary value. These are the peculiarities in līlā.

tathot sarpati hr̥dy akasmāt, rādhā padāmbhoja sudhāmbhu-rāśiḥ

[Prabodhānanda Saraswatī Ṭhākura says: “As much as we devote ourselves to the lotus feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga, we will automatically achieve the nectarine service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī in Vṛndāvana. An investment in Navadvīpa Dhāma will automatically take one to Vṛndāvana. How one will be carried there will be unknown to him. But those who have good fortune invest everything in the service of Gaurāṅga. If they do that, they will find that everything has automatically been offered to the divine feet of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. She will accept them in Her confidential service and give them engagement, saying: ‘Oh, you have a good recommendation from Navadvīpa; I immediately appoint you to this service.’”] [Caitanya-Candandrāmṛta, 88]

As much as one can engage himself in the service of Gaura līlā automatically he finds within himself the internal development of the service of Śrī Rādhikā in Braja līlā, automatically. Begins here, gets from there, it leaves there automatically, and spontaneous and that is in a very high order of quality, order of high quality, that prāpti. So to begin with Gaura līlā, and to begin with Nityānanda, Gaura-Gadādhara and then we’ll find ourselves, “I woke one morning and found myself famous.”

The Elegy, the writer of Gray's Elegy, the Gray wrote one poetry. "The curfew tolls the knell of parting day."

"The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power, And all that beauty, all that wealth e'er gave, Awaits alike the inevitable hour;

The path of glory leads but to the grave."

"I woke one morning and found myself famous." That was his version. He wrote in the evening this poetry, which got sent to the newspaper. And when he woke next morning he's finding so many gentle great men have come to visit him, to have a visit of him. "I woke one morning and found myself," – that poetry, after the writing of the poetry the next morning so many men came to see him. "I woke one morning and found myself famous."

So if we begin properly in Gaura līlā we shall find that we are in the midst of Vṛndāvana līlā, the highest quarter. Woke one morning and found myself there. Unknowingly I shall find myself there. I have got a good position in the Vṛndāvana līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...long time immemorial he is struggling with the waves in the ocean and now coming to safe position, should I push him back again into the ocean? I say that, that a long, long time the jīva has come to save himself; to home, back to God back to home. He's coming home, in safe position. Again I shall push him back into the ocean to struggle there, to die? I can't be so cruel to do that.

'Never mind my son, my child. You may try to find out and take forcibly. But voluntarily I cannot hand over anyone to go away from the āśrama and to engage again in the service of māyā, illusion, misery.'

So that was his posing: with that sort of earnestness he wanted to push [?]

Back to God, back to home, svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti: [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.10.6] We are really child of that soil. Anyhow by our bad luck we have come here with the false idea of thriving. But the opposite circumstance we have to meet and to struggle under.

Janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhi-duḥkha-doṣānudarśanam. In Bhagavad-gītā [13.9] the Lord says: "Where there is birth, there is death, there are infirmities and there is disease, there can never be happiness proper, can never be."

The fine intellect, the sattvic intellect, the high class intellect only can detect this, where to live, to select the place, where to live. And we must live in such a place where these four fold troubles are absent.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna [mām upetya tu kaunteya,
punar janma na vidyate]

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

So we select the place where to live, where to build your home, your house, ābrahma- bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna.

karmaṇām pariṇāmitvād, ā-viriñcyād amaṅgalam [vipaścin naśvaram paśyed, adrṣtam api drṣṭa-vat]

["An intelligent person should see that any material activity is subject to constant transformation and that even on the planet of Lord Brahmā there is thus simply unhappiness. Indeed, a wise man can understand that just as all he has seen is temporary, similarly, all things within the universe have a beginning and an end."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.19.18]

Action here all reactionary, so up to Brahmā the mourn, the lamentation, up to Brahmā who is the creator of this mundane world and necessarily he's in relativity of this mundane world; he will have to mourn, to lament. What to speak of what we, us, ā-viriñcyād amaṅgalam, we must have such foresight, such foresight. And such sincere love to our own self.

uddhared ātmanātmānaṁ, nātmānam avasādayet [ātmaiva hy ātmano bandhur, ātmaiva ripur ātmanaḥ]

["The living being must be delivered from the dark well of material life by means of the mind detached from sense objects, and he must never in any way be flung down into the material world by the mind enchanted by sense objects - because the mind is sometimes his friend, and in another situation the very same mind is rather the enemy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.5]

Try to relieve yourself from these adverse circumstances. If you can't do so, you are your enemy. And if successfully you can come out of these adverse circumstance then you are your friend. Otherwise we all are our enemies. What we are doing that is going against our real interest, under influence of illusory energy. Who is coming?

Devotees: Kāśīrāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, illusory energy, so no credit. However proud we may feel that is all false. So ignorance must be uprooted. And we must know, understand how to help ourselves. What is help proper? What is help proper to a jīva soul? The parents they also apparently we are to admit they love their child. But what sort of love, ignorant, ignorant love, they do not know to love themselves also. Uddhared ātmanātmānaṁ, nātmānam avasādayet, don't degrade you, ātmā, ātmaiva hy ātmano bandhur, ātmaiva ripur ātmanaḥ, you can be your own friend or you can be your own enemy. You are at liberty to do so. That is the nature of your vulnerable free will. Constitutionally you are such, acintya bhedābheda, accommodate you within the whole absolute consideration.

bandhur ātmātmanas tasya, yenaivātmātmanā jitaḥ [anātmanas tu śatrutve, vartetātmaiva śatruvat]

[“For the soul who has conquered his mind, his mind is his friend and well-wisher. For a person unable to control it, his own mind remains constantly engaged in his disservice, like an enemy.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.6]

Who can control his mental propensities, impulse, and can guide himself properly, he is his friend. But who lets loose his own mental impulse to take its own way in free choice, he is his own enemy, yenaivātmātmanā jitaḥ, so it depends on you. The free choice is with you, your fortune, or you can degrade yourself, your choice.

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ] yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama

[“My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6]

“Worshippers of other gods, demigods, they attain the vicinity of that god, parṣada, closer, intimate position with the god. But that is antavat tu phalaṁ teṣāṁ, for the time being. And that also is considered pleasure limited. But those that like to come to us, worship us they come to My zone, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama.”

antavat tu phalaṁ teṣāṁ, tad bhavaty alpa-medhasām devān deva-yajo yānti, mad-bhaktā yānti mām api

[“But the fruit obtained by those provincially interested worshippers of the various demigods is temporary. They reach their respective gods, but My devotees obtain Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.23]

“And, yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama, any progress towards Me if it is really taken then no loss, no apprehension of any loss or setback.”

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt

[“Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40]

Our approach towards nirguṇa, towards cent percent true conception, our approach has got no setback, nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, if for the time being it is left, it is there. Again if I am to begin from there, it won't be lost. Pratyavāyo na vidyate, and no external obstacles can check it. It is in such a plane, the progress.

“In the deepest plane, to come to Me, that is to have a contact with the deepest plane. And the very nature of the plane is such that any connection cannot be opposed by other gross planes of limited power. They are not bold enough to come in opposition with this the absolute plenary wave. They have no power to interfere. My plane is such, and the waves of the plane is such, ahaitukī apratihatā, it is causeless and it can never be opposed, apratihatā. None can oppose it. None venture to come in opposition, to stand in opposition when one has commenced his journey towards Me clear, none venture to come to oppose him. My control over the whole is of such quality.”

Mādhavendra Purī perhaps said, kāmādīnām kati na katidhā pālītā durnideśās teṣām jātā mayi na karuṇā na trapā nopaśāntiḥ

utsrjyaitān atha yadu-pate sāmpratam labdha-buddhis tvām āyātaḥ śaraṇam abhayaṁ mām niyunkṣv ātma-dāsyē

[“O my Lord, there is no limit to the unwanted orders of lusty desires. Although I have rendered them so much service, they have not shown any mercy to me. I have not been ashamed to serve them, nor have I even desired to give them up. O my Lord, O head of the Yadu dynasty, recently, however, my intelligence has been awakened, and now I am giving them up. Due to transcendental intelligence, I now refuse to follow the unwanted orders of these desires and I now come to You to surrender myself at Your fearless lotus feet. Kindly engage me in Your personal service and save me.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.16]

“Oh Lord of the Yadu dynasty, Kṛṣṇa, I have come to Your feet to explain my position. Please consider. What is that position? Kāmādīnām kati na katidhā pālītā durnideśās. So long I have left no stone unturned to satisfy my masters, this kāma, krodha, lobha, moha, mada, mātsarya, these inner six enemies. They exacted very cruelly and very harshly so great amount of service from me. But nothing, not a drop of peace I have got as my remuneration from them. I am not paid anything for the same. From time immemorial I’m rendering service to these my enemies. But up to now I could not see any satisfaction in their face, as hard as previous, before. Pālītā durnideśās. And what, note, whatever they have ordered, instantly I have to obey that. In the mid of night my lord told, ‘Oh, you must go there and steal something, some fruit from there.’ In this way, midnight you must your enemy, the krodha, the anger has roused him at midnight to kill some other person. I have obeyed that. So what not I have done to carry out the order of these my enemies living within me. Now I am disgusted my Lord. I am now feeling disgusted.

Kāmādīnām kati na katidhā pālītā durnideśās, teṣāṃ jātā mayi na karuṇā. But I could not satisfy them, propitiate them. Na trapā nopaśāntiḥ, and I also, fie to my own self that no reaction has yet come in me for that, na trapā, I am not ashamed for that. Nopaśāntiḥ, and not any reactionary temporary truce that I stop, I can’t do for the time being, give me some rest, nopaśāntiḥ.

But anyhow I don’t know why, how I have run to You, I have run to You, utsrjyātān, I could avoid their vigilant eye and I have run to You. Utsrjyātān atha yadu-pate sāmpratam labdha-buddhis, tvām āyātaḥ, I have approached You. Śaraṇam abhayaṃ mām niyuṅkṣv ātma-dāsyē. You are the real shelter Who can save me from those enemies. I have got this sort of dictation from inside. Mām niyuṅkṣv ātma-dāsyē. Please give me some engagement. If You engage me then they’ll all fly in fear. Only if they hear that You have given me shelter and some engagement then whatever their account book may say they will fly, be afraid of.”

So in that plane if we have any contact, can make any contact with that plane nirguṇa bhūmi, then other plenary influences will withdraw at once.

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya

[“Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40]

“And I shall be saved from great disaster. Please grant me some shelter there.”

That is the advice, instruction of our Guru Mādhavendra Purī. “Anyhow run when they are little unmindful to you, in that moment run to take the shelter, they will all fly away.”

Haribol. Haribol. Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: We feel that, by somehow or other, being at your lotus feet we must have gotten that opportunity to run out from them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: I was thinking that each one of us is GBC for some particular zone, but you are GBC for Vaikuṇṭha zone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Caitanya. It is your spacious view and [?]

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: We all want to be in your zone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I am trying to be in the zone in the dust of my divine master. That is, I aspire that my zone will be in the dust of my divine master. Mahāprabhu says:

ayi nanda-tanuja kiṅkaram, patitaṁ mām viṣame bhavāmbudhau kṛpayā tava pāda-paṅkaja-sthita-dhūlī-saḍṛśaṁ vicintaya

["O son of Nanda Mahārāja, I am Your eternal servant, yet because of my own karma, I have fallen into this terrible ocean of birth and death. Accept this fallen soul and consider me a particle of dust at Your holy lotus feet."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 5]

"Oh, the son of Nanda, please, please consider Me one of the dust of Your feet, of Your holy foot. Kiṅkaram, patitaṁ mām viṣame bhavāmbudhau. I am struggling in the great ocean, ocean of birth and death, birth and death, the chain, mortality. I am too tired. Now if You kindly consider Me as one of the dust touching Your feet I am relieved."

That same very conclusion that any connection; any connection with that nirguṇa can get us wholesale relief. What of relief? Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura says:

bhaktis tvayi sthiratarā bhagavan yadi syād, daivena nah phalati divya-kiśora-mūrttiḥ muktiḥ svayaṁ mukulitānjali sevate 'smān, dharmārtha-

[“O Supreme Lord, if our devotion for You were more steadfast, Your adolescent form would naturally arise within our hearts. Oh Devotion, you are of such a magnanimous nature, if there is any way that we can have your least favour, then mukti will wait to serve us with open arms. What to speak of mukti, even dharma, artha, and kāma will be waiting far, far away for whenever their calling bell is sounding. Then, they will rush to our feet saying: ‘What do you want?’ Then there would not be the slightest necessity to pray for the triple pursuits of religiosity, gain, and sensual desire, and their negation in the form of liberation, because mukti will personally attend us as a concomitant subsidiary fruit of devotion in the form of deliverance from ignorance, her hands cupped in prayer; and the fruits of bhukti will eagerly await their orders, from us, should any necessity arise for them in the service of Your lotus feet.”] [Kṛṣṇa-karnamṛta, 107]

“Bhaktis tvayi sthiratarā, if we can have bhakti proper, a drop of devotion proper in Your feet, bhagavan yadi syād, daivena nah phalati divya-kiśora-mūrttiḥ, and fortunately enough we can have, we can find any connection with divya-kiśora-mūrttiḥ, the young charming figure of Kṛṣṇa, of You, muktiḥ svayaṁ mukulitānjali sevate 'smān, salvation, liberation, that freedom from the influences of the enemies, that thing like a maidservant will come to serve me, mukulitānjali sevate 'smān, with folded palms the mukti she will come to serve me. 'What sort of arrangement here, may I help in any way, may be utilised in any way for your pleasure?' Mukti will come. And dharma, artha, kāma and dharma, artha, kāma, this three-fold ends they will await outside, anything necessary for you they will come. The calling bell always awaiting the time when the call will enter, they will be there. Mukti svayaṁ mukulitānjali sevate 'smān. None will venture to have any aggression towards me. That is so sweet, so sweet, so noble, and free from all sorts of troubles. The charm, the circle, the zone, the zone: Your zone is so charming none ventures to come because they'll be converted. So they are very careful to keep away, very careful."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] The peculiarity of this, that where is sun, there is no darkness: but that is not sufficient. Suja abhasa sthane bhase abhasa [?] Only māyā can be detected where sun ray is getting its limit. There only it can be traced. In darkness only, in deep darkness one cannot ascertain what is darkness, what is light. But when the light is withdrawing there we can feel the darkness coming, what is darkness. To understand one, the help of other is also necessary. So darkness cannot

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. is paramahamṣa.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Four sections amongst sannyāsīs, kuṭīcaka, bahudaka, haṁsa, paramahamṣa, four stages of a sannyāsa stage, subdivision. Kuṭīcaka when he hankers after a cottage life, excluded from others he wants to go on his own way, a secluded cottage life, kuṭīcaka. Bahudaka, then he wants, feels inspiration to carry out his mission to many places outside, provinces. Uḍaka means water, he takes water in many places, variegated places he takes water. That means he is a preacher bahudaka. Bahu means many and uḍaka means water, bahudaka. He drinks waters of many lands. That means that he wanders and with a preaching idea. What he has realized he wants to give it to others, bahudaka. Then haṁsa, the third stage is that of haṁsa. It means that he can take out the gist and leave the undesirable things. Haṁsa, just as the swan, it has got the special capacity, if milk and water mixed together, the swan he can take out the milk and the water portion will be left. That has got the peculiar capacity of the haṁsa in any way. And he becomes haṁsa. Whatever comes to him he leaves out the undesirable things, and what is the gist, the substance, he can take, even from the śāstra...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... and leave the lesser thing, non important, he can, the important thing, the gist, the very purpose, he can take out from any places. That is haṁsa. And paramahaṁsa, he's very expert in that affair. He never deviates for a moment from the world of substance into that of non substance, the cover, he's always with the substance, Paramātmā, cent percent established.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was white clad, but he was above many sannyāsīns, we have heard direct from our Guru Mahārāja, this. And also we have seen with our own eyes his practices, practices in life.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. One who gets bhakti he is more beggar, greater beggar, is it not? Who can beg bhakti, he has got it. The more you get the more you want, this is the nature of bhakti. So it said that I have not bhakti. Mahāprabhu told:

na prema-gandho 'sti darāpi me harau, krandāmi saubhāgya-bharam prakāśitum [vaṁśī-vilāsy-ānana-lokanam vinā, vibharmmi yat prāṇa-
pataṅgakān vṛthā]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: “O My companion, I do not have the slightest scent of love for Kṛṣṇa - and yet, I cry. This is only for the purpose of exhibiting My great fortune. Without seeing the lovely face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I worthlessly pass My days, like an insignificant insect.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.45]

“I am the first class hypocrite.” Mahāprabhu, He is blaming His own self looking towards us. The purity, the standard of purity has no end. It has not end. But here purity ends. No such thought is possible. So He says: na prema-gandho 'sti darāpi me harau. “Not even a drop of devotion in Me.”

Krandāmi. “Then why do You weep so much, You wail so much, You cry aloud? You are showing so many signs of separation?”

Saubhāgya-bharam prakāśitum. “It is only to purchase name from the public, fame, name and fame, pratiṣṭhā. Krandāmi saubhāgya. “You can see how fortunate I am, I have got Kṛṣṇa prema. Only to canvas, this is My real object, innate object?”

Vaṁśī-vilāsy-ānana-lokanam vinā, vibharmmi yat prāṇa-pataṅgakān vṛthā. “This is proof positive because I am sustaining My body, I am carrying My head, flesh and blood, all these things I am carrying without having a connection of Kṛṣṇa. I am tolerating this life separated from His service. This is sufficient to prove that I have – such beautiful is He that without getting any connection one can never live. One must die. If slight, like lightning one can have the taste of that charm you can't continue to live further without further connection. So deep, so deep attraction, so deep charm, so deep beauty, that once coming in connection he can't live, continue his life without having that same thing again. It is impossible to live in separation. And I'm doing that, so I have not real attraction for Him. Then I could not tolerate, so beautiful the separation is intolerable. And because I continue in My life of separation it is sure, a definite proof that I have no proper attraction as it should have been. In comparison with the intensity of the beauty, to maintain separation, that is impossible. And because I am doing that it is a clear proof that I have not real attraction for Him." So Mahāprabhu says _____ [?]

And by anyhow by bringing us in connection with that thing we can raise our position, however slight it may be. But our appreciation from far off of these thoughts and principles that cannot but improve our position, however slight it may be. This is our wealth, the wealth of wealth and nothing else. And fortunately we may not have any depreciation for such ideal in future any longer. That is our earnest prayer; that we may retain our position, how far it may be in connection in the relativity of such high ideal. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. [?]

The great epic written by the poet Marga [?] its name is Śiśupāla Bod [?]
There is a śloka, a poem, where he says: Banati kalapi yajna tan [?]

Our association with sādhu, that gives prophesy of our gain in three span of time, past, present and future. When we are in association with a sādhu at the present we are gainer by his influence. And it also foretells that in previous time also I had good sukṛti so I have come. And so this association has been possible. So he says of my past life, indicates my good fortune of the past life as a result of which I have come to a saint. And it also gives us hope for the future. The present talk must produce some good fruit, good result in future. So the association indicates our fortune of the three stages of time, past, present and future. So you have come from so far and are engaging ourselves in these talks, high talks in divinity. We are all grateful to you. In my old age it is almost impossible that I should come, I should be utilized by my Guru Mahārāja in this way to talk about Mahāprabhu. And you friends are coming and exacting me what is stored, I could store from my Guru Mahārāja in my heart, that culture.

This is life. Why? Saṅkīrtana has been in the highest phase of sādhana. Śrotā, dhata, both parties they are benefited. In Caitanya-Bhāgavata, Vṛndāvana dāsa Ṭhākura says: “One feeds himself. Another with hundreds he feeds hundreds and feeds himself. Who is better?” So saṅkīrtana, many persons are benefited, and by japam and other things, he himself. Saṅkīrtana. Saṅkīrtana means preaching. The proper meaning of saṅkīrtana not only to speak loud or in a tone of music, but preaching, to culture wholesale with the full-fledged capacity to culture, to preach, kīrtana, to assert. The attention, the mind, all can be engaged, cannot but be engaged in kīrtana. We can’t say irrelevant, so automatically the concentration must be present there when one is talking about Kṛṣṇa. But in dhyāna and japa we may be unmindful. So it is best for him who is chanting and at the same time it is so good for the environment, saṅkīrtana.

Kṛṣṇa leads, the saṅkīrtana leads us to the highest peak of our attainment, the saṅkīrtana, Nāma saṅkīrtana. Nāma saṅkīrtana kalau parama pai [?]

kaler doṣa-nidhe rājann asti hy eko mahān guṇaḥ kīrttanād eva kṛṣṇasya mukta-saṅgaḥ param vrajet

The negative result, emancipation, and the positive param vrajet, you can reach the highest position, Śukadeva says. Apparently kali-kala seems to be very unfortunate but if we can dive deep into it, its nature, we find there the unqualified grace of Kṛṣṇa underground. That especially He has given the privilege of taking His Name as a method of sādhana, of our realization. So: Krpa desu pada rajan kala vincanti sambhava [?]

So sukṛti van, the good fortunate, the fortunate people, good fortune people, they aspire after a birth in Kali-yuga which is apparently so lower in its conception, in merits. But who understand about the special grace of Kṛṣṇa for the Kali-yuga, they hanker after a birth in Kali avoiding Satya, Tretā, etc. Such valuable gain is possible in this Kali-yuga. Especially Mahāprabhu comes and He distributes the Holy Name and His love, especially this Kali. This Kali, special Kali in which rādhā-govinda-milita-tanu, Yuga-Avatāra. In this Kali-yuga it is infinitely favourable to acquire our highest fortune; direct connection with the highest form of life, highest form.

The king has come to do the function of a magistrate. Outwardly in the function of a magistrate, temporarily, but really he is the king. So more than ordinary magistrate he can grant anything to us.

So this Yuga-Avatāra Mahāprabhu this time He is rādhā-govinda-milita-tanu. So from Him we can improve our fortune in an immense magnitude, which can never be overestimated.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

And this valuable birth of human beings, now we are talking of the same, talking of so fortunate we may consider ourselves to be, in this Dhāma, the aparādha-bhañjan, the Govardhana, gupta Govardhana, we are here. And Mahāprabhu, our Gurudeva, Prabhupāda, Swāmī Mahārāja, Mahāprabhu, Goswāmīn's, they are all over our head. We are under their inspection. They are seeing, they are omniscient.

nāhaṁ vasāmi vaikunṭhe, yogināṁ hṛdayeṣu vā mad bhaktāḥ yatra
gāyanti, tatra tiṣṭhāmi nārada

[The Lord Himself says: “O, Nārada, wherever My devotees sing My praises I cannot but be present there.”] [Within the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.2.41 purport]

“Nārada, I do not make Myself present, vaikunṭhe, in Vaikunṭha, the relativity of the infinite. By infinites characteristic has no charm for Me. Vaikunṭhe, yogināṁ hṛdayeṣu vā. Not even where the yogīs are trying their best to connect with My subtle-most knowing omniscient characteristic, Antaryāmī they are searching for. They have tried their best to connect with My all-pervading and all-knowing capacity. I don't like to attend there also. Mad bhaktāḥ yatra gāyanti. But really My attraction is only for that assembly where My devotees are singing and dancing with My name. That is My place of attraction really, I clearly say to you. Mad bhaktāḥ yatra gāyanti, tatra tiṣṭhāmi nārada. When in an assembly, in a congregation they are talking and singing and dancing about mentioning My name.”

So that saṅkīrtana, the all-attractive, saṅkīrtana that was given by Mahāprabhu. And its direct consequence is to take one to the highest quarter of the Braja līlā, passing through Vaikuṇṭha and others ignoring on the way. Nāma, special train, it will reach, stop only in Vṛndāvana, nowhere in any side. Hari Haribol. To the land of beauty and charm, all-controlling, no power, no siddhi, to show the miracle, the capacity. Sai Bābā and others they want to show miracle to the people and take them away from the real thing. Dedication, dedication, dedication, and you gain, gain, gain, thrive by dedication. And lose by seeking enjoyment, exploitation.

Dāruka is fanning Kṛṣṇa. But at that time suddenly some consciousness about his own fortune peaked in him. “Oh, I am so fortunate that I have got the chance of serving my master.” And so he was influenced by that sentiment, his hand stopped, moving hand was stopped. Then he came to his senses. “What? My sentiment about my fortune is causing disturbance in my service.” So he deals with him.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

...laid much stress in this sevonmukhata. Only physical sound is not the Vaikuṇṭha sound, the Name. The Name proper, to have connection with the Name proper, the Divine Name, we must have to attain to improve our serving spirit. Only through service, through dedication we can go up. The exploitation, that is enjoyment, and renunciation, these two are the enemies, two conceptions. The conception of enjoyment, enjoyment means exploitation, the elevation, so-called elevation, and also the spirit of renunciation. Spirit of renunciation that is the greater enemy, that encourages us to the idea that we can live independently. We are independent! But we are not independent.

We are constitutionally we are slave of the slave. And there we thrive. And we are to appreciate that slavery is fortune. This is a big, hard nut to crack, to accept, that how slavery can be gain, it is fortune. So Kṛṣṇa is so great, so great, that His slavery is of high, high noble order. He is so good, so great. Without that sort of temperament it is impossible for us to go and approach, to have any connection, cause of intimate connection. He lives in such a high sphere. It is impossible to meet Him. So only by the acceptance of His intimate slavery that we can hope to enter that domain: it is so high for us, so high.

So we should try to understand really how slavery can be the highest attainment. On that basis we shall try to calculate how higher position Kṛṣṇa holds. And that is spontaneous, and that is happy. The atmosphere is so happy, the very atmosphere. In any way if we can enter that atmosphere, that zone, we cannot but be happy to our best understanding, our best feeling; conception. That will be the evidence, clear evidence. So it is such. That slavery is the highest attainment, then how high zone that must be, we are to conceive in that way. What sort of inconceivable higher type of life is possible there, the beauty, the charm, the love.

At the same time, vice versa; that sort of, that is vice versa. As much as dedication intense towards Kṛṣṇa similar dedication reaction comes from Kṛṣṇa. A finite person, he gives his whole thing. And the infinite if He gives some small portion, more than enough, he cannot contain. So to have the chance of giving and taking in that sphere how covetable and fortunate that space should be. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Turiya kṛṣṇa nahi sesa sambandha [?] There are other incarnations of Kṛṣṇa that are more or less busy with some official activity, either here in this world of māyā, for the relief work, or in Vaikuṇṭha also. But turiya Kṛṣṇa He has got no duty attached; always free, always enjoying freedom, free transaction [?] and no definite aim. At His sweet will He's moving there, so free, and so: temperament of a prodigal, free temperament, sweet will playing freely. And that can give anything and everything at its least pleasure there, and it is such.

Svarūpa Dāmodara and Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita they had a discourse in Purī, during that Herā- Pañcamī day. Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita espousing the cause of Vaikuṇṭha, Lakṣmī Devī, in favour of Lakṣmī Devī, so grandeur, so beauty, so all these things, splendour, and also casting a glance towards Vṛndāvana. "What is there? There is only flower and a creeper and some tails here and there of the peacocks. What is there?"

Svarūpa Dāmodara could not contain, could not tolerate. "Śrīvāsa, you don't remember? You also have some touch with Vṛndāvana, with Vṛndāvana atmosphere as Nārada. Don't you know?"

Where the grandeur is enough, they become tedious with that grandeur, majestic plane. One can feel feverish to stay always in the midst of grandeur. But in Vṛndāvana, so plain, humble, simple. That is a place for the highest realized soul. And there it has been described that underground: Mukti svayam dharma artha kama māyā pratikṣa [?] Whenever necessary they are coming in, rushing in. They are all kalpa-taru. The kāmadhenu, whatever is necessary, only immediately supplied. But naturally they are rather disgusted with the vanity of the splendour-us life of splendour and grandeur. And that is:

[gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

[“Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

This is aprākṛta or kevala, kevala, aprākṛta, the highest, the fifth and the highest stage of existence, aprākṛta. Like prākṛta, kevala, conception of aprākṛta.

Yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa. Of all the displays of the absolute good or beauty, His play in the form of this human nature, that reaches the supreme position, charm there. Nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa. It includes everything, its spaciousness endless, all-embracing. Even which is seen to be blameable, that is also included in that highest plane, highest pastimes, nothing neglected. And that shows more beauty, having a touch of the highest plane. Which is negligible, which is hated, we are accustomed to hate, to approach with hate and contempt and apathy: that is also harmonized in such a beautiful way. There is no room of rejecting everything. The fullest play, with fully dressed, the play is fully dressed, dressed to the extreme. Thieving, the beating, quarrelling, all these apparently mundane and hateful things are beautifully placed, adjusted there.

So it had been the most spacious and most, the deeper essence of harmony had to be evolved to accommodate and adjust all these things, so, very sweet and very nice. The deepest influence or deepest beauty, so far we can guess, has been drawn out to make all these things beautiful, more beautiful, more energy, more efficient, and more best quality things have to be taken out to decorate, to make all these blameable things also to play the part to enhance the beauty. In fact, everything is beautiful. That is more beautiful. That stealing, the master is stealing, He's quarrelling, He's doing so many objectionable things. He makes Himself engaged with a party, very enjoyable.

All that could take me away from His consciousness, they are utilized there. I have not room to fly away. Which side should I fly? Come in connection with that, no space that I shall fly away from there. Everything will remind me about my master. So exhaustively dealt, most exhaustively dealt. The beauty has flowed itself whatsoever to the farthest extremity so as to embrace everything and we have no place to run away outside. Captured, wholesale captured. Wherever possibly our attention may be diverted that is already captured there. Where should we fly there? No room. Wholesale dedication, attraction, capturing, wholesale capturing; wholesale capturing: no way out!

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura

Haribol.

Pralap, what I'm you talking, this is almost irrelevant, but you are giving some value, otherwise it is all meaningless for the public, pralap, delirium, that is something like delirium.

āmi - eka bātula, tumi - dvitīya bātula, ataeva tomāya āmāya ha-i sama-tula

[Mahāprabhu said: "I am insane, mad, bāula - pāgala - eccentric. I am one eccentric, and you are another. Therefore, we two are of the same class."] [So He told to Rāmānanda Rāya. It is not to be expressed outside - not to be divulged. Still, the bāulas, the eccentrics - so called, they cannot check their ecstasy. They express it anyway.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.291]

"I am an irrelevant madman and you are also of that type." So Mahāprabhu says, "We are both are of equal platform." So it has got no value outside in the public, no value.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. The communist will say: "They are spoiling the country."

There was one scholar, historian, Dakal Banerjee, or some [?] and he dugout in Harapar [?] the most ancient relics of the present civilization. He, in his history mentioned that: "Caitanyadeva is the cause of the downfall of the Orissa Empire. Before Caitanyadeva Pratāparudra was only Hindu king independent, all these, Bengal and other portion, northern India, under Mohammedans, [?] But Pratāparudra maintained his zone, Hindu kingdom. But after Mahāprabhu visited Orissa Pratāparudra became His devotee and the marshal spirit was discouraged and then Mohammedans attacked and take under their rule. So Caitanyadeva is the cause of the fall of the Orissa Empire, so Caitanyadeva is to be blamed. Pratāparudra was spoiled by Caitanyadeva, his marshal spirit gone and then came under foreign rule.”

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Devotee: ...they were dancing crazily.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Devotees: Worshipping Durgā. The locals in the streets last night were drunk and intoxicated and dancing crazily.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Taking wine and madly dancing, enjoying.

Devotee: No enjoyment.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There, enjoying means - like ghost or something. [?] So, you may manage to stay here this night. It will go on in the street, this mad dancing up till late at night, nine, ten, it will go on, this mad dancing, chanting and sometimes bombing also may not be impossible between the parties. So if you'd like to stay here for this night I shall ask Hari Caran to look after that.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: But Bhāvānanda is expecting me and we have to speak tonight, so I have to take the risk.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! Then you will try to go by the eastern side by the banks of the Ganges as far as possible.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Yes. Different route we can take.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. You three have to go, is it?

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Just two of us; myself and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Higher existence in the subjective way, we are to have a conception of that truth. Not only human consciousness is the highest thing ever created or existing, but more than human intellect, higher and higher and higher intellects are still existing. We are object and they're as a subject. Within the subjective existence we're objects. Then we can have some idea whether the domain of the Lord God is existing or not.

The human consciousness, the Māyāvādīns, the Śaṅkara School, they say that human consciousness, that is the highest thing ever existing. And independent of flesh connection, the soul consciousness of the human stage, jīvātmā, that is the highest thing, and not more finer and higher things can exist.

But the śāstra says the Paramātmā is superior existence to jīvātmā, and the Bhāgavata conception, the Vāsudeva conception, is more high. And Nārāyaṇa conception is again higher, and Kṛṣṇa conception is the highest. And there also division in Dvārakā, Mathurā, and Vṛndāvana. Mahāprabhu and Bhāgavatam says, kṛṣṇas tu bhagavān svayam.

[“All the above-mentioned incarnations are either plenary portions or portions of the plenary portions of the Lord, but Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the original Personality of Godhead. All of them appear on planets whenever there is a disturbance created by the atheists. The Lord incarnates to protect the theists.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.3.28]

The Vṛndāvana conception of Kṛṣṇa, of the Supreme Entity, is the highest, because the beauty is above all, all grandeur, all power. Beauty and love, that is the ultimate controlling power, and not this physical power, or mental power, or intellectual power, or anything else. And Absolute Good is Absolute Beauty is the Absolute Controller. Mercy is above justice. We cannot think that anything can be greater than justice. Justice must be the highest thing. But we are told that mercy is above justice. But who can show mercy? Not an ordinary person, but king, who can compensate for the loss in the justice, he can give mercy. So, the highest God which can compensate, is able to compensate anything and everything, there is a realm and there He is making pastimes with His paraphernalia of equal type. There is such a law, provision, beyond the justice, beyond the sense of our justice in our puppy brain.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Stealing, quarrelling, beating, all these apparent anomalies, that contributes to the sweetness of the atmosphere there. The stuff is of such material. Apparently which is wrong, that is more enjoyable, such is the plane, such is the plane. He can just ask, “Mother, give Me some butter.” A simple thing! Mother is ready, “Yes, yes, how much, how much?” But He won’t do that. Stealthily He’ll go and take butter. Not only Himself, sometimes to His friends, and even sometimes to the monkeys. But everything His own, but He’s using in a particular manner, and is exciting, which is apparently an aggression but it pleases the mother, the fine naths of the mother very much. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: What is called mind?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Saṅkalpa vikalpa kamatmanah, the faculty within which aspires something and despises something, that principle within is called mind. “I want this, I want that. I won’t like this, I won’t like this. I won’t take this.” Rāga-dveṣa, inclination for something, and also hate for another thing, the plane where these two things exist within us, that is known as mind, saṅkalpa vikalpa. “I shall do this, I shall do this. I won’t do that, I won’t do that.” These two opposite propensities or tendencies which are within us that is known as mind.

kill child Kṛṣṇa by offering Him deadly poison on her breasts, she reached a position befitting the Lord's nursemaid. Could I ever have as merciful a shelter as that of Lord Kṛṣṇa?" [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.2.23]

Uddhava's statement, the principal devotee Uddhava, his version in Bhāgavatam, kaṁ vā dayāluṁ. "Where should I surrender? Where should I surrender? When I find that Pūtānā in the garb of maternal affection went to kill Him, and how the wonderful reaction. She was given the higher post, that of a motherly position: so kind, so benevolent. Except Him, where should I surrender? Aho bakī yaṁ stana-kāla-kūṭaṁ. Smearing with poison the breast put into the mouth of the child Kṛṣṇa, infant Kṛṣṇa, and she was blessed with such a high and affectionate post. Then how to measure His grace, His mercy, infinite mercy? Beyond expectation – grace and mercy is beyond expectation. Rather, the opposite, such magnanimous behaviour towards the greatest enemy. Beyond justice there is mercy, and such degree of mercy, such type of mercy, such quality of mercy, quality and intensity, both. Where shall I find such a standard of grace? So I must fall flat at the divine feet of such [?] such Lord. Why should not any man of intelligence; man of normal thinking, should not run to fall flat at the feet of such magnanimous personality, aspect of the Absolute love?"

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Vidagdha dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vidagdha. Oh, you have come after long time.
Vidagdha-Mādhava: I've been coming Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then?

Devotee: Jagadiśa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then?

Devotees: Kāśīrāma dāsa.

Devotee: Kāśī Miśra dāsa.

Devotee: Mukundamālā.

Devotee: Kāśīrāma dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We should approach, the finite should approach the infinite with this spirit, that if justice is applied I have no hope. So that department I omit. I only come to seek my saving, to seek my fortune, to search my fortune in any department where there's no calculation of right and wrong, merit and demerit. I have come to that department my Lord because I do not know what is in me. I can't analyse and study my own heart. I'm unknown to my own self. I'm so helpless, so wretched, that I do not know myself. Then how should I venture to appeal in a department where there will be calculation of credit, demerit, and then something will be granted? So I don't want that. I don't want any decision – no decision, surrender. I surrender. Whatever You may like You may do with me. I'm the worst of the sinners, you may take it, admit it. Now what to do with me? I have come. You saviour I have come to You, if there is any possibility save me. This open appeal!

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. One sided, one sided, nothing to expect from my side, nothing to be expected from my side. What to do? This is my condition. That will cleanse our – this sort of self abnegation will automatically cleanse our heart, our innate nature. And the greatest attention from above can be invited by this attitude. So śaraṇāgati, that is the only way to be reinstated in our loss if we can say so, disconnected from our possible prospect. The possible prospect which we may cherish in the inner most quarter of our heart; very easily and also very quickly if we want to have that privilege. That plain speaking and with naked body, mind, everything exposed. Parihāre 'pi lajjā me, kiṁ bruve puruṣottama. My Lord, I feel ashamed to give out the nature of my misdeeds in my past life, or at present also, so many things are within my mind. I myself feel ashamed. How shall I take out to You? So many pure things, flowers, and other pure things are offered to You. And what of me, I have come with the most filthy thing to offer to You. I myself feel ashamed with my offering that I've come to You for Your worship.

["There is no parallel to my sinful, criminal life. Everything that can be conceived of as bad is found in me. O Supreme Lord, I am even ashamed to come before You to petition, 'please forgive my offences.' What more can I say than this?"] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.2.154]

There is not any parallel to me, pāpātmā, sinful, nāsti pāpātmā, nāparādhī ca, criminal. Everything bad what can be conceived is in me. It is very difficult to give publicity about the characteristic of this heinous sin and crime. Still, Your nature, Your existence, Your fame, Your benevolence, cannot but attract me, that You can save me. You can save me, You can purify. With that hope, hoping against hope I have come to You. And only one solace I have got, consolation, that I'm the real object of Your tendency to purify the meanest. Those that are most needful, the most needy, they have got some claim, from the negative side, because needy, so worst needy I am, and that is my qualification, I'm the most needy, meanest of the mean. So only by that I can attract Your attention and appeal to Your magnanimity. That is my only hope that I am needy. I'm the most needy. And I feel or I do not feel, but still some sort of subconscious element in me. Mat-tulyo nāsti pāpātmā, nāparādhī ca kaścana, parihāre 'pi lajjā me, kiṁ bruve.

[“Just as a young boy feels attraction for a young girl, I want that sort of attraction towards You. I want to be engrossed in You, forgetting all material paraphernalia. And by sincere surrender, at once, our progress begins. And the development of that kind of attraction takes us to the topmost rank. I want that intimate connection with You, my Lord. I am the neediest of the needy, but at the same time I have this ambition. I am so disgusted with the world outside that I want the most intense and comprehensive relationship with You. With this attitude, the surrendering process begins and rises step by step. I want that standard of divine love, of intimacy with You. I want to dive deep within You.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, 1.2.153]

_____ [?] parihas upahas, what is the English? Ridicule, ridicule of the providence inevitable, is this, that my ambition is of such type, that just as a young boy feels attraction for a young girl, yuvatīnām yathā yūni, yūnañca yuvatau yathā, mano 'bhiramate tadvan, mano 'bhiramatām tvayi, the attention, I want that sort of attention towards You, may be engrossed forgetting all paraphernalia, bhiramatām. Then it takes the turn. By surrendering the work began. Sincere surrendering automatically at once progress began, yuvatīnām yathā yūni, the topmost rank. That sort of connection, intimate connection, I want with You my Lord. The neediest of the needy, at the same time I have got such sort of ambition. I'm so much disgusted with the world outside that I want most intense and comprehensive encroachment of You on me. Then with this, the result of the surrendering began and it is rising step by step, yuvatīnām yathā yūni, yūnañca. That standard I want, my intimacy with You. I want to dive deep within you.

govindo mām tvayā saha]

[“O Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, the dearest of Lord Govinda, this is always my request to You - please let Lord Govinda, along with Yourself, consider me to be one of Your assistants.”]

[Hari-bhakti-vilāsa] & [BBT’s 1978 Arcana-Paddhati, page 70] This is in the sandhya mantram, all these prayers.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Which śāstra?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Arcanacana.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Yes, I know those verses, but which śāstra do they come from?

govinda-vallabhe rādhe, prārthaye tvām ahaṁ sadā tvadīyam iti jñātu,
govindo mām tvayā saha

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It comes from, the Arcana comes from Gopāla Bhaṭṭa Goswāmī’s Hari-bhakti-vilāsa. From there it has sprung, through him. It is there, the śāstra that is eternal, eternal flow of a particular current of knowledge. Everything is eternal, Vaikuṇṭha, Goloka. But just as Sun comes up and goes down, appears and disappears, the thought is eternal thought. In a particular stage it is there, but sometimes appears and sometimes gone down. Govinda-vallabhe rādhe, prārthaye tvām ahaṁ sadā. Suddenly a turn towards:

[Kṛṣṇa says] “Oh, do you want that sort of rasa, nature of dealings with Me? It is not within My department. You’ll have to go to another department. Go then to the department of Rādhikā.”

Then at once his thought is transferred towards that side, govinda-vallabhe rādhe, prārthaye tvām, he's monopolised there. It is Her monopoly.

[Kṛṣṇa says] “What is your inner quest, it is not within My department. You'll have to go elsewhere, and file a petition there.”

And with this inspiration at once he's putting his petition to Her, govinda-vallabhe, “Oh You Śrī Rādhikā, whose master and sustainer, or whose Lord of heart is Govinda, I have come to You, the Lord of Your heart is Govinda. Govinda means, we find Him in the Veda, Who can give engagement, give fulfilment to all our channels of knowledge and perception, indriya, go means indriya, sense. We can feel perception as well as knowledge. The master gives fulfilment to all the senses, all the channels of our acquisition: Govinda. Govinda-vallabhe, and that Govinda is Your Lord. And vallabha, just the opposite also, vice versa, You are Mistress of the heart of Govinda. You are Mistress. You are the Queen of the heart of Govinda. I'm directed to come to You with my petition. Prārthaye tvām ahaṁ sadā, tvadīyam iti jñātu. You will enlist my name within Your group. Then I can be admitted in that department. You may reckon me along with You as a servitor in Your group.

[kr̥payā nija-pādābja, dāsyam mahyam pradīyatām]

[“O Rādhe, O Queen of Vṛndāvana, You are like a flowing river filled with the nectar of mercy. Please be kind upon me, and bestow upon me some small service at Your lotus feet.”] [Hari-bhakti-vilāsa] & [BBT's 1978 Arcana-Paddhati, page 70]

You are the Queen of the whole of Vṛndāvana. Rasotsava, the Master, or Mistress, what should be? The Queen of the whole management of rasotsava, raso means rasa, ecstasy, and that is immensely, infinitely flowing, infinite flow of ecstasy, rasa, prachuja, enough, sufficient, unlimited. This is of rasa, that is rasa, [?] and that is the speciality of Vṛndāvana. Rasa, the ādi-rasa, the original rasa, is mādhyura, and other rasas are so many branches of that rasa in its peculiar developing characteristic. Ādi-rasa, the mukhya-rasa, if analysed all the rasas are to be found there. So rasa, rasa prārthaye is possible in mādhyura-rasa in Vṛndāvana plane.

vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī tatrāpi rāsotsavād vṛndāraṇyam [udāra-pāṇi-ramaṇāt tatrāpi govardhanaḥ rādhā-kuṇḍam ihāpi gokula-pateḥ premāmṛtāplāvanāt kuryād asya virājato giri-taṭe sevām vivekī na kaḥ]

[“The holy place known as Mathurā is spiritually superior to Vaikuṇṭha, the transcendental world, because the Lord appeared there. Superior to Mathurā-purī is the transcendental forest of Vṛndāvana because of Kṛṣṇa’s rāsa-līlā pastimes. And superior to the forest of Vṛndāvana is Govardhana Hill, for it was raised by the divine hand of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was the site of His various loving pastimes. And, above all, the super-excellent Śrī Rādhā-kuṇḍa stands supreme, for it is over-flooded with the ambrosial nectarine prema of the Lord of Gokula, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Where, then, is that intelligent person who is unwilling to serve this divine Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill?”] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 9]

Where is janma-līlā, the vātsalya-rasa in Mathurā, or in Vṛndāvana, that is eho uttama, Mahāprabhu says in Rāmānanda-Saṁvāda: “Yes, this is good, so far, yes, it is.” When there is contamination of reason and rhyme, He said that “eho bāhya, this is superficial.” Then jñāna-sunyabhakti, “Yes, it is, here you are, it is bhakti. We can recognise it as devotion proper.” Then sākhyā-rasa, eho bāhya, dāsyā-rasa, eho bāhya. Vātsalya-rasa, eho uttama, the son-hood of Godhead, “It is good.” Mādhurya-rasa, yes it is good.” And at that stage rasa, vṛndāraṇyam, that is the suitable place to deal with that rasa in extensive character, rasa, mādhurya-rasa in extensive character that is in Vṛndāvana; that is rasa, rāsotsavād vṛndāraṇyam. Then again, going, developed, Govardhana, Rādhā-kuṇḍa, but rāsotsavād vṛndāraṇyam. Tvadīyam iti jñātu, govindo mām tvayā saha. Rādhe vṛndāvanādhīśe. You are the Queen of that sort of līlā.

The highest type of nectar is flowing. You are like a river, a nectarine river of nectar flowing. sukha-rūpa kṛṣṇa kare sukha āsvādana, bhakta-gaṇe sukha dite ‘hlādinī’-kāraṇa [“Ecstasy personified is Kṛṣṇa Himself, and He feels, tastes and enjoys Himself; but only through faith is it possible to transmit and distribute that ecstasy and joy to others. Faith is the very nature of the hlādinī-śakti, the ecstasy potency, which is represented in full by Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. It can transmit total Kṛṣṇa consciousness to the devotees outside. Faith is the halo of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, by the light of which others may understand Kṛṣṇa. When the negative combines with the positive, realisation of Their function is distributed to all other negative parts.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.158]

The very nature of Kṛṣṇa has been given to us that He’s ecstasy Himself and He Himself is tasting Him, He’s tasting His innate ecstasy Himself. Self conscious, happy principle, self conscious, He’s ecstasy, He knows it, He feels it. And to distribute that innate ecstasy to the outside, hlādinī, a particular potency is indispensable, and that is hlādinī. And the gist of that hlādinī is Rādhikā, whose drawing the inner most rasa, ecstasy, of the highest order, extracting as if from the – from within and taking without, to outside, taking and distributing it outside, hlādinī-śakti.

So, karuṇāmṛta-vāhini, it is mentioned there that karuṇāmṛta, that is the ecstasy mixed with magnanimity, the flow is coming from that great fountain, carrying out. Just as the river coming from the womb of the mountain may carry many valuable minerals with its current to the outside. So the hlādinī potency is carrying out that from the abode of the rasa-svarūpa, of the ecstasy, so many valuable things to distribute it to the others, the rasa flow, flow of sweetness and also magnanimity, taken out. Karuṇāmṛta-vāhini, kṛpayā nija-pādābja, dāsyam mahyam pradīyatām.

Another change categorical effected in the meantime in the progress. What is that? The change came in the mind, 'Oh, Kṛṣṇa is secondary to me. My primary connection I find is with You. I want Your service direct and not that of Kṛṣṇa.' This sort of awakening in the heart comes in a surrendered soul. That intimate adherence and obligation to the next agent, nearest agent, I shall thrive thereby, more. More benefit I'll be able to draw by my closest attention in the nearest agency. And it is His lookout to see the upper connections. My best interest is to preserve and to improve my connection with the next and nearest agent. Of course that should be pure, genuine, and it is the business, the lookout of that agency, that agent, to keep his connection, his favourable, normal connection with the hierarchy, higher hierarchy, so:

Guru bhakta tat sarvam gurum bhaktya surujaya [?]

Concentration, all one's attention should be concentrated in the service of his Guru, with this idea.

govinda-vallabhe rādhe, prārthaye tvām ahaṁ sadā tvadīyam iti jānātu,
govindo mām tvayā saha

Rādhe vṛndāvanādhīśe, first to go to Kṛṣṇa. First thing, 'I'm helpless,' of course, all things are sincere, helplessness, then protection from Kṛṣṇa, then protection for sweetness, and then sweetness of particular type, preference, and then to go to that department. And then to pray there for the final closest connection or permanent membership as a servitor there, kṛpayā nija-pādābja, dāsyam mahyam pradīyatām. Here is the end of the highest achievement of the Gauḍīya School.

[Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī: bakārināpi [from the śloka āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu], Dāsa Goswāmī says, who, for sixteen years continuously was living in the association of Śrī Caitanyaadeva, Svarūpa Dāmodara, etc, and after their disappearance, disgusted with his future days he went to Vṛndāvana to finish his period. But when he met Rūpa and Sanātana he saw another vision, a dream of new life. 'That Mahāprabhu and Svarūpa Dāmodara from the physical eye disappeared, but He's living here in Rūpa and Sanātana within His activities preaching tendency He's here as living as anything.' He could not, he had to reject the idea of going away from here, and with new vigour he began to serve there...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... last days. "O Rādhike, I want Your service. If You are not propitiated with me I do not want Kṛṣṇa. I do not want this, that." Āśābharair – his śloka is this. And he's admitted as the prayojana Ācārya, the Ācārya, the Guru who has given, who has shown us what is the highest end of our life, prayojana tattva, the destination, the determinater of our destination is Raghunātha Dāsa. And this śloka proves his position, makes him as the giver of our, the disposer of our destination, this śloka.

āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit, kālo mayātigamitaḥ kila

[“O Varoru my beautiful, most magnanimous Goddess, my heart is flooded with an ocean of nectarean hopes. I have somehow been passing time until now eagerly longing for Your grace, which is an ocean of ever cherished nectar. If still You do not bestow Your mercy on me then of what use to me are my life, the land of Vraja, or even Śrī Kṛṣṇa who without You, is simply a mighty hero, the destroyer of demoniac forces like Baka.”]

[Śrīla Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī’s, Vilāpa-Kusumāñjali, 102]

[From Bhakti Nandan Svāmī’s, Śrī Bhakti Rakṣaka Bhajana Madhuri, p 39]

Āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit, kālo mayātigamitaḥ. A direct prayer to Rādhārāṇī. Āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ. “A particular type of hope which is compared with nectar, so sweet, so sweet and so assuring. So sweet, so assuring, and so, in the point of magnitude, quality, in every way and weight, both there. Amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ. Like that of an ocean, unlimited ocean of nectar. Amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit, kālo mayātigamitaḥ. With that hope I’m anyhow passing my days, I’m flagging my days, dragging my life through these tedious days, only for that hope. That hope is sustaining me, that the nectar ocean of hope, that is attracting me and sustaining me. Anyhow I’m dragging my days through, only saved. Otherwise Mahāprabhu, I’ve lost the direct association of Mahāprabhu, Svarūpa Dāmodara and so many, still I'm living. Why? I have got a particular ray of hope and the prospect is great. And the quality is also very high. Amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit, kālo mayātigamitaḥ kila sāmprataṁ. But my patience has come perhaps I think just to the end. My patience reached to the end. I can't endure it any longer. I can't wait. I'm finished. I can't wait any more. Kālo mayātigamitaḥ kila sāmprataṁ hi. At this moment, even this moment, if You do not be gracious on me, then I'm finished, gone. I shall lose the chance, forever.

Kālo mayātigamitaḥ kila sāmprataṁ hi, tvaṁ cet kṛpaṁ mayi vidhāsyasi naiva kiṁ me, prānair. I don't like to keep up my, continue my life. It is useless. I can't tolerate the company of my own vitality. Vrajema. Even which is dearer than my life, this Vraja, this paraphernalia, Vṛndāvana, I'm disgusted with them. It is always pinching me. Vrajema varoru bakārināpi. What to speak more, even I'm disgusted with Kṛṣṇa also, what to say. It is a shame to utter such words from the mouth. Even I don't like, I can't like Him. Tvaṁ cet kṛpaṁ mayi vidhāsyasi. Until and unless You take me up within Your camp, in Your confidential camp of service, such a charm I have come, I have got the clue of such a charm is there within the service of Your camp, that the whole is tasteless to me. And I can't maintain my existence even in Vṛndāvana, and even Kṛṣṇa, what to speak, bakārināpi."

So Rādhā-dāsyā, Rādhā-kiṅkarā, that has been said to be the highest attainment of the whole School given by Mahāprabhu, the gist from Bhāgavatam. Uddhava, from Brahmā to Vṛndāvana, a bridge, Kṛṣṇa's own version, from Brahmā, Śiva, Baladeva, Lakṣmī, Himself, Uddhava: Uddhava, Vṛndāvana, and Vraja gopīs, Rādhārāṇī, in this way.

Rāmānanda Rāya, to Mahāprabhu, eho uttama, when the question or reference to Rādhārāṇī came, eho sarvottam, Mahāprabhu says, ordinary the gopīs, sarvottam. "Very, very good." Then, age kaha ara, then Rāmānanda told that of Rādhārāṇī. The gopī, this Uddhava took to gopī, and from gopī to hlādinī, that is also categorical difference, from ordinary gopī. That was proved in rasa-līlā.

When Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs openly their transaction of heart, from that divine rasa, flowing, inundating, Rādhārāṇī also was there, and She also had some contribution to that common rasa-līlā, this play of the mādhyura-rasa of parakīya to such extent. Then, suddenly, dissatisfaction came in Rādhārāṇī's heart. "I'm also counted in this common flow of rasa, some abhimāna, some reaction, came in Her mind. Suddenly here, after displaying Her superior, peculiar type of dancing and singing, etc., to give a flow of new type there introducing, She suddenly departed, left that circle.

And Kṛṣṇa suddenly found that, "Rādhārāṇī is not here, so it is tasteless. Though the flow is there, but the gist, the quality is a little down." So He felt, "Why is it not so satisfactory to Me, to My inner heart?" Some ebb in the tide He felt, and then from inspection found that She's absent. Then He felt Himself disappointed, and He also left that circle and went to search after Her.

So though this parakīya is there, the Vṛndāvana is there, the gopī is there, mādhyura-rasa is there, still there is categorical difference between the other gopīs and the particular camp of Rādhārāṇī; qualitative difference, qualitative and quantitative, in every way, categorical difference.

[kaṁsārir api saṁsara, vāsanā-baddhaśṛṅkhalām] rādhām ādhāya
hṛdaye, tatyaja vraja sundariḥ

["Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa took Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī within His heart, for He wanted to dance with Her. In this way, He left the arena of the rāsa dance and the company of all the other beautiful damsels of Vraja."] [Gītā-Govinda, 3.1] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.106]

Jayadeva has described in this way. So taking Rādhā within His heart, Kṛṣṇa also disappeared, departed, for search of Rādhārāṇī. So Her position is so.

śata-koṭi-gopīte nahe kāma-nirvāpaṇa [tāhātei anumāni śrī-rādhikāra guṇa]

[“Lord Kṛṣṇa’s transcendental desires for loving exchanges could not be satisfied even in the midst of billions of gopīs. Thus He went searching after Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. Just imagine how transcendently qualified She is!”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.116]

There are so many, in quantity, but in quality a little less, so many, but their total combination could not satisfy Him: the qualitative difference. So that is found: Ei sad bhavadi nischay [?] So Rūpānuga sampradāya means who have got that peculiar taste in the camp of Rādhārāṇī what is all service. No entrance of any mundane exploitation or renunciation. Not even the legalised devotion, śāstric devotion, which is controlled by, whatsoever, any law. That’s spontaneous, automatic, of the highest type, automatic. Purity automatic, natural purity automatic, and that is also of the highest type. Sacrifice to the highest degree is only possible there in that camp. This sort of divine feeling, or sentiment, is distributed from that camp of Rādhārāṇī, which can never be compared with any attainment whatsoever hitherto known, even in the eternal factor of time and space. So,

[krpayā nija-pādābja, dāsyam mahyam pradiyatām]

["O Rādhē, O Queen of Vṛndāvana, You are like a flowing river filled with the nectar of mercy. Please be kind upon me, and bestow upon me some small service at Your lotus feet."] [Hari-bhakti-vilāsa] & [BBT's 1978 Arcana-Paddhati, page 70]

Then another stage for which we should be prepared. Should we try to enter into the camp of Rādhārāṇī that there we can have in that better atmosphere we shall have Kṛṣṇa's presence more confidentially? We have contact of Kṛṣṇa very intimately so we want to enter into that camp? No! What more? We want to avoid the connection of Kṛṣṇa but concentrate in the service of Rādhārāṇī. Why? What benefit is there? What more benefit is possible there?

If I approach with my energy to give service direct to Kṛṣṇa I shall be loser. But if my energy is utilised for who can serve in the highest degree, through him [or her] if my energy goes to Kṛṣṇa I'll be more benefited. That is the idea. Rādhārāṇī's service to Kṛṣṇa is of the highest order, in every way, and if my energy I can put to help the living of Rādhārāṇī, if utilised there in Her service, and with that service being enhanced, more enhanced, She will do service to Kṛṣṇa and the reaction through Her will pass to me as reward. That will be of the highest type.

So the sakhīs of Rādhārāṇī their general inclination is not to come in direct connection with Kṛṣṇa, they avoid. They avoid. But still, it is the benevolent nature, the generous nature of Rādhārāṇī to connect them, some time or other with some plea. But their innate nature always to avoid Kṛṣṇa, and to concentrate in the service, because they're, pada puspa pata [?] they're eternally the branches, sprouts coming out from Rādhārāṇī. She's the trunk and they are branches, and this is their sambandha. In that, there is another, higher thing. Ha, ha.

Rūpānuga, why? Rādhā-kiṅkarā, it is eliminating everything, even Nārāyaṇa, to go to Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa not Dvārakā, Mathurā, in Vṛndāvana: then again Vṛndāvana where free mixing without any hesitation in connection with other camp, with Rādhārāṇī that is the highest. Then eliminating that, direct service to Rādhārāṇī, that is considered to be the highest. And again, why rūpānuga? Rūpānuga, there is another point. Who is Rūpa? Rūpa Mañjarī.

Generally, the hierarchy there is eternal. Those that are of the new recruits, they are taken, they can occupy a particular rank of mañjarī in mādhyama-rasa, the new recruits. And the leader of the mañjarīs is Rūpa, Śrī Rūpa Mañjarī. What is the speciality there in the mañjarī, than the sakhī? Rādhārāṇī, then Lalitā's camp, then under Lalitā there is Rūpa Mañjarī. And what is the peculiar position there? The new recruits come to that status. Now, the privilege of this mañjarī class we are to most respectfully and most attentively we are to attend.

That when Rādhā-Govinda They're in secrecy, in secret camp, the advanced sakhī, they do not like to approach there to disturb Their confidential mixing. Because they're a little grown up they're well versed in the art of that play, so if they come there, both of Them feel shy, so some disturbance. But the younger girls, small girls, they can enter there, and They have no hesitation in free mixing. So in that highest stage of the mixing of Rādhā-Govinda, free play of Rādhā-Govinda, these mañjarīs, the younger girls, they can have admission. But the grown up sakhī they cannot have admission there.

So, if we can connect it – firstly new recruit they come to mañjarī class, up to mañjarī class, and then mañjarī has got that sort of special advantage under the leadership of Rūpa Mañjarī, so they get the best advantage there. The most secret type of pure service is open to the mañjarī what is not even to the sakhī, and that is in Rādhārāṇī's camp. So rūpānuga position, the most profitable, the most profitable position has been given out by Mahāprabhu maybe as shown as fixed that that is the highest, the limit of your fortune in Kṛṣṇa's concern. This has been shown.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Un-expectable, un-designable, and beyond hope: our prospect lies there in that subtle camp of Śrī Rūpa, Rūpa Mañjarī, Rūpa Goswāmī. So the camp, the sampradāya of Rūpa Goswāmī and Mahāprabhu is known as rūpānuga sampradāya. There is located our fate, our fortune.

Now, we are to conduct our self in such a way that naturally we can go, we can raise ourselves, or we can connect ourselves with that sort of ideal from here. We must not allow ourselves to be satisfied with nothing than this sort of the high ideal. That should be the highest mark of our life, highest goal of our life. And we are to adjust ourselves from our present position – “how should we proceed?”

The other day, as I told, to Atreya Ṛṣi, ‘That we are minor, but my father has left so many documents about the properties. So many documents left, father away, leaving the documents here. I am a minor son. I should try to find out what properties belong to me, in the document. And when I shall attain majority and become major then I shall go to take possession according to the documents.’

So śāstra is there, the rāgānugā śāstra is with me. He’s given, was left by my Guru, my guardian, my father, anyhow. And as I shall grow in age more and more in the spiritual line I shall have to detect what is my prospect, what is my wealth. And I must recover them. I must have them. It is in the document. It is mine. This is our position, we are minor, but we must be major, and we must have demand for the service which is meant for us, by our guardians.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. We’re putting in our claim with you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: We think that with the absence of the father the court has appointed a guardian in order to keep us out of mischief in the first place and also to regulate our inheritance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. This is not mine. This is the property of my Gurudeva. And Swāmī Mahārāja gave you clue. He has cast aside widely the key. With the key coming and the iron chest open and find out...

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Haribol. All glories to Śrīla Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...ornaments and gems of such type are in the chest, in the almira. Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

āmi - eka bātula, tumi - dvitīya bātula, ataeva tomāya āmāya ha-i sama-tula

[Mahāprabhu said to Rāmānanda Rāya: “I am insane, mad, bāula - pāgala - eccentric. I am one eccentric, and you are another. Therefore, we two are of the same class.”] [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.291]

Ke bhai kahibe kaihila kiba bati ai [?] Who will come to appreciate? They will say, ‘O this is all – disorganised brain. They’re trying to take electricity from the sky. Leaving away this concrete earth they are like cātaka, that bird, one drop from the sky, and all these waters rejected.’ But that type of bird Rūpa Goswāmī says, cātaka, there’s a class of bird who never takes any drop of water from the earth. Their nature is always for a drop water to cast their eye on the cloud. ‘One drop, patik-jal,’ that is a Bengali expression, 'patik-jal,' a drop of pure water.' That is their cry, 'A drop of pure water,' with their mouth, beak towards the sky, towards the cloud, 'patik-jal.' And they never use any water from the earth. So ours is like that.

viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ dīnabandho dayāṁ vā, [gatir iha na bhavattaḥ kācid anyā mamāsti nipatatu śata-koṭīr nirbharaṁ vā navāmbhas, tad api kila payodaḥ stūyate cātakena]

["O friend of the needy, whether You chastise me or reward me, in the whole wide world I have no other shelter but You. Whether the thunderbolt strikes or torrents of fresh waters shower down, the Cātaka bird (who drinks only the falling rainwater) perpetually goes on singing the glories of the raincloud."] [Śrī-Rūpapādānām]

The spirit of that bird is described in this way by Rūpa Goswāmī. "You may punish me O cloud, you may punish me. If thunder comes I'll be nowhere. You can push down a thunder, viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ. Dīnabandho dayāṁ vā, but you can give me sufficient water. And how much can I take with my small beak? A flood of water may come, rain may come. Viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ dīnabandho dayāṁ vā. Hey, O the Lord of the poor, of the helpless, You can give me a drop of Your devotion. Or You may punish me like anything. Just as a cātaka bird he's always praying for a drop of water. The cloud may satisfy it immensely or by sending thunder finish him, efface him from the Earth. The bird has no other alternative by nature. So also my position is like that bird. You may finish me, destroy me, efface me from this creation of Yours, or You may save me by only a drop of Your grace. Viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ dīnabandho dayāṁ vā, gatir iha na bhavattaḥ kācid anyā mamāsti. I won't search after my satisfaction in the earth, in the mud. That is finished, never to go back to search my fortune in the earth, in the mundane. I'm already fixed to do or die. Rather, I must receive Your grace, a drop of Your grace, or You may finish me, You can efface me from this world. Viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ dīnabandho dayāṁ vā, gatiṁ iha na bhavattaḥ kācid anyā mamāsti, nīpatatu śata-koṭiṁ nirbharaṁ vā navāmbhas. Śata-koṭiṁ means vajra, thunder, nirbharaṁ vā, or sufficient water, rainwater may fall. And not only quench his thirst but even bathing and satisfying him to his utmost hankering, necessity. Nirbharaṁ vā navāmbhas, tad api kila payodaḥ stūyate cātakena. So we should never go to search our fortune in the mud, but always towards the high sky, higher sky.

After all, this is perverted reflection. The subtle is the master and the gross is the servant. The present science says the gross is the master and the subtle is the servant, product. But ours the opposite, the subtle is the high; that we shall have to admit, the fine is higher and the gross is lower. So low is giving birth to high and they can't accept that high is giving birth to low, can't accept this. A communist idea; no appreciation of any efficiency, only majority, mass, no appreciation for connotation, only adore the denotation. The fine thing not to be appreciated, only gross: that is fool's experience. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

So Hegel is very helpful. 'Reality must be by Itself and for Itself.' If you admit at all that there is an absolute cause then He must have control over these two conditions. He's by Itself, He's His own cause, He has created Himself, He's His own creation, He's self-existing, self-evident, self-existent, you must have to admit. None has produced Him. Then that would hold the higher position. So He must be by Itself. And more precious quality, It is for Itself, only for His own fulfilment, own satisfaction. Not a secondary position to satisfy another, then that would hold the supreme position. So to be reality these two qualities must be given to it. By Itself and for Itself, For Itself, He's the enjoyer. Everything, every movement means for His fulfilment, His satisfaction, to fulfil His

Whatever is happening, to satisfy Him, otherwise no value. Which is not going to satisfy Him that is degrading, deterioration; no progress: that cannot be counted as progress, deterioration. When we can catch the purpose of life, our normal contribution of every part should contribute something for the satisfaction of that great universal whole. For Himself: For Himself, everything conscious that everything For Himself. I am also For Himself. Must have connection with that central necessity – His satisfaction, then the harmony is there, otherwise anarchy, discord, anarchy. Then they'll have to reap the consequence of their own karma. So this is disturbance, action and reaction, between nation, or between individual, action reaction, suffer. And big brained people, they call themselves very big brained, so many fools, big brained demons. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Masters of the world, and managers, they can make and mar. We are told that Satan is the next efficient to God, according to this Mohammedan scripture. The next qualified to God is Satan. And it is a temperament to revolt – demon. Hare Kṛṣṇa: A demon civilisation.

Oxygen killer, this civilisation is oxygen killer, dealing death blow to oxygen which is indispensable for the animals to live. America has come to Indian Ocean, already declared two years ago one gentleman told, "That to keep up the present civilisation this oil is indispensable."

So oil is indispensable to keep up the present civilisation. Without oil we shall have to die. So it is better to fight and die. The civilisation will have to die fasting. Before that you'll fight and die a natural death, a living death. So America opened a centre here in [?] Two years or three years ago. One American gentleman told this plainly. "For the scarcity of oil we shall have to die as we are at present. Then before that we must try to fight to get the oil. So oil we have need, without oil we can't live, as we are. So for the safety to get the oil, the food of our civilisation is oil, and for the food we must fight and if necessary we shall die."

Russia is also approaching towards that oilfield, and America is also coming and they have influenced that already, the Durban, South Africa, then captured Nasa [?], the Cairo, and then Pakistan. Turkey was also in his favour, then so many others are in his favour. And Russia is that. And India, in the name of democracy, more inclined towards Russia than that of America. But when China attacked India, at that time Jawaharlal [Pandit Nehru] had to pray for help from America. "Give me that atomic energy, otherwise the demon China cannot be taught a lesson. I want." Kennedy perhaps was the President at the time. "I want atomic energy." British came forward in a moment, "That you are within my commonwealth. I'm at your disposal. Whatever help you want I'm ready." British came the next morning. When at midnight Jawaharlal connected with Kennedy for atomic energy, and the next morning we found that British has come so liberally: "At your disposal, whatever, by soldier, by weapons, any, by money. The China demon must be crushed through you. You also have manpower. Begin, we are at your back."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. We are, those that are Godly, we have got our sympathy with them. And non godly they're far from us whatever they may do. A stranger may be friend if he's a sādhu. A father may be a guest if he's asādhu, non godly. The flesh connection, the world connection, and the soul connection – soul connection should be given preference everywhere. And soul connection of different types there are, Mahāprabhu and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam soul connection as They have supplied to me, revealed to us our highest regard for that.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So realisation, proper realisation, that is all-important, and administration should help that, then it will have value. Śrutibhir vimṛgyām [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61], all the revealed truth is only directing the direction. “This side, this way, you march this way.” Śruti, śāstra, scripture, Śrutibhir, so many revealed advices, instructions, but not ordinary mundane advices, but revealed, there is also instalment, revealed instructions are only directing towards the direction. Śrutibhir vimṛgyām, “Go this side, go this side.” The realisation, the goal of our realisation is of such unattainable type; so dear, so rare. Śrutibhir vimṛgyām. A Bhāgavata śloka, Śukadeva says, “They are also searching after, this way, this way, this way.” So different types of revealed truth, different groups, they’re always, ‘This side, this side, this side.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... even of the śruti, revealed truth; that also very carefully handled. Noni veda yavata mat kathasu savan mayo [?]

neha yat karma dharmāya, na virāgāya kalpate / na tīrtha-pada-sevāyai, jīvann api mṛto hi saḥ [“Anyone whose work does not elevate him to religious life, whose religious life does not lead to renunciation, and whose renunciation does not lead to devotional service to the Supreme Lord, is counted among the living dead.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.23.56] If duty, dharmasya hy āpavargyasya, nārtho ‘rthāyopakalpate [nārthasya dharmāikāntasya, kāmo lābhāya hi smṛtaḥ]

[“All dharmas (religions, duties, occupational positions, social functions) are certainly meant for ultimate liberation. They should never be performed for material gain. Furthermore, according to sages, one who is engaged in the ultimate occupational duty should never use material gain to cultivate sense gratification.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.9]

Duty should always be aimed towards the highest achievement of life, highest fulfilment of life. Duty should be arranged in that way. Dharma āpavagya. Its end, its aim should always be towards the highest attainment. Duty should be couched in such a way. And artha, money should come to help duty, to discharge duty money should be utilised. And kāma, dharma, artha, kāma, kāma that is our connection with material things, that should be arranged in such a way that what is necessary for the upkeep of our life, in that way, not for enjoying purpose. We should accept the material energy from outside to such extent which will help me best to keep up my health. And I shall earn money and the money should be used to help my duty, and duty should be arranged in such a way that we may take up to the highest end, dharma, artha, kāma, mokṣa, the four-fold ends of life.

But here, the sense pleasure, that is our aim, and we make money for that, and dharma means duty we arrange in such a way that the sense perception, that sense pleasure may be permanent. 'I shall distribute to others and it will be saved in the nature and after my life I shall get that.' Dharma, artha, kāma. Dharma means to distribute sense pleasure to others. That is, to make it stored, to give the money to the bank, to give it to the nature, and the nature will again repay me in future. That is dharma, in the ordinary sense it is going on in that way, dharma, artha, kāma, three-fold ends of life.

But real, the Bhāgavata says, this adjustment will be this way, that this sense pleasure – not sense pleasure but to take some help through the senses for the upkeep of the body. And that body will collect energy and that energy will help you to discharge your duty and your duty should be always set in such a way that it will take you up to reach your goal. That should be the arrangement in Vedas but deva, ṛṣi mutilate it and clothed in this way. For the sense pleasure they contact with matter. And then to purchase sense pleasure and to distribute they want money. And then when distribute sense pleasure to others, this feeding, clothing, medicine, all these, this bodily help, it is in store for him, after his death he will again get those things from nature, in this way.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Nitāi Nitāi.

Should I stop here? Any question? Specially what I told now, any question on the basis of that, any question may come? Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. So how to make adjustment in our own lives most accurately in order to always maintain the highest spiritual quality.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To be with the association of the same type, but little higher position, sādhu, śāstra. We should select an environment. Just as when we fail to keep up our health, we change our place where the atmosphere will be very helpful to me, the water, the air, helpful unconsciously they will help me for the improvement of my health, body. So also when I feel that I want help from outside to intensify my inner holy tendency then I shall try to put me in the favourable environment, where from knowingly, unknowingly, I can gather, I can breathe in that high ideal atmosphere. Consciously, unconsciously, it will improve me, that example, their talk, their connection, the prasādam, in every way, that will contribute to me to recoup my health, and to improve my health. The association, sādhu, and sādhu that is a more higher type of association and passive śāstra. Śāstra is passive and sādhu is active helper. If any error, he will come and correct: but śāstra won't be able to correct. Only I am to impose my thought on it and to make progress drawing from within my own cash box, my own storehouse. I'm to evolve. And that will be easy to get help from the sādhu. He will examine me, 'Oh, don't do this. Do this.' He's active. And this is passive. But anyhow we can improve our condition only with the help of these two sādhu-śāstra-kṛpāya yadi kṛṣṇa. All through!

["If the conditioned soul becomes Kṛṣṇa conscious by the mercy of saintly persons who voluntarily preach scriptural injunctions and help him to become Kṛṣṇa conscious, the conditioned soul is liberated from the clutches of māyā, who gives him up."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.120]

Kṛṣṇa prema janme punati mukhanga [?] The beginning is also with the company of sādhu and when sufficiently acquired, then also we want the company of sādhu. Wherever we are there are the paraphernalia, helping paraphernalia to engage myself in the service to Guru in so many forms. They are all busy themselves to serve, and their association, their instruction also comes to us to engage, to utilize us in the service of Kṛṣṇa.

So try to improve our environment to accept anyhow. When we are in danger in any place then sometimes losing consciousness, sometimes consciousness coming, some accident, what do I do? They say, 'My father is there, my mother, my friend is there. Take my body home, at their disposal. And they will look after me.' This sort of help we like to get from the stranger.

So also who knows the value of my life, put me there. So sādhus know the value of my spiritual value, spiritual life, value of spiritual life. So anyhow, put me in their circle. And they know the valuation of spiritual life and they will come and nurse for their master of their own accord to increase their society. They have interest. So they cannot but nurse me. It is their interest also, to make their circle wide and by the new recruit for the service of Kṛṣṇa, they will be rewarded. So it is their interest to take care of us. Anyhow to throw myself at the vicinity of the sādhus.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

How long you are to stay here, we can expect your company?

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: After the answer to that last question, I think that I should move into the āśrama here, to acquire the shelter of a personality such as yourself so that I can make progress in spiritual life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rūpa Goswāmī asked Mahāprabhu after first initiation, "Please allow me to be always in Your company."

Mahāprabhu replied, “You are always with Me, especially if you obey My order you will be with Me. And disobeying and keeping My company, that will not be to be with Me.”

The body association is not association proper. The mental association, the body may be far, but the mind may be near only by obedience, the anugata, the perseverance. That is saṅga of the cetana. In the case of the soul, one soul can keep association with another soul only through the same tenor of mind, only through obedience, anugata. Body may be far off, but by anugatam, perseverance, one can be near. That was told by Mahāprabhu to Rūpa Goswāmī.

“Now you go to Vṛndāvana. It is for Kṛṣṇa’s cause. It is necessary that you go to Vṛndāvana and do all these duties. Then you will be near. Only bodily close connection is not to live near.”

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: But Rūpa Goswāmī is far, far beyond us. And therefore he was able to maintain obedience in all situations. We are afraid that if we go then we may lose the proper frame of mind for obedience.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So we are to inform that, ‘This is my desire, and I feel such.’ And the response as it will come we are to abide by. And then I am near. Otherwise, ‘No, you go do this?’ ‘No, I don’t do this. I must keep close to your body.’

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: You just tell us what to do.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So śravaṇa, kīrtana, to hear and to distribute, to indent and to export. That is the main direction of Mahāprabhu. Receive and distribute, receive and clear. And more and higher things will be entrusted with you. And you are to distribute it properly to the public, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa.

[yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'krṣṇa'-upadeśa, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

The general order, command of Mahāprabhu: “Be agent of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, true agent of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Don’t try to exploit by that selfish exploitation. By agent, pure agent of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, you will get My help. You will get My help. Punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora. Here you will have My company. My presence you will feel if you obey My order. I am here, I am at your back. If you disregard Me I am also far off. Yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'krṣṇa'-upadeśa. The agent of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, you are Mine. I am at your back.”

Swāmī Mahārāja told when he felt some sickness there that he may not live any longer, “Your grandfather is there on your back. Don’t be depressed.” He told somewhere in America to a section. “Your grandfather is there to help you. You don’t be discouraged if I disappear. By the will of Kṛṣṇa if I am withdrawn, you don’t be disappointed, dejected. Your grandfather is there. So in any way Kṛṣṇa is there to back.

Or from the unseen quarter I shall back you, in some way or other, in any way.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Two years ago with the help of my God brother, Sanskrit expert Kuśakratha dāsa, I wrote one aṣṭakam to our Śrīla Prabhupāda. And at the end of the eight verses, the ninth verse is there and the prayer was: Ya vayidam sri prabhupada devam kirtyastakam sustu patanta nityam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaurodayacarya, the agent of the magnanimity of Gaurāṅga Himself.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Yes. Actually I'll just say the English. The idea is that the authors of the aṣṭakam are praying to the Ācāryas who are representing Lord Caitanya to empower all of the chanters of this aṣṭakam to preach Kṛṣṇa consciousness all over the world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The agent of Gaurāṅga who has got the order of free distribution widely to the world: the all world agent of Gaurāṅga.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: We want the agency from the factory, we are requesting.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was an agent in the beginning for the medicine. But later on he got the agency of the highest medicine to remove the ignorance, the avidyā.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Śrīla Prabhupāda kī jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His physical medicine to cure the physical diseases and that took him up to the highest medicine to cure the avidyā, vyādhī, disease, the disease of ignorance. To remove the whole world, that agency he got. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I'll be happy if they're a little accommodating. And that will be judicious to be, they're judicious. I hope that they should be of accommodating nature. That would be better – of tolerant spirit. Otherwise amongst them also the hitch may break out very soon, as it did recently. It may be repeated.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: So then we may try to make some effort in order to help them philosophically to understand how important it may be to accommodate Your Divine Grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, as much as I can, I shall try always at the disposal to harmonise.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

...Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī, and A.C. Bhaktivedānta is eliminated from _____

But I asked, Gadādhara took dīkṣā from me. I asked him, ‘The Nāma dīkṣā you have got; that is the principle thing. So you can accept your paramparā Swāmī Mahārāja, you need not mention my name there – Swāmī Mahārāja, and then Bhaktisiddhānta, the sannyāsa paramparā.

After the departure of our Guru Mahārāja the first sannyāsa was taken by the founder of Gauḍīya Saṅga, the senior-most disciple of Prabhupāda was sent to London also for preaching. He took sannyāsa from me. But I did not demand, and I asked him not to mention my name as his Gurudeva, sannyāsa Guru.

Keśava Bharati was not so very important to Mahāprabhu – but sannyāsa Guru, of course in our heart we shall as much as appreciate his qualification, we cannot but show our reverence to him, respect to him. But formally we may not mention his name.

So what to speak of sannyāsa Guru, even the sādhu – as in the case of Dayādhara [Gaurāṅga] who was recommended and sent to me by the Ācārya of his own zone, that is Haṁsadūta. Haṁsadūta himself sent Dayādhara to me. And I gave him dīkṣā, pañcarātriṇī, this Gāyatrī dīkṣā, brāhmaṇa dīkṣā. And at the same time advised: “You have taken Hari Nāma from Swāmī Mahārāja; that is the principal thing, the Nāma dīkṣā, so you may not, need not, mention my name in the paramparā.”

I’m not very eager to – I’m sitting in a corner, the whole life, idle, as idle as possible. And in the last days if by my fortune my Guru Mahārāja takes something from me what he's kept with me, I shall consider it fortune. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Whatever you do, do avoiding as much hitch as much as possible avoid hitch with the competition. Only for the best interest of mankind, loka sandhana machati [?] For the good of the people, with clear conscience, to do some service for those that are coming with faith – that way, you should. Not much with the stamp, but the gold, the material, that's what's necessary.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As less as possible. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Mahārāja, when Gopīnātha stole the condensed milk from Mādhavendra Purī, Mādhavendra Purī immediately left that village so he would not become glorified by the residents. But nonetheless, wherever he went because he was such an exalted devotee he could not help but be glorified.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For fear of glory he fled from Purī at once.

Devotees: But his fame followed him. We think that your good self is in the same position. We cannot help but want to glorify you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then the opposite I shall do. Respect, no, all fame must come to me. This should be my attitude. We will be the last man to accept that. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Self-abnegation, that is the first condition in the bond we must sign, self-abnegation. All to Him: nothing in me. If I go to claim, then I shall have a black mark then and there. I pray that that black thing may not enter my heart. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: We thought to write one paper, a philosophical paper, trying to explain from our limited point of view your Divine Grace's relationship with our society, and your society.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Society, especially Swāmī Mahārāja. The intimate relationship with Swāmī Mahārāja and also the society, ISKCON, I love.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. So we'll do that. We can do that, to present your love for Swāmī Mahārāja Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You will do according to your conscience but always remembering that I am not on the side of any collision. Avoid the collision. Do according to your sincere heart and conscience. But as much as possible avoid the collision, the competition, the bad name, bad will.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: That we also want.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. In a sober way: not in excited way. What you do in sober brain, cool brain, and never with any excitement. You can also convey to that Yaśodā-nandana and other qualified men who can't keep good relationship with present administration of ISKCON. You may come in contact with them and discuss, consult, and as much as possible go on in a combined effort, but with cool and sober brain and temperament: as far as possible not disturbing others, not making others opponent.

Gaura-Gadādhara

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: I am going tomorrow to Purī, early, so I won't be able to come to see you tomorrow morning. I am supposed to meet Jayapataka Swāmī in Purī. He has agreed that I may be the GBC for Purī and develop Purī for the society. And also Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's bhajan-kuṭīra is there. Our society has got that possession now and I'm supposed to rehabilitate that place and develop it as a shrine to Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. So we are going to work on that, and also to develop the institute there as we previously discussed. We want to work on that. Then if I can perhaps I will come back for another day or two before I go back to London, if I can.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Before starting from London you will visit here again.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: I would like to. I am feeling too much attraction to stay with you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are a busy man. Some urgent information may come from London and you have to go straight there.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: I'm avoiding getting any information from London in case that is the intimation. But before I go I have to discuss one thing with you privately, a private matter, if it is all right, if I can take leave of my followers just for a few minutes and have a very private discussion of a very important matter to myself.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Now?

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: If it is possible. It should take only ten to fifteen minutes perhaps.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Yes.

Devotee: This is going on.

Jayatīrtha Mahārāja: Oh that should be turned off please. Thank you.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... ṛṣīṇāṁ cāmalātmanām, so many ṛṣis by their penances or other processes they have acquired the purity of their heart to a sufficient degree. Bhaktir mukunda-carāṇe, na prāyeṇopajāyate. But often it is seen that they have got no attraction for Mukunda. Some Brahman, some Paramātmā, some go to Śiva, all these things. Devānāṁ śuddha-sattvānām. Not only God but qualification is there, śuddha sattva, devata, deva of higher type, high posted gods. Ṛṣīṇāṁ cāmalātmanām. Not only ṛṣi, the śāstric scholars, but āmalātmanām, the purity of heart is also to be traced in them. Bhaktir mukunda-carāṇe, na prāyeṇa. This is a very strange thing that they have got no inclination towards Mukunda, connected hither thither. Sudurllabhā.

["Demigods situated in the mode of goodness and great saints cleansed of the dirt of material enjoyment hardly ever render pure devotional service at the lotus feet of Mukunda. Therefore how could Vṛtrāsura have become such a great devotee?"] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.14.2]

So in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu:

kleśa-ghnī śubhadā mokṣa-, laghutā-kṛt sudurllabhā sāndrānandaviśeṣātmā, śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā

[“Uttamā-bhakti, the purest devotion, is the vanquisher of all sin and ignorance, and the bestower of all auspiciousness; liberation is belittled in the presence of such devotion, which is very rarely attained, the embodiment of the deepest ecstasy, and the attractor of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Himself.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, Pūrvva, 1.17]

These are statements about the developed stages of devotion. It develops in such a way. Sudurllabhā, even when you have rejected liberation, ‘I don’t want liberation. I hate liberation,’ then also He may not come to you, sudurllabhā. After mokṣa laghutā-kṛt, when you have passed the stage that you do not care for complete liberation, then also it will be not easily got. It is such. By complete renunciation, that is not qualification to attain Him. Some tinge there, then you will have to wait, and only through the grace of the sādhus that you can have. If you have clearly got the passport, no defect in your passport, that does not mean that you will get the visa. Sudurllabhā, still you are to attend hard sometimes to have entrance into that domain.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that is without my notice. Gaura Haribol. He or his attendant?

Devotees: He himself did. Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, he took them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Laulyaṁ, eagerness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And perhaps these two have been presented by him.

Devotee: He has two pairs of new socks.

Devotee: I brought them for you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You gave this here, sweater, and this?

Devotee: Yes please: also as well.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh!

Devotee: You see, I did not see you. When I was in London buying a pullover like this for myself, I went into the shop, an Oxford Street shop, and then there I liked that one. And when I tried it was too big, and I said, 'I'm not going to give it back. It's for my Guru Mahārāja.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Slack and soft.

Devotee: At that time I said, ‘This is for my Guru Mahārāja.’ I did not see you. I did not come to India even.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very suiting, very suiting in old age. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. We have to understand and realise, from what height Swāmī Mahārāja came to you. He approached you, and he came down from what sort of high position he came down to take you there. You are to appreciate that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, he prayed for the appearance of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta, he prayed to the Lord for the appearance of a pure devotee?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is not clear but it is also mentioned in a way: Sri gaurāṅga parishad thākura bhakativinode dehin pati dhira bandhu kali tam vinasī [?] Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura’s will to push his teachings to the world, his earnest desire to push, that was the cause of drawing him here.

Prabhupāda has written, Śrī svarūpa dāmodara. Gadādhara, Svarūpa Dāmodara, they are always in this Dhāma, they are always engaged in their service to Gaurāṅga, and in different garb. Sometimes over the surface, sometimes underground. In this Dhāma they are always engaged.

But for the good fortune of the people of this time, anyhow they came over the surface in the garb of Gaura Kīśora Bābājī and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Gadādhara – Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura: and Svarūpa Dāmodara –

Gaura Kiśora Bābājī. vraje radha krsna prakash [?] This secret truth may not be, should not be given publicity to ordinary people. By their will these things should be given inner inspiration. The divine will is everything. The ultimate thread is the will of Kṛṣṇa and Rādhārāṇī. Gadādhara, Mahāprabhu came anyhow. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and then mainly in the form of śāstra and modernised way it was delivered by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and it was given to Prabhupāda. It is very peculiar – Prabhupāda did not like to accept this duty.

But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura told him, “You like to lead a life of religious luxury? You think that these things will be very troublesome to take up the work, the service of Mahāprabhu; that will be very troublesome to you. Do you want to be nirviśeṣa-vādī...?”

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...so many of my preceptors are there. They have come to help me. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. The strong will for propaganda, especially in the west, and he began. And wonderfully Swāmī Mahārāja came in and took up the thread, and he showed a miracle, given to us, how he has taken you all, to fulfil the desire of our Guru Mahārāja which we heard with our own ears. “That I want to decorate Māyāpur, Mahāprabhu, Dhāma, with gold and jewels. That is going to happen, to take place.”

And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura professing, “That is so plain, that love of God; that should be the very life of religion. And so explicitly it is given in Bhāgavatam and by Mahāprabhu. Other religious conceptions are sure to merge in near future into this doctrine that is love of God. And God is Lord of love and love of God, so near, so familiar with Him if we can attain, then all other religious conceptions will have to retire, and all will merge, enter into it. That only one religion led by Mahāprabhu.” He could see as if, “So plain thing, why should it not be accepted by all? We want love, we want God, but if through love we can come near Him, which fool will discourage this, abandon this proposal, if it is put in the right way?” And there is the possibility.

pr̥thivīte āche yata nagarādi-grama, sarvatra pracāra haibe mora nāma

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu is the pioneer of Śrī Kṛṣṇa saṅkīrtana. He said: “I have come to inaugurate the chanting of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa, and that Name will reach every nook and corner of the universe.”]
[Chaitanya-Bhāgavata]

“To every corner of every village that is existent in the wide world, everywhere My name will reach every corner. That is going to be effected.”

And we see such magnitude of propaganda, of such prema dharma, love divine, will be possible – we could not dream of even. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. But love and lust must be differentiated. Lust mundane and love divine, the highest acme of divinity.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, you say that we must try to appreciate the high level that Swāmī Mahārāja has come down from, for us. But he has accepted you as his śikṣā Guru. So how we are to appreciate you?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Ha, ha. That will be, your realization will justify what you heard from Swāmī Mahārāja from his mouth, from his books, whether what I say is tally with that or not. You may measure in that; anyone should measure from what plane this is coming. These sounds are coming from the same plane. But that will depend on your understanding, your sincere earnestness in your understanding. The vibration is giving the pressure in a similar way or something else? It depends on the individual case.

Just as Hiranyagarba and Nadiyānanda they also received the vibration coming from Swāmī Mahārāja but they could not catch it properly. So they are impressed with another type of vibration from Lalitā Prasād and caught there. That seemed to them more true and more charming, caught by that.

The recipient will receive that vibration, according to the genuineness, of that it will be. There are so many goswāmīns, they are also making disciples [?] but they could not venture to capture us. Hare Kṛṣṇa. What is the difference? Because their chief marketeer, things may be rotten, does not matter, cheaper. By not proper price they are ready to give. So such will be the consequence of those.

But we are of other type. If Kṛṣṇa comes Himself, then also we shall try, “Are you Kṛṣṇa?” I shall go and ask my Guru Mahārāja whether you are Kṛṣṇa or not.” Over cautious! What more you have to fear from me. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Swāmī Mahārāja has clearly written, given cautions about those sahajiyās. It is plain, clear, not in vague talk, the sahajiyās. And he will enter, cut off the cage and gone to fly in this bloody atmosphere. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, sometimes in preaching, in order to present the philosophy in a palatable way it becomes watered down. So how do we present the philosophy as it is, but at the same time present it so that people will appreciate?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Preaching the truth, and to satisfy the public is not one thing. Those that ignore the truth and go more towards the popularity, they go to danger, the pratiṣṭhā. You must keep up to the standard of Guru Mahārāja who will always be conscious. You must be within the camp, and then fight. Don't go outside the camp, the circumference of the camp. The popularity is a dangerous thing. To please the people, to get more response, to lower the standard, that would not be judicious. You must remain in the plane of protection. So to please the public if you go down to their standard, that won't be well, according to me. Those that have gone that way generally they are punished by the nature, we have seen.

Our Guru Mahārāja told that they are [?] canvasser. He told some sannyāsī that, "You are an agent of the people. Not my servant."

So servant of Guru and an agent of the public come to seek some opportunity or some privilege from Guru, both different. On behalf of the public the popularity means he thinks that 'so many men are under me, and on their behalf I shall go and plead to our Guru Mahārāja.' That is one thing. Seemingly, apparently that is also devotion, but that is a dangerous pose. But you will always be able to carry out the order of Guru Mahārāja. Guru Mahārāja your first intimate connection. And if he asks, 'No, don't bother with the public.' I must not go there. That attitude will be safe for the preacher. I am going on behalf of the higher authority, and not to search after men and money and fame thereby. The position of Ācārya, preacher of the Ācārya, that is a great temptation: to take them down from the purity of higher type. First we are servant of my master, and on his behalf I am approaching the public. And never on behalf of the public I'm approaching Guru Mahārāja to plead for them. Of course there are some particular examples, something like that, but they are of different, special type.

As we see in Rāmānuja, Rāmānuja he, different dīkṣā, in the dīkṣā of śaraṇāgati, surrendering, that is considered for them as the highest. He went to one renowned sādhu.

And he knew that Rāmānuja is very popular, “But my mantram should not be popularized then its appreciation will decrease.” So he accepted Rāmānuja as disciple but gave warning, “Don't disclose this valuable mantram to anybody. If you promise then I shall give it to you.”

Then Rāmānuja agreed and got that mantram, śaraṇāgati prapatti. The public in general was awaiting to see that position, “That Rāmānuja who is so favourable, in favour of us and he is giving this pledge of getting the mantram that he won't use it for the public.”

Then after, as soon as Rāmānuja got out from the camp of Guru, so many standing, and he uttered that mantram to all.

Guru called for him – Kanchipurna, “What have you done?” “I have given it to them. I have disclosed.”

“Why? You already pledged that you won't utter it to the public.” “Yes I did, my Lord, yes I did so.”

“Then why have you broken the promise? Do you know what is the...?”

“I know fully well the consequence is eternal hell for me. But, your mantram that is absolute. They will be saved. All of them will be saved forever. Let me go to the hell for eternity. I don't care for that my Lord.”

Then at once he withdrew. “No, no, no curse. You are a God-sent person to do good to the people by this. You are all right.”

So sometimes it may be seen, but this is a very particular case.

Just as Vasudeva Datta appealed for the public to Mahāprabhu: “Please, they are parṣada bhakta. They are always with Him, inseparably connected. Their will is His will, almost.” He also recommended, “Take all the sins of all the living body and put on my head and I go to suffer on their behalf for eternity. I can’t tolerate that they are suffering so much and there is the ocean of nectar nearby. And still they will go on suffering. I can’t tolerate my Lord this sin, so please do it.”

Gaura Haribol. But we should not think ourselves that we are in that grade. We are ordinary. We shall always try to keep nearby our master, divine master. And only under protective area we shall live and extend our hand to the public, as much as possible. Sādhaka, siddha, different stages there are. Self-forgetfulness: that is also a stage. Self-sacrifice, the Christian public they say that self-forgetfulness is higher than self-sacrifice. They trace self-sacrifice in Socrates and self-forgetfulness in Christ. That is their point, self-forgetfulness for the good of others. But there must be a standard, standard of goodness. [?]

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura also wanted that so many people would, he was also pleading somehow that so many people should come to the Lord?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He saw with his divine eye that by the will of the Supreme is such that we can expect that in great number they will come. So if that inspiration is felt in any heart he can't, he won't be able to control. It comes from that higher level. What degree? But the caution we should also remember in our mind.

That in a famine the workers will jump according to their heart, for relief work, or in an epidemic also. Famine and epidemic generally goes together. But he must take caution about his own health and then to serve the people. Otherwise he will also catch that contamination and die and who will then serve them?

So very cautiously one should push forward. And of course to chant or improve one's own health also it is necessary, the culture, the cultivation, kīrtana. But Hari kīrtana under the guidance of sādhu, Guru, that should be always in our mind when we shall. To do good to others that is laudable especially such goodness of such degree. But there also we shall be concerned that I must keep myself fit as a mediator of the truth, may not become opaque, we may remain transparent, remain transparent. That is always having connection with the headquarters. Wherever these planes they keep connection with the guiding tower, or something like that: if that connection is gone then that plane also in danger. So the connection with head quarter, that should always be kept carefully. They will be able to guide. So we must have connection with the head quarter, Guru paramparā, wherever we go flying. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, our Guru Mahārāja he used to say when preaching, he used to use the word rascal. He used to say, "These people are all rascals." We have seen, with no compromise, very fearless, in his room...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah. Rascals, don't trust them. They will attack you in any way. Unscrupulously attack may come from that side.

Because the Satan he himself irritated that my kingdom is being lost. He will inspire them in many ways. But you are protected by the divine power, may not be afraid. So you will be always careful about your, that iron dress, armour, must be within armour. The Satan is there, the reactionary party is there. They won't tolerate so easily that their kingdom will vanish. Christ was crucified. Socrates was dealt with capital punishment. Śrī Caitanya Deva was as if driven out from Navadvīpa. He saw the Kalidāsa. That is planned, designed by one tantric Kṛṣṇānanda against this Vaiṣṇava rasa. But it is to a sober and wise man, it is self inconsistent.

The rasa of father and mother, they considered Mahādeva, Śiva, as father, and śakti as mother. And they are showing their private play as father and mother. That in itself is rasābhāsa, a polluted conception. The union of father and mother to conceive by the son is a nasty idea. That itself in māyā, illusion, ignorance of the bad type. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

It is pointed out by Kavi Karṇapūra, even Kalidāsa is also a renowned poet in Sanskrit literature, Kalidāsa, he is also accused in such a way. He says, "Mahādeva and Parvatī as father and mother, and he is describing their pastimes, private pastimes. A filthy thing, a clash in the rasa, vātsalya and mādhyura. The son should not enter into that layer, plane."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I have heard that Bhaktisiddhānta Prabhupāda approached Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī three times for initiation before he was accepted. Can you explain that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For initiation, yes. He told, I heard it from his mouth: “That by order of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura I approached him.”

And at that time so many pseudo stalwarts of Vaiṣṇava dharma, this Caran dāsa, the Guru of Rāmadāsa, the samaj bhadi and others, they wanted to get Prabhupāda as their disciple. They tried their best. “That he is a promising young man and if we can get him as disciple then of course my line will be very gloriously extended.” They tried.

But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura asked him, Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja, and he came, proposed.

Bābājī Mahārāja told: “I shall ask Mahāprabhu. If He likes, if He grants, then of course I can do it.”

Then after some days he again came and proposed. “Oh, I forgot. I forgot to ask.”

“We are told that so many pseudo stalwarts they are hankering after me and this Bābājī Mahārāja, almost unknown, knows so much extensive prestige in the circles of the Vaiṣṇava. But he says he forgot.”

Again another day: a similar thing.

“Then why is this? Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura also asked me and that also I told to him. That by recommendation of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura I come to you. And he says that he forgot. ‘First I shall ask Mahāprabhu, and then I forgot, I forgot.’ Then I thought what’s the cause?”

In his own way what he told I am saying to you.

“That I thought that I have some ego. That I am of pure moral character, and I am a good scholar, and I have got indomitable strength of mind to go on with my idea. This ego, this is no qualification. He wants to...” - known words forgotten. “What he wants to express by this, that these qualifications are nothing. So I must think, my attitude should be that I am unfit, and I am begging for his grace. I have come to beg his grace. Śaraṇāgati, I am helpless. I am poorest of the poor. With humility I shall have to approach. That without your grace my life is going to be spoiled. I am quite helpless, Mahārāja. I want your kindness. Without this attitude he won't be willing. So that reaction came in my mind that these are no qualifications of a disciple to approach the Guru. Oh, my pride was crushed, that I'm disqualified, so disqualified that he did not, he ignored me so much that he failed to tell about me to Mahāprabhu. It is not even in his memory. So negligible. I am hurt. Then I came to my approach to Guru should be of that attitude, that is the idea."

Then when he approached next time, "Yes, Mahāprabhu has accepted you." Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

And when Bon Mahārāja returned from England, he put so many questions disturbing to our Guru Mahārāja. "What do you know? In this country they are so great, so cultured, so grand. Staying here we cannot have any proper estimation of that civilization which is at present in London." In this way he wanted say: "They were all ignorant. So if you have to preach in London, in Europe, we will have to be trained in a different way." That was his advice to our Guru Mahārāja.

And Guru Mahārāja being pressed, rather attacked by his own disciple in such a way, he withdrew himself in such a position told: "It is not our way of thinking. Our Guru Mahārāja Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī did not know to sign his name also, even, he did not know how to sign his own name. But we thought that in the nail of his toe all the scholarship, wealth, everything is there. That is our conception, way of thinking like that. He is in possession of such a thing, everything included there." In a mild and humble way he is representing himself in that way.

But there was Nisikanta Professor Sanyal, he came like a tiger to attack Bon Mahārāja. "What do you say? You have lost all you have got from your Guru Mahārāja. You are bold enough to talk in such a boisterous way. You have forgot how to behave to our divine master." He came out furiously.

And then Bon Mahārāja had a check. So Prabhupāda told, Bon Mahārāja went to preach: “My first year in England, my second year in England.” Prabhupāda’s going through it. “You see Bon Mahārāja is thinking he has done tremendous activity. He met Lord Zetland, and Halifax, Hunt, all these, seeing, and given tea party, all these things he was doing there. But no mention of name of this poor fellow in any place, no name of Prabhupāda there. Money sent there. Gorgeously he’s approaching the big men, big tea party inviting, sometimes giving speech.”

At that time, requested by Prabhupāda I was in Madras Maṭha. He requested me, “Try to see such C.P. Rāma Swāmī [?]” He was very, very favourite to Lady Wellington who was the Viceroy at the time. And he could help us a great deal. So he told me, “Just approach C.P. Rāma Swāmī [?] to help us in our Europe propaganda, by his influence through the Viceroy.”

I approached him, and he came from the opposite side to attack me. “You have sent preachers there, what they are doing? They are rather lowering the standard of Indian religious thought. Like sycophant running after the officers there. But here, Gandhi, a half clad man, he has raised the standard of Indian theological conception there. But these fellows are running after those gorgeous persons, the officers in power. And they ridicule when they are absent, they say, ‘You see the sannyāsīns are supposed to give up everything, they are teaching us in such a way, What is this? How India is going on? In this way going on.’”

I told him, that thorn by thorn, one thorn entered into the sole, by the help of another thorn we want to take it out.

“No, no.” He told. “That thorn won’t come out. This thorn also will enter there.” That was while he was so much disappointed.

The man who is in the back, the general, he is quite wakeful to the fact, and if the first batch dies the next batch will go to attack. Why you are afraid so much? I told.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

But Swāmī Mahārāja has come with flying colours, unexpectedly. And only, we are in sorrow that Guru Mahārāja is not here to share this joy. Of course he is there, he is enjoying the victory, but we can't see. If he would have been here amongst, with us, how delighted he would have been, how much pleased he was to see.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. Then when Bon Mahārāja cut such a figure, Prabhupāda wanted to send me there.

I told, I cannot mix, I cannot understand their language clearly. And I have no very knack to mix with them, their customs, habits, all these things. But if you order, I must go, must obey. But I don't think that I shall be able to show any progress in the activity there.

Then Professor Sanyal told me, "Do you know why he wants to send you there?" No, I don't know.

"Because you won't be converted."

Then I answered, Yes, I am quite confident there. None can convert me from the grace of Mahāprabhu and Prabhupāda. I am sure that no thought can convert, can disturb me, take me away from the holy feet of my master and Prabhupāda, I am sure there. I am a small insignificant person, but anyhow I feel that what a beautiful conception I have got about the Absolute, I think no other proposal can entice me anywhere. Gaura Haribol.

Then he sent [Bhakti Saranga] Goswāmī Mahārāja, the founder of the Gauḍīya Saṅga, and then disappeared. But in reply, "There is one left who will be able to represent me to Goswāmī Mahārāja." In that poem, that poem represented the real substance of the teachings of Mahāprabhu. That was his idea, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Only one poem was written when he was present: so many others afterwards.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. But I think, I did not go, but I got the privilege of serving his bed of disappearance – regular duty to attend him before his disappearance, I managed to do. And also he graced me with that singing of the song of the highest order in Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava School. That fortune I got from him. Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... He remarked, “You are ease lover,” he remarked, “You are ease lover.” So also you all see I’m ease lover, sitting tight in a corner, ease lover. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But great nectar flowing – sitting tight but so much nectar flowing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But he’s so benevolent, so sympathetic to me, that he has taken you all from so far to hear from me. I did not go to preach amongst you. But you all have come, divine arrangement, and so late in my life when my memory is not normal, searching after this word, that word, to express my view. In that sphere also he did not spare me. My Gurudeva, he's so kind and gracious. And that was his weak point, Guru Mahārāja's. His love and attraction for Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was such acuity that I wrote in praise of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, he was conquered. I feel it in my own heart. Because I wrote in praise of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and that was accurate, clear, and dignified, so he is so much gracious to me. That is my innate conception. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's representation is also a marvellous thing about the teachings of Mahāprabhu. The original writers, the Goswāmīns, in Sanskrit they have described many things. And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is translating, but the translation seems to be more accurate and sweet than the original. He writes in such a type, such a type. The translation and that according to our feeling, that is better than the original: it is wonderful, more expressive, more clear, more up to date.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: I have never heard of any astrological meaning to his birth, especially on the same day.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In day also, different parts also, and generally there will be differences in combination of different domains. Whole day may not continue to be of same type. There may be some differences also, one thing. Another thing, that will depend on who is appearing, his previous karma and his worth, and especially his inner capacity of resisting the bad omens, and the grace of the Lord in him previously acquired. All these things will come into account. And the result will be the consequence. Not only time and space, but the person who is being born, his capacity, his previous acquisition, all these also to be considered. And the day means whole day may not have equal influence. It may be different in different parts of the day: all these things to be calculated.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then there is another angle of vision. In Kali-yuga the Nāma saṅkīrtana has been given as the means to our highest end. So because the age is iron, so the bhajana will also be of lower type. It is not that, just the opposite. Because the time is so much vitiated, that ordinary means they cannot produce their desired end. But the highest thing, that is above all external circumstances, unfavourable circumstances, that can only stand. So also the worst may be the time, but at that time if a devotee of Kṛṣṇa appears then that can't have any influence over him. Rather that will be purified. That time, that bad time will have a record to add to its auspicious character. There may be so great thing. And generally that is with nirguṇa. They do not care for the materially good or bad symptoms, that nirguṇa.

Generally when Kṛṣṇa appeared the place was a prison house, the black night and hail and storm, apparently it was very ominous. But His appearance made everything pure. He's touchstone. A bad iron or good iron, or bad brass or good brass, a bad silver or good silver, when it comes in connection with touchstone then that becomes gold, and gold of a higher type. This mundane power cannot affect in any way, independent of that. Suba suka, auspicious or ominous, it is confined here in the domain of loss and gain.

In the eternal atmosphere, every contribution is for the service of the Lord. It is all auspicious: waves of that plane all healthy, wholesome, because it is connected with the absolute good. What apparently seems to be bad, if that comes in connection with the absolute good, that is cent per cent good. Only one thing, whether to please Him, whether it is in connection with the absolute harmony: that will justify, it's existence, it's character, it's future, everything. Only one whether it is to satisfy, for Himself. It is to satisfy the Absolute Autocrat. Only one criterion and nothing else, no other calculation will stand there.

He is above law. The absolute, law comes from it, justice comes from it. It is rather in the plane of mercy. Justice presupposes there may be many interests, and to bring harmony amongst them, some adjustment in the many conceptions of different interest. So advaya-jñāna, oneness, where it is absolutely oneness, unity, absolute unity: there no question of justice, can analyse, can arise. We are told that is mercy, it is beauty, it is ecstasy, it is good, and unchallengeable. That is autocracy. It's sweetness, it's charm. That is the conception of the Absolute, Prime Cause. Everything For Himself, Hegelian language, everything meant for His satisfaction. He is the Absolute. Everything is meant for Him, so no consideration of right, wrong, good, bad: only one good. Whatever He likes, that is good. No law, no measurement, no calculation, all useless, groundless. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And generally it was thought that is an absolute power. But Mahāprabhu says, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, "No; absolute beauty, absolute good, not power." That is the peculiarity of Bhāgavatam, and Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, Mahāprabhu, that beauty is controlling, love controlling, love and beauty similar. Love controlling. No objection should come to that, from any quarter of reasonable thinkers, love, charm; no room for any objection.

And we are preacher of that. That is your inner wealth, love. A particle in you and the source, the ocean is there. You are connected. Find out the plane, the subtle-most plane, the subtle-most, there is electric plane, ethereal plane, the airy plane, so many plane, the light plane, heat plane in the world. So this is the subtle-most all-embracing plane which is irresistible and which is the sustainer of all other planes of life and vitality, anything and everything. Find out, dive deep within your heart and you will find out a trace of that plane in you. And try to work in that plane, eliminating all these external, superficial planes of life, interests of life. That is the interest, the common interest of every living thing. That is the deepest identification of you all. There is peace, proper. The highest conception of peace is there only, in the plane of love divine. And what is going on in the name of love here, country love, society love, lady love, money love, that is all sham; tasteless, useless and brings a reaction. And that is non reactionary. That can absorb everything and what you get as a reaction that is also enhancement of that thing. That is no reaction as we understand it in this plane.

'Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana. The surrender to the extreme to become the highest conception of slave and the remuneration is also of this type. That give me remuneration in the terms of love, more propensity to serve, dedication. Supply me the capital of dedication as my salary, so more I can dedicate. Supply that energy and that goodness in me. The service is its own reward. I shall serve and I get salary that I can serve more correctly and more affectionately, that sort of reaction. Remuneration is also of that type, reaction. But in these superficial planes the remuneration, the reaction; that is of bad type. Janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī-duḥkha- doṣānudarśanam [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9] It will produce such results, such effects.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Our preaching we find out that you are a loving unit, so all the hitches should be removed. Our underlying principle to ask everybody that you are really a unit of love, love. Eliminate all sorts of discords. If such things be allowed to be preached then it would be really more than heaven of our conception. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

This Rāma Prasād, one devotee of the śakti worshippers: Mano jamin raila patite avad kailya failta sanat [?] His poem – if you cultivate the human heart then you will find what sort of gold is being produced thereby, cultivate heart. By cultivating the earth outside, try to cultivate your heart, and the golden production will come from within, mine your own cultivation within. That will produce more valuable things. So that type, dive deep into your heart.

Like Mahāprabhu says: “Go deeper.” Rāmānanda Rāya saṁvāda, whatever Rāmānanda says, Mahāprabhu says: “Go deeper, go deeper.” “Eho bāhya āge kaha āra, eho bāhya āge kaha āra. [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59] This is also superficial. Go more deep.”

Then Rāmānanda: another plane, another plane, another plane – in this way lastly going to the plane of Śrī Rādhikā. “I think that is the highest plane of dedication and love and beauty.”

“Yes, it is. Yes it is there.”

And how to attain that, that was the question of Mahāprabhu to Rāya Rāmānanda, how to attain? It is also mentioned there. With the help of the friends of that, they are the canvassers, recruiters. So with their help we can enter, as well as we can get service, engagement and everything.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

One who is really engaged in such research then he does not care which is the prison house or the temple; may be equal to him. His object of search is within his heart. None can oppose it. None can oppose it. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, will you explain the circumstances of Lord Caitanya’s disappearance and why it is not mentioned in Caitanya-caritāmṛta?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What did I do, say?

Devotee: Would you explain the circumstances of Lord Caitanya's disappearance and why it is not mentioned in Caitanya-caritāmṛta?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I told it already? What did I say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, he's asking, can you explain it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, can I explain, why it is not mentioned?

Not only of Caitanyadeva, but also Nityānanda Prabhu, Advaita Prabhu, Viṣṇu-tattva omitted because we are not encouraged to think that Their body was mundane and They must have been done away with either by burial, or by burning, or any some other way it has been disposed. Out of curiosity, so it is omitted. That it is, not material, so the material end is not to be encouraged, not to be mentioned, in any way.

There are many versions about Mahāprabhu's disappearance. Some say He entered into Jagannātha, in the body of Jagannātha. Some say He entered, Gadādhara Paṇḍita says He entered into his own Gopīnātha Deva. Some say He walked over the sea, away. In this way various descriptions we find. Some say He started above entrance the Sun. So everything may be true simultaneously. Gadādhara Paṇḍita has seen that He came and just entered, my Deity and disappeared. And some devotees were in Jagannātha temple they say He other days generally He used to look at Jagannātha from far. But that day He was advancing slowly. And coming to Jagannātha He said some words and embraced Jagannātha and disappeared. And some say he was walking over the sea and disappeared. And some say that He towards the Sun He approached and disappeared. Everything may be true simultaneously. As He wished to show about His disappearance to the devotees, they saw like that, and many could not see how He went back.

...find out that His body was not material. How it is possible we are to understand that. How it is possible: that without any material body one can show a material body. Body is not of matter but still He can show that as if it was of matter. That will be the problem.

Whether it is possible. Even we are told a ghost can appear and disappear. So many yogīs by dint of their psychic power by exercising that they can appear and disappear. And so many incarnations of God hither to known to the world They can appear and disappear. So why should it may not be of that type? No difference. To expect such is not to expect much.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Mahārāja, the wife of Dhṛtarāṣṭra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gāndhārī. Yes.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: It's said in the Mahābhārata that before she became the wife of Dhṛtarāṣṭra she was known all over Bhārata-varṣa as a devotee of Śaṅkara, Śiva. I wondered if that had any bearing on the fate of Dhṛtarāṣṭra?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why? Have you got any sign in Dhṛtarāṣṭra previous to his marriage that he was devotee of Viṣṇu or Nārāyaṇa? And then her association will have converted him to go away from the devotion of Kṛṣṇa. Have you got any such evidence?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: No, I don't.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then – Dhṛtarāṣṭra is the representation of mind, mānasa: Vidura that of conscience representation, conscience, but Dhṛtarāṣṭra as mānasa, mind, mind's inclination towards enjoyment more, so for wife, for children, more inclined. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The Bhīṣma the sense of duty. All may be vitiated. Vidura holds the higher position there. The sense of duty that may take misdirection. As we say in the case of Draupadī's - the endeavour to make Draupadī naked. Bhīṣma did not come with opposition. A sober man, a devotee, but his conscience was cowed down by the sense of duty. Of course he explained that, "Yudhiṣṭhira understands more about the conception of duty, and when he does not give any opposition so I could not." That was Bhīṣma's explanation. "That is the real direction of the Veda in such condition. A purport of Veda is known most by Yudhiṣṭhira than ourselves. When he's tolerating, I could not say anything."

But Vidura did not care for that. He simply saw the general goodness of the dynasty in future and boldly approached Dhṛtarāṣṭra. "Under your care, taking the advantage of your guardianship, what these brutes are doing. They are bringing danger to your own dynasty by such activity. You are dishonouring Pāṇḍava or you are dishonouring your own self. She is also connected with your family. Should you not help her in such distressed stage?"

Then Dhṛtarāṣṭra was awakened from mind, pressed by the conscience, asserted and asked Duryodhana to put end to such misdeed. And asked Draupadī should be taken to me. And then Draupadī was taken to him.

That is a great test: the attempt to make Draupadī naked in the assembly, that is a great test, a trial, to find out who is who. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Pāṇḍava's also did not object?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They thought that they were bound down by the vow. Bhīma now and then he burst and he is promising – checked by Arjuna, “We are one, what my elder brother has done, silently we must accept that. Don't be boisterous. Then the enemy, they will enjoy our dissension amongst us.” In this way Arjuna dissuaded Bhīma, at times.

And Bhīma used to give his promise, “I shall break your thigh, Duḥśāsana. I shall drink the blood of your chest.” Now and then Bhīma's outburst and expressing his promise in future, and he did that.

But Pāṇḍavas was to tolerate anything and everything, “That the extreme may come over us.

We shall try to stand even in such condition, united – united with our hope towards Kṛṣṇa.”

And Kṛṣṇa came to relieve. When Draupadī, that is a place of the highest type of devotion, when Draupadī was placed under such awkward position she looked after the respectable members in the assembly, no response. Looked towards her formal husbands, they're so big, so great, so powerful, indomitable, no response. Then disappointed from all quarters all help in this extreme moment, she had to come; with one hand to help herself from the exploit and with another hand towards Lord Kṛṣṇa, then left her, that self help also and with both palms together prayed for Kṛṣṇa. And there is a word gopī-jana-vallabha, reverence towards Kṛṣṇa's Vṛndāvana līlā. Nowhere in Mahābhārata can we find any reference to Braja līlā of Kṛṣṇa. All Dvārakā, Mathurā. But only here we find from the lips of Draupadī, Braja.

“Hey, gopī-jana-vallabha, You are protector of all. We after all belong to You. And You come to my relief.” When frustrated from the help of her own husbands, so powerful, then she had to come back, pati pati nam [?] “The Master of the masters. The Master of the masters, the original Master, we belong after all to You. Keep me in such acute position. O, gopī-jana- vallabha, You are friend of the gopīs in Vṛndāvana. Without consideration of the social position and status and ownership, even conferred by the śāstra, the law under Veda. Your connection with us is above law. I take shelter there for my protection.”

Immediately help came. We are told Kṛṣṇa ordered all the merits acquired by previous life of Draupadī, may be immediately converted to protect her in the form of cloth, clothing. And the clothing got infinite character. And is drawing, drawing, cloth drawing and the cloth extending, cloth extending, no end. She’s all right there: cloth coming. That was her position.

And then Vidura went to Dhṛtarāṣṭra, “What mishaps are being done by your sons. And you are sitting tight. You are responsible for all this misbehaviour. It will destroy; it will burn the whole dynasty, whole capitol, everyone of us here. Just quench the fire, put out the fire.”

Then Dhṛtarāṣṭra he called for Draupadī. “Take heart.”

Then of course order gave and some truce was effected there. “They will go to the forest with Draupadī for twelve years. And after finishing that forest living, for one year they will live hiding. Then if at that time they can be traced then again twelve year’s banishment, in this way, again one year’s disguise. If found out again twelve years forest banishment, in this way.

But at the end they came and fought. Kṛṣṇa went as peacemaker. That failed. Then the fight came. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And there we find in Gītā, Bhīṣma stood as the leader of the Kuru dynasty, and this side really, Arjuna and Kṛṣṇa.

[“On the other side, Lord Sri Kṛṣṇa and Arjuna, in a grand chariot drawn by white horses, resounded their divine conch shells.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 1.14]

They began. The first war cry and the response came first from Kṛṣṇa and Arjuna; Pāñcajanya and Devadatta. They uttered, “We are prepared, ready to fight. Begin.” This way, then the Bhagavad-gītā came. Arjuna tried to back away, and to excite Arjuna to begin the battle Kṛṣṇa had to advise so many things, and the instruction is known as Bhagavad-gītā. Bhagavad-gītā, the physical non-violence has been crushed there. And non-violence of Gandhi is for material purposes, non-violence for material purposes. That has been crushed. No meaning: that is all sham; that is also māyā. That is also māyā. Truth is independent of this material violence and non-violence.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...not to save this, should we utilize the faculty of non-violence. It is a prison house and no kindness should be shown, no liberality should be seen to keep the prison house intact. The whole prison houses may be demolished, no harm to the soul. The truth is of such nature. The truth real is of such nature.

What is himsā, what is ahimsā? Apparently what is himsā that may be – apparently what is ahimsā, non-violent, if correctly analysed, that may be found to be violence. Apparent non-violence may be detected as violence from a better searching attempt. That was putting much faith in this illusory aspect. This is not search after truth. This is not real search after truth. Real search after truth will be independent of this material importance. That is independent. That comes from the other side.

The [Philippe] Petain when he came in, he was in the second great war, the French general was some Petain or someone, gentleman. And he came in contact with Hitler and had a truce to save his country. And he did so. By surrendering to Hitler's Germany, France was externally saved. But when [Charles] de Gaulle came back from England, he tried that Petain, that general, previous general, who really saved France from the attack. And the general was given capital punishment. He wanted to save physical France at the cost of the honour of the real France. Perhaps that was his point. So physical non-violence, this was dishonoured and condemned.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, when Vāsudeva Datta was talking to Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu about the deliverance of the whole universe of all the living entities within it, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said that all of them already were liberated. My question is, at that time all the living entities after dying they were, after leaving this body were liberated? Or this is a continuous process and still going on?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We conceive that they are all removed. Suppose in an ocean, if we take a pot of water, how many seconds it takes to fill up the gap?

Devotee: Immediately.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Immediately, we cannot trace even the time. It is infinite; a brahmāṇḍa is like that, a drop. It may be taken out, but immediately, in no time it will be seen to do that. So no, it is not unreasonable. If we have got theistic conception in a right way, then it is like that. A whole brahmāṇḍa is a point in the infinite, a point removed, immediately it was filled up, so many brahmāṇḍa. And in the Virajā so many brahmāṇḍas are floating like a small seed. A huge brahmāṇḍa is relatively like a small seed, a mustard seed, and floating, an innumerable number in the ocean of Virajā, prakṛti. So it is difficult for us to think that how much time it took to remove the whole brahmāṇḍa, and how, all these things. But in the infinite characteristic it is no exertion at all, nothing of the kind.

Ordinary time, we cannot find any concentration of much wealth, money, etc., in a particular field, but in the time of war we find when that great exertion of the nations, immediately a place, a forest is removed and a camp is established in twenty-four hours. Such huge expense, we cannot think how it is possible. But great power they have got of that type – a question of the amount of energy and intelligence – not wanting there.

What is wonder to us that is negligent movement there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Only willing and automatically done!

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Mahārāja, what is the criteria for cultivating the internal spiritual growth, as opposed to external activity, or service also in Kṛṣṇa consciousness?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is increased favourable tendency, progress may be traced. A man is known by his company. The test, that is the criteria whether he is hankering for the association of the good or bad environment: his taste, his eagerness to associate, known by his company. Which ever way his taste is working, progression; that is to be looked on. What does he love? Sādhū-saṅga, more and more affinity towards the sādhu, and śāstra – of that order, it is the environment, increasing his taste, progressively increasing his taste for particular thing. That will prove, either we are making progress or deteriorating – going in the front or backing, that can be known by the measurement of external environment. And going towards the theistic conception or coming back from that sort of deep conception to more subtle or more gross? Importance is being increased to me for which side?

prapadyamānasya yathāśnataḥ syus, tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo

[“As with every mouthful an eater feels the threefold effects of his satisfaction, his stomach being filled, and his hunger being dispelled, in the same way when a surrendered soul serves the Lord he realises devotion of three natures simultaneously: devotion in love, the personal appearance of the Lord who is the abode of love, and detachment from all other things.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.42]

With the progress towards the spiritual side, my disgust about the material things will increase when I have some clear conception about the spiritual truth towards which I am making advance. And my affinity, my spirit also will have some acceleration in my progress. They will show whether I am making progress, or I am standing still, or I am going back. Bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo viraktir, anyatra caiṣa trika eka. And internal satisfaction will also stand guarantee. I shall be my own witness from within, whether I am gaining or losing. My own understanding will stand guarantee, pareśānubhavo.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Rāma. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Is it possible that sometimes we can gain a closer concept of the absolute by serving, manipulating the external nature, rather than doing bhajan, doing personal bhajan?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, bhajan and activity, the activity may be more than bhajan, and the bhajan may be illusion. So that is not the thing by which to be judged. Only in the surrendering! I am asked by Guru Mahārāja to go to some activity. I thought I am engaged in bhajan. But my superior sādhu, he asked me to go to some other duty. Apparently I may feel a little disturbed. But in that case, own bhajan should not be entrusted much. If I know fully well that who has ordered me, he holds superior position to me, then own bhajan should be stopped and to carry out the order of superior person, that should be accepted. Because that will fetch something of higher order, of higher plane to me, This is more or less in ascending method. And that is in descending way of coming, from higher it is coming. It will fetch more subtle and higher value for me. I may earn silver but that may come in gold. [?] Command of a Vaiṣṇava will be more, it will fetch more than I shall do myself. That should be considered, but if the Vaiṣṇava who is ordering me, he's of superior type, if I can understand them. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: You once explained to me, I was asking you about writing. I was telling you that sometimes the realizations and how to express myself writing was very easy up to a point and then became very, very difficult, So I asked you, should I continue or should I go to something else? It seems that the inspiration, or the incentive to write was disappearing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow what you say.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Ok. I was explaining that while writing, writing a Bhaktivedānta Institute literature or...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You were writing an article? Yes. At that time?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes. And I was feeling very much inspired to write. As if I was getting some inspiration, motivation, from another source.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A spontaneous flow you were feeling that was coming. At that time some gentlemen wanted you to – what you are to do?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will depend in what regard you understand the man who is ordering you. If you have much reverence for him you may at least mild protest, ‘That a little after I am coming. Will there be any harm?’

If he says, ‘No, you must come now,’ you keep it now and go away.

You may request him, ‘That only stop for a few minutes, or an hour, I’m engage in some deep duty.’

But still, if he argues, ‘No, you leave it – come.’ And if you had higher respect for him, you leave it and go. But if you have any question about his superiority, that will be another thing. But if you are sure that he’s of higher status then you will give up your own engagement, your own realization, and go to obey his order.

When one is engaged in worshipping his own Deity in the temple at that time some sādhu has come, sādhu has come from outside. And he knows it that he has come, he will leave his engagement in the worship of the Deity. He will go and he will welcome, show his courtesy to the sādhu, make arrangement. Then he will come again here. If he does not go, he commits offence.

In the case of Gajaraja, the King Pāndya in southern India, he was engaged in worshipping his own Deity. And at that time Agastya Ṛṣi he came. And his officers tried to inform him. He also could understand. But he posed that he did not hear. And after finishing his worship, he came out. But because he consciously took the pose of a as if he can't hear, that sort of posing. That his consciousness was drawn to be of a gross character, more gross. So in next birth he had to take that of an elephant, Gajaraja. And when he was in a battle with a big crocodile – but he was a devotee, he had devotion of Kṛṣṇa within his heart. He cried for help from Kṛṣṇa. And Kṛṣṇa went and cut the crocodile and saved His servant, previous servant in the form of elephant. It is told that he had to take the birth of an elephant because he posed himself that he is not hearing. Some sort of the mentality of an elephant he took. So one should leave his own engagement and go to do his needful service for the sādhu of superior order.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: This was also circumstance with Mahārāja Parīkṣit?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Parīkṣit's case is something else. Śrīngi – that man was not a devotee, that Śrīngi. Parīkṣit was a better class of devotee, but the duty of a king, that sort of formality. That was the cause. Parīkṣit at heart he was right. He thought that, 'If I go back without the water, that man will be responsible for not doing his duty towards the guest. And as result of that his hard earned tapasya, the fruit of his penance will be taken away by me. And instead of doing that, I may assert as a king and for this wrong behaviour I am punishing him. Let me punish him because he failed to discharge his proper duty as an āśramite." So he put the dead snake and put it with the end of his bow on the neck. But sincerely he did it with his best knowledge that he may not take away the result of the penances which he is so painfully earning. So as a king he gave a sort of punishment.

That was misunderstood by his son who had some power of penances, though boy, previously earned in his previous life, and he cursed him. He accepted that. And that was the cause of the great Bhāgavatam. Parīkṣit is not to be condemned in any way. But here the Pāndya king he's really to be condemned, but Parīkṣit is a leader, that is nirguṇa. That is mere show. But here in the case of Pāndya it is not a show. It was really the fact. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: In Caitanya-caritāmṛta there is a story about Minaketana Rāma dāsa and that pūjārī. One pūjārī was worshipping the Deity. And Minaketana Rāma dāsa because he did not show respect he said here is the second Romaharṣāna sūta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. What's the difficulty?

Devotee: I was just wondering if maybe you could elaborate on that also?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What's the question?

Devotee: I was just thinking that this is another illustration.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Another example.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Another example, Yes. He did right. This Minaketana Rāma dāsa, he was a devotee of Nityānanda Prabhu. And sometimes he felt within himself the presence of Nityānanda to such a degree that he forgot himself, and did many, showed many feats of devotional sentiments. Minaketana Rāma dāsa was of that type. And when in the house of Kavirāja Goswāmī there was a function. And there one brāhmaṇa pūjārī worshipper named Guṇarṇava Misra, a brāhmaṇa pūjārī, he engaged himself in the worship of the family Deity. And Minaketana Rāma dāsa, the intimate devotee of Nityānanda was present there. And so many persons knew him that he is a devotee of high order, and came to show their respect to Minaketana Rāma dāsa. But the pūjārī did not care. He thought, 'I am already engaged in the Deity worship,' and he did not think that he should give up his engagement and again come to worship him, to show his respect to that devotee. At that, Rāma dāsa he was dissatisfied with his attitude, he thought that those that are showing respect to him, that is really not to him but to his master Nityānanda.

And in Naimiṣaranya also when Romaharṣāna sūta he was engaged in chanting Bhāgavatam, Baladeva presented, Baladeva means Nityānanda, Nityānanda Baladeva, Baladeva was present there. And he did not leave his reading of Bhāgavatam and did not come also to show any respect to Baladeva. So he was punished by Baladeva. "That you are reading Bhāgavatam, but you don't know that the very purpose, the object of Bhāgavatam is present at your front, and you don't know to respect him. Bhāgavatam is full of the greatness, nobleness of Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma. And you were reading that. And I am nearest to Kṛṣṇa, you don't come to respect Me. That is not to show respect to Kṛṣṇa. In fact, only theoretical, only intellectualism you are continuing, what is intellectual. And you have no idea about the very fact, very purpose of Bhāgavatam. So this sort of sham explanation and reading of the scriptures, that cannot be encouraged. It should be punished." In this way he was punished.

And here also similar thing, and that Minaketana Rāma dāsa, he cited that. "That is the second Romaharṣāna, engaged in the formal things, but where is more material, substantial ignoring that. Nityānanda, my Lord of my heart, he has by dishonouring me he's really dishonouring Nityānanda, my Lord. So he should be punished." That was his idea.

And then the brother of Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja he was there. He had some faith in Mahāprabhu, because of his extraordinary scholarship perhaps, but no faith in Nityānanda Prabhu, who was so closely connected with Mahāprabhu, Śrī Caitanyadeva. So he perhaps took the side of that brāhmaṇa. “Why this Rāma dāsa has been excited and saying against that gentleman who is engaged in the pious worshipping of the Deity, he’s wrong.”

But Kavirāja Goswāmī could not tolerate that. He gave a stricture to his own brother. “What do you say? That is not correct. Caitanya, Nityānanda, They are not separate things. You have some respect for Śrī Caitanyadeva but not for Nityānanda? That is ardha-kukkuṭi-nyāya.”

[dui bhāi eka-tanu - samāna-prakāśa, nityānanda nā māna, tomāra habe sarva-nāśa ekeke viśvāsa, anye nā kara sammāna, “ardha-kukkuṭi-nyāya” tomāra pramāṇa kimvā, donhā nā māniñā hao ta’ pāṣaṇḍa, eke māni’ āre nā māni, - ei-mata bhaṇḍa]

[“These two brothers (Gaura and Nitāi) are like one body; They are identical manifestations. If you do not believe in Lord Nityānanda, you will fall down. If you have faith in one but disrespect the other, your logic is like the logic of accepting half a hen. It would be better to be an atheist by slighting both brothers than a hypocrite by believing in one and slighting the other.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.175-176-177]

“One of – you give recognition, another half you don’t like to take into account, disregard. So this is hypocritical: other way that you are really an atheist. You have no respect for Śrī Caitanyadeva also. That is only a show.”

So in this way, Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja pleaded for Minaketana Rāma dāsa: that is for Nityānanda Prabhu's order, than this sort of formal worship of the brāhmaṇa.

Then in the early morning Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja Goswāmī had a dream that Nityānanda with His paraphernalia has appeared very vehemently, very clearly before him and says: "Oh, you Kṛṣṇadāsa, I am very much pleased by your attitude, and come, I want to admit, give you admission in Vṛndāvana līlā."

āre āre kṛṣṇadāsa, nā karaha bhaya, vṛndāvane yāha, - tānhā sarva labhya haya

"You will be crowned by the highest type of success."

Then I rose: "What sort of dream, so clear I saw. Nityānanda Prabhu ordered me, appeared to me in such a vivid expression and clearly ordered me to go to Vṛndāvana. I must not lose this chance," he thought in his mind and began to make arrangement for leaving to Vṛndāvana: and he did so. And he says, "I am so mean: purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha.

pāpa haya]

[Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja Goswāmī says: “I am worse than a worm in stool. When Jagāi and Mādhāi came in the relativity of Mahāprabhu they were considered to be the worst sinners, but I am worse than them. My sins are so dirty no one can even dream such things. I am such a great sinner that whoever will hear about me, dirt and sin will enter him through his coming in contact with my name. Sin will enter one who once hears my name, and his good qualities will vanish.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.205-6]

“I am the meanest creature than a worm in the stool. Purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha, jagāi mādhai haite muñi se pāpiṣṭha: more and more sinner than that standard sinner notorious Jagāi Mādhāi. Mora nāma śune yei tāra puṇya kṣaya: whoever takes my name his merits diminishes, who takes my name. Whoever hears my name his merit diminishes, and who takes my name he commits sin. Such a nasty type of man I am. And Nityānanda Prabhu’s grace took me to Vṛndāvana and gave me as my masters Bhaṭṭa Raghunātha, Rūpa, Sanātana, and this Madana- mohana, Govinda, Gopīnātha and what not. I am in an ocean of successful happiness, ecstasy. It is a shameful thing to speak so highly of ones own self but I cannot avoid it, because I can’t forget what sort of grace of Nityānanda Prabhu. It is only citing my example. I stand witness to the grace of Nityānanda. A man of such lowest type has been raised to so high, to have got the association of such great men like Rūpa, Sanātana and Raghunātha, all these things, so many teachings and so many siddhānta and what not. I have got so many things I can’t deny that Nityānanda Prabhu’s grace and how it is effective.”

preme matta nityānanda kṛpā-avatāra, uttama, adhama, kichu nā kare vicāra [ye āge paḍaye tāre karaye nistāra, ataeva nistārīlā mo-hena

“Oh, you people I cry, I loudly speak it out to you, that there is that causeless mercy, there is a store of department of causeless mercy. And Nityānanda Prabhu is the master of that storehouse. And independent of my qualification He has given it to me. So I am here chanting the glory, the great glory of that great Gurudeva, Nityānanda, the great mercy, ocean of mercy, and causeless mercy. He’s mad in His duty of distribution of the divine love. And whoever is coming in front He’s given it to him, without any consideration of his eligibility or non-eligibility. Such is the most magnanimous nature of Nityānanda Prabhu. Only to give out that to you public for your future, banish it. I am sacrificing me, my shame for, shamefully I am presenting my, citing my example before you.”

That is the version of Kavirāja Goswāmī and most similar case I have told. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. What’s the time?

Devotee: Twenty to ten.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Twenty to ten. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Then we may stop here today. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any Question?

Devotee: Mahārāja, in the incarnations of Kṛṣṇa, do They have different personal identities, separate identities?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, both, common and different, something common, something different, different posing, function also different. Acintya bhedābheda, that should be applied everywhere, bhedābheda, distinction and non-distinction, simultaneously. Internal connection is everywhere, especially towards upward, and functional differences.

That is to be traced everywhere more or less. Even in this world, a man in his family, a man in the office, a man wandering in the foreign land – internally one and the same, but externally their functions, their attitude, mood, cannot but be different. In one's own land one is a king, and when he's wandering in a foreign land he may even be a captive. In his own mood he will be in such a way, mood will be different.

So in Kṛṣṇa conception of different positions, not to be afraid of being a captive, but mood will be different in different places. Svayaṁ-Bhagavān is different from tad-ekātma, and the prabhāva, vaibhava, prakāśa, vilāsa, the difference in His posing, in mood, in nature.

Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vṛndāvana Kṛṣṇa does not care for any Mathurā and Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa. He's in a playful mood, playing freely in a very plain place where the friends are also of a similar nature. Not any gorgeous style, kingly style, where different from Vāsudeva Kṛṣṇa. Nanda-nandana is different from Vāsudeva. Vāsudeva aspiring after the sweet playful stage of Vṛndāvana, but He can't become that at once. He has self-imposed duties and some engagement. He cannot leave that immediately. But He feels in His heart that: "I was very happy when I was young in Vṛndāvana, playing. Now the burden of duty does not allow Me sufficient time." In such posing difference, opposite. Taking responsibility though it is all self-made.

Just as one man enjoying his leisure but when he has taken voluntarily any honorary post, in any municipality, or any company anywhere, honorary post, but still some responsibility. And sometimes he thinks, "When I had no such responsibility I could enjoy my time more freely." In this way: self-imposed responsibility of different type of administration, or duty, anything else.

That differentiates what is the position, the conception of the gradation of the Absolute even. But still the oneness within, it must be admitted. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. He's conscious of His Vṛndāvana līlā, Mathurā līlā, Dvārakā līlā.

Even we can also retain our playing stage in childhood. Though in old age also when busy so many discharging the duties of our youthful – afterlife, when we have responsible duty to discharge, we can remember.

But we have created our own new atmosphere, and that seems to be binding on us. Something like that. It's all voluntary but still accepting different responsibility and to become different in mood and nature and behaviour, all these things.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. And then He's also Nārāyaṇa, that Kṛṣṇa is also Kāraṇodakaśāyī – in different ways. Main centre also Kṛṣṇa, Vṛndāvana Kṛṣṇa, Mathurā Kṛṣṇa, Dvārakā. Then again Kṛṣṇa with Yaśodā, Kṛṣṇa with gopīs, Kṛṣṇa with friends, cows, and devotees also: different moods and types. And in another main centre, in the lower house, near Vaikuṇṭha, Nārāyaṇa, He also has His extended self, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Pradyumna, Vāsudeva, Aniruddha, etc. And They have got also so many sub-officers and They are also represented in this way in twenty-four main forms in Vaikuṇṭha, different forms, different figure, different colour, in this way.

Eko ham baho śyāma. One – the play becomes many, variegated nature, a system, and it is eternal. It is eternal in that eternal domain. And here only it is coming and going. Sometimes comes and goes, pralaya, sṛṣṭi-sthiti-pralaya [Brahma-saṁhitā, 44]. And there that is eternal play, in the plane of dedication. No loss, all gain: so all sustenance, no death. Equilibrium comes action and reaction in the land of action and reaction: naturally in the background equilibrium. Equilibrium means Virajā, Brahmaloḥa, action, reaction, karma. And where there is all dedication, no equilibrium. Equilibrium in the middle stage, this can be stopped. That cannot be stopped, changing, dynamic in character. But a total stop of Vaikuṇṭha līlā is not possible, svarūpa-śakti, nitya-līlā. And this is anitya in the mortal area, and its necessity because it is based on exploitation, action, reaction. The basis is enjoyment, exploitation. That can't stand. Exploitation cannot stand for all the time. It must have its reaction and ultimately sometimes full stop. That is equilibrium, Virajā, Brahmaloḥa, sṛṣṭi-sthiti-pralaya, coming, staying, and perishing, in the plane of exploitation, it is necessary we see.

But that is not in the land of dedication. All contribution, resourcefulness is unlimited, unlimited, no necessity of any stop or any work. There, work is life giving. But here labour is like eating, vitality eating, dissipation, and there, life giving. As long as one apparently has love of labour his remuneration is to get more and more energy for more labour; no other remuneration. So it has got no weariness, no weariness as we find here.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Sundaram: satyam, śivam, sundaram, the highest level is that of sundaram stage; sundar, beautiful, beautiful, love, charm, ānandam, harmony. Gaura Haribol. We have to conceive them in that light. That light, the acme of our highest end, prema. Not the wholesale stoppage of our movement in Brahman conception, the perfect rest, physical rest. But that is more than rest. By rest we recoup our loss. But there no loss, always gain, so rest is not necessary at all.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. And that business, rolling business, that means the gain is always adding into the capital, is being added into the capital; that is rolling business. The service and the remuneration that is added into the serving nature, capital increasing. In this way rolling business, like that, always.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Mahāprabhu Gaurāṅga Sundar.

This is prema, this is love. Apparently there is dissipation, risk in wholesale surrender. But really by the back door one is gaining very much, the most profitable business.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Here we are in movement but always searching after rest, to regain more energy to work. Dissipation, the mortal effect, always: this material world, and up to mind, up to ego. Separate, that is the most healthy cooperative business, and here seeking after separate interest. Everyone is ultimately for himself. And the cooperation with others, that is also meant for one's own interest, not to cooperate for the common gain. Dvitiyābhiniveśataḥ syād [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.37]

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Madana manohara is not here?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja, I am here. From yesterday I'm here.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Bhāvānanda Mahārāja is here?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's here, Jayapataka Swāmī not?

Devotee: Mahāmuni is in Māyāpur. He will be here at ten o'clock this morning.

Devotee: Jayapataka I think has left. I don't think Jayapataka is at Māyāpur: only Dhr̥ṣṭadyumna Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only Bhāvānanda Mahārāja is here. Did Bhakti Caru Swāmī come to Māyāpur?

Devotee: No. He's in Calcutta. He was preoccupied with the conference, the all religions conference. They had a large preaching program in Calcutta of which maybe three thousand people attended. It was three nights in a row, for life members only.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That was already finished, I am told. Again new engagement, all right, anyhow their program is changed. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

I was told that Caru Swāmī would come to visit Māyāpur day before yesterday, Sunday. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, I had one question. In the śāstras it says that simultaneously and differently we are one with Kṛṣṇa. This seems to be a śāstra that the Māyāvādīs pick up and use a great deal, sometimes in their arguments. And I'm very confused.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Our common is that we are also consciousness, caitan. Kṛṣṇa is also caitan. That is, it is conscious, not matter, there the common. But He's infinite consciousness and we are only a particle of consciousness anu-caitanya, br̥hat-caitanya, anu-caitanya. Cetan, that is spirit. His spirit – the Absolute, and we are spirit – the dust, a point. So we have got great difference with Him.

Kṛṣṇa has got sixty four qualities. It is mentioned in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu. What are they? Nārāyaṇa sixty in number. Ordinary influential [demi] gods they are fifty five. And the ordinary jīva soul, only fifty: and very meagre, infinitesimal, fifty qualities in quantity infinitesimal, very smallest of the small. And Indra, the devata when they develop into Indra, the devata's position, some more qualifications added to them, and a little more, very small extension, or development. And in Nārāyaṇa only full sixty qualities are present, and in Kṛṣṇa sixty four – Nārāyaṇa sixty and Kṛṣṇa sixty four in fullest magnitude, the qualities. What are they? It is mentioned, in Brahma-saṁhitā and in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, in Jaiva Dharma also you may find in Bengali. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So that is the difference.

Devotee: It's very clear.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, when one becomes fully conscious of his spiritual identity does his present mind and intelligence, does it become purified or does he lose those and realize...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It just vanishes. Misconception of a thing and when proper conception comes the misconception vanishes. It may come back again for some time. Suppose there is a post. I take it when in dusk, not more light, 'Oh, there is a man.' The post is there, and when in want of sufficient light I may mistake it as a man standing. And that may occur for some time also. Not only one day but sometimes it may be repeated. 'No, no, no, that post is there. It is not a man.' It may occur for some time. But when he comes to understand that it is a post the conception of man vanishes. And ultimately when I'm fully conscious I can retain that memory within me and seeing the post no longer I should think that the man standing, like that. Do you follow? Not clear?

Devotee: I'm wondering, does the present mind, the material mind and intelligence, does that become purified?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mind is to see things with the view of exploitation; that is mind. 'It is for my satisfaction, not for Kṛṣṇa's satisfaction.' What is meant for Kṛṣṇa's service, I mistake it as the thing which is meant for my service. When fully conscious that everything is meant for the service of Kṛṣṇa, even myself, nothing is created for my satisfaction, but everything exists for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, even including me. Then mind, no mind. Mind is a transaction of a usurper, that what is others, I think it is mine and I begin my transaction with that. That is mind, bhoga-buddhi, saṅkalpa-vikalpa. 'How I can utilize for my purpose, how I can avoid this which come to hinder my enjoyment.' This is mind. And when nothing for meant, I am also meant even for the other, then no function of mind remains, mind has to go away forever.

But if offence, only salvation then again mind may again come back in the mental system, within the cage mental system, if he deviates from the permanent knowledge that everything meant for Him, for the Lord. For the time being, he may have some sort of conception that everything is meant for God, not for me. Again he may deviate. 'It is not for me.' But when definitely he realizes that everything has got positive meaning and it is for Him, and I am also for Him, firmly established, then mind disappears forever. Then another mind will, from within, in its position may arise from my inner heart; how I shall serve. How I shall enjoy, this is our present mind, and how I shall serve, by this, by that, that is another.

Anai rday more mora mana vrndavana mane mane eka kori mane [?]

Ordinary peoples mind, their ordinary thinking in their interest of loss and gain of this world calculation. But after attaining the highest stage, Mahāprabhu says His mind is Vṛndāvana. He is always seeking after how to satisfy Kṛṣṇa, the gopīs, the other inmates there. That is another internal mind. That is all pure spiritual, but doing the function of a mind, as we find here, similar. This is perverted reflection of that real mind. Mind means to invite something and to discard something. Such plan, 'I want this, this, this. I want to avoid this, that, that.' That is mind. It will help me and it will disturb me. What will disturb me I must dismiss. And what will help me I must imbibe. In this way the mind works and helps the ātmā to do his service. Mind generally here means this mind, relating to the plane of exploitation. That will vanish. That is only a reflection, perverted reflection. The original is there, that is the real concern. Sarvve

[dānaṁ svadharmaṁ niyamaṁ yamaś ca, śrutañ ca karmmaṇi ca sad-vratāni sarvve mano-nigraha-lakṣaṇāntaḥ, paro hi yogo manasaḥ samādhiḥ]

[“Charity, constant and conditional prescribed duties, mental and sensual control, hearing the scriptures, holy vows and duties - all these are observed to gain subjugation of the mind. Mental control is known as the supreme yoga.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.23.45]

The consequence of all forms of different processes of progress is meant to get away from this present mind of exploiting nature. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, so if the mind that we have now is a perverted reflection of our spiritual mind, does the spiritual mind also accept and reject but for Kṛṣṇa, in relation to Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, but in a different nature. Just as [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī says in his prayer to Rādhārāṇī, [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.36-37-38] “If you are not propitiated with me I do not want Kṛṣṇa. Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa, I want Kṛṣṇa always with You. Without You I don’t like to search after, or even to see Kṛṣṇa, without Your connection.”

That sort of līlā is to be found there. We want to avoid Kṛṣṇa. Gurudeva of the highest leaders of the potency of the wholesale service of Kṛṣṇa, if we feel any avoidance of the leader of our group then we won't go to search any independent compromise with the proprietor. Something like that. We are a part of potency. And the all-embracing potency is there, and keeping harmony with Her interest, we shall have. We are in the negative side, keeping the interest of the negative aspect wholesale. Then I shall want connection with the positive, not ignoring the interest of the negative, I shall go for any selfish interest to meet with the positive. Something like that. Without the grace of Rādhārāṇī, the leader of particular rasa, so also in vātsalya rasa over-crossing Yaśodā, I won't go to show – sākhyā rasa. One newcomer he must not try to cross the right of his master Śrīdham, Sudham, etc., and to be eager to establish direct connection with Kṛṣṇa. That over-crossing that should be avoided for his healthy upkeep. If he does so, it will be suicidal, so they cannot do that. Never leaders should be disrespected of his own group. And that the Gurudeva comes there. Never crossing Guru one will go to Kṛṣṇa. Yasyāprasādān na gatiḥ kuto 'pi – yasya prasādād bhagavat-prasādo, by whose grace we get the grace of the Supreme. And yasya prasādād, if He is dissatisfied then, na gatiḥ kuto 'pi, I am nowhere.

[yasya prasādād bhagavat-prasādo, yasyāprasādān na gatiḥ kuto 'pi

caraṇāravindam]

This should be, not only here, but this should be kept to the highest position also this principle. This is an eternal principle, always. The quality of subordination must be retained. And don't try to become the highest entity. That will be useless and that will be something like Māyāvādā. That I am the principle of surrender, that takes us always in the lower, it will attract us only for the lower position. And automatically we shall find that we are raised to be higher. As much as you shall try to come to the lowest I shall find automatically I am going towards high, surrender. Tad dāsa-dāsa-dāsānām dāsatvaṁ dehi me prabho.

["O Supreme Lord of all beings, O slayer of the demons Madhu and Kaiṭabha, this is the purpose of my life, this is my prayer, and this is Your grace - that You will remember me as Your servant, a servant of a servant of a Vaiṣṇava, a servant of a servant of such a servant of a servant of a Vaiṣṇava, and a servant of a servant of the servant of a servant of a Vaiṣṇava's servant's servant."] [Mukunda-Mālā-stotra, 25]

Śaraṇāgati, surrender – surrender means what? Surrender to the wholesale of Kṛṣṇa. Not only Kṛṣṇa but also His servitors, Kṛṣṇa with His servitors He's one whole. Not excluding His servitors, Kṛṣṇa is whole. So that should be kept in our mind always, so we won't venture to displease the servitors of Kṛṣṇa.

Of course in the higher section we find that is managed by Yogamāyā. We have got no hand there. Different camp and how to increase the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, so different camps, sometimes opposite camps are created for His satisfaction. There also we must abide by the leader of the camp. It is designed by Yogamāyā. We have got no hand there.

But our general tendency will always be to go to the lower side, wherever we shall be put, whatever camp we shall be, we shall have to acquire by the innate nature, our tendency always to be towards the service of the lowest type.

But the leaders, they by appreciating our inner quality, they may force us to be some higher position. No separate ambition should be encouraged there, is encouraged there, no ambition. Quality is self-effulgent. It will take you. You have not to become ambitious for that position. Ambition may be, but that pertaining to service only. But risk with service, always with the tendency of self deprecating. Die to live. Die to live. We must remember this theory all along. But you don't die thereby, you really have to live, a more developed life. But your tendency will be always to die, so much risk at every point of discharging your duty; the wholesale risk. And that you really innately develop your position. You are externally never seeking any position. A position will automatically come, can't be resisted. Irresistibly it will come by your dedication.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: I want to make a question but Mahārāja, I cannot speak English very well.

Devotee: He had an inquiry and then he will say it in his own language and Mahārāja will translate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right, he may say to him.

Devotee: [?]

Devotee: We find that in this taṭasthā-śakti there are two tendencies; one is to surrender to Kṛṣṇa, the Supreme Personality of Godhead. But the other one is not to surrender. But he's asking why there has to be these two tendencies? Why?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why?

Devotee: They are opposite, so why there have to be, since we are energy of Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is for the peculiar position as called margin. Margin means having influence, containing influence both the sides, that is margin. So by constitutionally it is there.

Because taṭasthā-śakti. Tata means a margin. Tata means neither water nor land; something like no man's land, and the line of demarcation between the two, so it is...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...with the influences of the two sides, so it is by peculiar position, and jīva, he is such. You make him understand.

Devotee: [?]

Devotee: Why Kṛṣṇa makes the jīva-śakti in this way to have to fight? Why?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is automatically existing with Him, because the origin - just light and darkness. Without darkness light cannot be understood. So finite and infinite both existing in the Absolute, otherwise it cannot be felt. With the help of the negative we can utilize the positive. One depends on the other for its own interest. Analysing the thought we have come in this connection. Even from all different planes it has been understood that thing and not that thing, finite even requires infinite. Infinite even requires finite for its true representation, understanding. So it is there. Light means not light, all darkness. So the Māyāvādīs they say, 'In the beginning no light, no darkness.' Light can be understood only with the help of darkness. When both one, there is nothing, no darkness, no light. That means all darkness, all darkness.

But the Vaiṣṇava philosophy says that, 'No, eternally both existing simultaneously, light and darkness. Conception and misconception, Kṛṣṇa and māyā, this is eternally existing. Kṛṣṇa with His full potency, and also a perverted shadow of His real domain: with different gradation, the svarūpa-śakti and the māyā-śakti, the right conception and the wrong conception of the thing.'

And between the thing which sometimes wrong conception, sometimes right conception, that is the nature of the marginal potency, the meeting plane of both. This is existing and this is being explained by the experts of the department. That such is the position of the reality, where we are. It requires to explain the reality and non-reality. Non-reality is there, Otherwise we are under influence of whom? We are suffering, and the reality is there, otherwise what for we aspire after? So suffering is there and happiness is there. Good is there, bad is there. And to explain the position of the simultaneous existence of all of them, it has been analysed, the real nature of the things have been analysed in such a way.

And Mahāprabhu's opinion that Kṛṣṇa with His potency mainly in the direct command of Him, and then something which is in enjoying, trying to enjoy their own freedom is misguided. And Kṛṣṇa has made arrangement also to take them in within His domain. In this way things are going on, continuing.

jīvera 'svarūpa' haya, kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa' / kṛṣṇera 'taṭasthā-śakti' 'bhedābheda-prakāśa' [sūryāṁśa-kiraṇa, yaiche agni-jvālā-caya / svābhāvika kṛṣṇera tina-prakāra 'śakti' haya]

["It is the living entity's constitutional position to be an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa because he is the marginal energy of Kṛṣṇa and a manifestation simultaneously one with and different from the Lord, like a molecular particle of sunshine or fire. Kṛṣṇa has three varieties of energy."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108-109]

That is the very nature of the existence of the reality requires such explanation which is the most harmonious.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is a book written by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Caitanya-śikṣāmṛta. I don't know whether that has been translated into English. Might have been; in Madras perhaps. There the western philosophy and Bhaktivinoda, Mahāprabhu's philosophy has been explained, combined. So if you get that, you can read that, you'll be more benefited. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's decisions are so couched to suite the westerners, western thinkers, Caitanya-śikṣāmṛta. Jaiva Dharma the eastern: more connecting eastern thought and philosophy, and Caitanya-śikṣāmṛta more connecting western philosophy. These things have been detailed everywhere of course.

We are to understand with all care and attention, the differences. No end of any analysis. We may divide, and then divide, divide, divide, atom, electron, proton, neutron, go on, go on, no end, no end. And in the bigger sphere also no end, bigger, bigger, bigger.

So in the middle, within our capacity, we are to get some workable basis of our bhakti, our devotion. I have repeatedly told that following the way of knowledge we cannot have any solution. Our attention should be utilized towards faith, śraddhā. Because we are subject, we are a substance with subjective capacity which is limited. And we are going to talk about superior subjective characteristic. Its very nature not to come within the jurisdiction of our knowledge: transcendental.

But, how it is possible? That only satisfied with our attitude, attitude of humility, when that comes down what He is, what He is. Finite cannot expect that the whole infinity will enter within his tiny cell. But by his earnestness, being satisfied with his serving attitude, He comes down to touch the finite by His partial representation, then it will feel that much, it can feel that much, the finite. We should know that. We should be always conscious of the fact that we are infinitesimal. And we cannot hope that the whole infinite will come within my fist. That is nonsense.

Only so the recommended, the path of śraddhā, faith, śraddhā, that is serving attitude, surrender. Then whenever and whatever little He'll kindly make me taste, I shall taste, I shall understand that. That should be the proper characteristic of a finite enquirer. Otherwise it will be redundant, kotivadi, over swallowing nature. And that is impossible, that will enslave me to somewhere else if we cannot understand this plain truth that I am finite. I want to know infinite. I cannot make him the prisoner of my box. But only by my humble temperament I can attract Him partially, and as much as He kindly wills me to taste, that is enough for me.

Eka-bindu jagat dubāya [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 15.19] One drop will inundate the whole of the world. This is His nature. So how audacious I can be that I shall draw Infinite and force Him to enter into my fist. That is suicidal. I must always be conscious of our own position. What is my position? And what I am going to know? And so bearing with a sober consideration we shall try to understand the ways and means that are extended to us by the gracious, great personages. And very patiently and very modestly, only when He wants to make Him known to me, I can know, as much, so that much. Not otherwise. That is our position, and to know the whole thing that is ludicrous, that is suicidal. That is the most foolish reactionary conception. Then that is nullified, there is no God, there is no Absolute, who will enter the cage, the one cell of my brain. That sort of God we have never come to worship. Jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā:

[jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām bhavadīya-vārtām sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatām tanu-vāñ-manobhir, ye prāyaśo 'jita jito 'py asi tais tri-lokyām]

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa: “Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes, which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

A great club on the head of knowledge, inquisitiveness: too much inquisitiveness that will be crushed by a strike of a club. Jñāne prayāsam udapāśya. Hatefully that should be cast aside 'that I shall know', udapāśya. Namanta eva, submit, learn submission, and in that way He will be propitiated with you and come to make yourself know something about Him. And whatever small you will know that will inundate your whole. Eka-bindu jagat dubāya [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 15.19]. One drop of the infinite is sufficient to cover the whole facts of the whole universe. Such character He has got. We shall, by mouth we shall pronounce infinite, but we shall treat it as a small worm. Infinite is not a small worm that we can tackle it, Him in any way. One drop, eka-bindu jagat dubāya, by one drop of infinite the whole finite can be inundated, over-flooded. About knowledge, about science, happiness, everything, power: in every respect. So we are going to approach such a great and great and great thing. And what should be our attitude proper? We must be conscious of our position. Not as a master, but servant of the servant of the servant of the servant. In this way, that is the proper way to approach.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. He does not know English perhaps. You are to explain my position, what I say, in Spanish.

Devotee: He understands, but he has a little problem in speaking, but he understands.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He can't say. But do you follow, no?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rāma Rāma. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, besides the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Bhagavad-gītā and Caitanya-caritāmṛta, which other of the Vaiṣṇava literatures are the most important for the mass of people?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caitanya-caritāmṛta most important, Caitanya-Bhāgavata, etc. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's literature, and the Goswāmīs, Jīva Goswāmī's Bhāgavata-sandharba, and Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛtam, all these books, they represent the gist, the very substance, Laghu-Bhāgavatāmṛtam, the gist, substance of the śāstra, many śāstra. In Bhāgavatam [1.3.41] also:

[tad idaṁ grāhayām āsa, sutam ātmavatām varam] sarva-vedetihāsānām, sāraṁ sāraṁ samuddhṛtam

[Śrī Vyāsadeva delivered it to his son, who is the most respected among the self-realized, after extracting the cream of all Vedic literatures and histories of the universe.]

In Bhāgavatam, Vyāsadeva says, "The whole gist, the gist from all the scriptures, the very substance has been collected here."

Veda, Itihāsa. Sarva-vedetihāsānām. Veda, revealed truth and the Itihāsa means the covering, the experience, knowledge of experience, both. Which is beyond experience: that is revealed truth, and what is got by the experience, knowledge of experience, Itihāsa, collected the very substance from everywhere and put here in Bhāgavatam in an adjusted manner. Sarva-vedetihāsānām, sāraṁ sāraṁ samuddhṛtam. It has been placed here in Bhāgavatam.

And again from Bhāgavatam also, under the direction of Mahāprabhu, the Goswāmīns, they have also – in Bhāgavatam many stories are given to make us understand, help, and they have also added more historical examples with very, substance of the substance. They have served as more suiting to us, the Goswāmīns, under the guidance of Mahāprabhu.

So we are to approach these scriptures with submissive heart and attitude. ‘Please reveal within our heart what is contained in you.’ The śāstra should also be approached with a submissive attitude, not in a challenging mood, ‘that with the dint of intellectual power I shall conquer what is described here. All thoughts I shall conquer.’ Not with that attitude.

It is higher thing, it is cetan, it is independent, it has got free will. The śāstra, though posed in the form of so many letters, types, and this, that way. But there also behind, His free will in the śāstra. They are cetan, they can reveal to me and not reveal to me, reveal them to me.

So in the beginning we worship to make us understand that that holds superior position than the reader, the śāstra, that vigraha. Though inanimate characteristic, material characteristic, it is standing. Scripture also, in material posing, with some black and white and some paper, what is this? So, it holds superior position, I must adore and pray, and then I shall go to read as a student, not as a master, that I shall collect anything and everything, that I am a collector. It is not with that attitude that we shall approach śāstra. Praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in Bhakti-Ratnākara there’s a section, something to do that we may not accept, that Gaura-nagarī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Something as Gaura-nagarī-vada, so that is not wholesale to be taken. And Narahari Sarakara Ṭhākura, and others, though they are parṣada, they are eternal servants to Śrī Caitanyadeva, but they have some special attraction for Vṛndāvana līlā. So some of their followers have misunderstood that aspect, and they have tried to enter that Kṛṣṇa līlā within, the character of Gaura līlā. There the misconception of the predecessors, misunderstood by the posterity. They entered Kṛṣṇa līlā into Gaura līlā.

In Gaura līlā there are three sections. One section more attached to Gaura līlā, the magnanimous side. Another more towards the mādhyura side, and another the middle class, three classes. And Narahari Sarakara Ṭhākura, they're more addicted to the Kṛṣṇa līlā. They did not like at all that Kṛṣṇa will come in such a garb and take the role of sannyāsī and He will take the trouble, could not tolerate at all. And they did not like to give even recognition to Kṛṣṇa as Gaurāṅga.

'We won't like to, we can't see Your sannyāsa veśa, hear all this. You are our Kṛṣṇa. Why You have come in this role?'

That is the particular attitude in their service. And that was misunderstood by some of the posterity. And they came with Gaura-nagarī. That mādhyura-rasa was forcibly entered into the Ācārya rasa. Ācārya rasa, with regard, he will preach to the outside that it is only reserved for Vṛndavana Kṛṣṇa, not even in Mathurā, Dvārakā. In Vṛndavana Kṛṣṇa is this rasa parakīya and that won't come anywhere else. And when Kṛṣṇa has come in the role of a sādhu, sannyāsī, Ācārya, He cannot go on internally two-fold life internally doing Kṛṣṇa upasana, enjoying with the gopīs and externally He is preaching as an Ācārya, holy man. The two things cannot go together. That is rasābhāsa.

Suppose when the husband has entered into the temple to serve the Deity, and the wife is making arrangements for his worshipping materials. Then she would act in such a way before the Deity. What are things what is ordered by husband, the worshipper, she will supply them. And she should not enter into the temple and there she will cut jokes with her husband in the temple compound when he is engaged in worship. That is rasābhāsa. There is a clash and that becomes, produces some bad effect, nasty thing.

So, Mahāprabhu, Kṛṣṇa as a Guru, He is playing a part of an Ācārya, Guru. And at the same time He cannot be in that rasa, an enjoyer. He is giving, He's trying to make the public understand the dignity, how dignified is that. That is His duty. He can engage to the ordinary people to make them understand that this is not like kāma, the ordinary lust, sense satisfaction of this world. With this great position He has come to do His duty. At that time they cannot believe in that way. So the misunderstanding of the posterity of the Narahari Sarakara Ṭhākura group, in Bhakti-Ratnākara that has entered.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So the book, the work is perfect, the book is perfect, but we should know the mood of the writer.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Historical and geographical side. Not historical all, but geographical side it has been mentioned by our Guru Mahārāja, the geographical and some historical is there, but not the tattva, the ontological side. And the historical that comes with that mal conception of ontology. That historical must be eliminated. It was not so, all concocted. Viṣṇu Prīya and her so many sakhīs with that they are mourning that Mahāprabhu taken sannyāsa. And they want to have in their enjoyment. Viṣṇu Prīya, Gaura Nārāyaṇa in Vaikuṇṭha, and Viṣṇu Prīya continuing her penances when her husband has taken sannyāsa. It is told that Viṣṇu Prīya took the Name and when one round finished, one rice. In this way, the rice how much was collected she cooked that and offered to Gaurāṅga and then took at once. That was her diet, so much penances she practised, we are told. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, can fine gems such as the one that you are wearing on your right hand have any practical value for us jīva souls in this Kali-yuga?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: If we wear ring on the finger with a gem, can we get some value in the Kali-yuga, for the jīva; spiritual value?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not spiritual value but physical value, just as when we take medicine from the doctor. Somewhat such value it may give us. If I am sick I do not say, 'Oh, Kṛṣṇa please make us out of disease.' These trifle things we do not enlist in our prayer. We just go to the doctor and get his help. In this way if anything there be let me take the benefit and go on. In that attitude one may dress, just as we take the warm dress in winter. Not that saying that, 'I won't take any warm dress, let Kṛṣṇa protect me, or, I won't be protected.' That sort of rude prayer, or mundane things to pray from Him, this is not bhakti proper.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is necessary, it should be that, use what is easily available. So as much as this warm dress is with me, as is possible to secure, I shall accept that. And that must not be my all attention that I shall, anyhow I shall have to secure some warm dress. To jīva, to make too much to purchase medicine and paying to the doctors: too much of everything is bad. Food also so, whatever will help me in the service of the Lord, I shall accept so much, not more, not less. Adi ke nona dayanca cavati param atata [?]

If I take less and the energy become less, I cannot devote maximum energy to Him, then I will be loser. Just as an officer of a king, if he becomes too much miser and do not like to expend in protecting, expect money for protection of the property, then he is doing disservice to the zamīndār or the king, because he will spend from the fund of the king for the protection of the property of the king. If he does miserly then he will be responsible for that.

So everything belongs to Kṛṣṇa. And I shall take as much as necessary for the maximum service to Him. That will be the economy proper. If I become miser, not to accept, utilize things of Kṛṣṇa thinking that I am taking much and this is all waste. And if for that if I cannot render the standard service then I'll be loser. He's infinite, Kṛṣṇa's property infinite. As much as I can, I shall take but for the maximum service of Him. That should be my object. No want here. It is all infinite. Kṛṣṇa is not bankrupt... to maintain His devotees. But the devotees will accept as much as for...

Phālgū, that is deceptive vairāgya, phālgū vairāgya, and real vairāgya is whatever will be necessary for the maximum service I can render, I shall take that; not more not less. Yukta vairāgya.

["If one is worshipping the Lord properly, what is the use of severe penances? And if one is not properly worshipping the Lord, what is the use of severe penances? If Śrī Kṛṣṇa is realised within and without everything that exists, what is the use of severe penances? And if Śrī Kṛṣṇa is not realised within and without everything, what is the use of severe penances?"] [Pañcarātra]

Penance is not my object of life, to take minimum is not the object. Maximum service and whatever will be favourable to do that, I shall accept that. Not renunciation is my object. My object is service, and efficient service, and also if possible high magnitude and high quality. And for that service whatever will be necessary, and whatever will be available easily I shall take that.

Sometimes that is done for pratiṣṭhā, for good name of a sādhu. There is one Tinkari Goswāmī, he takes this canvass; instead of cloth he uses canvass cloth. But there are so many in the Nimbarka sampradāya they, the kaupīna with wood and iron that sort of kaupīna they take. And there are Nagas also, they're all bare bodied, do not care for taking any dress, and that may take oneself to be renunciation, they say, and that will merge into nothing. Tyāga, that is more dangerous for a devotee because that takes towards pratiṣṭhā, name and fame. Austerity is not the end in itself. Austerity, that will lead to renunciation, sāyujya-mukti. Service we want and whatever...

Ambarīṣa Mahārāja he could get bhakti whereas Durvāsā was eliminated.

When Durvāsā approached Nārāyaṇa and told that, "I am a brāhmaṇa, I am a sannyāsī. I should have more favourable consideration than Ambarīṣa to You."

Then Nārāyaṇa told, "You are brāhmaṇa and he is a kṣatriya. He is a gr̥hastha, you are a sannyāsī. But when you wanted to burn him he did not, went back. He stood fixed there, and thinking that, 'I have committed some offence perhaps on the feet of Durvāsā.' With this humility he stood firm. He was ready to take the results of his bad action, did not shirk away.

But you, you being sannyāsī, for fear of your life you are moving to Brahmā, going to Śiva and then coming to Me, so much afraid of your body, the ātmā buddhi. You are sannyāsī, brāhmaṇa. Brāhmaṇa means you are My devotee you say.

But Ekādaśī is My vrata, My day. And for the respect of that Ekādaśī Ambarīṣa took a drop of water on the lip, not to disrespect you as a guest, honourable guest. His idea was only to keep up the, to show the superiority of My vrata. Ekādaśī means My vrata. To give respect to My vrata he took a drop of water, not for feeding his belly. And he could not tolerate. You yourself did that. You took something to keep up your vrata intact. But Ambarīṣa also did for My sake, not to insult you. And you could not tolerate that. And you are My devotee more than him?”

That argument was put to Durvāsā by Nārāyaṇa Himself.

“Now you will have to go to him. If he does not care me, ‘No, no, go and see what is the real nature of a devotee.’

Then Durvāsā had to come. And then Ambarīṣa pacified Sudarśana. And then Durvāsā came to his senses.

aho ananta-dāsānām, mahattvaṁ [dṛṣṭam adya me / kṛtāgasō 'pi yad rājan, mangalāni samīhase] [“I have seen the greatness of the servitors of the Anantadev, Śrī Nārāyaṇa. You are so magnanimous that although I am an offender you have prayed for me. You hold an unparalleled position in the whole universe.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.5.14]

Then how noble characteristic of the servants of Nārāyaṇa. We are all running after Brahman and Paramātmā, our fate is another. So tapasya, to abnegate everything, to cut our connection with the environment: that is not our object. Rather to utilize everything for the service of the Lord. Why should we eliminate? Why should I disregard. They are not to be blamed. If anything to be blamed it is my temperament, my attitude. Everything should be utilized for the service of the Lord. The environment is not to be blamed. Only my attitude is to be blamed, that I want to exploit them. I should not do that. But there I do not care. But real utility of myself I am servitor and I should engage the whole environment for His service. That is my proper self. The purity demands it and not to renounce them, not to reject, not to dishonour them. To use with them properly, with reverence, and they will draw something from me, for me. They will earn something if I utilize them for the service of the Lord. I shall get something more. They'll help us to earn for me. So why should I reject them, the environment, the paraphernalia? They should rather excite me. 'Oh, utilize me to the service of the Lord. I am inanimate, born inanimate, I am looking after you. You utilize me for the service of the Lord. With that expectation I am looking at you and you are rejecting me?' In that case I shall be a sinner by rejecting, dismissing the environment. They are not to be blamed. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

tena tyaktena bhuñjīthā, mā gṛdhaḥ kasya svid dhanam

[“Everything animate or inanimate that is within the universe is controlled and owned by the Lord. One should therefore accept only those things necessary for himself, which are set aside as his quota, and one should not accept other things, knowing well to whom they belong.”]

[Śrī Īśopaniṣad, 1]

I shall be a unit of serving the Lord with everything, whatever I find, come across. There I should be in a proper position. I am in the midst of the infinite. Whole infinite is a dedicating world, and not an exploiting world, and I must come in the midst of such atmosphere. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... after a big campaign. I also gave some suggestion; that you want to work in such a way then you may do, this, that, and so on. But after he left me I'm thinking that I did not give him the necessary caution, that there is possibility that you will be engrossed, that maharamba, for which Rūpa Goswāmī has given the warning. Maharamba – if we have ambition, too much ambition, which is beyond my capacity, then the whole energy will be absorbed there, and I shall have to lose my spiritual development. So much engrossed, occupied, the whole energy will be occupied by that great attempt. You'll be lost in that sort of work.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Lost in the attempt?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lost in the attempt, and no freedom will be left for self consideration, self development. So external activity must be proportionate to ones own capacity: maharamba otherwise, he'll be lost in his endeavour for the same. Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that will be, that environment, paraphernalia, consciousness, will be more. And self consciousness, self realisation, will have no food. The ration will be stopped for self realisation, and the whole energy will be eaten, devoured, by the maharamba. Bahu śāstra kalad vyasa [?] To know more and more, more and more, the thirst: that thirst is never to be quenched, so that must be proportionate with ones own self realisation side by side.

Otherwise that is also a class of anartha, which is not necessary. Artha means prayojana, necessary, anartha means unnecessary, anartha, no artha, anartha, unnecessary. Nothing has limit, but must be adjusted according to ones own capacity.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the Haridāsa Dāsa, he is recognised? Haridāsa Dāsa. Vaiṣṇava abhidhan. He is disciple of Bhaktisiddhānta...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. With much caution we may enter there, a dictionary, some history, not siddhānta. Those who do not put faith in our Guru Mahārāja, that is, those who could not understand the special characteristic of the pure bhajan which came through our Guru Mahārāja there must be some wrong. And that is in a fine way. So many things common, external, but something internal missing, there must be, because they could not give due respect to a pure Vaiṣṇava. So there must be something missing. And I must be careful that that fine śraddhā, which is peculiar to this line, that may not be lost there by the external charm, of scholarship, or extensive knowledge, or similar things. Why he could not give due respect, reverence to a Vaiṣṇava, as our Guru, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Bhaktisiddhānta Ṭhākura? What was wrong? What was amiss there? That is a very subtle thing, so we must be very particular.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. That was troubling me also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So Vaiṣṇava virudha, Vaiṣṇava aparādhi, Vaiṣṇava virodita, that is a very fine and indestructible at the same time. So to gain something I shall be loser of a valuable property, which is more fine and more higher. Yo yac chraddhaḥ sa eva saḥ [Bhagavadgītā, 17.3] We shall be classified according to our purity of our śraddhā. Śraddhā is the finest thing. Śraddhā for which? The audarsa, that is the finest capital of everyone's life, the highest capital, the aim of our object, the aim proper. It may be misdirected, misguided, the aim, accurate aim, and that is the richest wealth of anyone's life. What ideal, what higher ideal one has got, according to that his fortune will be judged. It's very difficult to get in this world, the conception of the highest ideal. The difference is according to that, everywhere. Everywhere, in all fields, social, political, historical, everywhere, the ideal guides the man, the jīva. Ideal Realism, ideal is not imaginary, it is the real. In future that stands, and what we are in the midst of vanishes. The ideal stands. One's ideal is his future life. His future life is there with the ideal, and the present will be rejected, if we are progressing in our life.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, I've heard that there is a book – just as Caitanya-caritāmṛta, I've heard that there is Nityānanda-caritāmṛta, is there such a book written?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, not such a book.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, does Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa always appear as the Dvāpara-yuga Avatāra?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhagavān Kṛṣṇacandra, He descended here in Dvāpara. In the last time of Dvāpara He appeared, in Dvāpara.

Devotee: Does He personally appear in every Dvāpara-yuga?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not Svayaṁ-Bhagavān but Yuga-Avatāra. Yuga-Avatāra and Svayaṁ-Bhagavān is two, different. Yuga-Avatāra, when He comes to inaugurate the yuga-dharma, the duty specially designed for that time; that is Yuga-Avatāra. And Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, Who can absorb everything in Him in all the ways, in beauty, in consciousness, in existence, all respects, everything is resting on Him. The cause of anything and everything, the ultimate cause, the conception of the highest cause: that is Svayaṁ-Bhagavān. Kala kastardi rupena parynama paraya [?] Both foundation and the development on the foundation: of course, with His potency, as a whole.

Devotee: This is true also of Lord Caitanya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Only of different colour, in and out – out He's black, He's yellow, and the inner, that is His līlā is within, but fixed group, and Lord Caitanya comes to distribute that thing which is confined in the group to the public, magnanimous, mahā-vadanyāya. He's a distributor of the inner wealth: something more. He's tasting Himself and also making distribution. Caitanya. And Kṛṣṇa is tasting Himself in a particular group. And with whole group Śrī Caitanyadeva tasting Himself and also engaged in distribution of the same.

Devotee: Are the pastimes of the Yuga-Avatāras always carried out with the same characters? For instance...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Devotee: The incarnations of Kṛṣṇa, like say Lord Nṛsimhadeva...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nṛsiṃhadeva has nothing to do with Kṛṣṇa. Nṛsiṃhadeva's position is generally in Vaikuṇṭha – not in Goloka. But even in Goloka there is as a token of God, Śiva and others, in that way it may be said. The Deity function, not human function they have got. Nara-līlā sangit, not the friends of His nara-līlā, that humanly pastimes, as representation of God there. But this humanly conception in the līlā, that is accepted as very, very conducive for Kṛṣṇa līlā. Aprākṛta.

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, [nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

[“Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

It plays the best in human ways. In other words, human society has been designed after the highest līlā of Kṛṣṇa – even over [demi] gods. As gods, this cannot have a full play, that Vṛndāvana līlā, the Vṛndāvana līlā as it is, that cannot suit the society of the gods. That is original, and the human creation, race, has been designed after that. Human section has more freedom, they enjoy more freedom. The gods, by their past action, they are to carry out and their lot almost fixed, like the animals. Animals, they have got some responsibility to suffer from their past action, and gods also, but not for sin but merit, merit and demerit. God's have got their pressure, prejudice, about merit, and this demerit – below, but human section in the middle they are left with more freedom. So, to take the line of Kṛṣṇa, the human society, that is more fit.

labdhvā su-durlabham idaṁ bahu-sambhavānte, mānuṣyam [artha-dam anityam apīha dhīraḥ tūrṇaṁ yateta na pated anu-mṛtyu yāvan, niḥśreyasāya viṣayaḥ khalu sarvataḥ syāt]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.9.29]

Here, Jīva Goswāmī explains that below human, viru hiker hitvam [?] And above human, bhoga nivindra satram [?] They’re left free, between the two, the gods and the animals, between the two, the human society, that is more favourable because they’re more free. They’re tempted by their previous birth acquired merit, they’re tempted to enjoy that. So that sort of prejudice to enjoy. And in the lower section, the ignorance, the lack of consideration of good and bad. Arekarai hitvam, and bhoga nivindra satram [?] But between the two, the human section they enjoy more freedom, for free choice. It is the more favourable position for free choice. So the appeal has come to the human species, labdhvā su-durlabham idaṁ bahu-sambhavānte, mānuṣyam. You are just in the fitness of order and you can begin it from here. If you go down then you will lose chance. If you go up there also you will lose chance. Prejudice, merit prejudice and demerit prejudice. Here, the balance, you can have free choice in this birth. That advice is given by the ṛṣis.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, Lord Nṛsimha appears in every millennium as the Yuga-Avatāra, He comes in Satya-yuga...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not Yuga-Avatāra, He's vaibhava Avatāra, līlā Avatāra. Devotee: Līlā Avatāra. So do Jaya and Vijaya, do they always appear with Lord Nṛsimha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Lord Nṛsimha with that Jaya Vijaya comes. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Temporary necessity: so many things, temporary necessity. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Loko niyam matai vartma dasanta vesu [?] Kalidāsa says in Shakuntala.

Yati kathastha loko niyam matai vartma dasanta vesu [?] One side we find that Moon is setting. Sunset, the Moon is disappearing, going down. What is the Moon? Moon is conceived to be the sustainers of all the ausadhi, this paddy, this wheat, and other food stuff, ausadhi, and also so many herbs. So, being the master of the sustenance that Moon has to go down. And the other side, the Sun is rising, and his chariot is Aruna. Arun means half varun condition. Varun means in the womb, non differentiated figure of a child, embryo, not fully developed, varun, and he's considered to be ominous. And he's just on the front of the Sun but still he's rising, Sun. Both have luminous bodies, but still, one is rising with ominous things at his front, and another being the master of all miracles, he has to go down. What does it show? Deridosha [?] Both of them have luminous bodies. [?] One had to depart, another had to come – in a rising position, and in a down position. Loko niyam matai vartma dasanta [?]

This is to teach the public to be prepared for their changed conditions; that nothing remains. Change is going on every moment, second. Our childhood, our youth, then old age, then death: again appearance in some part of the globe. In this way it is going on, time passing on. Time and tide waits for none. Be conscious of your own time. Samahe sarvata mam [?] The present: that is the most valuable. Trust no future however pleasant. And what is gone is gone, not to return. Be present. And the change is inevitable. So try to derive benefit from the present as much as you can. Utilise it. We can believe only in the present. The past may teach us, and future may give some hope, but that is uncertain. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. The present is representation of the eternity, representation. In the eternal world, mainly, everything is always present, co-existence. Eternal time, though passing but still relatively it is always present. Passing has no value because it cannot take us to mortality. That sort of change is not there. Always present tense. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Everywhere there is centre, and if everywhere there is centre in the infinite, then everywhere there is present tense. Nothing lost.

The son of the preceptor of Kṛṣṇa, Sandīpanī, he was dead. When Kṛṣṇa finished His study in the Gurukula, then as a custom Kṛṣṇa asked, “What dakṣiṇā I’m to pay?”

Then His Gurudeva told, “Just go and consult Your mother,” his wife, teacher’s wife.

And after consulting with her, in consultation she told, “We are told that Kṛṣṇa is not a human being. We hear like that, though in His endeavour we can’t detect it, but we are told that He’s not an ordinary man, He’s the Lord Himself. So He can do anything and everything. So I have lost my child, I want to get him back. That is His dakṣiṇā, You offer him.”

Then Gurudeva came out and told, “I had a consultation with my wife and her heart felt desire is that You can do anything and everything, within her belief. So she is very eager to get from You as that Guru dakṣiṇā her lost child.”

“All right.” Kṛṣṇa went, and came with his child.

So death is nothing with Him. In the plane of relativity there is loss, gain, but in absolute consciousness everything is there. Even the smallest, the sand, dust, has got its record and history, everything recorded, in the absolute mind as clear as anything. Nothing lost.

One day I felt a miracle, then I had an awareness, seat just shuddered here, in that chair, suddenly a great whirlwind came and many things were taken away here and there. I could not find this chaddar like this which I put around my neck. "Where is it?" I tried my best, just came from this side and went that side. I tried my best to search for it perhaps: then at last I thought that this must have been drowned in this pond or Ganges anyhow. But that was against the storm, the wind, how that is possible? But anyhow it came to my mind, it is not within my consciousness, but the universal consciousness. Wherever it be it is there. He knows it. It is, where it is, it is reflected in universal consciousness. That was so clear in me that as if I was making a charge against universal consciousness. 'You know it. You know it where that, my thing might sit, in what corner, in what bush, or in what part of the water, but it is not without Your consciousness.' As if in the spirit of charging the earnestness came in me. I don't know why it was so intense in me, but He's seeing everything. We can't, we can't. But whatever it is the universal consciousness it is there. He sees everything. But to my astonishment, the morning I found, someone told, 'that is there within the branches of a tree,' someone told that is there. And the thought came in mind, that universal mind, consciousness, that anyhow managed to get Him there. Ha, ha. A trifle thing, but it was very clear in my mind at that time, that universal consciousness contains anything, every sand, dust, is recorded like anything. Everything is recorded, high or big, that consciousness, that is present. That is past to us but present in Him, future to us but present in Him. Past, future, present, all represented there, but still, that may not be the highest conception of the truth. This nara-līlā does not accept that to be the highest. That is a middle position. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

One day I was sitting in this chair, suddenly I felt that some higher subjective nature has come down and surrounded me, the whole consciousness. My whole conscious body is surrounded by some higher subjective substance, superior to that of my own consciousness. ‘What is this?’ There were two gentlemen staying, I told them, ‘At present it is strange that I’m feeling this that my whole existence has been surrounded completely.’ And at that time it came to mind – we are told that the Vaikuṇṭha ratha comes and takes one from here to the upper world. Is it like that? To take me, I’m within that super subjective area. Will that take me now, to the super subjective world? But as soon as I expressed the idea to the outside people: gradually withdrawn. So many things are there in the subjective world. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And still it is not the highest conception of the subjective sphere: so many things.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nṛsiṃha Avatāra, Prahlāda. In different kalpa it may be of different type. Prahlāda and this Hiraṇyakaśipu, all may not be copy of the same līlā, but similar things occur. Ānanta līlā. It will be repeated always in the same manner: no guarantee. But generally similar things are repeated because of the similar necessity of the environment it is necessary in a modified way. Just as rain in the rainy season, the chill in the winter season, that varies. Something copied, something as before, something different. So kalpa veda has been accepted as suggested by Jīva Goswāmī: not exactly similar in every kalpa but some modification. Because that is necessary for the mass of the human or other animal, according to their need it is designed, in a similar but not same way. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Infinite possibility is always there, cannot be measured. So what to speak of others, Brahmā himself he’s benumbed to think out that even the superior entity above Nārāyaṇa can come down in a childish play of ordinary rank. He could not think out, the great Brahmā, Brahmā-mohana.

No end of searching, so begin to taste as much as possible, sat-cit-ānanda, existence, knowledge and feeling. Don’t think that after passing existence, finishing existence, that another sort of existence will come to consider the analysis of knowledge, then after finishing that you’ll go to enquire about the feeling of pain and pleasure. If you do then you can’t;

you won't be able to reach into the area of knowledge, or more than that feeling of pain and pleasure. So as least as possible you engage with the sat, the existence, and some portion for the knowledge, and some portion of the feeling, from the beginning as early as possible. Don't think that you will finish one and then begin another.

So we are advised that through surrender you try come in touch with the highest phase, sat-cit-ānanda, or sundaram. You try. This is a short cut, by surrender you may come. Otherwise as everything is infinite you will be lost somewhere. You won't be able to come to the last phase, that ānanda, or sundaram, beauty rasa. So all other developments – step by step, that has been ignored in this mundane, Bhūr, Bhuvar, Svar, Mahar, Janar, Tapar.

No. When the agent from the highest has come to you: at once connect with him. And ignoring all these intermediate stages, try to contact with him to go to there, so sādhu-saṅga. The position of a brāhmaṇa, the position of a god, the position of a ṛṣi, the position of a siddha, as that gentleman gone to yoga, yoga-siddhi, then with that capacity I shall try with a little more speed towards that – but don't lose your energy and time. Only connect yourself with the agent of the highest order, and through taking that advantage, that sort of help, sādhu-saṅga you try to connect direct with that highest zone.

81.11.18.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All the phases of infinite are infinite. So for finite it will not be possible that through gradual process you go to the highest. That will be waste of energy. So:

brahmāṇḍa brhamite kona bhāgyavān jīva, guru-kṛṣṇa-prasāde [pāya bhakti-latā-bīja] ["Wandering throughout the material universe, the very fortunate living entity who receives the grace of Guru and Kṛṣṇa receives the seed of the creeper of devotional service."] [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151]

There is an arrangement to send His agent here, to the lowest class. And anyhow try to have that connection, and avoiding all these environmental circumstances, try to have a direct connection and to go, to be recruited from there, and by the agent of that highest layer.

No end of knowledge, no end of the lower consciousness of investigating about those that have no knowledge, like fossil, earth, etc., things without knowledge. And there is also a stage of knowledge, knowing, in so many things it is found, the sphere of knowledge, and devoid of knowledge there is also existence. We may go on with our research about stone, about iron, about so many minerals. We may go on with the association of researching there. Or we may use our knowledge only in the analysis and getting any benefit from them. That is culture of matter. And also we can engage ourselves in the enquiry of the products of so many wise men. This book, that book, that book, that book, we may go on reading, reading, reading, what is in the area of knowing, of the knowledge of this world, or of the world after. We can pass our time and energy in the connection of that.

But we are advised not to dive, not to lose yourself, not to be lost in the quest of that experience, parokṣa-anuvati. Pratyakṣa-anuvati and parokṣa-anuvati, don't be lost there in the realm of parokṣa-anuvati, parokṣa-jñānam, what is experienced by the others. But try to surrender.

Understand the utility and fineness and superiority of surrendering to the true agent that is sent from above to you in the descending method, śrauta, revelation. Don't be enchanted by the knowledge that has been evolved from here, āroha-panthā, discovered, researched, research: research scholars. But dismiss them. Try to capture revealed truth which is coming from the perfect realm to save you. Try to connect with that and you will be infinitely more, more, benefited, than to pass through the parokṣa and pratyakṣa knowledge.

The Śaṅkara School say that, "Aparokṣa is not any type of knowledge: that is something like sound sleep."

But Rāmānuja and other Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas say, "Yes, that is a domain. The basis is devotion, the surrender, and that higher knowledge, more than beauty, ānanda-sundara, that sort, that knowledge is meagre, more ānanda. By surrendering, by devotional tendency you can come in touch with that higher form of life."

That prema, that is categorically different from the knowledge. The knowledge may seem to be a very strange thing to you, in comparison with fossils. Fossil also, this present civilisation is mad for this fossil analysis, taking out so many things, for the aeroplane, for the – they're very particular about this apparent side.

They have spoiled the Moon. The Moon had some venerable position, respectable position, and a beautiful position in the heart of so many men. But the conception of the Moon is spoiled by these scientist; no charm. 'The Moon is – what is it, a lump of stone and mud or something like that.'

But the former poets, what was their outlook about the Moon, they would draw from the Moon. That is also part of civilisation. That is also necessary in poetry. That is also important for the newly married couple; Moon. The analysis; suppose the charm of a male figure for a woman, the charm of the women's figure for the male, if it is analysed in the medical laboratory what is there? Flesh and blood and bone, but can they check the charm? Is it not real? It is more real. The charm, the beauty of a boy, new born babe, all these things, this is also a part of the world and a part of pleasure and pain. We cannot ignore that. But everything, 'this analysis that is the truth and this is all false.' This is capturing the main portion of human pleasure and pain. This analysis of the stone, this gas, the mineral substance, all necessary to promote the pleasure of the society, and will anyone be – will anyone agree that the charm of the women's body may be abolished and we shall only, deception, what we shall get in the room of deception. And that valuation will be attached to them. None will give such consent. Rather we shall remain in the land of imagination. We don't want this stern reality. You chemist, you physician, you go off from here. You take all the charm from my life. So what is what? What is what? There is business, the machine, the machinery information, the computer, and the robot.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. The reverence to the God, to the sādhu, the science will say, "No, no. All this is idle imagination."

Then, what is real? The reality, the physical strength of one over the other: that is the be all and end all of our life, to predominate over the environment; that is the be all and end all? What for? What for, all these things?

A few days ago it was told that America wants one state world. One must be so powerful that being afraid of him everyone will lead a life of submission. No apprehension of war or any disturbance. Previously it was something like that, but that is no solution. Now it is not possible, it is impossible almost, one state world. So we acquire more power to make one state world and then it will be peaceful, peace will reign in the world. That is all mania, impractical. So also, wild goose chasing, wild goose chasing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa: “Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

So learn to be humble, modest, and that is the path to come in connection with the superior. If you want a real connection with the superior, learn to be, qualify yourself with the quality of that of a slave. As much as submissive, as much as surrendering, then you will be taken with much earnestness, much adoration, you'll be accepted with adoration. Go to acquire the limit of slave quality and you'll be adored as much from the higher quarter, from the highest quarter, from the higher region. You will be meant for, qualify yourself in that way. The highest quarter you may earn by your submission. If you really want a sphere which is higher and higher than you, the only way, try to acquire the submissive nature, the humility necessary to come to that higher thing. Admit that you are gross, you are of lower stuff. If you really want the higher association you will have to admit this reality of your existence. Do that and qualify yourself for the higher plane of life. This is not cowardice. This is, the real intelligence is here, this realistic thought. This is not imagination. The highest realisation, human brain fighting with each other, and no further, higher thing thereby: what is this? Atheism, hated thing. [?] Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Gauḍīya Maṭha encourages slave mentality. Fool's remark: 'slave mentality.' You are slavery to this present, this half knowledge civilisation. You are all slaves, of matter. And Newton's law is there, like Yāmarāja, the god of death, equal and opposite reaction stands. You are exploiting, you will be exploited. Mind it. So don't go to exploit. Take just the opposite, and try to become a member in the assembly of the highest plane, and how it is possible. Come to realistic thinking, because death will remove us surely from this plane, however pleasant, even if it is imagination it may be, this dreaming land won't stand. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. As sure as death, it is told, as sure as death. Other things may not be sure, but death is sure, and it is all comprehensive, it won't exclude anyone. It is sure. So if you are courageous enough, come to fight with that death. How to get out of the death? If you're bold enough to come to fight the problem of death, not only for you but for all. Have you got such courage, and such resources, and such education? Otherwise go back. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. Hare Rāma.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, how does one get a proper conception of śraddhā as real substance?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you mean by śraddhā? The self conscious śraddhā, śraddhā will say what is śraddhā. And the outer signs will be, śraddhā will bring one in connection with higher substance. He will be indifferent with the present environment and will be seen in search for which is not found in the present environment. He will seem to move almost aimlessly here and there, not finding the object of his search anywhere. So he will try to associate where is that śraddhā, in the heart of any man if there is śraddhā. Birds of the same feather flock together.

_____ [?] Śraddhā will attract śraddhā and he will try his best to associate wherever he will find śraddhā, and exclusively, indifferent to the environment. His aim will concentrate there only and the śraddhā will ask him to seek for śraddhā only, eliminating all other things from his aims. He won't be able to tolerate any aim other than it. And the śraddhā is grown from sukṛti that comes independent of this world, from another world through the agency of the world of śraddhā; in this way. Just as knowledge can know what is knowledge, so śraddhā can appreciate what is śraddhā. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Śraddhā cakṣuḥ, the love can understand what is love, the corresponding thing.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Mahāprabhu.

Kṛṣṇa consciousness: God consciousness developed into Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Śraddhā gives us company of the Lord according to its degree of quality, intensity of quality, it takes not only takes to God but keeps there. And it is possible that all the time, the whole time, twenty four hours engagement is possible in the service of God, through śraddhā. God is inconceivable faith, inconceivable faith to the remotest good, goodness. That becomes practical in our life.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The ambition, the aspiration, the good will, the hope, everything reaches there in its finest and highest form. In other words, our innate hankerings are all satisfied, perfectly satisfied. No other hankering remains. Rather, we cannot sometimes tolerate so much grace, so much ecstasy. Sometimes one dances like a madman, chants aloud, sometimes dancing, sometimes in fit also, can't tolerate. The meagre consciousness cannot accommodate that flow; for the time being that may be unconscious. Again comes up and begins to dance like a madman with intensity of the ecstasy.

[“When a person is actually advanced and takes pleasure in chanting the Holy Name of the Lord, who is very dear to him, he is agitated and loudly chants the Holy Name. He also laughs, cries, becomes agitated and chants just like a madman, not caring for outsiders.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.40]

Hasatyatho, laughing, meaningless laugh, sometimes. Hasatyatho roditi, sometimes begin to cry, ‘I got the chance. I could not serve up to my satisfaction. I have lost the chance.’ And began to cry, ‘I’m enjoying, so many souls they are deprived of this great ecstasy,’ began to cry. Hasatyatho roditi rauti, meaningless crying aloud, some endless sounds produces. Roditi rauti gāyaty, sometimes singing in a beautiful tone. Unmādan-nṛtyati, like a madman dancing, jumping. Nṛtyati lokavāhyaḥ, without caring what the public will say, he does that without caring any public remark, he’s above that, both the remark of the civilised and none civilised persons of the so called world, lokavāhyaḥ. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. He’s full in his own way. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Hare Hare Rāma. Where the public is awake, it is his night, darkness. Where he’s awake, the public cannot reach there.

yā niśā sarva-bhūtānām, tasyām jāgarti saṁyamī yasyām jāgrati bhūtāni,
sā niśā paśyato muneḥ

But there is imitation also. I heard in the last great war, there was one island, Hawaii or something like that, between Japan and America: there was a research scholar, perhaps American or so, I don't know. And his activity was always with the Sun and the light in the sky, and so many things, his researches. But really he was a spy of Japan. And when the tension of the war reached to climax, and who will attack first then he will get great advantage, and the attack must be stealthy. But Japan also, Japan says that Hitler has engaged the western power. Only America, leaving away Japan he can't join this. So America and Japan, these two were very closely antagonistic. And who will attack first whom? Japan, through this spy, everyone is watching another's movement. America concentrated the ninth fleet, that big navy, in Hawaii, stealthily. And Japan suddenly attacked them, and war began between America and Japan. That man supplied the news, that man who was researching with the sky, he anyhow gave the news to Japan, 'The navy, some nine fleets or something has come here,' and suddenly by night attacked by Japan, bombarded those nine: a great loss. It was later detected that that man in the garb of research he was the spy of Japan.

So imitation can be so dangerous. As a research scholar he's indifferent to the world interest, he's researching, but this poison was within him to betray his own country. So something, under the garb of scholarship, innocent research, knowledge, this sort of poison there was.

So the sahajiyā and other so many imitationists are also there, in the garb of good will, to Godliness and so many things, heinous things may be concealed within. Hare Kṛṣṇa. No śraddhā but displaying śraddhā, displaying some faith. So we shall be more careful about the company. The company which is so valuable, indispensably valuable, but there also we shall have to be very cautious in our selection of association. Association is the be all and end all, all important. But the selection of the association, our real fortune depends there. So good association, good company is the most valuable thing in the world. The most valuable thing is a good companion.

[King Nimi asked the nine Yogendras: "O sinless ones! We therefore enquire from you about that which is supremely auspicious for all living beings, for in this world of birth and death, association with saints - even for half a moment - is the most valuable treasure in human society."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.30] and it can be lost at any moment. But I think that even those who have achieved human life rarely gain the association of pure devotees, who are dear to the Lord of Vaikuṇṭha.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.29]

This human life is very rarely got. If we look around, everywhere there is life, but how many handfuls of human life? So if we cast a broad look around, so many souls under different conditions, and we have attained this valuable form of human life, endowed with so much advantage. Durlabho mānuṣo deho, dehinām kṣaṇa. But it is not permanent acquirement. It may be doomed immediately, destroyed immediately. And as a result of our previous action I may have to go again into darkness. It is not acquired permanently, kṣaṇa-bhaṅguraḥ. Tatrāpi durlabham manye, vaikuṇṭha-priya-darśanam. It is rarely got, and again there the connection of the Vaikuṇṭha vadi, of the man of the Lord. To get that association is more and more rare.

Samśāre ‘smin kṣaṇārdho ‘pi sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir nṛṇām. Even for a moment if we get the association of the divine people it can turn the tenor of our whole life. Sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir. Even a moment’s association: that should be considered like a gem, śevadhir. Śevadhir means diamond or gem, should be considered, śevadhir nṛṇām. The only desire, most valuable thing, a slight connection with the divine agent, no such valuable thing we can hope to achieve in our life that can give us a turn to the highest good, śevadhir nṛṇām. Gaura Haribol. Samśāre ‘smin kṣaṇārdho ‘pi sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir nṛṇām. So if anything to be aspired after, that is the association of the agent of the divine, the divinity of the highest conception.

So much intensity in dedication towards the Supreme Beauty we have never found as we find in the life of Śrī Caitanyadeva. How? Only hearing the Name entered Kṛṣṇadāsa fainted: looking at the Vighraha of Jagannātha in Purī, floods oozing from the eyes. Slight connection and great result found in the reaction in the body, mind.

There are so many religious men so far traced in history, but so much intensity coming in contact with the highest conception of the Lord, the effect, so much intense is never found in any of the devotees of the whole world in the whole history, except that of Rādhikā. Equal, equal there, so much intense hankering to serve the Lord, to be united with Him, aspiring after union with the Lord: so much intensity never found in the history of any religion of the world, as we find in Rādhikā and Gaurāṅga Mahāprabhu; and then somewhat in Nityānanda and other places.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

So much hankering, so much intense attraction for the highest truth; that is what has taken us to Gauḍīya Maṭha. We have no sympathy, no charm for anything, or any proposal, or any principle ever so given to this world. But the connection of Rādhārāṇī and Gaurāṅgadeva has attracted us most in its highest conception. Everything is trash.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... was brought by Caitanyadeva here in the phenomenal world. They all looked with wonder and stopped their own practices in which they were engaged, engrossed so fully. Left it for the time being, leaving everything, everyone had a look in the strange attempt of Caitanyadeva. “What has He got? He is showing so many feats, never known to the world of devotees. Crying, crying after hours together, days together, crying. Hours together laughing, sometimes fainted, sometimes dancing. What are these feats? And Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa, He’s chanting in such a way, the whole area, all the hearts in the area are as if melting away. Such piteous sound coming out of Him and creating a wave, that hard hearts are also being melted by the degree of that piteous-ness in the wailing. He has lost such a great jewel of His life, of His heart, as if heart has been taken out of Him. He's so crying, wailing, such a degree of wailing, none have experienced ever. The most piteous thing has come down." In this way so many feats are coming day and night. All were astounded and leaving everything, only staring at the movements of Śrī Caitanya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... the normal position should be discovered. Not to acquire anything. But to do away with the filthy thing that has covered the innate wealth.

Then he wanted to give some punishment to the students. 'Why you are complaining?'

_____ [?] but when they take the law in their own hands then the professor he could not tolerate. But none will say who has done it. Then he [?] told that he's afraid, he knows, but he's afraid to take the name. Then he will be nowhere. Then he managed that all the students have to pass through the library where the gems is sitting. The principal is sitting in a chair and that [?] was engaged to manage the books in the almira. And the arrangement was made that when the real culprit will pass through one by one, all the students will pass through the room, and when the real culprit he will pass, you should make some sign by rubbing his toe on the floor. That was the arrangement. And he did so. When Subash was passing through, the servant he rubbed with his toe he rubbed the floor. And he could understand by the sign. Then of course he expelled Subash, and also one or two from Missionary College. That Asutosh Mukarjee he was a friend of the students, he admitted, he made arrangements to admit him in the Scottish Church College, where from Swāmī Mahārāja also was educated. Swāmī Mahārāja and Subash Gosh almost contemporary. In age perhaps both of them perhaps 1896 perhaps. Swāmī Mahārāja 1896 or 94? I am 95, 1895 I am born. Swāmī Mahārāja perhaps 96. One year junior. Subash Gosh 96?

Devotees: 96.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're of equal age, almost. Swāmī Mahārāja was born in August perhaps and Subash perhaps in the end, few months junior to Swāmī Mahārāja. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Scottish Church: that was a Christian Missionary College, Scottish Church. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So the British think that they have civilised Indians.

Devotee: They're a most prejudiced nation. They are very prejudice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. In first great war the Kaiser he declared that free ocean, free nation, while the British had monopoly over the whole ocean, all the oceans under their control. 'We are masters of all the oceans. Free ocean, free nation.' That was the slogan of Kaiser of Germany. But both the times America came to her relief. And it was, we read in B.A. class, Burke quoted, foretold that, in Burke's speech, of American Conciliation. Succession and conciliation, two speeches the Burke delivered in Parliament of the day. There Burke mentioned that, "Give America liberty. One day it may be so that in old age the daughter will suck the mother to save her." In two great wars such things we saw. That America came at the last point to help British and British was saved anyhow. We found in newspaper the Germans and British was defeated in every battle, but winning the war. And Germans they are victorious in every battle, but they lost, they are defeated in war, war and battle. The last breath that could be retained in the war, that is the difficulty. And America came in the last time to help, twice. That time Wilson was the President in the first great war. And the second great war perhaps Kennedy.

Devotee: No, Roosevelt.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Roosevelt. Oh, Kennedy was a little soldier at that time.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the Durgā pūjā in Navadvīpa was introduced by that Kṛṣṇa Chanda, Kali pūjā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa Chandra, at that time he might have encouraged, but it is from before.

This rasa recently finished, perhaps that was inaugurated in his time, might have been inaugurated. And then his time the smārta paṇḍita, the śakta, worshippers of the śakti, they came to power to such a degree that at that time the worshippers of Mahāprabhu installed by Viṣṇu Priya Devī, they are afraid.

There was a famine at that time and the brahmins, the paṇḍitas, the scholars, smārta scholars, they lodged a complaint to Mahārājah Kṛṣṇa Chandra that, “The man is being worshipped and that is the root of the present famine. So man worshipping must be stopped. Caitanyadeva was a man, and his wife Viṣṇu Priya she installed his idol and that is being worshipped, and that is the cause of this famine.”

So apprehending that that pūjā of Mahāprabhu will be disturbed, then the pūjārī, the priest, that is the posterity in the line of Viṣṇu Priya, they managed to build an underground room and there placed Mahāprabhu, and some sort of sugar sweetmeats placed, and then it was covered so that they may not come and disturb.

At that time one miracle took place. The Manipur Raja, he was already a Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, a disciple of Narottama Ṭhākura's line. And he was independent chief, and he was under Mohammedan rule, Kṛṣṇa Chandra. And he got a dream that, ‘My pūjā in Navadvīpa at stake. You go and start it there.’

And also one paṇḍita bābājī in Vṛndāvana, he also got a dream. Who is there?

Devotees: Mukunda Mālā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Got a dream that, ‘The paṇḍits of Navadvīpa they have influenced Mahārājah. And that Śrī Caitanyadeva is a man, and not God. And His worship has been stopped.

So you go there and invite the paṇḍits there and prove that in śāstra the mention of Avatāra of Caitanya, you try to prove there, to establish.’

So both came here. First the Manipur Raja came and he saw Kṛṣṇa Nagar Raja and prayed for a piece of land here, on lease. And Kṛṣṇa Nagar Raja could not avoid, he gave him. ‘But a free lease I am giving to you as much as you want; as much land.’

‘No, no, I want this and not free but on lease, some I shall pay at least.’

So some land, a portion was given to Manipur Raja, settlement of lease. And as he was independent he established Anu Mahāprabhu, that present Anu Mahāprabhu he established there and began worshipping.

And Tota Rāma Bābājī also came. And he saw this Manipur Mahārājah Kṛṣṇa Chandra. “That I am told. I am coming from Vṛndāvana. I have knowledge about the scriptures. I heard that Caitanyadeva is an Avatāra. It is not mentioned in the śāstra. I am to prove that it is in the śāstra. I have come. You call your paṇḍit, that one thing oppose, that Caitanyadeva is Avatāra.”

Then Kṛṣṇa Nagar Raja Ācārya he also – already he was influenced by Manipur. And now at the request of Ṭhākura Rāma dāsa Bābājī paṇḍit he invited an assembly of the scholars. They came, they tried their best, but they were refuted by Ṭhākura Rāma dāsa Bābājī. So many scriptures, and it is mentioned there, the Yuga-Avatāra, and who will inaugurate Nāma saṅkīrtana, Hari Nāma saṅkīrtana. Kalau patama sanjayam [?] Who is that? You ask your paṇḍits to find out, who is that person.”

Anyhow the argument went on but they could not satisfactorily prove that, that Yuga-Avatāra, who is that Yuga-Avatāra? And there was also influence of the Manipur Mahārājah. Anyhow they are defeated, they accepted defeat. And then the old Deity installed by Viṣṇu Priya Devī that was taken out from underground. And as before publicly He was worshipped. Then, that is Mahāprabhu and Manipur Raja then changed the name, Anu Mahāprabhu. There is big Mahāprabhu, there is chota, small in that sense or anu means posture, afterwards. That was the ādi, the original, previous, and this is afterwards. Anu Mahāprabhu name was given to this Deity, and both Mahāprabhus were being worshipped here. Now of course many other Mahāprabhu have been installed, including ours, Śrī Mūrti. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Do you feel inconvenience in the Sun?

Devotees: No, it is nice now?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.
Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yourself; no trouble yourself?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, but the Sun not on the face. There is a shadow of the pillar.

_____ coming? No?

Devotees: Not yet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He will take bath then come, with cool brain. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Devotion, dedication: Mahāprabhu Gaurāṅga Sundar.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, in the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Rūpa Goswāmī he has given three types of suka; three different types of suka. One is vaisayika, brahma and aiswar. So aisvara suka, what is that aisvara suka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Aiswara suka pertaining to, concerning the Lord Īśvara. Īśvara means Lord, 'that I have got my master. I am servant, I have got my master,' the happiness drawn from this consciousness, that is aiswara suka. 'I have got my master.' But, 'I am the master. I am neither master nor servant. I am the master,' vaisayika suka. 'I am servant, dāsa. I have got my master.’ That is aiswara suka. And brahma suka that is sound sleep, that samādhi, brahmāsmi, with this idea they enter into brahman conception.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So vaisayika means I am the master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I am the master, exploitation.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That is not bhakti?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no. Vaisayika suka that is the pleasure drawn from exploitation, vaisayika suka: that I am the master, I am the enjoyer. I am the enjoyer or I am the server or I am nowhere, brahma suka, pertaining sambandha yukta, connecting.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: Mahārāja, after that, after he explains those three types then Rūpa Goswāmī gives one more śloka, the following śloka,

And then in the śloka arta it gives the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: These both are included there.

Devotee: Both are included.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It supersedes and that is so intense, and so graphic that these tiny pleasures that are included there. Something like that. What is the śloka again?

Devotee: It says:

anima adi siddhi bhukti rupa visay suka nitya mukti rupa brahma suka [?]

o nitya paramananda rupa aiswar suka govinda bhakti dwara labhaya thake [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That includes all these trifle suka, and more than that. In quality, quantity, this is nothing. If we compare this trifle conception of pleasure it is there in the ocean, more than that.

Devotee: Govinda bhakti, that is higher than aisvara suka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. All the suka included there, and in a better way represented, not only quantity but quality also. It is infinitely greater.

Devotee: So quality is greater in Govinda bhakti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Quality and quantity, this is meagre. When these classes of pleasures come in comparison with that; it seems to be hateful. This is not suka at all.

yad-avadhi mama cetaḥ kṛṣṇa padāravinde, nava-nava-rasa-dhāmany udyataṁ rantum āsīt tad-avadhi bata nāri-saṅgame smaryamāne, bhavati mukha-vikaraḥ suṣṭhu niṣṭhīvanam ca

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, 5.39]

In Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu there is another śloka: “That so long my heart has come in connection with the service of Kṛṣṇa, loving service of Kṛṣṇa, I feel a strange class of happiness, so long whenever I have come in connection with such sort of ecstasy. From that time, bata nāri-saṅgame smaryamāne, the pleasure which we derive from the union with a women when that comes in mind, bhavati mukha-vikaraḥ, the muscles of the mouth get some hateful posture and, suṣṭhu niṣṭhīvanam ca, some spitting temperament comes, like hatefulness. Mukha-vikaraḥ, that is very nasty. So some gesture in the mouth, in the face, as well as the spit comes in the hateful, in the tongue. When we, what is adored so much in the world, that the pleasure of union with a lady, when that comes in that hateful posture and spit comes to my mind. That is so noble and so highly sort of, expressed, that joy.”

So this vaisayika suka and the brahma suka, they are hated by one who is installed in the service of Govinda, really the fact is that. There he says all the suka small or great conceived here acquired by enjoyment and renunciation is included there in that ocean. Another type that this suka is hateful when we get that: we have to harmonize these two lines of thoughts. That this is not suka at all, this is not pleasure at all. When one enters the domain of that ecstatic love, then these things no longer have any position in his heart that it is a pleasing sensation. It is not pleasing. It is a hateful thing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... śanta, dāsyā, sākhyā, vātsalya and left by touching mādhyura rasa. And the whole mādhyura rasa has been dealt in Ujjvala-nīlamanī. That is for the higher students of devotion, mādhyura rasa. The analysis of mādhyura rasa is found in Ujjvala-nīlamanī. And that is a supplementary to Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu. And Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura has given a short, Ujjvala-nīlamanī means gem, and kirana means ray, the ray of that manī. That is the name of another book which is the gist of Ujjvala-nīlamanī, and Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu-bindu, Kirana-bindu-kona. And Sanātana Goswāmī Prabhu has written Br̥hat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, and Rūpa Goswāmī Laghu-Bhāgavatāmṛta, short. And he has given kona, āmṛta kona, Bhāgavatāmṛta a drop of that nectar. A drop of nectar, and a drop of ocean, and ray of the gem, three books very short, very gist of three books composed by Viśvanātha Cakravartī Ṭhākura. Kirana-bindu-kona, in short one who can go through these three books, they can get some idea about Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu and Br̥hat-Bhāgavatāmṛta and Ujjvala-nīlamanī, three books. They are elaborate and very short. It is given by Viśvanātha, the gist of these three books, important books of the devotional cult. Kirana-bindhu-kona. Kirana that is Ujjvala-nīlamanī-kirana, and bindhu, that of Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu and Kona that of Bhāgavatāmṛtam kona.

Devotee: Kona means?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kona means a very small particle, a small particle of nectar, āmṛta kona, a particle of nectar, and the drop of the ocean, and the ray of the gem. The gem, what is another name of the gem?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Jewel.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jewel and gem similar, synonymous?

Devotee: Yes.

Devotee: Rūpa Goswāmī has also written one book Uddhava Sandesa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes Uddhava Sandesa. Uddhava was sent by Kṛṣṇa to meet the gopīs, the vraja-vāsīs, Nanda, Yaśodā, the cow boys and the gopīs. And the topics between them, the gopīs and Uddhava has been described there, Uddhava's experience in Braja. Uddhava Sandesa.

Books there are many, but if we follow the real method of study, otherwise everything will be gone over and nothing got there, so study. The real process of study, praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā, otherwise all book knowledge and no conception, so that will be useless.

Devotees: Dry labour, like a dry thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Everything is underground I walk over it. You may think like that but really it may not be so. He may not have touch, only the literary portion. But he cannot have the touch, that intellectualism.

In the language our Guru Mahārāja, the honey is in a bottle and it is corked. But the bee is sitting on the bottle and trying to get the honey: useless. So between the bee and the honey, there is that glass screen.

So intellectualism and the real feeling, participation, he mentioned that is quite a different thing. Not only nothing, but mischievous. That will encourage one, if Kṛṣṇa līlā is not properly approached then there will be a mischief, he will feel encouragement in his experience of the lust. That will utilize for those sciences he will utilize in his lady love and will commit a great offence, and never to return to that land.

So the warning has been given in Bhāgavatam by Śukadeva Goswāmī. If you have no control over your senses don't venture to touch, to come to this area. Then you will be doomed. If without getting the status of Śiva, Mahādeva if you drink poison, you won't become Nīlakaṇṭha, but you'll have to die immediately.

[vinaśyaty ācaran mauḍhyād yathā 'rudro 'dvijaṁ viṣam]

["One should never imitate the behaviour of great personalities. One who foolishly does so, even mentally, is doomed, just as one who imitates Lord Śiva drinking poison."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.33.30]

Even not mentally, not mentally, manasāpi, anīśvaraḥ, who has no self control, control over his senses and the other enemies, vinaśyaty, he's sure to die, yathā 'rudro 'dvijaṁ viṣam, one who is not Śiva if he takes the poison by his folded palm he is sure to die. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. The opposite thing: one is by dedication to the Lord, while another is exploitation to the extreme, mean stage, exploitation of the mean stage, kāma. Kāma – andhatamaḥ, prema – nirmmala bhāskara.

[ataeva kāma-preme bahuta antara, kāma – andhatamaḥ, prema – nirmmala bhāskara]

["There is a gulf of difference between lust and love; lust is dense darkness, love is the brightest sun."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 4.171]

This is the most dense darkness, and that is the most pleasing light.

Devotee: Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura Mahārāja he has written books, his personal books he has given, he has written?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he has written in English that Vedānta Morphology, Relative Worlds, Rāya Rāmānanda, in English. Then Bhaktivinode Ṭhākura's Life and Precepts of Mahāprabhu and then commentary composed by Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī. And there are many poems also composed by him. Mainly his commentary is very important, the collection, extensive character to prove and to establish the teachings of Mahāprabhu, Kavirāja Goswāmī etc. Vṛndāvana dāsa Ṭhākura.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. [?] Any trouble; mental?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Say what is the anomaly? Disappointed if we do not know anything, if there is any want, we are ordinary people. Infinite number of wants may be within us. So we are here, but to ameliorate our condition, the tendency that is to be raised. Fallen jīva we are but we want to rise up, wake. We want to wake. Awake, arise or shall be forever fallen.

[“Awake, arise: Having obtained the human form of life, you must not sleep in the darkness of ignorance. Awaken knowledge of your real self by associating with great souls and obtaining their mercy. This material creation is as sharp as a razor’s edge, for it is the cause of many miseries. It is impossible to cross over without transcendental knowledge. Therefore one must take shelter of the great learned transcendentalists who forever sing the praises of that Supreme Person who is the destroyer of birth and death.”] [Kāṭha-Upaniṣad, 1.3.14]

You have got, in our Guru Mahārāja’s language, words, ‘volcanic energy.’ He sometimes used this expression ‘volcanic energy.’ You have got that energy and it should not be misguided. Properly guided it will fetch the most precious thing for you. Gaura Haribol. Proper guidance, that is the most important thing in the life of everyone and all, proper guidance. We have got raw materials with us. And that is the post of Gurudeva, karṇadhāram. The boat is there, but only rowing is not sufficient. One who knows the destination, the helmsman, he can guide. The rowing is there, the boat is there, the helmsman, guru karṇadhāram. In Bhāgavatam [11.20.17] there is a śloka:

nṛ-deham ādyaṁ sulabhaṁ sudurllabhaṁ, plavaṁ sukalpaṁ gurukarṇadhāram mayānukūlena nabhasvateritaṁ, pumān bhavābधिṁ na taret sa ātmahā

[“The human body, which can award all benefit in life, is automatically obtained by the laws of nature, although it is a very rare achievement. This human body can be compared to a perfectly constructed boat having the spiritual master as the captain and the instructions of the Personality of Godhead as favourable winds impelling it on its course. Considering all these advantages, a human being who does not utilize his human life to cross the ocean of material existence must be considered the killer of his own soul.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.17]

Kṛṣṇa Himself says that one who does not take the advantage of this human birth, he commits suicide. How? It is described here, nṛ-deham, this human body, human figure, ādyaṁ sulabhaṁ sudurllabhaṁ, plavaṁ. This is a boat, a raft, well planned, sukalpaṁ, well planned, suiting the purpose, sukalpaṁ. Ādyaṁ, primary necessity, deham, if we want to cross this ocean of birth and death and disease then first thing is necessary this human body, human birth, nṛ-deham ādyaṁ. First sulabhaṁ, a good bargain: sudurllabhaṁ, and very rarely we can acquire such position, sudurllabhaṁ. Sulabhaṁ, sudurllabhaṁ; sulabhaṁ means a good bargain, in the course of our wandering through the vicious cycle of birth and death, sulabhaṁ, it is a good acquisition to get this human body. And that is sudurllabhaṁ, and not very easily we can acquire this position of a human body, because:

jalajā nava lakṣāṇi, sthāvarā lakṣa viṁśati

[kr̥mayo rudra-saṅkhyakāḥ, pakṣiṇām daśa lakṣaṇam triṁsal lakṣāṇi
paśavaḥ, catur lakṣāṇi mānuṣaḥ]

[In the laws of Manu, it is written: “There are 900,000 kinds of aquatics, 2,000,000 kinds of trees and plants, 1,100,000 kinds of insects and reptiles, 1,000,000 kinds of birds, 3,000,000 kinds of four-legged beasts, and 400,000 kinds of human species.”] [Viṣṇu-Purāṇa]

The course, the current of karma is passing in a vigorous way and in the midst of that the karma, wherever, anywhere it can lead me. Sometimes trees, insects, worms, animals, even gods, yogīs, so many, up to Satyaloka, just below Brahmaloḥka the current is vehemently in speed. Sulabhaṁ sudurllabhaṁ plavaṁ, sulabhaṁ means we have acquired it after much trouble. Sudurllabhaṁ plavaṁ, it is like a boat or a raft. Sukalpaṁ, well-planned, well-planned to serve the purpose, nṛ-deham ādyaṁ sulabhaṁ sudurllabhaṁ plavaṁ sukalpaṁ, well-planned, well-designed to serve the purpose, sukalpaṁ. Guru-karṇadhāraṁ, we must secure a proper Guru who will be at the helm, guru-karṇadhāraṁ. Nṛ-deham ādyaṁ sulabhaṁ sudurllabhaṁ, plavaṁ sukalpaṁ guru-karṇadhāraṁ, mayānukūlena nabhasvateritaṁ: “And I work as the favourable wind,” Kṛṣṇa says. Favourable wind, mayānukūlena nabhasvatā, nabhasva means vayu, wind. Mayānukūlena nabhasvateritaṁ pumān bhavābdirṁ na taret, taking all these advantages, if...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... he commits sure suicide thereby. If such a great and happy chance he misses in his life, that it is almost suicide, equal to suicide, so ātmahā, ātmāgatih, he kills himself. In Ekadas Skanda Bhāgavatam it is told.

The knowledge in the area of experience, in the world of experience is vulnerable, challengeable, because the area is already under misconception. So every experience here is bound to be erroneous. So how we can be saved? Only normal knowledge should be indented from outside this māyāic area, the influence of māyā. Māyā means mā - yā misunderstanding, miscalculation, so proper knowledge should be indented from outside this area of misconception. More or less everyone has got misconception here.

Only those that have intended and have taken advantage of practising the knowledge which has come from outside this area, that is vaidic, śrautic, revealed knowledge, that is to be accepted as our guide. And that is deposited in different centres here. And we should take them as guide who have got, who is the storehouse of the knowledge that is indented from outside this māyāic area. Śāstric knowledge, Vedic knowledge, revealed knowledge.

And there is also classification. We may indent from foreign countries. But all may not be of equal status, according to the capacity, necessity of different types of revealed knowledge. Revealed knowledge they are true, but all may not be one and the same. There is also gradation: that Vaikuṇṭha knowledge, and that Śivaloka knowledge, and that Goloka knowledge. There will be some differentiation. But that is instalment of truth, and not a misconceived thing. So according to our fortune and that is our sukṛti, what sort of help unconsciously you have received from that nirguṇa, guṇātīta world that will guide me towards. And also my innate tendency, by the cooperation of the both I shall have to go, that innate tendency that is the most reliable guide.

Otherwise I may be, as Gopakumar in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, we may be taken to some state in Śivaloka but after some time he will feel some dissatisfaction within him. Then he will be given chance of the higher plane. And there he will go and for some time again wait, and again the same thing, no satisfaction. Then another agent comes and takes him up. In this way by the gradual development he's reaching towards Kṛṣṇa līlā. It has been shown in Bṛhat- Bhāgavatāmṛta by Sanātana Goswāmī who is the Ācārya of the sambandha jñāna, what is what. What is what, that has been delivered by Sanātana Goswāmī, inspired by Mahāprabhu. Who am I, where am I? What is my environment? What are the prospects, different stages? All these things have been analytically represented by him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So we should not omit any step. If one step is omitted then the gap will be there in me. We must closely follow in our progress, gradual process; gradual process.

ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo' tha bhajana-kriyā [tato' nartha-nivṛttiḥ syāt tato niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ athāsaktis tato bhāvas tataḥ premābhyaudañcati sādhakānām ayaṁ premṇaḥ prādurbhāve bhavet kramaḥ]

["In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in

Kṛṣṇa consciousness.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

Pratiṣṭhā, our ambition, sometimes to get at the top very shortly may encourage us to omit steps between. And there that should be mourned afterwards. Progress must be solid, not hollow. Whatever I shall have I must finish it perfectly; then I shall go up. Ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo’ tha bhajana-kriyā, tato’ nārtha-nivṛttiḥ, tato niṣṭhā, tataḥ ruci, tataḥ saktis tato bhāvas. All these stages we have to pass through and very cleverly and very sincerely. Then we shall find that it is reality, it is reality. Otherwise it may remain in the realm of concoction, imagination, imagination. And we won’t get any strength within thereby. And anyone may come and he may push me from my position. That won’t be, if I can take me, can take position in my real place, none can shake me or push me out.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Energy must be at the disposal of the Supreme Lord. “Work for Me.”

But where is the guarantee? Only the agent, bona fide agent: and also to a certain extent the scripture, the real, the bona fide agent, that my energy will reach there and get benefit. Benefit, of what sort, to purify me, to make me sincere, sincere disciple, or sincere purchaser, consumer.

Convert me to a bona fide, one seller and purchaser, customer; that will change me into a bona fide customer. My energy will go there, raw things will go there and fetch for me something that is to make me sincere customer, permanent customer of that material and nothing else. That is the agent, there lies the skill of the agent. And the main selection of the proper bona fide agent, he will feel that his capital is also going, increasing, increasing becoming more and more customer of that: goods. So it will go to Goloka and the coin will come in dollar, in pound, or in this, that. And that has got market here, a valuable thing will come.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Energy we have got more or less everyone of us. Of course the indolent, the tamo-guṇa, no energy but they can also be utilized. The cow, cow milk can be utilized. So many things a clever devotee may utilize many things for the service of the Lord. And thereby they are also paid in terms of sukṛti and one day they will also rise up, wake up to go towards Goloka, Kṛṣṇaloka, towards Vṛndāvana. One day they will be able to purchase a ticket for Vṛndāvana. The tree, the creeper, everyone may get the chance, Goloka. We have to know first how that is the summum bonum of our life. What is that? Leaving everything aside we shall accept that to be the only goal, only destination. What is there? What is there?

Otherwise everything will be imitation. If that cannot capture my inner heart then everything will be imitation and for the time being. That means that I have got some other mal conception of different goals, different destinations: the idea. Why leaving aside everything I shall feel attraction for Vṛndāvana? What scientific reason may be there? Scientific, what is that thing? Is that reliable? We must have this self analysis. We must put this question to our own heart. What is the cause? Eliminating everything I am captured by that idea. What for? Will it endure, or for the time being I am captivated by some fleeting charm. If it is real: why? I am to explain to others and also in the beginning I shall have to explain to myself, to my conscience, why. I must be confident about that, about my movement, my behaviour, my tendency, my aspiration. Am I not going to deceive me? Setting aside so different conceptions of realities offered by the materialist, by the so called renunciationist, so called spiritualist, imitationist. Eliminating all these offers I am going: but what for? I must explain it to my own conscience. Any ulterior motive about the temporary conversion I have taken? I am a hired man of any other school, or a real agent of the Goloka, of Kṛṣṇaloka? [?] Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

If I am not correct then I will mislead many. So I should correct myself, how sort of responsibility is there. To become a preacher, what sort of responsibility. We must be sincere in our attempt. Otherwise the filthy things from outside I shall indent within me. So I must be clear, sincere to myself first, myself first. Svayam asiddha katha anyam sadayet [?] If I have it then I can give it to others. What I have I can give that only. At least I must be a true mediator. Sometimes it is possible that if I am not perfect, still I can have a pose by the grace of the sādhu that what will come that may not be contaminated with my filthy heart, but may pass through. It is also possible sometimes, but not for long. That will gradually convert me. So we must have connection with the above agent.

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kr̥ṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

["Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

Some sort of sukṛti is necessary there. I do not realize it fully but I have got a vague idea that this is good. So I transmit. I cannot make it as my own, but only a temporary canvasser, a temporary post I can hold only. For the time being I am working as a mediator. Apparently these goods are seeming to me very good, you take it and use it and you will be able to know the benefit. And you may take it from me or I, of the source I also make you known. Take it from there. Sincerity is necessary everywhere. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kr̥ṣṇa'-upadeśa. So here Mahāprabhu assures that in any way, anyone comes to deal with this thing he cannot but be purified; cannot but be purified. We may think, take it as an enemy, or in any way, but these things of so much intense purity, that it will in the long run will purify him, yāre dekha, tare, be important, at least the Name, any and every man. Who can say this? The highest authority can only give such order. “Some goods may be lost, I won’t care for that. Go on; give it to one and all.” Gaura Haribol. Nityānanda Prabhu was of that type. “Distribute it everywhere. No fear of anyone. Anywhere and everywhere distribute it, My order.” That sort of high source can give such order. Yāre dekha. Mahāprabhu says to Nityānanda, Kavirāja Goswāmī says:

preme matta nityānanda kṛpā-avatāra, uttama adhama kichu nā kare vicāra [ye āge paḍaye tāre karaye nistāra, ataeva nistārīlā mo-hena
durācāra]

“No discrimination whether one is fit or unfit. Inundate, flood. Uttama adhama kichu nā kare vicāra, ye āge paḍaye tāre karaye nistāra. Whoever come across then he’s released. [?] Then only when his grace came to such a high degree I fell there. An ordinary course could not cure me. But it was such high order that I could not but fall within that jurisdiction. So the meanest of the mean, a person like me has been purified. I can’t deny that I am purified. Then it will be blasphemy; it will be blame on the great name of Nityānanda. I can’t tolerate that. Whether it may be my pride, my boast, boasting, but still I cannot but admit that how magnanimous is the boundary of the great gift of Nityānanda. Only to advertise in the public, to give publicity to all I have come. I venture to say that I have got something. I have got something. I have got Rūpa, Sanātana. I have got Raghunātha my Guru. I have got Vṛndāvana, Govindaji, Madana-mohana, Gopīnātha. All these things I have got. I can't be a liar, ungrateful. All these concrete things I have got, I feel it really. So the grace of Nityānanda makes me utter all these things, as if, unconsciously, subconsciously, or something like that, I cannot but, I'm inspired, anything you may say, that the grace of Nityānanda. Otherwise I shall be ungrateful, I shall be a thief, a cheat, if I don't admit what I have got, where I was, and where I am today, a grand difference to certain extent. But this is all grace, all credit to Nityānanda Prabhu, and nothing mine. Mine negative, the negative of the negative capacity I had."

Kavirāja Goswāmī says like that.

Gaura Haribol. That is a hope for us: Nityānanda Prabhu.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Then other members from Calcutta coming, I shall have to talk with them, can't avoid that. So today I...

Devotee: Everyone comes for your advice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, old man with grey hair. They think, they feel some charm, get something from that, some sort of advice they come. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Great things are here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And to my best understanding, what I know I say to them.

Devotee: Perhaps they are feeling that there is a great treasure, some jewels stored.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One gentleman Suputinatha, he was an experienced lawyer, a good scholar also. Come from a high family. He told me that, “Your disinterested nature and strong common sense has made you unique in this mission,” he told me. “Strong common sense and disinterested nature, that has made you unique in the mission.” That was his remark about me.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: We also find the same thing, fantastic.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Hari. At least Swāmī Mahārāja gave recognition that, “Go there,” that Acyutānanda and Rāmānuja, “Go there, no apprehension, and you will remain there safe. Go to him.” And he wrote a letter to Govinda Mahārāja, not to me. “I am sending because I know Mahārāja and they will be safe there under his guidance. Please ask Mahārāja to give them shelter.” The first letter came in the name of Govinda Mahārāja. He was very affectionate to him. Next door and like a brisky boy he came at age of seventeen he joined the Maṭha, and very brisky and went to his family he also come. Every day he used to come to us.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja was in Bombay, business. Then Madhusudana Mahārāja was there, Maṭha commander in Bombay Maṭha, for long time. He was in close connection with him. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So: connection off?

[āmi to' kāṅgāla, 'kṛṣṇa' 'kṛṣṇa' boli', dhāi tava pāche pāche]

[Kṛṣṇa is yours. You are able to give Him to me, for such is your power. I am indeed wretched and simply run after you, crying, “Kṛṣṇa! Kṛṣṇa!”]
[Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura’s, Ohe! Vaiṣṇava Ṭhākura, verse 4, from Śaraṇāgati]

To distribute God to the people, to distribute infinite to the finite: it is simply impossible to think how infinite can be distributed amongst the finite.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Swāmī Mahārāja, if he did not come and went to the western people then how we could keep our life? So much necessity for the truth we feel at present. But if we did not get that connection then how we could live without this sort of experience, hope and conception, the benevolent conception of the Lord. Without this how we could maintain our life? This is our boon. This is the peculiarity, back to God, back to home. How leaving the home we are living in the foreign land? That becomes the feeling. How, without knowing my own home I was travelling in the foreign land, everywhere a foreigner, and no nationality of mine. Here, there, not in only human race, but sometimes birds, beasts, insects, worms, trees and what not, travelling in different part without my own nationality, without my home, my native country, sweet, sweet home. How it was possible?

It is my well known thing I feel that this is my wealth. This is my wealth. This is my support; support of my life, the taste of my life, the salt of my life is this. How could we drag on our life, a tasteless life? That should be the attitude. Long missing link; the link is known to me as I feel. It was my own thing, the heart of my heart. And I was deprived of that by illusion, forcibly. Illusion forcibly separated me from my own friends and own support, own heart. That should be the feeling in a man. When he's sincere here in this life he will feel more and more.

Vasudeva [?] 'And still my thirst is not quenched. I can't make more, further advance. I feel that my heart is not up to mark to help me properly. I feel that my heart has been made of stone, is not melting. It should have melted more and more. But I find a resistance from within. Has my heart been constructed by stone?'

That is also a feeling in those who have accumulated much. No thirst ever to be quenched. It grows more and more. The more one has the more one wants. That is the nature, very nature of love, prema. The thirst is never quenched; progressing, progressing, want more, more, more eagerness, more intensity of eagerness. And that we find in most intensity in Rādhārāṇī as well as Mahāprabhu. Not so much intensity to be found anywhere.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

That is in our front as ideal. And we are to march on without caring for any obstacle that may come in our way, whatever it be. The ideal is there. And fire within my heart, the fire of hankering. Reducing everything to ashes, all our other desirability's, march towards that goal. Trust no future however pleasant. Act, act in the present. So only the present time should be utilized to its utmost effect, or success. That should be our motto. No trust in future. The present is with me and I must try to squeeze out my real prospect from the present moment. Present moment should be utilized in such a way. 'I can't wait.'

Mahāprabhu says, "Please show Me. I can't tolerate, I can't maintain My life. I can't maintain My existence without the touch of that great loving Lord.”

That is the motto standing on our front. And we must adjust accordingly.
Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa.
Who is he?

Devotee: Mukunda Mālā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura
Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura
Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: 38:18 - 38:45 [Bengali?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... secondary, non important thing. After Mahāprabhu appears with His divine love, things of the highest order are being distributed thereby, and it is very rarely to be found. Satya-yuga is nothing to that. Satya-yuga is also hankering after, the experts, the qualified persons in Satya-yuga they want to have a birth in Kali-yuga.
Such advantage this Kali has got, especially this Kali. Not ordinary Kali is also like that. Because the advantage of special favour of Hari Nāma has been given there, allotted. But when asta vinchu chatu yuga [?], when Mahāprabhu comes as Rādhā-Govinda combined, that is not to be compared to anything else. That ordinary relief work that is of very lower order; lower order. Varṇāśrama, only a plan fitted to supply the basis of theism. And it also loses its very nature, challenges, commits suicide if he cannot connect with Kṛṣṇa consciousness. As we find:

ataḥ pumbhir dvija-śreṣṭhā, varṇāśrama vibhāgaśaḥ svanuṣṭhitasya dharmasya, saṁsiddhir hari-toṣaṇam.

[“O best among the twice-born, it is therefore concluded that the highest perfection one can achieve by discharging the duties prescribed for one’s own occupation according to caste divisions and orders of life is to please the Personality of Godhead.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.13]

Varṇāśrama must have connection with hari-toṣaṇam, otherwise:
dharmaḥ svanuṣṭhithaḥ puṁsāṁ, viṣvaksena-kathāsu yaḥ notpādayed
yadi ratim, śrama eva hi kevalam

[“The occupational activities a man performs according to his own position are only so much useless labour if they do not provoke attraction for the message of the Personality of Godhead.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.8]

If varṇāśrama cannot connect with Kṛṣṇa consciousness then that varṇāśrama is āsura. That loses, that commits suicide. That has got no value. Only a favourable platform from where we can conveniently connect with the Lord.

[“Birth in a low family is no disqualification for the execution of devotional service to Lord Kṛṣṇa, and birth in an aristocratic brāhmaṇa family is no qualification. Anyone who takes to devotional service is exalted, whereas a non-devotee is always condemned and abominable. Therefore in the discharge of devotional service to Lord Kṛṣṇa, there is no consideration of the status of one’s family.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.66-7]

This is direct connection with nirguṇa, guṇātīta. Varṇāśrama is within saṁguṇa. Varṇāśrama is a favourable adjustment to help us in the life of Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Sattva guṇa may not necessarily connect with nirguṇa. From there also it comes down.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, [punar āvartino ‘rjuna mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

[“O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

Bhūr, Bhuvaḥ, Svaḥ, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, and Satyaloka – sat-guṇa, then nirguṇa is Virajā, the non-differentiated, Brahmaloka. Then nirguṇa differentiation, differentiative nirguṇa begins from Śivaloka, Vaikuṇṭhaloka, upward. And the acme is in Kṛṣṇaloka. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So:

sarva-dharmān parityajya, [mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

[“Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

Tavat karmani kurvita na ne vidyeta yavata mat kathasu [?]

Niyatam kurnatyam [?]

yajñārthāt karmaṇo 'nyatra, loko 'yaṁ karma-bandhanaḥ [tad-artham karma kaunteya, mukta-saṅgaḥ samācara]

[“Selfless duty performed as an offering to the Supreme Lord is called yajña, or sacrifice. O Arjuna, all action performed for any other purpose is the cause of bondage in this world of repeated birth and death.

Therefore, remaining unattached to the fruits of action, perform all your duties in the spirit of such sacrifice. Such action is the means of entering the path of devotion, and with the awakening of true perception of the Lord, it will enable you to attain to pure, unalloyed devotion, free from all material qualities (nirguṇa-bhakti).”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.9]

Yajño vai viṣṇu [Sacrifice is meant exclusively for Viṣṇu, or Kṛṣṇa.] ahaṁ

[na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

["-Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

Otherwise the spirit of activity will bind you with matter, tightly, then:
[śreyān dravyamayād yajñāḥ, jñāna-yajñah parantapa] sarvaṁ karmākhilam pārtha, jñāne parisamāpyate

["O Arjuna, subduer of the enemy, of those various sacrifices, the sacrifice of knowledge as mentioned, brahmāgnāv apare is far superior to the sacrifice of various articles, indicated by brahmārpaṇam brahma haviḥ, because all action ultimately culminates in knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.33]

It may give us the touch of pure consciousness. But pure consciousness, this jīva consciousness is vulnerable. Kṛṣṇa consciousness must have connection with jīva consciousness. Otherwise that jīva consciousness, that is not safe. That can again revert, come down, ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ. ā-virincyād amaṅgalam [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.19.18] Brahmā is also within the jurisdiction of amaṅgala, that is ominous existence, that is he'll have to come down, deplore, reaction, lamentation: only to get the visa of the nirguṇa dhāma.

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ] yad gatvā na

["My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6]

"My great sphere, My noble sphere is that entering which one cannot have to come back, fall back. That is My own sphere, that in carrying current. The current automatically carrying him towards Me, that Yogamāyā. That is made by Yogamāyā. The current always carrying towards Me, not out carrying but in carrying current."

Devotee: By the Yogamāyā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yogamāyā means yoga, and mahā-māyā...

Devotee: Oh, he's mediator to make connection with Lord.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So everything, the whole environment will try to draw me towards the centre, all favourable. Here also if we keep in sādhu-saṅga then all the sādhus, the prasāda, everything connected with Kṛṣṇa; that will help to promote me towards my goal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...who are well versed in the Vedic knowledge, they are vidva, they are scholars. Vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ. And what they accept in their life, practising, those who are well established in Vedic knowledge, they are practising for themselves. That sort is dharma, vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ. Sadbhir, then, not only by the scholars, but by the sādhu: that means not intellectual realisation, understanding, but who has got śābde pare ca niṣṇātam [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 11.3.21], who has got some affinity and attraction and got guidance from that revelation, revealed truth, sadbhir. Nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ. And the negative phase will be adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ, they're indifferent to any gain and loss of this world. They're perfectly spiritual, their faith is that way, and they have no faith in mundane loss and gain. Nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ. Not veṣa nor rāga, neither preference, nor this spiritual rejection of mundane wealth, things, adveṣa. Hrdayenābhyanujñāto, and the fourth is he must get his heart's approval, from internal approval he must have. Hrdayenābhyanujñāto. The heart will say, 'Yes, it is this. I'm satisfied.' These four signs there must be in the conception of one's duty – approved by the Vedas, approved by the realised souls, and no affinity for the loss and gain of this mundane world, and approved by one's own conscience, inner feeling. These four signs there should be in duty; then it is duty.

[“We can feel within our heart whether we are gainers or losers. That tasting machine is within us. As we progress in Kṛṣṇa consciousness, our karma, our connection with this material world, will evaporate in no time, and spacious knowledge will come to satisfy us. At that time, we shall feel the object of our life everywhere.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30] & [Manu-Saṁhitā, 2.1]

In Bhāgavata [11.2.42]:

Bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo viraktir, anyatra. So vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ sadbhir means pareśānubhavo, nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ, viraktir, anyatra. And bhakti means approval from the heart, and both nistha.

In what connection it came? Definition: Oh, that who will be a bona fide preacher.

Swāmī Mahārāja said: “All that sincerely came to me and have appreciated my cause, my truth, he’s a bona fide agent to distribute my, to extend, to distribute my call to the public.”

But he must be indifferent to the loss and gain of this mundane world. He must be true to his own principle, and the principle of Swāmī Mahārāja. And with some sort of knowledge in the scripture, Nāma bhajan etc., and of course heart’s approval is with them: must be sincere. He must feel some urge from within, ‘That this is the wealth of my Guru Mahārāja. I shall distribute them all around, and I’ll dispel the darkness, the ignorance of the people at large. This is the blessing of the Lord.’

the following six activities: (1) atyāhāra - eating more than necessary or collecting more funds than required; (2) prayāsa - over-endeavouring for mundane things that are very difficult to obtain; (3) prajalpa - talking unnecessarily about mundane subject matters; (4) niyamāgraha - practising the scriptural rules and regulations only for the sake of following them and not for the sake of spiritual advancement, or rejecting the rules and regulations of the scripture and working independently or whimsically; (5) jana-saṅga - associating with worldly-minded persons who are not interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness; and (6) laulyaṁ - being greedy for mundane achievements.”] [Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 2]

To become too much adherent to particular cause – of course except that of devotion, prayāsaś ca. When one engages himself in a, to attain something he devotes his... energy for his... becomes mad. You should not be so much mad to go on to a particular destination. Wait and see the wave. Try to read the divine wave what is coming to you, and how it wants you to adjust with the environment. You are to read that and go on. And because you have begun, you have chosen a particular direction to start, and there are so many opposite currents and you engage yourself only in that blindly, that will be a hindrance. So yukta-vairāgya, you must have to read not this side, I shall have to move that side. Not blind madness for any particular action. You must read the environment, the circumstances, and do accordingly.

Prajalpa, indulgence in talking about ordinary things. We should try to keep up our energy and utilise for the service only, and not allow us to discuss ordinary things of these mundane topics, towards too much attraction for newspapers, and to read through them and keep. But sometimes the preachers they should have some knowledge of the environment, so for that purpose he may read newspaper. And only to make his speech as a living one, or modern, not of the ancient type, but to meet the men of modern education, some modern things we should have to have some connection. Then the speech, the preaching will be a living one; otherwise it will be something like dead. So the present ways of the time we shall have to be acquainted with, but not to be a voracious reader of newspaper or any other news. The object will always be to take the advantage of the situation, what is going on around, asteya siddhante laulyam [?]

Laulyam means very softness. Whatever proposal comes he accepts that without – laulyam has got another meaning, softness of course towards the truth, amenable, to be humble, that is another thing, laulyam. Laulyam api mūlyam ekalam.

Our earnestness is only the only price to attain that divine love. But here laulyam means karkat [?] laulyam. Whatever is presented before me I want to, I feel some weakness within me to get that. That is laulyam. Too much, without consideration we accept anything and everything. Whatever is presented before me I feel tempted for that. That is laulyam, that sort of attitude, whatever comes he purchases that, without consideration whether it will be beneficial or injurious. No time to think like that. That is laulyam.

The niyamāgrahaḥ is one thing, niyamāgrahaḥ means to do much of a particular law, and to ignore also the law, total ignoring of the law. Law means laws and rules that are given in the scripture, that law, śāstric law, śāstric rule. ‘No, don’t care for that, any śāstric rule, and viddhi,’ to hate the viddhi, ‘so I want raga. I want spontaneous tendency within me. I don’t care for any śāstric rules.' To make too much of that, that is also bad. Either, and to make much of the rules, only to accept the viddhi, and there is no chance of the internal flow to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] vaiṣṇava pradhāna [?] but in the course of his activity he came to face with such opposition. He was tempted and lost himself. [?] vaiṣṇava pradhāna [?] When one is required to change his Guru, for some reason or other.

_____ [?] He lost. Then a bona fide disciple to disassociate from him and to take new course. Of course that is not very fortunate, but unfortunately if it happens in the life of anyone, what to do? He should not be doomed. So he has to change his course. That is also provision, but that is very rare. Generally, that is a disastrous misfortune in one's life that he is to change. It is not a happy thing. But still it happens but for his previous karma, he must have to change for necessity. He cannot consciously allow himself to go to hell.

Whenever he gets his conscience dictation, 'This is so and so. I have come and I have taken a wrong train. I shall go to Delhi in a junction but by mistake I have taken another train. It is carrying two or three stations in the opposite direction. Then I come to senses, what is the matter? Why I am at this station. Then I have to consult and then to get down and take the right train to go to the right goal.' Something like that, the wrong selection. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The cooperation, hearty cooperation with the Ācārya, that is necessary, if that is challenged in any way, and which side is blamed, is erroneous, all these things should be considered. Sometimes it may happen that the śiṣya, the disciple came with some good will, and now he has got deviation. He may see, 'That it may be too much for me. I can't accept him, so I must go to a more mild temperament, or a less qualified Guru who may support my ill dealings also, to certain extent.' Sometimes the separation may be effected from the fault of the disciple also. It may be. He can't stand; then he goes back and takes a saḥajiyā guru. Just as Nadiyānanda and Hiranyagarbha, misguided, against the will of Swāmī Mahārāja they went to Lalitā Prasāda and got very cheap and less price, very cheap bargain, and they swallowed that pill.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So then the best question is, the real question is, how can I serve?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, service, service is all important, always, that, 'I may be, my necessity is to satisfy Kṛṣṇa. I am far away. Through what connection my energy may reach to His satisfaction; and that is the main problem. Through whom my energy may be utilized for His satisfaction.' That is the general necessity, and hankering, and everything. That idea should regulate all our thoughts. 'How, I am far off, how my energy can be utilized for His satisfaction: or for the satisfaction of His own, real paṣāda?' One and same thing, that should always be the subject of our quest, how? How? Whatever little knowledge I can command that must be utilized only in this, how? And bhaktyā sañjāyā bhaktyā...

[“The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualised bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31]

...and if a little progress in the right direction – that will help me more and more. That will fetch the remuneration. That will be transformed into that real tendency, gain. The interest will be transformed into capital. 'Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana. That means the interest is converted into capital, and more interest. And that interest is again adding capital, and more interest. 'Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana, the prema, love, tendency to serve. I shall serve and the remuneration will be more tendency to serve, more and more tendency to serve. The whole thing will be added in the capital. The production will come, automatically to add the capital, 'dāsa' kari' vetana more, the dedication, world of dedication. And the exploitation is just the opposite, always adding to the loan, whatever, as much as I exploit, it is being added to the loan: my debt, capital.

Nitāi Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitai Gaura Haribol.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, when Lord Caitanya took sannyāsa from Keśava Bhāratī, was Keśava Bhāratī a Vaiṣṇava or a Māyāvādī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ostentatiously, Māyāvādī, but coming in connection with Caitanya Mahāprabhu he became Vaiṣṇava. That will be easy explanation. Otherwise we may also think that he was a Vaiṣṇava in the garb of Māyāvādī to help the pracāra, the preaching of Mahāprabhu for the formal help to Him. He was already there in that post. The Māyāvādī sannyāsīs had recognition at that time much over India, all over. And Mahāprabhu took that garb for that purpose, to facilitate His preaching activity. All these things may be explained. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. But generally we may take it like that. Keśava Bhāratī began to sing and dance with Mahāprabhu when He began after sannyāsa. The saṅkīrtana Keśava Bhāratī also joined. He was immediately converted.

And before taking the mantram Mahāprabhu Himself gave him the same mantram. “Please consider whether this mantram I got in dream, whether this is applicable. You please consider it.”

In it this way Mahāprabhu gave the mantram to him. “Yes, yes, it is all right. I shall give You that.”

You have seen that place, Katwa? No?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Hari. On the banks of the Ganges like this, there is the āśrama of Keśava Bhāratī. [?] I have written in that poem.

lakṣa locanāśru-varṣa-harṣa-keśa-kartanaṁ, [koṭi-kantha-kṛṣṇa-kīrtanādhyā-daṇḍa dhāranam nyāsi-vesa-sarva-deśa-hā-hutāśa-kārtaraṁ, prema-dhāma-devam eva naumi gaura-sundaram]

[“Amidst the showering of tears of sorrow from the eyes of millions, He gladly cut off His beautiful long hair. As He accepted His daṇḍa, millions of voices were singing the glories of Kṛṣṇa. Thereafter the people of all lands cried out desperately in grief when they saw Him in the dress of a sannyāsī. I sing with joy the unending glories of my golden Lord Gaurasundara the beautiful, the divine abode of pure love.”] [Śrī Śrī Premadhāma-deva-stotram, 16]

Thousands of people are shedding tears. And Mahāprabhu He’s having a shave of His beautiful hair, beautiful figure, beautiful curly hairs: like Śukadeva Goswāmī.

And the barber he’s going to shave and he’s shivering back, can’t. “How I can shave this curled, beautiful hair, from the beautiful head?” He shrank away. Anyhow, the order must be carried out. He began with his tears. And thousands of people seeing the scene they are crying, some aloud. Some even became mad, could not stand the scene.

One of them, the father of Śrīnivāsa Ācārya, Caitanya dāsa Padmanabha Bhaṭṭācārya he was a class friend of Mahāprabhu. And he went to his father-in-law’s house near Katwa from Chakondi on the other part of the Ganges, and heard that Caitanya, Nimāi Paṇḍita has come to take sannyāsa. He went to see that. And seeing all this he became dumb. And after that was finished he became half-mad. And from him, nothing came from his mouth but Caitanya.

Whatever anyone said - Caitanya. He heard the name, that Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. Whatever anyone says to him, Caitanya. No word comes from his mouth, he's mad. Then his name was Caitanya dāsa. The former name Padmanabha that vanished and everyone used to call him by the name of Caitanya, Caitanya dāsa. Half mad he went. The scenery he could not stand.

Keśava Bhāratī he, the sannyāsī, in his heart, he also did not venture to give Him sannyāsa. "Such a beautiful young man of infinite promise, of the world, He will take sannyāsa? Then how, we cannot tolerate His life of renunciation. How His wife and mother and other near devotees they can tolerate? So many will die. If I give sannyāsa to Him many of His kinsman will die, so we can't tolerate." So, such was the wailing.

Lakṣa locanāśru-varṣa-harṣa. But Mahāprabhu is very cheerful. He Himself is very cheerful. "I am going to relieve so many souls from their eternal misery and affliction. I am going to accept that task, that task that for which I have promised to deliver the whole world from this ocean of misery and to take them to the nectarine world." He is very happy. He is cheerful. Lakṣa locanāśru-varṣa-harṣa-keśa-kartanaṁ, koṭi-kantha-kṛṣṇa-kīrtanādhyā-daṇḍa dhāranam. And within the high tension of Kṛṣṇa kīrtana then He took the daṇḍam. Hā-hutāśa, sarva-deśa. And the whole world around was diving in the ocean of despair and sorrow. Hā-hutāśa, sarva-deśa. Kṛṣṇa-caitanyākhyā-kṛṣṇa-nāma-jīva-tāraṇam, [Premadhāma-deva-stotram, 17]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lakṣa locanāśru-varṣa-harṣa-keśa-kartanaṁ, I forget. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And Mahāprabhu He Himself was also mad. “I must run to Vṛndāvana.” His attitude was like that. “I have given up all My connection with the apparent attraction. And exclusively I must run to Vṛndāvana to engage Myself exclusively in the service of Kṛṣṇa.”

etāṁ sa āsthāya parātma-niṣṭhām, adhyāsītāṁ pūrvatamair maharṣibhiḥ
aham tariṣyāmi duranta-pāram, tamo mukundāṅghri-niṣevayaiva

[As a brāhmaṇa from Avantī-deśa said: “I shall cross over the insurmountable ocean of nescience by being firmly fixed in the service of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa. This was approved by the previous ācāryas, who were fixed in firm devotion to the Lord, Paramātmā, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.23.57] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.6]

In Bhāgavatam there is a story of tridaṇḍī-bhikṣu of Avantī. There is this śloka. This śloka Mahāprabhu sang and ran after Vṛndāvana.

nirdhāraṇa

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu approved the purport of this verse on account of the determination of the mendicant devotee to engage in the service of Lord Mukunda. He gave His approval of this verse, indicating that it was very good.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.7] parātma-niṣṭhā-mātra veṣa-dhāraṇa, mukunda-sevāya haya saṁsāra-tāraṇa

[The real purpose of accepting sannyāsa is to dedicate oneself to the service of Mukunda. By serving Mukunda, one can actually be liberated from the bondage of material existence.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.8]

“This dress, this garment of a sannyāsī is meant only for external adjustment. But the real thing is to serve Mukunda. Now I have cut off all My connection with all conception of duties, and the only duty is one duty; that is the service of Mukunda. And I must run to Vṛndāvana and engage Myself in the cent per cent service of Mukunda there. No other consideration of any other duties to be attended by Me.”

In this way madly He began to run, but no direction, sometimes this side, sometimes that side, but running, always running. And Nityānanda Prabhu, Mukunda, Jagadānanda and Candraśekhara, these four are also trying to follow Him but they can't. Sometimes darkness came, night came, and at their best they are trying to follow Him, sometimes Mahāprabhu is lost in darkness. They are all disappointed. Then they find, they come to hear that some piteous tone of wailing, 'Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa.' And with that direction they are going that side. And they saw Mahāprabhu fell on the crops, on the ground, and chanting like that, 'Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa.' Then they began to...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

In this way whether night or day running, going to Vṛndāvana. Then anyhow the attraction of the devotees got the better side. And Mahāprabhu was attracted in His trance towards this side, “I’m going to Vṛndāvana.” But the direction is opposite, towards Śāntipura. And Nityānanda Prabhu and others they are following.

Then after twelve years consciousness, this worldly consciousness, as if to be said, coming back, and Nityānanda Prabhu appeared in His front.

Mahāprabhu asking, “Where do you go, You Śrīpād sannyāsī?”

Nityānanda Prabhu also in red cloth, He can’t recognize Nityānanda Prabhu, so familiar. But He’s looking; only a sannyāsī is going in front of Him.

“You Śrīpād: where do you go?”

“I shall go to Vṛndāvana,” Nityānanda Prabhu says.

“I shall go to Vṛndāvana with You. How far Vṛndāvana will be from here?”

“Just see, there is Yamunā.” Nityānanda was showing the Ganges, near Kalna. He’s showing the Ganges saying, “Here You see Yamunā.”

“Oh, We have come so near to Yamunā?” Then Mahāprabhu took His bath in Yamunā. aho bhāgya, yamunāre pāiluṁ daraśana, [eta bali’ yamunāra karena stavana]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.27] There is a śloka:

cid-ānanda-bhanoḥ sadā nanda-sunoḥ, para-prema-pātri drava-brahma-gātrī aghānām lavitrī jagat-kṣema-dhātrī, pavitrī-kriyān no vapur mitra-putrī

[“O daughter of the sun: although you have appeared in the form of water, you are most dear to the son of Nanda, who is the spiritual sun. You dispel the sins of all sinners. Please purify this mortal body.”]
[Caitanya-candrodaya-nāṭaka, 5.13] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.28]

“O daughter of the sun, Yamunā, purify My body. Cid-ānanda-bhaṇoḥ sadā nanda-sunoḥ. The son of Nanda, who is the spiritual sun, para-prema-pātri, you are very favourite to Him. Drava-brahma-gātrī. Though you appeared in the form of a liquid, but your real acquaintance is there. Drava-brahma-gātrī. Aghānām lavitrī. You can dispel the sin, clear the sin of the sinners.

Aghānām lavitrī jagat-kṣema-dhātrī, pavitrī-kriyān no vapur mitra-putrī.
Please purify this mortal body.”

With this song He entered the Yamunā and finishing His bath.

Nityānanda Prabhu managed beforehand, He had sent Chandraśekhara, “Go and inform Advaita Ācārya to come with a boat and new bahirvāsa [fresh garments], and from there go to Śacī Devī and inform them that we have taken Him to the house of Advaita Ācārya.”

Then after finishing His bath when He came again on the bank He saw that Advaita Ācārya was suddenly here. The ordinary knowledge is gradually becoming clear. “You are Advaita Ācārya I see. I can recognize you. How could you come to Vṛndāvana, how do you know that I am in Vṛndāvana? You are Advaita Ācārya?”

Advaita Ācārya said, “Yes, I am Advaita Ācārya. And it is for my fortune that You have come here near the Ganges.”

“Oh, it is Ganges?” “Yes.”

prabhu kahe, - nityānanda āmāre vañcilā, gaṅgāke āniyā more yamunā kahilā

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu then said, “Nityānanda has cheated Me. He has brought Me to the bank of the Ganges and told Me that it was the Yamunā.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.34]

Then Mahāprabhu came perfectly in this world, His consciousness. “Oh, then the whole, it is a conspiracy of Nityānanda. He has taken Me here on the Ganges and He has said it is Yamunā. A hoax, I am prey to His hoax.”

ācārya kahe, mithyā nahe śrīpāda-vacana, yamunāte snāna tumi karilā ekhana

[When Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu accused Nityānanda of cheating Him, Śrīla Advaita Ācārya said, “Whatever Nityānanda Prabhu has told You is not false. You have indeed just now taken Your bath in the River Yamunā.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.35]

Advaita Ācārya came with argument, “No, no, Nityānanda Prabhu has not spoken any falsehood. You have really taken bath in Yamunā. Yamunā and Gaṅgā, the confluence in Allahabad and it is mentioned in the śāstra, in the western side the Yamunā and the eastern side is Ganges. Now You have taken Your bath in the western side so You have taken Your bath in Yamunā according to the śāstra. So He has not told any lie.

Anyhow I have come with this new bahirvāsa [new cloth] for You. The wet bahirvāsa You leave and take this new garb. And anyhow I have managed to cook something. For three days You are fasting. And today as a sannyāsī You have some bhikṣā in my house, the poor man, You must come here.” With folded palm, then what to do? They took Him by the boat to Śāntipura house.

And then next morning Śacī Devī came and about ten or twelve days Mahāprabhu passed there in kīrtana. Acyutānanda, the youngest son of Adwaita Ācārya, he was great devotee, he told so many things. Raghunātha also came there to meet Him.

And then after ten or twelve days He started for, Śacī Devī told, Mahāprabhu asked Śacī Devī, “This body is fully yours. Whatever you will order I shall carry out that. I give it to you My mother.”

Sacī Devī told, “If You remain here of course it will be my pleasure, but people will blame You. I would not be able to tolerate that. So you please live in Nīlācala, in Purī, not so far as in Vṛndāvana. There so many people always coming and going, close to our place. Sometimes the devotees will go and come and I shall get Your news, that You are all well. And I shall be satisfied thereby. I don’t ask You to remain at home. Then the world will blame You. I won’t be able to tolerate that.”

So Mahāprabhu started for Nīlācala and stayed there. Two years He had a tour in southern India making so many devotees, so many scholars and devotees. And especially Rāya Rāmānanda and Sārvabhauma, all these things are there.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Rāmānanda-saṁvāda, that is unique thing for the devotees. By gradual process from varṇāśrama to the highest acme of our realization has been very beautifully and very cleverly, very reasonably has been described there, to capture ones heart. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The whole adjustment of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava philosophy is to be found there, if one minutely goes through that conversation. The conversation covers the whole distance. The whole development of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism is there. It is so great and so beautiful, so charming and so fulfilling all our aspirations, it is there. Rāmānanda at Godāvarī. And Mahāprabhu also came with His full fledged svarūpa, Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa-milita and never He expressed Himself in that light, that as Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa both combined He has come here. Only it is disclosed on the banks of Godāvarī there, Rāmānanda.

Gaura Hari. And Rāmānanda is told to be Viśākhā sakhī, Viśākhā sakhī. So much so that some say that Mahāprabhu He showed to take initiation from Īśvara Purī, He showed to take sannyāsa from Keśava Bhāratī, and He showed to take rāga-mārga initiation from Rāmānanda.

Sakhī līlā vistari sakhī asvadhayī [?] Only the sakhī's are entitled to give entrance into that mādhyura rasa līlā of Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa, none else. Only the she-friends of Rādhārāṇī, they are also eligible only to give admission to others, to allow their admission or entrance into their group, it is their master. Rāmānanda was a sakhī. Mahāprabhu He is there but it His show: direction, a mystic direction that we must submit to a sakhī and sakhī can discuss.

Kalidāsa, he has discussed the pastimes of father and mother. That is according to the ornamental thing, it is very awkward thing. One should not describe the secret pastimes of father and mother. That is awkward, ludicrous.

So only sakhī, the she-friends, they can only deal perfectly, they're entitled to deal in a perfect way, complete way, the dealings of the nayikā, the hero and heroine of the transcendental realm.

So Mahāprabhu's making inquiry and Rāmānanda is answering, replying. It shows that Mahāprabhu is hearing from Rāmānanda. To Keśava Bhāratī He also put the mantram and took from him. And here also He's inspiring Rāmānanda, and the answer coming from the mouth of Rāmānanda, what is the līlā of Rādhā-Govinda, all these things, Vṛndāvana. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Rādhā-bhāva, mahā-bhāva, rasa-rāja mahābhāva dui eka rūpa.

[tābe hāsi' tāhre prabhu dekhāila svarūpa] 'rasa-rāja', 'mahābhāva' — dui eka rūpa

[Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the reservoir of all pleasure, and Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī is the personification of ecstatic love of Godhead. These two forms combined as one in Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu. This being the case, Lord Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu revealed His real form to Rāmānanda Rāya.]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.282]

dekhi' rāmānanda hailā ānande mūrcchite [dharite nā pāre deha, paḍilā bhūmite]

[Upon seeing this form, Rāmānanda Rāya lost consciousness in transcendental bliss. Unable to remain standing, he fell to the ground.]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.283]

Rāmānanda could not stand. He fell down and unconscious. Rāmānanda fell down unconscious after having a darśana of that Rādhā-Govinda milita and Mahāprabhu. Then Mahāprabhu by touching his body again took him into proper consciousness. And Rāmānanda saw that the same sannyāsī is sitting in his front. Then Mahāprabhu said, "Today it is late, I shall go now."

“Yes, You can go. Mahāprabhu.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

No more today, here we finish. What’s the time? Half past nine.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Sometimes mind is giving me very much problems and I become very lazy. Sometimes I don’t like to get up in the morning. I like to sleep very long. And I don’t like to chant my rounds. This time I have not so much attraction to any devotional activity. So what can I do not to fall in this condition?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The only medicine is the association. To associate with those whom you can regard, you have got regard. To keep you in their association so they can help you from your slothfulness. Association is the most powerful thing to convert from one thing to another. Saṅga, bad saṅga, bad association takes one towards bad direction, and good association towards good direction. No medicine, of any other, this is the medicine.

And next, the good scripture, śāstra, sādhu and śāstra. Sādhu is more living and śāstra is passive, sādhu is active. So active help is necessary and anyhow to put ones own self in the charge of a sādhu for whom he has got sufficient regard. You won’t be able to avoid his request, his order, so to live with such a sādhu, gentleman. That he will take care of me and he will try to goad me towards my destination. My well-wisher who wish me well and take care of me and will come to help me out of his own accord through affection for me, so to earn, to make arrangements of such company. My senses, that is the environment is drawing towards it for exploitation, or slothful tama-guṇa, for sleep and for indolence, this is tama-guṇa, and raja-guṇa, exploiting tendency. These are enemies.

And if possible to engage in some responsible service, responsibility automatically engages us in activity. So some responsible duty under the direction of whom we can respect, revere, that is necessary to take me up again. To rise up with energy and engage in the service of the unknown good which is far off, and the presence of which we can feel in the sādhu. In their activity, their endeavour, their talk, discourse, everything, we can trace the divinity, divine presence only in the conduct of the sādhu. Otherwise that is far off from me. And I may tend to go away because that seems to be unknown and unknowable. But the living and the earnest activity and the hope, enterprise, all these things may encourage me to be reinstated in my former expectation and prospect. That is becoming vague, the prospect, the ideal prospect, spiritual prospect is becoming vague, fading away, so the despair and depression. Hare Kṛṣṇa. To associate with sādhu whom you can regard and to get some responsible duty from him: that can help.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, there is a verse in the Bhāgavatam, it starts: atra sargo visargaś ca, sthānaṁ poṣaṇam ūtayaḥ manvantareśānukathā, nirodho muktir āśrayaḥ

[Śrī Śukadeva Goswāmī said: In the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam there are ten divisions of statements regarding the following: the creation of the universe, sub-creation, planetary systems, protection by the Lord, the creative impetus, the change of Manus, the science of God, returning home, back to Godhead, liberation, and the summum bonum.] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.10.1]

Could you explain?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In this scripture so many things have been related...

End of 81.11.25.B_81.11.26.A

81.11.26.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: World is here, I am here, and I am unsatisfied. How can my inner self be satisfied? That is our necessity, how the inner thirst can be quenched. We are in want. How this want can be removed, by what process? There are so many things. I have got this body, the bone, the nervous system, the blood, and to know anything and everything about them, and what is the composition of the blood. These things are unnecessary details, not necessary. I am uneasy. I want to remove... The question should be regulated like this. Ke ami, who am I? And why I am troubled? [?] I don't know how to get rid of these problems. A general question, I am concerned with these general questions, this inquiry athāto brahma-jijñāsā, where from I have come? How I am living, and what is my future? These are the main questions concerning me and I must concentrate whole of my energy to solve that; not only myself but whatever I look and see and experience. The answer: yato vā imāni bhūtāni jāyante, the broad way, the wide way, the solution for all.

yato vā imāni bhūtāni jāyante, yena jātāni jīvanti

yat prayanty abhiṣamviśanti, tad brahma tad vijijñāsa

[“The Supreme Brahman is the origin and shelter of all living beings. When there is creation, He brings them forth from their original state, and at the time of annihilation, He devours them. After creation, everything rests in His omnipotence, and after annihilation, everything again returns to rest in Him.”] [Taittirīya Upaniṣad, 3.1]

There should be a nature of question, inquiry: a method of proper inquiry. Inquire after this and that, hundred things, that is waste of energy. The śāstric inquiry has been couched in such way. Where from we have come, and what maintains, sustains me? And what is my future? Why I am uneasy? And how my inner fulfilment I can get, acquire? Our questions, our inquiry should be in such a standard way, otherwise they’re disease of inquiry, not inquiry proper. So many curiosities may come and that has got no end. So we should learn how to question, how to make inquiry. And our energy has got some value; not to waste it, in every way. In inquiry to fulfil, in the way of fulfilment also how to reach the goal, save our energy and regulate in a particular proper channel, proper channel. Then in Kali-yuga sādhu-saṅga, Kṛṣṇa Nāma, a standard company, a standard association, that is the real and only helpful necessity of our life. Otherwise deviation from that, I may be misguided at any place, any stage. Sādhu-saṅga and Kṛṣṇa Nāma. Sādhu-saṅge kṛṣṇa-nāma ei mātra cāi, only this thing is necessary.

sādhu-saṅge kṛṣṇa-nāma ei mātra cāi, saṁsāra jinite āra kona vasttu nāi.

To get out of the undesirability nothing is so useful, nothing is so useful. The substance of all advice, Mahāprabhu says. Sādhu-saṅge kṛṣṇa-nāma, only Kṛṣṇa Nāma without sādhu that is also to go on with difficulty:

sādhū-saṅga, in one word sādhū-saṅga. The standard inquirer, a standard realizing soul, anyhow, to get his company, secure his company, then everything we get. And sādhū śreṣṭha is Guru, Gurudeva is the king of the sādhū, of the good men, a divine personality who can guide. Guru means who can guide me satisfactorily, in other words, whom I can believe, whom I can trust to my utmost understanding and submit, surrender. My inquiry is being fulfilled to its utmost necessity. But still I can't limit him more. Then we are to surrender. As much as I can make inquiry that is satisfied. And also I find that what I do not know, that is to be traced there, traced there, so I can trust and surrender, cast myself at His mercy, some mystic confidant. Then we surrender. The best of the sādhū of my experience, I can't measure divinity and honesty in him. As much as I can get, I can know, I can enter, more than satisfied, so cast there, of the unknown hope. Try to collect all the energy possible to surrender at his disposal, and do accordingly.

Amar naihita [?] I do not belong to myself. I belong to him. With this spirit! I have no right. I have already offered me, given away to him. And whatever he will direct, detect, I must do that; this moral obligation I have got with him. I won't indulge in letting out my so many internal mental propensities to go their own way. I won't be master, any longer master of my own. My master is the Ācārya. I want to have that sort of thing, that option, that interest-less work, non-interest apparently, apparently not my individual interest. My individual interest has been sacrificed. So a higher conception I have got of the higher world. My ego, I must not allow myself to be the king of my own self. My good consideration has taken me to such a place that I can surrender. By surrendering I may earn more, that mystic idea, conception.

My suggestion, my conception and my suggestion, what duty I am to take, that is lower than I am satisfied. Then if I do according to his direction and suggestion I'll be more benefited, some sort of underground hope, a strong hope, deep hope of such character. Then we'll be more gainer, more gainer. Higher direction from above, higher submission, higher direction from higher and higher, deeper sphere of love and duty, high wave, I am to connect with the high and subtle-most wave. And I will be more benefited. That is the idea. So I shall try to be at the disposal of the higher agency of the higher thinking and higher provinces. On the whole that should be the idea, to come in connection with the higher layer of life, the most subtle layer of life. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Anyhow! Different waves there are around, all of different types, of different interests, of different loss and gain. But to connect with the highest, that should be our...

There was one Bakut Singh [?] in Punjab. He was a revolutionist, anarchist. When I was in Delhi, nineteen twenty nine or so, some of them, a man of Punjab Bakut Singh, and he was a good man on the whole, and very bold. I was there in Delhi at that time. He and [?] or someone, came as a visitor in the parliament house and threw some bomb on the parliament, to make show, not to hurt anybody. Then an inquiry was made.

And they came to give their statement. "But what is this fun? Only to show our objection, our protest, I have thrown this, not to kill anyone, but to dishonour this sort of parliament. This is no svārāj, no independence, no real parliament. It is a sham. So we despise it."

Anyhow with this thread some inquiry was made, and it was found that he's entangled with many murder cases also. So he was hanged.

There was a case and the Gandhi at that time went to – Erwin was the viceroy, went to propose to Erwin that, "Release him, he's a good boy. And hang me in his place, I offer myself."

"Why you do so?"

"He's a very good man but only he is in the himsā, the violent way, violent means he has been taken. And by my offering my life for him, he may change from violent to non-violent. That is my hope. So I offer."

Erwin rejected.

Bakut Singh was hanged, and before his hanging he told, "I am very eager to see the life after death. This has been finished to me. The charm of this life has already been finished. Only I am very eager to see, what is the life after death?”

So from time to time this comes to my mind. And I also say to my friends that the charm of this life, it is finished. What is there more? Already we have got good experience, this is all stale. After all, janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhi [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9], where these four enemies are present there cannot be any real happiness. Where is death, there cannot be any happiness, always under the threatening of death. So this is finished, no charm. With eagerness we must make inquiry for a soil where to live, must select a higher plane where we can really live.

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ] yad gatvā na

[“My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode.”] [Bhagavad-gita, 15.6]

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino ‘rjuna mām upetya tu kaunteya,
punar janma na vidyate

[“O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

“A permanent acquisition only is possible in My plane.”

And these occupations and kingship are all dream. So if we want to get out of this dreamy life and enter into reality then raise yourself to the standard of finding, however subtle it may be, the plane of reality which cannot be devoured by death. Collect your energy to build up something permanent. And what will be demolished the next moment, you are going to invest your energy for that, a foolish attempt.

uddhared ātmanātmānaṁ, nātmānam avasādayet

ātmaiva hy ātmano bandhur, ātmaiva ripur ātmanaḥ

[“The living being must be delivered from the dark well of material life by means of the mind detached from sense objects, and he must never in any way be flung down into the material world by the mind enchanted by sense objects - because the mind is sometimes his friend, and in another situation the very same mind is rather the enemy.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.5]

You are your friend, mind it. And you are your enemy also. You are your own enemy if you do not mind your own development, your progress real; then you are your enemy. And you can be your own friend. And none can do so much help to you as you yourself can do.

If you can have self-control, collect yourself, your energy from going astray and direct it to the proper channel where you can really thrive, then you are your friend. And if you allow yourself to be led by so many senses of lower nature, and who are always trying to move in the land of reaction, exploitation and reaction, suffering: then you are your own enemy. You have done with your own. Consider all these things.

["I have now disclosed more and more hidden treasures to you. Remember all this, and then do as you wish."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.63]

Consider and consider deeply, and take the right step what to do. A human life is very valuable. You have got the power of discretion, discrimination. If you go in the other such as reaction compelled by the reactionary wave as a tree or a beast, where you will be? And can you tell for certain that the next life you may not be degraded into an animal life, what guarantee is there? And everything is not in debt. The progress is not in darkness, in ignorance only. You will be able to feel what real progress is if you really participate in it. Then you will feel, hr̥daye nābhya nujñāto [Mānu-Saṁhitā, 2.1], your heart's approval you will get, you can feel. Your inner approval you can feel, you can conceive. Not that a bogus hope has been given to you and you will be taken in a foreign land and there you'll be murdered and whatever. No, it is not like that.

["As with every mouthful an eater feels the threefold effects of his satisfaction, his stomach being filled, and his hunger being dispelled, in the same way when a surrendered soul serves the Lord he realises devotion of three natures simultaneously: devotion in love, the personal appearance of the Lord who is the abode of love, and detachment from all other things."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.42]

Then that famous śloka of Bhāgavatam:

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ [kṣīyante cāśya karmāṇi, dṛṣṭa evātmanīśvare]

["Thus the knot in the heart is pierced, and all misgivings are cut to pieces. The chain of fruitive actions is terminated when one sees the self as master."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.21]

Whenever you are eating something, your belly will be a witness. Your belly will say, "Yes I am eating. Yes I am eating." Bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo – prapadyamānasya yathāśnataḥ syus – bhakti – tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.42]. The satisfaction of the hunger, and gaining strength more than when you are unfed, and the conscious experience that you are fed, tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo. And no longer any feeling of necessity of eating more and more: these are the proofs for your progress. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The most valuable time and it is being lost by misapplication. For want of misapplication, mal application, the most valuable time, energy is being lost. Awake, arise.

[kṣurasya dhārā niśitā duratyayā durgam pathas tat kavayo vadanti]

[“Awake, arise: Having obtained the human form of life, you must not sleep in the darkness of ignorance. Awaken knowledge of your real self by associating with great souls and obtaining their mercy. This material creation is as sharp as a razor’s edge, for it is the cause of many miseries. It is impossible to cross over without transcendental knowledge. Therefore one must take shelter of the great learned transcendentalists who forever sing the praises of that Supreme Person who is the destroyer of birth and death.”] [Kāṭha-Upaniṣad, 1.3.14]

And engage yourself to address others also to engage this campaign. And that will also help you in a particular way that you may not be slothful, as regards your question.

One of our God brothers, the founder of Gauḍīya Saṅga, [Bhakti Saranga] Goswāmī Mahārāja who took sannyāsa from me, but he was a senior man. After Bon Mahārāja, when I refused, then he was sent to England. And there one Vinode Vani, one English lady was made disciple by him. Then he told when he was householder he collected few disciples. Then one young man, now that Viṣṇujñāna, he's Bon Bihari Bābājī, he's in Vṛndāvana at present, he was young, about twenty-five or thirty, newly married. But he left his house and came to live with Guru, his Gurudeva, Goswāmī Mahārāja. And Goswāmī Mahārāja was a householder at that time. I went to take him from his house from Kalpur [?] but – then he came. Fifteen days I stayed there with him to take him out of his household life. And then he came to Midnapur and within few days he took sannyāsa from me.

At that time he pronounced some words. “That Viṣṇujñāna he has given me sannyāsa. That that young disciple, my disciple in young age he has come out of his house, leaving his young wife, and I am living the life of a householder and my disciple is so strong in his adherence, attempt. That pinched me now and then. So that is the prime cause of my accepting sannyāsa life.”

So when we preach, we say so many big things to others, but if I cannot keep myself in a standard life, then how they will take me? This will also try to keep me, to help me for keeping a standard life. So preaching, preaching is also, to engage oneself in preaching, that is also helpful to keep up our life aim, standard. That I am saying so many big things to others and if I am seen to be a defaulter, the prestige, that will also help me to certain extent. But it will be dangerous without proper guidance. We must not jump into the world of preaching meeting so many variegated nature of men. And it is also possible that I may be lost there. I may be lost there also. So under the guidance of some higher agent we should engage ourselves in the activity, a busy program. Engage ourselves in busy program so we may not have any spare time to go on indulging with all these trifle matters. These are all helpful to us. And then also recapitulate, when I came to our Guru Mahārāja, what for? I was, some mal purpose I had, or for some real purpose. Then why I am making treachery with me? If that is my best understanding when I accepted his dīkṣā then I am making treachery with my conscience, my good will. My high position, all these things should be discussed and thought out to help us. And mainly association with a higher, good devotee, a good devotee of higher type: and keeping engagement, as busy as possible. Not without any program, not vacant mind. Idle man's brain is the devils workshop. Do you know that saying?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So fully packed, responsibility. Without responsibility, none can catch the mind and convert. Responsibility only can catch the mind and engage itself in work. Otherwise the body may work; the mind will go hither thither. But the sense of responsibility, while lying, while eating, the mind is to be engaged; how to do this, how, what plan of this. Gaura Haribol. These are the practical experiences.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Dayal Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura he chastised that sakhībhekī, do you know the story on that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Sakhībhekī – āula, bāula, karttābhajā, neḍā, daraveśa, sāṇi, sahajiyā, sakhībhekī, smārta, jata-gosāñi, ativādī, cūḍādhārī and gaurāṅga-nāgarī.

[?] That they are almost imitationist, sakhībhekī is also a type of imitation. They think that if physically I can take the robe of a sakhī that will always remind me that I am a female. And I got the mantram also from my guru, in the sahajiyā section it is in vogue that your age is eleven, twelve, thirteen, like that. You are a girl of that age. And your next higher is that mañjarī, Rūpa Mañjarī, Vilāsa Mañjarī, or so and so. You conceive yourself in that line and go on. Take Hari Nāma, do anything and everything and you try to get that abhimāna, that type of ego within you, that you are a young girl and you are in the association of so many sakhīs and you have got charge of particular service, you try to do that. Externally you beg and maintain your life anyhow, but internally you go on thinking like that. And though male you may accept the dress of a female. That will help you to your conception that you are a woman. Do that. That is, sakhībhekī comes from that idea.

And that man, that sādhu I told, was a sakhībhekī. But when I gave a strong impression, 'Why you are deceiving you by taking the robe you are already reduced to woman ego. Full male ego is within you. And by your taking the colour you will be easily mixed with the women and you will die thereby.' Then anyhow he came out, he gave up his, shaved his long hair like the ladies, and that dress also off. And he came to me, 'Accept me [?]

There was one sakhībhekī in Rāmadāsa Bābājī Maṭha, that Samaj Bihari, Lalitā Sakhī. He was a brāhmaṇa and we are told he was graduate also. He came to Caraṇa Dāsa Bābājī. And anyhow I saw him once before coming, joining this Gauḍīya Maṭha when I was wandering to seek proper Gurudeva, once I went their āśrama and there found that gentleman. His age was at that time about near fifty, this side that side; a big figure but clad in lady dress, and trying to imitate movements like the ladies.

But then I did not know Gauḍīya Maṭha. Anyhow, one gentleman amongst the visitors they came with Gauḍīya, that comes from Gauḍīya Maṭha, from our Guru Mahārāja. And there was some remark about that sakhībhekī. And one gentleman he read, "Gauḍīya has written in this way there describing this sakhībhekī."

Before this he was in a very serious posture, won't talk to anybody, in a grave posing. But when one gentleman read something from Gauḍīya Patrikā, then he came out. "Oh, what they have told in their remark that is wrong. You can see another Patrikā. That is from that gentleman.” Sonar Gaurāṅga, or something like that, the editor of a big volume of Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Principal of College, that Rādhā-Govindanātha. He has got a big edition of Caitanya-caritāmṛta. He used to publish Sonar Gaurāṅga, one Patrikā, monthly perhaps. That sham sakhī came with that book. “You can see also this Patrikā is supporting me.” He came to show.

I did not know all these things at that time. I was simply a sight seer and hearing all these things. What is matter, what is this Gauḍīya Patrika, where from? And in support there is another Patrikā. And only this I marked, that he was very serious and with pose of a very big person but when that criticism came out, he came out, the man came out from the lady dress to protest earnestly. “That oh, they are abusing. They do not know. As you see this also is there.” This I marked.

Sakhībhekī, they have got some sort of argument that if we take red dress, sannyāsīs, a dress of the garment of a sannyāsī, it will remind me that I am not to participate with the ordinary people. I have got my particular, peculiar holy dress, I must go accordingly. So something, but from where to where, imitation, imitation of what? The other day I told to that gentleman, Hiranyagarbha:

vaikuṇṭhara pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya, [māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya]

The mathematical calculation is there. I am taṭasthā, jīva, and the higher sphere is made up of higher stuff than myself. They’re all Guru, the earth, the water, the air, everything is Guru, cent per cent Guru. And only as a slave I can enter there, according to degree of my free acceptance of slavery, and earnestness for that. In that higher sphere, that is subjective. We are subject in relation to this world of object. But, that is super-subject, super-subject. If at all I am go there, then without devotion, without dedication, wholesale dedication we cannot have any entrance. Then we'll get something wrong. In this mundane world we shall get something and satisfy ourselves, 'Yes, I have got.' It is very easy buyers, without price want to buy. It is Godly and the highest conception of Godhead, all these things are gone, very cheap bargainners. We rather want to pay for our desired thing, object of our desire. We won't be miser there.

Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40] None can deceive you if you do not deceive yourself, deceive you. Higher, higher, higher, superior: not to enjoy. Satisfaction in giving: and giving for which? This body for freedom fighting that is also a type of sacrifice. And to some section it is the highest sacrifice to give the life for the country, for the nation.

But Mahāprabhu says, "It is tamo dharma. This is sacrifice of the lowest order. Why? To think that this body is all in all, this is a poison to the soul. The negative representation of the soul, and to give that, and to get the highest achievement of the soul, this is ludicrous. Tamo dharma. If only by sacrificing this body, flesh and blood, we can attain Kṛṣṇa, then every second I want to accept death crores of times." Mahāprabhu says.

What is this body? Nothing; trifle thing. The standard of giving...

End of 81.11.26.B

81.11.26.C_81.11.28.A

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...what to give, the sacrifice of the body is nothing.” In the case of Sanātana Goswāmī Mahāprabhu is saying like that, “Then what type of sacrifice, the inner and higher sacrifice. Sacrifice your whole soul, your whole future. To sacrifice your whole future prospect, whole prospect, for the cause, then the highest entity will move a little in your favour. So the whole future, the whole high future, whole prospect, He comes to give to me. Then of course I should consider its case.” Not only this point of eternal life, this body, ha, ha, ha.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. He’s very clever. Kṛṣṇa is very clever. Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

So the sakhībhekī: imitation. Imitation, they’re confined to body consciousness, mainly body consciousness, and that is minor. Proper conception of what Kṛṣṇa is, it is wanting there. The Kṛṣṇa is which side? Brahman, Paramātmā, Bhagavān, Svayam Bhagavān, and His planes. What is Brahma? ‘Virajā,’ ‘brahmaloka,’ bhedi’ ‘paravyoma’ pāya, tabe yāya tad upari ‘goloka-vṛndāvana’.

kalpavṛkṣe kare ārohana]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.153-4]

What is called Virajā, what is known as Brahman, then what is Paravyoma, and where is Goloka? We must have some conception, vague conception of that, idea of that. Neti, neti, neti, this is not, this is not, this is not. Brahmāṇḍa’ bhedi, what is brahmāṇḍa? Bhūr, Bhuvah, Svaḥ, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Satya, different stages of this mundane life: this mundane life, not only this flesh and blood. Without flesh and blood our mental system also can live independent of this physical body in different strata of mundane sphere. Bhuvah, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Satya - only the mental body lives there, no physical, the mental body. Then the dissolution of the mental body we come to what is called Virajā, the last verge of this mundane world. Then the Brahmaloḥa, at the lowest verge of the spiritual, the pure conscious life, then to enter into specified differentiated Vaikuṇṭha-loḥa dedication begins, dedication begins. This is mathematical calculation, scientific calculation. Then the soul enters into a world where the stuff of which is superior than the soul who is entering. So, only grace, only grace, no matter of right, no matter of right, no question of right, only grace, anugraha, Vaiṣṇava anugraha, Bhagavān anugraha. There is no justice in the land of mercy, but in the lower sphere some principal of justice sometimes peeping in our heart. Some other thing, justification, some sort of elements of justice now and then peeps into our heart. But when that heart is crossed we are taken to Kṛṣṇaloka, Goloka, this is wholly eliminated, eliminated. That is, they’re lost in the pure wave in that Goloka, their love, affection, rāga-mārga. No consideration that he’s low, he’s high, but automatic like a robot man, like a computer, automatic activity, just as...voluntary and non-voluntary activity, just as the stomach, the stomach is doing its duty, it is not voluntary. What is the name in philosophy?

Devotee: Automatic.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It's automatic, but there is another specific word. Voluntary and non-voluntary, non-voluntary there is another word is there in philosophy. So that is automatic, that is like... Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Spontaneous?

Devotee: Sympathetic.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Innate? You've lost us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't recollect. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Anyhow, there is subconscious region, reaction, that is under, not come over the flow towards the consciousness, for sub-conscious reasons that activity goes on.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

We can have a little glimpse, guess, what sort of life that is. But we are to cross the threshold of exploitation and renunciation, both, and dedication of calculative and of non-calculative, two types of dedication.

deha-smṛti nāhi yāra, saṁsāra-kūpa kāhān tāra, tāhā haite nā cāhe

“No consciousness of any bodily existence, so it is needless to say that like karmī we want Your help to get out of this mundane realm. That does not apply in our case my Lord; that does not apply. [?] You want that the people will laugh at You? Your proposal is so vacant, so ludicrous. Do You take us in that category? That we are fallen in the deep well and by taking You as the help to come out of that, do we care, have we any conception of our bodily interest? You think that? We are ashamed by Your talk. We feel shame.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. That is the outside meaning, and internal meaning is another. And they could understand the Lord Himself say. “The others think themselves fortunate if they come in My contact. But in your case I think it is My fortune that I have got affection of you.”

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Brahmā durlabha prema sava tari yati [?] What is so much rare to even Brahmā the creator of this, in the market, Nityānanda Prabhu has come with that thing and from door to door approaching, “Take this, take this, take this.” What is that? Brahmā durlabha prema. What is aspired after by the great creator of this universe, unapproachable by him, and that has been taken down here, and He’s wandering from door to door. “Accept this.”

In ages, this thing never comes to this plane of life, in ages. Love, divine love, how magnanimous it is. Feel it for yourself. You know only to consume at the cost of others of the environment. You think that a big consumer is a big fortunate man. You are settled in this sort of conception of life, that exploitation.

The great scientists can exploit even the inanimate, not only animate but even the inanimate in the most crude form, they’re expert to exploit them also. Great scientists do not know the real nature, the real and stern nature of the environment that they are to pay back to the farthing, with interest. And getting easy loan from the nature, does not know the stern laws of nature. They’re very boasting of their civilised society.

But just the opposite, not to consume, but to be consumed. Consumed by whom? By the debauch, to be consumed by the highest centre of the Absolute Good, that sort of fortune. There is life, and there is life real. Real life is there only. No reaction, above reaction, rather, the sustainer of the whole, this sort of nature can sustain the whole of the existence. Not only mundane, non-mundane, that wave, that sustaining wave of all the universe gets food from that type of sacrifice which is in the highest causal plane. Who wants the honour of that sort of sacrificed life? And how beautiful, how sweet that is it is inconceivable, such type of self-giving, how sweet. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Not exploiting but giving, utilising and utilising in the highest quarter, in the subtle-most plane. That sort of self-giving. Not to the hand of the dacoit, not for the nation, not for this or that, ordinary. The highest sustaining wave that is springing up from that fountain: there to contribute, to contribute your energy.

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja. Sārvabhauma Bhaṭṭācārya was a Māyāvādī in his previous life, yet he understood ecstatic symptoms of love of Kṛṣṇa. How is it that he was familiar with that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By the special grace of Mahāprabhu. He was of the standard of Brhaspati, the master of knowledge, but by the special grace of Mahāprabhu he was converted into that, he was taken.

Transformation may take place in different, four ways, may be divided into two, one free choice of the Lord, another acquiring by the jīva soul in gradual process. Sārvabhauma's case is mostly the grace that came from Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu. The greatest part of his realisation was of that nature.

He had some talk with Rāya Rāmānanda previously, the devotee connection. Rāmānanda was a devotee of higher type. He came in his connection but could not crush his ego. But when Mahāprabhu came that sukṛti was crossed without limit and instantaneously converted. And then he could know that, “I could not appreciate Rāmānanda Rāya, for some internal hindrance. Now by Your grace my cover is discovered, heart can understand, can appreciate the dignity of Rāya Rāmānanda and his advices. Please, You are going to the south for a preaching tour, please meet Rāya Rāmānanda on the banks of Godāvarī and You will find high satisfaction coming in contact with him.”

Devotee: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja. It is said that Mādhavendra Purī introduced devotional service in conjugal love; he introduced that to Mādhva sampradāya. Does that mean it was not known...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That means it is by the interference from above. In Mādhva School we do not find such degree of quality and quantity of devotion, especially in mādhyama-rasa, in Mādhva School. But it is first found in Mādhavendra Purī. When, just before his disappearance he's lamenting that, 'I could not get the grace of Kṛṣṇa.'

ayi-dīna-dayārdra-nātha he, mathurā-nātha kadāvalokyase hṛdayam tvad-aloka-kātaram, dayita bhrāmyati kiṁ karomy aham

[While passing away from the material world, Śrīla Mādhavendra Purī chanted the following verse: "O gentle-hearted Lord, ever gracious upon the destitute, O Lord of Mathurā, when shall I see You again? In Your absence my broken heart trembles. Beloved! What shall I do now?"]

[Padyāvalī] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 8.34]

"Oh my Lord, Oh the Lord of my heart, You are not casting a glance on this poor soul. The master of my heart, how can I tolerate this life without Your confidential grace?" With this he left his body. Dayita, kiṁ karomy aham, "What can I do if You do not accept me in the zone of Your higher affectionate area, circle. Rather, in despair I am going, leaving this body here." The Lord of Mathurā.

There we see, and then one of his disciples was Rāmacandra Purī, he came to console his Guru. "Why do you mourn? You are Brahman yourself. Consider, meditate that, you have nothing to mourn and nothing to gain. You are that nirviśeṣa brahma. You think like that. Why do you lament?"

Then Mādhavendra Purī was very much enraged. “You be off. If I die seeing your face then I will be doomed, you be off from here.”

And Īśvara Purī attended Mādhavendra Purī in his last time, and he got the grace of the Guru, Mādhavendra Purī. And he was rewarded by the acceptance of Mahāprabhu as his Gurudeva, that Īśvara Purī. praray sadar [?] Full of divine love his heart was. And Mādhavendra Purī, Īśvara Purī. And before Mādhavendra Purī he was the, perhaps Lakṣmīpatī, disciple of Lakṣmīpatī of the Mādhva School. But there we do not find such trace, devotion, but devotion not of that hearty type, ordinary, formal devotion, subjugation, allegiance, all these things. But deep, heart concern is found only from Mādhavendra Purī. The Lord of our heart: Lord of love, beauty, attracting the whole system, inner system of our existence, the attraction of the whole, inner system of our existence. Kṛṣṇa. We cannot do without Him. He’s in such a way within us, we cannot think of any independent life without Him. It is impossible, in that plane. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Every nath is feeling it.

Prati aṅga lāgi kānde, prati aṅga mora [From Jñāna Dāsa’s Vaiṣṇava-padāvali: Anthology of Vaiṣṇava Songs] There is one Vaiṣṇava kavi, after Mahāprabhu, says, “That My every,” in case of, by the mouth of Rādhārāṇī, “That My every limb is crying for the corresponding limb of My Lord.” Prati aṅga lāgi kānde, prati aṅga mora. “Every part of My, every inch of My, every atom of My body is hankering, is crying to embrace the corresponding atom of the body of My Lord.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. These are big things spoken by a mean mouth. mahāprabhu lakṣa katagu nityānanda [?] What sort of body then we have within us, and how to trace out that? That is the problem. How to trace out that sort of body within us? Is it possible? It’s beyond the ambition of the ambition.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Gurudeva. Śrī Gurudeva. Śrī Gurudeva.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Our Guru Mahārāja wanted to capture the whole territory of māyā, to convert it into Kṛṣṇa conscious region, domain. The nature of his fighting with māyā was like this, could not tolerate that there should be any place where Kṛṣṇa consciousness will be absent. That is intolerable. Everything must come under the jurisdiction of Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva. Whether it is possible or impossible he does not care. Ha, ha. But his dues, “My duty is to spread Kṛṣṇa consciousness.”

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: So Bhaktisiddhānta wanted the, no place...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He wanted to conquer the whole territory of māyā. That was his faith. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And attack from different directions, attacking māyā.

One of the moderate leaders of the time was Madhanman Madhava [?] He was pro Hindu, when he came to Calcutta Maṭha, and he had some knowledge of the Hindu scriptures and somewhat of Bhāgavatam also. So when he heard, he put many questions, and replied. Only he told that, “I am not, I can’t imagine two things - such deep knowledge in Bhāgavatam, and such application at every stage of argument reciting, giving the quotation of Bhāgavat śloka. Whatever the subject matter of the discussion, the Bhāgavat śloka in support of that. That so much deep knowledge of Bhāgavatam I have never seen and heard, conceived even. Another thing, a daily religious paper, I can’t conceive that one daily religious paper may go on.”

Prabhupāda answered, “We are talking about Vaikuṇṭha, that unlimited world, and this is māyā, the limited world. So many daily newspapers are going on with the subject of this limited world. And the unlimited world only one daily newspaper, and that is inconceivable to you. So many...”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Influenced by the discussion of our Guru Mahārāja, that Malavira [?] he started Śuddhi [?], like Ārya Samāj, in his own way. But he was not successful in that matter. The orthodox UP [Uttar Pradesh] section did not allow. But the Śuddhi of Gauḍīya Maṭh is of a different kind. It is based on scientific principle, śuddhi, that Hari Nāma. It is mentioned in the śāstra, “The least of the Kṛṣṇa consciousness can purify, immense, it is so powerful, disinfecting, that the least connection of Kṛṣṇa consciousness can purify miraculously. Kṛṣṇa consciousness, but it must be proper Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Kṛṣṇa consciousness proper, that can purify. The nirguṇa, the highest class of nirguṇa conception, nirguṇa existence, like homoeopathic dose, can work marvellous.

[Devahūti says: “O Lord, if he just hears Your Name, then chants it, offer You obeisances and remembers You, even a person born as a dog-eating outcaste instantly becomes eligible to perform the Soma sacrifice; to say nothing of the purification of those who see You directly.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.33.6]

Immediately, instantaneously, any man from the lowest class may be fit for the highest duty of a brāhmaṇa, and then brāhmaṇa. Brahmacārya, gr̥hastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsa. If sat-saṅga, if association of the sādhus we can get, then by the combined force any bold attempt may be taken up, taken up. Otherwise gr̥hastha Vaiṣṇava also can be there, but they will be a little more careful because they're compelled to transact with ordinary viṣayī people there.

But sannyāsīns may not care for that, exclusively given up their life for. And in sannyāsa there are also four stages, kuṭīcaka, bahūdaka, haṁsa, paramahaṁsa - the four stages in the life of a sannyāsī. Kuṭīcaka means to confine oneself in a cottage and to go on assimilation, in connection of assimilation of what he has accepted, to be settled in that position, and then to begin pracāra. Bahūdaka, that a suggestion comes from water of different lands, so he should not stay in one place, generally. He will move around all the parts, mixing with different persons and talking about Kṛṣṇa, his own creed. Like a canvasser he will invite test and consolidate himself, his position of thought. “What I have taken, I am taking it to the market at large and if any more efficient thing may come to me as proposal I am to compare with that. And also, at the same time, the superiority of the things of my Gurudeva I am spreading anywhere and everywhere.” And indirectly his position is becoming solid, consolidated. Then, haṁsa, wherever he may be does not matter, but he can take out the gist of everything towards service of Kṛṣṇa, tat paratvena nirmalam.

He can come to realise then fully, everything coming in connection with Kṛṣṇa, may be accepted, and that is real standard of purity. And paramahaṁsa he’s established there. He cannot but see anything which is not in the interest of Kṛṣṇa. Whatever things come to him, he’s already connecting with Kṛṣṇa and his thought can never be disturbed by any outside waves of any nature, any thought of any nature, paramahaṁsa.

But, to abide by the order of our Gurudeva, that is everything, from the beginning to end, one may live there under the direct guidance of Guru. It is always nirguṇa. For our guidance we have got that mantram. Also we may consult the meaning of them. It is meant, I am meant for what? It is there, the formula is there. My future, I am here, so and so, and what should be the object of my aspiration, the life of my aspiration? That is in the mantram.

Generally, first we are to begin with Guru pūjā, a connection with the mediator, with the soul agent. We are to have, to acquire a happy relationship with him. And then, next, Gaurāṅga, the Absolute as in the form of Guru. This is Vaiṣṇava Guru and that is Bhāgavat Guru, when the Gopāla, God Himself has come in a grand way to do the, to teach the function of Guru. That is Gaurāṅga, the universal Guru: Guru Himself, the Absolute Himself in the garb of Guru. Then there also, how we are to adjust with Guru and Gaurāṅga, and what They mean, to take us where? These are to enquired there in the formula.

Then we see that they're, they want us to guide towards Kṛṣṇa conception of Vṛndāvana, not this Nārāyaṇa conception. The grand Guru Gaurāṅga His mission is that of Vṛndāvana, exclusively, and He wants us to guide there, to Vṛndāvana Kṛṣṇa, this Kiṣora Kṛṣṇa playing with the gopīs. Not in Dvārakā, Mathurā or Kurukṣetra, Gītā, the Kṛṣṇa of Gītā, we are to cross that.

And the Kṛṣṇa of Bhāgavatam, and that also crossing His Dvārakā līlā, the Mahābharata līlā, and only Vṛndāvana līlā in Bhāgavatam specially. There are also Purāṇa, Brahma-Vaivarta, Padma-Purāṇa, and here there, there is mention of the Vṛndāvana līlā...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...I've dealt it in a most vigorous way, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. All other thoughts have been dealt there, comparison also drawn, in such a strong and vigorous way, that Kṛṣṇa līlā of Vṛndāvana has been established, one cannot conceive of that, extraordinary. Over the jñānīs especially, a karmī may generally, they do not know to analyse very much, but the jñānīs, that salvationist school, they generally fight with the devotional school. They like to say that devotion is below and jñāna is the highest. But Śukadeva in Bhāgavatam so boldly inaugurated that that is from the other side, not this side of knowledge, not the acme of our mundane knowledge. But in the inconceivable world it holds the supreme position. You are to look the Vraja līlā like that. It is not a thing of the objective area, but it is super super-subjective area holding the highest position, the zenith. You are to look with this angle of vision towards Kṛṣṇa līlā.

So, we are drawn to Kṛṣṇa līlā and especially we find in our Guru paramparā, and also in the mantram we find we are desired to be directed towards mādhyura-rasa, the main current, all others partial representation. In mādhyura-rasa, it is full of all rasa, the vātsalya, and sākhyā, and the dāsyā, śanta, everything included there. It represents the whole, and others are partial representations. Everything is good in its own position, still, from the Absolute consideration and from our Guru paramparā line and from the line of the mantram, we see, if we analyse, it is very plainly we find that this is all pertaining to mādhyura-rasa, the mantram we are in.

And by sannyāsa, another mantra, the last mantram which is given to a sannyāsī or to a bābājī, the fifth āśrama, fourth āśrama, brahmacārya, gr̥hastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsa, and the fifth āśrama is that of bābājī. Bābājī and sannyāsī, those that are engaged whole time in Kṛṣṇa consciousness in service, they're given the same mantra, kaupīna and same mantra. One with daṇḍa and another without daṇḍa, who are meant for preaching they are given daṇḍa for the facility of preaching, for the social status. But both of them are given the mantra of the same nature, same meaning. What is that? There it is mentioned about Rādhā-dāsyam, not only Kṛṣṇa-dāsyā, the inner meaning of the mantra which is given in the time of sannyāsa, that shows us the direction that your direction is, your goal is that side. That is the meaning of the sannyāsa mantram. According to our progress we'll be able to understand in future. In a nutshell, the direction is given hereby, what speciality there is in the mantram which is given at the time of sannyāsa.

One of my God brothers, Śrauti Mahārāja, he asked me, "What is the meaning of that mantram?" And he thought that it is leading towards Mahāprabhu, and he asked me to put this question to my Guru Mahārāja. He did not do it direct, but he asked me anyhow, "You please ask Prabhupāda." And I did so.

And then with some stress he told, "No, it is not meant to Śrī Gaurāṅga, but it is really meant to gopī-dāsyā."

In that way he gave the explanation of the mantram to me. Gaura Hari. And I also conveyed it to Śrauti Mahārāja that Prabhupāda told like this, and your suggestion is cancelled.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. So these are things mysterious to our present stage, but a vague idea that this is the direction towards which we are to start and march and reach one day or other, our highest goal. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya.

Of course, it is most laudable that we have come to such ideal, highest ideal, but to have a mark in the real ideal does not mean that we have realised it. We must be careful there, in our journey. We must not be befooled that none can be-fool me also. We are also to be very careful in our journey, many things to hinder. The association of the sincere, better, sādhu, that is the most useful thing. And also, secondary, to engage oneself busy in the service under the direction of a bona fide person who can connect with the higher domain, higher stage of progress. It will fetch value, the work, the energy will fetch value according to quality and quantity. Not only by quantity, any service, the quantity side is not all, but the more important side is quality. Quality, the higher plane, connecting with the higher plane, the energy is being divested through some person where, in what sort of plane? My energy is going to be transformed into another higher energy in what sort of plane? That is the very important thing. Only quantity should not be considered, but the quality, quality, that is very rarely found, higher quality. We must always be very particular to detect and to connect with the high quality available, otherwise we will be loser, loser. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

And the same time we shall be consulting with the scriptures written by the great personages of our Guru paramparā, admitted by Guru paramparā, the books. And we should think that those books are not inanimate. Apparently inanimate, passive, but they can also help actively. In general, books may help us in a passive way, as if I am to understand, I am to, as my capacity allows, I am to focus and then to get something from the book. But it is not limited there. We should think that the book is personified, personal thing, personified. If he likes, he can divulge him to me, reveal. And specially, in matters of our recognition of who is a sādhu proper and not, we are mostly guided by the scriptures, there, the comparative study. Of course the sukṛti is underlying we can't deny, but superficially the books also guide us to select who is really sādhu and who is not sādhu. The knowledge of the experts has been collected there for that department. The spiritual experts they have placed there the result of their experience in the spiritual life, so that helps us to make a selection of sādhu and Guru a great deal, a great deal. And also we must approach.

I remember, perhaps as a result of my previous birth, when I got that Gāyatrī, without consulting any books, or the meaning book, which is explaining the meaning of Gāyatrī, I appealed to Gāyatrī itself, herself. "Please reveal in me what you are." In this spirit, that it is living, it is not only these mundane words, a cluster of mundane words, but it is a living thing, Gāyatrī herself. And if she likes she can express her inner nature in me. With that spirit I used to continue the japam of Gāyatrī in my young age, with that idea, and that was corroborated by Gauḍīya Maṭh also when I joined there, the śāstra.

In Kurukṣetra, one dvadasi [?] of that time, he came to see our Guru Mahārāja there, and he put, “How we shall know who is a sādhu or not?”

Then he told, “Generally to know sādhu we are to consult the scriptures. And with this spirit, that is not ordinary book, that can assert, that can hide itself, or can come to my knowledge. With this idea we are to consult scripture, they’re animate not inanimate. Then the śāstra will come to help us about the selection of who is a sādhu, in a general way. Then of course the sukṛti underlying for the previous, that inner guidance he has accepted.”

When Bihand Raya [?], he was a good doctor, when he was dying, then the junior doctors, best among them, purposely came to cure him. He was heart specialist, Bihand Raya and a genius. The doctors told, “That this is the case?”

“Yes, yes, I understand.” “Then this...

“Yes, I also am of the same opinion with you. But who will receive the injection and put into work he is absent. The receiver of the injection is absent in the vitality. That is the medicine for such disease but the receiving capacity must be in the body to receive the medicine and utilise it.”

So also, the external help may come but the receiver must be up to that standard to receive and utilise to fulfil its purpose, own purpose. That is sukṛti, sukṛti within, that takes the external help and utilises it in constructive work. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. There is sukṛti, ajñāta-sukṛti, jñāta-sukṛti, then śāstra, then śraddhā, sādhu, in this way, śravaṇa, varaṇa, guru karan, bhajana and sādhana, then āpana, gradually by bhajana, sādhana, it will think that yes, it is my own, it is my inner wealth. A stage when one can feel, it is what I was searching for, my heart pleasing thing. When the inner nature will feel, then it is becoming āpana, that is, he's near the home. Very sweet, then also, go on, with more energy and more speed, more confident way, go on. This is what I was, a necessity I was searching for, with this hearty energy one makes progress, āpana. Then prapanna also, not only I taste it, it must be given widely to all. They're also suffering from the same problem that I was suffering from, so it must be spread all over widely. That is prapanna, and very well established, fully established, no doubt. No doubt that I shall do any mischief to the people if I spread, propagate this thing then the best benefit I shall be giving to the world, no doubt. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam,

1.2.21 & 11.20.30]. All doubts are cleared. This is the thing for which not only myself but the whole world is madly searching for, searching for.

Yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati ["By knowing Him, everything is known - by getting Him, everything is gained."] This is the only enquiry of the world. They're moving unsatisfied, only searching for this sort of satisfaction and nothing of standard lower. This is the quest. The whole world, the moving, moving for sukham, for pleasure, for satisfaction, for ecstasy, joy, and this is the form or material substance that everyone is madly searching for.

Athāto brahma-jijñāsā, why I have come with the brahma-jijñāsā enquiry of Brahman in Vedānta? It is a particular interest? No, the most general interest of all animation this brahma-jijñāsā. I am voicing the whole animation. Knowingly, unknowingly, they're all after this brahma-jijñāsā. I am putting only in a scientific way, brahma-jijñāsā. Intuitively, intuitively, here everything is moving to search for what? That is this Brahman conception.

And Mahāprabhu, that Brahman is something like inner substance? No, it is Kṛṣṇa. Mahāprabhu put Kṛṣṇa in the place of Brahman, Bhāgavatam. It is not Brahman. Of course, next goal it may be, but the further conception of the highest goal we shall find that there is Kṛṣṇa. That conception, the Kṛṣṇa conception which is, whose halo is Brahman, the halo of the domain of pastimes of Kṛṣṇa is Brahman.

So when a ship makes progress, a lighthouse, then another lighthouse, in that way shows the way. The Brahman, and what is Brahman? Brhatama [?] [?] That all accommodating, most general: then the real representation of the most general to be found in Kṛṣṇa consciousness. It is inert, no movement this ordinary Brahman, nirviśeṣa. But saviśeṣa, the differentiation and specification, pastimes, everything will be there, but still it will be all-accommodating, even this Brahman also. There is Kṛṣṇa consciousness. In this way our attention is drawn towards the most general question of all the world which none can deny if a little sensible in their own disease or want, cannot but say. 'We have no interest in Kṛṣṇa consciousness,' it is a particular sect.

Once I delivered a lecture in Gedli Badlebiri [?] Of course, I went on with Manu-saṁhitā beginning, what is dharma? And then came to Brahman conception, and then from Brahman conception I tried to prove the Vāsudeva conception, and then Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa. In this way I went to Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead in a broad and universal way I marshalling.

Then there was one pleader, he began to cry. "We were so great in our previous, in our ancient days, but now these fellows they come to entice us that we are far advanced in previous time, we were only like savage. Now in the scientific age of civilisation we have advanced so much. But Swāmījī what you say that our ancient predecessors were so great, so noble, and I feel proud." In this way he began to cry in the meeting.

And there was another scholar who was made president in Poona in some Pali conference, one Mr. Bosak. Anyhow he happened to be present there. We did not know him, but he came out of his own accord and asked permission to say something in favour of us. Then when permitted he rose and began to tell. "So long we knew that Vaiṣṇava dharma is a branch of Hindu dharma. But what I have heard today from Swāmījī that Vaiṣṇava dharma is the highest conception, the highest goal of whole of Hindu dharma. The whole of Hindu dharma is trying its utmost to lead us to the Vaiṣṇava dharma, what Mahāprabhu has given from Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam.” He told like that, and also asked me that, “Your lectures should be arranged amongst the scholars of India in different places.” Ha, ha, he told like that. Gaura Haribol. So Vaiṣṇava dharma means such, not only of the Hindu dharma, source of Hindu, any dharma must lead to Vaiṣṇava dharma otherwise it is a faulty one. Not only dharma.

dharmah projjhita-kaitavo 'tra paramo nirmat-sarāṇāṁ satāṁ [vedyaṁ vāstavam atra vastu śivadaṁ tāpa-trayonmūlanam śrīmad-bhāgavate mahā-muni-kṛte kiṁ vā parair īśvaraḥ sadyo hr̥dy avarudhyate 'tra kṛtibhiḥ śuśrūṣubhis tat-kṣaṇāt]

[“Completely rejecting all religious activities which are materially motivated, this Bhāgavata-Purāṇa propounds the highest truth, which is understandable by those devotees who are fully pure in heart. The highest truth is reality distinguished from illusion for the welfare of all. Such truth uproots the threefold miseries. This beautiful Bhāgavatam, compiled by the great sage Vyāsadeva (in his maturity), is sufficient in itself for God realisation. What is the need of any other scripture? As soon as one attentively and submissively hears the message of Bhāgavatam, by this culture of knowledge the Supreme Lord is established within his heart.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 1.1.2]

Those that are jealous, have jealousy in any way, or rather at the bottom of their heart, he can't tolerate, everything belongs - one gentleman came to our Guru Mahārāja in Calcutta...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] What did I say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In Calcutta, one gentleman.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah! One gentleman on [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura] Prabhupāda's poetry: Kāminīra kāma, nahe tava dhāma, tāhāra mālīka kevala "yādava."

[From Vaiṣṇava ke? Who is a Vaiṣṇava? Mahājana-racita gītā, from Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 3.24] [And in the collection of Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja's ślokaś, 236]

The literal meaning is, the kāminīra kāma, the enjoying aspect of the women is not for you; it is only reserved for Kṛṣṇa. Tāhāra mālīka kevala "yādava." Kṛṣṇa is the only enjoyer of the beauty or anything to be enjoyed from the women section. It is mentioned there literally in that portion.

Then one gentleman came, "What do you say by this? Then, who are we? Have you written it in the literal sense that all the women are meant only for, the women enjoyment is only meant for Kṛṣṇa, and none else?"

"Yes, yes, that is the true naked meaning of this. That such enjoyment, such type of enjoyment is meant only for Kṛṣṇa, and all will be trespasser. So now come to think whether Kṛṣṇa was a debauch. And kanak, the money, the master of money is Nārāyaṇa, Lakṣmīpatī, the wealth, and we are all servants, servitors, more or less in different ways. And Baladeva, the Guru, is that of name and fame, kanak, kāminī, pratiṣṭhā. Kāminī for Kṛṣṇa conception, to be adjusted, otherwise we are lost, must be adjusted with Him. Any kāminī consciousness, lady consciousness must have connection with Kṛṣṇa. And any money conception, wealth conception, must have connection with Nārāyaṇa, the subsidiary function. And all the name and fame must be connected with Baladeva. Baladeva, Nityānānda, here Baladeva, there Baladeva and Rādhikā.

Who is in the first layer, who is distributing Kṛṣṇa, all the fame will go to him or her who is distributing Kṛṣṇa here in the world. The prime cause of distributing Kṛṣṇa, s/he will have the whole glory, must go there. So much glory can never be expected anywhere. Is s/he giving Kṛṣṇa? More glorious position, more fame, can anyone hope to attain? Who can give Kṛṣṇa, s/he holds the highest fame, is the owner of the highest fame. And all the money should be used for the service, and that is Nārāyaṇa, Lakṣmīpatī is the command of everything. And the kāmīnī conception, that must be connected with Kṛṣṇa and nowhere else, in any different way, different service.”

We may find in Vṛndāvana, we must try to find this finest link, Vṛndāvana or Navadvīpa, so many producing child also, even the insects and the birds and the beasts are also producing child, what is that? But in the real novel conception the link is in this way. Only to serve Kṛṣṇa in that aspect, excite Him, or creating a favourable atmosphere, they’re doing selfless, with self effacement. Not only self effacement but there is self surrendering of the type of exciting Kṛṣṇa or making arrangement in the favourable of Kṛṣṇa sambhoga, for enjoyment of Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise if this enjoying spirit is there then they will be a member of this mundane, this brahmāṇḍa. Exploitation, exploiting sense already eliminated here, in Virajā, and then enters there. So we may conceive or we may not conceive, but still, everything there only actuated by the motive of service, and there’s the purity, tat paratvena nirmalam.

The nirmalata, the purity depends only how much it is for the satisfaction of the centre, the purity; the criterion of measuring the purity is here. Am I clear? Follow? Otherwise we will be here, exploitation. There, no exploitation, but the whole thing informally retained but materially all full of service, that purity, otherwise no entrance in that domain. So we will be very cautious about the real theme of exploitation. What does it mean?

No exploitation there, all serving, that is divinity. Without dedication, without serving, no divinity is possible, what about the possibility of entering into Vṛndāvana, not only that, Śiva-loka, Vaikuṇṭha-loka. And that is most intensive in mādhyama-rasa. These are the things, we should be up to mark, we should try, the standard, the conception of such standard, must be on our front. However far it may be, we may not make any easy compromise with the very cheap thing in this world. The high ideal, the highest ideal, according to the height of the ideal, our whole future hope will depend on, our future will depend on our ideal. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in the Manaḥ-Śikṣā...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Manaḥ-Śikṣā, yes, by [Śrīla Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: ...he's talking about the sādḥaka, he says - actually it's in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's tika - he says in there that there are, he divides the sādḥaka into three - svanistha, parinisthita and then the last one is niropেকsha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Niropেকsa?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sādḥaka.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, three types, svanistha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: First, the lower is svanistha, and then?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Svanistha, and then parinisthita, and then nirapeksha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nirapeksha is the highest type?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nirapeksha, parinisthita [?] Then he says that nirapeksha is the highest type. That is fully eliminated of his own selfish view.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nirapeksha. But I can't follow it fully because there the nirapeksha must mean that so much selfless that he must become, the akha party [?] to Rādhārāṇī or to Yaśodā or to some leader of his company. Partiality must be there in the highest conception, but that is our highest attainment so it may be considered as nirapeksha. Nirapeksha that is automatic, we are playing as doll in the hand of Yogamāyā. That is, by nirapeksha it may be meant that, nirmatsarā, as Yogamāyā handling us we are doing, not any selfish end in life. But it is expressed also that they're partial to their own leader in different groups of service, servitors. Always they're partial to the leader of their own group. But that may be looked out in the way of nirapeksha and there it will mean that what they're doing, no selfish idea, but as handled by Yogamāyā. Quite selfless, the selfless, the highest degree of selflessness is to allow oneself to be, to play at the hand of the Yogamāyā, svarūpa-śakti, then of course the two things may be kept together. The partiality is there but that partiality has no svanistha, or parinisthita in general, excluding his own self interest, that general, to join in the general interest of the whole. Then, the development further, that is nirapeksha, that means he does not know himself, or herself, in what s/he's used, but mere instrument to the cent per cent in the hand of Yogamāyā. It may be conceived. And in another also this Dāsa Goswāmī says:

mayam mukunda dyaitam lila anukulam param [?]

Whatever we see in Vṛndāvana in connection with Kṛṣṇa, tena, the grass, guruma, the shrub, khi kata, the worms, insects, goṣṭhe samam hitat sadva, all filled with joy. Mukunda dyaitam, they're all favourite to Mukunda. Lilanukulam param, they're always conducive to the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, no other function. Cent per cent function of them only to help the extensive līlā of Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana, they're all contributing their existence meaning only that. That contribution, every dust, every drop is a contributing, helping agent towards the whole, that līlā of Kṛṣṇa. No sort of existence cannot be imagined there in Vṛndāvana. Gaura Haribol. That is Vṛndāvana real, that is proper.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, what is the conception of... in Bhaktivinoda's tika he's describing the different types of kapatata.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kapatata, yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: And he says that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deceitfulness.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Nirapeksha, in nirapeksha one may become what is called atmambarita. So how would you express that in English, atmambarita?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is all mundane, this is mundane, the negative side, atmambarita in a sādhu, 'that I am all in all, I am all in all.' And there is ācārya abhimāna also. We are to understand ācārya abhimāna. As [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmiji Mahārāja just before his retirement he told, "If for the necessity of my propaganda I might have abused some of my God brothers, I beg forgiveness for that." Ācārya abhimāna. When surcharged with the feeling that I am to propagate all these things, whatever I think necessary I must take the help of that, ācārya abhimāna. We may think everything as a straw, value of straw, surcharged with such inspiration sometimes to go on. But that is svambaritam? What do you say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Atmambarita.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Atmambarita. 'I know everything. What I say, do that. Don't care for the order of others.' This sort of ego sometimes used in the Ācārya section. 'They do not know anything. What I say, do that.' This sort of assertion that is sometimes necessary in the position of an Ācārya and leader.

But that is an inspired thing, not the matsara of this world. That is given by - when Lalitā Devī even venturing to give stricture to Kṛṣṇa, she says, "You don't know the noble character of my sakhī Rādhikā."

Or when Yaśodā is going to whip Kṛṣṇa: that is atmambarita. "You, boy, don't know, don't know how to use these things I have collected with great affection, and have collected for You and Your men, Your father, and You are distributing to the monkeys, to the monkeys, those valuable things. I shall punish You." And she's punishing Him. That is also atmambarita, but that is another type.

And atmambarita real which is to condemned, that of this mundane world. The assertion that the Śiva, Māhadeva, that is the greatest atmambari, the leader of the separatist movement, dvitīyābhiniveśa, from there. He's the source of all matsara and atmambarita. The master of this māyic world, of the world of misconception, dvitīyābhiniveśa, the conception of a second interest, that begins from Māhadeva, Māyāpati, Māhadeva, the leader of the oppositionist, that, "No, we have got separate interest, and we must assert for that." Rudra, ahaṅkāra, atmambarita. "I am all in all, everything for me." This is a demonic quality, atmambarita. Matsara, and the Māyāvādīs also...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... 'I am that Brahman.' And that is anti devotion. So we must realise the meaning in accordance with the conception of the whole. Only partial understanding won't help us much, but in consonance with the whole, the verification with other siddhānta, that remaining, then we must take it.

The general conception, that self concentrated, and then no concentrated that is tyāga, and then Kṛṣṇa concentrated, or Nārāyaṇa, that is upper concentrated. Self concentrated in a world, and no concentration that is nirapekṣa in that sense, that is Virajā, Brahmaloḥa. And God concentrated, God, sapekṣa, bhāgavat sapekṣa, that is from Vaiḥuṇṭha, paravyoma. They're God sapekṣa, they're always in the side of God. And nirapekṣa proper is found only in Virajā and Brahmaloḥa. And the sādhaḥa also nirapekṣa, he must be apekṣa yukta, always partial to his Guru, to his own group, in this way. Otherwise differentiation is impossible. Differentiation and hierarchy, where there is, there must be some sort of assertion. 'This is good and that is not so good.' Śanta, dāsya, sākha, vātsalya, mādhyura, the comparison between them: the dāsya is better than śanta, sākha is better.

“āge kaha āra.” [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59] Mahāprabhu, “Go deeper, go deeper. Go higher. Yes, this is better. Then go more, further.”

In this way the development in the theism, it is there, the elimination is there. So if nirapekṣa means the all equal, then that is to be found only in Brahmaloḥa and Virajā, but some sort of partiality must be there because the gradation is there. All is not equal. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So in nirapekṣa in that sense, if I get the passage, then I can say in what meaning it has been utilised, wording has been used there. Hmm? What did you say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Once you were describing about the differences in the different siddhāntas of the four main Ācāryas. You were talking about the differences in the siddhānta of Rāmānujācārya, Nimbarkācārya, Viṣṇusvāmī...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, there are differences. There is something common, something different everywhere. Mahāprabhu's summary of the most grand siddhānta is acintya bhedābheda. Everywhere there is something common something different. This is the general representation of the nature of the whole infinite, bhedābheda. In some points there must be something common, and in some points there must be something different, cannot be otherwise. And the demarcation of difference that is acintya because that depends on the sweet will of the highest will, so it is acintya bhedābheda, inconceivable. Why? Because in His conception all rights reserved there, so it is acintya, but bhedābheda, it cannot but be, something common something different. This is Mahāprabhu's statement, His direction about the conception acintya bhedābheda.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you were talking about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's – Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura had said that there were four things which Caitanya Mahāprabhu accepted. And one of those, I was wondering where they came from?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One from another, another place, He has taken two from each sampradāya. In one place he has written that one qualification from one sampradāya. In another place I have found he has given two things taken from four sampradāyas. That is also found in some place. By minute examination he has declared that two from each sampradāya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, the tadīya...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tadīya from Rāmānuja.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Then the vigraha upāsanā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vigraha upāsanā, Nimbarka, and vigraha sevā from, vigraha from Madhvācārya, and others, rāga-mārga from Viṣṇusvāmī, Śrīdhara Swāmī sampradāya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Then the bhedābheda siddhānta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhedābheda, that is from dvaitādvaita Nimbarka: and in another place, the fourth, paricaryya and bhedābheda from Nimbarka. And Vigraha and bheda, Bhagavān jīva, the bheda is the greater thing, from Madhva. And from Rāmānuja tadīya and prapatti: and from Viṣṇusvāmī this rāga-mārga and sevā. In two places I found that in one place he has given one from each, four: and another two from each. Very subtly he has differentiated like that.

A normal position: to come to normal position. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. But if anything abnormal I'm delivering then to come to a normal position I think in you, what I say if anything is defective please set me right again. Perhaps with this idea: Nitāi Gaura Haribol, I cry like that, should I say anything wrong, Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa, Gaura Haribol, Nitāi Caitanya Dayal, Gaura Haribol.

There is one śloka and it is passing in the name of Vyāsadeva. After: when I was in Chittagang I delivered lecture according to Bhāgavatam. The brāhmaṇas they're all Śāṅkarites, Māyāvādīs. I tried to establish there, Personal God is above Brahman, in this way in Gītā. One brāhmaṇa stood up with this śloka: the śloka I don't remember, anyhow it is mentioned there that after producing all the Purāṇas, and including Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the Vyāsadeva at last he spoke this śloka. The subject matter is such.

“That You are so big You are infinite, and in the words I have encaged You, that You are such, Your rūpa is such, Your guṇa is such. I have depicted all these things in Purāṇa. You are the infinite; I have taken You within the finite, revelation, finite description, and this and that, so many things. So I beg forgiveness to You.” The Vyāsadeva he begged forgiveness. “That so infinite I have put in a cage, so our words are all finite, the meaning is also finite, to us. And we are trying to make delivery with the help of those finite words and finite meanings.”

What is this? This is a fun. But still we cannot but do according to our position. The infinite can, that my saying: ‘If Infinite cannot make Himself known to finite He's not Infinite.’ The basis of that: if He takes the reign of my flow it is all right. And whenever my mundane touch impedes, of course it cannot but be mundane.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Śaraṇāgata. Once when in Assam, Sarabhoga Gauḍīya Maṭha, Prabhupāda went to install Deities there. Generally Śrauti Mahārāja does all those things. But at that time I was requested to perform the necessary things before Prabhupāda goes and enters the temple and he performs his pūjā and then the door is opened, then Bhagavān is there, Kṛṣṇa is there in the Deity. I decorated the throne, the Deity, everything. And that was placed in a high position. And I thought that Prabhupāda will have some trouble to go up and put Tulasī on the feet of the Deity. So I placed Tulasī also, everything, without uttering any mantram. The whole thing I finished and came away. And then Prabhupāda went in. I did not know that it was his nature, his custom, that he puts Tulasī candan on the foot of the Deity and thereby he invites Deity to be there, to the public. I did not know that. I put the Tulasī also, finished everything without uttering any mantram. Only hand transaction I did.

Prabhupāda went, and came out, sitting and doing something, came out and told: “The Deities Themselves are – have appeared here, out of Their Own accord.” As if he had not to invite Them. “Of Their Own accord They have come here, appeared here.” That was his remark coming out.

Then Kuñja Bābu, Tīrtha Mahārāja, he came to ask me silently, “Have you put Tulasī on the foot of the Deity?”

“Yes, but without any mantram.” “Why?”

“I did not know, but it is troublesome, but I considered that to put Tulasī, or to do anything that will be very troublesome for Prabhupāda. It’s in such a high position it was placed. So whatever to be physically done I have finished, but without uttering any mantram.”

Anyhow it finished there. Then when in the meeting, delivering lectures, Prabhupāda for the second time he repeated that, “The Deities in this Maṭha have appeared out of Their own accord.” I was frightened, then I have done a great wrong. Then also what to do, some repentance came without knowing it fully well how I was bold enough to enter the room, I did not know it, mortified, but did not speak anything.

Then Prabhupāda came to Calutta and myself and this Mādhava Mahārāja, who was Hayagrīva Brahmācārī at that time, a party came to Mymensingh. Then we found in Nadiyā Prakāśa an article and there also it is mentioned that, “The Deities in Assam Maṭha, Sarabhoga Gauḍīya Maṭha, have appeared of Their Own accord.”

Then I was very much depressed and wrote a letter to Prabhupāda. “I have done a great offence. Please forgive me. I did not know. Unknowingly I have done. But you must forgive me, otherwise I’m nowhere.”

Then he replied in a letter. Gaura Haribol. [?] “One who has surrendered, he has got no offence. No offence he can make; one who has surrendered.” That was his reply.

Then Hayagrīva Prabhu, afterwards

Mādhava Mahārāja: “A great certificate for you.”

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So we are indulged to speak in language we are given whether we are fit or unfit; given some certificate, some license, ‘go and speak.’

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

A license is there. We are faulty. He knows it very well. Still, why He selects us to speak on His behalf? Gaura Nityānanda. So we are to remember to go back to Their feet. What I am saying of course it must not be perfect, but still it is Your wish, and I’m trying to fulfil Your order that is in this way. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Now, what’s the time, again?

Devotee: Twenty minutes to ten.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then we stop here today. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...every jīva, every soul. The three representatives of Nārāyaṇa is there. There they’re concerned with the jīva soul in other words, they’re concerned; they’re in charge of their fate. So when he’s recruited from here, their consent, their permission, their good will is necessary, and that is represented in tridaṇḍa. And also the free will of jīva, that is free acceptance, free acceptance to represent that, free cooperation, the jīva is also there.

So this is tridaṇḍa, this should be respected. Generally we should not keep it anywhere and everywhere in the earth, it's not so. We show some respect and reverence we should do to the daṇḍa. Everything, of course, Vaiṣṇava should see as superior to his own position. And that is the custom, and that is the necessity of our behaviour which is compulsory when we are, we want to enter into Vaikuṇṭha. All should be seen with respect. I am the servant. They're all my master.

So tridaṇḍa should also be seen like that. Though my own self is represented there but that is also in its divine character. So I shall give my reverence and respect, and devotion to the daṇḍa. That is, though I take it with me, but it should not be handled as a stick, or something like, not to support me, to help me in my ordinary movement. But I am carrying, just as the sacred thread, and also the daṇḍa of a sannyāsī. Always reminding me that I am a sannyāsī, I have, punished, my kāya, mano and vākya, my thought, word and deed. These three phases of my endeavour has been punished, controlled. Not to join that, they should not be any longer, they should not have their connection with the world of exploitation. So long as they did, that has been given daṇḍa, punished, punishment has been allotted for that, and from now I have completely withdrawn my thought, word and deed. Not to participate with the world of exploitation and renunciation, but I shall engage them only cent per cent in the service of Viṣṇu and Vaiṣṇava of my Lord. Henceforth I take this pledge that henceforth I shall engage my thought, word and deed. Three things I shall engage only for the service of the cause of the divinity, for the service of my Lord and His own. It represents that emblem that no longer have I any interest in this mundane world but I am a dedicated soul in all respects to engage myself in the service of the Lord.

And the permission I have got from the three, the, in charge of the individual soul, and in charge of the brahmāṇḍa, Garbhodakaśāyī, Kṣīrodakaśāyī, Garbhodakaśāyī, and who's in charge of the whole of all the brahmāṇḍas that are floating in Virajā. He's above all, Mahā Viṣṇu. With Their permission I have secured the privilege to engage me in the service transcendental to all these phases of life, known as the plane of renunciation and exploitation and only serving, service, dedication. I love that. I want to be a child of that soil. And that is the token I'm carrying always it will remind me. The permission of the, of this mundane world, they're in charge. I have taking permission from them, this license. So, I must be true to my own self. I must dedicate myself for the cause, of the Vaikuṇṭha, Goloka, Kṛṣṇa, Vṛndāvana interest. I represent the interest of Vṛndāvana and Navadvīpa, Mahāprabhu, Kṛṣṇa and Vaiṣṇava. With this idea I shall move.

aham tariṣyāmi duranta-pāraṁ, tamo mukundāṅghri-niṣevayaiva

[As a brāhmaṇa from Avantī-deśa said - Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu also said:]

["I shall cross over the insurmountable ocean of nescience by being firmly fixed in the service of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa. This was approved by the previous ācāryas, who were fixed in firm devotion to the Lord, Paramātmā, the Supreme Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.23.57] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.6]

Mahāprabhu took eka-daṇḍa sannyāsa from Keśava Bhāratī, externally. But internally He says this śloka, utters this śloka and starts for Vṛndāvana. What is that? Etāṁ sa āsthāya... Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Nitāi.

Devotee: Etāṁ sa āsthāya...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu, He chanted this poem of Bhāgavatam, etāṁ sa āsthāya parātma-niṣṭhām, adhyāsītāṁ pūrvatamair maharṣibhiḥ

aham tariṣyāmi duranta-pāram, tamo mukundāṅghri-niṣevayaiva

The Bengali verse there in caritāmṛta.

prabhu kahe - sādhu ei bhikṣura vacana, mukunda sevana-vrata kaila nirdhāraṇa parātma-niṣṭhā-mātra veṣa-dhāraṇa, mukunda-sevāya haya saṁsāra-tāraṇa sei veṣa kaila, ebe vṛndāvana giyā, kṛṣṇa-niṣevaṇa kari nibhṛte vasiyā

["Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu approved the purport of this verse on account of the determination of the mendicant devotee to engage in the service of Lord Mukunda. He gave His approval of this verse, indicating that it was very good."] ["The real purpose of accepting sannyāsa is to dedicate oneself to the service of Mukunda. By serving Mukunda, one can actually be liberated from the bondage of material existence."] ["After accepting the sannyāsa order, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu decided to go to Vṛndāvana and engage Himself wholly and solely in the service of Mukunda in a solitary place."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.7-9]

Mahāprabhu said, “I have taken this tridaṇḍa veṣa,” though outwardly He took this eka-daṇḍa, but internally He says, “I have taken tridaṇḍa sannyāsa, which is recommended in Bhāgavatam, and now, the veṣa, this outward dress, only niṣṭhā-mātra, only will remind Me about My future duty. But the real thing what is necessary is the service.”

If we take the daṇḍa, carry the daṇḍa but do not do my duty, then it will be fruitless. It is an emblem. But the real thing, service, to do my duty, to do the service of Viṣṇu, Vaiṣṇava, Kṛṣṇa, Vṛndāvana, that is the real purpose of the śloka.

Prabhu kahe - sādhu ei bhikṣura vacana, the tridaṇḍī-bhikṣu, this is the story coming hereafter, in eka-dasa, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. That brāhmaṇa he was chanting this śloka and Mahāprabhu's repeating that and says, prabhu kahe - sādhu ei bhikṣura, “Oh, this is very well and good. The tridaṇḍī-bhikṣu of Bhāgavatam in a passage with other [?] Kṛṣṇa Himself is relating this story to Uddhava, of a brāhmaṇa. “This is very well and good.”

Sādhu ei bhikṣura vacana, mukunda sevana-vrata kaila nirdhāraṇa. Why? He ultimately came to conclusion that the service of Mukunda, Kṛṣṇa. Mukunda means mu kun da, something which can make, which can show the salvation, liberation, awkward. Mere liberation from exploitation that is awkward. There is such positive thing in the dedicating world. So mu, mukti, mu means the abnegation of mukti, mukti means liberation. Ku means makes awkward. Mu kun da, dadhati it can give something which can show the liberation as an awkward thing. That is Mukunda. The meaning of the word Mukunda is such. He is the giver of such a thing which can show the renunciationists are most awkward, such a thing, Mukunda.

Prabhu kahe - sādhu ei bhikṣura vacana, mukunda sevana-vrata kaila nirdhāraṇa. He has come to the conclusion that the service of Mukunda, that is the fulfilment, the highest aim of our life.

Parātma-niṣṭhā-mātra veṣa-dhāraṇa, this dress, this garment, this is only to help us externally in the society. Some social position it is, that if I approach anyone easily I can get someone alms for my food. A social status only I can get with this dress. But the real thing is the service, to discharge our duty to Mukunda and His own.

Parātma-niṣṭhā-mātra veṣa-dhāraṇa, mukunda-sevāya haya saṁsāra-tāraṇa. By serving Mukunda we can get rid very easily from the troubles of our previous activities and we are taken in the vicinity of Mukunda and His paraphernalia.

Sei veṣa kaila, ebe vṛndāvana giyā. So I must try to approach Vṛndāvana, the favourable place, and there I shall go on with chanting the Name, and service.”

And now the story as described by Śrī Kṛṣṇa Himself to Uddhava, it runs like this.

There was one brāhmaṇa in Avantī, Gwalior [?] near, in U.P. [Uttar Pradesh] perhaps a state in Rajaputana [?] Gwalior [?], that was formerly Avantī.

And where Sandīpanī Ṛṣi used to live, he had his āśrama. And Kṛṣṇa went to Sandīpanī Ṛṣi for His training after He came to Mathurā, and got the sacred thread of the kṣatriya. And then went to take some training in Gurukula, He stayed for some time in Gurukula under Sandīpanī as Guru and there He got some education, Vedic education etc. He showed like that, with Sudama and other friends there.

There was one brāhmaṇa, the brāhmaṇa was in the beginning he was substantial, a rich man, but he was very miserly, and social duties he did not attend, discharge in any way. So the reaction came very soon. And the thieves, dacoits, they also took a portion. Then there was some litigation and money was spent there. Then some fire or this that. In this way his accumulated wealth, property was lost. Even, he did not allow his own relatives to feed much, he was so miserly, very miserly, miser of the miser. But anyhow the wealth was finished and he was reduced to a pauper.

Then he came to his senses. "Oh, I lived my life in a very awkward way, but now, everything is taken from me. I had such vanity, such pride, that I did not offer even, neither to the gods, nor to the ancestors, nor to the social beggars, nor to even the wife, nor the children, nothing, no relatives. But now everything gone, they have left me. I am a street beggar. It does not matter. Whom shall I blame for this?"

He began to, "Is it the ill will of the graha, the stars, are the stars responsible for this, or the gods, or the Lord Himself?" Anyway he's taking, considering so many alternatives and dismissing. "No, they're not. It is my own karma," he made responsible. "It is my own karma, nothing to be blamed, my own karma," in this way. "But now, perhaps, the Lord is propitiated with me, so He has taken me on the straight. Then what shall I do? Leaving these which were so friendly to me the other day, and now they have cheated me. So I won't depend on anything else but I start a new life enquiring after the enquiry of the Supreme Master."

In this way he was, he became indifferent to everything of this world and started and got tridaṇḍa from some sādhu and began to move, taking the Name of Mukunda, Kṛṣṇa. So much so that collecting some food in the bank of a river he's going to take the prasādam, someone came, someone came and passed urine there. "What is this O Lord?"

So moving through the street someone says, "What is this in your hand you old man? Just give it to me and let me see."

He does not give it so sometimes he takes it. Then, "Please give it, it is mine, life long association with sacred things, given by Gurudeva."

"Take it."

Then when he went to catch: then again taking it back, in this way. Someone says, "Oh sādhu where are you going?"

He says, “I am going there.”

“Oh, why, what for, what do you want?” In this way the men of the society began to disturb him in the most nasty way in different positions.

Then some said, when he wants to get something from his mouth, “Say why do you?” If he does not, “If he says no then we don’t believe it. Say something then also in turn pronounce some filthy thing.” If he does not speak anything, “Oh, he must be a thief or a dacoit, he does not speak anything. Let’s go, hurry up, bind him down.”

In this way, wherever he goes he is meeting this undesirable treatment from the society.

Then this came to him, “Why? I was such a wealthy man. I was in that position. I have lost everything and come to live a good life; still I am being treated so harshly, cruelly. Who is responsible for all this?”

Now that śloka: “Is it the stars, or the gods, or the Lord Himself?” So many alternatives they came into his mind then dismissed them, “No, this cannot be, this cannot be, this cannot be. My own karma is responsible for all these things.” Then with this, whatever, he comes he’s anyhow tolerating, with the spirit of toleration he began his singing about Kṛṣṇa, Mukunda.

So Kṛṣṇa Himself, and the result of the past activities have come to take, to realise their debt, so we must be very forbearing, forbearing. The past action, debt, should be cleared and you won’t hesitate, or won’t falter in any way. Nothing can check your progress towards the positive direction, with the help of the... If you wander alone, but it is very easy when you live in the association of the sādhus, and get some responsible services, then it becomes very easy. The bhajan becomes very easy when we live together with sādhus, in their company, by mutual help.

Like Napoleonic chair, do you know that Napoleonic chair? Once Napoleon in a battle was compelled to pass a chilly night, very cold night, in a marshy ground with his soldiers. They can't, there's no place to take any rest, to lie down, even to sit, all standing in a marshy land. Then he evolved a policy of taking rest, at least by sitting in a chair. How it is possible? There is nothing. So he asked his soldiers to stand in a circle, and asked them to take their seat in such a way that everyone will sit on the lap of another. One, he's sitting on the lap of another, and another one is sitting on his lap, in this way, in a circular way, everyone is sitting, he gets the lap of another. B sits on the lap of A, then C sits on the lap of B, D sits on the lap, in a circular way, then the last man also gives lap to the first, in this way.

And Washington also did one time. He was in a very cold night, in a play to pass, he and one of his friends perhaps. "I'm cold, chilly, I can't stand; so chilly, cold." Then that came that, "Let us wrestle against one another." So the whole night by wrestling the inner warmth came and they could stand that chill. Otherwise they would have to die.

So the company of the sādhu helps us in that way, mutual help we can get from one another and it becomes very easy to go on, on our journey. Many difficult solutions we get, problems are solved if we can keep the company of the sādhus, by mutual help. [?] filled by another gentleman, and he may have another [?] that may be applied by another. In any way that is the most comfortable journey if we go with company towards the help of Kṛṣṇa. So tridaṇḍī-bhikṣu pathana you have reminded me, generally, it is read from Bhāgavatam when such function occurs.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Then perhaps Venkatta is not coming perhaps due to some strike in the ferry ghat, or something. Or Satsvarūpa Mahārāja might have dissuaded him also: that also may be. But anyhow, through an independent boat from a little far off from the ferry ghat one may cross. Let us see. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. [?]

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes?

Devotee: This question of Hinduism and Muslim is coming up, so we're not Hindus but in some way we may speak on behalf of Hindus.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We are not Hindus in the general sense. We are Vaiṣṇava, we are kārṣṇa. The varṇāśrama that is a, that is step to Vaiṣṇava dharma, Vaiṣṇavism. And favourable step, it is utilised and we may begin from varṇāśrama dharma but we are to leave that when we enter the domain of nirguṇa. Varṇāśrama is concerned with sattya-guṇa, up to sattya-guṇa, and then, even we are to leave varṇāśrama when we enter into nirguṇa, Vaiṣṇavism proper.

Karma - our activities, the yoga - our attention, and the jñāna - our acquisition: when they leave their own colour and surrenders into complete dedicated life, then it becomes Vaiṣṇavism. They have to leave their past steps. Karma, if all the karma is done only for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa then it is well and good, it is Vaiṣṇavism. And the jñāna when it ceases all its enquiry surrendering to the sweet will of Kṛṣṇa, then it is Vaiṣṇavism, they enter the realm of Vaiṣṇavism. And yoga, the attention, the direction of our energy, internal, fine, subtle energy, when it stops seeking any other achievement but concentrate wholly for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, then it comes, enters the area of Vaiṣṇavism, leaving: bhakti-mukha-nirīkṣaka karma-yoga-jñāna. The karma and the jñāna and the yoga, they cannot give their promised result without the help of bhakti, without the support of the wave of the universal wave or force.

If God withdraws all His energy from them, to support them, they're nowhere. But they can give their – just as so many companies, independent companies there may be, insurance company, and this banking company, but if government does not withdraw it from them they can work. But if the government withdraws they cannot exist. But they can thrive, they can work well at the supposed backing of the government, at the passive support of the government. Government withdrawn they are nowhere. So the power, the potency of Kṛṣṇa, the sympathy withdrawn, the karma, yoga, jñāna nowhere. But the supposed support of the, on the basis of the supposed support of the government, of Kṛṣṇa's will, they can work on independently, give their own. So karma,

[kṛṣṇa-bhakti haya abhidheya-pradhāna,] bhakti-mukha-nirīkṣaka karma-yoga-jñāna

["Devotional service to Kṛṣṇa is the chief function of the living entity. There are different methods for the liberation of the conditioned soul – karma, jñāna, yoga and bhakti – but all are dependent on bhakti."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.17]

In caritāmṛta, they are always looking at the face of bhakti, the service to Kṛṣṇa. ei saba sādhanera ati tuccha bala, [kṛṣṇa-bhakti vinā tāhā dite nāre phala]

["But for devotional service, all other methods for spiritual self-realization are weak and insignificant. Unless one comes to the devotional service of Lord Kṛṣṇa, jñāna and yoga cannot give the desired results."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.18]

What they give, that is very negligible thing. Bhakti, the service, she does not depend on anything else. She can go independently, from any point. From any point of our life, only with the connection of a bona fide agent we can link with bhakti and we can go on independently without taking any help from the energy, from the fine attention, and our inquisitive spirit. Everything may be rejected, and only through service, through a sādhu, one can go on safely towards Vaiṣṇava. So the varṇāśrama generally, the sanātana dharma means the varṇāśrama, brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra. That brāhmaṇa, the highest section, their qualification is this that they seek something which is not mundane, which is conscious, but not having any clear conception of the conscious world: some vague conception of the spiritual world. Not very clear, so:

brāhmaṇānāṁ sahasrebhyaḥ satra-yājī viśiṣyate satra-yājī-sahasrebhyaḥ [sarvva-vedānta-pāragāḥ sarvva-vedānta-vit-koṭi yā viṣṇubhakto viśiṣyate
vaiṣṇavānāṁ sahasrebhyaḥ ekāntyeko viśiṣyate]

Satra-yājī means who is engaged in sacrifice which is meant, the model, the typical, that everything should be done to satisfy Him, the central truth, Kṛṣṇa. Satra-yājī-sahasrebhyaḥ sarvva-vedānta-pāragāḥ. Then it may come to the stage of an enquirer, vaidantic, who loves to deal with consciousness, fine things, vedānta-pāragāḥ. Sarvva-vedānta-vit-koṭi yā viṣṇubhakto viśiṣyate. There the yogī and the jñānī they are stayed there, like karmī they’re not dealing with gross things but they’re dealing with – they’re busy in their dealing with the very subtle things of consciousness. But mere consciousness does not mean God consciousness, the consciousness of the self, consciousness of the cause of this material world, so many things. So brāhmaṇas who are the head of the varṇāśrama dharma they’re more addicted than matter to spirit. But they have not got the real and cosmic idea in the complete idea of the spiritual world, purely spiritual world, not of Vaikuṇṭha, nor of Goloka. So the Vaiṣṇava, bahūnām janmanām ante, jñānavān mām prapadyate [vāsudevah sarvam iti, sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ]

[“After many, many births and deaths, one who is actually in knowledge surrenders unto Me, knowing Me to be the cause of all causes and all that is. Such a great soul is very rare.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.19]

When the jñānī surrenders to the feet of Vāsudeva then he becomes a Vaiṣṇava. Vaiṣṇava is there. And when karmī, yajñārthāt karmaṇo 'nyatra, loko 'yaṁ karma-bandhanaḥ [tad-artham karma kaunteya, mukta-saṅgaḥ samācara]

[“Selfless duty performed as an offering to the Supreme Lord is called yajña, or sacrifice. O Arjuna, all action performed for any other purpose is the cause of bondage in this world of repeated birth and death.
Therefore, remaining unattached to the fruits of action, perform all your duties in the spirit of such sacrifice. Such action is the means of entering the path of devotion, and with the awakening of true perception of the Lord, it will enable you to attain to pure, unalloyed devotion, free from all material qualities (nirguṇa-bhakti).”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.9]

He can come to understand that any work which is not for Viṣṇu that will bind me with the matter, reaction, then he comes to be Vaiṣṇava. And the yogīs, yoginām api sarveṣāṁ, mad-gatenāntarātmā śraddhāvān bhajate yo

mām, sa me yuktatamo mataḥ

[“In My opinion, of all types of yogīs, the most elevated of all is he who surrenders his heart to Me and serves Me in devotion with sincere, internal faith.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.47]

He’s following so many mystic practices in body or mind and trying to raise his consciousness into higher, subtle sphere of the world. But when leaving all those things he comes to make contact with the devotee and begins his bhajan then he’s all right. He becomes Vaiṣṇava.

So varṇāśrama has been accepted as so many steps; that śūdra mentality, vaiśya mentality, kṣatriya mentality, and brāhmaṇa mentality, then Vaiṣṇava mentality. When they accept Vaiṣṇava mentality, Viṣṇu is all in all, and we are only, our real position is that of a servant of Him, and he begins that life, dismissing all his ambitions in this mundane world whether gross or subtle, then he becomes Vaiṣṇava.

The Vaiṣṇava, as they will preach Hinduism, to certain, getting the centre, the centre is Kṛṣṇa. And for that you couch in this way. You may earn money, but spend at least a greater portion for the service of Kṛṣṇa, for the propaganda of His name, be a vaiśya. The kṣatriya you organise the force and try to help the Vaiṣṇavism, the service of Kṛṣṇa. And with the recognition you as vaiśya, the organising capacity, the fighting capacity, that will be utilised for them, fully accepted, whoever you are. And the brāhmaṇas you explain the Vedic scriptures and Purāṇa etc, but connect you with that Kṛṣṇa is all in all. No other gods are equal or more than Him. So in that way you connect, so we shall accept you. And the śūdra, you can give some, devote some energy, so try to utilise your energy for the service of Kṛṣṇa. Then we shall have some relation with you. Anyone you be, if you come to utilise yourself in the service of Kṛṣṇa we are in your favour. We have got recognition for you. [?]

But you do not connect with the service of Kṛṣṇa then doing your own respective duty you will have to be the prey of that reaction that is to go down. Up and down, up and down. This vicious circle you can't get out of. Only with the connection of Kṛṣṇa the autocrat, the great repository of love and beauty, connect with Him, you are saved. Otherwise in whatever position you are, if you're apathetic to that you are doomed. That is our position. The Kṛṣṇa conception that is the real purpose of the varṇāśrama but they cannot ascertain that, mostly, and they wander up and down. That is our creed. That is nirguṇa and this is all saguṇa, going up and down.

punar janma na vidyate

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: So on the other side, you've just explained how to bring the Hindus to the highest goal, to Kṛṣṇa, but the Muslims also, we want to bring them also, yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is very difficult for them. They have got some opposite saṁskāra. So that sort of habit – habit is the second nature, to give up ones habit is not very easy. Theoretically one may say anything and everything, but practically to come to the standard it is difficult for them, to get out of their false creed and to accept totally in heart, mind and deed, it is very difficult. But if it is so we must accept him.

Haridāsa Ṭhākura he was not only accepted amongst the Vaiṣṇavas, the brāhmaṇas also took the water of his feet when he disappeared, we find from Caitanya-caritāmṛta. But Haridāsa Ṭhākura in his turn, “No, no, I’m fit to sit, take prasādam along with the Vaiṣṇava. No, no, I do not venture. I have not come to such a standard.”

Sanātana Goswāmī though he came from a brāhmaṇa...

81.11.29.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...some differences within the relatives, they left their place and came to live to Purī Jagannātha. And from there came to live near Ganges, Naihati [?]. And from there they are taken by some zamīndār to Yasor [?] district. Then by chance the bursar [?] the king of Bengal, his capitol was near Mouter [?] Gaur [?] he got they are born of royal family and extremely intelligent and also good organiser.

So anyhow he took them and appointed Sanātana Goswāmī as Prime Minister, Chief Minister, and Rūpa Goswāmī as his Secretary, and left all the responsibility for the state, left on them, and he used to make merry, in this way.

But that Sanātana Goswāmī when – he was very scholarly and a devotee from previous life. So after managing the state he got sufficient time and he used to read Bhāgavatam and the Mahābhārata, all the scriptures, Purāṇas. And he found that the Yuga-Avatāra of Kali He must have come now. It is already high time. He must have come down, the Yuga-Avatāra. Where He will come? He's watching, and he's, the sign there must be that He'll begin Hari kīrtana, Kṛṣṇa kīrtana, in a very vigorous and very spacious and comprehensive way. Then he marked that in Navadvīpa that the genius Nīlāi Paṇḍita, He has begun this kīrtana, Hari kīrtana, which is the Yuga-Dharma of Kali. Then he began to correspond with Nīlāi Paṇḍita.

"That we are so wretched. I knew from the śāstra that You have come to save the world in Kali as it is promised in śāstra. I think You are that person. You are not human being. We are so wretched, we are engaged in this diplomatic life. How we can be saved from this?"

Mahāprabhu from Navadvīpa anyhow replied.

para-vyasaninī nārī, vyagrāpi gr̥ha-karmmasu / tad evāsvādayaty antar, nava-saṅga-rasāyanam ["A married lady who has love and affection for another gentleman may be seen to be always engaged in her household activities but her heart always realises, or tastes, the company of that person whom she loves. Though outwardly she is seen to be very busy with household work, at heart she's always enjoying the company of her beloved. Similarly, outwardly you may be captured and may be seen to be busy in the association of the government's activities, but your heart is not there. It is searching something, and it is receiving the benefit of the association of that inner substance."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 1.211]

"You need not be afraid of your life. Just as," He gave an example, "Just as a woman who has got a lover other than husband, she maybe busy in the household affairs, but still, she at her heart enjoys the company in her memory with that lover. So you, externally you're very busy with political activities, but at heart you are, you're heart is given to this Kṛṣṇa consciousness, so you don't be afraid of your future life."

Then again after sannyāsa Mahāprabhu came after five years of tour from south India once more to Navadvīpa, and on His way to Vṛndāvana He met Sanātana and Rūpa there in Marga [?] And after having a discussion with Mahāprabhu he was prepared to leave their service and to join Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu asked them to go to Vṛndāvana and to do such duties according to His plan, and they did so. And when Sanātana Goswāmī came to Purī he lived with Haridāsa Ṭhākura because they're mixing with the Mohammedan king, their habits, almost external habits are like that of Muslims. That sort of beard, like [?] he had, and also the dress like the bursar [?] in this way, and very close connection with them. So general brāhmaṇas and Hindus they took them, they are already foreigners but Bengal brāhmaṇas, so they're almost Muslims. So when Sanātana Goswāmī went to Purī, he used to keep up with Haridāsa Ṭhākura. He did not join Mahāprabhu's party in that house, in that temple, that which is known as, where Mahāprabhu stayed?

Devotee: Gambhīrā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gambhīrā. He did not come there but he used to live with Haridāsa Ṭhākura who was a Mohammedan. And when Mahāprabhu went to take His bath in the sea, He, usually, daily, met Sanātana or Rūpa whoever they come in Haridāsa Ṭhākura's āśrama when He was going to take His bath and stopped there for some time and had a talk, discussion, everything. And after taking bath He came to live in this Gambhīrā, Rādhā-Kantha Maṭha.

One day when Mahāprabhu was staying in, when He was invited to take prasādam in Gadādhara Paṇḍit's āśrama, there is Tota-Gopīnātha, where Paṇḍita Gadādhara he used to live there and had his Gopīnātha he used worship. And Mahāprabhu was invited and went and anyhow He had a mind to call Sanātana there, perhaps some prasāda or not. Then Sanātana Goswāmī, it was noon time and the sun is burning over the head and Sanātana came by the way, the sea beach way, and his foot, the sole, that was burned, half burned. So many boils also came out.

Devotee: Blisters.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Blisters came out. Then Mahāprabhu marked, “By what way did you come here, which way?”

“I came by the seaside.”

“Seaside? The sands are hot like anything, you have come, you must have pain in your soles.”

“No, no, I do not feel much pain. You have called me so fortune I have got I have run.” “Why do you, leaving, you did not come through the ordinary road?”

“I can’t venture to come through that road because so many servitors of the temple they’re coming and going by that road, and if in any way they feel any disturbance by my stature, presence, or anything, so I avoid that.”

“Yes, you are right. You have come to teach the standard of a Vaiṣṇava feeling, Vaiṣṇava behaviour. Not to interfere anyone in his own jurisdiction of faith, faith, but to be no cause of any disturbance to anyone outside, but to go on with his own bhajan, own service. Not interfering the circumstance, disturbing the environment.” So Mahāprabhu told... in way of appreciation He told like that. And Rūpa Goswāmī, and that was appreciated.

But when Haridāsa Ṭhākura on the other side passed away, Mahāprabhu took him on His breast and began to dance and He showed so much honour to Haridāsa Ṭhākura. And Himself took to, by the kīrtana procession, to the samādhi and He Himself threw the sand on the samādhi. And then seeing His grace towards Haridāsa Ṭhākura to such a degree, so many brāhmaṇas they also came and took water from the touch of Haridāsa Ṭhākura’s feet and drank it. Pādodaka, haridāsera pādodaka piye bhakta-gaṇa.

[haridāsera pādodaka piye bhakta-gaṇa, haridāsera aṅge dilā prasāda-candana]

[“Everyone drank the water that had touched the lotus feet of Haridāsa Ṭhākura, and then they smeared remnants of Lord Jagannātha’s sandalwood pulp over Haridāsa Ṭhākura’s body.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 11.65]

And with most honour Haridāsa Ṭhākura was buried there on the sea shore. And some Tulasī was planted, and then circumambulation with Kṛṣṇa Nāma, and then after showing their highest honour to Haridāsa they came back.

So, though Haridāsa Ṭhākura and Sanātana, it is their beauty that they do not approach in a rash way to disturb the society. But Mahāprabhu and the Vaiṣṇava’s showed their special respect for them. They did not shrink away to show honour to a Vaiṣṇava.

And Haridāsa Ṭhākura also live on the other side of the Ganges near Śāntipura. There is a place where he engaged himself in bhajan and that was very near to Advaita Ācārya. Advaita Ācārya was the leader paṇḍita of the society at that time, and he usually came to him and sometimes he gave some prasādam in his own compound. In this way they dealt.

And Haridāsa Ṭhākura was called for explanation from the local administration, the Kāzī from Kalna, “That you have got birth very fortunately in the Muslim section. Why do you mix with the kaphes [?] the biharme [?] who was non-believer? Why do you mix and worshippers of so many idols? Why do you mix and you insult our Muslim society by mixing so closely with the Hindus. So you must be punished.”

And Haridāsa Ṭhākura was punished by whipping in 14 [21?] markets showing the public that, “Because he associates very closely with the Hindus, they who are non-believers in Islam, being a Mohammedan he does such an offence, so he’s being punished with whipping.”

In one or two market whippings everyone dies, but Haridāsa Ṭhākura after being whipped in 14 [21?] markets he did not feel any physical disturbance. Then he thought, “If I do not die then these punishment dealers, the whippers, they will be tried and they will be punished.” Then he posed in such a way that as he has, he’s dead.

And then information went to the Kāzī, and he told, “O, all right, that man he was a traitor so his future should not be honoured, not be buried, but throw him on the water of the Ganges.” And that was done.

And Haridāsa Ṭhākura after swimming he crossed the Ganges and went on regardless. And then, when this information came to Kāzī then he was aloof, “That cannot be, we can’t do any harm to him, he has acquired some psychic power or so.” He neglected.

Such things happened in that age of Mahāprabhu. They are not very aggressors but other parties gave them their earnest respect. In that way it was adjusted. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. What’s the time?

Devotee: Ten to ten.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ten to ten. So tridaṇḍī upāsanā is finished from Bhāgavatam and Caitanya-caritāmṛta. Anyhow, only the one thing - whatever you do, do it for Kṛṣṇa and kārṣṇa. Engage yourself wholesale for the service of the central good. That is the one.

yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat / yat tapasyasi kaunteya, tat kuruṣva mad arpaṇam [“O son of Kuntī, whatever you do, whatever you eat, whatever you offer in sacrifice, whatever you offer in charity, and whatever austere vows you may keep - do everything as an offering unto Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.27]

sarva-dharmān parityajya, [mām ekaṁ śaraṇam vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

[“Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

“I am everything. What more I shall say to you Arjuna? You are My friend. I won’t deceive you. I am all in all. If you do for Me your future will be the most successful one. In a nutshell this is this fact. You do that. Now, everything is told to you. Consider, and within yourself discriminate, and then do what you like to do. I am not going to interfere with your freedom. But things are such and I have kept it before you for your own free decision, free choice. That’s the gist of all the śāstra. I am raso vai saḥ, akhila rasāmṛta murtiḥ, the personification of all the desirable and differentiated ecstasy.”

That is preaching, the harmony of all the good things is represented there. And we want, fortunately we have got a liking for the same and we want to make our journey, to begin our journey towards that direction. And with His blessings and with blessings of the Guru and the Vaiṣṇava our journey may be fruitful without any hindrance. With this prayer we close today our sitting. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Jaya Om Viṣṇu-Pāda...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is Veda, to understand the Veda, leading to oneness and not to bifurcate and not many branches. The Veda is given many branches; you can accept any one of them; that is not the meaning of the Veda. It is ekaiana leading towards one. Mood of Veda skanda. Veda is a skanda and its branch is only one. Then, finished?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: That's finished. This one devotee here Mahārāja that you have never met before, Citraketu, he is from England.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When have you come from England?
Citraketu: I came from England about two years ago.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Two years ago, and where are you living?
Citraketu: I am staying in Chandrodaya Mandhir.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, you are continuously living in Māyāpur, but you did not come to visit here?

Citraketu: I haven't yet, no. This is my first time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are engaged in, what service?

Citraketu: I am on the staff of the samādhi, building Prabhupāda's samādhi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Samādhi construction, under?

Citraketu: Surabhi Swāmī is the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Surabhi, he's a new man, hmm?

Citraketu: Surabhi Abhipālayantam Mahārāja.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: He's the architect Mahārāja. He's the architect for the samādhi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. But Surabhi...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Surabhi Abhipālayantam Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Surabhi Abhipālayantam Swāmī. And he's disciple of?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja, complete?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But I did not hear his name. That was under Satya....

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Satya-Nārāyaṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Satya-Nārāyaṇa, they're the engineers there I heard. All right.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He's the architect.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's the architect, well and good. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

How do you feel at present, inner encouragement that you are going, doing the most, you are in connection with the highest conception of reality? It is satisfying your heart. Your engagement is very tasteful? Heart is being satisfied by the duty you discharge? It should be like that. Heart's inner satisfaction you must feel, that you are engaged in a very holy and divine duty. You try with this attitude to approach your duty. This is in the way of the highest fulfilment of my life, where I am engaged, fortunately. Generally we are engaged in the worldly affairs for fleeting sense pleasure. But the divinity has attracted me, far from my country here and He has given me the chance to approach beyond the space and time to my highest goal. So that devotee, divine pure devotee has devotion, duty, fortunately you have got. Thank your stars. Hare Kṛṣṇa. But you, you should thank your stars, that is my meaning, that you have come from far away to such a type of divinity. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Hṛdayenābhyanujñāto [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]. Must have approval from the inner heart that I am doing the right thing. So many things to engage ourselves attracting us from all sides, but we must concentrate in the service which is given to us by the higher realized souls. Self abnegation in the negative side, and positive participation in the highest service of the highest conception of divinity. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Striadish, here.

Devotee: Mahārāja, there are also two other devotees from Māyāpur, Vidagdha and Satyavak Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vidagdha is old friend I have seen many times, but I cannot see the face, I am devoid of sight, eyesight. And you are Parisevāna?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Parisevāna, Parisevāna, Harisevāna. Parisevāna means Harisevāna. Parisevāna. Pariniṣṭhita. Pari means samyak, fully, parito sarvata vyapi, most extensive. Wherever we cast our glance we see the same thing, pari vyapi, samyak. Pariniṣṭhito 'pi nairguṇye, pari means also deeply, very firmly.

pariniṣṭhito 'pi nairguṇye, uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā / gṛhīta-cetā rājarṣe, ākhyānaṁ yad adhītavān

Pariniṣṭhito 'pi nairguṇye. “Though it is well known to all that I am firmly settled only in the Brahman conception and no mundane conception can enter into my mind, in any time, in any way. It is well known fact, and perhaps it should be admitted by all the stalwarts present here. But that I took the chance of studying this sort of variety, plurality, diversity, coming to oneness, after entering into oneness of all consciousness, all conscious, one. Not many, no diversity. In this stage I am firmly established. Still I have come, I have come to try with highest regard to study the diversity which already left in the mundane world, same diversity, same polarity.

What's the explanation from me, these gentleman, these scholars can expect?

Uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā. Uttamaḥ [?] I have come in touch of such plurality or diversity which can, which is able to dispel all sorts of nescience, tamō, ignorance, darkness. This, though variety, but here they are common, that they can dispel the darkness, the ignorance. Uttamaḥ-śloka. And those that are devoid of that ignorance fully, it is best of that.

Uttamaḥ _____

[?] And then _____

[?] Superlative degree. It is the highest type, holds highest quality of dispelling darkness or ignorance. I found it. I had my direct experience that Kṛṣṇa līlā though full of, apparently it is many, many things - His devotees, His Dhāma, His paraphernalia, so many things, His friends, His exploitation, so many kinds of things. But here it is common that everything is – He can dispel the darkness, uttamaḥ-śloka, and His play, very, very efficient to dispel darkness of different types. Uttamaḥ-śloka.

Grhīta-cetā. And so I have come to be a slave of such līlā. I am the witness myself. That Kṛṣṇa līlā, though it seems apparently to be of mundane character, but in reality it is just the opposite, because it can dispel the darkness of different kinds, and it discloses itself with proof, coexisting with it. It is very palatable and also dispels ignorance. Avidya, ajñāna, it can do away with, and very pleasing at the same time. Very pleasing, very ecstatic, so more knowledge, more accurate knowledge, and also ecstasy, anāndam, cit anāndam. Cit anāndam, inner satisfaction along with dispelling of darkness, or ignorance. These two things I have got from this Kṛṣṇa līlā.

So the general surface I have left and I am going up in the domain by discovering new things every moment, a progressing life I have got coming in touch. So this mundane world is to be compared with a reflection and perverted. And the original world is also of that model, but this is mundane, it is perverted, and that is original. So, what we find here, all is there in a very excellent condition, and here it is all in a nasty condition. But the model, ideal of everything that we find here in the shadow, that is already in the substance. And the highest plane of knowledge is not a non-differentiated or non-specified plane.

pariniṣṭhito 'pi nairguṇye, uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā / grhīta-cetā rājarṣe,
ākhyānam yad adhītavān

And now today in this meeting of the scholars I shall try to inaugurate that, what I got from my reverend, revered father. Mahā-pauruṣiko bhavān [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.10] Ordinary people they cannot hope to be a student of such teachings. I consider you are a bona fide student to receive this sort of learning, education, study. So I like to deliver that great thing to you, great thing. Mahā-pauruṣiko bhavān. You do not aspire after ordinary things. You want something great. It seems to me that you want something great, not ordinary thing. Mahā-pauruṣiko. Puruṣārtha – dharma, artha, kāma, mokṣa, these are ordinary puruṣārtha, aims of life, ideals of life. But I shall inaugurate here today beyond puruṣārtha, the object of life which is not under the limitation of these old stereotyped things. Tad ahaṁ te 'bhidyāsyāmi, mahā-pauruṣiko bhavān. Adhītavān dvāparādaḥ, pitur dvaipāyanād aham [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.8] That great knowledge I got from my divine father. I shall deal with that today in this assembly of scholars to you.”

Before that, there was a difference of opinion amongst the scholars when Mahārāja Parīkṣit told, “Only seven days I am to live and how I can utilize the few days that I can attain my best fortune?”

Then there were yogīs, there were jñānīs, there were karmīs, they came with their own program there. “Mahārāja you can take this.” Some say dyana, some say tapa, some say yoga, all these things.”

Then Mahārāja told, “Only a few days in my hand and if all of you differ in your opinion to recommend me how I shall use these few days, then what can I do? Please be unanimous. Consult among yourselves and give some unanimous verdict and I shall do that.”

Just at that time Śukadeva appeared, and all unconsciously stood up, giving respect to that young man of sixteen, when he appeared suddenly. Such was the commanding presence of that boy, that young man of sixteen. And unanimously they told that, “You are greatly fortunate and we are also fortunate that this young man has come, about whom we hear so many stories but we couldn’t see him, but we’d like to see him. But anyhow today fortunately the day has come. And all of us want to hear something from his lips. Whatever he will say we also will hear along with you.”

So Mahārāja Parīkṣit took him and put him in a respectful way in the presidential chair, Śukadeva, the delivery manca [?], the platform where from Śukadeva began to talk. Parīkṣit Mahārāja he's putting questions and he's giving answers. In this way seven days the whole Bhāgavata came with the highest idea of our fate, how high our fortune may go up; how, to what height our fortune may lead us. That was given there.

Vyāsadeva, already in Mahābhārata and other Purāṇa, there is no thought which has not been dealt with there. So far in the world no such thought can be traced out what is not dealt out by Vyāsadeva. All possible thoughts of all different position has been dealt out. And lastly he gave this thought that Kṛṣṇa consciousness is the crown of all the thoughts. Embracing all and also superseding all. That has been given by him, whoever he may be. And is cleverly delivered by Śukadeva Goswāmī, couched in scholarship also, there's no poverty in scholarship in Bhāgavatam. But something more, above scholarship, something more has been given there.

So these are the salient points which that even Śaṅkara – these are the most important points if you can understand, then we can easily enter into the domain of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism. What does Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism mean? The salient points, we must be very particular to know and understand, to inquire and understand these ten points.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura also has given Daśa-Mūla. In Nimbarka sampradāya there is Daśa-Mūla, the ten points, the important ten points in Nimbarka. And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura also has given Daśa-Mūla, and beginning with:

āmnāyaḥ prāha tattvaṁ harim iha paramaṁ sarva-śaktim rasābdhiṁ tad bhinnāśmāś ca jīvān prakṛti-kavalitān tad vimuktāś ca bhāvat bhedābheda-prakāśaṁ sakalam api hareḥ sādhanam śuddha-bhaktiṁ sādhyam tat prītim evety upadiśati harir-gauracandro bhaje tam

[(1) - The Vedic scriptures received through the authorised disciplic succession of bona fide spiritual masters state that: (2) - Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the Supreme Absolute Truth. (3) - He is the source of all energies. (4) - He is the ocean of all transcendental mellows. (5) - The living entities are His separated parts and parcels. (6) - Due to forgetfulness of their constitutional position, the living entities are illusioned. (7) - By awakening their transcendental ecstatic affection and attraction for the Lord, all living souls can be liberated from illusion. (8) - All things are one with and different from Kṛṣṇa; this oneness and difference is acintya or inconceivable. (9) - Pure devotional service (śuddha-bhakti) is the only means to attain the supreme goal. (10) - The supreme goal is divine love of Kṛṣṇa.] [Daśa-mūla śloka, The ten essential principles of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism]

The summary, this śloka is the summary of all the points we are to know in Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism, and then also other nine perhaps elucidating the ten points one by one, one by one. The ten points are mentioned in the first śloka and other śloka he explains the ten points one by one. And Prabhupāda also has given here – that is ten or twelve, what is the number?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: In this particular [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Ten points or twelve points?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. The number one...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no. How many, ten? The number: total number?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Twelve.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Twelve. So if we can understand these twelve points then we can easily understand the whole of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. In different ways! Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. What is the time?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the ten points in the Nimbarka sampradāya coincide to Bhaktivinoda's ten points or are they different?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Somewhat different, there should be. Daśa-mūla.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is that?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Acar. Two types of bhakti, śuddha bhakti and then viddha. So viddha is not English, could be expressed in different ways.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viddha means that mixed, contaminated. Śuddha bhakti, that pure devotion, an alloyed devotion, not unalloyed, there may be mixed with karma, jñāna, yoga, etc, they are alloy, and fleeting desires, anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, mixed, alloyed; alloyed and unalloyed, śuddha and viddha. Viddha means alloyed. And unalloyed devotion that is śuddha. And what is the opposite of bhakti? Anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna. Ādi means yoga, śaithilya, etc. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Then he's talking about the āśraya and visaya vigraha and it compares Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Āśraya means the negative side, the potency. And visaya means Kṛṣṇa in His different expression. Īśā tattva, Kṛṣṇa, Bhāgavat tattva and Bhāgavat śakti tattva. Śakti tattva is āśraya, potency. Up to Rādhārāṇī, Yaśodā, Nanda, all these, Predominated Moiety, that is āśraya. And Predominating Moiety, positive that is visaya. Visaya Kṛṣṇa, Nārāyaṇa, Rāma, Baladeva, all these are all visaya tattva, enjoyer class. And the enjoyed, that is the āśraya tattva, the potency. Potency and the possessor of potency!

Bhāratī Mahārāja: And Gaura-Gadādhara?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gadādhara is āśraya and Gaura He is visaya. But visaya has taken the mood, the nature of āśraya. That is Gaura, both combined. Reality, Kṛṣṇa when He has got, He has taken the posing of Rādhikā, that is Gaura. And the inaugurator of Nāma-saṅkīrtana, Gaura Nārāyaṇa, He is visaya, Avatāra. And Gaurāṅga, both Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa combined, really He is Kṛṣṇa but in the mood of Rādhikā. He has accepted the nature of Rādhikā. Kṛṣṇa when He's searching after Himself, trying to taste what sort of ecstasy is in Him, self-searching. Self-searching Kṛṣṇa is Gaurāṅga. What sort of ecstasy there can be within Him, self introspection, self-searcher, searching, trying to understand Himself, His own wealth. Taking the mood of His devotee, that is Gaurāṅga. Svabhajana, vibhajana, and also distributing it to others; making inquiry to Himself and what He gets He distributes to others.

Sva-bhajana vibhajana prayojana avatārī. What is sva-bhajana? How He should be, how He can satisfy Himself, to search that, and to give that clue to the public. That is Gaurāṅga. When Kṛṣṇa is searching what is the peculiarity in Him, searching, and what He gets He distributes to others. Sva-bhajana vibhajana, dividing, His own bhajan, how He should be worshipped, how He should be served. When He enquires and He gives it out to the public, that is Gaurāṅga, when He's distributing Himself to the public. That is Gaurāṅga, sva-bhajana, how He should be served. Serving Himself He's showing to the public that how He should be served. And for that He had to take the mood of Rādhārāṇī, to search Himself. What is there? Why should others come to Him, what is He? And then He Himself giving to others, Kṛṣṇa is Guru. When Kṛṣṇa Himself is Guru then He's Gaurāṅga.

guru-rūpa-hariṁ gauram, rādhā-ruci-rucāvṛtam nityam naumi navadvīpe, ["Perpetually do I sing the glories of Lord Gaurāṅga, who is the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Śrī Hari, embraced by the heart and halo of Śrīmatī Rādhikā, and who has descended as the Divine Master. In this holy abode of Śrī Navadvīpa Dhāma, He is absorbed in the pastimes of profusely chanting the Holy Names, dancing in ecstasy."] [Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, p 2-3]

Guru-rūpa-hariṁ.

gaura-vāg-vigrahaṁ vande, gaurāṅgaṁ gaura-vaibhavam

gaura-saṅkīrttanonmattaṁ, gaura-kāruṇya-sundaram

Gaurahari; who is always intoxicated by preaching the message of that Golden Lord; and whose divine beauty blooms in the revelation of Lord Gaurāṅga's mercy potency.”] [Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, p 2]

Guru-rūpa-hariṁ. When Kṛṣṇa Himself is Guru, He is Gaura. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?] Pūrva-rāga, māna, prema-vaicittya, prabāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Union in separation.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, a type of vipralambha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vipralambha, the four kinds of main separation. Amongst the friends when there is separation that may be classified into four points.

Pūrva-rāga. Before meeting, both the parties, not actual meeting but anyhow come in some remote connection, either the name, or the portrait, something. First saw the name, or the tone of the flute. Not seen actually, no practical union, real meeting, but have some connection, either the sound of the flute, or a picture, or the Name itself, Kṛṣṇa Nāma. And Kṛṣṇa heard of Rādhā Nāma. In this way but not actual meeting took place so long, and there is separation, pang of separation. The Name is so sweet He can't contain Himself or Herself. Rādhārāṇī when Kṛṣṇa Nāma entered Her ear, She was perturbed, “So sweet a Name is possible in the world.” Her reaction and some pain there also. “I can't meet. So sweet a Name, Who possesses such a sweet Name, Whose playing of the flute is so sweet sound, I can't meet Him.” A pang of separation: that is pūrva-rāga. Pūrva-rāga, that is also separation, before meeting, pūrva-rāga.

Then next, māna, māna means after meeting when there is some difference between Them, in trifle matters, but it actually comes to happen. This is the very nature of love. Rūpa Goswāmī says:

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet [ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

Just as a serpent goes by this curved way, not straight, it is his nature to go in that way. It is not a diseased going, when serpent going it is nature that he will go in this. So, Rūpa Goswāmī says, “Just like that, the progress, the path of love is also like that.” Ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati. So sometimes with some trifle cause or sometimes with no cause such feelings must come. Nothing, “No He’s neglecting Me. He wants to avoid Me,” some sort of sentiment comes. “And thereby I don’t like Your company.” Of course the cent percent liking and cent percent aspiration is there, but still for the time being some such opposite sentiments spring up from the underground. And for the time being some sort of clash in the sentiment and one avoids the company of the other. “I don’t like it.” That is māna.

Then prema-vaicittya. Jealousy rises to such a degree that They are already together, but still some sort of thought comes within and makes Them to think that it is far away. One occasion the example is given. Rādhārāṇī, this is all in the mādhyura rasa, not in other rasas. When Rādhārāṇī is standing by Kṛṣṇa Her shadow is reflected on the body of Kṛṣṇa, but anyhow the Yogamāyā has managed to rise in Her mind that, “Oh, another lady is closely fixed in His body.” The jealousy sprung in such a way that, “What is this? Another lady is within Him? How it can be tolerated?” So Her mind revolts. Then Lalitā Devī perhaps was there, some sakhī, she anyhow pushed Her. “What do You do? It is Your own reflection there.” Then She again came to senses. “Oh!” Then She particularly noticed and found, “Oh, it is My shadow, My shadow.” Then immediately gone. This is something like prema-vaicittya. The example is given like that.

And prabāsa: of course when, by circumstances it is arranged that One leaves the Other, that Kṛṣṇa went to Mathurā to attend other duties. And They were apparently neglected. And that is prabāsa. If it is for some limited time, that is sudur [?] prabāsa and other prabāsa something, two types of prabāsa. prabāsa pracrista [?], when one has left the country and gone to far off place, then the separation, that is prabāsa.

So four types of separation pangs between the lover and beloved: the pangs of separation.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. This is all of a very high type. We should not indulge in these topics carelessly. That will do some harm in our real realization in future, because the mundane characteristic is possible to be carried there. The mundane experience may try to take us down. With much caution. What we conceive, it is not in that plane. It is higher and higher plane. So we are not getting the real picture of things here, this is adulterated picture. It is alloyed picture of the conception of the original thing. We should take it in our mind. Not unalloyed conception of the thing. With this caution we are to deal with them.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I was told...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is this?

Devotee: This is Vidagdha Dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vidagdha-Mādhava, yes.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I was told that our Swāmī Mahārāja that he wrote one sannyāsa that the goal is to cultivate this feeling of separation from Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa. This feeling of separation is the mood, perhaps the goal of a Vaiṣṇava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To cultivate about sambhoga that is more dangerous, and the separation: that is little safe. To have separation, it is more safe to deal separation of the high type, but the union is very, very dangerous to deal with. That is the cause. We may participate to separation a little, though we should think that it is not of this plane. The pain of separation is not of this plane. But still the separation is less injurious. With caution we may talk little about that. But the sambhoga will be very, very dangerous. When Rādhā-Govinda, the sakhīs, They are combined and They are enjoying the company one another, that will be very, very dangerous to discuss, or to think, or to deal in any way from this mundane plane. A great offence it will create. That is the idea. So direct handling is more injurious. Indirect handling of separation as Mahāprabhu is showing, that is helpful to certain extent. Mahāprabhu, the devotees, they are showing so many pranks, can't tolerate the separation of Kṛṣṇa.

[kāhāṇ mora prāna nātha muralī-vadana] kāhāṇ karoṇ kāhāṇ pāṇ
vrajendra-nandana

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: “Where is My beloved Kṛṣṇa? I can’t tolerate His separation. Where is the Lord of My life, who is playing His flute? What shall I do now? Where should I go to find the son of Mahārāja Nanda?”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.15]

All these may help to certain extent to us. But we are not to imitate that. But as the highest ideal respectfully we are to look out. And that will help us to brush aside our anartha. How intense ones feeling of separation should be about Kṛṣṇa, and we don’t think, and if some tears come then we may not think that we have realized that stage. That sort of danger should be avoided.

na prema-gandho 'sti [darāpi me harau, krandāmi saubhāgya-bharaṁ

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: “My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya- līlā, 2.45] Mahāprabhu says that, “I have not a drop of divine love in Me otherwise how can I maintain My, this mundane life...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...keep us within the fold. But my next step what is here I must be particular to get up on the step, and then that step, that step, that will be more helpful, and this idea will be above to attract me.

Sometimes it may create hope in me and this also may excite some spirit, they'll say, “Oh, this is a fun. Caitanyadeva He's crying and He's doing this, just as a madman. Caitanyadeva was a madman.” So that can also excite, or may create offence to another also, but less offence. They say, “The model of Caitanya you accepted. What was His last days? He was always crying, and rubbing His face against the wall, and sometimes running to the sea. Is this your highest ideal of life? What is this? A ludicrous thing!”

So we must be in the proper channel, unalloyed devotion.

That Viskisan [?] told, “Yes, Caitanya was one of my devotees,” to Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura thought in his way, “This man should be removed very swiftly, quickly.” With such extensive prestige he says that Caitanya was his devotee.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Buddha suddhi. To keep up ones temperament in a normal position where he should be in his stage of realization. Nitāi Caitanya, this name will help, Nitāi Caitanya, set me right, set me right in my position. I am making too much advance, going beyond my jurisdiction. Please forgive and give me the proper adjustment; may not be maladjusted, by Your grace. But because I am requested to deal all these things and as much as possible keeping the respect of the thing I am trying to deal with intellectually, but keep me all right. Nitāi Caitanya. [nitāi-pada-kamala koṭi candra-suśītala, ye chāyāya jagat juḍāya

[“The lotus feet of Prabhu Nityānanda are most pleasing, like the combined calming radiance of millions of moons. By receiving the cooling shade of His transcendental shelter the whole universe, scorched by heat of material existence, can be fully relieved and soothed. O dear brothers, without the grace of such a magnanimous personality as Prabhu Nityānanda, it is very difficult to attain divine loving service to Śrī Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa in the groves of Vṛndāvana. Therefore firmly take shelter of His lotus feet with all sincere respect and love so you may reach that nectarine goal.”] [Manaḥ-śikṣā, from Prāthanā]

The foundation must be solid and proper. Then the structure should be erected. Otherwise whole thing will go down.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi.

Heno nitāi vine bhāi rādhā kṛṣṇa pāite nāi. The solid foundation we can get from Nityānanda. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

One day Nityānanda Prabhu came to Mahāprabhu's house in Māyāpur, naked, quite naked. And there was so many, even perhaps Śacī Devī, Viṣṇu Priya, they were also there and other devotees. Nityānanda came quite naked. Then Mahāprabhu managed to give some cloth. And perhaps if the devotees think in a lower way, have any misconception about Him, so He asked Nityānanda for His kaupīna.

“Śrīpāda, I want to have Your kaupīna.” And He tore it up and distributed amongst the householders that were present. “Keep a piece of His kaupīna in some [?] And you in your hair or in your hand you preserve it as an ornament. This [?] small like thing in which some medicine, some kavach is mentioned and with a thread it is put in the hand or sometimes it is kept in the hair. Please keep it with you. Then you will be able to have sense control very soon. Nityānanda has got such self control to such a degree. He does not know anything of this world. So He can come naked amongst the male and female. His vairāgya is such, indifference to the world, to the mundane transaction. He's so free from this mundane transaction, Nityānanda.”

So the grace of Nityānanda will construct the good foundation, His grace. This is all ekayana. Ekayana not bhodayana, not leading to many branches. Ekayana: that great, single, model, ideal. Most firm foundation His grace means. And then you may have any structure, it can be any weight. If you have faith in Nityānanda then that faith can bear any amount of weight, structure. It won't betray you, the foundation won't betray you. Nityānanda. So Swāmī Mahārāja laid stress in the devotion of Nityānanda amongst the westerners. Get His mercy, and then Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa afterwards. Mahāprabhu means Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa. First Nityānanda, and then Gaurāṅga, then Rādhā-Govinda, three stages, you are to raise yourself up.

Ke? Subal Sakha. [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who of you will stay here to take prasādam? He has come to inquire, whether you will take prasādam and go or before that you go? You consult and say. He has come to know.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. [?] Gaura Haribol. [?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Classical language you are acquainted with, and colloquial, he's expert in colloquial, and you are in classical.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, how does one attain the mercy of Lord Nityānanda?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nityānanda. Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Who finds more inclination to serve Gaurāṅga and His Dhāma and His servants, Nityānanda is very much kind to him who has got some tendency, special tendency to Gaura līlā. Nityānanda Prabhu He walked from door to door, “Take the Name of Gaurāṅga. I shall be your servant. You can purchase Me. Take the Name of Gaurāṅga. I’ll be sold to you without any price, any condition.” That was His temperament.

When Mahāprabhu sent Nityānanda, He was in Purī, sent Nityānanda, “Without You I don’t find anyone who can spread the Kṛṣṇa Nāma, Kṛṣṇa bhakti, who can spread because the Bengalis are very wicked in nature. They are more engaged in tantric and nyāya and smṛti. They are making too much of those trifle things, and puffed up, that they have finished everything, all knowledge. So that is a very hard field. And without You none will be able to awaken them, especially the masses. You separate from them, from the classes and approach the masses with Kṛṣṇa Nāma. And You are the fittest person.”

bhaja gaurāṅga, kaha gaurāṅga laha gauranger nāma, yei jana gaurāṅga bhaje sei amāra prāna.

Nityānanda Prabhu found it that,

‘kṛṣṇa-nāma’ kare aparādhera vicāra, [kṛṣṇa balile aparādhīra nā haya vikāra]

[There are offences to be considered while chanting the Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra. Therefore, simply by chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa, one does not become ecstatic.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 8.24]

There is some danger connected that Kṛṣṇa līlā is very akin to this mundane debauch, this thieving, this lying, and all these things, very akin to a degraded soul. And Kṛṣṇa is of a reserved nature. It is very difficult to understand the purity of Kṛṣṇa līlā for the masses. The mass mind cannot approach Kṛṣṇa līlā as the highest attainment. So it will be difficult to preach. But Gaurāṅga līlā, when Kṛṣṇa has come to distribute to the public, with such capital in His mind of going, so, to submit to Gaura līlā a little, it will be easy, the sannyāsa tyāga līlā. And Gaurāṅga means a dynamo which wants to give Kṛṣṇa, to distribute Kṛṣṇa. And we must take to that, the most magnanimous, surcharged with intensified pity for the ordinary people, kindness, affection, even to the criminals. So anyhow to keep them to His connection then Kṛṣṇa līlā is already in their fist. So He began to preach about Gaurāṅga, not of Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa līlā as commanded by Mahāprabhu. So bhaja gaurāṅga, kaha gaurāṅga He began.

And there is another instance described in Caitanya Bhāgavata. Śacī Devī had a dream that Kṛṣṇa-Balarāma is there in a throne. And Nityānanda is fighting with Balarāma.

“Come away from the throne. It is no longer Dvāpara-yuga. The age Kali has come and My Master Gaurāṅga must take the position of this throne. You come out.”

And Balarāma, He’s giving sort of opposition. “No, no, why should We come out? We are sitting on the throne from so long a time. Why should we come down?”

Nityānanda forcibly taking Him: and Balarāma is submitting slightly.

“My master Gaurāṅga He wants to take the opposition now. The age for Him has come.” So He’s very partial to Gaurāṅga. “Kṛṣṇa is far off. My Lord is Gaurāṅga. I must be very near and grateful to Him.”

To Guru, rather adjust. [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī says bakārināpi [from the verse beginning āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu, Vilāpa-Kusumāñjali, 102], “I want Your grace Rādhārāṇī. Without You I don’t want Kṛṣṇa, a separate Kṛṣṇa. And along with You, if I get You with Kṛṣṇa, I want. I want that, to serve, but never without You any Kṛṣṇa I never want it.”

So that should be the healthy attitude of the devotees, that they won’t try, the higher authorities under whom they can connect with Kṛṣṇa, the Gurudeva, the Vaiṣṇava, the hierarchy. They always try to intensify their faith. Who is giving the highest model or ideal, who is giving it to him, the next person from whom he’s getting it, then their allegiance must be highest there.

yasya prasādād bhagavat-prasādo, yasyāprasādān na gatiḥ kuto 'pi

caraṇāravindam]

["By the mercy of the spiritual master one receives the benediction of Kṛṣṇa. Without the grace of the spiritual master, one cannot make any advancement. Therefore, I should always remember and praise the spiritual master. At least three times a day I should offer my respectful obeisances unto the lotus feet of my spiritual master."] [Śrī Śrī Gurv-aṣṭaka, 8]

This is the position of Guru, by whose grace I can get anything, I can get the grace of Kṛṣṇa. And without whose grace, I have got no other prospect. So this way, who has given to me, the first connection, I must have reverence there. But at the same time I won't conceive that is a doll. I must think, because I have come to, not a particular figure, but what he says, his upadeśa, the learning, what is attracting my heart.

I am not this body. I am the inquirer. And which is satisfying me, drawing the inquirer to the inquired, I must try to locate that thing in him, and not prākṛta buddhi. Not prākṛta buddhi. I am not this. Who am I, the disciple, only this body, this figure, the temperament, the caste, the figure, or the colour, or the scholarship, the intellectualism? No.

Who has come to seek, who is the party in me, and who is the party in Guru? That we must be conscious, we must be fully awake to that, awaken like that. What is the inner thing? I have come for which thing? We must be awake to our own interest. That is relative and absolute. The form we shall have to eliminate, ignore, and the spirit we have to keep up always. Otherwise, we may be form worshippers. What is, where is, who is Guru? Where to be located? What is his ideal? What does he really want me to do? What does he really want me to take? These things must not be dismissed from our idea. Not only formal adherence. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The spiritual way: the spiritual man is going to the spiritual world to have the spiritual realization, all spiritual. And all conceptions of mundane, whether physical, or intellectual, or mental, that should be eliminated in our journey if we want to go to the inner world of substance. Hare Kṛṣṇa. It will decide my real progress, desire of life. The fulfilment is from the inner side always. If one can keep up that thread, then he will go, and he will get things of that quality.

Beautiful figure, the intellectual delivery, and so many other things may be. The style, the movement, the boldness, so many things there are. But what should be the highest thing in our realization? And for that we shall – progress means elimination and acceptance. And always it is a dynamic thing, otherwise we shall be dead.

Acceptance and elimination, natural selection: the scientists also say natural selection or something like that, survival of the fittest, natural selection, in the expression of the scientists, natural selection. Nature is selecting some and giving up something. In the course of the development of this worldly affair, so many animals, so many things were in the present but they are gone, by giving place to those, natural selection and survival of the fittest. It is dynamic. We are living in a dynamic world. So elimination, acceptance and elimination: that is progress. It is a progressive thing, not a static.

To get the grace of Nityānanda we shall try to, as much as possible, to study the character of Śrī Gaurāṅga, to serve Him, His Dhāma, His persons, all these things. That will easily help us to get the grace of Nityānanda.

Something I must contact in my present stage. And the highest ideal always I shall keep on my head, over my head. With this idea I shall do something here. The idea, the highest model, that is our all in all in our life. To get, to be acquainted with the conception of the highest idea, that is the best wealth in one's life. And to be in the way of realization, one day, Rādhikā-mādhavāśāṁ, Dāsa Goswāmī says, "Rādhikā-mādhavāśāṁ, only we shall aspire after, cherish the hope that one day I may be taken in the plane where Rādhikā-Mādhava, Rādhā- Mādhava is in Their glory, sitting, or playing, mādhavāśāṁ. That should be our prospect, rādhikā- mādhavāśāṁ prāpto yasya prathitaḥ kṛpayā śrī-gurum taṁ nato 'smi.

[nāma-śreṣṭhaṁ manum api śacī-putram atra svarūpaṁ rūpaṁ tasyāgrajam uru-purīm māthurīm goṣṭavāṭīm rādhā-kuṇḍaṁ giri-varam aho rādhikā-mādhavāśāṁ prāpto yasya prathita-kṛpayā śrī gurum taṁ nato 'smi]

Dāsa Goswāmī's praṇāma mantra towards Guru; nāma-śreṣṭhaṁ, "I have got, I am fully indebted to Gurudeva. Why? Who has given me so many things, nāma-śreṣṭhaṁ. The highest conception of the Name, the highest sound, the highest form of sound which contains the highest form of thought, aspiration, ideal, everything. Manum api, and next mantram, first Name and then mantram. The Name is there. Without Name mantram is nothing. If the Name is withdrawn and another Name is put, the mantra will be opposite. If Kṛṣṇa Nāma is taken from the mantram and there we put another name, the whole mantram will go that direction. So Name is all in all. And mantra couched in such a way with some sort of prayer in the Name, that is mantra, "I want this." Manum api śacī-putram. The great saviour, śacī-putra, Who is like a golden mountain standing to show the direction towards Kṛṣṇa līlā. Atra svarūpaṁ. And then His most favourite personal assistant Svarūpa Dāmodara who is the representation of Lalitā Devī: the most favourite friend of Rādhikā. Nāma-śreṣṭhaṁ manum api śacī-putram atra svarūpaṁ. Then rūpaṁ, who is ordered to distribute the higher types of devotion, the love. The worshipping, the reverence: that is of lower order, reverence. And love, of our innermost heart dealing, that rāgānugā bhakti was distributed through Rūpa Goswāmī. Mahāprabhu considered Rūpa the best to deal with this rāgānugā bhakti. Svarūpaṁ rūpaṁ tasyāgrajam. Then Sanātana who gives some sort of adjustment with rāgānugā bhakti, viddhi bhakti, what is what, a sort of acquaintance with the environment proper. Rūpaṁ tasyāgrajam uru-purīṁ māthurīṁ. Then he has given me this Mathurā maṇḍala where Rādhā-Govinda have Their pastimes, where every creeper, shrubs, sands, rivers, the jungle, the hill, everyone is bearing the acquaintance of Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa līlā. Wherever I shall cast my glance they will help me in the remembrance of Rādhā-Govinda. I have got that from him. Māthurīṁ goṣṭavāṭīm, in ordinary Mathurā maṇḍala the goṣṭavāṭī where the cows, the milkman people, they got their village constructed, their association villages and so many, and their nature and their feelings I am being acquainted with, goṣṭavāṭīm. Rādhā-kunḍaṁ, Rādhā-kunḍa, a favourite place of Rādhā-Govinda for Their pastimes. Giri-varam aho, and this great Govardhana. Rādhikā-mādhavāśāṁ, and lastly he has given the hope, Rādhikā Mādhava. One day I can get the service of Rādhikā and Mādhava. All these assurances I have got from my Gurudeva, so I bow down my head with all my respects to that feet who has given so many things.”

So if we are conscious of all these matters, spiritual materials, then I can think that I have approached my Gurudeva properly. What is my Guru? What is my Guru? He is filled with all these things. There is my Guru. There is my Guru.

And devoid of that, “Oh, ISKCON has much wealth. Anyone can go and get food and so you run to ISKCON.” This is not the proper way of going to ISKCON. The C.I.D’s are always up, “Oh, they have got some political motive. ISKCON means America’s political posting in the garb of sādhus. Rather ISKCON means that C.I.A, ISKCON means a form of C.I.A.” There is another vision; so many visions about ISKCON. But what should the real ISKCON be? It is this. That Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī, he gives the real acquaintance of what is ISKCON, what does it mean. So we shall try to understand what is ISKCON. Svarūpa Dāmodara Swāmī he has already said I am told that, “We are holding the banner of ISKCON. You are going away.” Is it not? I heard from some gentleman that Svarūpa Dāmodara he has told, “We are in ISKCON proper. And you are administration; you are neglecting this Vedānta ke? ISKCON Vedānta Society. What is that name?”

Devotees: Bhaktivedānta Institute.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktivedānta. “This is real ISKCON.” So what is ISKCON? Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. ISKCON must not deviate from this line. Then that is ISKCON. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. We have not come to deceive ourselves, to fulfil ourselves. ISKCON will fulfil everyone’s inner demand, even extending to the vegetables and the stones, taking them to the feet of Mahāprabhu and the Goswāmīns. That was the end of Swāmī Mahārāja there. We understand and appreciate that. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

What’s the time?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Oh, so long. Nitāi.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Is there time for another question Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One more question, yes, let me try.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I read in Swāmī Mahārāja's books that one should not take the Holy Name as a servant. This is an offence. One should simply pray for some service, to serve the Name. Sometimes a devotee finds some dangerous situation, he may cry out the Holy Name, but that prayer is something like 'save me from this danger' yes. So is that an offence to take the Name in that sort of mood of, 'take me out of this danger?' Is that the wrong mood when one finds himself in a dangerous position?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course we may pray to the Name, to the sādhu, when he finds any danger. And danger in him means his spiritual life is justified to invoke or invoking the necessary protection there, being conscious of evaluation of his spiritual life. If the motive is a spiritual one then protection he must want. Rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāsaḥ and gopṭṛtve varaṇaṁ tathā. "You are my protector. If You leave me I will be lost. My aspiration to get service one day of You, that will be lost." In this way in the spiritual connection we may invoke His help. But if my motive is otherwise to kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā, then if I invoke help, that will, without spiritual for other things, that will be kāmāna in the ordinary.

kāmais tais tair hr̥ta-jñānāḥ, prapadyante ['nya-devatāḥ taṁ taṁ

["Persons whose good sense is perverted by some material desire become preoccupied with that desire, and thus they adopt the appropriate rules and regulations to worship 'other gods'."]

In the garb of devotion that will be. Suppose I'm tempted by something. And I feel tempted to go to that temptation, to embrace that temptation.

At that time and I feel there may be some hindrance, some trouble, some danger, then if I, 'save me from such temptation.' If I pray to Him it is all right. But if I pray that smoothly I can get that prey of my temptation, that will be bad, awkward. Am I clear? For the satisfaction of my senses, if I want any protection from the high, it will be offence. But if I pray that I may be saved from that prey to keep my spiritual life, that will be all right. To up keep for the interest of my spiritual life, we are allowed to pray to Him. Without that how can we save ourselves? Always His protection, the protection of Guru, sādhu, and Lord, every protection from everywhere I shall try to cry for protection. But if I pray protection to satisfy my mundane object then that will be offence, aparādha.

tyaktvā sva-dharmāṁ caraṇāmbujaṁ harer, bhajann apakvo 'tha patet tato yadi yatra kva vābhadram abhūd amuṣya kiṁ, ko vārtha āpto
'bhajatāṁ sva-dharmataḥ

["If someone takes to Kṛṣṇa consciousness, even though he may not follow the prescribed duties in the śāstras, nor execute the devotional service properly, and even though in an immature stage he may fall down from the standard, there is no loss or danger for him. But if he carries out all the injunctions for purification in the śāstras, what does it avail him if he is not Kṛṣṇa conscious?"] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.17]

Just as sarva-dharmān parityajya [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66] encourages us to take some risk, so also here in Bhāgavatam Devarṣi Nārada when he's giving these ten ślokaś as advice to Vyāsadeva. Tyaktvā sva-dharmāṁ caraṇāmbujaṁ harer. The immediate call of duty, and the absolute call of duty. For the absolute call of duty we must give up the immediate call of duty. Tyaktvā sva-dharmaṁ caraṇāmbujaṁ harer, bhajann apakvo 'tha patet tato yadi. And by doing that if temporarily I have to come down in the calculation of this worldly duty, Devarṣi Nārada says, "What do you lose thereby? No loss." Because: Jagat prinite sakama tama varta siddhim vindeta manava [?]

[Śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt] sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ

["It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35]

So immediate call of duty you must attend here, it is recommended. And sarva-dharmān parityajya, here He says by attending to your ordinary call of duty, the very nearest call of duty, you may remain and go on in a safe position, safe way. But if you attempt to have something greater, you will have to take the risk. Otherwise, and ultimately you will be victorious because this will give you the result of very less value. And for that attempt you jump beyond your capacity. Then:

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt

can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all- devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40]

The going of higher quality what you have got, that is there, that can't be destroyed, and that accumulated will give you chance and take you to the highest domain. So encouraging, there for progress, progress we must take the risk. And if we are cowed down by our conscientious consideration, then of course we have to lose, detrimental to our high prospect. But anyhow the connection, the favourable environment is highly required for the purpose; environment, association. If we take risk for the highest, there also the association will help us a great deal, a great deal.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Of course the adhikāra vicāra, one's own capacity should also be taken into account. Otherwise the śāstra and the sādhu has come to the lowest order. The Ācārya: “Begin from here, take this piece, don't take that piece, this meat, not that meat, take a woman; not go to the prostitutes, one woman.” From there the śāstra has come down to control us, to take us in a gradual way. That would be impossible, if I say that don't go to women, don't go to take any meat, then he will go, he will become a Mohammedan. He will leave the whole, utter at once. So to keep up considering his future, to keep up him giving some allowance, that was also in the scripture. But when one comes in connection with the nirguṇa that is another...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the ancient Indian system, the basis of that, knowledge above mortality; that is knowledge proper. Mundane knowledge has got no value. It does not stay. Knowledge permanent we are to enquire somewhere else. That is knowledge proper, which has got its stability and firm foundation. How to acquire that knowledge? How to acquire? So it has been dealt with in Vedic education. Veda means 'know', the meaning of the word Veda that is 'know.' No rhyme and reason shown for that, "Why you should know this?" No explanation. "Know." Because doubt is absent in that plane, no cheating is possible in that plane. So simple direct transaction, do, know, all friendly, confidential, stainless conduct. This is good, that is good, no cheating tendency is possible, no suspicion, Veda.

This is the plane of misunderstanding, misgiving, doubt, suspicion, then inference, then examination. A vulnerable and vitiated plane where people cheat one another. So everyone cannot rely on others, he has to examine whether it is true, whether he's being deceived or not. So he's to check that, whatever is told to him, given to him, he's to check whether he's being deceived or not. But where cheating is unknown, the transactions are very simple and straight. No-one deceives anyone. From that plane what comes down, what suggestion comes down, that does not give any reason for that. Now, how to attain that sort of knowledge, true knowledge, non-misunderstanding zone and non-deceiving knowledge? In Bhagavad-gītā we find,

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā. With this remuneration you are to approach towards that domain of knowledge. Praṇipāt - surrender, paripraśna - honest enquiry, and sevā - serving attitude. More friendly with the mentality of slavery, you are to approach in that plane of knowledge. That higher knowledge won't come to serve you, a person of status which is so low. If you want that at all, you are to serve Him. He will utilise you, and not you will be able to utilise Him, that higher knowledge. He's subject. You are subject of this mundane world and you'll have to become object to be handled by the super knowledge of that plane. If you want that, the connection of that higher knowledge, you are to approach in that attitude, that plane. Praṇipāt - that means I have finished my experience here. I have nothing to aspire after anything in this, no charm here for me, I have finished. Paripraśna - honest enquiry, submissive humility, humble enquiry with sincere eagerness, and not to challenge, not in a challenging mood, then that won't care to come down to you. That is sufficient, full in itself, full in itself, or Himself. And sevā - you are to enter there only to fulfil their purpose. That can't be subservient to you, a tiny person with meagre experience and conception of mean fulfilment. You cannot handle Him. If you like to be handled by Him, then you can only approach. So such favourable environment should be created in Gurukula where a knowledge proper is to be cultivated, if you want that at all. That is supreme, knowledge is supreme, that is not subservient to this mundane conception, the world of mortality. That is sat-cit-ānanda. That is unassailable existence, cit - that is consciousness in Himself...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...karma-rangra, He has not anything to do direct with us. We are left free, and as we shall do, we shall get the result in that manner. He's onlooker only [?] But it is His duty to see that one may not go scot free. That is His lookout. So we are direct concerned with our karma. But karma kiyate, the result of karma, good or bad, that diminishes, vanishes, so we shall continue with karma always. Avoid bad karma we shall take to good karma, and the good karma must be continued. Beyond that there is no realm. He does not accept that cid vilasa, cid bhumika, the land of dedication is not admitted by Jaimini as well as Śaṅkara.

Only the Vaiṣṇava Ācārya they have discovered another plane of living, and that living by dedication. And that is the real world, and this is... They have only, of that faith. Direct world of living is there, a happy world.

And according to them, only this unhappy world is existing, and if you want pure happiness, like Jaimini says, that you will do always good work and you will enjoy heaven, heavenly life. So your work is everything [?] That is the conception, so I show my respect towards my karma, he's my providence. He can do anything and everything. So only we take shelter in karma.

And Śaṅkarācārya says, "No. Karma adhikāra, what we acquire by our karma, that is trifling, that is transient, and reactionary, so we shall try to find some complete rest from this wild goose chasing. To live here means wild goose chasing, and we must stop that and we shall take to complete eternal rest in samādhi, just like in suṣupti, sound sleep.” That is Buddhist or Śaṅkara in some way or other.

But the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas say, “No. There is a world of happiness, and that is true, and we can live only by thorough dedication towards the absolute cause.” And there is gradation, Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya, Nimbarka, Viṣṇuswāmī. Rāmānandi section: from Rāmānuja, Rāmānandi, an offshoot. From Madhvācārya the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava. From Viṣṇuswāmī the Vallabha School, Vallabhācārya School. And from Nimbarka there’s Harivyāsa and Haridāsa School, little modified we find. From these schools also a main branch has sprung up.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Haribras?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nimbarka is called Haridāsa. The name was very much appreciated by Agbar Barsa [?]. He was Haridāsa. So there were some persons who make much with Haridāsa. But the original propounder of the faith was Harivyāsa, means Nimbarka, Nimbarkācārya. And they come from Catuḥsana, and Madhvācārya from Brahmā, Rāmānuja from Lakṣmī, and Viṣṇuswāmī from Rudra, Śiva. Śrī-brahma-rudra-sanakā vaiṣṇavāḥ kṣiti-pāvanāḥ

[sampradāya vihīnā ye mantrās te niṣiphalā matāḥ ataḥ kalau bhaviṣyanti catvāraḥ sampradāyinaḥ śrī-brahma-rudra-sanakā vaiṣṇavāḥ kṣiti-pāvanāḥ catvāras te kalau bhāvyaḥ hy utkale puruṣottamāt]

[“If someone receives a mantra from a Guru who doesn’t come in a bona fide sampradāya that mantra will have no potency and will be fruitless. Hence in the age of Kali there will arise four founders of sampradāyas, namely Śrī, Brahmā, Rudra and Sanaka. These four Vaiṣṇavas are the sanctifiers of the earth. Their four respective sampradāyas will arise from the Supreme Personality of Godhead in Utkal (Orissa).”] [Padma Purāṇa]

Middle age Ācārya from all these four camps is Śrī, Rāmānuja. And Brahmā means Madhvācārya. Rudra means Viṣṇuswāmī. And Catuḥsana is Nimbarka. A middle age Ācārya.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. What is Satsvarūpa doing there? Looking after administration, or writing?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: He’s writing. He’s leaving today for Vṛndāvana. He’s going back.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. Vṛndāvana. And that gentleman, he’s also leaving for Vṛndāvana – Dāmodara.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Dāmodara, after two weeks.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, he will stay here for two weeks. Hare Kṛṣṇa. No other gentleman has come there, newly?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No. No one has come. Bhakti Caru Mahārāja has sent message he is coming.

Devotee: He's coming today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's coming today, there, with Gopāla Kṛṣṇa?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Satajanma and Hṛdayānanda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But he told that he will accompany Gopāla Kṛṣṇa there today? Devotee: I didn't hear that he is coming today, Gopāla Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gopāla Kṛṣṇa. Then who told it? Hari Charan told it, that he will come with Gopāla Kṛṣṇa, perhaps this morning to Māyāpur and evening here. That he told, Hari Charan. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gopāla Kṛṣṇa he's an Ācārya?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, GBC.

Devotee: He's aspiring to be an Ācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! He's trying to become Ācārya.

Devotee: They are promising.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He perhaps last year he came to see me, or year before last?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Last year.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he was a candidate for Ācāryaship he expressed.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Or this year it must have been.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But it was not granted so he was dissatisfied. This year perhaps he will get recognition. The principle has been accepted last year, they told, after their sitting finished. And Gopāla Kṛṣṇa came and told, “There are no new Ācāryas have been taken.”

I remarked, this is injudicious and unfortunate.

Then Bhāvānanda and Jayapataka came to me. “Perhaps you were misinformed. We have accepted the principle that we shall increase the number of Ācāryas. We are not against, so your remarks are based on erroneous information.”

But to accept the principle only is not the whole thing.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Where is Jidish Prabhu?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He said he’s coming.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, when you used to meet with our Prabhupāda at Sitakanta Banerjee Lane, did he used to tell you, or did you discuss that world preaching at that time, preaching all around the world? It might have come?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. At that time perhaps he had no conception of world preaching, but all India preaching. And especially approaching the political leaders, and try to convert them. That tendency I found in him. Before that perhaps he might have said when he was in business in Bombay, and I was in that Maṭha, might have talked.

At that time Bon Mahārāja and a party they were preaching in England, Germany also. Bon Mahārāja met Hitler also. Hitler, he was busily engaged, there was an engagement with Hitler, but when he approached at the fixed time then he saw that Hitler is engaged in serious thought and moving in a corridor. And when he was informed that, ‘you have made engagement with Swāmī Bon,’ then he sent another gentleman. “I’m very busy now. You please on my behalf talk to Swāmīji.” He sent one gentleman, perhaps Goebbels or someone. But he saw that Hitler is like half mad he’s moving in the corridor. Bon Mahārāja told me.

Devotee: Hitler was very interested in Vedic literature, in a perverted way?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not in Vedic literature but some forms he observed what is akin to Vedic custom. That we appreciate. Just to put the females to the harem and to make them attentive towards nurturing good child, to produce good children for the country. And he ordered, perhaps made a law to sterilise the diseased persons to produce children. “I don’t want that the country will be full of some diseased men. Good health and good intellect men I want.” And also he announced that, “Any lady who will produce good children to the country they will be rewarded. They shall get a reward who will be able to contribute good children to the country.”

That is [?] The necessity of marrying is to produce good child, and not sense pleasure. Of course according to his conception of good child, that was then another. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dictatorship, I like that, dictatorship. Of course in a good man, that is presupposed. There is Gurukula. Gurukula means Guru is all in all. The obedience, the discipline, we are to teach, we are to learn. Merit must be given upper hand. That vox populi is not vox dei. Vox dei should be vox populi. The vox populi is vox dei, the mass will guide, and the intelligentsia will be compelled to follow that: that is an unhealthy thing. The higher realisation will guide the lower. And higher realisation must come under the revealed truth: revelation guide. Here the sphere of misconception. So light must come from beyond the world of misconception, and we'll be benefited thereby. That is the underlying idea.

When perhaps in the first issue of Back to Godhead I had one article there, and there I wrote in that spirit, "The Vyāsadeva the great dictator," I put this expression, "The Vyāsadeva, the great dictator in the religious world. What he has received, he has written in the spirit of a dictatorship. Do this. Veda is dictator. Revealed truth is also dictator, in the spirit of dictatorship. Do this. Why? No reason. Do this. It will be your good."

If one says, "Why?" he's unqualified, he's unqualified for the soil. If there is doubt, he's only prepared to live in the land of doubt, suspicion, cheating, all these things. There is the unknown. In a wholesome healthy soil the cheating is unknown, so whatever one will say that will be true. Whatever another one will ask that will be true. That is supposed to be true cent per cent. None wants to deceive. That should be the character, characteristic of a normal soil.

When the mother says to the child: “You do this.” “Why should I do mother: why should I do that?” Giving something, “You take this food.”

“Oh. I should check if there is poison in it. With suspicion whether I should take this food given by my affectionate mother and I submit, I shall before taking I shall feel I should examine whether any wrong is there.”

This is a very lower type of life, undesirable. So in high plane of life such suspicion and examination and doubt, all these things that cannot prevail: simple transaction.

Devotee: But the king, the dictator, he is always very much doubtful. He’s always checking to see if the food is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The land of doubtful, to live in the land of doubtfulness, that is not a happy thing. It is earned only by our ill fate, the result of our evil action. We are not fit to live in the normal land. Unfit, so we are pushed into the land of doubt, or land of deception. Doubt, deception, deception has grown within us doubt.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. [?] Who is here?

Devotee: Mukunda mālā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mukunda mālā. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vidagdha Prabhu, have you heard that Gopāla Kṛṣṇa Prabhu is coming from Māyāpur now, today?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I have not heard.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have not heard. And Navadvīpa Prabhu has heard?

Navadvīpa Prabhu: This morning my wife told me that just three were coming. Bhakti Caru, Sadadhanya Swāmī, and Adridharan, the president of Calcutta: but no mention of Gopāla Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. [?]

Devotee: Swāmī Mahārāja, Beyond Birth And Death, [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Beyond? Not between?

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Between we are having experience of our own, but beyond birth and death. [?] beyond birth and death.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fool, a cartoon.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, like that, exactly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Beyond birth and death [?] Skeleton. Who is dissatisfied with any food of this world, he wants to see if there is anything beyond birth and death, try to find out. Here, suffering concur, this is the highest production of this world ultimately is this figure, no food, trying to find out if any hope is outside.

Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja said [?] “What is the news of the world, in general?”
Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja told: [?]

Man is being seasoned in a cauldron. [?] ādhiyātmika, ādhibhautika, ādhidaivika. He’s being fried in a cauldron. Ādhiyātmika, with some repenting mood from within, from the pain of the disease from the body; and the ādhibhautika, one animal is attacking another. Ādhidaivika, the famine, flood, as the result of his previous karma is burning him. This is the – always being burned, every jīva soul in bondage is always being burned and the fire is of three types, the heat, and the heat is of three types. One, famine, flood, this ādhidaivika, these natural accidents; and then one jīva is troubling another, is the cause of misery, and then another type from within, either a disease or mental disease. So always suffering from these troubles, so such troubled man is trying to find out if anything beyond this world where ultimately we are a skeleton, nothing else. That may be the idea of the cartoon. The skeleton is peeping through a window whether there is any place where I can grow some flesh and blood which is being eaten up here and reducing to mere skeleton. Can I thrive in any other soil, in Candraloka, or in Sukra, or in any other place? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Vaikuṇṭha. Here skeleton is true, ultimately the skeleton is the truth here. Everything is being eaten up by the time and space and trying to reduce anyone and everyone to be a skeleton. “Oh you skeleton, try to find out a place where you can live a healthy life, you don’t have to become a skeleton. Thinking, thinking, thinking.”

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Vidagdha Prabhu, what duty you have got now to discharge there?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Still with the Māyāpur samādhi Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have come to purchase something for samādhi, materials?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: No. Going to Calcutta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, you are going to Calcutta, to meet?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I work with an artist in Calcutta. Mahārāja, Satya Nārāyaṇa Prabhu, we were discussing some of your Kṛṣṇa kathā and he was saying there would be a market, there would be some devotees very much interested in seeing a small book of your quotes. Of quotes we might get from tapes that we have taken.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Satya Nārāyaṇa Prabhu he's in ISKCON, but he, why should he take trouble of publishing them? With any criticism, or as it is?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: As it is. He's not editing. He's not saying we should publish with BBT. But we should get some quotes, nice quotes we can use in our preaching all over the world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. One who has got, who has caught that, he may do, he may publish. I have no objection. Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja he also asked me that, 'May we print all these things?' Yes, you do. Anyone who has heard it he may do and publish if he thinks what is to do some good to the world then of course he's justified to do that. I don't want to make it a trade. It must be the most benevolent trade of Mahāprabhu. No special trade, but His trade to convert all under Kṛṣṇa consciousness. That broadest idea we must embrace, one and all. It is for the interest of Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa, Prabhupāda, Swāmī Mahārāja; for their interest if it is meant, worth something, everyone is at liberty to do that. It is not mine. If the words come from our master, from Kṛṣṇa, everyone should have right to accept that, and to spread that.

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

If they consider that it's Kṛṣṇa upadeśa then they're at liberty to spread it anywhere and everywhere. His conscience to be justified: if he sincerely thinks that, of course he'll do it. It is not mine, it is of my Gurudeva, and he will say it is of Mahāprabhu, He of Bhāgavatam, Vyāsadeva: in this way. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

And if anyone gets any real benefit out of that then I shall get reward from above and I shall get good will from them also. I want that sort of blessing for my own sustenance, I want that. Gaura Haribol. The reaction will come to me if really that is helpful, then reaction will come to me to bless me, to make me more fit for the service of my Lord. Gaura Haribol. Without that I may not have anything to cherish in my heart. I may not do. I pray to my Lord.

To make trade over this Hari kathā, our Guru Mahārāja condemned it, this Pran Gopāla Goswāmī and others. To make money Pran Gopāla Goswāmī came to Gaura Kīśora Bābājī Mahārāja to read Bhāgavatam. He requested Bābājī Mahārāja one day, “You hear how I explain Bhāgavatam.” Bābājī Mahārāja does not say anything. Then one day he himself came with his men and made arrangements and invited also the audience and went on explaining.

Bābājī Mahārāja is sitting silent. Then when he went away then he asked one of his attendants, “Cleanse this place.”

“Why? This is already very, no dirt, he already cleansed, plane, compound.” “No, no, no. What I say you do it.”

“What do you say Bābājī Mahārāja? I can’t follow you. This is already very clear. Nothing is here. The Goswāmī just had his Bhāgavatam pāṭham here and it is very clear.”

“No, no. You say that you heard Bhāgavatam, I heard money, money, money. What he, so many talks, so many gestures, postures, so many singing tunes, all these things pronounced, pronouncing of the śloka, the art, everything only to get money, to earn money. He will advertise that, “Gaura Kiśora Bābājī he has heard Bhāgavatam from me.” So more demand will come and more money he will earn. He has not spoken anything in praise of the Lord. That was not his inner purpose, but how he will be able to earn more money. He’s using Bhāgavatam for that. And the money will be utilised for the pleasure of his children and wife. And he’s trying to force Kṛṣṇa to serve, using Kṛṣṇa to serve his wife and children. I see it like that. So this is filthy. Purify this place, and with some go-my, the cow dung.”

When in Australia, Swāmī Mahārāja, that paper cutting is with me perhaps, when Swāmī Mahārāja came down from the plane - got down, so many came to welcome him. Then one newspaper reporter just approached, “How these expenses you manage? You sell books, we are told.”

“But we are not book sellers,” he answered in a particular, peculiar way. “We are doing Kṛṣṇa kīrtana giving book about Kṛṣṇa, they are giving money. And money is used only for Kṛṣṇa kīrtana.”

In this way the rolling business for Kṛṣṇa, not any motive of trade, to serve other base purposes of human nature. So if it is in that way it is all right, but not for any trade. That is what is wanted.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

The produce must go to Kṛṣṇa, must go to Guru, Vaiṣṇava, Kṛṣṇa and kārṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa and His own group.

aham hi sarva-yajñānām, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca [na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

"Only I am the sole enjoyer of the whole."

Reality is For Itself, For Itself. That is the only criterion we should keep up in our mind. Artheṣu abhijñāḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1] He knows the meaning of every movement, even of an ant or a creeper. He has got the idea why the ant is moving to which direction, and the creeper blown by the wind, moving which way, what is the meaning. He Himself only knows it. Artheṣu abhijñāḥ, what is the purpose of this slight movement, or taking rest, He only knows and it is to fulfil His purpose. And we are to find out that plane of thinking and to become one with that, in consonance, in harmony, artheṣu abhijñāḥ.

Dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1] Half knowledge, then misconception is outside, but in his own plane of thinking it is all harmony, all right, no over-lapping, no fight or natural selection or, what is that, natural selection and survival of the fittest. Always fighting, struggle: struggle of two kinds, struggles to create discord and struggle to be reinstated towards harmony. The sādḥaka, the Vaiṣṇava, they're also struggling, but to be reinstated into harmony, a harmonious life. That is desirable, here, that should be normal here. All should struggle to be reinstated into real harmony of the whole. But the struggle to get out opposite direction and prefer a life of devouring each other, disturbing each other, that is undesirable. That is māyā. At the cost of others to make one's own self to be big, then that is also in a concocting line, illusory line. Everyone is struggling to become big, but that is illusion, māyā. That big is not properly big. The real bigness is on the other side.

Āsurī meant only for closer bondage, and daiva that is who are struggling towards right direction. Two sections struggling here; one towards positive, another plodding in the negative, opposite. Dvau bhūta-sargau loka 'smin, daiva āsura eva ca. Daivī sampad vimokṣāya, nibandhāyāsurī matā, meant for that.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... that Guru will be disturbed.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If that is so, the same common interest, we are to see whether it is the thing of that type or something else of lower type. And this should be applied in their case. In the next generation, what they're applying for Swāmī Mahārāja, in the next generation, the disciple of one Ācārya he will feel the same thing about the disciple of another Ācārya, that my Guru is Jagat Guru, and his Guru he thinks Jagat Guru. And if he makes disciples of his Guru to keep up the fame of his own Guru, then my Guru's portion is being taken up. The same thing will be repeated in the next generation amongst them. Then Prabhupāda will not be the centre of interest, the other eleven Ācāryas they will become independent centre, and their Guru's will fight with this principle, that to appreciate the words of another Ācārya is to diminish the fame of my Ācārya. The same thing will be repeated there. So one who does not know the real quality of the thing, they will quarrel in this way. And that will go on to infinite time; infinity. Do you follow?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The quality of things, wherever we get it; we are to feel, understand and accept, in our own interest as well as for the interest of all. So the absolute and the relative, I am always talking, that these two will come into seeming apparent fight. But the absolute should be accepted and the relative should be sacrificed. But still, the relative is necessary.

A boy, he must put his whole faith in the teacher in the primary school, otherwise it will be hampering if he thinks that, 'what my teacher teaches me, that is all false, or of lower type.' But when he will grow up he will accept another higher education teacher, and that does not mean that the primary teacher is neglected or insulted.

Progress means elimination and progress means acceptance. For our own interest wherever we find akin to what was given by our Guru Mahārāja, to enlighten that more and to make me understand more clearly what I heard from Guru Mahārāja, that will be acceptable, for his cause. Otherwise, what I have taken in the prison house of my mind, my scholarship, or my any other inner cell, I shall fix Him there? But He has got infinite possibility. He is not a finite thing. He is infinite. And as much as in the cell of my brain I have imprisoned him, I shall only stick to that? What is this? I am a living thing, or I am also a dead particle of a sand? Any growth, what I have received from him, can it grow, or it is finished there? I have reached the infinite standard? What do they think? What they have accepted, they could accept, that's the limit, and nothing more?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nothing more! Then we show our daṇḍavats to them from far away. Dandavata dulata bhakativinoda veti [?] We are not worshippers of that, that they are finished, they have attained perfection. If they think like that, they, all those ten, eleven Ācāryas they have attained perfection, we hate it. Still they should consider that they are students, and not finished professors who has known anything and everything. They should think themselves to be bona fide students, still students. And they have come to talk about the infinite and not finite thing.

na prema-gandho 'sti darāpi me harau [krandāmi saubhāgya-bharam
pataṅgakān vṛthā]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: “My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya- līlā, 2.45]

Then why Jayapataka runs, Bhāvānanda runs to me, to check Jayatīrtha that he says, “I have so many sentiments, sattvika-bhāva.” That he’s a bona fide Ācārya, recognition from Swāmī Mahārāja himself? Why do they come? Why do they come against Haṁsadūta? That he’s doing wrong. What is the justification? They have attained the finished stage? Why do they come against Tamal Kṛṣṇa? And want to make them out? They have all attained perfection? Then why one comes to fight against another even to oust them from the society? What is there? This false vanity. They have not come in connection with infinite, the transactions of finite things they are engaged in. What’s the time?

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nine thirty?

Devotee: Five to ten.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nearly ten.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: These are the problems that I face every day.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is every day that will be in our minds also always, the fight between finite and infinite knowledge. Not only in them, but within us also, this fight will go on. That I have known, what I have known, it is the absolute? No. I have not finished knowledge, yet I have to know. Yet I have to know.

The Brahmā himself says that, “I am fully deceived by Your līlā Master. I am nowhere.” The Brahmā himself says, “Everyone says, one who has come in connection with the infinite, he cannot but say this; that I am nothing.”

That should be the salient point. Purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi sei laghiṣṭha [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.205] The propounder of the greatest śāstra in Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, Caitanya-caritāmṛta, he says, how his posing is, and the sincere posing, purīṣera kīṭa haite. They’re ashamed to express their negative character, negative development which is real wealth for the disciple, for the potency; to increase the negative characteristic of the seeker? Purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi sei laghiṣṭha. They feel ashamed there? Muñi sei laghiṣṭha. Jagāi mādhai haite muñi se pāpiṣṭha. Kavirāja Goswāmī says and sincerely says, and still we try to have the dust of his feet. Because he says of himself as so low, so mean. Such a negative character is shown there. So we fall at his feet. And if he says, “I have finished, God, Caitanya is my disciple,” we shall shoot him.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Like Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura as he dealt with Bishkisana. [the bogus incarnation of Viṣṇu] Gaura Haribol. [laughing] So you get me excited. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Take this off. You have recorded me. You are putting me into a cell, a prison house. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam is with you?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: If I may take it and do final correction after Madhusudana Mahārāja has read it. Because one or two pages...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He has gone through partially, and also given his opinion, that it is not up to mark.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Caru Swāmī has kept that copy with him, but he's very busy.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. He has four chapters.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With him only?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Others?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I have, copies.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: First four chapters he took?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. And Venkatta also has four chapters, copies. I made three copies.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only three copies? Full, three copies, you have produced?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And one given to Caru Swāmī, no, only first four chapters?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The rest with you?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: And some with Venkatta, three chapters.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Three? Then seven, another three.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I'm holding the remainder.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Another three, but that is one copy, and another which you have given to me.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, that's the original.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is also there eight chapters?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, that's the whole thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The all, complete.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And another copy, these two copies, another third copy with whom?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Myself.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Complete?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not complete because...

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [Venkatta] I have some parts of that chapter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Because one part, some parts, part with him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, some with Caru Swāmī, you, and he?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is one copy, and one full given to me. And the third copy?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I have it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Full?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Well, you see, Mahārāja, what they have is from the same chapter, so I'm without some. But he'll give it to me now. I'm lacking in some chapters, but he has it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. You have three full copies are there?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Full set, three? One set with me.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: One set with you and one with me now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. [About 2:40 minutes of Bengali?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: What did they put, some type of meat? What type of meat was it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The dead body of the buffalo, of the cow, they put there on the other bank of the tank. Outside the water, in that fallow land they have cast the dead body. And we are opposing that, “No, just in front of the Maṭha. Dehastan, such nasty thing should not be done. You take it far off.” But the youngsters of communist mentality they won’t care, they get joy in doing such disturbing things. They’re enjoying here, the tamasic ānanda. This is piśāci, this is piśācik, not raja-guṇa, not the demons, lower than demonic, that is piśācik.

Devotees: Goblins. Witches. Ghosts.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Witches, ghosts. Shakespeare’s ghost was a little gentle.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: More dignified.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That’s more dignified that showed himself to Hamlet, father’s ghost. In this word ghost, that means some body of lustre, that is God the Ghost.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Holy Ghost.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Holy Ghost. That is without this material figure. God the Holy Ghost, God the son, and God the father, Trinity. God the creator, and God in the Guru, comes to relieve as Guru, God as Guru, God as creator, and God as in its inconceivable, transcendental existence. That is beyond our calculation, that is Holy Ghost, something nearer to Brahman. Ghost, it is beyond our conception. That is some halo, which we cannot discriminate, it is beyond our discrimination. And of these three forms, what is considered to be the highest, the original? No such mention?

Devotee: God the Father. They say that they're all the same.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One and the same of course.

Devotee: But they say that the Father is the highest conception.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Father is highest conception, the creator. And then, what? What is the necessity of the Holy Ghost, their transcendental conception of Him? Which we cannot discriminate, differentiate and specify, what is the necessity of that aspect? Is that the most original conception, and from there the Father conception has come out? And from Father, the Son conception, that is the Guru conception has come out. What is the fundamental conception? Is it hazy, or it is of differentiated character? Maybe beyond our present conception, but if He likes, as we say, He can make us conceive of His one part, however negligent it may be. But if He likes He can help us to conceive Him, what He is. That is one thing. And He's beyond conception, the eternal aspect, that we cannot be eligible to have any trace of that, they're in His power also, to make that part to bring to our front, area of conception, what is the nature of that.

Devotee: Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: There is a book in the United States which was discovered in the library called [Journey to] Unknown India. And it is about during the Second World War when the foreigners were imprisoned or kept in the containment camps, concentration camps, here in India. And there's a story about one man who came from Austria, he was the author, who was writing his biography, his experiences.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: Your Godbrother, your German Godbrother, he met your Godbrother in the concentration camp.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. German Godbrother, one Herr Schulze [later Sadānanda dāsa], he was concentrated because he had German nationality he was taken into concentration camp. At that time, some European gentleman, maybe Austrian I don't know, he was also taken into prison and they were in the same room, both of them stayed for long time. And from Schulze my Godbrother, he got many things. He got many instructions about Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism and he was converted mentally. And when he came out then Schulze took him to Bon Mahārāja and he took initiation from Bon Mahārāja. I forget his name.

Devotee: Walter... [Eidlitz.] [Later Vāmana dāsa]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then he went to Europe and he preached, he was a very eloquent speaker I heard, and he preached very widely, especially in Italy and Norway, Sweden. Perhaps he took his nationality in Sweden. Sweden was some neutral country. He took nationality in Sweden and lived there and he was preaching about Gaura-Nityānanda. So much so that one Indian, Bengali gentleman, after attending his meeting in Italy he came here and described that, “You say that the whole world will be converted into Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism. It is not impossible, because what I saw with my own eyes in Italy in a big assembly the gentleman is delivering his lecture and sometimes in the middle of his lecture, “Gaura-Nityānanda kī jaya” and the whole mob is repeating, “Gaura-Nityānanda kī jaya.”

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “That I saw with my own eyes in a meeting in Italy. So I think you say that one day the whole world will come under the banner of Gaura-Nityānanda it may not be impossible.” One gentleman told. So he was a good speaker and was a very energetic man and he was doing in such a way I heard it, from different sources. But one source is so vivid.

But I asked also Swāmī Mahārāja, “Have you come across with that gentleman who did so much for Gaura-Nityānanda? Is he living or dead?”

Swāmī Mahārāja said, “I don’t know about him, perhaps he has been dead.” Swāmī Mahārāja told me.

I told him, already, he’s very energetic and very pushing man and he was preaching very sincerely. I got information from different sources. You please try to find him out and he will help you a great deal perhaps.

Devotee: In the prison camp there were many, many Christians, so he was preaching that concept of the Trinity. He was explaining it to them, to the Christian Ministers and the Priests there in the concentration camp, telling them something to do with Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Schulze he had much affection for me. When he came I was in Bombay. Bon Mahārāja came with two gentlemen, German gentlemen. One Herr Schulze a good scholar, he was conversant in eight languages of Europe, and a good scholar. And another, a son of a Baron, he knew only the cultivation etc. Both of them came. I was at that time in charge of Bombay Maṭha, and Swāmī Mahārāja was also there, and Madhusudan Mahārāja he was also there at that time. I went to receive them from the ship and took them in the morning, our Maṭha. I found Bon Mahārāja a quite changed man, no daṇḍam, no tuft of hair, and also English fashion. Then in a round table, I have already told many times, we took our seat, that Schulze, Swāmī Mahārāja, Bon Mahārāja, myself, perhaps these four or five in a round table conference. I asked Bon Mahārāja, why do I find you in such dress? Your previous dress no trace.

Then he, in a dignified way answered me, replied to me. “Oh, there these, your orthodox fashion can’t work, or can’t stay. England is another type of land. They also dress orthodox formality, blind faith, so that cannot be pushed there. And they have got their own understanding, own reasoning, own philosophy, etc.”

But I was already a student of philosophy here, so I read arguments on both the sides for the atheists and the theist, so I had my strong position in the side of the theist. I challenged him. What are the questions that cannot be answered? Although they may be atheists of the worst type, but I think I can answer, reply to the questions of the atheist also. So there the argument began, discussion began, and at last Bon Mahārāja was defeated.

And Swāmī Mahārāja spoke aloud, cried aloud, “Here Europe is defeated by Asia.”

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Schulze, that German scholar he was very minutely watching the discussion between myself and Bon Mahārāja. Then, I asked him, in course of conversation he told, “That lectures of Bon Mahārāja did not attract me most, but I was really attracted by the book of Sanyal, Professor Nisikanta Sanyal, M.A. Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, that book attracted me really, the thought underlying.”

Anyhow, he was able to speak the salient points of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism, and he had some special affection for me also.

But Bon Mahārāja he moved, wandered about European states and more catholic in his behaviour, conduct. So he generally had choice to live sometimes with Bon Mahārāja.

And there was another gentleman Satyavasta Vakurvya [?] he was also an M.A. and very external indifference, vairāgya, so he had much inclination with him. And later on I found some sort of inclination towards Śaṅkara philosophy, to my disappointment. I sometimes heard him to plead for Śaṅkara philosophy. So I caught that gentleman, that Satyavastabhya, Satyanjan [?] You are going away from cid-vilāsa, that is transcendental differentiated philosophy, and going towards non-differentiated. What is your reason? In Mathurā I gave a challenge to him. And of course he at that time he was defeated. I put it this way: mathura atattva [?], in Bhāgavatam:

dīkṣā-kāle bhakta kare ātma-samarpaṇa, sei kāle kṛṣṇa tāre kare ātma-sama

[“At the time of initiation, when a devotee fully surrenders unto the service of the Lord, Kṛṣṇa accepts him to be as good as Himself.”] [Caitanyacaritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.192]

No, this verse:

śaraṇāgatera, akiñcanera – eka -i lakṣaṇa, tāra madhye praveśaye
'ātma-samarpaṇa'

[“There are two kinds of devotees - those who are fully satiated and free from all material desires and those who are fully surrendered to the lotus feet of the Lord. Their qualities are one and the same, but those who are fully surrendered to Kṛṣṇa’s lotus feet are qualified with another transcendental quality, ātma-samarpaṇa, full surrender without reservation.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.99]

I challenged to him to explain this point, what is the meaning underlying. A śaraṇāgata, one who has surrendered, he’s already akiñcana, akiñcana - that he thinks he has got nothing, he is not master of anything in this world, akiñcana. That is your highest point - akiñcana, niṣkiñcana, nothing to desire, nothing to possess, but this is the basis of śaraṇāgati, it is the negative side. But śaraṇāgati has come to something positive. Tāra madhye praveśaye 'ātma-samarpaṇa'. He’s not only selfless, self-effacement is already there, then he again surrenders him, surrenders him to what? To higher substance, it is sure, certain. If he connects himself with some surrendered area, a higher area, how do you explain this? Then he could not.

martyo yadā tyakta-samasta-karmā, niveditātmā vicikīrṣito me tadāmṛtatvaṁ pratipadyamāno, mayātmā-bhūyāya ca kalpate vai

[“One who is subjected to birth and death attains immortality when he gives up all material activities, dedicates his life to the execution of My order, and acts according to My directions. In this way, he becomes fit to enjoy the spiritual bliss derived from exchanging loving mellows with Me.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.29.34]

How do you explain this?

Then that gentleman, though my God-brother, he told, “Your discussions should take place in Benares.” Benares is the highest seat of the Māyāvādīns. So that gentleman lastly had this deplorable connection with Māyāvāda, this Schulze. No further connection with him I got. Now I think they’re all gone, those two, not living any more.

So to cross the debt of niṣkiñcana, that with the conception that we are not master. Religions generally go up to that. But we have got our Master. We are not masters of this world, this is finished. But I have no right in the whole of the organisation, that I am a paid part of the whole and I have got my respective duty towards the whole. That is to be awake in another world, another plane of life, and that is the subtle, most subtle, and there properly we are there.

muktir hitvān-yathā-rūpaṁ svarūpeṇa vyavasthitiḥ

bodies.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 2.10.6]

We are in diseased condition here and when we are healthy we have got our plane of living. That is the Bhāgavata, the positive Vaiṣṇava conception, not only negative side of life but the positive side, self-determination, or svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti, and muktir hitvān-yathā-rūpaṁ svarūpeṇa vyavasthitiḥ. There is some svarūpe beyond the jurisdiction of the misconception. There is a particular place and position of mine in the universe. What is that? That is to be found out. There is the rub. Without serving that, only trying to serve the negative side, I am suffering, I am suffering. In all conceptions of my life I find suffering, suffering, janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9]. But there is a conception where the life is worth living for. That positive side has been neglected everywhere almost, in so many different conceptions of religious view. Gaura Haribol! The nirmat-sarāṇāṁ satāṁ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.2], these are all realisations of the matsara's life.

And the egoistic school they cannot give up totally their egoism, “That I am master.” In subtle of the subtle form it remains, “That I am master. I am Brahman. I am a part of that master element. I am a part of that master element.”

That I am a part of the subsidiary element, subordinate element, they cannot think it out, their matsara, their jealousy, something like that is the root cause there. But if they become a little generous in their intrinsic conception then the higher realm is there and infinitely higher. And I am created of smaller stuff. Only with the help of that higher I can improve my condition and have a position in the higher plane, if I become nirmat-sarāṇā in the process and Kṛṣṇa-dāsa. I am a junior. I am lower position. If I come to that opposite conception of life, then my prospect is very high and higher. They cannot accommodate that, so nirmat-sarāṇāṁ satāṁ.

In Bhāgavatam while talking, there is the dictator. If I can accept the garment of dictatorship then my lot, my fortune, may become most high. A serving, a submission, submissive attitude, the dictatorial aspect of the world: only fullest submission if I can show, then the dictatorial aspect of the world will take me up, and higher, higher prospect I shall get.

Despot, Autocrat, because that is absolute good, so absolute knowledge, absolute good, absolute everything absolute, then why should I not submit to Him, being in a vulnerable position as I experience here? So that is suicidal not to accept that. I am of lower creation, and I can find it in every step of my life, that I am a hindrance, I am of limited creation. But at the same time, higher creation there may be, why should I deny that? What right have I got to deny that? Here also I am experiencing so many things of high and low. From the highest stone, to the scientific man who is controlling the stone of this here thing, hierarchy is there. And what is the trouble of believing that there is hierarchy in the original site, the higher world, also? What's the wrong there? Only matsarata, the egoism and too much egoism, the worst type of egoism, nasty, that is in the way. That is the hindrance to our real progress of life. Mahāprabhu announced:

jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa', [kṛṣṇera 'tatasthā-śakti' bhedābheda-prakāśa']

In naked terms, you are a slave to that highest entity. This is your innate natural acquaintance. You are such. Your inner self has got such intrinsic position with the Absolute. Absolute is so high. With whom we are connected His position is so high and you are a slave. Jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa'. The all-attracting and the conscious attraction, and attraction by love, that is the centre, nature of the centre. And you are a slave to that great force of love and beauty. You are so fortunate.

You may thank your God that you are so fortunate that you can be handled in any way by that Absolute Beauty, Charm, Existence, Knowledge, everything, the highest centre. You are connected, not divorced. You are not barred by your birth, not to enter that domain. But you have got the position there. The position, as a gentleman you should understand from your experience of this world. If you want a real position there you should be of what nature? You yourself will judge it, of the most subordinate. As much as you'll have to go to the higher power you'll have to accept the position of a subordinate. It is clear from your own present experience. We should be satisfied with that, otherwise you'll be barred and cast aside here, where the rubbish is thrown out, you'll be thrown out there. If I'm a gentleman, think like a gentleman, you are so limited and you have got so high prospect, high prospect, and infinitely higher than you. Still, you have got a position there. And should we not be prepared to accept that honourable position there? And what is that? The Lord Himself says that if you become a slave, He becomes also your slave. What more you need? What more you can expect?

hṛdayo, bhaktair bhakta-jana-priyaḥ]

[The Lord tells Durvāsā: "I am the slave of My devotees; I have no freedom apart from their will. Because they are completely pure and devoted to Me, My heart is controlled by them, and I reside always in their hearts. I am dependent not only on My devotees, but even on the servants of My devotees. Even the servants of My devotees are dear to Me."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.63]

"Though intrinsically, independently I have the highest position of controlling everything, but this śaraṇāgati controls Me, but in a different way, through the way of affection. Not by power, not by necessity, not by intrinsic existence, but through love."

You be satisfied with that. And not only there, you can enter into the harem also; you can enter into the motherly relationship. What more you may want? The Lord is coming to be whipped by you. What is this matter, and you are not satisfied fully?

Giri Mahārāja is alone there?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mm. He's up and about now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Up? Gaura Sundara. Gaura Sundara. Gaura Sundara.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Can you describe the work which Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura did in Navadvīpa, the work he did as far as building temples in Navadvīpa - how he started his mission within Navadvīpa building temples, or maybe after he disappeared, which disciples took leading roles in those management and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the necessity of that? You want to write a history?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Satsvarūpa Mahārāja wanted a general idea of which temples are in which islands and so forth. Which temples have been established when Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura was present, in the islands of Navadvīpa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That cannot be the subject of a lecture, but when we are to sit together and then we have to go through it, ancient memory, and gradually collect from there and to enlist. You may try to find it from Saraswatī Jaya Śrī as well as consulting the Gauḍīya, the papers. In the beginning Sajjana-Toṣaṇī [renamed The Harmonist, an English monthly], that was founded by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and Prabhupāda in his early life of preaching, but before, he edited that Sajjana-Toṣaṇī, after Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura for some time. Then he published his own paper as Gauḍīya, then daily Nadīyā Prakash, then Paramarthi in Oriya, then Kīrtana in Assam, and then Harmonist in English, from Calcutta - one part in Sanskrit, another part in English, and then published Bhāgavatam in Hindi. These were the papers published by him. And Saraswatī Jaya Śrī, his biography, that was begun by Sundarānanda, but later on he was led astray and perhaps those books that were in their possession they're all destroyed. And before that some collection hither and thither, that has been saved, what I am told, I do not know it exactly. Saraswatī Jaya Śrī. Śrī and vaibhava, that later part perhaps he began, the second part he began to write in the beginning, and collect the materials of the first part. But perhaps the book was not finished, in this way, topsy-turvy. It may be the Divine Will.

Just as Kṛṣṇa, when Kṛṣṇa went off, the dissension began after His demise, and the dissension began in the lifetime of Kṛṣṇa. And also after Rāmacandra, then the dark age came. No historian can trace what after Rāmacandra, what was the affairs in the throne of Ayodhyā, not of much importance. This is the way. He knows. Generally things happen in this way.

The rocket has got its basis very strong, to take a push, some negative push is necessary. So previous and after; a wave, high wave, means both sides are a little lower. Drawing water, then the wave becomes high on both sides. That is the nature, thesis, antithesis, synthesis - in the language of Hegel - thesis, antithesis, synthesis; progress of the world of this type.

[“Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa.”] [Ujjvala-Nīlamanī]

As Rūpa Goswāmī says, the movement is in a crooked way. That is the nature. That is the nature of the movement, up and down, there must be, up and down must be to, this is the unavoidable necessity of vilāsa. Vilāsa means play, jaya para jaya, small and big. Vilāsa means important, non-important. Vilāsa presupposes the existence of such differentiated character, in good, in bad, everywhere. Aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet, otherwise there cannot be any vilāsa, any play, good and bad. Vilāsa means that, showing...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...done on it as a dissension all this. No valuation we can do out of that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The gradation there must be, and there is. Competition in a dacoit and competition amongst the free fighters, more and less, back and front, there must be. Freedom fighters amongst them also may be competition, and also for the dacoits also there competition, high and low, forward and backward. Vilāsa means competition and competition means high and low. And both of them are supporting a particular aim, it may be. We must be, make ourselves prepared with that, general rules of existence, so we must not be misguided by that.

‘Because Kṛṣṇa could not control His subordinates, they fought amongst each other and died, all finished, so how Kṛṣṇa can be the highest personage?’ This is redundant, irrelevant, unnecessary and irrelevant, to understand what is true and what is not true. No contribution we can find from here. The criterion you’ll have to find in another plane of understanding, whether He’s high, why He could control, but why He did not control the situation? A man is not judged by this type of his activity.

Why Kṛṣṇa fled away from the battle eighteen times from Jarāsandha? Jarāsandha attacked Mathurā and Kṛṣṇa fled away. What is at the bottom? He was a coward, we are to think? So, we should not go to judge things in this process. That process is rather quite different. The criterion of, this mundane criterion may not be tried there with that.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. This is misleading, we'll be very warned against committing such error to apply the criterion of one thing to another, to apply it to another. The physical power if we apply in the case of the intelligentsia we shall have to fail. They're different standpoints. Lion is great from one point, elephant is great, man also great from another point, man is greater from another point, in this way. The great power, previously the land animals, then navy, and now air, then bombing, then the gas war, now atomic war, and then electronic, in this way it is going differently, no end.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. What is what? What is what? Bhūr, Bhuvah, Svah, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Satya, Virajā, Bramhaloka, Śivaloka, Vaikuṇṭha, we are to, the process, these are the processes that have been sent to us. Try to know by this process what is the main, the backbone, where all sorts of knowledge is, connected over. Why, what is this Bhuvahloka and Bhūrloka? Bhuvahloka - how it is more, it is better - how? Then Mahā - what is the special quality there? Jana, Tapa, Satya - what is the speciality? On the whole, the exploitation is diminishing gradually, but that is also by different stages. Then exploitation finishes, vanishes in Virajā. Then, hazy conception of the other dedicating land, then, we can get Śivaloka - the lowest portion, of some independence, some serving attitude, not wholesale. Then, awe and reverence and serving in Nārāyaṇa. In this way the standard will be gold, between marks, yens, and roubles, and pounds, and dollars, rupees, that sukha, ānandam, ecstasy, fulfilment, that will be the standard. And we are to have self-approval to accept that standard first; that is śraddhāmayo 'yam loka.

If you have got regard for that earnestness then that loka, that plane may come to you. But the world of colour can only come with the eye, the world of sound that comes only with the ear. So, through śraddhā we can approach a world, a type of world, not by other, by ear, eye, touch, etc. Or even by the mind of who is full with the thoughts of this world of exploitation experience, not by that. Even our reason; that is only connected with the experience - that also cannot give us that idea, in this way. But faith can take us to higher existence, and we shall, we are to find out a science in the faith. The faith has also got its science, faith, its nature, its analysis, its quality, its development, different stages. But there is another thing. Analysis of the eye experience, analysis of the sound experience, analysis of the reason experience, so analysis of the faith, science of the faith is also there. That how śraddhā goes, what way, and what finds it around, it side by side.

Devotee: Mahārāja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you once said that it's very difficult to differentiate between the intelligence and the soul, buddhi and ātmā, very fine dividing line.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not very fine, but of course fine, buddhi nistha atmika [?] The faculty within us which gives decree and dismissal, dismiss. This is this, this is that, this cannot be this. This sort of faculty is buddhi, reason, faculty of judgement, this is. And ātmā is light. The light focussed from above, then the reason can see, 'this is black, this is white, this is rotten, this is fresh.' The buddhi he gives decision - 'this is good, this is bad.' But light in the background is absolutely necessary, ātmā is of that light type, ātmā, otherwise no activity is possible without light, ātmā is the light.

Yayedam dharyate jagat [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.5] Entering into this world, the ātmā, the ātmā is a party and this exploiting experience another party, exploited experience another party. And ātmā, it is difficult to understand the real characteristic of ātmā, but it should be compared as light, knowledge, background. And because the knowledge is there, the light is there, then discrimination about anything, it may be rubbish, it may be a rotten thing, or it may be a flower, it may be stool, but discrimination is possible, whether it is good, whether it is helpful, it is non-helpful, it is injurious, all sorts of discrimination is found, comes from buddhi, reason, the reason.

The reason, in Western philosophy, they say, reason applied in this mundane world, this generally we say as reason. And that is, in the higher sphere, the name is conscience, that is their view. The conscience when it is utilised in the higher sphere, and reason when it is applied in the lower sphere. But anyhow, the decision is with buddhi, but it is called buddhi in reference with this mundane loss or gain, here. And ātmā is light, nothing to do, no interest, real interest with this system of experience of the mundane pleasure. Ātmā has no real interest, but only is a party for its choice, erroneous choice, ātmā.

Devotee: Mahārāja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] The weakness in ātmā, that is rather the cause. Ātmā really finds no interest here in exploitation, but his weakness, his curiosity, has connected him with this world of exploitation. That is the subtle-most connecting link, the very subtle, most subtle, through weakness, the curiosity, joining him with this. But he cannot be happy. Without him no feeling is possible, everything is blind, all energy has no fulfilment. Because he is there, therefore he is the party, but he's minor. [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very weak, and that is the fundamental position we are to draw out all reasoning from that basis, that data. So soul should not be entangled with this mundane interest, wholly, because he's above that. And also because he's in connection with this side, margin, this side margin, so somewhat connected. So we cannot consider itself the part of this world, but by the influence of this side it may be considered that he is in our side. And from the Vaikuṇṭha, the other side others also they may think, seeing his marginal position, that he may be in our side, the peculiar position of the soul, taṭasthā.

The general idea has been given like that. So we cannot think that he's a member of this mundane world, and we shall go to apply our mundane laws over him, that won't be, he's above. At the same time without his connection these things cannot be concocted, as the light is necessary. A party may be minor, but anyhow a fictitious party must be established, to explain all these things. So jīva soul is just like a point, has existence but no magnitude, something like that, a line, no breadth, length no breadth. So he's marginal line, neither it is member, this mundane law can be applied over him: nor this mundane activity can be explained without his passive support.

So we cannot, the other day he may be changed, he may say, "No, I don't want, sarva-dharmān parityajya, [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66] I have no connection with you," he may assert in one second, it may be possible.

The buffer state can be occupied by the higher power on the other side in a second. But still we should consider it to be buffer. So without ātmā no party is there. Who is the enjoyer, of good and bad, or pure or impure? The question, the bhoktā, the enjoyer is necessary. That this is detrimental, the feeling is necessary in the background of all these affairs, that this is pleasing me, and this is not pleasing me, this is pleasing and non-pleasing. Who's the party who will say? Then the case will stand, otherwise no case. One feeler, either pleasure or pain, the feeler, the party must stand, otherwise no case can stand. Enjoyer, puruṣa, but puruṣa is of such type without him nothing can be explained, nothing can be set up, got up. And he also, we cannot rely him to be the full party, the full support from him, any moment he may withdraw. He may say, "I am a subject of the other land, not yours."

So such background we are to, our position, otherwise we have no hope. If voluntarily we have any place here, then we have no hope to go up in the upper world. We can go there clear, no contamination we have to carry, it is not within our nature, our existence, this māyā, this exploitation. Otherwise if we have something, permanent element of this exploitation within us, we could not go there with clean hands. We are to carry that nasty thing with us - it is not permanent within a soul, but the connection for the time being. Making here enter with something like curiosity, not real interest. That is this world, a position of the soul in this world, because he has his prospect, higher prospect that side.

If the whole world is abolished, soul may not be affected, but it may stand with so many just as in the time of a sound sleep, no necessity we feel of the world in sound sleep. But in subtle form it is there as long as the touch in the finest form, again the consciousness comes and feels awake and the interest also comes out. The memory comes out of the previous day, of the previous time, and takes up in the world. But the sound sleep apparently all connections cut off, no feeling of any necessity at that time. In samādhi a very, very long time, a pure type of sound sleep, but entrance into the other world that is a revolutionary prospectus, fulfilment for the soul.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Just as intoxication, our connection with wine, without wine we can live well, but if I enter into intoxicating habit then some sort of uneasiness, but if cut off, then it is all right. So wine may not be thought as a necessary part of my mental system, 'without wine I can't live, my mind cannot exist,' not that. But still, any good or bad goes ultimately to me through the wine, he has that sort of habit, pernicious, intoxication. Something like that. It is not a part, but still, without myself in the background, no calculation of good or bad, nothing can exist.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Ke? Parisevān?

Devotee: Mukunda-mālā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mukunda-mālā. Where is Parisevān?

Devotee: Here Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Here, ha, ha. I can't see, ha, ha, ha. A great drawback, every moment, 'who is you, who is you?' A tedious thing, every day meeting, and still, 'who are you, who are you?' Ha, ha.

Devotee: Your vision is in the spiritual world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Spiritual world?

Devotee: You're always seeing Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If you see that, that I'm seeing Kṛṣṇa, so you have got that direction also. Well and good. Gaura Haribol. By the blessings of you all I may attain that, that vision. Always taking Him into consideration I shall see, move, live, everything. The standpoint will be there. Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu, Gurudeva, āśraya-vigraha, highest āśraya-vigraha, Rādhārāṇī, so many: to fix our eye and accordingly move. The point of interest is there. With this view we shall live and move. The interest, point of interest, the point of interest must be wakeful to the point of interest. That will regulate all our movement, every movement, every step we shall take fixing our attention, fullest attention as much as we can collect, the centre, the centre of our interest. And it may be by the grace of all, in Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu, Nityanānda, Rādhārāṇī, of same type, more or less. They're akin, not antagonistic, they're in harmony. No hitch, there may be competition but no hitch, not any incurring displeasure because all centred in the interest of one.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

So, it is taken off?

Devotee: Yes. I have it here. I'm holding it. Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Now, what's the time?

Devotees: Ten to ten.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So today we retire here. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Jaya om Viṣṇu-pāda Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Goswāmī Prabhupāda kī jaya.

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śrīpāda Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja kī jaya.

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sevā vṛnda kī jaya.

.....

... protector: the approach that, “You please give me shelter, please give me shelter.” That is the salient thought. Others are extension, vaibhava, anga, limbs. Goptṛtve varaṇaṁ, the prayer, “Please accept me. Please give me shelter.” And what is favourable, to accept, what is unfavourable, to reject: and to throw one's own self towards that direction, ātma-nikṣepaḥ. Kārpaṇyam, I am so low, so mean, so unfit. This is, they're all side issue. Goptṛtve varaṇaṁ. Always try to retain to that sort of feeling, or prayer. “Please give me shelter. I am so and so, so I want to cast myself. Please accept me.” The central thought of śaraṇāgati. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. That is what - the definition of śaraṇāgati is given there, consulting so many other scriptures. Pādaikā-, śrayatvaṁ śaraṇāgatiḥ.

[Being governed by the faith that all success is achieved by serving the Supreme Lord, to abandon servitude to even scriptural injunctions and take exclusive refuge in the lotus feet of Śrī Kṛṣṇa in every time, place and circumstance, is known as śaraṇāgati – unconditional surrender.] [Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, 1.35]

A definition of śaraṇāgati is this. Collecting so many thoughts about it, it was composed by myself. Bhagavad-bhaktiḥ sarvvaṁ. Everything attainable we may get by, the highest fulfilment we may get, by our adherence and devotion to the Lord. With this idea, vidher api kairkaryyaṁ, even our care for any śāstric rules and regulations that also will be avoided. Ity utsrjya vidher api kairkaryyaṁ kṛṣṇa-pādaikā-, śrayatvaṁ. And only one thing we should keep in mind, that I want to – want my shelter under the holy feet of the Lord. The whole duty is concentrated there. The conception of our whole duty is concentrated only in this sort. All others are extensions, or helping, but main thing to get our shelter under His holy feet. The scriptures are meaning only to this. So for that purpose, for giving in different classes of people, different recommendations are in the śāstra. There is a jungle there, and it is better to avoid all these and to take the central road. This is meant by all the different rules and regulations of the scriptures everywhere. The very gist is this, to realise that through śraddhā, sādhu-saṅga, and concentrate ones whole energy to engage in that. Āśraya, ‘I want shelter under Your holy feet.’ That is the be all and end all, of all our attempts, should be. This is śaraṇāgati.

And it has also been mentioned elsewhere, that only by śaraṇāgati can give us everything, not only it is the basis of our acquisition, but simply the śaraṇāgati can satisfy whole thing, it can produce everything. We shall only try to devote all our energy to acquire śaraṇāgati, and other necessary things will come out of their own accord. As much as my śaraṇāgati will be intense, Kṛṣṇa He will be mad to supply all other necessary things for me. We are only, śaraṇāgati, as I say now and then, to concentrate, to increase the negativity, the negative character of our position, dainya, and concentrate wholly to śaraṇāgati. And other things will come automatically, by the will, but thereby, by intense prayer for śaraṇāgati Kṛṣṇa is moved and then everything is inevitable outcome of the will of Kṛṣṇa. Only to move Kṛṣṇa, to touch His heart, that is necessary, the whole concentration to touch His heart, then other things will come automatically. That is the key to the success of a devotee, of the life of a devotee. Am I clear?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So a question arises, then is full śaraṇāgati possible only for uttama- adhikārī ? Śaraṇāgati, fully, is only with the uttama-adhikārī ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. As much as the devotion increases, the śaraṇāgati,

[?] and others also. To move the Autocrat, śaraṇāgati is indispensable, that we have to understand. No rules, regulations. Rules and regulations are nowhere, much. That also comes from Him, but for different sections. Śaraṇāgati is the very life of devotion, śaraṇāgati.

mārobi rākhobi yo icchā tohārā, [nitya-dāsa prati tuwā adhikārā]

[“Slay me or protect me as You wish, for You are the master of Your eternal servant.”] [From Śaraṇāgati, 3, The Songs Of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 13]

“You can do anything and everything with me, anything. I’m Yours.” The risk, rather that is to take, in worldly sense to take the risk of being handled in any way He likes. “I’m Yours, unconditional, unconditional slavery.” Slavery means unconditional, is it not?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Slaves, a question of faith, faithful, more faithful. How much one slave can sacrifice? Not only fashion, not only law of the country, but the real slavery, voluntary slavery. And there is also degree.

“Slave mentality, Gauḍīya Maṭha promotes the slave mentality. They’re encouraging slave mentality into the country and spoiling the people.”

But you encourage slavery to the country conception. And slavery to the truth, to the goodness, to the absolute truth and goodness, absolute knowledge... ke?

[?] Nītāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: From the Vedas, we understand that the Vedic culture once existed throughout Bhārata-varṣa, the whole earth, the whole planet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only one, no. Bhārata-varṣa, Hari-varṣa, Kimpuruṣa-varṣa, so many other varṣa also, nine varṣa, nine divisions, Bhārata-varṣa is one of that, it is mentioned.

Devotee: Yes. So the historians they may say, 'If this Vedic culture existed all over this earth, why is there no history of it in places like North America?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They could not abrogate. So many things are gone. Not only Vedic culture, in any particular form or other so many things are going, and gone away.

Devotee: Why did it remain...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is deformed. Huh?

Devotee: Why has it remained in India but not in other parts of the world?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: India was selected by Him. That is His will. Just as at present America is selected for wealth: something, generally it is not, His will working, but the - His will is above everything, and still there is the karma, the sansti [?] karma, the result of the karma of the masses, that is. And one place must be selected. Bhārata-varṣa was selected. The question is, whether we shall give more importance to His selection or the geographical position, that fossilism. The fossil will be the cause, or His will will be the cause, prime, what will have preference? What should have the preference, His will that is from the conscious world and the cause comes down, or whether the fossil is producing in the form of geography and history the cause of incidents? What side you like to associate? Ha, ha.

No limit can be placed in His free will, free thinking. Everything is For Itself, and By Itself and For Itself. Everything is For Itself. Your consideration, my consideration, has got no value, no position. It is His free will, waving in His own manner, Autocratic manner. And there we have got some self consciousness within that wave of helplessness. So forceful is the wave, just as in earthquakes or in storms, we have got no position.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...inference, or our calculation, or our fossil cause, have its place there, nothing. So surrender is necessary. Surrender and know, if He cares to make you know. Otherwise who are you to challenge the Infinite? Ke?

Devotees: Mukunda-mālā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You forget the very foundation of dedication. We are so helpless in the ocean, in the storm, in the earthquake. There are so many things in the atomic world also, man made. Then what we have got? Nothing, in the infinite. That our existence is eternal, we thank Him, that our existence may not be finished. Some will say that would have been better. “It is better to reign in hell than to serve in heaven. Better to die than to accept the theory of slavery.” What do you say? Are you of that party?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Slavery is inconceivably a better life than so-called freedom of guṇḍā life. This is all guṇḍā life. Guṇḍā means rogue, rascal, and what are they? What other words are...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Ruffians.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ruffians, and what is the most objectionable? Most intense ruffian? Devotee: Dacoit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dacoit; that is a Hindi word, dacoit.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Dacat.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dacat is Bengali.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: English we say dacoit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dasu in Sanskrit. [?] Alexander and the robber, there is a talk between the two. Alexander caught a robber and,

“You are looting and robbing all these things, this thing.”

“But you are a greater robber,” the robber replied. “I am only in small villages and towns.

But country after country you are robbing. Are you not a greater robber than myself?”

So everyone’s a robber here. Robber, looter, loot, that is also a Hindi word, looting.

Ruffians, rogues, rascals, and what other terms are there?

Devotee: Scoundrel.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Scoundrel, which is the most intense?

Devotee: Prabhupāda uses a term, “The lowest of the mankind.”

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Narādhamaḥ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Narādhamaḥ.

dvau bhūta-sargau loke 'smin, daiva āsura eva ca [daivo vistaraśaḥ prokta, āsuram pārtha me śṛṇu]

["O Pārtha, the living beings in this world are seen to be of two natures - godly and demoniac. I have already elaborately described the godly nature to you, so now hear from Me about the demoniac nature."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 16.6]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Miscreant.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dvau bhūta-sargau loke 'smin, daiva āsura eva ca. Then what is the next line? Dvau bhūta-sargau loke 'smin, daiva āsura eva ca.

daivī sampad vimokṣāya, nibandhāyāsurī matā [mā śucaḥ sampadam daivīm, abhijāto 'si pāṇḍava]

["The godly and virtuous qualities have been described as the cause of liberation, and the demoniac qualities have been described as the cause of certain bondage. O Pāṇḍava, you need not worry, for your nature is godly and virtuous from birth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 16.5]

asatyam apratiṣṭham te, jagad āhur anīśvaram aparaspara-sambhūtam, kim anyat kāma-hetukam

["The persons of demoniac nature say that the universe is nothing more than imaginary, baseless, godless, and born of their mutual cohabitation. They conclude that the whole world was created simply for lust."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 16.8]

This is the mentality of the demonic school thinker, demonic thinker. Asatyam apratiṣṭhaṁ. They say that this world has got no real basis at all, apratiṣṭhaṁ te. Jagad āhur anīśvaram. There is no God. Aparaspara-sambhūtaṁ. Only produced by chemical combinations. Kim anyat kāmā-hetukam. And the sense pleasure is the highest attainment here. These are the theories of the atheist demonic school. Nothing good in their stock, either in present or in future. This is a class of thinkers. They're worse than Satan. Satan has got recognition of God and fighting with Him, but there is recognition. Satan, he recognises God, but he's a fighter against Him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Satan. If you call one 'You are Satan personified' then what is that, more than scoundrel, ruffian, all these things, rascals, will that be the extreme? In the negative side, what word will be extreme, Satan or ruffian or rascal or rogue?

Devotees: Satan, demon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Demon? Demon is the strongest term in the negative side?

Devotees: Yes. Satan is considered the leader of the demons in Christian...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Satan: Satan is considered to be the leader of the demons. So deva the divine, and the demonic, two sections: daiva and āsura; āsura demonic class, and daiva who admits divinity, who are approaching towards divinity, daiva. Towards consciousness, consideration, love, affection, justice, mercy. And others they're of the nocturnal – what does he say? They're agents of the nocturnal agents of darkness. They're agents of darkness, ajñāna, ignorance. Three classes, ajñāna, jñāna, and prema, three classes. Ignorance, knowledge, and love, three phases, thinking, feeling, willing, and jñāna bala kṛiṃa ca, thesis, antithesis, synthesis. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Thesis, antithesis, synthesis.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. The highest synthesis in love, prema, what can harmonise the impossible, prema only, mercy can accommodate everything, love can accommodate everything and harmonise. Justice, knowledge, cannot do: knowledge or justice cannot be all comprehensive. Some elimination must be there. But love, mercy, forgiveness – to err is human but to forgive is divine. We generally should think that justice must be the highest thing, that how a better thing is possible, more than justice, above justice? It is rather impossible. Justice must be the highest thing, otherwise there will be anarchy.

But there is a thing which is mercy, and the centre of that mercy, the cause of that mercy, must have such capacity as to bring the opposites together. To keep within His fold He must have the power of compensation. Only He can show mercy, who can compensate what is required in justice, He can do mercy. Otherwise the other party may be neglected and injustice will be there. That is not desirable. But mercy, or love, that can compensate more than demanded by the justice. The mercy is such position, He holds such position, plenary difference. And it is at the root, and Kṛṣṇa is there, the dedication to the utmost degree. And that is the source, that is the source where from nectar is being produced, that nectar producing plane, nectar producing plane; plane of love and mercy, above justice. Autocrat means above justice, so how good He should, must be: autocracy. Autocracy means above justice, so absolute goodness. Otherwise autocracy cannot be anywhere else, only with goodness. Autocracy presupposes goodness, in the real sense, otherwise it is more than hell. Real autocracy is possible only there in truth and goodness. Love can compensate anything, so broad, so spacious, so accommodating, so noble. The cause, and the prime cause, the ideal of the prime cause will be such. And if we can think a part of that we can be noble, we also can be promoted to the higher degree of our life of nobility. We think it that. No reaction, all reaction is digested there. Justice has its reaction, but love can digest all sorts of reaction, so far.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Gurudeva, when we take, honour prasāda, we are to appreciate how Kṛṣṇa has tasted it. In our preaching...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. We shall try to be attentive about that, that the conscious side of that prasāda, avoiding the material, the eye, the sense experience, eye experience, that also utilised for that purpose. They will be subservient to that consciousness with God, connecting. Eye experience, they will all be subservient. 'It is in good colour,' and then, 'The scent is very good.' But the others also, 'The touch, it is not hard.' All these, not to satisfy me, it has satisfied the Lord; the transfer of the centre from ones own ego to the Lord. All others subservient, all others finished. The main thing will come to harmonise everything towards the high. Be conscious that the enjoyer is He, enjoyer is He. Everything is For Himself, kṛṣṇa indriya tattva, kṛṣṇa santosh. How He has been satisfied, with the colour, with the scent, with the softness, with the dressing, all these things. Everything will go, we shall see if He's satisfied then I shall try to follow His satisfaction. Everything will be thought, not in a primary way, but in a secondary way. How He has tasted, how He has tasted, He has liked it. My liking will be subordinate to His liking. Not a separate independent, but must be in submission to His taste and His satisfaction. In every way of life we shall seek, not only in prasādam, in every way of life we shall try to connect it with how He's satisfied. Our always inquisitiveness will be how this thing is satisfying Him, the search. His satisfaction is to be searched in every action.

And because He's far away, so next centre, the Guru, the Vaiṣṇava, the next, nearest centre. If he's satisfied it is all right, then Kṛṣṇa is satisfied. It is guaranteed there. If Guru is satisfied with my service then I may take it that Kṛṣṇa is satisfied. Otherwise Guru will not show his satisfaction, in this way; nearest station. And if Guru is also absent, then any devotee who is superior – I can safely think he's superior to me, then is he's satisfied I shall try to be satisfied. In this way we shall seek the satisfaction of the supreme will – in every activity. Wherever I shall go, will it satisfy Kṛṣṇa, or my Gurudeva, or a Vaiṣṇava? Then I shall – don't rely on your own. When none is present, you will ask within you, whether my Guru or Vaiṣṇava or Kṛṣṇa: 'Are You satisfied? Will You be satisfied?' We must inquire within. 'Gurudeva, this dilemma, I am between this dilemma. What side I shall take? You please dictate me.' With a clear mind, unbiased mind, we shall try to stand before the inner Guru. And if I find any suggestion we shall go, we shall do that. I am ready. No more may be expected from me. From my position, where I am, I shall try to be always faithful to Guru conception, to Vaiṣṇava conception, to Kṛṣṇa conception, Mahāprabhu conception, all these. Self effacement and self surrendering, mainly, that will be our way.

Adridhan told he will come, but after taking prasādam there perhaps, is it not, or may not come?

What the ṛṣis thinking, condition. So my plan is some relieving station...

Devotee: ...He wanted to know where Aranya Mahārāja was going to go, and I said he was going to London to preach. And then he said, "Well, he will not be given facility." Then I said, well, if he has the desire to preach then the facility will come. That is the main thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he will make recruitment in general for the Ācārya of that zone, no harm. And if any special case that may be taken here. But general recruitment, I think, then he'll get their sympathy. What do you think? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then they'll be able to stand in a strong foundation with their present help.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What happened?

Devotee: I have a problem with my arm. Sometimes it pops out.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Some pain in the arm came. He has some trouble sometimes on the arm.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Left side. Sudden pain?

Devotee: Yes. Sometimes, it pops out of the socket.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And how you get relief?

Devotee: Well, it dislocates, and then if I pull like this then it comes back in.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dislocation? Sudden dislocation? No pressure, in ordinary stage, dislocation comes?

Devotee: Yes. Just comes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Perhaps any in your movement, some reflex, some defect in the reflex action, then the dislocation comes.

Devotee: Sometimes. Yes. I was in an accident.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. And you can adjust it yourself?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I had experience of such a case. But that occurred not always, due to some pressure, not any time, while swimming or carrying, any pressure, may be misplaced and dislocation comes: again if properly located, all right, no pain.

Gaura Haribol. [?] Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, did Śrīla Bhaktivinoda give dīkṣā to any men?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He did.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very few. Perhaps in his [?] about seven perhaps. That Tīrtha Mahārāja, the old Tīrtha Mahārāja, he was disciple of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, but given sannyāsa by our Prabhupāda.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That's Pradīp Tīrtha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pradīp Tīrtha. Yes. Then there was one Samba Banerjee, he was a moneyed man in [?] he got dīkṣā from Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. There was one gentleman in Svarūpa Ganga from Vasanta he was Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākuras. Another: lady, very educated lady, Vidulata [?] Bosh, had profound knowledge in Bhāgavatam, she studied Bhāgavatam from Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura direct. That lady I saw, disciple of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Her son was also disciple of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura but I did not see him, already died, before mother.

Then another was Kamud [?] Babu who was in Bangladesh, perhaps he might have died by this time. But during the anarchical movement in Bangladesh the Pakistani soldiers came to shoot him. He told, “Stop for a little, and let me be ready for the last time.” So he went to his room and took the Harināma mālīka and took his seat in the chair and asked them, “You may shoot me now.” But they fled away. [Group laughter] There was one Kamud [?] Babu.

There was another, Nakul Brahmācārī, living in [?] he was a portrait maker. He was also Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's disciple.

So we saw so many disciples of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. But that may be counted on the fingers. But Prabhupāda's disciples many, may have a thousand perhaps. And Swāmī Mahārāja perhaps lākhs ?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No. Five thousand I'd say.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Five thousand.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Of course lākhs of people turning this side.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Connected?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sympathisers. His life members, how many? That will count to lākhs?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, it will come to more than lākhs.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They are half disciples. They are reading his books.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. Some of them also become – quite often they become, of course, full-fledged.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Nitāi.

Devotee: Yesterday I got the notification, letter came from the visa office in Calcutta.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He has ten more days [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, visa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In India, ten more days.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now, I'm to consult with you, what about the letter of Madhavānanda. The first week you may come to Calcutta, so one of you must help the scholars. The scholars should be the head, not the financier.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So Madhava's programme...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... your hope, prospect, is there, not here, the animal consciousness, paśu buddhi. Paśupati Śiva.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Means?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śiva, Mahādeva, his name is Paśupati, the king of all body conscious souls, Mahādeva, Paśupati. And paś is māyā, Paśupati, paśa and paśu, ordinarily a soul in bondage they're called paśu, animal. And Paśupati is Śiva, and the paśa means tie, tie is māyā, rope is māyā. Paśu, paśa, Paśupati. Now we are paśupati baddha jīva, when tied by the rope of māyā you are paśu, animal, paśa mukta sadāśiva, and if you get out of that bondage then you become śiva. That is sāṅkhya philosophy, so many śivas, there are many śivas, mukta souls, that the Jaiminism, and Sikhism perhaps, at the base. There are some, 'No God but the sādhus are there. Mukta jīva, liberated souls are there, innumerable in number.'

Monard, English philosopher, Monard or someone, Monard's theory, the seven particles of soul, or consciousness, some come in material understanding and some out, innumerable their number. I caught one gentleman, where they exist those numbers, innumerable numbers of liberated souls? Do they exist really? And so many, where they exist? And what is the relation between them? And is there anything to harmonise them? Can't answer!

And there Bhāgavatam comes to talk about them. We are concerned with this side. But after liberation, where they live, how they live, what is their relation between, and is there anyone to harmonise them? Only such things are given by Bhāgavatam. We are to attend that now. This is sāṅkhya philosophy.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Dayaldulal, what does he say? He will stay here, or go to some other place?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He may stay about another week.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, join Dhīra Kṛṣṇa?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Then back to his family in America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: America. He was sent by Dhīra Kṛṣṇa?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. And he's a gr̥hastha, he has wife and child there. He'll go back.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is his vocation? You don't know?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He told me. I forget now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In business?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Some general thing like that, general type of thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Living single or with parents?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, wife...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wife of course.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, separate from parents.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally married men they all live separate, is it?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. Joint family in our country is not common: possible but not generally done.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But there is: joint family exists?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Very little, practically not.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very little, one per cent?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Maybe, the exception.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But every American they must have some state help, is it not?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, if there's sickness or disability then they have state help.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I was told that even from their birth every child must get two hundred dollars, the state will help with two hundred dollars for him or her.

Devotee: That's only for families who are poor. Many, many poor families they have to get certain support for the children that are coming.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Only poor families.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Poor families, whose income is limited, they get that... remuneration. Two hundred dollars. What is the extent, amount?

Devotee: Depending on the number of children, sometimes it is more than two hundred, sometimes less. If there are fewer children dependent then they get lesser amount.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I was told that all the Americans come here every one of them get two hundred rupees from the state, who comes here.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not everyone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Have you taken anything yet?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja we've taken.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the child of the other soil, not of this land. In our inner identification we are really a child of that soil. But we have come and made progress in the negative side, in the land of enemy. Land of enemy, we have made so much progress in the negative side. That is our position; and the wholesale of us like that, more or less. In the land of enemies land we are living, and all dealing also like enemy to one another. Suicidal place, land of suicide, all of us. This is such a domain. And how to get out? And only through the agent of that. And their connection, unconscious connection creates some sukṛti, unconscious help, independent of our consciousness; that is sukṛti, by the agents of that plane. And then gradually when sukṛti is accumulated to a certain extent, then we find something as śraddhā, some vague aspiration that there may be a place where we can live happily without reaction. The reaction in the form of janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9], janma, they have to take birth, mṛtyu, then we are to vanish, go away, jarā, infirmity, undesirable body, physical feeling, and vyādhī, every time the pain of disease we have to undergo, inevitable, such condition undesirable to anyone and everyone. And how should we get relief from that? We get a hope, a ray of hope, when we get śraddhā, as the result of the accumulated sukṛti, then śraddhā. Then it is possible consciously to approach a sādhu with little vague consciousness that there may be some prospect of life which can fulfil our inner desire, full of prospect. Then we approach a sādhu. Then under his guidance we go on with some practices which is promoting our intimacy to the persons, or to anything of that soil. And gradually we make advance.

And then after we pass some stages: bhajan, bhajana kriya, anartha-nivṛtti, the undesirable tendency within us gradually diminishes. Then we find within us ruci, real taste for that land, for that domain, real taste we find within us. Then of course it becomes easy to go on with our bhajan, when some real taste awakens within. That is ruci. And then it comes to āśakti, bhāva, when bhāva-bhakti we attain, get a real touch, and not very clear, but get the real touch, just as a bud of a flower. In that position when we come we are more or less safe. Before that we are not safe. We may be - may fall again, but if we can attain bhāva-bhakti then our position is safe, we can make progress, onward. And then we find we come in real contact with the land and the paraphernalia. Prema, that is known as prema. We enter into svarūpa-siddhi. Then sneha, mana, rāga, anurāga, bhāva, mahābhāva, so many developments in the stages of devotion is also, we have to have experience. In that way our path of progress, way of progress has been described. We can understand according to our capacity. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: What is the principle obstruction to this natural flow of love towards Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Obstruction, anartha, two kinds: one of opposite sympathy and another of indifference, two. Bhukti mukti, bhoga tyāga, mainly these two. So many, if analysed so many classes, sub-classes, may be found, generally. And in another sense kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā, attraction for the ladies for the men, and for the gents for the ladies: kāmīnī. Kanak then for money, energy under ones control, that can be converted to purchase any pleasure, kanak, kāmīnī. And pratiṣṭhā, and name and fame in this world, that popularity, that public spirit, all these are hindrances. And that may be classified under two heads generally: one is that exploitation and renunciation, bhukti mukti spriya, our tendency for these two. It can be grouped; undesirable things can be grouped under two heads, that enjoyment and renunciation. And kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā, also in this, three heads also, mainly. Dharma, artha, kāma, mokṣa. These are also, but mokṣa has got its real conception in svarūpa siddhi, self determination. If mukti, liberation means that then well and good. But if liberation means to go the half way, only withdrawal from the negative side and not entrance into the positive one, then this mere withdrawal, mukti, that is not desirable. We must have a positive life, participation in the good deeds, good function of our inner tendency, fulfilment we must get there. And that must be dynamic, continuous. Ke ?

[?] Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, when a personality such as Duryodhana in Kṛṣṇa līlā, does he have a permanent position, like indifference to Kṛṣṇa eternal?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Relationship with Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may not be eternal. That depends on His sweet will. Generally that is confined in this mundane world – and in the opposition party, though that is a type of service there. Still that is:

anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-śīlanam bhaktir uttamā

[“One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11] & [Caitanyacaritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167]

Desirability is to serve Him in a favourable way. But there is a possibility of serving Him from the other side, indirect way; that is something. That is not like any position in this world of māyā, not illusion, but that is real. But still there is gradation, as in different rasa, as sākhyā is higher than dāsya, vātsalya is higher than sākhyā, mādhyā is higher than vātsalya, and parakīya that is higher than svakīya, gradation. In that sense there is also gradation in the oppositionist and the favourable servitors, some difference.

Devotee: In Caitanya-caritāmṛta it's explained that there are right wing gopīs and left wing gopīs and left wing gopīs are in opposition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. But still they have got their necessity in the service as a whole – the competition is necessary to increase the satisfaction in Kṛṣṇa. It is designed in that way by Yogamāyā. So they have their real position and efficacy there, but the gradation is: [?] Higher and lower, that we must admit, it is a gradation, a development. Just as in the Viṣṇu tattva also Himself, Kṛṣṇa, Baladeva, Pradyumna, Aniruddha, Nārāyaṇa conception, so Nṛsiṃha, so many Avatāras. That is the difference in the conception, one and the same thing but functional difference. We are to trace, and we are to accept, we are to feel in practical life. So also in the svarūpa śakti, the negative side also, the positive and negative, negative side also there is gradation, we are to admit, a system. What do you say?

Devotee: Venkatta Prabhu was telling me that you were saying of the two, bhukti and mukti, enjoyment and renunciation, this tyāga, that renunciation is more dangerous.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, more dangerous, because it has got greater position than the exploitation, so that is – just as half truth is more dangerous than falsehood, because it can exploit more. It can misguide the devotees more. It has got some glamour of its own position over the exploitation, so it can capture the scholars there, so that is more dangerous. That one who wants his relief he says, ‘Oh, this is the conception of relief. No further.’ Who are really making progress towards their good, they capture on the way and says, ‘Here, you have come.’ In the name of that higher place they capture them. Who have some prestige over the land of exploitation, people will think, ‘Oh, that must be the highest goal.’ Half truth is more dangerous than falsehood. In that category it is more dangerous.

And if he can once make you enter into the cell of that sāyujya mukti you are finished. When you’ll come out, there’s no calculative time, end. But in viṣayī the recruiters are coming and you may meet and that chance you will get here. But when in sāyujya mukti you are nowhere. To awaken you from that deepest possible sleep it is very hard, and rare. So that is more dangerous, like half truth is more dangerous than falsehood. In this line it will go. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes. But as the agents of the plane of love are the agents of Kṛṣṇa, then the agents of sāyujya mukti, that’s impersonal, so who are they working for? You say if one is captured within the sāyujya mukti he might not come out for an indefinite time. But why anyone is trying to bring anyone else into that impersonal conception?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because he’s also suffering from the same disease. He thinks that it is the highest, so he recruits for his own purpose. He thinks that this is the high position, highest position.

ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ [āruhya kṛcchreṇa param padam tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādr̥ta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ]

["O lotus-eyed Lord, although non-devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure.

Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

But they do not know that there's mistake in their calculation, they can't conceive, but thinks themselves they're the liberated of the highest type, vimukta-māninas. They think themselves to be liberated of the highest type, so they recruit for their purpose. But there is mistake in their calculation. They're not aware of the fact. They're misguided and they also help others to misguide. [?] One who is not established in truth how can he guide one towards the truth, if he himself has got no – if it would have been possible for him to know then he himself would go to that land, that direction. But he does not know that is false calculation. Misguided, misdirected.

Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyaḥ [Katha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23] The mistake is there. That is the land, whom that conscious land wants to accept, he can go, otherwise by dint of one's own power none can enter the land. The mistake is there. That is an independent, the soil is independent. We are independent, matter is non independent, and soil is independent here. And that is made of super soil, the very soil is independent. There's the rub. If they accept, then the happy independent soul, jīva, can enter, otherwise not: such a land.

So, the question of becoming a slave, slavery, that slave mentality we are to accept, for the Absolute. And that is the highest qualification within us, that we should accept slave mentality, to be earnest about the association of the highest existence. Slave mentality. We must be ready to accept slavery to its perfection. Then we'll be allowed to enter into that domain, otherwise no hope. So it is not very easy to accept slave mentality, eternal slavery. And not only that, slavery is our prospect. Are you ready to think that? Our prospect is within slavery.

Such higher entity exists, so broad minded you are to be, so hopeful. The hope and the faith will be of such a magnanimous type that to enter that land you will contract, you will sign the bond. Eternal slavery I'm going to accept. I want to enter that land. Such broadness, such magnanimous heart is necessary. We have to search our fate, search our fortune, and sign the bond of slavery. I want the association of the so high, that even as a slave I want that association. I earnestly hanker for that sweet land where my meagre personality can become a slave. Faith, such intense faith, so all our experience, knowledge, all fails. Only faith can carry there, śraddhā, devotion, and faith is the unit by which the structure has been constructed there, all faith, the land of faith; that is autonomy of faith. No calculation, because no robbing, no stealing, no cheating. Only through faith moving – it is automatic, the land of faith.

Only a nasty thing: that I shall be always alert that I may not be cheated in this way, in the land of so many cheats. Always I shall have to be alert, 'I will be cheated, I will be cheated.' That is a nasty life. So we must enter into a life where no cheating, no calculation, no reason, nothing: automatically all good. All are busy to give something to you, everyone. Everyone is mad to give something to help you, the opposite. We are suffering from the opposite, and there also the opposite. Everyone is promoting you, trying to promote you in your, pushing you towards your highest fortune, such a land. So become slave, the slaves are masters there, really. One who will have as much tendency of slavery, he will be put to head by all, that qualification.

Here also in the love of country, if a leader can sacrifice most then of course he becomes the head of the party, sacrifice, here also some sort we can find. By sacrifice most for the country, generally one may have faith in him and take him as their leader. But here, that is extended selfishness. The love of the country is extended selfishness. Fight with another country. Or for humanitarian, fight with the other minerals and vegetable kingdom: they're constructing a great civilisation at the cost of the vegetable and the mineral substances, exploiting nature. The civilised section they're more exploiting from the nature and that they'll have to pay back to the farthing, pay off, to clear the debt. All comfort means loan. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And will you be able to preach this idea to the public? Ha, ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Be agent. Swāmī Mahārāja wanted you all to be agent.

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

Speak about the special prospect of the land of Kṛṣṇa, Vṛndāvana. Nava-Vṛndāvana he has placed in America. Vṛndāvana somewhat, come to the consciousness of enquiry. “What is Nava-Vṛndāvana?” Anyhow, anyhow give connection with the idea of Vṛndāvana.

Devotee: On one tape I heard you say that the spiritual master is situated above the Supersoul. How did you mean that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He said he heard you say on one tape, that the spiritual master is situated above the Supersoul, Paramātmā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Where’s the difficulty? When the spiritual master as a recruiter, this Paramātmā, that is Vāsudeva, Nārāyaṇa, this Rāmacandra, Dvārakesh, Brajesh, Kṛṣṇa, the spiritual master, not ordinary spiritual master, the spiritual master who’s a recruiter of Vṛndāvana, his function is over, his position of different department.

Just as from the consideration of the power, the Prime Minister, or the General, they’re next to the King. But from another consideration, the Queen has more power over the General, or over the Minister, she may possess. It may be possible. Something like that.

Paramātmā that is also: the Paramātmā conception that is also a function of the husband, of the governing side, in the government. And also the Guru who has got, the Gurudeva, the recruiter who is direct recruiting to the harem of the King, his position will be from the standpoint of the taṭasthā, means absolute consideration, that will be more desirable.

You say, the case of Uddhava, Kṛṣṇa says to Uddhava that, “You are My most favourite. How? Not Brahmā, nor Śiva, nor Baladeva, nor Lakṣmī, neither not even Myself. More than My own self you are My favourite.”

Do you follow this?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that Uddhava says that, “I want feet dust of the gopīs.”

Then when any Gurudeva has come to recruit for the service of the land of gopī he’s superior practically. He holds superior position to that of Baladeva, Śiva, etc, Uddhava, etc. When the Lord Himself says...

ahaṁ bhakta-parārdhīno, hy asvatantra iva dvija [sādhubhir grasta-hṛdayo, bhaktair bhakta-jana-priyaḥ]

[The Lord tells Durvāsā: “I am the slave of My devotees; I have no freedom apart from their will. Because they are completely pure and devoted to Me, My heart is controlled by them, and I reside always in their hearts. I am dependent not only on My devotees, but even on the servants of My devotees. Even the servants of My devotees are dear to Me.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.63]

...that is another department, where the Lord Himself says that, “I am, as if, dependent on My devotees.” In that sense, the Gurudeva who has come to give us position in the mādhyura rasa or vātsalya rasa of Vraja, his position, his loving affectionate position, favourite position to Kṛṣṇa, is more valuable than that of Paramātmā who’s pervading through all the souls there and giving reports to the higher office. Kṛṣṇa’s representation, His direct representation: in that way.

If we can say that Rādhārāṇī’s position is better than the position of Baladeva. From Baladeva all other departments are being evolved, except that of Rādhārāṇī, mādhyura rasa. So in the consideration of rasa, the nearest position with Kṛṣṇa is with that of service. The Gurudeva, though it is not in fact, his position is such, though in fact, though officially you may say that that is Paramātmā representing a function of Kṛṣṇa Himself, so his position must be given as the highest. But from the standpoint of necessity, the recruiter who comes to recruit for the highest department of the service of Kṛṣṇa, his position we shall find superior.

The gopīs when they come to see Nārāyaṇa, “Oh. Here’s Nārāyaṇa. We are offering our obeisances to You and please be propitiated and give us such a boon that we may get Kṛṣṇa.”

They don’t want Nārāyaṇa. But from Nārāyaṇa they pray for His grace, His blessing, that they can get the mercy, the affection of Kṛṣṇa, in this way. Not clear? What do you think? Clear?

Devotee: Yes, it's clear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Clear? In that sense the Gurudeva holds, not Gurudeva of all type, but the Gurudeva who is the recruiter for the highest quarter. That is also a function of Kṛṣṇa, but the prospect more high, the Gurudeva. And Gurudeva also may come in different temperament, Gurudeva in our sense who are direct recruiter to Vṛndāvana. And Gurudeva there may be also in the yogī that are recruiter to Paramātmā, it is not their question. They're not better than Paramātmā, who is recruiting towards the interest of Paramātmā conception. And there are Gurudeva's that are recruiter on behalf of Nārāyaṇa. Gurudeva also may have different phases, positions, Guru. And that is also advaya-jñāna. His sweet will is working everywhere, but still there is gradation. The Gurudeva, that is recruiter of the highest circle, his position will be better than the Guru and also for whom he's working to recruit, because that is a limited position. And the recruiter for the highest position, he holds the supreme position than the – than his lowest aspect which is meant to help the souls of lower stages, in that sense.

We, as for us, we don't want to go to Paramātmā. We're indifferent there. We don't like Paramātmā. We don't like the Vasudeva, or Nārāyaṇa, or Rāmacandra, or even Dvārakesha, Mathuresha. But we like Gurudeva who gives us hope to take to Braja. So to me his position is higher than all these aspects of the Lord, of Lord Kṛṣṇa. In that sense it is told there perhaps, more desirable.

Devotee: So the Supersoul as caitya Guru only helps the living entity to the point of going back to Godhead, then his function is over. And then the spiritual master leads one on to higher and higher levels. Is that correct?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The spiritual master leads us to a higher position than the Supersoul.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The highest prospect there...hmm?

Devotee: Caitya Guru drops off at the time of – Supersoul helps one to the point of going to the spiritual world, then His function is over.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: But the spiritual master will continue on and on and on.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That particular function of the absolute not desirable for me at all. So I don't want Paramātmā. I don't want the company of Nārāyaṇa, service of Nārāyaṇa. So more important my Gurudeva who will take me to Kṛṣṇa, my desired place; that is his position is superior to me. Everywhere I show my respect to them, but my inner heart's desire is to go to Kṛṣṇa, and who will be able to take me there then he's greater than – of highest interest for me. That does not mean that I shall hate Paramātmā or Nārāyaṇa, or any of the things, but in the consideration of my necessity, the higher position is my Gurudeva.

Even Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī says that, "I don't want Kṛṣṇa if I do not have my Mistress Rādhā there. I don't want Kṛṣṇa if independent of Rādhā.” So more attention towards Rādhā, this is Rādhā-dāsyā. There is a conception of that line. Rādhā-dāsyā, Rādhā-kaiṅkaryyā, that is the highest attainment in the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava School. And that has been clearly stated in Dāsa Goswāmī's prayer, who is called the highest specialist of the prayojana tattva, what is the real necessity of our life. He says that, “If you do not get the grace of Rādhārāṇī I don't want You Kṛṣṇa without Rādhikā. Not independent connection with You I want in any time, any way, but always Your Mistress must be there along with You.”

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... Paramātmā, even Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Can't you follow?

Devotee: Yes. The Paramātmā is all pervading witness, He's the witness of all the activities. And I've heard it said that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paramātmā is important in the relativity of the fallen souls that are in bondage. Paramātmā's function is important to those that are entangling with the material world. Paramātmā has got His position there only. But the Gurudeva has his position in the liberated section, Vaikuṇṭha, Goloka, everywhere his important position. Without him no function can be undertaken or practised or finished.

Devotee: So I've heard it said that the Guru is present within his instructions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, deha-dehi-vibhāgaś ca neśvare vidyate kvacit. [There is no distinction between the Supreme Lord and His personal body] [Within Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.6.2-4, Purport] His instruction, his body, his movements, his posture, gestures, inseparably connected. God vilāsa, His eye, nose, everything. Everything is there but inseparably connected, deha-dehi-vibhāgaś. His eye can hear. His nose can see. In Brahma-saṁhitā [5.32]

aṅgāni yasya sakalendriya-vṛttimanti, [paśyanti pānti kalayanti ciraṁ jaganti ānanda-cinmaya-sad-ujjvala-vigrahasya, govindam ādi puruṣaṁ tam ahaṁ bhajami]

[I worship that Primeval Lord Govinda, whose Form is all-Ecstatic, all-Conscious and all-Truth, and thus, full of the most dazzling splendour; every Part of that Transcendental Form possesses the functions of all His Senses, as He eternally sees, maintains and regulates infinite universes, both spiritual and mundane.]

His leg can think, in this way. Just as in mind: mind can hear, mind can see, mind can touch, the central thing. But the eye cannot hear, the ear cannot see, but the mind, the internal body, that can see, that can hear everything, central thing. And the specialised, we may find that there is also ear, eye, so many things. So in this way it goes there. Aṅgāni yasya sakalendriya-vṛttimanti. That we should keep in our mind, to have conception of the higher type of existence. Not compartmental differences are so tight and fast and opposing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: In the Caitanya-caritāmṛta it is stated that the Guru is either the representative of Rādhārāṇī, or Nityānanda, Balarāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In different rasa, different department of service. The head of the, He's the head of all the departments of services, of those who are grouped in that department of service of Them.

Devotee: So Balarāma's department is sākhyā rasa or...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Balarāma mainly sākhyā, vātsalya also included somewhat, śanta, all these, except that of mādhyā. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: The day before yesterday, on Monday, you were saying that one has to go gradually, otherwise they might become confused. So sometimes I feel confused. I want to know what, maybe I'm leaving something out in this sādhanā. So what are the most important aspects of our sādhana?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sādhu-saṅga – any drawback to be compensated by our more intense relationship: that is of serving relationship with the sādhus who are representing that world. Who represents the dynamic characteristic of that soil. The greater sādhu, the more dynamic capacity personified by coming in contact. Just as if we're cold we want fire to quench the coolness: in that way. We shall try to place ourselves nearer to the, to those agents which are emanating that power, that force around him, attracting that power of attraction towards Vaikuṇṭha, towards that land. We shall try to come being paralysed by coldness, by chill, and we must come to the fire, to have normal position, comfortable position. So we shall try to approach towards Vaikuṇṭha. But here Vaikuṇṭha means in the heart of the sādhu, [?] nearby him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: Therefore we are coming to see you.

Devotee: To get warm.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

_____ [?] then our tendency to enjoy will also be diminished. And our past reaction that will also be little, and gradually we shall find that we are in the midst of that infinite, our consciousness is a part of the infinite consciousness. Consciousness is all in all. First consciousness and then the experience of the consciousness...

[Very muffled recording for about one minute]

When the Bhāgavata chanting finished by Śukadeva Goswāmī then in the conclusion Śukadeva asked Parīkṣit Mahārāja:

tvam tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imām jahi

[na jātaḥ prāg abhūto 'dya, deha-vat tvam na naṅkṣyasi]

["O King, give up the animalistic mentality of thinking: "I am going to die." Unlike the body, you have not taken birth. There was not a time in the past when you did not exist, and you are not about to be destroyed."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.5.2]

"Now, that you will die, destroy this animal consciousness, that 'I shall die.' This is all animal consciousness that I'm one with this body is myself, paśu-buddhi, that I'm animal, I'm this flesh and blood. This is not so. Keep continuous your consciousness as a member in the conscious world. Don't allow you to come down in the material conception, that is paśu-buddhi, animal consciousness, that I am this flesh and blood. This is animal consciousness. You kill it, do away with it. Don't allow your consciousness to come down to the world of material consciousness, flesh and blood. You won't die. You're a member of that plane. Tvam tu rājan mariṣyeti, that the serpent, that Takṣaka will come and bite you and you will die, don't allow yourself to identify that this body is yourself, don't allow. Retain your consciousness that you're a member of the conscious world. Don't allow. Paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi. That I'm this body

_____ [?] you are living in a conscious world. Don't allow yourself to come down. Then you are in the world of Brahman, pure consciousness, no death. Death is only possible in the body, but you're not body, the body consciousness and what you see with your bodily eye, this bodily ear. Disconnect with that idea and try to live always in the conscious world."

And Parīkṣit Mahārāja answered, "By your grace I'm fully established in that stage. No longer shall I be a victim to death. I'm above death. I can maintain my identity, and also I can live and move with so many conscious spirits."

[Very muffled recording for about seventy seconds]

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I've heard from one devotee who read from a large version of the Mahābhārata that there is some, the Mahābhārata tells a different story of the death of Parīkṣit Mahārāja. Is that true that there is in the Mahābhārata...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Different from Bhāgavata.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, different angle of vision. From two standpoints it may be conceived. One, that kalpa-veda, Brahmā's day's program, every day's program of Brahmā: that is one kalpa. Just as we also in our daily duty, routine, almost we repeat the same thing with some little difference. First coming out of the bed, cleansing face, then after taking tea, and then going to duty, some mainly common things there and some difference also. Not every day a complete copy of the previous day's activity. So in Brahmā also one kalpa is one day; many things similar and some things different.

So in Purāṇa they have recorded the incidents that happened but we find these differ. One day's routine has been copied by one man, and another day's routine has been taken, described by another gentleman. So little difference we find there. Jīva Goswāmī Prabhu has explained like this that we find difference in different Purāṇa. One day's record, another day's record, a little difference there may be.

Some kalpa Varāhadeva came as white, some kalpa Varāhadeva came as śyāma, black. Mahāprabhu's Avatāra has been described as harit [?] varna, like that of su-pak [?], and sometimes pita-varna, a different kalpa. Every Kali-yuga Mahāprabhu comes for Hari-Nāma-saṅkīrtana, but rādhā-govinda-milita-tanu, only one: Seet varaha kalpa [?] Asta vrmsitu yuge yuge [?] Mahāprabhu comes as Rādhā-Govinda, and in Kṛṣṇa līlā also that Rādhā-Govinda, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān. In other Dvāpara, that Yuga Avatāra Kṛṣṇa that is of different type. So differences have been harmonised in this way by Jīva Goswāmī. This is one thing. And another I told, by anything? What was the question?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Kalpa-veda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, Kalpa-veda was one thing. What was his question?

Devotee: I wanted to, he was just saying, one devotee was saying it disturbed his mind that there was some contradiction...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Between Mahābhārata and Bhāgavatam...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! Mahābhārata and Bhāgavatam.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The difference of the Parīkṣit līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Difference of kalpa, and so we find the difference in different scripture. Another thing, the angle of vision. Deeper vision can record the deeper representation, and superficial vision, one who records from superficial vision he will say something else, and from deeper vision he'll say, "Oh, this is this."

Or some doctor will examine the patient, he will find a particular type of disease: but another, genius doctor, he'll say, "No. This is superficial. But the deepest vision is this, the disease is of this type. It is not dysentery, but it is typhoid." Something like that. So there is also some differences according to the degree of the diagnosis.

But, just as in the case of the Varaha mandala samstan [?] Swāmī Mahārāja says that Sun is the nearest, then Moon, then this Mars. And it is also mentioned in the list of the bara [?] Sunday, Monday, Tuesday. Or to come to conclusion or giving suggestion, that this is not in the respect of physical distance but influence. From the standpoint of influence Sun is nearest to the Earth. And the next influence we have from the Moon, and the third from the Mars. In this way, the calculation in this method, the distance, the degree of its presence of influence, the calculation standpoint is different.

So also – I missed what I was going to tell – Parīkṣit Mahārāja, Mahābhārata says that the Takṣaka came along and put his bite into the forehead, and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says that the serpent came and touched his feet. That is represented, but we must not approach with the physical side of the history. From the standpoint of Bhāgavatam Parīkṣit is a devotee, and this is līlā of Kṛṣṇa. And the Takṣaka comes, touches, he's a great devotee, he cannot give him bite on the forehead. It can give only touching by his feet most modestly he should deal with the, this is the view of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. And in Mahābhārata to the ordinary was as we get here as the result of karma. Karma has come with his influence and circled his throat and gave his bite on the forehead. That is in the vision of – the same Vedavyāsa when he's writing in the mood of Mahābhārata writing. But that is discarded by Devarṣi Nārada, he had a greater view, more holy view. Kṛṣṇa līlā, and any connection of Kṛṣṇa that should be valued very highly than ordinary laws. So from the standpoint of the author of Bhāgavatam, "Yes, this karma came to serve Parīkṣit, not to force his power, to assert his power, on him." So the:

yata dekha vaiṣṇavera vyavahāra-duḥkha, niścaya jāniha tāhā paramānanda-sukha

[Caitanya-Bhāgavata, Madhya, 9.240 – within Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.19.5, Purport] & [Gauḍīya Kanthahara, 3.49]

Whatever you see [?] Vaiṣṇava, you don't look at it as an ordinary patient suffering from his karma, his vyādhī. But he internally he's enjoying. Just as Kuntī Devī says:

vipadaḥ santu [tāḥ śāśvat, tatra tatra jagad-guro bhavato darśanam yat syād, apunar bhava-darśanam]

[Queen Kuntī Devī prayed to Kṛṣṇa: “I wish that all those calamities (poisoning, arson, cannibalism, the vicious assembly, exile in the forest, the battle), would occur again and again so that we could have Your darśana again and again, for seeing You means that we will no longer see repeated births and deaths.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.8.25]

“Let the dangers come. But I want Kṛṣṇa because if vipadaḥ comes, danger comes, I get Kṛṣṇa.” So Kuntī’s approach towards any difficulty is not an ordinary proposal with the difficulty by all. Do you follow? Am I clear, a little?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So the standpoints differs. A devotee when suffering from a disease he does not care so much as an ordinary. “Oh, so many great losses will be incurred. If I die, what about these young boys, who will look after them? Where the estate will go?” But this sort pressures him much. But when a devotee is suffering from same the disease [?] “Yes, Kṛṣṇa’s will, Kṛṣṇa’s will. Who’ll look after, He will see. If I die, yes I shall attain a higher position perhaps than this.” Not internally so much troubled. So the standpoints of the authors differ; deeper vision will, can disclose one thing, and the superficial vision, his record is something, and who can see deeply his record is different. Just as in the case of the diagnosis of a doctor. Something like that.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Ultimately the reign of the whole is in the hand of Kṛṣṇa. Whom He wants to see in a particular way, he cannot but see that. He's entering the arena of Kāṁsa, someone's seeing that He's a great wrestler. Someone says, "Oh. Great Bhagavān is coming." The parents say, "Oh. My child is coming, after so long." Some say, "Oh. A big diplomatic ruler is approaching towards us." As He wants Him to be seen by others the key is in His hand.

So we won't think that all things are dead and their descriptions must be one and the same. It is all living, can move, and not dead body following here, they can't move their limb. It's all living, and the wire puller is everywhere, awake in every point. He can force us to see anything and everything: the greatest hypnotist. So all false:

'dvaite bhadṛābhadra-jñāna, saba-'manodharma' / 'ei bhāla, ei manda',-ei saba 'bhrama'

["In the material world, conceptions of good and bad are all mental concoctions. Therefore, saying, 'This is good, this is bad,' is a mistake."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.176]

This is all erroneous records. The Autocrat, His sweet will, that is everything. We are to gradually approach to that sort of causal position of the whole world, we are to approach.

[na tu mām śakyase draṣṭum, anenaiva sva-cakṣuṣā] divyaṁ dadāmi te cakṣuḥ, paśya me yogam aiśvaram

["By these present eyes of yours you will not be able to see Me.

Therefore I give you supernatural eyes by which you can see My almighty, mystic power.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 11.8]

What is this, in the great battlefield of Kurukṣetra, Arjuna, divya-rūpa, when he was shown. How we are to accommodate that? Arjuna is seeing that. What is the cause? With that thing in our mind we shall try to have estimation of our environment, as well as our own self. Do you understand?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. What’s the time?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Ten to ten.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then here we stop.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

...

...decoration is very attractive. It was constructed by Man Singh [?], the General, the Chief of Jaipur, and the General of Argba Batsar [?]. And he was disciple of Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa who was son of Tapana Miśra, who lived in his later days in Benares and previously in Faridpur District, Bengal. Tapana Miśra, his son Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa, he was the Bhāgavata reader in the assembly of Rūpa Goswāmī and very, very sweet, and musical voice he possessed. And Man Singh [?], he became disciple to him.

nija śiṣye kari’ govindera mandira karāilā, [vaṁśī, makara, kuṇḍalādi ‘bhūṣaṇa’ kari’ dilā] [“Subsequently, Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa ordered his disciples to construct a temple for Govinda.

He prepared various ornaments for Govinda, including a flute and earrings shaped like sharks.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 13.131]

It is mentioned in Caitanya-caritāmṛta that Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa constructed that Govindaji temple by his own disciple. And it was also engraved in the temple that Man Singh [?] has constructed this. So Man Singh [?] was the disciple of Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa, son of Tapana Miśra.

Devotee: But the Deities Rādhā-Govinda, this is not Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa’s...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Raghunātha Dāsa is another. Raghunātha Dāsa lived in Vṛndāvana along with Rūpa Goswāmī Prabhu. He’s a brāhmaṇa, Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa. And Raghunātha Dāsa he was kāyastha born. But Raghunātha Dāsa, his position was superior, though he himself told, Rati Mañjarī, and this Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa was Rasa Mañjarī, a little higher position. All of them in mādhyura rasa.

What was your position when Swāmī Mahārāja left, where you were?

Devotee: In America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When he departed, you were in service, or a householder, at that time when Swāmī Mahārāja departed?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, he's a brahmacārī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. He's a brahmacārī. And he was living with his friends?

Devotee: When Prabhupāda left I was pūjārī in our temple in Philadelphia.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Philadelphia.

...

...their discussion, question answered. One came from University, Harvard. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. And your education there: how much?

Devotee: Twelve years.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Graduate, no more than that, Doctorate?

Devotee: No. No degree. Just twelve years high school.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Arts or the science.

Devotee: No, no. No arts, no science. No degree.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No such: general education.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: General.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And your parents? Your father is doing, which thing, what is he?

Devotee: He's in electronic business.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Electrical business.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Electrical and electronic different.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah. Which one, electronic or electrical?

Devotee: He's electronics, he's working with this video tape.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Electronics, they're more developed, electronic video.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: More developed, video, television, like they were doing here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How many brothers you have?

Devotee: Three.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Three brothers. They're all living in a joint family?

Devotee: No, my families broken up, by divorce.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are which son?

Devotee: Number two.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Second son.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mother does not cry for you?

Devotee: No. A little bit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Willingly. Willingly given up for the service of the God.

Devotee: She has sacrificed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sacrificed, father also?

Devotee: Yes. She likes what I'm doing, but the father he's a big hustler, he's atheist, he doesn't like.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Are they disciples, no?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But not anti, not against?

Devotee: My father he is against. He cannot say the word Kṛṣṇa. He's such a demon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But does he say God.

Devotee: No he doesn't, he cannot say.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. He can't say God also. Allah?

Devotee: No. No he cannot say.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nothing of the kind.

Devotee: My mother she says Kṛṣṇa all the time though, she likes. Because they're not living together, they're divorced, the whole family is broken apart. This is common thing in America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa means all attractor. Can you deny Him? For the cohesion of all the atoms and electrons the attracting power is necessary. Attraction, that is the most fundamental potency and that is not dead, that is a living thing; and there you will find Kṛṣṇa all embracing, all organising, all attracting, and to attract all in conscious area, that does not mean nothing. That is everything. That is everything, who can attract everything, what powerful is He, and what capacity He has got. All attracting principle who can attract. Not only that is endowed, He can't but admit that, that there must be all attracting potency. And that is a living thing, not a dead one. That is endowed with life and that becomes Kṛṣṇa. And when He attracts the conscious, then the attraction is known as love, beauty. Conscious unit can be attracted only by love and beauty. No force can do that. Force fails there. So all embracing, all loving, all beautiful, all ecstatic principle centre of the Absolute.

Everything is for Him and He's for everyone: friendly relation, suhṛdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānāṁ. Have you gone through Bhagavad-gītā?

bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ, sarva-loka-maheśvaram suhṛdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānāṁ, jñātvā mām śāntim ṛcchati

[“I am the enjoyer of the results of sacrifice performed by the fruit-hunter, as well as the results of austerity performed by the liberation-seeker - I am their only worshipping object; I am Nārāyaṇa, the indwelling monitor of all planes of life, and the Supreme Worshipping Personality who awards liberation. And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee's most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity.”]

“Though I'm the enjoyer of everything, absolute owner and enjoyer, bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ, sarva-loka-maheśvaram, the Supreme of the Supreme am I, but suhṛdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānāṁ, at the same time I'm in friendly relation with all. If one comes to know that then he finds real peace in his heart.”

That is, the world is not a place of anarchy, there is administration, justice, mercy, and the highest entity, highest quarter of justice and mercy is a friend of mine. My interest is really, sincerely and truly represented there in His heart. Then I can sleep peacefully. No fear, no apprehension, even from atom bomb. The atom bomb will devastate only – suppose the coat or the cloth.

tvaṁ tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi

[na jātaḥ prāg abhūto 'dya, deha-vat tvam na nañkṣyasi]

["O King, give up the animalistic mentality of thinking: "I am going to die."
Unlike the body, you have not taken birth. There was not a time in the past when you did not exist, and you are not about to be destroyed."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.5.2]

But our enemy is the animal consciousness. The body consciousness is our enemy, the world consciousness. I am all spirit, all soul. I am there. I am the child of that soil. Anyhow I have been dragged into this material consideration and identify myself more with the matter and forgotten my own position.

kṛṣṇa bhuli sei jīva anādi-bahirmukha, ataeva māyā tāre deya saṁsāra dukḥa

["The constitutional nature of the jīva soul is that of an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa; the jīva soul is a manifestation of divinity which is one with Kṛṣṇa and different from Him. The jīva souls are the marginal potency of the Lord. Though in reality they are servants of Kṛṣṇa, from time immemorial, they have been engaged in misconception, as exploiting agents."]
[Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.117]

Prabhupāda used to say deya saṁsāra dukḥa instead of that he sometimes, deya saṁsāra sukḥa. Ataeva māyā tāre deya saṁsāra sukḥa. This illusory pleasure, not only pain, but even so called pleasure has attracted us from the illusory quarter, aspect. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

We are to kill this animal consciousness that I am matter. The matter is indispensable part in me. No. It has nothing to do, it is a diseased mentality. Śukadeva Goswāmī says like that. Tvaṁ tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi. Just as in a dream we can think it is, we may have such a dream that my body, my throat is cut off and it is fallen there.

svapne yathā śiraś-chedaṁ, [pañcatvādy ātmanaḥ svayam yasmāt paśyati dehasya, tata ātmā hy ajo 'maraḥ]

In Bhāgavatam, [12.5.4]. In svapne, in dream we may see that my body beheaded and is remaining, fallen there. But unaffected I see that. If the indispensable connection with the body then the body is separated I should not live. But I'm seeing my body is cut off there. The seer, that is also in mājāic but subtle cage, sukṣma-śarira, but when that's also gone, that subtle body, then we have got the real spiritual body. Then our approach towards matter will be quite different. Ke?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. And Rāmacandra's kingdom: the name of the capitol of Rāmacandra?

Devotee: Ayodhyā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ayodhyā, and how many brothers?

Devotee: Three, three others.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Three others, Rāma, Lakṣmaṇa, Bhārata, Satrugṇa, four. Rāma Rāma Hare Hare. Rāmacandra's position is between Nārāyaṇa and Dvārakesa, Vaikuṇṭha and Dvārakā. Ayodhyā's position spiritually is above Vaikuṇṭha and below Dvārakā. Rāma is, Eko patni dar, single wife, not, bahu vallabha, like Kṛṣṇa, husband of many, Kṛṣṇa. But there is vātsalya rasa: what is absent in Vaikuṇṭha.

Mādhurya rasa proper according to our Guru Mahārāja is found only in Vṛndāvana. And Dvārakā, and Vaikuṇṭha, and Ayodhyā are more dāsya rasa, mainly of service type. Both parties are free, than the real mādhurya rasa is in its full swing there possibly. That I heard from Guru Mahārāja, my Prabhupāda. They're so partial to Vṛndāvana rasa they could not give any recognition to mādhurya rasa in Dvārakā, or Ayodhyā, or Vaikuṇṭha. Categorically different, Vraja rasa, parakīya rasa, Vraja rasa, is categorically different from all other rasa in the realm of Svayaṁ-Bhagavān the beautiful, very enhanced. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Nārada Muni is in dāsya rasa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nārada Muni, not dāsya, mixed śanta, dāsya. The seer, knower, but not participator, jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ [Upadeśāmṛta, 10] Catuḥsana is śanta rasa, just above that, very [?] peculiar extension he goes everywhere. Some taste even in Vṛndāvana, but as a ṛṣi Devarṣi respected there, in Dvārakā, but nowhere he stays in a particular duty, he's wandering.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Just water.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyone?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, no. Rain is coming down from the roof.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. From the roof it's coming from that cover and then it's sometimes coming down.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So from here will he go to Māyāpur – now he has come to you only?

Devotee: No. I've only come here.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: To hear from Your Grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And not to Māyāpur for a visit? Once you must go there.

Devotee: Maybe we'll go there for a visit. Yes, of course.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and if we want our shelter, that will be overhead, āśraya, shelter, shelter not below the leg, but shelter should be over the head. The Vedic mantra, the principal Ṛg Veda mantra (1.22.20) says: tad viṣṇoḥ paramaṁ padaṁ sadā paśyanti sūrayaḥ divīva cakṣur ātatam.

[om tad viṣṇo paramaṁ padaṁ sadā, paśyanti suraya divīva cakṣur ātatam tad viprāso vipanyavo jāgrvāṁśāḥ, samindhate viṣṇor yat paramaṁ padam]

["As the sun and sunlight is continuous over the skies as light-giver to us (for that sunlight is the universal form of the Lord) similarly, the Divine Lotus Feet of the Lord Śrī Viṣṇu is always spread widely (like a canopy) over our head."] [Ṛg Veda, 1.22.20]

The holy feet of Viṣṇu, yaḥ idaṁ viṣṇuḥ vyāpnotīti, who is pervading everywhere, His feet, His lowest portion towards us, paramaṁ, that is not to be neglected. That is very highly qualified from all standpoints, from the standpoint of fine existence, knowledge, as well as sweetness, paramaṁ padaṁ. Sadā paśyanti suraya, the scholars they're always conscious of that fact, their real basis of life is there. Not an animal wandering in the forest, or on the earth, or mountain, or jungle. But the real man is in his consciousness, and conscious of some higher entity, always. Sadā paśyanti suraya, always seeing that, looking at that, conscious of that idea, ideal. Divīva cakṣur ātatam, vaguely or in a mystic way? No. As we see the sun in the sky so conspicuous, so clear, and so real. Tad viṣṇo paramaṁ padam. So we shall really live and move in that higher consciousness, we are a child of that conscious world. So at the conclusion of Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, Śukadeva is giving warning to Parīkṣit Mahārāja, “The last, what I have got, what I have told to you so long, the firm basis you must be conscious of. What is that?”

[na jātaḥ prāg abhūto 'dya, deha-vat tvam na naṅkṣyasi]

[“O King, give up the animalistic mentality of thinking: ‘I am going to die.’ Unlike the body, you have not taken birth. There was not a time in the past when you did not exist, and you are not about to be destroyed.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.5.2]

The serpent, that is the cheating, deception, serpent is the type of deception, stealthily it comes to bite and kills. Stealthily the ignorance has come and taken you down to the world of animal consciousness, and we are all moving under the deception we are this heavy flesh and blood, and for that, heavier earth is necessary to lift us above, on its lap. Ke?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja, Vidagdha Dāsa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Vidagdha-Mādhava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: And Kṛṣṇa Vallabha Prabhu, a new...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Divīva cakṣur ātatam, so our, mariṣyeti paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi, do away with your animal consciousness that you are flesh and blood. No, you are not limited within flesh and blood, but you are a conscious unit and you won't die. You are not a member of this dying world where everything is sure to die. Only for this misidentification this has come as a necessary truth on you, 'that you are to die, you are to become infirm, you are to be born, you are to suffer from disease,' all for misidentification of yourself with this body. So mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi, this is animal consciousness that you are an animal.

But you are not so, you are a conscious unit, you are spirit, you are soul. Not only is the soul immortal, not only does God exist, not only He is the dispenser of good and bad, everything - but we, ourselves, are units of the conscious world. So paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi, separate yourself eternally from that mania, from that misconception, misidentification, false identity with this material aspect, which is the result of your degraded life. Be reinstated to your glorious position that you are soul. And at the same time how it is possible? You are taṭastha by constitution, so you cannot stand on your own legs, you must have some shelter, either this mundane, considering yourself identified with the mundane world, or you must have some shelter above your head. Above your head, taṭastha, you must have shelter from the śvarūpa-śakti land, final land.

Paramaṁ padaṁ sadā, paśyanti suraya divīva cakṣur ātatam, cakṣur, viṣṇo paramaṁ pada, how His divine feet, the conception of the divine feet of Viṣṇu, of Nārāyaṇa, of Kṛṣṇa, that is, paramaṁ padaṁ, like sun to you in the material comparison. That is seer, that possible seeing, feeling, if He is withdrawn everything is dark. If Viṣṇu's paramaṁ pada is withdrawn then everything will be dark. That is the light of light. And you must have a continuous eternal consciousness that above you there is another soil and your shelter is there, and you are a soul unit. This diabolical change you must have to adjust within you. That is your shelter. This is not your shelter; this is a prison house for you. So this broad and graphic comprehensive consideration must be at the basis of spiritual understanding. Otherwise we'll have to be sahajiyā, imitationist. Imitationist, we are to cross this Hindenburg line.

Then, tad viṣṇo paramaṁ padam, this is the basic advice of R̥g-Veda, the first Veda that comes down from the upper world to this world. The primary conception which is needed from you all is that you must think that there's a world above, and that 'above' means in the line of consciousness. Your highest acquaintance is that you are conscious, and that conscious world is above you on your head. You must have to adopt that as your shelter. You'll move and live there. The diabolical change, here, you are in the atmosphere of exploitation, but that is the land of service. There, you are to think in terms of service. That is on your head. That is the superior region, more superior than you are made of. So do you want that connection? Or you will be better to reign in hell? Do you like to reign in hell or to serve in heaven? What do you like? You consider and then come out. If you do such, then you will have a land, you have got prospect, you have got everything up to Kṛṣṇa, the Absolute, you can reach. Otherwise you are to have eighty-four lakhs [8,400,000] of species.

jalajā nava lakṣāni, sthāvarā lakṣa viṁśati kṛmayo rudra-saṅkhyakāḥ, pakṣiṇām daśa lakṣaṇam triṁsal lakṣāni paśavaḥ, catur lakṣāni mānuṣaḥ

[In the laws of Manu, it is written: "There are 900,000 kinds of aquatics, 2,000,000 kinds of trees and plants, 1,100,000 kinds of insects and reptiles, 1,000,000 kinds of birds, 3,000,000 kinds of four-legged beasts, and 400,000 kinds of human species."] [Viṣṇu-Purāṇa]

These are the eighty-four lakhs of classification under which you are to wander, action reaction, in this way. You are to select what you want to do. Do you want to be a member of the land of mortality, janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī [birth, death, old age and infirmity - [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9] - or immortality? Then you are to pay for such ticket. And you are to take the visa. You will have to be prepared for such categorical beginning. And creed, the bond, you are to sign. That cause, that slavery.

["The constitutional nature of the jīva soul is that of an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa; the jīva soul is a manifestation of divinity which is one with Kṛṣṇa and different from Him. The jīva souls are the marginal potency of the Lord."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108]

That mystic land, the land of infinite hope and prosperity and prospect, if you want to go you will have to go as a slave, as a slave, because that is made of higher stuff than you yourselves are.

vaikuṇṭhara pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya, māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya

["The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53]

They're all consciousness, everything made of consciousness, spirit. And again, upper, that is ānandam, made of not only consciousness, but it is endowed with - just as medicine in the beginning it may be bitter, but in the higher stage the sweetness is added in the medicine. So in rāga-mārga, in Kṛṣṇaloka, there is not only consciousness, but there's sweetness, the beauty, that is the prevailing element there.

So, ideal - when a ship without a rudder is moving distance, this way, that way, in the ocean. But if a particular ideal we have got, the Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu, Bhāgavatam, then I am captivated, captured. This tuft of hair is tied with the feet of Guru Mahārāja and the divine grace. The tuft of hair captured, the head is captured there, and everything will be done through the head, the most reverential part of my body in this material world. So, one who has got a good ideal, he is in possession of a valuable wealth. Otherwise, these things, this kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā - the popularity, then the materials of sense pleasure, and the money - all these things, but they're all animal consciousness. They're all properties in the land of animal consciousness. A diabolical change must be effected within us if we want really a life to be worth living.

So, ideal - a man should be judged by his ideal. What sort of ideal, how great an ideal has he got? And he's trying to realise that. The man of the future, the man of tomorrow, should be judged by his ideal. If his ideal is great, he is great, because if he's sincere, tomorrow he'll reach there. After a few days he will reach there. So we should be judged by our ideal. I may not attain it. It is not very easy. It is not rotten goods that are to be very cheaply sold in the market. It is costly. But whatever may be the cost it does not matter.

I want not less than that highest thing, that advaya-jñāna, that Autocrat, that Goodness Autocrat, that Absolute Autocrat, that Supreme Most Commander of everything. I want that, nothing less than that. And I should live and move and feel myself, or whatever I shall do, at every second I shall have to realise that I am meant for that, I am meant for my ideal. I have no time to waste to hesitate, or this or that. Every moment, if with the ideal in our heart we move, every way, every minute I shall make some progress towards it if I can keep intact my relationship with my ideal. So that will control, that will inspire me, to any and every action, whatever I shall do, or undo, take rest, but that is on my head. And that will gradually take me out of all these entanglements and enticements, and one day or other I shall be able to reach there.

jāto-śraddho mat kathāsu, nirviṇṇaḥ sarvva-karmmasu veda-duḥkhātmakān kāmān, parityāge ‘py anīśvaraḥ

[“He who has imbibed heart’s faith in the tidings of My Name, nature and pastimes; who has become indifferent to all kinds of fruitive work and its rewards; who has learned that all forms of enjoyment of sensual passions ultimately transform into misery, yet he is unable to fully abandon such passions - such a faithful devotee, being determined that his shortcomings will be dispelled by the potency of devotion, gradually comes to abhor those evil passions that enslave him, knowing the havoc they wreak - and he serves Me with love: When his object is pure and sincere, I give him My mercy.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.27]

“One who has by chance, has got a taste for Me, jāto-śraddho mat kathāsu, he has anyhow acquired some taste, mat kathāsu, in My talk, in My activities, in My movement, in Me, anyhow got some attraction, jāto-śraddho mat kathāsu, nirviṇṇaḥ sarvva-karmmasu. So necessarily, no other temptation can catch him and keep him under it any longer. Nirviṇṇaḥ sarvva-karmmasu, indifferent to all other activities and the results and outcome of that. Veda-duḥkhātmakān kāmān, he can understand within that all other things they bear some unpleasant reaction. ‘I’m in the midst of so many things already acquired. It is not very easy to leave them at once at my sweet will. Previously I had some obligation, I incurred it consciously, and abruptly I cannot cut off their connection. They won’t let me loose, get free.’ So veda-duḥkhātmakān kāmān, he can conceive that these are all pain producing. Parityāge ‘py anīśvaraḥ, but helpless, can’t make himself free at once from their clutches. Because already incurred debt the Shylocks won’t allow him to get out.”

tato bhajeta mām prītaḥ śraddhālur dṛḍha-niścayaḥ [juṣamāṇaś ca tān kāmān duḥkhodarkāṁś ca garhayan] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.28]

“But what śraddhā, the pure attraction he has acquired for Me, that is of eternal nature. That cannot be subdued, or that cannot be cut off by any mundane, ordinary attempt. Tato bhajeta mām prītaḥ śraddhālur dṛḍha-niścayaḥ, though undergoing so many different ways and types of suffering, but he goes on with My memory, thinking, aspiration, earnestness for Me. Śraddhālur dṛḍha-niścayaḥ, and as much as he’s compelled to suffer from the pressure of the environment, the firmness in Me becomes more and more sure, invulnerable. And by the tests of all these stands beyond, and grows beyond the jurisdiction of these mundane forces. Bhajeta mām prītaḥ śraddhālur dṛḍha-niścayaḥ, as much pressure comes from outside, so much firmness he feels in the necessity of My help to him. Tato bhajeta mām prītaḥ śraddhālur dṛḍha-niścayaḥ.

Juṣamāṇaś ca tān kāmān duḥkhodarkāṁś ca garhayan, at the same time he gives his back towards all these pains of the world, and keeps Me in the front, and begins to move onward. Juṣamāṇaś ca tān kāmān duḥkhodarkāṁś ca garhayan. ‘Whatever You like, You can do, will do. I can’t say anything if my Master looks at it. It is His jurisdiction. But I won’t leave my new ideal, I can’t. Whatever may come, it may happen, no mind.’ Juṣamāṇaś ca tān kāmān duḥkhodarkāṁś ca garhayan. And at the same time he’s abusing himself, ‘What have I done? What have I done? It is rather the justice that I should be tormented; I should be troubled, in such ways. It is not wrong. It is not wrong. It is the just thing; just dealings have come over me. Because why should I have committed? I entered this wrong alliance, entered into the tribe of the guṇḍās for exploitation. The reaction that is coming on over me that is well and good.’ Blaming himself, not to blame the environment, not to blame the agents that are causing trouble to us, but the concentration comes within that. Garhayan, he’s blaming his own self, his own free will, own fate, in this way. That should be, that becomes the nature of his temperament at that time. He does not try to look and place the fault on the shoulders of others, but the whole burden he takes on his shoulders. ‘Yes, and the nature, the environment is doing justice to me, the traitor, the ambitious, the oppressor of the environment.’ Duḥkhaḍkāmś ca garhayan.

prokṭena bhakti-yogena [bhajato mā ‘sakṛn muneḥ kāmā hṛdayyā naśyanti sarvve mayi hṛdi sthite]

[“When an intelligent person engages constantly in worshipping Me through loving devotional service as described by Me, his heart becomes firmly situated in Me. Thus all material desires within his heart are destroyed.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.29]

When he’s in the mood of such consciousness the bhakti-yoga becomes dṛḍha, it is more and more intense, more and more intense. When he began to blame himself, then the intensity of his progress...ke?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: We are going to catch a train to Calcutta, Mahārāja.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Going now?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes, unfortunately.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vidagdha-Mādhava?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, and Kṛṣṇa Vallabha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. You have taken prasādam? No?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Some urgency to go.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Prokṭena bhakti-yogena bhajato mā 'sakṛṇ muneḥ, then his attempt to make progress, to increase his progress, bhajato mā 'sakṛṇ muneḥ, more and more with accelerated motion his intensity grows. Kāmā hṛdayyā naśyanti sarvve mayi hṛdi sthite, then, by My appearance, gradually, all his internal and external discrepancies, naśyanti, gradually destroyed, evaporates. Sarvve mayi hṛdi sthite, when by such type of approach he reaches My domain, or rather, I come down, I extend My existence to his heart, then everything disappears, sarvve mayi hṛdi sthite. Then:

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, [chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ kṣīyante cāśya karmāṇi, mayi drṣṭe 'khilātmani]

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]

All the ties and entanglements, corners, angles, all vanish, crookedness vanishes. Straight, plain, graphic, spacious, all-embracing temperament he finds in the midst of; his atmosphere changes.

In the meantime I want to mention a practical experience. One day I was sitting in that chair, suddenly was thinking something, I felt some higher subjective sphere has come down and surrounded my existence. I felt, what is this? I never experienced, I had some peep from far off, but a new conscious atmosphere has come down and it has covered, surrounded my whole existence, whole knowledge. What is this? There was perhaps Arjunabhodi [?] and other gentleman, I could not but tell them, 'Just now I feel the higher, I consider myself to be some subjective existence, but some higher subjective existence has come and surrounded my whole existence, whole feeling. Is it the ratha that came for Ajāmila? This next suggestion came to me, that the soul enters into a ratha and if this atmosphere, how it is covering my whole existence, conception of existence, take me anywhere; I shall have to go there. My whole conception of my own self is surrounded. And wherever it will go I have no other way but to go within, I'm within that. And I find that it is a living thing. It has got its choice. It has got its freedom. Then I had some new experience, the svarūpa-śakti atmosphere, and I am, just when the earth moves, the tree, anything also, automatically has to move, so, new soil.

Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, all the ties, with so many attractions, so many things of different type of things of different promise, different achievement, at once dissolved. At once dissolved, no necessity, no necessity of them in this land. Hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. Hṛdayenābhyanujñāto [Manu, 2.1] Internal approval comes to ensure that where you have come this is your land. Chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ, no room of any doubt, all your hankerings are more than fulfilled here you'll find, sarva-saṁśayāḥ. 'I was searching, my whole body was searching only for me.'

In Vaiṣṇava-padāvali [Anthology of Vaiṣṇava Songs, by Jñāna Dāsa], there is an expression: prati aṅga lāge kānde prati aṅga mora. In mādhyura-rasa, where Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī is Śakti She says that, "My every limb is crying for the respective limb of My Lord. Not only My Self, but every part of My body earnestly aspiring for the other corresponding part of My Master's."

So, bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ, every part stands as witness, 'Yes, we have come, have attained which we were searching after; the whole body and whole unit of the body; wholesale satisfaction. That this is my soil, this is my home; this is my home. The every atom of my body will say like that, that chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. No trace of any doubt will be found, no room for that. But every atom they will find their fulfilment. 'It is my home, it is my home. I am in home comfort I find.' Kṣīyante cāśya karmāṇi, and also the force of reaction won't come to trouble him, to drag him down, or attract him towards the back. That is also cut off. Mayi dr̥ṣṭe 'khilātmani. "And I am the fullest of the full perfection, and he will be able to feel everywhere My help, My assistance, My friendship. Wherever he will cast his glance, or move, or live, My friendship he will be able to trace. I am here, his friend is here. The friend is there, mayi dr̥ṣṭe 'khilātmani."

That should be the course of our life, the direction towards which we want to go. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says like that. Sweet, sweet home, sweet home; home, you are the child of that soil. This is, in one word that is the goal. Why is that the goal, highest goal? Because that is your home; svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti, this one word is sufficient to attract you. You are wandering in the foreign land, and that is your home. Home comfort you will get there and you won't be able to deny that. So back to God, back to home, back to Godhead.

To avoid the Christian conception of God, the Godhead, our Guru Mahārāja Prabhupāda used the word Godhead, because bhagavatā. God means a particular conception of the same. So Godhead, what is at the back of the conception of God, that is Godhead; that is Svayaṁ Bhagavān

- Bhagavān Himself, the highest conception, highest conception of God, that is Godhead, it is meant by that. So not back to God, but back to Godhead. That is the necessity of the name of the paper was given from such consideration. Back to God, back to home, it is a proverb perhaps, it is coming from previous time. But Back to Godhead that means that Svayaṁ Bhagavān which is the highest conception of God. So back to Godhead, and that is the home is there, home is there.

So, we are running hither and thither, we have got no principle, no principle of life, unsettled, so our position is very sad, no rest from here, from one, two, three, five, six. In this way, but that is a troublesome life. I can't put my faith anywhere. That means I can't find any friend anywhere. Friendless, I am moving friendless. I am moving amongst the foreigners, enemies, sometimes. But I must have some friend, some friendly atmosphere. I must attain such a position that I can fetch full faith; I can believe, I can trust, such company, such company. Otherwise my life will be miserable, miserable. Everywhere, what direction I shall cast my glance I can't trust, I can't trust, all inimical. That is a particular prison house to live in that atmosphere, to live in a prison house, all uncertain, all untrustworthy. That is a very deplorable position. So, by God's grace it should come to us, that śraddhā. Not only I can trust, believe, but I shall have to, cannot but show my regard. Such a higher positioned life; that is gurum evābhigachet.

When we suffer from this uncertainty to the extreme, then we hanker after Guru, reliable source. Not only I can put something to him, we can trust him, but Guru means guardian who is a well-wisher of me more than I am of myself. Guardian means a friend who thinks more about me than I myself think about me, who knows about my welfare more than I do, to have a guardian, friend, Guru.

So Narottama Ṭhākura says, āśraya laiyā bhaje tāñre kṛṣṇa nāhi tyaje: "If I get a bona fide guardian then my future is assured." Kṛṣṇa cannot dismiss him so easily, because my guardian has some solid position there; and if I can enter into the domain of his care, that of my guardian, then my position is assured. So, āśraya laiyā bhaje tāñre kṛṣṇa nāhi tyaje, āra saba mare akāraṇa: The others who have not yet been able to tie himself with the holy feet of his guardian, Guru, then his position is uncertain, and he may be enticed by any agent to any direction, his future is deplorable.

So to have a real ideal in life, and also a living guardian, that is real guardian, to have, if we can catch through our śraddhā, then almost, our future is more or less assured. Only my duty towards my guardian, my Gurudeva; that will be my lookout and the others will be done automatically. So, to run through the length and breadth of this wide world of this land of exploitation, nothing but exploitation of different natures, of different planes is visible, is existing. So only through śraddhā can we connect us with our highest goal and achievement and fulfilment; that should be solved. Then, real life begins. Otherwise like a ship without rudder that can be drifted away by the sea storm this side, that side, no end, endless, no meaning; no value. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Any question?

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, you mentioned that the material world is like a prison house. Are the demigods such as Brahmā and Indra, are they also prisoners?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They are also prisoners, just as there are officers in the prison house. The prisoner also may become an officer in that jail government. Prison government, senior and qualified prisoners they are also given some chance of a post. Is it not?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So they are like that. They are also imprisoned but their position is a little higher and so they are given some duty. Just as a cowboy keeps his cow, or a horseman keeps his horse, in that way. But they are also prisoners.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. Dayāl. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

The man who went away with Vidagdha, was he a newcomer?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Newcomer, for the first time he came here?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is his name?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa Vallabha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa Vallabha, yes. Who's disciple? Swāmī Mahārāja?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That we do not know Mahārāja; new to us also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Sundara. And what part he comes from you also don't know?

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, in Bhāgavatam it says there are fourteen planetary systems.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fourteen planetary systems.

Devotee: And yet...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Cauda bhuvan?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Cauda bhuvan. [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 12.16]

Devotee: ...when we see the sky at night we see so many stars and planets that it seems as though the number is unlimited...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is not that, not of that type.

Devotee: Not of that type?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Not all physical, but from physical to subtle, from consciousness towards this matter. The gradation from finer to finer, in this way it is going to consciousness, the gap between soul and matter, to fill up the gap from gross to subtle, then that is gross, further, subtle. In this way it is going to vanish in the conscious idea, from consciousness and unconsciousness, the hierarchy, the steps, from jara to cetana, from matter to spirit. So many steps, fine, finer, finest, in this way the conception is there. Bhūr, Bhuvar, Svar, Mahar, Janar, Tapar, Satya, then Virajā, then Brahmaloḥa: in Brahman we find the real existence of soul. And from Virajā this material consciousness...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... Just as Bhagavad-gītā says:

indriyāṇi parāṇy āhur, indriyebhyaḥ param manaḥ manasas tu parā buddhir, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ

["The learned proclaim that the senses are superior to inert objects, the mind is superior to the senses, and the faculty of resolute intelligence is superior to the mind. And he who is superior to the intelligence is the soul himself."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.42]

In short, three or four steps given here in the middle, but more elaborated in details there are seven stages. In Gītā from the matter, then indriya second, then third is mind, and the fourth is judiciousness, reason, and the fifth, soul. But these, in four, but in details there are so many subdivisions also. Bhūr, Bhuvar, Svar, Mahar, Janar, Tapar, Satyaloka. Then soul means Brahman, there, yaḥ paratas tu saḥ, the saḥ represents Brahman; and indriya the second or third stage.

Or the stone, that is also sub divided, the stone, the water, the gas, the hill, the heat, the ether, so many sub divisions in the matter also. In one word it is matter, but sub divisions from gross to fine you will find. In matter also, in the stone also you'll find the earth, the stone, the coal, the gold, the wood. So many things, hard things, gold, the silver, so many things in the sub division in the material world, and big division, that is the solid, the water, and then the heat, then the gas, then the ether, in this way.

But all these are felt by the senses, indriyāṇi parāṇy āhur, the senses are better than all these different conceptions of the solid. Then, the faculty of justice is categorically different from that of thinking, the impulse, "I want this, I don't want that." That sort of feeling is lower. And higher is, "No, don't want that, it will produce such bad effect in you." Judiciousness, reason, intelligence. And then there is citta, ahaṅkāra, so many gaps, not mentioned in Gītā, and then comes that soul, the realm of soul.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Dayāl Nitāi.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja. Then then conditioned soul gets some attraction to Lord Śiva at Maheśa Dhāma. What is their position?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. There is a master of this māyā, not a slave, slave of misunderstanding. But above misunderstanding: still in the relativity of misunderstanding, from the masterly position. The māyā in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, Sanātana Goswāmī has represented in this way. When one is liberated the Māyā Devī comes to him, “Why do you leave me? I like to serve you, you don’t forsake me.” In this way with submissive attitude she again comes to offer her service to śiva, that is, the liberated soul. But if he’s enticed by that charm, he may again enter here. But if indifferently he can leave, “No, no, I have my engagement, I have my duty. Therefore I have no time to satisfy anybody by taking his service. I have my Lord, I must serve Him.” With this attitude, śraddhā within him, he neglects it and goes up.

svadharmma-niṣṭhaḥ śata-janmabhiḥ pumān, viriñcatām eti tataḥ param hi mām [avyākṛtaṁ bhāgavato ‘tha vaiṣṇavaṁ, padaṁ yathāhaṁ vibudhāḥ kalātyaye]

[“A person who executes his occupational duty properly for one hundred births becomes qualified to occupy the post of Brahmā, and if he becomes more qualified, he can approach Lord Śiva. A person who is directly surrendered to Lord Kṛṣṇa or Viṣṇu in unalloyed devotional service is immediately promoted to the spiritual planets. Lord Śiva and other demigods attain these planets after the destruction of this material world.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.24.29]

Mahādeva [Lord Śiva] says, that if one can perform his duties consecutively for a hundred births in varṇāśrama-dharma, he attains to the position of Brahmā. Svadharma-niṣṭhaḥ śata-janmabhiḥ. Svadharma, varṇāśrama-dharma, as it has been sanctioned, given by the Veda, “Do this.”

yataḥ pravṛttir bhūtānām, yena sarvvaṁ idaṁ tatam svakarmaṇā tam abhyarccya, siddhiṁ vindati mānavaḥ

[“A man achieves perfection by the performance of the appropriate duties prescribed for him according to his qualification. By the execution of his duties, he worships the Supreme Lord from whom the generation and impetus of all beings arises, and who permeates and pervades this entire universe (exercising His Supreme qualification of Lordship over one and all.”)] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.46]

In Bhagavad-gītā, niṣkāma, in Bhāgavatam also:

etāvān sāṅkhya-yogābhyām svadharma-pariniṣṭhayā [janma-lābhaḥ paraḥ puṁsām ante nārāyaṇa-smṛtiḥ]

[“The highest perfection of human life, achieved either by complete knowledge of matter and spirit, by practice of mystic powers, or by perfect discharge of occupational duty, is to remember the Personality of Godhead at the end of life.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.6]

Yoga, sāṅkhya, sāṅkhya-jñāna, yoga, aṣṭāṅgādi yoga, and svadharma-niṣṭhaḥ, niṣkāma- karma-yoga in varṇāśrama. Etāvān, ‘so far they can lead us, up to liberation, etāvān, so much they can come.’ Then, janma-lābhaḥ paraḥ puṁsām ante nārāyaṇa-smṛtiḥ, then the fulfilment of our life in the service of Nārāyaṇa, that we must get through śraddhā from a Guru. The positive, the visa, and passport may be given by these three classes, this yoga system, Paramātmā, those who are progressing towards the conception of Paramātmā. And the conception of this varṇāśrama-dharma as entrusted to us. And niṣkāma, ‘we are doing because Veda has recommended, ‘do it for our good, and don’t want anything as the consequence.’ With this attitude if the varṇāśrama-dharma is discharged, then also we can get the passport. And also, sāṅkhya-jñāna, neti, neti, neti, ‘this is not, this is not, this is not, this is all gross, all gross, all gross. I am soul, I am consciousness, I am spirit,’ the elimination, the sāṅkhya-jñāna. Etāvān sāṅkhya-yogābhyāṁ svadharma-pariniṣṭhayā, janma-lābhaḥ. But the real fulfilment of life, ante nārāyaṇa-smṛtiḥ, after that, the memory of Nārāyaṇa, memory of Nārāyaṇa, His consciousness, Nārāyaṇa consciousness, or Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that can give us proper fulfilment. That is the visa into the svarūpa-śakti realm. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Clear?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. But they say sometimes that Maheśa Dhāma is spiritual, but it seems to be more taṭasthā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Spiritual, but Maheśa Dhāma’s of two kinds: first in the relativity of māyā, then the Sadāśiva, the devotee Śiva. He may be gr̥hastha, he may be entangled with them, but he can conceive that he has got his superior position, superior realm, and he is holding the lowest position of that sphere. So, svadharmma-niṣṭhaḥ śata-janmabhiḥ pumān viriñcatām eti, one who can satisfactorily discharge his duty of varṇāśrama for a hundred lives, births; then he gets the position of Brahmā, who is the leader of the whole varṇāśrama here.

Tataḥ paraṁ hi mām, then Mahādeva says: “After this, if he can continue in this way, then he comes to my position, tataḥ paraṁ hi mām.

Viriñcatām eti, that is Brahmā. Padavim labhate and then, tataḥ paraṁ, after that Brahmā is the creator and manager of this. And I am like rastrapati. Brahmā is like a prime minister, and like king the position is held by the Śiva, in the relativity with this brahmāṇḍa. He can even dismiss the prime minister and dissolve the parliament; a higher position, tataḥ paraṁ hi mām. Mām, what is mām? Avyākṛtaṁ, not much power is endowed in me. I am a little indifferent. Tataḥ paraṁ hi mām, avyākṛtaṁ, a-vy-ākṛtaṁ, not well specified, sometimes non-differentiated, with tyāga and vairāgya, the renunciation and the abnegation, that is the principle thing in me to be traced.

Mām avyākṛtaṁ bhāgavato 'tha vaiṣṇavaṁ padaṁ, Then above me there is another realm which is inhabited by the bhāgavata, the followers of Bhagavān, bhāgavato 'tha vaiṣṇavaṁ padaṁ; and they attain that as known as vaiṣṇava-pada, Vaikuṇṭha, vaiṣṇavaṁ padaṁ.

Yathāhaṁ vibudhāḥ kalātyaye, and every soul can get the attainment, and at the kalātyaye, when the wholesale dissolution, the highest dissolution is ordered, at that time I can also get release and can join them, and anyone may have that chance if they can move properly.”

svadharmma-niṣṭhaḥ śata-janmabhiḥ pumān, viriñcatām eti tataḥ paraṁ hi mām avyākṛtaṁ bhāgavato 'tha vaiṣṇavaṁ, padaṁ yathāhaṁ vibudhāḥ kalātyaye

“O gods, this is the situation.” Mahādeva says in Bhāgavatam.

So we are to get some conception, what is what. How to measure exploitation, renunciation and devotion; devotion is this scriptural devotion and this love devotion. And here, karma also, regulated work, exploitation, and non regulated working, like guṇḍās and so many, vikarma, vikarma, karma, then jñāna, yoga, sāṅkhya, Vedānta, in this way. Then the positions, then Brahmā, Śiva, and then the master of māyā Śiva and then the servant of Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa, Śiva, and then the Vaikuṇṭha, and then the Goloka.

That will be my, have some conception; the map, that is the map we are to consult. ‘Here is America, here is Australia, here is Japan, here is this that, and on east side, west side of map.’ And if we are to go in a ship we must have the map, and the lifeboats, and so many things, the compass. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. And also, not only by those supposed emblems, but a practical knowledge, “That this is, yes, it is Bharata Marsagara. The position of this lighthouse and this verified; then I have come to Pacific. Here I find these are the signs.” That guide is more reliable, not theoretical but practical, śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ.

śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, brahmaṇy upaśamāśrayam]

[“Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide spiritual master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide Guru is that he has realised the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of those conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide spiritual masters.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.21]

Not only theoretical knowledge of the map but some practical experience of the way, such Guru is reliable and can save us, give us the real position. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, does a jīva attain the position of Śiva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: He becomes a Lord Śiva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He can be śiva. When he's out of māyā's clutches, he's out of māyā; and the Vaikuṇṭha devotee is more than Śiva. A spiritual molecule when he's free from the clutches of exploitation tendency, he's known as śiva. Pāśa-baddho bhavēj jīvaḥ pāśa-muktaḥ sadāśivaḥ, when he's enticed, entangled, he's jīva. And when he's free of that tie then he's śiva, śivo 'ham.

But Kṛṣṇa says when He's blessing Uddhava: “You are more dearer; you are more dear to Me than Brahmā, Śiva, in this way, Uddhava. Na tathā me priyatama ātmayonir, not Brahmā. Na śaṅkaraḥ, Śaṅkaraḥ is also, Śaṅkaraḥ means Śiva, he's also not so much favourite to Me. Na tathā me priyatama ātmayonir na śaṅkaraḥ, na ca saṅkarṣaṇo, even My elder brother Saṅkarṣaṇa is not so favourite. Na śrīr, neither Lakṣmī Devī even, she's not My favourite. Naivātmā, even My own body is not so much valuable to Me, yathā bhavān, as you are My favourite.”

na ca saṅkarṣaṇo na śrīr naivātmā ca yathā bhavān]

["Neither Brahmā nor Śīva are as dear to Me as you; My elder brother Saṅkarṣaṇa is not as dear to Me as you, nor even Lakṣmī Devī. Even My own Self is not as dear to Me as you."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.15]

The bhaktas position, the position of a devotee is such. He's above Brahmā, he's above Śīva, he's above Saṅkarṣaṇa, he's above Lakṣmī, he's above Kṛṣṇa Himself, by the sweet will of Kṛṣṇa, free will of Kṛṣṇa.

ahaṁ bhakta-parārdhīno, [hy asvatantra iva dvija sādhubhir grasta-
hṛdayo, bhaktair bhakta-jana-priyaḥ]

[The Lord tells Durvāsā: "I am the slave of My devotees; I have no freedom apart from their will. Because they are completely pure and devoted to Me, My heart is controlled by them, and I reside always in their hearts. I am dependent not only on My devotees, but even on the servants of My devotees. Even the servants of My devotees are dear to Me."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.63]

This is running in the way, in the way of love, not of justice; through affection. In the physical sense, in the sense of law, as in India we find that husband is the master of the wife. But it may be that through affection the wife may be the guide of the husband, through affection it is possible; so another line, another line of love, no matter of right.

So He says: “You are more than My own life.” And it is not a false thing the Lord says. “My devotee is dearer to Me. If anything wrong, any danger comes to him, I must stand. ‘First come to Me, and first finish Me, then you’ll catch My son, My devotee.’ That is the attitude of the Lord. Any danger coming to the son, the father will go out, “No, no, first finish me, then you’ll go to my son, to make any harm.” It is the way of affection, and that is our solace.

So Mahāprabhu says: “You jīva, take that way, that department. Try to have a ticket, purchase a ticket of that department, śraddhā, through that devotion, and you will be...”

And again that Uddhava says to the gopīs that: “I want to be a creeper so that I can have feet dust of these divine damsels on my head. I want, I aspire after.”

What things are, Mahāprabhu gave so great things to us, so great a thing for us, out of His innate magnanimity. And He’s no other than Kṛṣṇa because none can give such, can give away such right to any and everybody without being Kṛṣṇa Himself. So the devotees say that He’s no other than Kṛṣṇa Himself. None can give. And not only Kṛṣṇa, but Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa combined, because it is the highest wealth of both of Them. So both of Them combined is entitled only to give this chance to the ordinary soul. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Mahāprabhu Dayāl Gaurāṅga. This is unthinkable [?]

[The next six lines are from a tape recording of the same date, but not on the MP3] [From Sermons of the Guardian of Devotion, Vol. 2, p, 97]

Devotee: We have heard that the nine islands of Navadvīpa represent the nine fundamental processes of devotional service.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Holy Śrī Navadvīpa Dhāma is envisaged as a lotus flower. The centre of the lotus is the birthplace of Mahāprabhu and it represents ātma-nivedanam or self-surrender. One has to first surrender, and then all the practices of devotion follow. The petals of the lotus represent śravaṇam, kīrtanam, smaranam, pādasevanam...]

...then arcanam, vandanam, dāsyam. Then sākhyā, half this side and half that side of the Ganges, divided, the sākhyā it is divided by the Ganges, half this side, half that side. And ātma-nivedanam, that is the middle of the lotus...

Devotee: Whorl.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the birthplace of Mahāprabhu, ātma-nivedanam. So, first to surrender, ātma-nivedan, and then the śravaṇ, then kīrtan, then smaran, pādasevan, arcan, vandanam, dāsyā, sākhyā divided, and then again so, up, nine islands, nine petals of the lotus. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes?

Devotee: It's said that Kṛṣṇa He appears once in a day of Brahmā. How often does Mahāprabhu appear?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That very day, Mahāprabhu as Rādhā-Govinda combined, but every Kali-yuga He also comes to spread saṅkīrtana, Nāma-saṅkīrtana.

Devotee: Every Kali-yuga?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Every Kali-yuga. And every Dvāpara-yuga Kṛṣṇa also comes, but that all partial representation, not Svayaṁ-Bhagavān. The Yuga-Avatāras are not Svayaṁ-Bhagavān. Svayaṁ-Bhagavān only comes once in the day of Brahmā. And that rādhā-govinda-milita-tanu, Mahāprabhu, that also comes once in a day of Brahmā. All other yugas, Dvāpara, ordinary are Kṛṣṇa Avatāra and Gaura Avatāra only to preach Nāma-saṅkīrtana and Their paricarya. Dvāpare paricaryāyāṁ kalau tad hari-kīrtanāt.

[kṛte yad dhyāyato viṣṇuṁ, tretāyāṁ yajato makhaiḥ dvāpare

["Whatever result was obtained in Satya-yuga by meditating on Viṣṇu, in Tretā-yuga by performing sacrifices, and in Dvāpara-yuga by serving the Lord's lotus feet can be obtained in Kali-yuga simply by chanting the Hare Kṛṣṇa mahā-mantra.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.3.52]

...

But Navadvīpa Prabhu goes away without taking prasādam here, is it?

Devotee: I have taken this morning Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Taken, oh, once you have taken.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I have one question. In Navadvīpa-bhāva-taraṅga by Bhaktivinoda, he is actually having visions of different pastimes of the Lord on the different islands?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: He writes it in the way where he seems to be aspiring to see these visions. Is he actually seeing these visions, or by his power...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, of course. He's inspired, that vision to him is inspired. The Dhāma has inspired, has given true perspective of Him Himself, the Dhāma. "See Me." According to the degree of devotion one's inspection is of different type. As in the case of a doctor, a doctor sees a patient according to his capacity. The higher intelligence can see deeper. Everywhere, such is the case. The politician, a higher politician can see something.

yā niśā sarva-bhūtānām, tasyām jāgarti samyamī yasyām jāgrati bhūtāni,
sā niśā paśyato muneḥ

[“While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his un-interrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

The detector, according to his own position he can see so much deep
The x-ray can see deeper, microscope can see deeper. So according to the capacity the vision comes off, revelation, revelation according to his capacity, deserving. Deserve and have.

[“O King, Śrī Kṛṣṇa then appeared as a thunderbolt to the wrestlers, as the supreme male to the men, as Cupid incarnate to the ladies, as a friend to the cow herdsmen; as an emperor to the wicked kings, as a child to His father and mother, as death to Kāṁsa, as the universal form of the world to the ignorant; as the Supreme Truth to the yogīs, as the Supreme Worshipful Lord to the Vṛṣṇis - and along with Baladeva He entered the arena.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.43.17]

Kṛṣṇa entering into the retina of the wrestlers, but different types of people are having different views of Him, according to their inner eye. They're seeing Him like that in different ways, different attitudes, different degrees of consciousness. Variety, variegatedness of the experience, everywhere it may be applied in every case.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. [?]

You must put questions, and to have analysis, that this is unintelligible, I want detailed analysis of the same. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Otherwise we shall think that you are satisfied. Ha, ha, ha. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Ke? Who is he?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Daśaratha sūta.

Devotee: Mahārāja, in America, or even here, when we are travelling, sometimes we keep japa- mālā and chant quietly in public. In public sometimes we chant quietly. Is this proper, we can chant publicly?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He's asking can we do in public our japa, no fault?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. You can do; no fault. The inquiry may come; you will get opportunity to speak to them why you are doing.

“Why? What makes you chant this Name in this way?”

But if you are afraid that I won't be able to explain to them, ha, ha, then you may, ha, ha, do it within. But still, of course, you may say, “Yes, I have got such faith. I have got such faith. I am doing.” And through the sound medium I can go to the truth. I can go to the truth. Sound is the medium utilised everywhere for every case. And here also why not sound should be the medium? So through the medium of sound I want to reach, my mind wants to reach to the place of origin of the sound. The vibration, the origin of the vibration I want to reach with the help of the sound. And one who will have to reach is more subtle than the sound. Sound is really gross thing for him, the ātmā, the soul, is more sound, subtle. So with the help of the sound, sound in the ordinary sense, but really, that sound is more subtle, the Vaikuṇṭha śabda. More sound and more subtle and more efficacy, everything more efficacy, living capacity, that sound. And my soul is a gross thing in comparison to that. But when it is touching my ears I can find that it is very subtle and I am gross, when I consider myself to be a bundle of material things around the spiritual existence, sound.

When this body will no longer exist, that sound will exist. The sound will exist, it is undying. Its origin comes from Goloka, Vṛndāvana; the finest plane ever known to the world, the finest of the finest plane ever known. Just as electric, ethereal, or finer, finer, so the finest ever known to the world is the layer of beauty and sweetness and love, the most original conception of existence ever known to any consciousness. And that is most universal. “I don't want love. Love means sacrifice. I don't want love.” None can say, if he knows the real meaning of love, I don't want. I don't want power. I may misuse it, in possession of a power is a great responsibility. Love also is a responsibility, but love I want from the higher, shelter in the loving lap, in the loving consideration. There, everyone will love me. I shall enter a domain, where in home, home is sweet, why? Everyone has some attraction and love, some blessing over me. So that is 'home is sweet.' Why? All favourable, all loving, all trustworthy, so home is sweet. So we want to go back to home; home, sweet, sweet home. Gaura Haribol.

svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti: muktir hitvān-yathā-rūpaṁ svarūpeṇa vyavasthitiḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.10.6]

["This is Vṛndāvana, Vṛndāvana is so friendly, so sweet, so near to us, and such a well-wisher of ours. We are quite at home there, sweet, sweet home. In our innate and innermost existence, we are members of that plane."]

Svarūpeṇa vyavasthitiḥ is mukti, self determination, the stage of self determination, as much as our self can attain, that is our most interest. And that is home, that is Goloka, that is the plane of Kṛṣṇa. The flute sound, the sound of His flute, the most attractive. Ha, ha. Rūpa Goswāmī gives the description, babhrāma vaṁśī-dhvaniḥ:

[rundhann ambubhṛtaś camatkṛti-param kurvvan muhus tumburum dhyānād antarayan sanandana-mukhān vismāpayan vedhasam autsukyāvalibhir baliṁ caṭulayan bhogīndram āghūrṇayan bhindann aṇḍa-kaṭāha-bhittim abhito babhrāma vaṁśī-dhvaniḥ]

[The most attractive sound is the sound of His flute. Śrīla Rūpa Goswāmī has given a description: "Arresting the movement of the clouds, astonishing the Gandharvas headed by Tumburu and breaking the meditation of the sages headed by Sanandana; astonishing the heart of Lord Brahmā, distracting the mind of the indomitable Balirāja with intense ecstasies, reeling the head of Ananta, the Serpent King who supports the earth planet, and piercing the covering of the universe - the vibration of Kṛṣṇa's flute wandered all around.”]

Began to reverberate, how? Dvavisthati yam brahma [?] When the sound has entered into the ear of Brahmā, he's reaction is, “What suggestion is coming, from what circle, what is this, puzzling me?” Then Anantadeva, [?] who is keeping the whole, the infinite, that is within His attractive love, lap, containing so many material existence, Ananta. [?] āghūrṇayan, His head is being, āghūrṇayan, is revolving, or what is this when the brain is disordered?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Reeling.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Reeling the head of the total force that has gathered all these brahmāṇḍas, so many lustrous masses, so many balls of masses. His head is reeling, vibration producing that, in such way. And attacking the inner most heart of Rādhārāṇī and the sakhās. And the cows they're also, with their ears up, “What way we are wanted to go?” Ha, ha. So many suggestions are coming from that sound, to respective parties.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Does your mother feel any interest? Can she understand?

Devotee: Yes, she does, she very much likes coming here Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, she can understand also, but no question from her side?

Devotee: I was thinking that I have been a Gurukula teacher and I have noticed that when the children reach to be fourteen-fifteen then we are losing them. Material desires are taking over them so much that they don't want to become Kṛṣṇa conscious. They want to be in māyā. What to do for these children?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If we will good for them, and with that your good will for them, that will help you to devise a means for the time being. The children, they have got their different capacity and attitude and you are to deal accordingly. Where there is will there is way. You have got good will for them and that will help you to devise the means what will be necessary for the time being, na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid durgatiṁ.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchatī]

The internal Guru, the caitya Guru, will help you if you are earnest to help them in that way in Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Caitya Guru is there. You'll think about your mahanta Guru also, and ask, "What shall I do in this case? Please give suggestion to me." And if you are sincere the suggestion will come and guide you. Only sincerely you are to pray. He's everywhere. He's within you, and you ask Him, "My Master, what am I to do in this case? It is a peculiar case, a new case to me I think, so give me suggestion." And if you are sincerely asking that will be fulfilled. Whatever you do with sincerity: that will be accepted from His side. Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati. Our inner thing is a simple thing, only acquired thing in this world, that is complex and that is misguiding, misleading. The complexity, we are afraid of the complexity, crookedness, artificiality, too much egoism, self interest, all these things have made the situation very complex.

["The heart of a brāhmaṇa is by nature very clean; therefore it is a proper place for Kṛṣṇa to sit."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 15.274] & [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 14.38]

arjavam brahmane saksat [Truthfulness is the symptom of a brāhmaṇa] [Chandogya Upaniṣad] & [Gauḍīya Kanthahara, 14.46]

The simplicity is the main quality in a brāhmaṇa, brāhmaṇa heart. One who is simple, he's a brāhmaṇa, really simple. He wants to avoid the brāhmaṇic nature, wants to avoid the diverse offerings of this mundane nature. He wants him to direct towards some higher direction. He does not appreciate, or does not like the complex offerings of presentation from the, from this mundane environment. Apathetic, on the whole apathetic to the offerings of the mundane nature, and he has got some approximate tendency towards the spiritual existence. That is brāhmaṇa. And simplicity is there. Unto the simple heart, the son. Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Crookedness is our enemy. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

You are to go back now to Māyāpur?

Devotee: To Māyāpur, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. She's a teacher in Gurukula where?

Devotee: In Los Angeles.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Los Angeles. That is the zone of Rāmeśvara Mahārāja?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Where is Arundhati now?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Wife of Pradyumna, where is she?

Devotee: I'm not sure.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wife of Pradyumna, mother of Anirudha. Several times she came here. And Swāmī Mahārāja himself told that, “Anirudha imbibes devotion from his mother, not from father.” Arundhati.

And there was another lady Swāmī Mahārāja introduced to me in Māyāpur.

“She came, I collected her from sea shore.” Australia or New Zealand or something like that, or that Hawaii. “I collected her from sea shore, a sea shore girl, but now she’s very busily engaged in rendering service to the devotees: deeply engaged. Her change is very satisfactory.”

He told. She came here also and gave lecture, that lady. I forget her name.

I can’t see. My eyes are defective. So, the memory cannot, memory is also slackened. Whenever our Guru Mahārāja was in search for a śloka from Bhāgavata or anywhere for support of his lecture, I could supply that. He’s searching after some evidence, some śloka, I could at once supply that śloka to him. And sometimes even in advance that next śloka. He’s going in this way, the next thing will be necessary, this śloka to him. There I could also help him: the next demand of this śloka. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. But memory is going away. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Of course all those ślokas were only heard from him, and also their arrangement heard only...

81.12.13.A

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...combined, asked Gandhiji, “So the whole responsibility is on you, you try to evolve some way how we can go onward for our independent endeavour.”

Gandhi took, then for some time he’s thinking and thinking. Once Rabindranatha met him and asked him, “What are you thinking? The whole responsibility of the Congress is now with you.”

“Yes, I’m thinking furiously.” Gandhi answered.

Rabindranatha in a taunting tone, at least it seemed to me, he expressed to a newspaper reporter, “I saw him and asked, the whole responsibility of the National Congress is with you. Now what are you thinking? He answered, ‘I am thinking furiously.’”

But afterwards he came with that lavan [?] satyagraha, the salt, disobedience of the salt law, salt act. He came with that, and wrote a letter to Lord Irwin who was the Viceroy at that time. “Poor man’s salt, so please withdraw the tax from that. The poorest people, they’re also compelled to use some salt. So taxation on that salt should be withdrawn. This is my, I implore to you to do. If you don’t do that then I will be compelled to disobey that law.”

Irwin did not care for that. Perhaps the instruction was there from the Privy Council.

Then Gandhi began, from his āśrama he went towards Dandi, a seashore place where he will begin the disobedience of the salt act. When he was going, about seventy five or so in the batch, marching, walking, not using any conveyance, but they’re in a party, they’re marching. And three or four days from that place, and chatting and talking, cheerful heart, marching, a merry making party, something like. Then begun that disobedience for the salt law, began to make salt purification and distribute then to the others.

At that time Gandhi told, when merry making he's going to the jaws of death, "Then, what are you thinking?"

"I'm thinking in a few days when I shall begin this work, the whole India will shiver like earthquake, a few days more the whole of India will shiver as in earthquake. The whole nation will be like the stormy sea."

And that was done. At that time I had left the Congress. I was in Gauḍīya Matha. I was in Madras at that time. But I felt that the whole, what he told I had faith in him that what he says, it should, it will be effected, and gradually that wave began to come. The whole country was on fire. But he foretold it in a very sober brain. The whole nation will come to it, a stormy wave, and it was. But when he pronounced this, a very sober sound, and soft hearted man. But he could foresee the furiousness.

And then I thought why he told to Rabindranatha, "I'm thinking furiously. I'm thinking furiously. That is, the furious things will come into existence very soon. In that layer I'm thinking. I'm thinking in such a layer that furiousness will be all around." And that was.

So thought in a very sober and soft thing it may be the idea, and gradually when it takes actually figure, action, comes in the active field, it may be very dreadful. The play, play of different types, so it is able to fight with the concrete, the iron world. Hegel also says that everything in the beginning is an idea, only an idea, small idea.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Right. He says "Idea is the seed to a revolution."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Idea is everything into a huge force. Huge force comes in the plane of action, huge force. So abstract thinking, that is not to be neglected. That is the seed of all iron, concrete. Fine, fineness, not to be ignored or neglected, the fine things, the cause is fine and the effect is concrete. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: So what he said Mahārāja is that “An idea is the seed to a revolution and it is the time that separates the idea from action.”

Like even Prabhupāda when he was in New York and he was sitting in a park there was one gentleman who asked him, “What are you doing?”

Then Prabhupāda gave a whole explanation, “We have so many buildings, so many temples, so many books are being distributed.” But that was years before it actually started.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But in the beginning what started was Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Prabhu Nityānanda in a lonely park with karatālas in his hands he started Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That started, and within ten or fifteen years how huge shape it has been taken in the world. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And backed by the Universal Will. Universal Will was in favour and it advanced like anything. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. [?] have you read [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Little bit, yes Mahārāja, little bit, I know the story.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] that character he depicted in the line of karma yogī. Jñāna yogī is [?] karma yogī is [?] and bhakti yogī [?] bhakti yoga, jñāna yoga and karma yoga. Karma yoga externally is ordinary dutiful man but internally he’s connected with the infinite [?] there sometimes miraculous. [?] long ago I read but I remember the idea [?] his finding. He has come to, his father-in-law, her husband came for some big loan to save his state. And she was a leader of the dacoit party [?] and anyhow she gave it to her husband, Brajanatha [?] or someone, and that state was saved. Then her father-in-law, Brajanatha's father, he took very treacherous step and he managed to, with the present British Government, that this dacoit [?] she may be handed over to the government. And it was managed that way and [?] was requested to meet in a particular place to take the rupee in some plea, through her husband. And she had her spies, she could know beforehand that her father-in-law is trying to hand over to the police. But still she, because she gave her word, in that moment in that place she came, with risk. Then the police also were informed and they're also coming to catch her. And she was thinking, and perhaps the fight is going on with her men and the police, in the river, and she's on the roof of the [?] higher type of boat, what is the name? Some square boat of developed type. She's on the roof of that type of bajra [?] and she's looking at the sky, and could read, seeing the clouds and the position that very soon a storm is coming, she could detect. And she accordingly ordered the bajra men, "Be ready. As soon as I ask you to start towards this direction you will be ready, you will take the anchor, all these things, to start this direction." And at that time the European police superintendent perhaps he has entered into the bajra, the lower story. And suddenly the anchors were all taken on and she gave the order, "Start this direction." And bajra began to run in such a speed, helped by the storm, storm also came immediately. [?] that European inspector he was cut off from his forces and he was captive there. He was taken in on the bajra when the bajra flew away, with the help of the storm.

So they have got some power to read the nature, the images. The genius they can read the nature and take advantage of it. It is all Divine Arrangement. Something like that. But they can detect. Leaders, exceptionally gifted persons, they can read things from the environment, and accordingly they begin their activity and attain extraordinary success in their life.

So Swāmī Mahārāja only began with the jingling of karatālas. Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. Not long before – and that was an abstract, something abstract, small thing. Gaura Haribol.

Everything is such, but this is another thing, creation, sustenance, and destruction. But what we are talking, we are concerned with, that is a permanent thing, nitya līlā.

I was told when some gentleman [?] he was, did you meet this _____ [?] doctor [?] There is a doctor here, śuddha Vaiṣṇava, doctor, disciple of Tinkori Gosani – Bhaumi [?] Did you meet Bhaumi [?] doctor here?

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Doctor Bhaumi [?] told me one day that one Mohammedan gentleman joined ISKCON and he came to me...

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I asked him, why have you joined this mission? He told that, “From my childhood I had some mania to read religious books of different schools, and I did so. But when I came to read the Indian philosophy, Indian religion, then so many Purāṇa, so many things, Veda and other things, gave me such a great impression, that here it is mentioned about the time and space infinitely. Infinitely greater than other religious books have mentioned about the time and space. Time and space, Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara, Kali, and then Manu, this Indra and Manu, Tretā, Dvāpara, then the time of Brahmā, then again so many Brahmās go, vanishes. So in this way, and so many brahmāṇḍas they are floating like so many mustard seeds in the ocean. The idea of space and time, the idea has been related here in such a great magnitude that it attracted me towards it. That this must be the ancient, and most graphic, spacious, all accommodating. So some special faith came in Hinduism. And then when I came in connection with Swāmī Mahārāja it was easy for me to accept, to come.” You told?

Devotee: Yes. [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi.

Once Aurobindo asked his disciple, one of his disciples from Pondicherry, “Get some Mahābhārata for me.” But he neglected. When he met him in Pondicherry, from Calcutta, Aurobindo enquired, “Have you taken the Mahābhārata with you?”

“No, no, I have not.” “Why?”

“What the Mahābhārata will do there? So many impossible stories are mentioned there. So what is the necessity for you to – for Mahābhārata? There is a peculiar, that the Earth is on the hood of the huge serpent Anantadeva, like a mustard seed. All these fables are written there.”

“Why do you ignore this? The Anantadeva that means total force: you may take it as total force, and over it the Earth is standing. So we are to understand the way, the proper meaning in a proper way, then everything is all right.” He told like that.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He's a jñānī Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's a jñānī. He follows, I think, that Hegelian theory, panentheism. He's not like Śaṅkara. He differs from Śaṅkara. He says mukti is the last snare of māyā. I read it in his Uttarpara Speech before joining Gauḍīya Maṭha, that book Uttarpara Speech there he wrote, delivered a lecture...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mukti is the last snare of māyā. That is his writing. Then Vāsudeva conception. And also he differed from Ramakrishna Mission, he says that kāmīnī kanchan, kanchan we must not avoid but as a trustee must deal with kanak, in money as a trustee, not as an enjoyer or owner, but as a trustee. He differs from them in this way. He's a worshipper of Vāsudeva.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Is he? Because in one book I was reading, I was in a library of a doctor, and he was saying that 'we can all become gopīkas also.' And he was specifically mentioning Chandrāvalī's name.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's Chandrāvalī?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No, not that he's Chandrāvalī, we can become like her, we should...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The opposition party.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I don't know why he picked on the name of Chandrāvalī...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Chandrāvalī's the opposition party leader, and he becoming she may enter the group of Chandrāvalī, but cannot become Chandrāvalī himself. But most nasty thing what I heard from his men that now he has realised a position which is greater than Kṛṣṇa. I heard from some source. Then I hate him. I had some respect for him in the beginning, but when this sound entered my ear, that he says he's now in higher position than that of Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He's a Māyāvādī in the heart Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His disciples, he's more than Māyāvādī.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah, his disciples said it, 'he's greater than Kṛṣṇa.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahma sayujya aiti sasadya sayujya adhikari [?] Half truth is more dangerous than falsehood. He admits Kṛṣṇa, Vāsudeva, all these things. Now he has become greater than Kṛṣṇa. [?] madness, insanity.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Prabhupāda used to say that his intelligence was stolen by that woman.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe. When I was in Madras I was told by a person there, nineteen thirty one perhaps, there was one Mr Cowji [?] of Pondicherry, he had a house in Madras city. We were visiting so many persons and one day I entered his house, for begging, for collection purpose. Then in our discussion we, the topics of Aurobindo also came.

Then he told that, “Aurobindo is my – lives in his hired house, client, not client but, tenant. Aurobindo is my tenant. I’ve got a few houses there and he has hired one house, he’s my tenant, I know about him.” But he was a scholar, he had good name, but now a very bad reputation is spread in the locality. And what is that? That French lady has captured him and many bad remarks are running against him with the lady.”

I slightly protested that such a big person may not come so low. But perhaps the closer devotional relation has given birth to such an evil rumour. I can’t believe that he has degraded to such a position.

But he says, “No, no. It is the bad inclination, and many have detected, all these things.”

I told no, at that time, maybe. And it’s mentioned somewhere in Bhāgavata: harāv abhaktasya kuto mahad-guṇā, manorathenāśati dhāvato bahiḥ. He may be master of many attributes of the world, but if there is absence of real devotion, a drop, then we can’t rely. Any moment he may fall.

yasyāsti bhaktir bhagavaty akiñcana, sarvair guṇais tatra samāśate surāḥ harāv abhaktasya kuto mahad-guṇā, manorathenāśati dhāvato bahiḥ

[“All the demigods and their exalted qualities, such as religious knowledge and renunciation, become manifest in the body of one who has developed unalloyed devotion for the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Vāsudeva. On the other hand, a person devoid of devotional service and engaged in material activities has no good qualities. Even if he is adept at the practice of mystic yoga, or the honest endeavour of maintaining his family and relatives, he must be driven by his own mental speculations and must engage in serving the Lord's external energy. How can there be any good qualities in such a person?" [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.18.12]

Not reliable, who are devoid of that highest type of thing, at least a bit, cannot be relied. Any moment the other qualities may deceive him, may cheat him any moment. But if there is real basis of Hari bhakti, a slight, a drop of devotion, faith, towards the Absolute, all other gods with their qualification are sure to remain there, because he has got the grace of the highest. So, and if that is absent they can at any moment fly away, may deceive him. Harāv abhaktasya kuto mahad-guṇā. No guarantee, the entity that will give guarantee, he's absent, so all fickle. Harāv abhaktasya kuto mahad-guṇā, manorathenāsati dhāvato bahiḥ.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So I'm under deplorable condition, can't remember so many familiar śloka, words I can't remember. Look at my position, helpless position. This badra [?], the śloka, we were so conversant with, can't remember, the appropriate word, can't remember. Ha, ha, ha.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, naturally if you try you can surely remember, but you're just giving us a chance for some service...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Of course such very thing we saw in our Guru Mahārāja also. But still he was only sixty three. Still he had to remember something, and we had to help him by taking the śloka just before he was searching for. But in that case now above eighty, eighty six, can remember some things by his grace. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Because he wanted me to speak something to the western civilised persons, and because Swāmī Mahārāja repeatedly requested me to look after the persons he's taken here, so perhaps I'm spared. I think like that.
I'm spared for the purpose anyhow. I'm also doing my duty with that idea.
I should not have lived so long. Because I'm spared, my life is spared only for this purpose. Though anyhow though very much tired, still I try to attend somewhat what I can, try my utmost. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.
Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] So you are to start for Calcutta today after taking prasādam?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes Mahārāja. But I was planning, yes. Abhimanyu was making much problem for my coming this time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He wants to come here?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. I promised him, but his school is closing on the eighteenth. So after that even his mother has been troubling me very much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Come here to stay for some time.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Once, a friend of mine Mahārāja, he asked me one question, that was, “Why does Kṛṣṇa, I mean, does Kṛṣṇa need our love?” That was his question. “And why does Kṛṣṇa need our love?”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We are already within the boundary of Kṛṣṇa and nothing can have its existence independent. No independent existence is possible with anything, so we are within His connection. Then what connection with Him we shall have? He's the Lord of love. Some connection, and what sort of connection, that the affection, or automatic.

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā. Vyakta-mūrtinā, avyakta-mūrtinā, two types, mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni: still, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitaḥ. "It is My peculiar mystic position. Though I'm everywhere they cannot feel Me. And also if I leave they can feel Me." Paśya me yogam aiśvaram. "The peculiar mystic position try to understand what am I, what is My position in the world, a very peculiar thing. I am everywhere, I am nowhere. Everything in Me, nothing in Me." Paśya me yogam aiśvaram. That warning is there, paśya me yogam aiśvaram, please try to understand...

[mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitaḥ.] [na ca mat-sthāni bhūtāni, paśya me yogam aiśvaram]

bhūta-bhṛṇ na ca bhūta-stho, mamātmā bhūta-bhāvanah]

["In an unmanifest manner, I pervade this entire universe, and everything conceivable is situated within Me - and yet, I am not situated within that total entity."] ["And again, that is also not situated in Me. Just behold My inconceivable simultaneous one and different (acintya-bhedābheda) nature as the perfect, omnipotent, omniscient originator and Lord of the universe! Although My very Self is the mainstay and guardian of all beings, I am not implicated by them.”] [Bhagavad-gīta, 9.4-5]

Ke?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Navadvīpa Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Navadvīpa Prabhu, Oh. Come alone?

Navadvīpa Prabhu: With my wife.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, she has also come. Paśya me yogam aiśvaram. “The peculiar position, a mystic position what I have, My relation with the external world. Try to understand.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Acintya bhedābheda, Mahāprabhu’s general remark about this world. “What is the position between oneness, unity, and diversity? And beyond one general law is this, acintya bhedābheda, something common something different. And the line of demarcation is in My hand, so inconceivable to you, simultaneous distinction and non distinction with anything and everything. They are also in such position, I am also in such position, simultaneous distinction and non distinction. That is My peculiar position, and others also, by My will. My will is everything. Let there be water there was water. Let there be fire there was fire.”

Will, sankalpa, if we go to trace the cause, otherwise it is eternal. One phase is all eternal, and above this phase, this world of creation, this is to be applied. And sometimes it was so subtle that it could not be traceable, but by some very subtle power it began to evolve. Evolution began and so many things came out. Just as a big tree coming from the seed, a small seed is producing a big tree, something like that, and again entering.

asato mā sad gamayo tāmaso mā, jyoti gamayo [mr̥tyor mā amṛta gamayo]

["I am mortal, make me eternal. I am ignorant, filled with nescience, take me to science, knowledge. And I am threatened with misery, guide me towards bliss."]

[Bṛhad Āraṇyaka Upaniṣad, 1st Adhyaya, 3rd Brāhmaṇa, 23rd mantra]

One day non-existent, then again existent! Manu-saṁhitā just began with this. Manu is sitting and some ṛṣis approaching him asking the question, "Please advise about our duties."

Then Manu came out with this advice. "What is dharma, you want to know.

vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ sadbhir, nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ hr̥dayenābhyanuḥjñāto, yo dharmas taṁ nibhodhata [Manu-saṁhitā, 2.1]

Vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ. What is accepted, what is served, by the, vidvad means vedavit, who is well versed in the Vedic knowledge. Ordinary knowledge has no place because it is in the illusory sphere of misunderstanding, misconception. So any statement sprung up from this plane of misconception, that cannot be accepted as evidence, pramāṇa. So vedavit, who are well versed in the knowledge that is extended from above, which is free from misconception: who has got that knowledge, that revealed knowledge which is being extended from the upper side, beyond the jurisdiction of this misunderstanding, that is the standard knowledge, vidvad. And what they accept and they practice, whose conversant with that Vedic knowledge, revealed truth. Vidvadbhiḥ sevitaḥ sadbhir. And sādhus, those honest, innocent men, that have got no aspiration here, their practices have been, nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ, and what will be the sign, the nature of the sādhu, the definition? Adveṣa-rāga, who has got neither any liking nor any disliking for anything in this world, who are in balance, no prejudice either in the positive or in the negative side of any achievement of this world; they're sādhu. Nityam adveṣa-rāgibhiḥ. And hṛdayenābhyanujñāto, and also the inner heart will approve. You must have verification from the inner most feeling of your heart. That is dharma. That should be considered as the real conception of duty."

Then he comes to,

āsīd idam tamo bhūtam, aprajñātam alakṣanam apratarkyam avijñeyam, prasuptam iva sarvataḥ

[tataḥ svayambhur bhāgavān, avyaktavyam jayan idam mahābhutādi vṛtaujaḥ, prādur āsin tamonudaḥ]

[Just before the creative movement began, the marginal potency of the Lord was in a state of equilibrium. taṭasthā means equilibrium: āsīd idaṁ tamo bhūtam. Everything was in darkness, fully enveloped by ignorance. Alakṣanam means there was no possibility of any estimation; no symptoms of reality existed by which any conjecture or inference about the nature of reality would have been possible. And it was aprajñātam: science has no capacity for investigating the nature of that stage of existence. We can only say from here that it was completely immersed in deep sleep. The analogy of deep sleep may give us some conception of that period: prasuptam iva sarvatra. Material existence was as if in a sound sleep.] [Manu-saṁhitā, 1.1.5-6]

Suddenly jumps to the stage just before creation, “Āsīd idaṁ tamo bhūtam. In the former, preliminary stage, this world was like covered with dense darkness. That was in existence first, tamo bhūtam. Aprajñātam, and no knowledge about it was possible, aprajñātam. Alakṣanam, no sign one could read from it that he will produce some opinion, pass some opinion. If we get some symptom then on the basis of that we can pass some opinion. ‘Oh, this is this, this is that,’ but no symptoms, alakṣanam. Apratarkya, and so no argument was possible. So all dense darkness there so argument was not possible whether this is this or that is that. No basis of any argument, apratarkya. This Vedānta, the Śāṅkara, the Pātañjali, they will come with their logic, theistic or atheistic logic, the logicians had got no place at that time, no foundation, apratarkya. Avijñeyaṁ, and the scientist they have got also not to continue or begin their experiment with this or that. Prasuptam iva sarvataḥ, only one example I may give to you, that of a sound sleep. That is a type of a sound sleep. You may think it like that. In the beginning, the stage of the whole world may be compared with the sound sleep, prasuptam iva sarvataḥ, all in deep slumber. Tataḥ svayambhur bhāgavān, then from within the light came. Bhagavān, Nārāyaṇa.” In this way he’s beginning.

Now commentators have raised the question, “The ṛṣis came to know that advices about their duties, and Manu went to begin before this creation, what is the necessity? He could just say, ‘this is your duty, this is your duty,’ in that way, but he went to the root of the creation. This is unnecessary...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... Kuluk Bhaṭṭa’s tika is very – ka, k, Kuluk Bhaṭṭa, he has given a comprehensive commentary to Manasā Śikṣā, and he mentions, he raises this question, raising and says that, “All duties,” according to him, “That brahma-jñāna, that is the highest dharma, or duty, to know about the Supreme, about the highest, the biggest. That is the highest conception of our duty.”

In other words it may be thought that we must know the whole and our relation with the whole. We must know the Absolute. Absolute must be taken in diagnosis, in thinking out what should be our duty. Who am I? Where am I? That also must be taken into consideration because we can have a real conception about duty. Duty to whom? Duty to the next neighbour, that is not all. Duty must be extended to the highest quarter, in relation of the highest conception of things.

So from the beginning he’s from here in the beginning of the creation, in this way. So, the Kṛṣṇa conception, dharma, in the question of duty, Kṛṣṇa conception has to come. And that is the Absolute form of duty. Absolute nature of duty must have relation with the Absolute, cannot but be. And direct relationship with Him, and so closer connection with Him, that is very laudable and helpful and desirable also.

And Mahāprabhu from Bhāgavatam gives us the conception of a family life with the Lord, the family life. This is the peculiar and extraordinary conception of religion, of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism, that we can live with Him as a family man. Gehaṁ juṣām.

He's not a matter of understanding and limitation, nor we shall try to exact from Him our nearest desirable things, the karmī. Whatever I want, my whimsical mind, whatever it needs, we want the help of the Supreme to back that. That is karma-kāṇḍa. I want something and I want the help of the Supreme in that search, in that quest, furnishing me with the object of my enjoyment exploitation. I invite His good will: that is karma.

And jñāna, I want to know Him. Where is He? What is He? What is His nature? All these things to know, that is jñāna and yoga. They're satisfied with a distant vision.

But the devotees, and especially the devotees of the mananga [?] type, that margara mārga [?] want to worship, adore, show reverence to the dignified position of the Lord of the whole infinite world, how can we hope to approach very closely to Him?

But Bhāgavatam has shown another phase of our life, that there is possibility, that there is a plane, and if we can find out our own identification with that plane, our relationship with that plane, in that plane if I can move, then we can go straight towards His personal, towards His enjoying, towards His loving aspect, rāga-mārga, the plane of love. If it is possible to dive deep, eliminating all our external encasement, with the help of the innermost existence you can dive deep and reach the plane of flowing love. With the help of that we can approach Him, in the particular service, and that is, as if, in the form of a family duty, giving, taking, freely, so freely, it is. To have Him it is possible.

And the gopīs they strictly stick up to that. “We are not jñānīs that we’ll be satisfied with abstract thinking of You. Nor we are karmī, that when we are in danger we shall pray for Your help and You will come and rescue us. We are not of that type. Nothing but our, this sort of prayer, we want Vṛndāvana, we want such paraphernalia, and we want You as our family Master. And nothing less than that we want to be satisfied. And be graceful to grant us that life.” Gehaṁ juṣāṁ api manasy udiyāt sadā naḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.82.49] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya- līlā, 13.136] “We may be very low, but You are so high. You are so great. You are so noble. We are lowest of the low. But You are noblest of the noble. So it may be possible. We are poorest of the poor. We are half civilised, jungle class of maids. But You can do anything and everything. Our hankering is this; that we want to live with, in a family manner, and nothing less than that can satisfy us.” Gehaṁ juṣāṁ api manasy udiyāt sadā naḥ. “Concrete transaction of giving and taking, very thick and thin way, so close contact, if it is possible.”

karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktiṁ yayur jñāninas tebhya jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ [tebhyaḥ tāḥ paśu-pāla-paṅkaja-dr̥śas tābhyo ‘pi sā rādhikā preṣṭhā tadvad iyaṁ tadīya-sarasī tām nāśrayet kaḥ kṛtī]

[“There are those in the world who regulate their tendency for exploitation in accordance with the scriptural rules and thereby seek gradual elevation to the spiritual domain. However, superior to them are those wise men who, having given up the tendency to lord over others, attempt to dive deep into the realm of consciousness. But far superior to them are the pure devotees who are free from any mundane ambitions and are liberated from knowledge, not by knowledge, having achieved divine love. They have gained entrance into the land of dedication and are engaged there spontaneously in the Lord's loving service. Among all devotees, however, the gopīs are the highest, for they have forsaken everyone, including their families, and everything, including the strictures of the Vedas, and have taken complete shelter at the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, accepting Him as their only protection. But among all the gopīs, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī reigns supreme. For Kṛṣṇa left the company of millions of gopīs during the rasa dance to search for Her alone. She is so dear to Śrī Kṛṣṇa that the pond in which She bathes is His very favourite place. Who but a madman would not aspire to render service, under the shelter of superior devotees, in that most exalted of all holy places?"

[Upadeśāmṛta, 10]

And premaika-niṣṭhā Uddhava he says that:

āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām, [vṛndāvane kim api gulma-latauṣadhīnām yā dustyajam svajanam ārya-patham ca hitvā, bhejur mukunda-padavīm śrutibhir vimṛgyām]

["The gopīs of Vṛndāvana have given up the association of their husbands, sons and other family members, who are very difficult to renounce, and they have sacrificed even their religious principles to take shelter of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, which are sought after by even the Vedas. O grant me the fortune to be born as a blade of grass in Vṛndāvana, so that I may take the dust of those great souls upon my head."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61]

How to measure that this is the standard given by the Bhāgavatam, how the nearness and dearness of the Lord is flowing in what way? Step by step going up, the Uddhava stands as staircase.

Kṛṣṇa Himself He pronounces this śloka, "From Brahmā to Śiva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Śrī, Myself, more than you Uddhava.”

And that Uddhava says, “I want to have the feet dust of those damsels of Vraja.”

In this way it can be measured like so many staircases it is proved that where is that position: in Bhāgavatam we get it.

And Mahāprabhu has given through His disciples. They have given in details how it is possible that jñāna-sunya-bhakti is above this jñāna bhakti. How jñāna-sunya-bhakti, why jñāna-sunya-bhakti? Oxymoron or something, virod alaṅkāra [?] jñāna-sunya-bhakti, what is this? When I came to read this from Rāmānanda-saṁvāda, when jñāna-miśrā-bhakti, “Eho bahya, age kaha ara.” [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59] jñāna-sunya-bhakti, “Eho bahya, age kaha ara.” Just a club on my head, ‘What is this, revolutionary, the most revolutionary remark: the jñāna, the knowledge, goes to hell, what is this? What higher thing can be there that the knowledge, na hi jñānena sadṛśaṁ, pavitram iha vidyate

[tat svayaṁ yoga-saṁsiddhaḥ, kālenātmani vindati]

[“Among the aforementioned practices of sacrifice, austerity, and yoga, there is nothing as pure as divine knowledge. After a long time, a person who has achieved perfection in his practice on the path of selfless action realises such knowledge spontaneously within his heart.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.38]

know, that I can know, that I am such a proud that I can know the Infinite. But it is false attempt, wild goose chasing. That is suicidal to you. It is impossible that finite can know Infinite. So stop it, this mania, that you'll be able to know everything, being a point you'll be able to measure the whole infinite knowledge, this is nothing but mania. You will be subject and the whole infinite that will be object to you, it is a mania. Give it up. Come to the concrete reality. What is that?

You have got your place. You take such a pose, infinite can do anything and everything. He can come to you, take such a method, accept such a method, draw Him to you He can do anything and everything. He can come so close to you, in any position you are, He can come there. So give up this vanity in your attempt to know, to finish Him, to imprison Him in your knowledge cell, of knowing faculty. Give up and come to the plane where you are nothing, dainya, the negativity, and the positive will come to embrace you. The Infinite can come to you. He's Infinite. He can do anything and everything for you. So take that plane. Put your application in that department and you will be blessed, your heart will be fulfilled, your thirst will be quenched, in that plane. The plane of love, and that love also not calculating love, affection not calculating, without calculation, the automatic stage. You are to surrender yourself to certain extent. Your faith should be so much increased that you'll have entrance in the automatic wave.

And there the Yogamāyā: the everything, your affinity about religion, non-religion, society, guardian, everything disappears in Vṛndāvana, only Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa is everything. He's all in all. If there be anything that is wholly dependent on Him, He's the sole proprietor, master, dealer, giver. And I have got no other alternative so far for my purpose, wholesale, that is necessary. And you are to gain, get your highest benefit from that stage of mind, of yourself. That sort of posing will bring for you your highest desired result. That was given by Mahāprabhu from Bhāgavatam.

And Devaṛṣi Nārada gave so much stress on that he gave stricture to Vyāsadeva. "What have you done? What you've done in the name of religious Ācārya, you have committed rather treachery to them."

Dharmma-kṛte 'nuśāsataḥ, svabhāva-raktasya mahān vyatikramaḥ.

[jugupsitaṁ dharma-kṛte 'nuśāsataḥ, svabhāva-raktasya mahān vyatikramaḥ yad vākyato dharma itī taraḥ sthito, na manyate tasya nivāraṇaṁ janaḥ]

[“You have committed a great wrong. In your injunctions of religious duty for the masses, you have sanctioned condemnable worldly works for fulfilment of mundane desires. The masses are already by nature attached to condemnable worldly works for fulfilment of mundane desires. It is a great wrong because the worldly masses will conclude that your messages alone are the central religious duty. Even if they are taught by other knowers of the truth to refrain from those worldly works, they will not accept those teachings, or, they will not be able to understand them for themselves.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.15]

“Misguided, misdirection, you have misdirected them, you have cheated them, as a traitor, what you have recommended in the name of religion and the name of pure devotion, or duty. What is that? The very slight connection of that higher truth, that can suffice, inundate the whole.

And if that is absent, the whole world, the prosperity given, that is all dead matter. That will be a rotten thing, the carcass, the shell. So what have you given?”

tad-vāg-visargo janatāgha-viplavo, yasmin prati-ślokaṁ abaddhavyaty api nāmāny anantasya yaśo 'nkitāni yat, śṛṇvanti gāyanti gṛṇanti sādhaḥ

["On the other hand, that literature which is full of descriptions of the transcendental glories of the name, fame, forms, pastimes, etc., of the unlimited Supreme Lord is a different creation, full of transcendental words directed toward bringing about a revolution in the impious lives of this world's misdirected civilization. Such transcendental literatures, even though imperfectly composed, are heard, sung and accepted by purified men who are thoroughly honest."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 1.5.11]

Something like that.

na yad vacaś citra-padaṁ harer yaśo, jagat-pavitram pragṇīta karhicit tad vāyasaṁ tīrtham uśanti mānasā, na yatra haṁsā niramanty uśikkṣayāḥ

["Those words which do not describe the glories of the Lord, who alone can sanctify the atmosphere of the whole universe, are considered by saintly persons to be like unto a place of pilgrimage for crows. Since the all-perfect persons are inhabitants of the transcendental abode, they do not derive any pleasure there."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.10]

Without that everything is nothing. And with Him so many nasty things there also may be utilised. What in our consideration is very bad, that also may be utilised. Such a thing is He, and without Him whatever you'll deal that is only a manner of deception to the outside and nothing else. The reality is He: all [else] sham. That should be the purpose of all your dealings, talking, hearing, breathing, eating, everything, must have some tinge, some colour, some recollection, some sort of relation with that object. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Earlier Mahārāja you had told me once you were delineating a story about Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, that at later stage he started handling money and giving out money as if it was the family of Rādhārāṇī, and that was the highest concept...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Purī before a month or two months before his departure he's handling money in Purī, that Puruṣottama Maṭha, that Caṭaka Parvata, his bungalow. And I was told, there was some anomaly in my mind that he's talking with us, having discourse of such a higher type, and so many questions came. It seemed to be disturbing in us. But I was told that that is the duty of Rādhārāṇī. And before this, for some time Prabhupāda used to, he liked to use this word, majadooma [?] Rādhārāṇī as majadooma [?] We heard from his mouth many a time that 'Rādhārāṇī is the majadooma [?] the leader of the household affairs of Kṛṣṇa, of Kṛṣṇa, majadooma [?] So She's responsible to look after the whole family of Kṛṣṇa. It is Her responsibility to look after everything.

And Prabhupāda from the beginning I heard from him in the Maṭha, that, "Whatever is necessary here, I should have done everything but I can't do. So they have come very kindly to assist me. But it is my responsibility, from the sweeping, cooking, [?] everything, it is my duty, as a family of Mahāprabhu, Kṛṣṇa. So I should attend everything but I can't. I'm a limited person. I'm a person with limitation. I can't do it all, so Kṛṣṇa has sent them to help me."

From the beginning, many a time I heard this from him. And lastly it was remarked that majadooma [?] he used to say that, "It is the duty, his responsibility to look after every affair there."

So only to have discourse to advise the disciple that is a part of his duty, not the whole thing. The scholarly delivery of the lectures: that is not the be all and end all in the life of an Ācārya. And jñāna-sunya-bhakti, the service of that type, that is the main object of life.

In my young days I was very much indifferent to the ladies with some hateful attitude. Generally in the śāstra, the śūdra and the strī, they're given lower position. And in the family of smārta I had that sort of knowledge, and anyhow not only irreverent but with something of contempt. But when I was from five to eight I was educated in a parsala [?] in my mother's house. At that time one of my aunts, mother's elder sister, she was a widow, from childhood, young age, without issue, she looked after me. And then when grown up, I had already come to my own house and school education, then college education, I had gone to visit that maternal uncle's house.

And that aunt, she remarked, my, that nature, and suddenly she came with this remark that, "Don't despise the ladies, the females, because they're of the same rank with Lakṣmī herself." That she remarked suddenly. I did not expect such remark but anyhow she detected my attitude and came to say to me that, "Don't despise them. They're the, jati laksmi jati eka jatalam [?] They're of the same rank with Lakṣmī Devī."

Suddenly that came, and that created a change in my mind. That weakness may be in me but why should I look hatefully to the external atmosphere, environment?

Then gradually, Rādhārāṇī that is our highest goal, She has accepted, Gurudeva has given that direction that our highest fate, fortune, is entangled with the feet dust of that lady type of service. That is the highest type of service.

Anyhow by the grace of Mahāprabhu, then perhaps I got the second connection with Mahāprabhu in my college life when a fourth year student. On some such occasion it came a great disappointment about the worldly achievement. And when I was on fire at that time suddenly some book about Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, that Amniya Nimāi Carit came to me and I devoured that wholesale. The grace of Mahāprabhu came and took me, drew me towards this world.

Then that Bhāgavatam, of course Bhāgavatam was in our house, that paṇḍita family, so the Purāṇa, the Bhāgavata, the Gītā, Mahābhārata, all these cultures with the study and sakta, śāstra also that was the cultivation, discussion about them was in vogue there.

But anyhow, when I was twenty three then Mahāprabhu entered in my, He gave the feet dust on my head and I was turned towards this. Before that some attraction in Rāmacandra I had towards Rāmacandra, not Kṛṣṇa. But attraction for Kṛṣṇa came through Mahāprabhu and Gītā. Through Gītā, I had some attraction for Gītā. And Bhāgavatam also I considered in my childhood too high, something mystic, a mystic book, Bhāgavatam. And Gītā I was quite at home, when reading Bhagavad-gītā. But when Mahāprabhu entered my heart there was a diabolical change, took me, and from that time the highest mystic personality of Rādhārāṇī, through Mahāprabhu, that captured me.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. These things are not to be spoken. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Let them be graceful on me, a tiny soul. Any moment I may be cast anywhere, to the hell. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

jagāi mādhai haite muṇi se pāpiṣṭha, purīṣera kīṭa haite muṇi se [Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja Goswāmī says: “I am worse than a worm in stool. When Jagāi and Mādhai came in the relativity of Mahāprabhu they were considered to be the worst sinners, but I am worse than them. My sins are so dirty no one can even dream such things. I am such a great sinner that whoever will hear about me, dirt and sin will enter him through his coming in contact with my name. Sin will enter one who once hears my name, and his good qualities will vanish.”]

[“I am a person of the worst type, but the grace of Nityānanda Prabhu possesses such a high degree of disinfection that He has given me so many things: He has taken me to Vṛndāvana and has given the relationship of Rūpa, Raghunātha and Govinda. There is no qualification in me but all is the grace of Nityānanda Prabhu. It is shameful to speak about one’s own life but still I do this. Why? If I do not do so then I shall be ungrateful to the grace and magnanimity of Nityānanda Prabhu. So fallen am I but Nityānanda Prabhu has given me all these things: Vṛndāvana, Rūpa, Sanātana, Govinda, Mahāprabhu, Raghunātha Dāsa and so much else. It is all the gift of Nityānanda Prabhu. It is His unconditional gift to this one with no qualifications, and therefore I have mentioned: ‘Yes I have such things.’ If I do not say so then I shall be an offender to Nityānanda Prabhu’s grace, so I am compelled to confess that I am so sinful and fallen but by His grace I have received these things.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādī-līlā, 5.205-6]

How? Humility, the standard of humility has been shown to us. It can reach to what standard. Purīṣera kīṭa haite. Kavirāja Goswāmī, the giver of the greatest book, grantha, in the world, Caitanya-caritāmṛta. According to my consideration that the greatest, noblest, highest, book in the whole of the world, Caitanya-caritāmṛta. And the giver of that book he’s describing his position.

“Who am I? And now how I have been improved to a particular most desirable position, I can’t deny, because then I should be a traitor to my Gurudeva. His grace demands it properly to say that I have got something. I have got something. I can’t say that I have not got anything. I have got something. And that is only by the grace of my Gurudeva, Nityānanda Prabhu. But out of consideration of that grace, what is my position? My position is so mean, so low, so mean. So, the world from any position, wherever you are, if you come to catch the link, you will have, you may attain the highest object of your life, the highest fulfilment you can get. I am, I stand witness to that.”

In this way Kavirāja Goswāmī is encouraging us that from the lowest we can go so high, so high, and that is the peculiar qualification of the grace of Caitanyaadeva. “Anyhow come and join this call of Nityānanda. Whoever you are it does not matter, but only accept this medicine. Then he’ll go up, this Brahmā, Śiva, etc., laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ.

[kṛṣṇa-bhakti-rasa-bhāvitā matiḥ, kriyatām yadi kuto 'pi labhyate tatra laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ, janma-koṭi-sukṛtair na labhyate]

[“Pure devotional service to Kṛṣṇa cannot be obtained by performing pious activities even for millions of births. It can be purchased only by paying one price: intense eagerness. Wherever it is available, one must purchase it immediately.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.70]

Come to Gaurāṅga. Come to Gaurāṅga, and at once you’ll be purified to such an extent that you’ll be fit in the service of Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, you were saying that Ācārya, that personality who is bringing or offering the mādhyama concept in the līlā of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, he’s even on a higher platform than the Paramātmā feature of the Lord.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paramātmā, certainly, why is Paramātmā conception is very meagre thing.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Is it that the outside manifestation of Paramātmā which is the Guru which is the sambandha Guru he leads up to Baladeva only?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Guru may be higher and higher, though in the line of potency, but he can give higher things.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, but initially he's the sambandha-jñāna, he's representative of the sambandha-jñāna?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nothing to do with Paramātmā. The yogīs are not concerned with Paramātmā. That is direct recruitment through the, His agent. From any position according to sukṛti the representative of Kṛṣṇa, the agent comes and he may take him direct towards Vṛndāvana without going to Paramātmā, to Vāsudeva conception, to Nārāyaṇa conception. He may be recruited in a different way. It is not necessary that he will have to pass through this Paramātmā, the Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī, all these things. He'll be taken so quickly, though these planes will be crossed, but unconsciously he may pass away through those stages. Those stages of our thought should be passed away, we must pass through, but unconsciously also we may be taken quickly without touching those stations, a special train: a special train without touching those stations. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

But still, in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta Sanātana Goswāmī has shown how a devotee is passing through different stations, touching this station, then another station, then another station, to prove that this is higher than that, this is higher than that. To prove that he has stopped in different stations when taking Gopā Kumara to the highest position. But without touching those stations also one can go direct.

And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written in Caitanya-śikṣāmṛtam, the kaniṣṭha adhikārī if fortunately comes in touch of uttama adhikārī, very easily he may pass through madhyama adhikārī which is very dangerous, as well as very argumentative. Madhyama, argument not in the kaniṣṭha adhikāra nor in the uttama adhikāra, but in madhyama adhikāra so many, that vicāra, this is good, this is bad, this is higher, this is lower. All this within the jurisdiction of madhyama adhikāra, and that is dangerous. Sometimes a madhyama adhikārī coming in contact with a greater, demonic argumentative man, he may come down. But kaniṣṭha adhikārī if he comes fortunately in direct connection with uttama adhikārī, unconsciously he may pass through madhyama adhikāra into uttama adhikāra. It is possible. If ruci, a real taste is created then no phase of argument can take us away, if the ruci is there. The kaniṣṭha adhikārī he may attain that ruci, his real taste for the thing, then the jñāna adhikāra, whether this is good, how that is bad, how that is good, this can be eliminated. This sphere can be eliminated and from the lowest position, if he accesses the ruci, through that he can enter into the land of ruci, the love, without caring for the stage of argument, this is good, this is bad, all these things.

Devotee: Mahārāja, if a person enters Vṛndāvana can he again become conditioned?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. From that stage none can come back. Sometimes it may seem, but that is only apparent, that is a part of līlā, no deviation proper is possible from that position. In different Purāṇa it might have been shown like that, but that is a part of līlā, play. In some Purāṇa it is mentioned that perhaps Subal or Sudama and Rādhārāṇī casting curse to one another for some trouble and they had to come down to this world, in this way or that way. But that is part of līlā. That is not real fall from that plane.

No treachery, or pushing one back, pushing down. No such injustice. That is all finished. The possibility of injustice is banished from there. His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: So Mahārāja, when somebody comes in contact with the Kṛṣṇa consciousness movement, is that because of his own past pious credits, like puṇya, or is this causeless mercy of Caitanya Mahāprabhu?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is not puṇyam, that is called sukṛti; that is another type of puṇya that is of permanent nature. Puṇyam is generally reached in the relative world, in the world of misconception that is good and bad, puṇya is the cause of the good. But that is nirguṇa, free from all this good and bad in miscalculation.

Just as in our dream we can have a good dream and a bad dream, but all is false in the general sense. So here, good and bad in the calculation of this plane, wholesale is mistake, erroneous. So good and bad has not much difference, this is flickering.

And that is the real good from above, transcending this sphere; that is nirguṇa, guṇātīta. There is another plane which is free from misconception. Any energy we can collect from that quarter within us, that is sukṛti. And that sukṛti if it is accumulated to a certain stage then it produces something like śraddhā. And the nature of śraddhā is this, that if I can get one the whole thing is got. That type of knowledge rises in one's heart. If we put food into the stomach the whole body is fed. So if I discharge my duty towards the central truth, the whole universe will be served by me. My duty to the whole will be done. This sort of faith arises in one's mind and that becomes śraddhā, the name is śraddhā, and the śraddhā is developed and takes to the stage of divine love. And there we can meet the whole personified, the Absolute as Personified, madhyam akriti, to my plane, approachable by me. In this plane, in this way, we can meet Him.

Only the length and breadth and height, that is not the be all and end all of the highest entity. And at the same time, the opposite, what is within, the atom, then electron, then within electron there is something, and within that there is something. That least position, that is not the highest phase. The biggest and the smallest, that is not the highest phase. Just as elephant is not greater, a man is greater. The standard is in another way. So also, the madhyam akriti, the Absolute means not the biggest, Absolute means not the minutest, the Absolute may have everywhere, and in His personality and in His loving personality He's found in the best conception, the central conception, the highest conception there. So we can come to meet Him there. Am I clear? No, somewhat?

Devotee: Yes. So it is not quantity, nor is it the smallest, but the quality, as you say the middle.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, middle. It is another plane where this physical measurement surveying has got no value. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: So in Bhāgavatam it's stated that, "What kind of pious activities are performed by..."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pious means that nirguṇa, sukṛti, in that sense it has been used as pious. Not ordinary, because this is all filthy. And Kant has also said that, “No work can be absolutely good.” You take anything, suppose you are attending a patient, you are administering diet, service as in diet, and medicine. The medicine and diet come from the vegetable or animal kingdom, so to prepare that medicine and diet so many animals have been killed. So whatever you will go to do in this plane you cause some injury, some harm in the environment. Your existence is only creating nuisance. With the breath so many germs are being finished. With devouring food so many insects you are devouring. In this way you are putting step and the pressure of the soles so many germs are being killed, and again in the water, so many germs in the water, devouring, killing, jīvo jīvasya jīvanam.

[“Those who are devoid of hands are prey for those who have hands; those devoid of legs are prey for the four-legged. The weak are the subsistence of the strong, and the general rule holds that one living being is food for another.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.13.47]

No animal can live without causing death to so many lākhs of animals. So the very existence here in this plane is a nuisance and reactionary. And for this reaction, to every action there is equal and opposite reaction, we are going up and then going down, up and down, up and down, in this way the moving. The human beings taking loan from the vegetable and animal kingdom, as a reaction they have to go down, and they will again come and the loan should be cleared, in this way going up and down.

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

Pāpa, puṇya, in the land of misunderstanding it is going on in that way. So no action can be pure here in this mundane sphere. Everyone's movement is causing disturbance to some other soul. They are also, by their karma, have been forced to accept that position of the lower animals, lower creation. So this is not a perfect world. Everyone is doing some mischief to another. Without that none can maintain his existence here without causing disturbance to the environment, none can maintain his existence. The atmosphere is so wrong, so filthy, so we are to get out of this sphere. And what of the calculation of good and bad, that is only for the time being.

I am holding higher position for a few minutes, then I shall have to go back, go down, and who is in down he will come up. In this way the rolling, we are in the midst of that wave.

But we are to go out of this circular, vicious circle outside, and that is the land of service, unit, dedication, devotion. Everyone is a, just as here everyone is an exploiting unit, but in that plane everyone is a dedicating unit. Dedicating unit, that is the inner nature of every soul, dedicating unit. But here anyhow they have come, have become exploiting units, this outer world, everyone lives by exploitation, and there everyone lives by service, by dedication, the purest. And that is helping one another to be purest and purest, the diabolical difference. The land of service, land of dedication, land of devotion, it is possible, it is noble. Everyone is dedicating and they can live by that.

In a train, one who wants to enter into the boggie, everyone thinks, 'I shall go first, I shall go first,' there will be competition, fight. And that may be just the opposite, 'No, no, you, old man, you go first. I am young, I shall go last.' That attitude also may come.

So there, everyone, 'No, no, I must, you go, you go ahead, you get the benefit. I shall take the remaining. You take first.' The competition is of that type there. In every aspect of life they deal with dedicating spirit and that is the nature of that plane, that land.

Gaura Haribol. And it is noble, we can think it out from here, there must be a noble. Then renunciation, that dynamic renunciation, every moment, every second the renunciation is showing its dynamic character. And generally renunciation is noted as complete withdrawal from this land of exploitation. That is to be a zero. That may be compared with a sound sleep, the stage of sound sleep. But however after long time a slept man again comes to rise, he's awake in the same sphere. So renunciation cannot be complete. It is a marginal, imaginary line, or plane.

ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ [āruhya kṛcchreṇa param̐ padam̐ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādr̥ta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ]

["O lotus-eyed Lord, although non-devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

Because they have not come to the realisation of the Truth Absolute so their calculation is mistaken, aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ, āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ tataḥ. After much affliction and much diligence they have climbed up to the highest position of this world. But if they do not catch the current which is begun from there towards centre, then he will have no other alternative but to come down to this plane again, repetition. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. They are the, these ślokaś are the milestones, like milestones. We can gradually walk to a particular stage and then another milestone. In this way we can make progress. But if we catch a bus or an aeroplane, unknowingly we can pass over...

Devotee: Some devotee, I heard from him that vitamins are already in the body, that there is no vitamins in the food.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Devotee: He heard from somewhere that the vitamins are already in our body. It does not have to be supplied from external food however.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In some particular condition it may be so. In the case of the yogīs they may even take from the air the necessary food and dissipation is very meagre. In this way without taking food from outside they may stay for long time, long time. But they're also not free from creating disturbance in the environment; the shaspashas [?] so many other things. And also, more in the fine stage, the thought, even thought has got its reaction outside. Not only action, but the thought, if it is of evil character it will have some effect in the environment, and this will also get reaction, it will fetch reaction for that. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So not only physical action but mental thought, mental waves also, they're also carrying many filthy things.

Devotee: There is that story about one śūdra who was reading Bhāgavatam in Lord Rāmacandra's kingdom...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhāgavatam, making penances.

Devotee: Making penances.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And by order of Vaśiṣṭha a brāhmaṇa came who is the dead body of his son, "That why my son in such young age is meeting death? I am told that by the sin of the king it has been, occurred.” Then Rāmacandra referred it to Vaśiṣṭha and Vaśiṣṭha after meditation he says, “Yes, there is something wrong in the kingdom, a wrong wave. And what is that? The śūdra means samuk [?] he has commenced a severe type of penances. Then what should be done? He should be beheaded.” Rāmacandra approached him and beheaded.

When I was delivering lecture in Dacca University one student from the post graduate, Mohammedan student, after, when I began lecture I told, everywhere, that don't disturb in the middle of the lecture but after the lecture is finished, any religious question you may, you are free to take with. Then the lecture finished and the Mohammedan student, of first post graduate college I was told, he came with this question. “According to you, Rāmacandra is the ideal king we are told. But why Rāmacandra beheaded that śūdra who was only engaging himself in penances?” That was his question.

I also answered according to my conscience, That what is śūdra? Śūdra means it comes, the origination from śūtra jartu [?] śūtra means śoka, one who's a victim of mourning, lamentation, he's reckoned as śūdra. Then, who has got to lament? Who makes much of this material, transient property, who knows his wealth only this transient thing, he's compelled to lament because it will vanish, it won't stay. So śūdra is he who makes much of the material property. And with that tendency he has commenced penance. What is the meaning of the penance? A particular process by which one may acquire much power, subtle power, that is tapasya. Then the śūdra, he has begun a subtle practice that he'll get much power in his hands, as it was seen in history, that Rāvaṇa, Kumbhakarna, Hiraṇyakaśipu, made much penance and acquired much power. And then what was the result, the consequence of such tapasya? A great disaster was created in the universe. So many men killed, wars, devastation, all these disturbances in the atmosphere, and as the result of that he will have to suffer the consequences of that, those actions, of this. Then what is the benefit by their tapasya? Because he's of śūdra mentality his aim is the achievements of lower thing and the reaction will have to suffer in the same, so that was nipped in the bud. I answered.

Then that man was silenced. And there the Principal was some Haridāsa Bhaṭṭācārya of Vaspara Paṇḍit [?] School. Then he appreciated it very much and came to me, “To answer such questions in such a way it is not very easy. You are acquainted with different thoughts of the world. You have silenced him.” In this way he eulogised me much. So, what was the question?

Devotee: You were saying Mahārāja that thought even can create real...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, the śūdra means that, Rāmacandra [?] Boil is coming up, and by homoeopathic something is dealt in such a way that it cannot come up, nipped in the bud, the poisonous flower nipped in the bud, something like that. He is also saved from such bad action of his own, and the world is also saved from the effect of his bad action. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So sometimes what is seen to be cruel, the mother whips the son, ostentatiously, apparently it may be very cruel, but she's saving by punishing the son, saving the son, not doing a bad action in his future time. So coercion is not always bad.

Devotee: Mahārāja, [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedanta] Swāmī Mahārāja once told a story about this boy who used to live with his aunt, and because the aunt was very lenient the boy grew up to be very bad. So at a latter age he became a murderer, he used to kill people, so he was put into the jail. And so the aunt one day came to visit the child and when the child was speaking to the aunt, she put her ear near the bar. And at time the boy took the ear off the aunt and then said that, “If you were stricter with me when I was younger I would not be in this predicament now.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: [?] She came to visit him in the jail, so because she was probably old she went to hear with her ear close to the bars. So that boy just pulled her ear out, and said that, ‘Actually you should have...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is a story, we have read it in Bodhadaya [?] or some books of the younger age, so indulgence, sarshan [?] Even Yaśodā is whipping Kṛṣṇa, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, what more you want? The place of ruling, the controlling of the son in vātsalya-rasam, it is quite natural, and it has got some effect in this plane also. Though otherwise the jail, the law, the criminal, to punish the criminal, why these things can be explained, if it has got no value?

Devotee: Mahārāja, a tree, does it have more than one soul, living entity in it? Because when you take a branch of a tree and you put it in water and then you put it in the ground it will grow another tree.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm?

Devotee: [?] Is there more than one soul? Because he’s giving the example that if you take a branch of the tree and plant it in the earth it will again grow to be another tree.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. But so many souls are wandering, and whenever they get the chance they enter there. Not many souls in one tree, or the potato and so many things, potato although cut by pieces and it is put into the earth, the different tree will come, potato. But the wandering, innumerable souls are wandering, seeking the opportunity of their proper birth to come down in the atmosphere. And whenever they get some chance, yes, just as when there is union in men and women, some soul enters there. They're waiting for the chances, and nature supplies that accordingly. So many prison houses and the culprit is pushed in one place, in particular cell, different classification, so many types of prisons houses, rooms, and the culprit is there and he's pushed there, in this way. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

What brought us here, we must be faithful, we shall try to keep up the faith, and we may not be...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Blind alleys. Let the Lord save us, the Gurudeva save us. There may be so much temptation that may misguide us, mislead us. Let the Lord save us from those temptations which may come when we are given chances in the higher position. A position is a very dangerous thing, pratiṣṭhā. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Satyavak Prabhu? Any one of the Ācārya's come in Māyāpur?

Talk about Kṛṣṇa, nothing else, He's the reality, He's the desired end of your life, not only of yours but of everyone.

na te viduḥ svārtha-gatiṁ hi viṣṇuṁ, [durāśayā ye bahir-artha-māninaḥ andhā yathāndhair upanīyamānās, te 'pīśa-tantryām uru-dāmnī baddhāḥ]

[Prahāda Mahārāja says: “Persons who are strongly entrapped by the consciousness of enjoying material life, and who have therefore accepted as their leader or guru a similar blind man attached to external sense objects, cannot understand that the goal of life is to return home, back to Godhead, and engage in the service of Lord Viṣṇu. As blind men guided by another blind man miss the right path and fall into a ditch, materially attached men led by another materially attached man are bound by the ropes of fruitive labour, which are made of very strong cords, and they continue again and again in materialistic life, suffering the threefold miseries.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 7.5.31]

Ordinary people they can't understand that their real interest is inside, inside the world, not with the apparent side. Everyone, from the core of his heart, is only enquiring after Kṛṣṇa, the Lord of love, the Lord of beauty. Everyone is in quest for that, but they cannot feel them, cannot understand that. But only help them to rouse in their mind that they're in quest of Kṛṣṇa and nothing else. Nothing can quench their thirst, inner thirst, but Kṛṣṇa. Nothing can quench the thirst, that inner continued thirst all along, life after life, for thousands, crores of lives are going away searching, searching for something. And what is the object of that search? No less than Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that is the beauty, the love, the harmony, such guardian, who can engage the whole of your demand.

Prati aṅga lāgi kānde, prati aṅga mora [From Jñāna Dasa's Vaiṣṇava-padāvali (Anthology of Vaiṣṇava Songs) quoting Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī: "My every limb is crying for the respective limb of My Lord; not only My Self, but every part of My Body earnestly aspires for the corresponding part of My Master's."] Every part of your existence can have corresponding engagement only from Him and none else. That is Kṛṣṇa conception, He can engage you wholesale. Other conceptions of gods also cannot do that, cannot do that. So Mahāprabhu came with Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

["Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

And that is the greatest boon to the world, the greatest gift to the world ever known. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

The depth can be fulfilled up to the deepest portion of our life can have satisfactory engagement with Him. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. None can satisfy our thirst but Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So, the Ācāryas that have got such realisation and that are trying to spread this wealth all around, how great they are, how useful they are in this world, none else but them. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kiti-pāvana, cataro kiti-pāvana [?] These four sections of Vaiṣṇava Schools they are spreading this sort of idea, somewhat common and different, more or less they all are purifying this world.

Gaura Sundara. Gaura Sundara. Gaura Sundara. Gaura Sundara. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

So you are so fortunate, leaving everything aside, come to such a centre, to utilise your life in the connection of the service of the highest conception of divinity.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Now that gentleman perhaps gone to Calcutta: that Navadvīpa Prabhu?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, this morning he was going.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He has gone? Do you know about Navadvīpa Prabhu, who was living at Māyāpur?

Devotee: I was looking for him this morning but I could not find him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Today he might have left for Calcutta, on his way to, America?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. He'll go straight to New York, or where?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Los Angeles.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Los Angeles.

Devotee: Is it? I think he said he was going to New York.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: New York, excuse me, sorry, New York.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Mahāprabhu. Gaurāṅga Sundara.

Many devotees came from Dacca side. One Tīrtha Mahārāja, old Tīrtha Mahārāja, and Vāsudeva Prabhu, Sundarānanda who was the editor of Gauḍīya-patrikā, and many books also he composed. Then the present Ācārya of Māyāpur, Kṛṣṇa-kanti Brahmācārī, now Śramaṇa Mahārāja. Vana Mahārāja in Vṛndāvana, he also comes from Dacca, many others. This Mādhava Mahārāja, he also comes from Dacca, but though he was brought up in maternal uncle's house in Paripur [?] And Bhakti-sāra Āśrama, he also comes from Dacca, so many.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Mahāprabhu. Gaurāṅga Sundara. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes?

Devotee: In the fourth canto in Bhāgavatam, Sunīti, the mother of Druva Mahārāja, she instructed Druva Mahārāja to go to the forest and search after Kṛṣṇa. Later, when Druva Mahārāja attained perfection and he was going back to Godhead, and he's waiting for the, he said he would not go back to Godhead unless his mother would come also.

And Swāmī Mahārāja writes that his Guru Mahārāja Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta would say that, "I hope that I have got one disciple who is so powerful that he will take me back to Vaikuṇṭha with him."

So my question is that, in some case could a spiritual master have a disciple who was more powerful than he himself?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes it may be possible. When Lord Himself He becomes disciple, Kṛṣṇa becomes disciple to Sandīpanī. Mahāprabhu becomes disciple to Īśvara Purī. So some incarnations or some Vaiṣṇava of higher position they come to do, to discharge some duty here, and they, according to show the real process they accept some Guru. In that case it will be like that, the formal acceptance of Guru. This is also possible. And also in particular cases one who has got greater sukṛti, then he comes here, only the same thing in the process of accepting some Guru. Then his previous tendency asserts and takes him to high position.

Rasikānanda, he was also disciple to Śyāmānanda, but in Rasikānanda higher symptoms of devotion were seen. It may be possible in rare cases. That is like līlā, as the Lord Himself comes and accepts Guru, so also some advanced devotees they also sometimes come here and they...

yad yad ācarati śreṣṭhas, tad tad evetaro janaḥ sa yat pramāṇam kurute, lokas tad anuvartate

["Whatever action is performed by a great man, the general masses imitate and follow. And whatever standards the great personality sets by exemplary acts, the whole world pursues as the right conclusion."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 3.21]

So to give importance and regard for the process of accepting Guru they also do like that, and in that case it comes to the same effect. In Dhruva's case, Dhruva's mother, she showed the way, vartma-pradarśaka Guru, something like that. Dhruva was much oppressed by his co-relationship with his step-mother, and others, and his mother tried to send him in quest of padma-palāśa-locan.

[nānyam tataḥ padma-palāśa-locanād, duḥkha-cchidam te mṛgayāmi

["My dear Dhruva, as far as I am concerned, I do not find anyone who can mitigate your distress but the Supreme Personality of Godhead, whose eyes are like lotus petals. Many demigods such as Lord Brahmā seek the pleasure of the goddess of fortune, but the goddess of fortune herself, with a lotus flower in her hand, is always ready to render service to the Supreme Lord."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.8.23]

He can give relief. So: sthana vilasi tapasi sthitoḥam [?] When Dhruva went in search of the Lord, he had in his mind to get the kingdom back, to become the successor of the throne of his father. But Devarṣi Nārada: "A boy of five, he was running for padma-palāśa-locaṇa," and Devarṣi Nārada came to his help. And by his company, his dīkṣā, his mind was changed when he could see the transcendental figure of Nārāyaṇa. Then he told "But now a change has come in me. I came for searching of ordinary glass, but I have found the jewel. So no longer I have any desire for the glass."

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... “I grant you that, and after that you will get Me. You will get both. But what for you came to Me in the beginning, you’ll get that also, and you’ll get Myself also.”

And Dhruva naturally he had his affection towards his mother, who really sent him to this direction. So vartma-pradarśaka Guru, not only mundane connection, but the spiritual connection also he got from her, so he could not forget her. He did not ask any favour for his father, or brother, or anyone else but mother. Why? His mother was the cause of his present wealth, so some sort of gratitude he had naturally for his mother, and asked that she should also be granted such grace. His mother was not really Guru but vartma-pradarśaka, gave suggestion to take the path towards the Lord.

And what Prabhupāda wrote, that we consider to be his modesty, his humility. “That one of my disciples will help me to go there.” That is good will for the disciple, blessing. This is taking, he’s seeing his disciple so great, not ordinary servant of Guru. Disciple is not a servant of the Guru, as if this is the standpoint or the vision of Guru to the disciple. Disciple should think that Guru is all in all, but Guru does not say that he is my servant. He says that, “The soul I have offered to the Deity and he’s my Gurudeva, he’s my pucher [?] Even an ordinary flower or fruit if we offer it to the Deity, then that flower we cannot enjoy but we are to serve that flower, we are to touch that flower on our head, which is offered already. So Guru offers some soul towards the divine feet of Kṛṣṇa and he sees that there is a pure thing coming in connection with Kṛṣṇa. “That is my, I should have some reverence towards him. He’s always dedicated towards Kṛṣṇa. Whatever is dedicated, whatever comes in connection with Kṛṣṇa, that should be considered as pure and with some reverence we are to deal with them.” That is the real vision of the Guru of uttama adhikārī. Hare Kṛṣṇa. He says rather, his own Guru’s vaibhava. “My Gurudeva has given so many things to help me in my activity, in my service to Kṛṣṇa. I can’t serve Kṛṣṇa alone, so my Gurudeva, to help me in my service, he has given so many assistants to me in my work, in my service towards Kṛṣṇa.” That is his vision, generally.

But when Gurudeva comes to chastise, to punish a disciple, he’s in pralarpita vakra [?] At that time he considers from the normal standpoint that he’s beside himself. The special will of Kṛṣṇa has descended in him to deal with the disciples in that way. When he thinks that, “I know, you do not know, and you must do this, otherwise I shall punish you.” This attitude is abnormal; this attitude in Guru that is abnormal. Mahāprabhu also has said, mention in, when He was teaching Sanātana Goswāmī, pralarp [?]

And our Prabhupāda also used that word pralarp, pralarpita vakra. That is a temporary egoistic feeling that descends in Guru when he considers that, “I am to punish him, I am to teach him,” in this way, that is not his normal position. The normal position, he’s the servant, and he’s meant to serve all, even including his disciples, serving, but service in the spiritual sense, service.

And Sanātana Goswāmī, Mahāprabhu says, pralarp. I forget the pralarp.

Our Guru Mahārāja mentions in a letter when he’s addressing to a particular disciple, “This is my pralarpita vakra, my irrelevant talk to that particular disciple is this, that he should not do, behave in such a way. This is my irrelevant, I am abnormal, I say like that, pralarpita vakra. I pose myself in the position of a Guru and him as my disciple and I have a right to control him, chastise him, to abuse him, to punish him. That is not my normal position but some acquired tendency. By the divine will some sort of tendency comes in me and I become beside myself and behave in this way.”

And Mahāprabhu also showing such attitude when He’s giving His advice to Sanātana Goswāmī, “That what I say to you, this is My pralarp, My abnormal talk that I know about Kṛṣṇa and I have come to teach you. But really I feel that so many valuable things are going in a current passing through Me to you and I do not understand their real meaning. To favour you, Kṛṣṇa, through Me, is passing a current towards you. I feel, but I do not know the proper meaning of that.” In this way Mahāprabhu says to Sanātana.

I forget that, where, Gaura Haribol. Pralarp [?]

āmi - eka bātula, tumi - dvitīya bātula, ataeva tomāya āmāya ha-i sama-tula

[Mahāprabhu said: “I am insane, mad, bāula, pāgala, eccentric. I am one eccentric, and you are another. Therefore, we two are of the same class.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.291]

In Rāmānanda Rāya’s case, pralarp. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Posing, by the will of Kṛṣṇa that sort of posing comes in any heart. And that makes their thing as an instrument. In any place He can make anyone instrument of His, as agent of His will. In Nakula Brahmācārī also sometimes used like that, that āveśa, some sort of...

Devotee: Enthusiasm, āveśa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Āveśa, some mood, I think, to create some mood and through that mood to do some work. To create a particular kind of mood in a person and to utilise that mood for His central activity, in any place. He creates a particular mood in any heart and utilises that as His centre of doing something outside in the environment, āveśa. Just as sometimes any god may capture any man's heart or brain. Sometimes the ghost also comes and captures anyone's consciousness and makes it his instrument to do this and that, āveśa. That sort of inspiration, something like inspiration, a particular mood is created in any place and there from it is utilised as the centre to do His work, that is āveśa.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. You have come here direct, or come to market and ...?

Devotee: Direct.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you like to take prasādam here in the noon, or go back there before taking food?

Devotee: We'll take prasāda in noontime.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes?

Devotee: What is the meaning of the word kṛpa, Guru kṛpa, the actual meaning? And how does it come from Guru and attained by the disciple?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛpa, Guru's relation to disciple is all kṛpa. His will to extend what he has got within him, the extension of that to the disciple: that is kṛpa, his will. And accordingly his order is the medium, and his will he wants to assert through the order to the disciple, and because that is the service for the purpose of the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa that comes out as kṛpa. Without kṛpa we cannot get the connection, kṛpa from the higher, that is the connection from up to down. That will; the current, the flow: that is kṛpa. And by sevā we can invite that kṛpa with our earnest desire to serve. That can draw that, his sympathy, and his willing extension of the goodness what he has got in his heart. And that is about the Supreme Entity. A moneyed man can show kṛpa only by giving money. An educated man can give us kṛpa by extending his knowledge towards us, in this way. But the yogī Guru, jñānī Guru, karmī Guru, so many devotee Guru, Guru's kṛpa to the disciple, that means his extension, his sympathy, his good will, to distribute that to the disciple. And the disciple when he has got such earnest hankering attitude he can receive that, by the serving:

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā [upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ,
jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Only serving attitude can draw that grace, His will, sweet will, good will, good will kṛpa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Dayal Nitāi. Dayal Nitāi.

Kṛpa, to extend the good will and the purity of the kṛpa or good will depends on the realisation of the person who is extending the kṛpa. [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yesterday you were saying, you mentioned Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja's humility:

jagāi mādhai haite muṇi se pāpiṣṭha, purīṣera kīṭa haite muṇi se laghiṣṭha [mora nāma śune yei tāra puṇya kṣaya, mora nāma laya yei tāra pāpa haya]

[Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja Goswāmī says: "I am worse than a worm in stool. When Jagāi and Madhai came in the relativity of Mahāprabhu they were considered to be the worst sinners, but I am worse than them. My sins are so dirty no one can even dream such things. I am such a great sinner that whoever will hear about me, dirt and sin will enter him through his coming in contact with my name. Sin will enter one who once hears my name, and his good qualities will vanish.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādī-līlā, 5.205-6] And also, Sanātana Goswāmī tells...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Sanātana Goswāmī’s dainya, that exceeds all, because he’s not abusing him, but he also mentions his predecessors, that we do not find anywhere. “I am so mean, so low,” it is mentioned in many places. But neti varṁśa janma, “I am born in a mean line, my lineage also is mean,” this we do not find anywhere, such thing, neti varṁśa janma moy neti vichar jal [?] He’s abusing his own origin also. I did not find it anywhere. It is easy to abuse one’s own self, but it is not so easy to abuse the very origin. But we find that there, in him only.

But the opposite in Jīva Goswāmī, he told that, “Our lineage is a very dignified one, they’re brāhmaṇa, they’re royal family, and they came from Mahārastra to Purī and from there to the banks of the Ganges. They’re of dignified position, which has produced Rūpa and Sanātana, that type of devotion never to be found anywhere.” That has been written by Jīva Goswāmī. “The devotee of the type of Rūpa and Sanātana never to be found anywhere,” Jīva Goswāmī has told, “Rūpa and Sanātana type is very high type.”

Once in Gauḍa-Manḍala, in Jaiva Dharma we find one Vaiṣṇava dāsa he’s asking his Guru, “The bhakti is nitya, or it comes from Caitanyadeva or Rāmānuja or someone, or it is eternal?” Then the Guru is answering, “It is nitya, it is eternal,” he says, “but I asked Sanātana Goswāmī, bhagavāt-pārṣada, who is eternal paraphernalia amongst those of Mahāprabhu, I put this question to him in Vṛndāvana. And Sanātana Goswāmī answered, “Yes, bhakti is eternal, we find in the Veda and in many places, but if you have got special regard for me then I shall come to say that what Śrī Caitanyadeva brought here, this type of bhakti could not be found before Him.”

anarpita-carīm cirāt karuṇayāvatīrṇaḥ kalau [samarpayitum unnatojjvala-

[“May that Lord, who is known as the son of Śrīmatī Śacīdevī be transcendently situated in the innermost chambers of your heart. Resplendent with the radiance of molten gold, He has appeared in this age of Kali by His causeless mercy to bestow what no incarnation ever offered before: the most sublime and radiant spiritual knowledge of the mellow taste of His service.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.4]

Which has never been bestowed previously, He took that quality bhakti in this world for the ordinary people. What was reserved in Goloka, only for the selected few in Vraja, He has taken down that in this world for the public. So Sanātana Goswāmī says, “This is my opinion. But in the śāstra we find that bhakti is eternal. But the type, the prema-bhakti what Caitanyadeva has brought down here, never experienced before and mentioned anywhere we find.” That is the realisation of Sanātana. So Sanātana was such type of devotee.

prabhu kahe, - “tomā sparśi ātma pavitrite, bhakti-bale pāra tumi

[The Lord replied, “I am touching you just to purify Myself because by the force of your devotional service you can purify the whole universe.”]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.56]

Mahāprabhu goes to embrace him and Sanātana is running away, “No, no, don’t touch me. I am meanest of the mean. So untouchable, so don’t touch me my Lord, You won’t touch me. I am meanest of the mean.”

Mahāprabhu forcibly embracing. “To purify Me I touch you Sanātana, not to purify you, but by your touching I may think I will be satisfied that I am being purified.” Tomā sparśi ātma pavitrite bhakti-bale pāra tumi brahmāṇḍa śodhite. “You have got such type of intense devotion that by dint of that you can purify the whole of the universe.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Sanātana.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Nitya sange nitya jati [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ni jati [?] But jati [?] you never mention, I do not find any mention about the jati [?]. Of course, in the case of Prahlāda, might have been mentioned, daitya ghuli [?] That my origin from the demonic line, but that is a gross thing, gross thing, that is already condemned. daitya, dewon daitya [?] And here, the devotional brāhmaṇa school, there also Sanātana says that, nit jati nit sange nicar yar [?] “Everything is, only my fortune that I have got Your connection. This is my only wealth.”

Devotee: Mahārāja. Madhvācārya of Udupi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: That aṣṭa-madha, that eight madhas [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: They say the caste is there, by birth, that cātur-varṇyaṁ mayā sṛṣṭaṁ, that śloka, making different way than us. They're also from our Guru paramparā.

[cātur-varṇyaṁ mayā sṛṣṭaṁ, guṇa-karma-vibhāgaśaḥ tasya kartāram api mām, viddhy akartāram avyayam]

[Kṛṣṇa says: “According to the three modes of material nature and the work associated with them, the four divisions of human society are created by Me. And although I am the creator of this system, you should know that I am yet the non-doer, being unchangeable.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.13]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Cātur-varṇyaṁ mayā sṛṣṭaṁ, that is by principle. Generally we may accept that of the fleshy consideration, but from the extreme standpoint it is only guṇa-karma-vibhāgaśaḥ. In Bhāgavata also it is explained, yasya lal lakṣaṇaṁ proktaṁ, puṁso varṇābhivyañjakam yad anyatrāpidrśyeta tat tenaiva vinirdiśet

["If one shows the symptoms of being a brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya or śūdra, as described above, even if he has appeared in a different class, he should be accepted according to those symptoms of classification."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.11.35]

It is not accidental thing but it is based on some principle, sattya-guṇa. But Vaiṣṇava, Hari bhakta, is nirguṇa. So according to the degree of the devotion to Viṣṇu real varṇāśrama has been based on the principle.

Devotee: If they are right or wrong?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who? Devotee: The aṣṭa-madha Udupi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If they give that the final consideration only with this flesh and bone then they're wrong, they do not recognise the very spirit as given in Bhāgavatam. Just as if Devarṣi Nārada when he's speaking about the dharma to the assembly in the court of Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja, the brāhmaṇa lakṣaṇaṁ is this, kṣatriya lakṣaṇaṁ is this, vaiśya is such, and śūdra is such. Their ideal is different according to their position. Now if we find that just in the case of Paraśurāma, son of a brāhmaṇa but His attitude is that of a kṣatriya, so Paraśurāma should be given recognition as kṣatriya not brāhmaṇa. At the same time Viśvāmitra he comes from kṣatriya school but his attitude, his nature is that of a brāhmaṇa, he should be given recognition as a brāhmaṇa. This is the purport of the Nārada's saying there. Generally you may take...

Devotee: In Gītā [4.13] this guṇa-karma-vibhāgaśaḥ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guṇa-karma, so brāhmaṇa's guṇa is mentioned there, these are the qualifications of a brāhmaṇa. But if a brāhmaṇa is devoid of such guṇa then he should be considered a daitya, brahma-daitya.

Devotee: Guṇa is by this birth or previous births?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not previous birth. Guṇa is present there in his mind, the guṇa, the attitude. He has got, a brāhmaṇa, brahma janati brāhmaṇa [?] What, who is a brāhmaṇa? The standard, the qualification has been written there. Not by who is a born brāhmaṇa he's a brāhmaṇa, brahma janati brāhmaṇa. Who is conscious of the spiritual substance he's a brāhmaṇa and that is the real criterion. And this is ordinary because just as a doctor's son may not be doctor, but doctor's son has got the facility of becoming a doctor. From his childhood he's seeing those bottles, the medicine, the test-tube, all these things he has got some experience. But still, if he's an idiot, he should not be considered as a doctor. So this is. A brāhmaṇa's son means by some previous good karma he has got the chance of being born in a brāhmaṇa family, and he gets the facility, facility of seeing and coming in contact and practices, all these things. But in spite of that, if he becomes an atheist he should not be considered a brāhmaṇa any longer.

Devotee: Not we are making, God is making brāhmaṇas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: God is making, God is making, God has made on the principle, guṇa-karma-vibhāgaśaḥ. Not that brāhmaṇa's son is brāhmaṇa, śūdra's son is śūdra, then what is the meaning of the guṇa-karma-vibhāgaśaḥ?

“I have created on this principle, the principle is this, guṇa and karma, according to his quality and as well as his practice I have divided. But if that is found, this jati brāhmaṇa and vitya brāhmaṇa, but if come in a jati brāhmaṇa but that quality of a brāhmaṇa is absent then he should not be considered a brāhmaṇa any longer.”

Devotee: But the genetic science also do something.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What to speak of that. Narakāśura is son of Kṛṣṇa and he's called āśura. Do you know Narakāśura? Have you heard his name, Narakāśura?

Devotee: Yes, yes, I have.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he's whose son? Varāhadeva's son; when the Lord came as Varāha, by His contact the Earth produced Narakāśura, so son of Viṣṇu, but he's āśura. What's this? And this brāhmaṇa also sattya-guṇa and to nirguṇa it is nothing. A brāhmaṇa can again become a śūdra, become an antyaja. But nirguṇa if you can acquire once that won't be diminished, that is of permanent nature, the nirguṇa quality is of permanent nature. But this is trifle, a brāhmaṇa can be again born as a śūdra. First one was a brāhmaṇa and then became dharma-vada, he was born in a vada family. Do you know from Mahābhārata dharma-vada (?), in his previous birth he was a brāhmaṇa. He was a minister's son of a king, brāhmaṇa minister, but by his bad karma next birth he became baddha, hunter. So it is vulnerable, going up and down. And what is nirguṇa... nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate, when once acquired it won't leave you any time. That is nirguṇa.

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt

["Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40]

That is something else.

Devotee: But in ordinary sense we can find...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So in Bhāgavatam:

viprād-dvi-ṣaḍ guṇa yutād aravindanābha-, pādāravinda-vimukhāt śvapacam variṣṭham manye [tad-arpita-mano-vacane-hitārtha-, prāṇam punāti sa kulam na tu bhūrimānaḥ]

[If a brāhmaṇa has all twelve brahminical qualifications, but is not a devotee, and is averse to the lotus feet of the Lord, he is certainly lower than a dog eater who is a devotee but who has dedicated everything - mind, words, activities, life, and wealth - to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa. Such a devotee is superior to a brāhmaṇa because a devotee can purify his entire family, whereas the brāhmaṇa who is not a devotee is bound to be illusioned by the false prestige of his position and thus cannot purify even himself.] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.9.10]

“I consider the son of a caṇḍāla to be, to hold the higher position than a son of a brāhmaṇa who is endowed with twelve qualities of a brāhmaṇa.” Dvi-ṣaḍ guṇa, dvi means twice, ṣaḍ guṇa, six, twice six means twelve guṇas of a brāhmaṇa. “And above that a caṇḍāla if he has got real bhakti, real devotion to You.” It is mentioned there.

[The twelve qualities of a brāhmaṇa are: following religious principles, speaking truthfully, controlling the senses by undergoing austerities and penances, being free from jealousy, being intelligent, being tolerant, creating no enemies, performing yajña, giving charity, being steady, being well versed in Vedic study, and observing vows.]

mām hi pārtha vyapāśritya, ye 'pi syuḥ pāpa-yonayaḥ striyo vaiśyās tathā śūdras, te 'pi yānti parām gatim

[“O son of Pṛthā, low-born persons of degraded lineage, women, merchants, or labourers - they also attain the supreme destination by taking full refuge in Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.32]

“I am such that anyone coming in connection with Me, they achieve the highest position. And brāhmaṇa also if they come in My connection they will also attain. But without My connection, without the Vaiṣṇava connection, the brāhmaṇa they're vulnerable going up and down."

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna [mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

What to speak of brāhmaṇas, even Brahmā, avirincharde amangalam [?] Brahmā is also to die, to suffer from disease, the Brahmā what of brāhmaṇas. The whole thing, that is sattya-guṇa, sattya-guṇa, and that is nirguṇa. Sattya-guṇa, guṇa means vyādhi, guṇa means vyādhi, this is not a positive, it is a negative character thing, guṇa, and nirguṇa is positive, and guṇa is negative. It is vyādhi, means disease, but disease, a good disease and a bad disease. Brāhmaṇas means less disease, less serious, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra, serious disease. But this is the diseased part of the world, and the wholesome part, that is nirguṇa, Vaikuṇṭha, etc. So guṇa, sattya-guṇa, that is less disease, disease of not very serious type, but still it is disease, sattya-guṇa. Guṇa, māyā-guṇa, it comes from māyā. Māyā means mā yā, misunderstanding, miscalculation, so brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra, all come from miscalculation, the wholesale under miscalculation, good and bad.

Just as it is generally told that the stool, the stool, there is raw and there is dried stool. Dried stool is little better than the raw stool, ha, ha. Do you follow? Stool, human stool, dried and fresh, what will be better? The dried is a little better than the fresh stool. Do you follow? So brāhmaṇas are a dried stool; because it is found on misconception, māyā, māyā means misconception, erroneous. In the land, in the plane or jurisdiction of error, less error or grave error, but it is error. Madhva School they're more towards this flesh and blood, little partial they are.

Devotee: They're also from our Guru paramparā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm. Guru paramparā, but Kṛṣṇa had also Guru, Sandīpanī, but whom should we take higher, Sandīpanī or Kṛṣṇa?

Then Madhva's Guru is Brahmā, Brahmā sampradāya, Brahmā, Brahmā is Ādi Guru. That Brahmā cannot understand the ways of Kṛṣṇa, brahmā-vimohana. In Vṛndāvana these two chapters, brahmā-vimohana, Brahmā fails to understand the līlā of Kṛṣṇa. It is there but Madhva has abolished those chapters. He did not accept that Brahmā, Ādi Guru, he cannot be deluded in such a way. He did not accept that. But we find in every place in other schools, Nimbarka, Rāmānuja, there in Bhāgavatam we find that brahmā-vimohana, two chapters.

But Madhvācārya, then Madhvācārya, again we do not accept that, but we hate that. Madhvācārya says the gopīs, gopīs are sarvesya, gopīs in Vṛndāvana they're prostitutes of the heaven. But we can't accept that, with all our due respect to him, we differ from him, and we hate this idea.

We respect Rāmānuja, but one Viraha ācāryi [?] who is a commentator of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, his opinion is that Rādhārāṇī, She was the Avatāra of Śurpanākha, who was in the Rāma līlā as Śurpanākha, she came to be born as Rādhārāṇī. We hate it. But we have got general respect for Rāmānuja, because he conquered Śaṅkarācārya and pressed the bhakti over that.

We accept Mahāprabhu in toto and His interpretation of Bhāgavatam, not others interpretation. And also we have got our arguments, our realisation for that, we feel that. So our reverence for the old Ācāryas should be considered, then what, the Mahāprabhu: anarpita-carīm, what has never been given before You have taken that holiest thing to us, the Kṛṣṇa. Amongst Dāsa-Avatāra, no mention about Him. His brother Baladeva is mentioned amongst Dāsa-Avatāra.

Then, should we not have recognition for Kṛṣṇa, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa? Previous to that, Bhāgavatam it is not mentioned anywhere, then should we not accept Kṛṣṇa as He is the most original? So new things have, truth may evolve, and according to our inner tendency we are to accept and appreciate.

Devotee: We are very much proud of our Guru paramparā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: If there is a different opinion...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I saw that, when I was in charge of Madras, nineteen thirty one or so, the greatest amongst the Ācāryas, Satyavan Tīrtha, Utaradhi [?] he was the Ācārya of the Utaradhi Maṭha, eight Maṭhas...

Devotee: Yes. Aṣṭa Maṭha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Aṣṭa Maṭha, and some was entrusted with the worship of the Deity and some for preaching. And Utaradhi Maṭha was the greatest, at least the greatest number of followers, the Utaradhi Maṭha. And the Ācārya was Satyavan Tīrtha. And when he went to Benares and other places he used to beat drum, “Whoever Māyāvādī you are, I have come, come to discuss with me. I shall prove that you are erroneous.” Such type of a man he was. Then he came to Madras with elephants and horses and cows and so many, with big retinue he came, Madras, and so many followers, barristers, advocates, professors, followers.

We went to him, myself, Bana Mahārāja and this [Bhakti Dayita] Mādhava Mahārāja, at that time he was this Hayagrīva Brahmachāri, approached him. We are always out to get some collection from anybody, we approached him that, “We want to have Deities to be installed in our Maṭha, if you kindly can pay the cost we shall take the Deities.” With this idea we went. Of course, he gave something, not the whole.

But then, he, with his disciples, he’s sitting there, there is Gopāla Mūrti nearby. And he’s a sannyāsī, perhaps only one, and we two sannyāsīns went there. And the nilyasi nilmaskriya [?] sannyāsīs generally they do not bow down the head to any other, they’re hesitating.

Then he was an intelligent man, he told that, “Here is Gopāla.”

And we bowed down to Gopāla and he also bowed down to Gopāla at the same time, so the good manners finished there.

Now the talk began. In course of the talk the question of the Deities, the Arcā-Mūrti came up. Then, “The Gopāla, that Madhvācārya himself got from somewhere and that Gopāla we have got and I am keeping that Gopāla Mūrti with me and I am worshipping Him and doing my propaganda.” In this way he represented. Then the Śrī Mūrti, the ontology of Śrī Mūrti, Deity, Arcā; that came in, and he told, his opinion, “That inside the Arcā-Mūrti there is Lord.”

And our contention was the whole body, not an ordinary body. It may be seen by the fleshy eye as mineral or wood or stone or anything else, but the wholesale is Bhagavān, cinmaya. It is not matter, not the spirit within matter, but whole body is a conscious representation. That was our point. We also cited scripture, deha-dehi-vibhago yam nisyari vidyate kachit [?] In the case of the Deities we must not come to realise that there is some difference between the deha, the limb, the body, and the dehi, who is living inside the body. No distinction in the case of the Supreme Lord.

He told perhaps, “No, it is in the spiritual matter but in Arcā-Mūrti it is not so. What we can see here it is not so.” And unfortunately he gave an example, and that was very filthy one. “If we strike with a club the Śālagrāma, Śālagrāma is considered as born Deity, but if we strike it with a hammer then it is reduced to dust.”

When he pronounced this we put our hands over the ear.

And he was perplexed, and the whole respectable audience they also saw, “What is this?”

What our Gurudeva told that these sādhus they’re putting, covering their ears.”

Then the argument came, he told, “Madhvacarya himself has said like that. He told, that in the Deity there is the presence of the Lord, and Deity is not the Lord.” And he wants to continue his argument.

Then anyhow, I heard one śloka from Bhāgavatam from our Guru Mahārāja, I got some conception from that.

sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, brahmātmaikatva-lakṣaṇam vastv advitīyaṁ tan-niṣṭhaṁ, kaivalyaika-prayojanam

[This Bhāgavatam is the essence of all Vedānta philosophy because its subject matter is the Absolute Truth, which, while non-different from the spirit soul, is the ultimate reality, one without a second. The goal of this literature is exclusive devotional service unto that Supreme Truth.]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.12]

That I wanted to push, the meaning of that, the kaivalyaika-prayojanam, we must not come down to the level of our sense experience. But we shall try our best to retain our position in the scriptural description, and not come to rely on our senses, mundane senses. We must maintain what has been said in the scripture that is true, and what I see this is false. But he does not...

81.12.16.B_81.12.19.A

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Devotee: I've heard that one has got some eternal connection with Hari Nāma Guru. Does he similarly have such connection with mantra Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Both similar and same we may see. With slight difference we may think similar. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, seemingly many devotees get confused because they want to have one master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: And – but somehow there comes two.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But that is when they're in a formal position, but when they enter into the material realization then they will not have such grievance, because he may see that what is Guru, Guru means he has come to give something. What is that thing? If he finds his thing in another place then that is his thing, one and the same, common interest. So formal difference reduced when one can catch the very substance of the teachings. For which the Guru should be respected, that is a thing, substance, some knowledge or some thread of love or anything. But when one is closely connected in intimacy with the thing which Guru comes to give us, then wherever it be, he will take it to be one and the same thing, friendly relation. And they are not antagonistic, they are cooperating, sincere, they are cooperating. Just as in the Vaiṣṇava fashion one will encourage. "No, no, you are to obey the order of him," he will say in this way, the friendly relation with him. Though separate in figure, but at heart they are one and the same, because they have got the common cause. They have not come to fight, they have come to fight with the agents of Satan only, not among themselves. Is it not?

So, if we can recognize the real thing for which we are approaching the Guru, then in relation to that, we shall have our adjustment with śikṣā Guru, dīkṣā Guru, vartma-pradarśaka Guru, we are all indebted to them all, infinitely. I am helpless, what can I do? They are benevolent, infinitely gracious, they are my guardians. I may have many guardians. They are to look after my welfare, they have not come to destroy me.

So, Swāmī Mahārāja, he's taking, I think, that after he has passed away, "That Śrīdhara Mahārāja, as I requested he's taking up the standard. In his old age, when he is unfit physically, still, he is trying to keep up the standard; that they may not come down. If new questions arise, due to the course of time, he may try to solve them, to help them. He's my friend. The rest of my activity, as far as possible, he will sympathetically deal to help them. The cause for which I was selected and I did so much by the grace of the Lord, the same cause may be enhanced by him whatever little may be possible for him in his old age to do, to contribute." He may look with this idea.

Devotee: Mahārāja, when Kṛṣṇa comes, He also comes with His associates, His friends and paraphernalia, so is it the same also with the Guru? Our Swāmī Mahārāja, he also comes with his associates to play as his disciples?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, of different types.

Devotee: So his disciples are following his preaching mission, taking birth within different planetary systems to follow him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a general thing, that is a general way, but even there is gradation also there. Swāmī Mahārāja came, and the Gurudeva of Swāmī Mahārāja, he also came like that, is it not? So in this way you are to adjust. How many they came with? Mostly recruited, and very few may be his companion.

In the discussion of Sārvabhauma and Gopīnātha Ācārya, have you gone through Caitanya- caritāmṛta? When Sārvabhauma is opposing that,

“No, no, in śāstra it is mentioned Tri-yuga, because in Kali-yuga He has got no direct incarnation, so one of His names in Tri-yuga.”

Gopīnātha Ācārya told that, “You think that you know much about śāstra, but in Bhāgavatam, Mahābhārata, there is direct mention of the Avatāra in Kali-yuga. You have got no knowledge, no recognition of that?”

Then Sārvabhauma, apparently defeated, he told, “You go and take prasādam, then afterwards you will come to teach me.” In this way.

Then Gopīnātha told in the discussion that, “Not by the dint of one’s study or his intelligence one can understand who is God, but only through His grace. God can be known only through His grace.”

Then Sārvabhauma said, “And you have got that grace, and I have not got that grace? What is the reasoning behind? You say that you have got grace, because you say that He is an incarnation. So you have got grace, and because I can’t give recognition to that, I have not got grace? What is the proof against this?”

Then there is one expression in Caitanya-caritāmṛta:

ācārya kahe, - "vastu-viṣaye haya vastu-jñāna, vastu-tattva-jñāna haya kṛpāte pramāṇa

[“It is evident that I have the grace of the Lord, because I know Him, and that you have not, because you deny Him.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 6.89]

“The evidence, the witness that I am right, this foundation is vastu-viṣaye haya vastu-jñāna, to know, to become, to come in a plane where from we can know what is what. That is the foundation on which I speak to you. Vastu-viṣaye haya vastu-jñāna, vastu-tattva-jñāna haya kṛpāte pramāṇa. That you have got the grace of the Lord and you know Him, and I have not because I deny Him, that should be the reason, then that answer is there, vastu-viṣaye. To know what is what, one’s own inner experience is the real evidence to him, and no outside things can give any proof. Hṛdaye nābhya nujñāto. The internal satisfaction, our connection or acquaintance with reality, that this is this.

Just as our Guru Mahārāja gave the example, that one is born in the darkness of a dungeon and if he is proposed, ‘Let us go to see the Sun,’ then he will go to carry a lantern in his hand, a candle. “O, so you say you will show me the Sun then?”

“Do you want to befool me? Nothing can be seen without the help of a light, nothing can be seen.”

Then he will catch him by the hand, and forcibly take him, “see the Sun.” Then, “O, this is the Sun, by Sun’s light we can see the Sun.”

That sort of experience one will have. No calculation, no evidence, witness, but the experience, direct experience is the proof that He is there, like the Sun. In Bhāgavatam [11.22.34] also.

ātmā parijñāna-mayo vivādo, hy astīti nāstīti bhidārtha-niṣṭhaḥ vyartho 'pi naivoparameta puṁsāṁ, mattaḥ parāvṛtta-dhiyāṁ sva-lokāt

[One party says: “God exists!” The other says: “God does not exist!” Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says that the ātmā is self effulgent, but still we find that one class of men say, “He exists, we see Him, He can be seen,” and another says: “He has never existed.” This quarrel has no end because one of the parties hasn’t got the eye to see what is self-evident. This quarrel is a useless waste of time, but still it will never stop; it will continue forever.”]

Ātmā parijñāna-mayo. What to speak of Kṛṣṇa, even the conscious unit, parijñāna-mayo, self-effulgent, it is all light. All light, ātmā parijñāna-mayo vivādo, hy astīti nāstīti bhidārtha- niṣṭhaḥ. Then why there is this quarrel? Some say that He is, some say that He’s not. Why this quarrel? Vivādo. But the exception says, “No, there is no God.” Some say, “No, there is God, God is.” Why this quarrel? Parijñāna-mayo vivādo, hy astīti nāstīti. Hy astīti, “Surely He exists.” “No, He never existed.” Such quarrel, nāstīti bhidārtha-niṣṭhaḥ, vyartho 'pi, it is useless, still, naivoparameta, it won’t end. It is useless, but still, it will continue. Where? In a particular section, nāstīti bhidārtha-niṣṭhaḥ, vyartho 'pi naivoparameta, it will have no end. Mattaḥ parāvṛtta- dhiyām, in a particular section, just as those who have no eyes: no sun. Mattaḥ parāvṛtta-dhiyām sva-lokāt, who has deviated from My conception, as well as his own conception. One who has got not his own conception, and at the same time, My conception, in that section, it will continue. But those who have got direct experience, there’s no question. It is. Ulūke nā dekhe yena sūryera kiraṇa.

pratyakṣe dekhaha nānā prakāṣa prabhāva/alaukika karma, alaukika anubhāva. dekhiyā nā dekhe yata abhaktera gaṇa/ulūke nā dekhe yena sūryera kiraṇa.]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Mahābhārata, the Purāṇas, and other Vedic literatures all give evidence to prove that Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu is the Avatāra of Kṛṣṇa Himself.”] [“One can also directly see Caitanya Mahāprabhu’s manifest influence in His uncommon deeds and uncommon Kṛṣṇa conscious realization.”] [“But faithless unbelievers do not see what is clearly evident, just as owls do not see the rays of the sun.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 3.84-86]

Just as the owls, the owl section, they cannot see, admit the existence of the sun. That does not mean the sun does not exist. Something like that. Our own realization will be the greatest proof.

vastu-viṣaye haya vastu-jñāna, vastu-tattva-jñāna haya kṛpāte pramāṇa

[“It is evident that I have the grace of the Lord, because I know Him, and that you have not, because you deny Him.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 6.89]

The eye, the janmāndha, the birth blind, when eye is opened anyhow they will be astonished to see that particular important aspect of the environment. But no eyes, no vision, no colour, no figure, this is the case. Gaura Hari. So, the seer, the feeler, those that have got their vision, they stand guarantee, that, “How can I deny the fact. I have seen this, I am feeling this. This is such and such. So magnanimous, so great, so benevolent, so all these things we can’t deny. You are unfortunate you can’t see.” Some see, some cannot see. In the same place, so many, one can see, another cannot see. Whom He likes to show him, he can see, one who He likes not to show him, he can’t see: such things.

In Kuru sabhā when Kṛṣṇa went to Duryodhana's party, with some peace proposal between the Pāṇḍavas and the Kauravas, then Duryodhana, he thought that, 'We have got the golden chance, now if I can put Kṛṣṇa into prison house, the Pāṇḍavas will die broken-hearted, no question of fighting with them.'

The Kauravas also joined, and they sent Duḥśāsana, "Go, and bind Him with this rope." Duḥśāsana came with the rope in hand and tried to bind.

There was Sātyaki, His attendant, he furiously came with a sword, Kṛṣṇa peacefully caught hold of his hand, the Sātyaki with the hand with sword.

And He began to show Himself in such a way that it perplexed Duḥśāsana.

"So many figures, on whom shall I put the rope? Where to put the rope? And whom to bind down?"

So many figures displayed. One side, Baladeva, another side Arjuna, and so many revered ṛṣis chanting His name, Duḥśāsana was perplexed. And Bhīṣma and Droṇa, they began to sing in praise of Kṛṣṇa.

"The Virāṭ Mūrti, what is this? This is a magnanimous great vision with so many phases."

It was – the whole atmosphere filled with divine spirit. Then Devarṣi Nārada, and so many others also, ṛṣis, they began to chant in praise of Kṛṣṇa, in this way.

And Dhṛtarāṣṭra no eyes, but he can hear that in this meeting, "Suddenly they are all praising Kṛṣṇa, and some sort of wonderful things are happening around me, I can't see." He could feel. And he prayed to Kṛṣṇa. "For the moment, please remove my blindness, I would like to see Your great expression. But after ward You make me blind again, but for the time being, only remove my blindness."

Kṛṣṇa told, "No necessity of removing your blindness, I say you can see, and you will see.”

Without even, the physical blindness was not bar to see that great vilasa of Kṛṣṇa. Only His will; the physical eye can't see, the divine eye can feel Him, can see Him. And by the will of Kṛṣṇa, temporarily that divine eye was given to Dhṛtarāṣṭra and his blindness did not stand in the way of seeing, and he could see Kṛṣṇa.

So it is something like that. I say, “No, it is not here.” The eye can't see many things, but with the microscope we can see. This ear can only come in contact with a sound of a particular degree. The high degree of sound cannot touch this ear: we can't hear. We are told that the Sun, Moon, they are all revolving and a huge sound. But that degree of sound we can't catch. Very meagre also we can't catch, and very high also we can't catch. So, light also. If any higher degree of light is here, we shall see darkness, and a lower, that is also darkness. Only in a particular stage of light: that our eye can catch. More intense light we can't catch, more meagre also we can't catch, a particular degree. This eye is prepared only to catch a particular plane of wave of the light. So, that is the case. Ear, everything is like that, touch, everything like that. If it is much more, that we can't catch; if it is much less that we also can't catch: everything. We are meant for a particular plane, a particular limit. We are a child of that soil.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Dayal Nitāi.
Dayal Nitāi.

Devotee: Mahārāja, Swāmī Mahārāja told us that Guru, he takes responsibility for his disciples to make sure that they go back to Godhead. So, when the Guru departs, how does he maintain contact with the disciple so that he makes sure that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm? What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The Guru takes responsibility to take his disciple back to Godhead. So when the Guru departs, how does the disciple keep contact with his Guru, or how is the process of contact?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, it comes to the same point. Who is Guru? Why he is Guru? And Guru, śāstra, sādhu of one and the same tune, and we are to appreciate that, and our onward march will be guaranteed only by that. Otherwise Guru may be seen only by figure, only by vision of my eyes, the picture. The photo is not Guru. Still, he has got connection with the real Guru. The eye experience, the ear experience, of a person is not the whole experience. The real experience through his words, the idea, what he has given, that is Kṛṣṇa consciousness. So if I have real interest with Kṛṣṇa consciousness, then we are to adjust accordingly all other things. Otherwise, if I miss the real thing which Guru came to give me, if I miss that thing, then all will be doll worshipper, idol worshipper; idolatry. Only to follow the forms that will be idolatry. Why he is Guru? There are so many human figures, why he's Guru? Because he's a mediator, he's a medium of a particular divine knowledge. That is the criterion everywhere to be tested. To put this test anywhere and everywhere. What is your interest? You came to Kṛṣṇa consciousness, and where is Kṛṣṇa consciousness, there is Guru. There is your Guru. He's Guru only because he's in Kṛṣṇa consciousness, and there is a particular degree. So, we must not make much about the form.

Kṛṣṇa says, when Uddhava put the question, "Why in the name of religion so many isms in the world. What's the reason, and how we are to adjust? Every conception of religion that is found here independently, they can take me to the goal, or is there any gradation, or how are we to have a conception of so many conceptions of religion in the world?”

Then Kṛṣṇa told: “When the creation began, then what is religion, I transmitted it to the creator’s heart, Brahmā. And from Brahmā, that came to so many disciples, about ten or a dozen disciples. But according to the different capacity of those disciples, what they received, there was a little change, when they are giving delivery. So, I gave it to Brahmā, and that was one, when Brahmā told ten disciples, [?] then when they received it in the soil of their heart, that same thing entered, but with a little modification everywhere. And again, when they gave delivery to their disciples again, more modification, in this way: prakṛti-vaicitryāt and pāramparyeṇa, one, the difference in the receiver, and another, in the succession, so gradually modified. Now we see that in the religious world there is a regular jungle. Some say to give stress in the penance, some in the gift, some perhaps in japa, some this, some that, so many branches have come. And also, antagonistic, some, pāṣaṇḍa-mata, [atheism] that is some ascending opinions also grown from the human mind against that modified descending opinions, so now we find there is a jungle.”

So He has come now and then...

yadā yadā hi dharmasya, glānir bhavati [bhārata abhyutthānam
adharmasya, tadātmānaṁ sṛjāmy aham]

[“O Bhārata, whenever there is a decline of religion and an uprising of irreligion, I personally appear, like a being born in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.7]

...to set it right: when He says that it has been degraded in a high stage, then He has to come again, or to send His own person, “Go and set it right.” So, the recipients are different, and their conceptions also different. So, the difference cannot but be, but who can catch the real internal meaning, they will be saved, others may be misguided, and it will take a long time for them. Once having real connection with a real Guru, he won’t be lost, but the time will be taken very, very long. Can’t help, it is everywhere, it is a general thing. It is not only in the particular case of Swāmī Mahārāja, but it is a general thing. Kṛṣṇa says like that. Uddhava’s question answered by Kṛṣṇa in this way in the eleventh canto of Bhāgavatam, and it is quite intelligible. It is not an unreasonable thing, not a dogmatic thing, but quite reasonable.

I can’t say any more. I feel too much tired today.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: It’s so kind of you taking so much trouble to speak to us. We’ll take our leave now. Jaya om viṣṇu-pāda...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

[“O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

If we can be sincere, we won’t be lost. Where is Kṛṣṇa kathā, there is my Guru. Every disciple cannot catch the real spirit of the advice of Guru, can't catch in the same line.

There is another word, a little unhappy. Once a Mohammedan mullah he was explaining Koran, and so many in the audience. One old lady, she used to take her seat in a corner and as long as the mullah he is reading Koran the lady is weeping, tears are running down her cheeks profusely. So much so that one day that mullah met that lady, and asked her, "What do you find in my advice that you are so much impressed? Whenever I cast my glance and look to you, I find your eyes are shedding tears profusely. What do you find in my lecture?"

Then to his disappointment, the old lady answered, "I had one she-goat and her beard was just like that of you, and when she took her food, she was moving her head on the grass, just as you move your head. So you remind me of that dear she-goat. She was very much affectionate to me. I can't stand to think of her without shedding tears, and for that purpose, I come to see your lecture."

So, Kṛṣṇa Himself came down here, still there were so many enemies to Him. He Himself came.

With Jesus also we find one of His twelve disciples, one Judas was a traitor. He told disappointedly that, "The one who will betray me is among you." "Who amongst us will betray you?"

"Yes, he is amongst in the twelve of you."

So we should not think because we have come to a great man we have got everything, swallowed, devoured everything. It is not such an easy thing, so not an easy thing that we have finished, we have devoured. Only we have got a connection with the infinite good, and we are to progress with that capital. That I have got everything: that is rather the opposite feeling. One who will approach towards infinite, more and more, he will see that I am nowhere. The sign will be the opposite.

Still of course sometimes it is necessary to assert on the courage, and on the strength of the faith, that, 'What I say, it is true,' just as Newton did. Newton when he was told by his contemporaries, "You have reached the highest zenith of knowledge." So marvellous discovery he came with that the people in his time thought that 'he is sārvaññā, he knows everything. He has reached the, he has finished the whole area of the knowledge.'

But Newton told, "I know better than you, because I conceive that I am just collecting the pebbles at the seashore of the ocean of knowledge. The area of knowledge is like an ocean. I am just touching the shore. So I think that I am more learned than you all, because you say that I have finished all knowledge, but it cannot be finished. I have only touched. So, that is also an assertion, that I know more than you, because I know that the knowledge cannot be finished, and you think that that knowledge is finished."

Jaya om viṣṇu-pāda ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the meaning of the word bhaga? Bhagavān, you've heard the sound, word Bhagavān.

Devotee: Bhaga and varga, is this the same?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhagavān. What does he say?

aiśvaryaśya samagrasya, vīryasya yaśasaḥ śriyaḥ jñāna-vairāgyayoś caiva, ṣaṇṇām bhaga itīṅana

[Bhagavān, the Supreme Lord, is thus defined as, “He who is inseparably replete with the six inconceivable qualities of wealth, power, fame, beauty, knowledge and renunciation.”]

[Viṣṇu Purāṇa, 6.5.74] & [Gauḍīya Kanthahara, 7.28]

His six qualities, known as bhaga, bhaga means these six-fold qualities. Aiśvaryaśya, samagrasya, vīryasya, yaśaś śri, jñāna-vairāgya, all these six consist in Bhagavān, one who has got these six bhaga...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But he is vāca, of the voice, of the speech, of the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vāca, uda vāca, that is another thing, Udabhaga is another gentleman. There is another man whose name is Udabhaga. Uda vāca.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vāca means speech, word, udavāca, the vāca, the word, all the words directing the high, udavāca. Vāca, the speech, or the word, or voice, or talk, have no concern with the lower things, udavāca, always tending towards, pertaining to the higher things, udavāca.

There is a class of yogī here in India, udavaho [?] some [?] Always, and it is fixed, they cannot take it down again, it is fixed, udavaho. The meaning is to show that his activity will be towards the physical sense thereby. That is sahajiyā-vāda, prākṛta-sahajiyā. Our physical things should be used for the higher purpose. But the principle is eliminated, the real thing, the gist, the substance eliminated, and only an imitation is there physically. That's the trouble.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Then that udaretaḥ [?] also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Udaretaḥ [?] That is, the semen tendency is not for the purpose of the lower creation, not for lower creation, the tendency. Only for higher purpose it may be used, utilised, not for sense pleasure. It should not be utilised for sense pleasure, but for purpose necessary for the higher object, udaretaḥ. Retaḥ means sukra, semen. Semen is not utilised in mundane purpose, but for higher purpose it may be utilised, it is under control. So it may not be avoided always, it is not meant. Of course one who has accepted sannyāsa it is a separate case.

Otherwise Vyāsadeva, he, this [?] purpose. Vyāsadeva was engaged and his son was Pāṇḍu and Dhṛtarāṣṭra. At the request of his former mother, Satyavatī, Vyāsadeva came to produce child in the wife of [?] malika, this [?] The Pañca Pāṇḍava, they mentioned when they're going from [?] towards some unknown quarter, Yudhiṣṭhira, Duryodhana, made plot to murder them, so they're hiding themselves. And they're passing Kuntī and the Pañca Pāṇḍava, they're passing from some unknown quarter from _____ [?] Then from the forest, that ādivāsī lady, ādivāsī woman, girl, Bhīma's figure was a very nice colour like a gold, and very developed body, and that ādivāsī woman she was also very vigorous and good figure. She suddenly found Bhīma and she wanted to have a child from Bhīma. She came and appealed to Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja. She could find that he's the leader. "I want one child from your, this brother."

Yudhiṣṭhira asked Kuntī Devī, Yudhiṣṭhira referred to Kuntī Devī, "My mother is there, you go to her."

Then she fell at the feet of Kuntī Devī. "I want a child from your, this son."

Kuntī Devī ordered Bhīma, "Go and satisfy her hankering. She wants a child from you." By the order of mother, Bhīma went with her.

So it is controlled, for some purpose when it is necessary, to serve higher purpose _____ [?] in Raghu-vamsa. In Gītā, prajanaś cāsmi kandarpaḥ. [āyudhānām ahaṁ vajraṁ, dhenūnām asmi kāmadhuk prajanaś cāsmi kandarpaḥ, sarpāṇām asmi vāsukiḥ]

["Of weapons I am the thunderbolt, and of cows I am the heavenly desire-fulfilling cow. Of cupids I am he who ensures progeny, and among the single-headed venomous snakes I am Vāsuki, the king of all snakes."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 10.28]

"In kandarpaḥ I am where, when it is necessary to produce a child there."

_____ [?] Not for reti or sense satisfaction, but when necessary to produce a child it should be utilised. Then no brahmacārya is not affected in that case, it has got its utility, but not reti, not for sense pleasure. That is the meaning of the śāstra, prajanaś cāsmi kandarpaḥ, in Bhagavad-gītā.

And Bhāgavatam, [?] not for his sense satisfaction, but for necessity, for utility it should be used, so udaretaḥ, Mahādeva is known as udaretaḥ [?] that is his course, the aim towards high [?]

And there is a peculiar mystic mention about Kṛṣṇa, avadhuta [?] Kṛṣṇa, He mixed with the gopīs, but avadhuta [?] In such way He used with them [?] this intercourse, that was controlled [?] not in the sense of worldly pleasure, that He's controlled, that is there. No kama gandha hina, it is independent of any nasty odour of this sense pleasure. This is the highest conception of Divinity.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...misunderstanding in a marginal position, and that marginal position is represented as śiva, which the cetana, the consciousness, as a whole which is some deep connection in the misconceived aspect of the world, that portion has been described as śiva. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The master of misconception, the relativity is eternal, the conscious relativity, the relativity of the consciousness with misconception, that aspect is known as Rudra, śiva. But eternal flow, eternal flow.

Devotee: So he has, he's got, does he have an eternal position there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When the jīva consciousness as a whole, that is taṭasthā-śakti, where the in-carrying and out-carrying current meets together, the abscissa, proper conception and misconception meeting point, that portion of consciousness which is eternally connected with misconception, that consciousness is known as Rudra, śiva. Because, without consciousness matter has got no value, none to understand; without consciousness nothing can come to be cognizable. So because we have some conception of the material world, so the material conception has some sort of position. Otherwise it is quite darkness, no one to investigate, no one to know, no one to experience, then no mention is possible of that thing. So the consciousness which is in connection with misconception, not proper conception but misconception eternally connected, that sort of consciousness is called śiva. And Sadāśiva, a little higher consciousness of śiva, which is tending towards Vaikuṇṭha sevā, service, Sadāśiva. In Brahma-saṁhitā [8] also there is another: tal-liṅgaṁ bhagavān śambhur. The Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī or Sadāśiva, when he's focused towards this māyic world and begins creation of this material world that is Bhagavān Śambhu, that portion is Śiva. On the whole, that conscious portion which is eternally connected with material consciousness or enjoying consciousness, that consciousness is known as śiva. Just as milk when in connection with acid it becomes curd, but curd cannot return to be milk. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The curd is nothing but milk, mainly, but the acid has transformed it into a curd and the curd cannot again return to be milk. So the conscious portion that has come in connection with māyā, misconception, and cannot avoid it, cannot free it as a whole, that portion is known as śiva, the master of this material world, the ostentatious enjoyer of this material property. That function is known as śiva. This is general. This is relativity of consciousness which is in the relativity of misconception. That portion is known as śiva.

māyāṁ tu prakṛtiṁ vidyān māyinaṁ tu maheśvaram

[“Understand that māyā is the material energy whereas the Supreme Lord is the Supreme Lord of māyā.”] [Śvetāśvatara Upaniṣad, 4.10]

“Maheśvara is always Mine.”

He’s the Master of this misconceived world. Do you follow? The Master of this misconceived world, that false identification. And there is one at the back who got that misconception, misinterpretation or mis-enjoyment mood; that is śiva.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: Mahārāja, where I'm confused about this is that, does some jīva after some time does he take on that position?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow.

Devotee: Does some jīva soul after some time does he after purification or after coming from a higher plane does he come to take the position of śiva? Or is this a manifestation of directly of Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When a jīva which is in – jīva means particle of consciousness, when he goes up to cross this ocean of misunderstanding and just released but still in the negativity of this māyā he may be śiva. When the jīva is going to Vaikuṇṭha and in the middle way, when he has crossed the boundary of this māyā, but still in connection, that portion is śiva.

Then also, this māyā śakti approaches him, “Why do you leave me? You stay here. I shall serve you. You should not neglect me.”

But if he accepts that proposal he becomes śiva. And if he does not care for that proposal and goes up, then he'll go to Vaikuṇṭha, to Nārāyaṇa's land. That marginal position is that of śiva.

Devotee: That's very clear. One other thing, I've heard that if a soul...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One who cannot catch the in-carrying current but the out-carrying current he has passed the stage of the out-carrying current, and in the margin, in the abscissa, and cannot catch really the in-carrying central current. In the marginal consciousness, understanding and misunderstanding, and the meeting point is there, the abscissa. And any conscious particle remaining in the abscissa, in the buffer state, in no man's land, neither this side nor this side, he's śiva. But when entered this side baddha-jīva and that side in the Yogamāyā current in the ground of service then he's devotee. The enjoying mood and serving mood, and between the two that is śiva, that marginal position.

Devotee: Does he remain there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Neither an enjoyer nor a servitor, that consciousness is that of śiva, sense enjoyer, the master of the misconceived world. Misconception means that, 'I have got some separate existence, not dependent on the Supreme Entity, separate consciousness. Advaya-jñāna, not in the one harmony, but I have got my separate position.' That consciousness is that of śiva. 'I'm not slave to someone. I've got my independent position. I'm not servant to anyone, and I'm not subordinate to anyone. I have got my independent position.' That position, that spirit is known as śiva. But really speaking that has got some connection with the misconceived world, then only he can think that, 'I am independent. I'm not subservient to any other higher entity.' That means he has got some connection, though he thinks himself free of the misconception world, but still he has got some continuation. So only he can assert that, 'I am independent.' But really he's not independent; he's a serving unit of the Supreme Entity, Absolute. But the conception of separate interest that makes one be to the position of śiva, Śambhu. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

bhayaṁ dvitīyābhiniveśataḥ syād, [īśād apetasya viparyyayo 'smṛtiḥ tan-māyayāto budha ābhajet taṁ, bhaktyaikayeśaṁ guru-devatātmā]

[“Fear arises when a living entity misidentifies himself as the material body because of absorption in the external, illusory energy of the Lord. When the living entity thus turns away from the Supreme Lord, he also forgets his own constitutional position as a servant of the Lord. This bewildering, fearful condition is effected by the potency for illusion, called māyā. Therefore, an intelligent person should engage unflinchingly in the unalloyed devotional service of the Lord, under the guidance of a bona fide spiritual master, whom he should accept as his worshipping deity and as his very life and soul.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.37]

The conception of a separate existence, that, ‘I have got an independent position and existence,’ that is śiva. ‘I’m not subservient to anyone.’

‘I’m subservient to Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa,’ that is devotion.

‘I’m master of this world,’ that is māyic jīva, baddha jīva. But still, who says that, ‘I am not subservient to Viṣṇu, to Nārāyaṇa, to Kṛṣṇa,’ then we trace that something, the influence of misunderstanding is there. Otherwise he could conceive that he’s Kṛṣṇa dāsa, he’s a real servant of Kṛṣṇa. But because he cannot do so, so he's not pure, or free from the influence of māyā. So māyādhi pati, he thinks he's master of māyā.

Devotee: Still though we read so many prayers...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ āruhya kṛcchreṇa param padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nāḍṛta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ

["O lotus-eyed Lord, although non-devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

They cannot take the advantage of the in-carrying current of devotion. Then after even climbing up to the highest position of this world, he has every possibility to come down again, because he can't take the advantage of the higher current of devotion. So śiva is the resident of no man's land: neither Vaikuṇṭha nor Devī Dhāma, master of Devī Dhāma. But extremely scrutinising if we are, then we find he cannot, he could not work out his full relief from māyā. If so, he could feel that he's a servitor of Kṛṣṇa. But he can't do so. So the influence of māyā is still there. Māyā means misunderstanding is still there. He can't follow that he's Kṛṣṇa

Devotee: Vaiṣṇavānām yathā śambhuḥ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is Sadāśiva, when he has entered, that is Sadāśiva, or Mahā Viṣṇu, almost of same position. That is when he has become Śiva, a devotee, and that first stage it is mentioned vaiṣṇavānām yathā śambhuḥ, to create, to encourage the fallen soul that have got some affinity towards Śiva. For their good it has been said, vaiṣṇavānām yathā śambhuḥ, that Śiva is reckoned also as a Vaiṣṇava. Those that are habituated to think that Śiva is an independent entity, and not Nārāyaṇa, and not Viṣṇu, to help those persons the recognition has been given to Śiva as a devotee, as a principal devotee, to draw their attention towards the highest good. Vaiṣṇavānām yathā śambhuḥ. Dvādaśa mahā-jana:

svayambhūr nāradaḥ śambhuḥ kaumāraḥ kapilo manuḥ [prahlādo janako bhīṣmo balir vaiyāsakir vāyam dvādaśaite vijānīmo dharmaṁ bhāgavataṁ bhaṭāḥ guhyaṁ viśuddhaṁ durbodhaṁ yaṁ jñātvāmṛtam aśnute]

[Yamarāja lists the twelve mahā-janas, the twelve authorities on bhakti:
“Lord Brahmā, Bhagavān, Nārada, Lord Śiva, the four Kumāras, Lord
Kapila (the son of Devahūti), Svāyambhuva Manu, Prahlāda Mahārāja, Janaka Mahārāja, Bhīṣma, Bali Mahārāja, Śukadeva Goswāmī, and I myself know the real religious principle. My dear servants, this transcendental religious principle, which is known as bhāgavata-dharma, or surrender unto the Supreme Lord and love for Him, is uncontaminated by the material modes of nature. It is very confidential and difficult for ordinary human beings to understand, but if by chance a person fortunately understands it, he is immediately liberated, and thus he returns home, back to Godhead.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.3.20-1]

Śiva is mentioned, but the extreme followers of Śiva, the parsandas [?] though still they do not recognise that Śiva is a devotee of Kṛṣṇa. But yet, to help them, Śiva has got recognition in the class of a devotee. And that is Sadāśiva, and not Rudra. Rudra aspect is lower aspect, lower function of Śiva, and Sadāśiva, the devotee aspect of Śiva. That is the consciousness which that portion of consciousness which is nearer to Vaikuṇṭha that is Sadāśiva. And that portion that is no man’s land, the marginal position, taṭa, neither water nor earth, that is known as taṭa. But the watery side, that is Sadāśiva, and the land side of the taṭa that is Brahman, Rudra, in this way, the marginal position, between the serving world and the enjoying world. The marginal position is Śiva. And which is towards the enjoying side that is Rudra, and which is towards the serving side that is Sadāśiva. That is imaginary division.

Sometimes Śiva is seen to be a servant, with servant consciousness he’s approaching Nārāyaṇa. And sometimes Śiva is seen to support the demons and going to fight with Nārāyaṇa for helping the demons. Two aspects of Śiva we find. Sometimes he’s standing against Nārāyaṇa and begins to fight with Nārāyaṇa, in support of the demonic disciples.

And sometimes he’s very repentant and asks Nārāyaṇa, “Why You have given me such a hopeless position? Very cruel You are to deal with me. You have given me such abhimāna. Please release me from such task, and always engage me in Your service.” That is also seen in him, at times.

So that is a very difficult thing to understand: the real position of Śiva, margin, two aspects combined. Mainly tyāga, something bhoga, something service, the margin means that. Śiva tattva, Guru tattva, Nāma tattva, and Śrī Vighraha tattva, these four are very difficult to have a clear idea of. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. [?]

Devotee: Mahārāja, sometimes, I know this one person, he's a very doubtful person. And when a concept of eternality comes in, like when we would say that the relationship with the Guru is eternal relationship, or that he...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru is not in the measure of limitation. We should try to understand the infinite characteristic of Guru. Guru has not entered into the cage of my mind, not a limited thing, so much breadth, so much width, so much thickness, this is not Guru. Guru, Kṛṣṇa, Guru highest servitor of Kṛṣṇa, in different rasa, in different mood, so Guru is infinite: and Kṛṣṇa says, "I am Guru." So Guru tattva is not very easily understandable, śikṣā-guruke ta' jāni, kṛṣṇera svarūpa.

[yadyapi āmāra guru - caitanyera dāsa, tathāpi jāniye āmi tāñhāra prakāśa.

guru-kṛṣṇa-rūpa hana śāstrera pramāṇe, guru-rūpe kṛṣṇa kṛpā karena bhakta-gaṇe.

ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ.]

śikṣā-guruke ta' jāni, kṛṣṇera svarūpa, [antaryāmī, bhakta-śreṣṭha, - ei dui rūpa]

[“Although I know my Guru is a servitor of Śrī Caitanya, I know him also as a full manifestation (prakāśa) of the Lord.”] [“According to the deliberate opinion and evidence of śāstra, the Guru is non-different from Kṛṣṇa, because it is through the Guru that Kṛṣṇa bestows His mercy upon His devotee and delivers them.”] [“One should understand the spiritual master to be as good as I am,” said the Blessed Lord. “Nobody should be jealous of the spiritual master or think of him as an ordinary man, because the spiritual master is the sum total of all the demigods.”]

[“One should know the instructing spiritual master (śikṣā guru) to be Kṛṣṇa Himself. As Guru, Kṛṣṇa manifests as the Supersoul and as the best of devotees.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.44-7]

Where is the knowledge of Kṛṣṇa there is Guru, where is the knowledge of the service of Kṛṣṇa that is Guru. That is of different type, and different ways, this Nāma Guru, mantra Guru, vartma-pradarśaka Guru, sannyāsa Guru, but all tending towards one. And then otherwise, there are so many sham Gurus also, imitation Guru also. That is another thing. Who is guiding me towards Guru, Guru means guide, whoever is guiding me towards the centre, he is Guru.

And Bhāgavatam mentions that avadhuta has got twenty four Gurus. From somewhere else, from birds, from animals, he's learning something, but he's my Guru, giving, teaching me in this direction. Guru means guide, who guides me towards Kṛṣṇa, he is Guru, where ever he be. Not an imaginary cage, Guru is not a cage, in which he lives, still that has got some connection with that.

Then there is possibility of Guru tyāga also. How it is possible? If the real spirit of Guru is not there then that Guru should be discarded. It is also mentioned in the śāstra. Then what is Guru, we are to know. Guru tyāga is also possible, in very rare case, unfortunate though that is very much, still there is possibility. So Guru is not a limited cage of my vision, or my mental cage.

Wherever is Kṛṣṇa distributing Himself there is Guru. When Kṛṣṇa is distributing Himself in general He's Mahāprabhu, and so many representatives of Mahāprabhu they're Guru. Guru means light. Otherwise we shall be form worshippers. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: So what he'll say is that the relationship with the Guru, with the individual Guru always eternal? Is that relationship always eternal?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Both. Kṛṣṇa as universal Avatāra also He can divide Himself. So Guru also can in different aspects he can come. At the same time different Guru may come. So many Ācārya, so many Ācārya they're Guru to their disciples. How it is possible? Because the common is that they're giving the same kind of advice, instruction about Kṛṣṇa. But still there must be some difference between them, but still the current is that Kṛṣṇa consciousness. They're imparting Kṛṣṇa consciousness to so many persons. They're Gurus.

So eleven Ācārya then the disciple of the Ācārya number one he should also give some respect as a Vaiṣṇava to another, some śikṣā Guru, or something to another Ācārya number two, Ācārya number four. They should not neglect or think as enemy. They're also somewhat of Guru's position to them, so such sort of respect they must convey. [?]

Devotees: [?]

Devotee: Mahārāja, sometimes we realise that we have very little sincerity, for Kṛṣṇa, for the Guru, we strive in a very little as far as trying to approach Kṛṣṇa. And then all of a sudden after trying to approach Kṛṣṇa the Guru somehow tries to take us back home...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow. What does he say?

Devotee: He says that we have, sometimes it seems as though we have very little sincerity, but somehow or other the Guru he tries to take us back by force.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. You are unfit, that sort of consciousness with the disciple it is good. And Gurudeva is taking me towards some higher direction, though I'm unfit. But still when we attend the cause of another we have got some sort of consciousness within that is taking me towards good thing. And also I look about the environment – I may be a fool, but whether others, how they accept him. And the scriptures, the experts of the department, they have also given their opinion, and I must have according to my capacity to consult that, sādhu and śāstra. With the help of these two we can approach Guru. And also from the approval of the innermost heart; sādhu, śāstra and improvement of our conscience, with the help of these three we can accept Guru, we generally go to accept Guru.

But there are also others who are deceiving themselves, “Oh. My Guru can cure so many diseases. Then my Guru can make me prosper in the material life, so I shall make him Guru.” That will be self deception. That is also found in the world, different types of Guru who gives material prosperity, material benefit. And there are some they carry Guru who gives us eternal sleep, saying, “That is the real place of taking rest and peace.” There are so many classes of Guru.

But generally our sukṛti guides us from underground. So śraddhā is the real merit who can take us to proper Guru and that śraddhā is the outcome of our past acquired sukṛti. And that sukṛti comes unconsciously from the agents of Kṛṣṇa. In this way the real progress of a jīva has been traced, ultimately. But śraddhā may be of different kinds, tamasic, rajasic, sattvic, and nirguṇa. And according to śraddhā one comes to such Guru.

Just as in the world also some go to a doctor to learn treatment and medicine, some go to the lawyer group to become a pleader to earn money.

So variety is also there in the spiritual conception. But there is possibility of comparative study, and the Śiva bhakta, Śakta bhakta, Nārāyaṇa bhakta, Kṛṣṇa bhakta. There is differentiation, and ultimately sukṛti – but our unconscious help from the agents of Kṛṣṇa that guides us really to Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead.

And sometimes taken to some department again when the sukṛti comes trying to assert then we get sort, the Mohammedism, Christianity, the Śaktaism, the Śaivaism, and we come to Kṛṣṇa consciousness. That is also possible.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, [mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

[“Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

Dharma means conception of religious duty, dharma, pure duty, sacred duty, dharma. But Kṛṣṇa consciousness says that is so superior demand that has got, given us, that all conceptions of holy duties should be given up for His service. So gradation is always there. And how Kṛṣṇa consciousness holds the supreme position of pure attainment: that is to be understood by the help of scriptures as well as from the sādhus of that layer, śravaṇa kīrtana, sādhu śāstra.

‘sādhu saṅga,’ ‘sādhu saṅga,’ - sarva śāstre kaya [lava-mātra sādhu-saṅge sarva-siddhi haya]

[“The verdict of all revealed scriptures is that by even a moment’s association with a pure devotee, one can attain all success.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.54]

The most importance has been given in the company of the sādhus for our higher realisation. So many conceptions of religious views we find, but what is the speciality of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that we are to understand by our knowledge, by our practice, by the experience of the companions, all these things.

Devotee: You mentioned Guru tyāga...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru tyāga, that is not really Guru tyāga but the misconceived Guru within us.

Devotee: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja and I, we heard that perhaps Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura later on he rejected Vipina. Is this true? Vipina Goswāmī his Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In fact not formally not only he did, and that is really he left him. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in his Hari-Nāma-cintāmaṇi book he has mentioned in what stage Guru tyāga can be effected. Guru tyāga, to ignore the proper guide, the leader, everything, life, that is very unfortunate thing. But still, if we have been misguided, when it comes to consciousness that I'm being misguided, one must leave, can't help. So Guru tyāga is also there, give up.

You had perhaps some sort of Guru, some Christian, some Mohammedan, Catholic, Protestant, and then one changes one department, comes to another. It is everywhere we find. When Mohammed came there was no Muslim. After perhaps there were Jews, they have also their Guru. So Jesu came before there were Jews. They left their Guru and came to join Jesus' party. Then Catholics, some they changed their view and go to the Protestants. So Guru tyāga is everywhere to be seen. When Mahāprabhu came so many leaving their other folds came to join Mahāprabhu's party to take initiation: so it is not an impossible thing. We've also seen in our life, in history also that the Guru tyāga and that is also a great thing in many places.

But it must be considerate. It must be helpful. We must be very cautious to leave one and to have a new. But progress means elimination. And also at the same time the step, the foundation where we are standing, and before leaving that foundation we must be sure that where I'm going to take my post that is higher. Then only can I move my – I must leave the present ground and occupy the second. [?]

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, I live in Los Angeles, for at least a couple of more months I'll live there before I move to where Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is. But there I have some friends who are disciples of Rāmeśvara. They live near me, they live in the same building.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then consult with Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Prabhu and do whatever necessary. Consult with Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Prabhu and do the needful.

Devotee: Yes, but the question is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't like to disturb the ISKCON. If anyone is quite dissatisfied with the present administration of ISKCON and leaves their association, then I want to help them. But as long as one is under ISKCON I don't like to disturb them. Some benefit they may have there. But if they cannot, they're out of ISKCON; then those I like to help, if necessary, if possible. And I told, a relief work, I want to do some relief work. That those who are not healthy, unsatisfied with ISKCON, try to help them. I've asked Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Prabhu in this way. Don't go to interfere with the ISKCON administration, but if you find that one is going away, depressed and dejected, disappointed, and leaving the fold of Swāmī Mahārāja and Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa consciousness, try to help them. Don't go to any direct hit with ISKCON.

Devotee: I'm very much aloof, I don't.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja has created such a big thing, and I don't like to disturb them. But those that are going away from ISKCON disappointed; try to, if possible, to take them within the fold of Mahāprabhu, and Swāmī Mahārāja.

What I say, Swāmī Mahārāja and myself and so many others got from our Guru Mahārāja and Mahāprabhu, so it is very akin, nearer things. So those who have been disappointed with the ISKCON management of the present time, try to help them, they may not go away cutting all connections with Mahāprabhu. So no competition but relief work. That was my instruction to him, and everyone.

In my old age I have no such ambition that I shall go to construct a separate mission. No, only just to help these diseased persons, disappointed persons, that much, not entering into any competitive work. In my young age when I was required to do so I did not. And your Swāmī Mahārāja also repeatedly requested me, "Please look after them."

And Guru Mahārāja also ordered me to go to the west for preaching. "You have got some quality."

And because you all come – I do not go but you all come to me, and I, though unfit in this old age in many ways, still I try my little if any good may be effected. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: I have heard that if the living entity is born within the realm of Vṛndāvana Dhāma on the mundane plane it is his last birth in the material world, and after that he goes into Kṛṣṇa līlā. Is this the same for Navadvīpa Dhāma?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The Navadvīpa Dhāma is more favourable to the devotees, more favourable. That is, it is more benevolent, mahā-vadanyāya. The men committing offences, they've also got some better chance in Navadvīpa Dhāma than in Vṛndāvana. For the fallen souls Navadvīpa Dhāma is more magnanimous and gracious. That is, Mahāprabhu, Nityānanda Prabhu, They're most liberal to the offenders.

Devotee: So this is their last birth, they take birth now...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not in the physical sense, in the spiritual sense.

Devotee: We see so many things that are not Kṛṣṇa conscious going on, here, some fish eating, smoking cigarettes here, and worship of Kali, so many. How are we to see? How am I to see that? How should I see these people that are doing like that, but they're within Navadvīpa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as Kali-kāla, the iron age, most unfavourable, so Mahāprabhu and Hari Nāma comes, the most needy time and most needy place also. The Kṛṣṇa Nāma, Mahāprabhu, They come at the most needy, both in...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, it's difficult for me to conceive how such a person, you know, should be dealt with. I mean, how should I see him? He takes birth in Navadvīpa Dhāma yet he doesn't worship Mahāprabhu, externally...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu instructs to Jagadānanda Paṇḍita: "You go to Vṛndāvana, show your respect from a distance, but don't mix with them closely."

So general respect we must have for this Dhāma, but not particular attention to the present inhabitants, not coming in close connection with them, but a distant respect. That should be our policy. Though outwardly we do not feel anything favourable in them, but still, the furthest connection of this Dhāma will bring some distant future goodness for them, which at present we can't feel and we can't get benefited by that. So from a distance we show some revered attitude but don't go closely to have their influence. Mahāprabhu asked Jagadānanda Paṇḍita when he stayed in Vṛndāvana. vṛndāvana jayje nara lekhi atara [?]

[śīghra āsiha, tāhāṇ nā rahiha cira-kāla, govardhane nā caḍiha dekhite ‘gopāla’]

[“You should remain in Vṛndāvana for only a short time and then return here as soon as possible. Also, do not climb Govardhana Hill to see the Gopāla Deity.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 13. 39]

“Don’t stay there for a long time, govardhane nā caḍiha dekhite ‘gopāla.’ To have a look of that Giridhari, don’t try to climb up on the hill. And about the vraja-vāsī, from far off you will show respect to them but don’t come in closer connection with them.”

And Kavirāja Gosvāmī has written:

paścimera loka saba mūḍha anācāra, tāhāṇ pracārila donhe bhakti-sadācāra

[“The people in general on the western side of India were neither intelligent nor well behaved, but by the influence of Śrīla Rūpa Gosvāmī and Sanātana Gosvāmī they were trained in devotional service and good behaviour.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 10.89]

Sanātana Gosvāmī and Rūpa, they preached there the good conduct, bhakti-sadācāra, the devotee-like practices they preached there. Because they’re all mūḍha anācāra, they’re foolish and their practices were not very pure in Vṛndāvana. We find in Caitanya-caritāmṛta - paścimera loka saba mūḍha anācāra tāhāṅ pracāрила donhe bhakti-sadācāra. So, on the whole we come that they have got fortune so they have come in connection with that Dhāma, but at present that is not properly developed, so we cannot get any benefit by their association. But Your connection with Vraja Dhāma they have got, very meagre. In this way we should tread with them. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Bhaktisiddhānta, one book I've been reading on Bhaktisiddhānta, he talks about sumati, sumati.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sumati?

Devotee: Yes, a good disposition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That sumati, su means good, but good to its extremist sense must come in Kṛṣṇa devotion, Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

'dvaite bhadṛābhadrā-jñāna, saba-'manodharma' ['ei bhāla, ei manda',-ei saba 'bhrama']

["In the material world, conceptions of good and bad are all mental concoctions. Therefore, saying, 'This is good, this is bad,' is a mistake."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.176]

The calculation of good, bad, in this misconceived area, the wholesale is false. But good and bad in the real plane of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, both is good. The opposition party and the real party, both have got some good position, efficacy. In a good governed land the opposition party has got also some value. And the evil government, when in the land there is evil government is standing, so both parties are bad. So what is good and bad, the intrinsic value we must try to observe, what is the criterion of good and bad. And the exploitation and renunciation, both are bad. And service is good. And service is of two kinds, one calculative and another surrendered. Surrendered service is the highest type of service, and that is found in Vṛndāvana, Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Slavery to the extreme, and gain also to the extreme. Service means to accept slavery. He's so good that if we can have the connection of slavery to Him we will be saved, so good.

As much degree of slavery we will be able to accept, we may attain such height of goodness. It is quite reasonable. Otherwise we won't have any entrance into that holy land, the holiest land. Holiest land, we can have admission only if we offer our service to the extreme point of slavery, then we can be admitted, entered into that area, land. And unconditional, slavery of course is unconditional. That must be very heartfelt. Then we may be accepted to that holy domain. But slavery in that domain, that is far, far better, than the mastery of this land of exploitation, that of reaction. Reaction is very, very bad. And in the middle, the land of renunciation, that is neither good nor bad, nothing, zero. That is zero, freezing point.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, you mentioned that Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta when he put on the brāhmaṇa's thread that previously Jīva Goswāmī had written that one would have to take birth in the family of a brāhmaṇa to become a brāhmaṇa, but that some later mahājana would change the rule. Is this...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Jīva Goswāmī has written that ordinary sādhus, the yogīs, the brāhmaṇas, Śāṅkara, all these schools, they say that, "By the dint of our knowledge, the yoga and the devotion, we can destroy all the actions. But except, save and except, those actions that are being attached to this body to suffer, except this.” But the devotee school say, “No. The impurity for which this present attachment of the race, or anything, that also can be done away with by the influence of Kṛṣṇa Nāma.” Prārabdha, prārabdha-karma, that those karma that is already attached to be suffered or enjoyed in this body, that is prārabdha-karma. The other schools they think that without prārabdha that this body’s attached karma all other karmas may be finished. But the bhakta school says that by taking Hari Nāma, it is not possible by yoga and jñāna and other things, but by Kṛṣṇa Nāma one can get rid of all sorts of impurities, even in this birth, in this body. This body is the outcome of previous good and bad actions, but this also is purified, the prārabdha-karma.

Now, the question is if the prārabdha-karma is purified then one comes to the highest birth of a brāhmaṇa. Jīva Goswāmī says that he attains the position of a brāhmaṇa body. But, a brāhmaṇa body, brāhmaṇa boy, until and unless he’s given the sacred thread and mantram he’s not considered to be eligible to do the work of a brāhmaṇa. Brāhmaṇa boy only when he’s conferred with upavit [?] saṁskāra, then also he’s eligible to worship Nārāyaṇa and do all other sacrifices what only the brāhmaṇas can do. So by taking the Name one is purified and becomes, attains the stage of a brāhmaṇa boy.

And Jīva Goswāmī says because we do not find any custom to give them sacred thread, so they must wait for the next birth. But Jīva Goswāmī admits that anyhow, whatever caste he may be, if he takes the Name of Kṛṣṇa then he discards the defects of his, of any other lower birth, and attains the position of a brāhmaṇa birth. It is admitted. It means he attains the position of a brāhmaṇa boy who has not been given any sacred thread. A brāhmaṇa boy until and unless he’s given the sacred thread he is not admitted for the services of Nārāyaṇa and any other yajñā. So, there is no custom introduced here to give them sacred thread, consequently they’re to wait for the next birth. That is the conclusion of Jīva Goswāmī.

But our Guru Mahārāja came with that, “When, no harm if they can be given sacred thread. The custom will be introduced. Custom may be introduced.” He says there is no such custom... but that may be introduced. Our Guru Mahārāja came to introduce that thing what was not in vogue, because he said that the two things are being given indulgence by not introducing that usage. What? Why? Those that get the Vaiṣṇava initiation, they think that they’re lower than brāhmaṇa. So they must be encouraged that no longer they’re in lower position, they’re fit to do all these services. They should also be encouraged. For that purpose, and another thing, the so-called brāhmaṇas, they’re proud of their flesh consciousness, they come to think that this Vaiṣṇava dīkṣā, who has got Vaiṣṇava dīkṣā, they are lower than us. So they’re committing offence to the Vaiṣṇava. So the brāhmaṇas and the so-called other higher castes, they should not be given the chance of committing Vaiṣṇava aparādha. And at the same time, those that are taking the Vaiṣṇava mantra, they also should not think themselves lower, that they’re unfit to do the worship of the worthy body brāhmaṇa can do, they cannot do that. So for this two-fold help in the Vaiṣṇava society, this function, this usage, should be introduced. So Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura he boldly came forward to introduce this system for which Jīva Goswāmī told that because that is not the usage, though qualitatively it is all right, but because there is no custom so they have got no other alternative but to wait for their next birth. Do you follow? Am I clear?

Devotee: Yes. Jīva Goswāmī he wrote that someone would come, did he write that someone would come and introduce?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. If any mahājana, if a great personage he’ll come and introduce such custom, then it will be all right, no difficulty with rules of śāstra. The fact, it is all right. But none has introduced such custom so they have no other alternative but to wait. But if any mahājana comes and he begins such introduction, boldly, then it is all right from the standpoint of the fact, truth, it is all right. According to śāstra siddhānta it is not wrong, but only no custom, no usage, so again it is stopped. But if any mahājana comes and introduces such usage then it will be all right. And our Guru Mahārāja did that. He told, because two-fold disadvantages are found. The brāhmaṇas are committing offences against the Vaiṣṇavas, and the Vaiṣṇavas also think in their turn that they're very lower. They cannot attain, so the regular faith in the Name is also being disturbed in them. So it must be introduced.

brāhmaṇānāṁ sahasrebhyaḥ satra-yājī viśiṣyate satra-yāji-sahasrebhyaḥ
sarvva-vedānta-pāragāḥ sarvva-vedānta-vit-koṭi yā viṣṇubhakto viśiṣyate
vaiṣṇavānāṁ sahasrebhyaḥ ekāntyeko viśiṣyate

[“Among many thousands of brāhmaṇas, a yajñika brāhmaṇa is best. Among thousands of yajñika brāhmaṇas, one who fully knows Vedānta is best. Among millions of knowers of Vedānta, one who is a devotee of Viṣṇu is best. And among thousands of devotees of Viṣṇu, one who is an unalloyed Vaiṣṇava is best.”] [Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa, 10.117] + [Bhakti-Sandarbha, 117]

That he is a devotee of Viṣṇu he is superior to crores of ordinary vaidāntik brāhmaṇas. A practical brāhmaṇa is better than a birth brāhmaṇa, practical means one who commits, who performs yajña, etc., worships Kṛṣṇa. And those that worship with material things, one who can worship with the help of his consciousness, he will be preferred, given more preference, vedānta-vit. Then the vedānta-vit they think that their goal is non-differentiated consciousness, so if one can have the idea of differentiated consciousness, then he will hold the higher position than crores of such vaidāntik brāhmaṇas, those who are suffering from the disease that spirituality means non-differentiated Brahman. So Viṣṇu bhakta, who can see the Personality in consciousness, they will be far more superior. And viṣṇubhakto sahasrebhyaḥ ekāntyeko viśiṣyate, and amongst the devotees who regulates themselves according to śāstra and calculation, they're of lower order, in Vaikuṇṭha. And those that can have exclusively surrendered to the service of the Absolute Entity with the inner most love and faith, they're dependable, they're of the highest order.

.....

Devotee: When the disciple isn't in the physical presence of his Guru, is it the same for him, his physical presence?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What's the question?

Devotee: When the disciple is not in physical presence of a Guru, is it as, you know, as um spiritually benefiting, as being, you know, apart?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Any spiritual difference?

Devotee: Yes, any spiritual difference?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Being physically together and being many miles away, any difference in the spiritual condition or not? He's asking.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We can get benefit only through śraddhā. Guru's position should not be considered as mundane. He should not be identified with his mundane appearance. Only through śraddhā we are able to approach him, from far off also. But still of course by physical vicinity we can get the chance of hearing from him, and also many practical dealings that may help us about the knowledge of Vaiṣṇava sadācāra, what should be the conduct of a Vaiṣṇava. All these things we can have some sort of conception. But śraddhā must be there. Physical closeness or distance, in both cases śraddhā or faith, respectable faith, must be there. And in the lower stage that physical nearness has got some more efficacy. By his movements, by his talks, instructions, we are to learn the spiritual etiquette, and also many spiritual ideals also may be cleared, ideal thoughts. Physical vicinity will be useful in the lower case, lower stage, but śraddhā must be there, that is faith. Otherwise we may commit offences. Physical nearness if devoid of faith then that may be the cause of offences against Gurudeva.

Sometimes senior Godbrothers may be very useful in helping our dealings to Gurudeva, for the beginners. His conduct may not be very clear and helpful always, so in that case some senior Godbrothers may come to help us, to explain his movements and do away with the differences.

Īśvarāṇām vachāḥ satyaṁ, tathāivacharitaṁ kvachit teṣāṁ yat svavacho yuktaṁ buddhimāṁs tat samācharet [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.31]

The instructions of the great personages are always true, but their conduct, their practice may not be always useful to the beginners. Vachāḥ satyaṁ, tathāivacharitaṁ, acharitaṁ, not always may be useful, but their words are always useful, instructions, but not their practices always. So, fair understanding persons will accept those practices that are backed by his words, svavacho yuktaṁ buddhimāṁs tat samācharet, they will accept them also, because from his higher stage he may do something that will not be useful in my stage. [?] He has got such spiritual power that little defects may not harm him in any way in the practice, little defects in practice may not harm him. So Īśvarāṇām vachāḥ satyaṁ, their instructions should always be followed, but their conduct not always. Only those conducts, practices, that are in consonance with his instructions, they should be accepted by the fair-minded beginners. Teṣāṁ yat svavacho yuktaṁ. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Guru Mahārāja, I had one question about...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you follow what I say?

Devotees: Yes, I understand. Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Am I clear?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Very clear.

Devotee: We shouldn't try to imitate those who are very advanced.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not imitate but follow, not imitation but to pursue. Not anukaraṇa but anusaraṇa. Anusaraṇa and anukaraṇa, one is imitation and another to follow the footsteps. These things are different. What did you say?

Devotee: Well my question was that, is there a fixed number of living entities or does Kṛṣṇa always expand the number of living entities? Does He increase always?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Is there a fixed number? Jīvas, jīvātmā, is there a certain number fixed, or Kṛṣṇa can create more, expand the number? Generally we are told asankhya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, we think it as asankhya, innumerable.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Immeasurable.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There was a question that whether jīva is free? If Kṛṣṇa is omniscient then how jīva's action can be free? Do you follow? Kṛṣṇa is omniscient, God is omniscient, He knows everything, so the future of the jīva also. Then jīva is compelled to retrace that way then how he is free if it already fixed? Do you follow?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This naughty question. One Doctor of Philosophy put me this question in U.P. Allahabad. Ultimately he joined our Mission, that Kapoor jī in Vṛndāvana.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Oh yes, O.B.L. Kapoor.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Oudh Bihari Lal Kapoor. He put me this question. Then I put another question to him, God is free or not? He said, "Yes." And He's omniscient. How you can harmonise with the omniscience and free will of God? I put this question. If He's omniscient He knows his future and he must go by that fixed road, then how he can be free? So jīva's freedom, and he's also part of the freedom of the Lord, and his knowledge and understanding also a part of the Supreme. - But if it is innumerable then how God is omniscient? If He does not know what is the number of the jīva soul then how He can be...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: All knowing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...in a position of omniscience? He does not know, God does not know? So we are in the plane of limitation and counting. The laws and rules of the world of Infinite is something more. So He knows everything, He knows Himself. And also sometimes it is stated that He cannot finish Himself, both such characteristics going on. He knows Him, and also it is mentioned in Bhāgavatam that His potency is also not of less importance. Sometimes He Himself cannot measure the utility and capacity of His potency. That is also infinite. His every aspect is infinite.

So that is peculiar thing, peculiar thing that is not to be harmonised in our limited brain. The adhokṣaja, the ways and nature of the Infinite cannot be understood by our puppy brain, puppy brain. We must be conscious of the fact. And so, the Bhāgavatam has repeatedly requested us not to go to measure the Infinite. But submit to your own respective duty, you'll draw more benefit thereby. Don't go to measure the immeasurable. That is loss of energy. That is not possible for you. So if you get some insinuation from within that avoiding for inquiry into the Infinite, mind your duty what is attached to you, you'll be more benefited thereby. And this is not your department. That will be wild goose chasing. It is impossible for you to measure the Infinite, so why waste of energy.

Jñāne prayāsam udapāśya [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]. Be satisfied with the knowledge that you have come to Him, He's such and such, and one drop is sufficient to inundate you wholly. One drop of nectar is sufficient to inundate the whole Earth, of your, infinite of your conception. Why do you bother only for knowing, knowing, knowing? It is immeasurable. So your inquisitive tendency is not very wholesome. Try to utilise you in the service of Him. Wherever you are posted try to give you wholly there, dedicate you there in your located position, and then from there you will benefit yourself to the highest degree. Jñāne prayāsam udapāśya namanta eva jīvanti.

Jñāna sunya bhakti - eho bāhya āge kaha āra ["This is superficial; go further." Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59] Jñāna-misra, inquisitiveness, that is adulterated bhakti, devotion, not devotion proper. There inquisitive characteristic is predominating, that sort of service is adulterated service. "I shall do something, I can create something," this is karma-miśrā. “I can contribute something.” This egoistic feeling: that is karma-miśrā. And, “I should know everything,” too much curiosity to know everything, that is jñāna-miśrā.

Pure devotion, “Whatever given to me I am satisfied and I want to engage myself wholly in that point. Then that will be the best utility of my own self in the universe. Other tendencies are futile, not only futile, but it is injurious, it is losing my time, wasting my time.” This is pure bhakti. This is pure bhakti. Jñāna-sunya-bhakti, śraddhā proper, faith proper gives inspiration only to that.

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu [kadācana

mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo ‘stv akarmaṇi]

[“I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

Never allow yourself to go into the calculation. Engage yourself deeply and deeply. Mā phaleṣu kadācana mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo ‘stv akarmaṇi. When we enquire, we are surcharged with the spirit of enquiry, then that means some sort of doubt is there and attachment for the result, and the consequence. The underlying spirit under enquiry is that our attachment with the fruit, with the consequence of the work. Mā phaleṣu kadācana, whether I am doing, it will benefit some tasteful result to me or not. So that is anti slavery spirit. We must do our duty within the limit, within the limit.

And also we may be given the chance of leadership also, just as Guru, his function is always there, inspires you to do, to look after. Though that is also service, absolute service, one who has come to recommend and teach us what is absolute service, he's also in the service, in the proper service. But still, we have to do something on behalf of Kṛṣṇa, to look after the welfare of so many, and what line will suit which man, and also sometimes to punish them, sometimes to accept their services for himself: these things done but only inspired by Kṛṣṇa. They say this is abnormal, and in their normal position the Guru is also a servant, he's also serving Kṛṣṇa by showing leadership to so many. He's more conscious with his connection with the upper world when serving.

“Because Kṛṣṇa wants me to punish this man for this purpose I do. Not for punishment, nor for showing my superiority to him that I am punishing him, but Kṛṣṇa wants me to, I can't help. For His service I am to show that I am greater than him, I am controlling him, I am doing so many practices, that is to show my, that I am his master.”

This is, all these things are the effect of the serving spirit to Kṛṣṇa. So in every work he's fully established in service. And service requires that he should be, he should guide, he should master over many; only for the service it may be necessary. Otherwise service, the duty, if He wants me to read a book, a scripture, then it is devotion. But, if to satisfy my curiosity I read the same book, that Bhāgavatam, that won't be bhakti, won't be devotion. I hear the lecture of Guru, Vaiṣṇava, with the object that I should get some benefit and I utilise it for some purpose to satisfy me, that won't be devotion, ādau arpyeta paścād kriyeta.

[“Devotional services must be first offered to the Lord, then performed; not performed and offered afterwards.”] [Śrīla Śrīdhara Swāmī]

I am hearing, I am listening to the words, the instructions of sādhu, Guru, for what purpose? Who will be the beneficiary? Kṛṣṇa. That sort of crude conception must be there. I'm not entity at all. The entity is He. I'm subservient. Whatever I shall earn it goes to Him. That sort of basic idea there should be in the devotional work, good or bad. Good or bad, whatever I acquire that will go to my Master. I'm not independent entity at all. I'm not the recipient. Slave.

Vikritasya yata paso [?] I'm just a domestic animal. The master he may do as he feels. He may sell me. The master may sell a domestic animal, the horse, or cow, and get the money and may utilise it in any way he likes. The domestic beast may not have any complaint there, nothing to say against the master. So think yourself in that plane, vikritasya [?] śaraṇāgati, surrender means of such quality surrender. Surrender of this type, that the owner of a domestic animal, a dog, a cow, a horse, I'm like that. He may utilise in any way He likes. That is the ideal of śaraṇāgati. We should conceive ourselves to be so much subordinate, to the Absolute Will. As much as we can realise this, the necessity of such submission, we gain, we are gainer, in the negative side. Try to increase your helplessness, the negative side. Then you'll be nearer, nearer to the positive. The more the negative the more you can draw the positive. Bhakti, devotion proper is of such type, surrender, dainya. I'm nowhere. I'm helpless to the extreme. And that will draw the sympathy of your Guardian, your Master, so much.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī

Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. So faith, or śraddhā, that is the first thing necessary, and then the nearness, physical nearness. And when we are far, then also through letters also we can have his connection, but connection in a proper line, proper plane, that is the vital point. The proper plane, and plane is independent of energising in the gross and subtle way that is enquiry. Inquisitiveness and energising, that will go to the Guru, and jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam...

[tasmād gurum prapadyeta, jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam

śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, brahmaṇy upaśamāśrayam]

["Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide spiritual master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide Guru is that he has realised the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of those conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide spiritual masters."

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.21]

...and enquiry after one's own welfare: that is part and parcel of the quest. Quest means in Vedānta, brahma-jijñāsa, in the plane of knowing, knowledge; understanding.

But when it came to Mahāprabhu in the line of Bhāgavatam, plane of Bhāgavatam, from Vedānta, Veda is compared with a tree, Vedānta with the flower, and the Bhāgavata the ripe fruit. What is somewhat mixed with activity, that is in Veda, yajña, etc. In the flower it becomes only conscious enquiry, “Who am I? Where am I? What am I?” Then in the fruit, the utility, that is kṛṣṇānusandhāna. That is also, outwardly, somewhat of enquiry characteristic, but kṛṣṇānusandhāna, not brahma-jijñāsa. The enquiry about the Infinite, where I am, where I am a part only, that is in Vedānta, the enquiry about the infinite environment. And in Bhāgavatam, kṛṣṇānusandhāna, “Who is my master? Who is my guide? For whom I am?”

Reality is for Itself. In Bhāgavatam, in the plane of Bhāgavatam, the energy and the knowledge comes to seek after his guardian for whom he’s existing, Kṛṣṇa, kṛṣṇānusandhāna. Brahma-jijñāsa in Vedānta has developed into a form of kṛṣṇānusandhāna, madly to enquire “Who is my master? With whom I may have my fulfilment of life? Who can engage them, engage myself to the fullest extent? Where is that master of my heart, the Lord of my heart?” That is in the plane of Bhāgavatam, the ripe fruit of the Veda tree.

And Mahāprabhu came with that, kṛṣṇānusandhāna, madly after enquiry, “Where is My master? Where is My Lord? I can’t retain Myself without My Lord.”

That has been, inactive in the world of activity, energising also we are seeking some rasa, some satisfaction, meagre satisfaction, so I undertake this work, that work, but common thing is satisfaction. In Vedānta that comes to a graphic, most wide form, “Who am I in the world? Where am I?” - in Vedānta, and that is the flower stage.

And in the fruit stage the same thing comes, “Where is my Lord? I belong to whom? Who will give the fulfilment of my life? Where is my guardian?” Kṛṣṇānusandhāna. “I am for Him. I am not for me, and not for the whole infinite I survey. And the Lord of my heart, the fulfilment of my heart, who can satisfy all thirst within me, where is that master?”

That is in Bhāgavatam stage. Mahāprabhu came with that. “Here your real enquiry is for this only, otherwise your enquiry won’t stop. Enquiry must come to this stage and have proper guidance and gradually you'll be taken to Him, you master. You are seeking for whom, that rasa, that happiness, the pleasure, that is your master, that is your guardian, not your servant. That is not your servant that will come and satisfy you as though you are his master. Really, that is your everything, your master, your Lord, for which you are moving this way, that way, in the universe, enquiry, whatever you are doing. The centre, the centre is with you, that is making you active. You're searching something that is fulfilment. And fulfilment in the highest stage means this, He's Kṛṣṇa."

And real search begins only when you come across with sad-guru, a Kṛṣṇa bhakta. Then proper enquiry begins there, scientific enquiry begins there. And with this idea we must, praṇipāt, paripraśna, then sevā.

[tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisance, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

You must be conscious that you are to be utilised by Him, whom you are searching after, sevā. Then you can only be lead in that way, the sevā. And the very beginning meagre stage it is śraddhā, faith. Faith can lead you to that great plane, the noble plane, faith. All other properties which you think are under your control, they'll fail, the inquisitive tendency, or your energising ability, they will all fail to reach that plane.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Generally, when we are far away from the living source, the scriptures may help us, and the letters also may help us. And subordinate sādhus in the same line, they may help us. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

[śrīmad-bhāgavatārthānām āsvādo rasikaiḥ saha] sajātī-yāśye snigdhe sādhau saṅgaḥ svato vare

["One should taste the meaning of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam in the association of pure devotees, and one should associate with the devotees who are more advanced than oneself and endowed with a similar type of affection for the Lord. Those that are in our line, who have the same high spiritual aspirations as we do, and who hold a superior position, to associate with such saintly persons will help us the most to progress towards the ultimate goal."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.2.91] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.131]

May not be of anti-line, for the beginners, one who cannot detect what is ānukūlya, what is satikūlya. Who are in some considerable safe position, he can meet the anti-party and he can fight with them, discard them. But for the beginners they should try to avoid their best those imitationists, or misguide them, misguidance. Sajātī-yāśye, of similar nature, similar mentality, of similar aim, and superior to me: a man of the same destination but he's well-versed about the aim. Sajātī-yāśye snigdhe sādhau saṅgaḥ svato vare. Svato vare, superior to me but in the same line, of same goal. This sort of sādhu we should try always to meet, that is, to serve, to be influenced by them, to attend them. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

You are to leave today?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, what more questions, if any?

Devotee: No. I don't have any questions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right.

Devotee: Completely satisfied with anything I could ask.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Let Kṛṣṇa fulfil your hankering, and bless you. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. You keep connection with Akṣayānanda Mahārāja here and there also Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. You'll go direct to Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Prabhu, Mahārāja?

Devotee: No, not for...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Through Purī and Vṛndāvana?

Devotee: No, no.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No?

Devotee: I'm going to Calcutta, then I'm going to America, Los Angeles.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Los Angeles.

Devotee: Then after, I think I must, after I buy a car I'm going to try to move up five hundred miles north to where Dhīra Kṛṣṇa lives. So then I will try to help with the publication of your books.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With that Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So, who has said to me, I can't remember, mentioned in letter, that this Prapanna-jīvanāmṛta, that will supply the foundation and make it sweeter, what Swāmī Mahārāja has given already.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Will supply the foundation and?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That more deeper, it will create, it will be, it will prove to be the foundation of what Swāmī Mahārāja has said, more deeper, and also sweetened what he has given. We have told this already, he mentioned, some letter perhaps, "What we find in Prapanna-jīvanāmṛta, it is more wide and more sweet in character.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That was also my feeling.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your feeling?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prapanna-jīvanāmṛta. Because, there is also, just as a tree has got so many roots, so different type of sādhus, and their appreciation and their inner feeling has been collected there, like so many roots of a tree. And different lines of cultivation from different places has been supplied, and their great affinity capturing those.

When I was forced to leave the Mission of my Guru Mahārāja I came here quite helpless. I had to find, seek for some shelter. And I went through the books known to me that I got from my Guru Mahārāja, those references, and tried to dive deep in there and to collect. The basis of devotional life is śaraṇāgati and wherever I can find the traces recommending relatively śaraṇāgati I tried my best to collect them and to put together. The nectar, the nectar in life of one who has taken, who has surrendered himself to the feet of the Divine Lord, the basis, this is like that.

And I found there, in one place it is mentioned, “Śaraṇāgati, the surrender in itself is sufficient to produce all sorts of development in bhakti. Nothing else is necessary.” It is also mentioned in some place. “You only try to stick to śaraṇāgati, try your best to stick to śaraṇāgati, everything will come automatically to you from the other side. Your business will be always to adhere to the most intense degree possible to śaraṇāgati, nothing else necessary, then everything will come, will be supplied from up, upper world, from the Lord. Śaraṇāgati in itself is perfect. No other devotional practice, service is necessary, only śaraṇāgati is enough. Surrender, surrender, and without śaraṇāgati no bhakti can stand, no devotion can stand. Śaraṇāgati, the greatness, the nobility, the substantiality of śaraṇāgati has been sung, praised, appreciated in such a way, śaraṇāgati. That is surrender. Surrender is the very basis, surrendering temperament.”

“I am for You. You may utilise or You may neglect me. But I am Yours. You may accept or You may reject but You are my master. You are independent to deal in any way You like. You can put me in the eternal hell or You can adore me and take me on Your lap. In this way, every right You have got over me.”

With such heart we must approach towards our Lord. It is noble. It is divine. The Divinity in its highest degree we can find there. In our self-effacement not only, but in self-surrendering, real self-effacement we are to find out. In self-surrender, there is the self-effacement that is positive, to the positive, negative. Negative cannot exist without positive, and positive also so.

Predominating, according to our Guru Mahārāja, Predominating Moiety and Predominated Moiety, two Moieties, two halves of one whole. Predominating and Predominated, both have got importance in Their existence, equal. One cannot stand without the other. And the fullest expression is Rādhā-Govinda, full-fledged, infinite, so our mantra, Guru paramparā, all leading to that, this rūpānuga-sampradāya, the mantram, we find, all leading towards that. And at the side, we are to cross this vātsalya-rasam, sākhyā-rasam, dāsyā-rasam, but directly towards mādihura- rasam, the Guru paramparā and the mantram, mantra-paramparā. It is in full, full rasa is there, all others partial, and subordinate, and subservient, supplemental. But the main rasa is mādihura-rasa, and there, service is supplemental, subservient to mādihura-rasa. They're also necessary, mādihura-rasa does not stand alone, without its paraphernalia. Just as friends, then parents, such rasa must be around this rasa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. And very fortunately they can have a life in such a rasa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He says there in a poetry, rādhārāṇī khusī habe. [kṛṣṇa tava puṇya habe bhāi e-puṇya koribe jabe rādhārāṇī khusī habe dhruva ati boli tomā tāi]

sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu nityam / dāsyāya te mama raso

[Vilāpa-kusamāñjali, 16]

Dāsa Goswāmī says: “My respect to the friendly relation with Kṛṣṇa, but let my taste, real taste, be towards the service. I should give preference to the service, to the duty of a servant, and let me learn to respect, to give respect to the higher form of services. That should be the quest, the tendency of a real devotee. Kṛṣṇa will take up, but he will go to take down, go down, to the lowest form of services. The tendency of the serving, “That I am not so qualified as to render higher service to You Kṛṣṇa, confidential service. I rather may be utilised in the lowest strata of service.” That will be, but Kṛṣṇa will take him up, take him or her up. The promotion will come from His side and the devotee will be reluctant to be utilised in the higher form of service. That will be sincere to that, “No, no. I’m not qualified to render such confidential service. I shall go to serve You in the lower order. That will suffice. I am not worthy of serving You in the higher stage.” That is the tendency of the real devotee, should be.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: More than enough for us. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And [?] when I reached there, Bhāvānanda drove the car, myself, Govinda Mahārāja, perhaps Nimāi, and it was somewhat late. And he was just going to take bath, so one napkin here, one napkin on the upper portion. And when he heard that I had suddenly reached there, he left, in that very position he came to receive me in the car, half naked.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Half naked, one napkin on the waist, another napkin on the upper, two napkins, he came to receive me, so affectionate for me, and so intimate with me he was. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi.

I can't forget, one lady, half mad she came from England to here. She told she lived in India with her father who was a high officer in the police department in British India. And she heard anyhow that Swāmī Mahārāja is in England, and got some dream, and went to meet him, very earnest, eager heart, but heard that Swāmī Mahārāja has left for India. And then, anyhow she managed to come to India, but little late. And here when she reached she heard that Swāmī Mahārāja has left the world. She came to Māyāpur, and here also.

“I got some dream that Swāmī Mahārāja has come to deliver the world and I’m so earnestly coming to meet him to be saved. A saviour he has come. But I missed him.”

And in the dress of a widow, no ornaments, no oil or anything in the hair, and half mad she came. A middle aged perhaps thirty or so, or forty maybe her age. She stood there, a blank look. “I’m frustrated with my life.” With some others also from Māyāpur, other ladies.

At that time many European ladies also lived here. I don’t know whether any European ladies still here, in Śrī Caitanya Candrodāya Maṭha. One Iranian lady she used to serve Swāmī Mahārāja’s sister, Bhāvinī Didi, Pishima, aunt. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

I heard about one of the ladies that she used to serve Tulasī and somehow or other when the coolies were working there and some injury to that Tulasī plant was done and she left her food and fasting. But after two days fast she was requested to break her fast. Then that man was found out. He came and apologised. He was forgiven. And then some bhoga pūjā was arranged for the Tulasī Devī and prasāda was distributed and then he could have prasāda after two days complete fast.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

“It is possible for us to live in a family with God, this attracted me,” one lady told here in her lecture, “That this attracted most, that we can live with God as a family person. Serve confidentially, Him, it is possible. Nothing can be more greater achievement than that for us fallen souls, that high ideal. That has captivated, captured.”

Then I told: gehaṁ juṣāṁ api manasy udiyāt sadā naḥ [verse beginning āhuś ca te] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.82.49] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.136]

“We are not going to be satisfied by abstract meditation like the yogīs or jñānīs. Neither we want You like the instrumental agent to help Your own exploiting business like karmī. We want a concrete life of service in the vicinity of You, the Lord of the world and the Lord of my heart, the Master of my heart...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So near, so near, it is impossible for us even to dream of. But it is possible by the grace of Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs. What more we can expect for our prospect. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Mahāprabhu says, “Don’t bother yourself with the enquiry in knowledge.”

Or to become master as in the present scientific civilisation, that you want everything under your control, the whole must come under your control; you will be the biggest controller, that is karmī. But the jñānī he wants to know every corner, nook and corner, where it is, what it is. No necessity of that. No charm for that, but only heartfelt service there of the most loving Lord; that is what is our prayer. So Mahāprabhu has eliminated the karmī, the jñānī, and jñāna sunya bhakti, that is a peculiar thing, jñāna sunya bhakti, no enquiry, no doubt. To satisfy, to relieve the doubt, knowledge is necessary to relieve the doubt. But doubt is unreal to the straight service. That should be left outside.

Faith, faith should guide us, or protect us. Under the protection of the faith we shall live and move, optimistic. Faith is optimistic. Knowledge is suspicious. Knowledge is suspicious, apprehension. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Scepticism, background is scepticism, knowledge. Faith is natural.

Knowledge is indirect. Faith is direct. Knowledge, enquiry, is indirect, negative side, and not faith. Negative side of faith is knowledge: wants to verify the faith, verification of the faith. That we don't like. We want to be born and die in faith, in the area of faith. In faith, a gentleman never deceives anyone. He won't like to live in the plane of scepticism, doubts, and enquiring satisfaction, or this calculation. The normal tendency in faith, the normal tendency is not to deceive anyone. And that land we want to live in, where in dream also deception is impossible, can't enter into that area, deception, verification, knowing everything, all these things. Everything automatic: in that plane we want to live, jñāna sunya bhakti, śraddhā – śraddhā ratir bhaktir anukramiṣyati.

[sataṁ prasaṅgān mama vīrya-saṁvido, bhavanti hṛt-karṇa-rasāyanāḥ
kathāḥ taj-joṣaṇād āśv apavarga-vartmani, śraddhā ratir bhaktir

["One will rapidly progress on the path of liberation, and naturally will develop firm faith, attraction and devotion, when he cultivates the activity of engaging in discussions about My glorious pastimes in the association of pure devotees. Such activities are very nourishing to the ear and heart.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.25.25]

The real good lives in that quarter. He does not allow himself to be a victim of your doubt and enquiry and scepticism. He does not want. He does not like that he'll behold a position to you of your scepticism, “Whether I am, or whether I am not, You will be deceived, all these.” This poverty of heart! Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. So generous, in the deceiving plane: mahā-vadanyāya.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Acyutānanda wrote an article hearing from me and that was outed, published in Back to Godhead, and that was again further published in Back to Godhead, and again published in our Gauḍīya Darśana, the last, Govinda Mahārāja. [?]

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] That was very much appreciated in America I was told. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. [?] Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. [?]

...

Any question?

Devotee: Mahārāja, you said something yesterday about jñāna miśrā bhakti. So one devotee told me that Prahlāda Mahārāja he's a jñāna miśrā bhakta, but we thought from reading Bhāgavatam that he is pure devotee.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, he's śuddha-bhakta, Prahlāda. In Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta we find that in the course of the realization of śuddha bhakti, a devotee is visiting different places.

First, karma-miśrā bhakti in Allahabad, a brāhmaṇa, moneyed man, on the occasion of Kumbha Mela, arranged for services of the different types of sādhus, then yajña, and finally with saṅkīrtana he finished his function there. And the devotee began his life there, he saw, mainly karma-kāṇḍa, but sādhu sevā, and ultimately the finishing touch with Nāma-saṅkīrtana, approached that gentleman, "You are very fortunate you are doing such and such things, utilization of your money and your caste, engaged in such holy engagement. Very fortunate you are."

And then he told, "What I am doing? This is nothing. You just go to see the fortune of Indradymna Mahārāja. He's distributing the prasādam of Jagannātha in a great style. And how grand is the process worshipping of Nārāyaṇa there. Go and you appreciate."

He went there, and also found the king extensively engaged with all his resources for the worship of Nārāyaṇa there; Jagannātha, and approached him, "You are so fortunate in this world."

“What we can do brāhmaṇa? This is nothing. But if you just want to see how devotion should be practised, you go to Brahmā there.”

And he went to Brahmā, and there also this karma miśrā bhakti in its highest campaign he found, Indra and Brahmā, to Indra and then to Brahmā. So in śruti also in praise of Brahmā, “You are most fortunate.”

Brahmā guided him. And then perhaps it is the position of Nārada. Nārada approached Brahmā. Nārada was Brahmā’s son and also disciple. He told, “How great you are. How fortunate you are. You are entrusted by Nārāyaṇa Himself for the management of the whole of the brahmāṇḍa. And sometimes you are visiting Him for the guidance of the administration of the brahmāṇḍa. You are so fortunate. In śruti also we find some portion which is engaged in singing your glories.”

Then Brahmā felt a little disturbed. “What do you say Nārada? You are pumping me, my false pride. Did I not say to you that I am nothing? I am a small creature in the hand of Nārāyaṇa. Rather, I am engaged in external activity. I have no time that I can give to my devotional aspect or self in the interest of my devotional life. My Lord has rather deceived me, engaging me in such a busy matter. I am unfortunate. Rather you go to Mahādeva, Śiva, he does not care for anything of this world. He is aloof, indifferent, and he has got his aim toward Nārāyaṇa. His devotion is towards Rāmacandra, he’s very fond of Rāma Nāma. Parvatī Devī, she’s also helping him in discharging his devotional life, very happy.”

And then he went to Mahādeva. Nārada began to chant in praise of Śiva, that, “He’s the master of the world, and the Vedas also sing glories to him, so he holds the highest position, in this way.”

Then Śiva he was rather very excited, and a little angry, “What do you say Nārada? I am more indifference and knowledge, and penance, these holds my better portion. What little I have got for devotional service to Nārāyaṇa that is very negligible. Sometimes even I have got such apathetic spirit to Nārāyaṇa that I go to fight with Him, in favour of my favourite disciples. So I am disgusted with my position. Penance, power, siddhi, then indifference to the world, that is my fate.”

So up to this, this is jñāna miśrā bhakti. Brahmā is the ideal of karma miśrā, and Mahādeva is the type of jñāna miśrā bhakti. Some sort of affinity for an independent position. Not cent percent acceptance of the slavery of Nārāyaṇa, that is the service of Nārāyaṇa.

“If you really want to experience what is śuddha bhakti go to Prahlāda. There you will find śuddha-bhakti.”

In this way it has been directed to us to trace śuddha-bhakti beginning with Prahlāda, because Prahlāda does not want anything, na sa bhr̥tyaḥ sa vai vaṇik, he says.

[nānyathā te 'khila-guro, ghaṭeta karuṇātmanaḥ yas ta āśiṣa āśāste, na sa bhr̥tyaḥ sa vai vaṇik] [Prahāda Mahārāja states: “Otherwise, O my Lord, O supreme instructor of the entire world, You are so kind to Your devotee that You could not induce him to do something un-beneficial for him. On the other hand, one who desires some material benefit in exchange for devotional service cannot be Your pure devotee. Indeed, he is no better than a merchant who wants profit in exchange for service.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.10.4]

“Whoever is doing something for the satisfaction of Nārāyaṇa wants anything in return, he’s not a servant. He’s a merchant, giving and taking, giving something and to take some price for that.”

So, Prahlāda is a śuddha bhakti, and only through the devotee of Nārāyaṇa one can have śuddha bhakti. All these peculiar achievements in the devotional world we can find from Prahlāda Mahārāja, śuddha bhakta. But that is of śanta rasa: not actual service, but perfect adherence to Nārāyaṇa under all circumstances. Whatever be the unfavourable condition in the environment, but he’s standing to the faith that Nārāyaṇa is all in all, and He’s our master. So, Prahlāda, śanta rasa, and the catuḥsana also to be reckoned there, śanta rasa bhakti.

Then when Nārada went to Prahlāda, Prahlāda is Nārada’s disciple; still to test, Nārada was approaching, to give us the measurement of the standard in the devotional world. Nārada approaching Prahlāda, says that, “I have come to see you Prahlāda. Mahādeva also he appreciates your position. You are really the devotee of Nārāyaṇa, Kṛṣṇa. So you are very fortunate. I have come to see how you are.”

Prahlāda told, “Gurudeva, you are all in all. You have come to test me. What you say, I have got by your grace. I am born in a demon family, so the demoniac qualities have not left me exclusively. Don’t you know that in Naimiṣāranya I went to fight with Nārāyaṇa, Viṣṇu? I repent for that. But what to do? He has given me such position. I can’t have the privilege of direct service to Him; only mentally I think of Him, that He's everything. But I am devoid of rendering practical service to Him. That fortune I have not got. Hanumān, he's really a devotee. How fortunate he is; what grace he has, he gave to Rāmacandra. I envy his situation, but what to do? His dispensing must be absolute. That must be accepted by us. But Hanumān's position is really an enviable one. How attached to his master he is, and what magnitude of service he has done for his master."

Then from there, Nārada went to visit Hanumān in [?] When Nārada approached towards Hanumān's residence, taking [?] Rāma Rāma Rāma Rāma Rāma, Hanumān suddenly hearing the Name of his Master from some other quarter, he jumped towards that direction, and even in the sky, he embraced Nārada. "O! Who is helping me to hear the Rāma Nāma after so long a time? The song Rāma Nāma is enlivening me. I was dying without hearing Rāma Nāma."

And tears were running down from the eyes of both of them. And then Nārada came to Hanumān's quarters, and began to praise his fortune. "How fortunate you are Hanumān. You serve Rāmacandra so much intimately and you do not know anything but your master Rāmacandra. How great service you render to Rāmacandra. That has become an ideal for the whole of the world, in this way."

Hanumān he told, "Yes, Rāmacandra, by His grace, I was able to do something, but it is all His grace. I am nothing. No worth. But now that Rāmacandra has come as Kṛṣṇa. But I can't like any other incarnation but Rāmacandra. But I hear from a distance that how Kṛṣṇa, who is Rāmacandra Himself, He is showing His favour to the Pāṇḍavas. Pāṇḍavas are very fortunate. Like an intimate friend He's dealing with the Pāṇḍavas. So, I have great appreciation for the fortune of the Pāṇḍavas." In this way, he began to praise the Pāṇḍavas' fortune.

Then Nārada, leaving him, went to the Pāṇḍavas, and there found Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja on the throne, and began to sing the glories of the devotees and the Pāṇḍavas; how they are friendly in their relationship with Kṛṣṇa; how fortunate they are.

Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja came out, “What do you say Devarṣi? Of course Kṛṣṇa favours us, we can’t deny that, but what is our position? We have no position at all. On the other hand, this I feel every now and then, that for us, by looking at the example of us, the Pāṇḍavas, the people won’t come to serve Kṛṣṇa, because they will calculate that being such intimate friends of Kṛṣṇa, the Pāṇḍavas, the whole of their life they had to pass through different troubles and dangers. So to become Kṛṣṇa bhakta means the whole life to suffer under trouble. So I am afraid that thinking of us, one will not venture to approach Kṛṣṇa, that, “Devotion to Kṛṣṇa means suffering like the Pāṇḍavas in the whole of their life.”

Devarṣi Nārada told, “No, no, we don’t look from that angle of vision. But what is danger or affliction to Pāṇḍava, what is the meaning of that? That is the messenger that Kṛṣṇa is coming. When there is danger with the Pāṇḍava is nothing but the messenger to say that Kṛṣṇa is coming to you. So your mother also told:

vipadaḥ santu tāḥ śaśvat, tatra tatra jagad-guro bhavato darśanam yat syād, apunar bhava-darśanam

[Queen Kuntī Devī prayed to Kṛṣṇa: “I wish that all those calamities (poisoning, arson, cannibalism, the vicious assembly, exile in the forest, the battle), would occur again and again so that we could have Your darśana again and again, for seeing You means that we will no longer see repeated births and deaths.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.8.25]

“That famous statement of Kuntī Devī, your mother, stands there. She says, Let those dangers come, may visit me always. I don’t care for that, because that brings Kṛṣṇa very closer towards us. So, we rather like the danger which brings Kṛṣṇa to our intimate and closer position.”

So, Pāṇḍava Yudhiṣṭhira says, “Yes, Kṛṣṇa visits us now and then, in the time of our dire need. But how the Yadus they are fortunate. Kṛṣṇa is always with them. How they do not care for any other power in the world. So, they are so proud of their Master Kṛṣṇa and how closely connected with them, very fortunate.”

Then, Nārada went to the Yadus and then began to chant many things in their praise.

They told, “What do you say, Devarṣi Nārada? He is with us of course, and at any time of great danger, He wants relief for us, but how much do we care for Him? We are living independently, careless about His existence. But among us, Uddhava, he is really His favourite. Whatever Kṛṣṇa does He consults with Uddhava, and whatever His very confidential things, Uddhava is present there; and in every case, He is very thick and thin with Uddhava. We envy his fortune, Uddhava.”

Then Nārada went to Uddhava, Uddhava hearing, “You are the most favourite of Kṛṣṇa; Kṛṣṇa says, ‘Even, what to speak of other devotees, even He holds you higher than His own life. You are in such higher position, so intimate, even more than His own life,’ He says.”

“Yes, of course, out of His causeless benevolence, He might have said like that. But I don’t think that I am His real devotee, especially after visiting Vṛndāvana, all my pride has been melted away by that sort of devotee. The serving spirit, the intensity of the love towards Kṛṣṇa I found in Vṛndāvana. Devarṣi I am nowhere. You know that statement. It is recorded in Bhāgavatam, where I disclosed my heart fully. What quality of love I found in the damsels of Vṛndāvana towards Kṛṣṇa, that I could not but aspire, that I want to be born in Vṛndāvana in the form of a shrub or a grass so that the feet dust of those divine damsels may easily touch my head. So, what do you say Devarṣi? If you would like to see real devotion, real love divine, you go to Vṛndāvana. Don’t put us in awkward position saying that we possess devotion to Kṛṣṇa. This is rather a mockery. That we are devotees of Kṛṣṇa, this is - to hear this, to say this - that is a mockery, a foundation-less utterance. A devotee proper of Lord Kṛṣṇa I found in Vṛndāvana.”

In this way, Sanātana Goswāmī tries his best to take us to the path; and the gradual development of devotion towards Kṛṣṇa.

So, what was your question? Prahlāda. Prahlāda has been accepted as the basis of śuddha bhakti, the beginning of śuddha bhakti, because there is śanta rasa. Above that there is dāsyā rasa. Above that there is dāsyā rasa, Hanumān, sākhyā rasa, Pāṇḍavas, and Uddhava, somewhat sākhyā connecting with vātsalya and mādhyā. In this way, the adherence, the devotion, our near adherence towards Kṛṣṇa runs in this way, to Vṛndāvana, and the acme is there. In Rāmānanda-saṁvāda also we find. Tebhyas tāḥ paśu-pāla-paṅkaja-dr̥śas-tābhyo ‘pi sā rādhikā.

[karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktim yayur jñāninas tebhyo jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ tebhyas tāḥ paśu-pāla-paṅkaja-dr̥śas tābhyo ‘pi sā rādhikā preṣṭhā tadvad iyaṁ tadīya-sarasī tām nāśrayet kaḥ kṛtī]

[“There are those in the world who regulate their tendency for exploitation in accordance with the scriptural rules and thereby seek gradual elevation to the spiritual domain. However, superior to them are those wise men who, having given up the tendency to lord over others, attempt to dive deep into the realm of consciousness. But far superior to them are the pure devotees who are free from any mundane ambitions and are liberated from knowledge, not by knowledge, having achieved divine love. They have gained entrance into the land of dedication and are engaged there spontaneously in the Lord’s loving service. Among all devotees, however, the gopīs are the highest, for they have forsaken everyone, including their families, and everything, including the strictures of the Vedas, and have taken complete shelter at the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, accepting Him as their only protection. But among all the gopīs, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī reigns supreme. For Kṛṣṇa left the company of millions of gopīs during the rasa dance to search for Her alone. She is so dear to Śrī Kṛṣṇa that the pond in which She bathes is His very favourite place. Who but a madman would not aspire to render service, under the shelter of superior devotees, in that most exalted of all holy places.”]

[Upadeśāmṛta, 10]

And Rādhārāṇī’s devotional service is categorically different from that of the gopīs. Then what type of serving spirit is to be found there, that is unaccountable, inconceivable.

Śrutibhir vimṛgyām [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61] The Vedas, the ṛṣis that saw the Veda mantram, that is eternal, they are not creators of mantram, of Veda, they’re only seers. They are feelers of the current, and they are noting. That is śruti, the knowledge which is contained in the śruti, in the Veda, that is not created by anything, that is eternal; and passing, they are onlookers, and they are recorders. Śrutibhir vimṛgyām. Those śruti, Veda that have come to reveal the fundamental truth underlying the whole creation, they are only inquisitive of something, they're inquiring about something. What is that thing they do not know. The highest revelation whatever, so long come down in the world, they are only seeking, searching for reality, but they have not come in connection with. Śrutibhir vimṛgyām.

That is Kṛṣṇa bhakti, Vraja bhakti. And Mahāprabhu came, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam came with the quality of that type of adherence to the truth. Unconditional surrender and adherence and searching and a serving attitude, seeking that fortune of serving the truth. Such a higher type of truth is existence, that if we can be a seeker after that we may consider ourselves to be the holders of the highest fortune, the possessors of the highest fortune. We can really post ourselves in the path leading to that truth.

And self-surrender, that is the very basis and the degree of surrender. Surrender, ātma- nivedanam, whatever beautiful and valuable thing we come across, we cannot but surrender ourselves to that. That is the criterion. If anything higher we come across within our vicinity, our appreciation means our surrendering to that. So according to the degree of surrender, we are to measure that what sort of quality of the truth we have come across. That can be traced, that can be measured only according to the degree of our surrender. That what sort of truth we have come in connection with? That can be measured only by the intensity of our surrender, how much we could surrender to what I have come in connection with.

Can't come back: and they know that no satisfaction one can feel that I have got. No trace of such satisfaction that I have achieved. Never! Degree and magnitude! The sweetness, the inner sweetness of the truth and its infinite characteristic is such, it can attract to the highest degree.

The yajña patnis, when the wives of the brāhmaṇas in the yajña some ladies are going to have darśana of Kṛṣṇa and one brāhmaṇa came and opposed this, stopped his wife. "No. I won't allow you to go to see Kṛṣṇa." He stopped her body but the life expired. The life expired, the dead body remained there, life ran, so much attraction she felt to have a darśana of Kṛṣṇa. Immediately lifeless body stood there and the life vanished.

Gaura Hari. Beauty, Reality the Beautiful, beauty absorbs us. Māyāvādīs, they say that the Brahman absorbs the individual soul so much that we cannot have any trace of that. But this is artificial conception of absorption. The real idea of absorption, the reality, the existence of the seer of the truth is not done away with. It is there but with life he's absorbed, so absorbed and such attraction that maintaining separate existence also always one full of Kṛṣṇa consciousness to the highest degree, maintaining; showing to the world. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That oneness of Māyāvādī, that is of course crossed in the beginning.

brahma-bhūtaḥ prasannātmā, na śocati na kāṅkṣati [samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām]

[“The spotlessly pure-hearted and self-satisfied soul who has attained to his conscious divine nature neither grieves nor craves for anything. Seeing all beings equally (in the conception of My supreme energy), he gradually achieves supreme devotion (prema-bhakti) unto Me.”]
[Bhagavad- gītā, 18.54]

There it is eliminated, ‘that I am one with Brahman.’ But here the attraction, union and separation, and different līlā pastimes, but still oneness cannot but think anything else. The līlā to maintain the stage and the process of līlā is – can be kept, can be maintained. No complete absorption and oneness and everything finished. Not that thing. Līlā is also eternal. His Name, His rūpa, His guṇa, His parikara, His līlā, all eternal, it is a dynamic thing not a static one. Union in separation also we are in union. In every stage the unity is there. But still because the līlā, the pastimes, the dynamic character requires this to be such. Otherwise, His self-giving, and devotees’ God-attainment would have been impossible.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Mostly the jīvās are struggling in the ocean of whimsical activities, energising. Svairācārābdhi-saṁmagnān, jīvān gaurāṅghri-paṅkaje uddhṛtya, taking them out of that ocean, put them in the lotus feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga. You collected them from the ocean wide, the troubled ocean, and put in the lotus feet of Gaurāṅga.

Svairācārābdhi-saṁmagnān, jīvān gaurāṅghri-paṅkaje, uddhṛtya śaraṇāpatter, māhātmyaṁ samabodhayat. And there placing them you began to instruct them about the great nobility of śaraṇāgati, the high value of śaraṇāgati. Samabodhayat, and tried to make them understand, to realise that what is the efficacy of śaraṇāgati proper. My Gurudeva did so, so I bow down to him first.

Then Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, in this way, I can't remember that.

[The forgotten verse begins with śrī-gaurānumataṁ svarūpa-viditaṁ rūpāgrajenādr̥taṁ] Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. śaraṇāgati. śaraṇāgati.

So, admission of śaraṇāgati, appreciation of śaraṇāgati, that means that we have come in the relativity of a great thing, a great substance, otherwise one can't find the necessity of śaraṇāgati at all. "Why śaraṇāgati? We want to make master over everything." Ha, ha. The science, the karmī, the exploitationist, they want everything under his control. But this is just the opposite, and opposite to the highest degree, that we have found such great, noble aspect of the nature that we want voluntarily to be offered to be the eternal servants of it. I am in relativity of such a magnanimous noble thing, śaraṇāgati.

Śaraṇāgati herself it is, she contains Kṛṣṇa within its boundary, within her boundary, Kṛṣṇa is. Cross śaraṇāgati and you will find Kṛṣṇa. Ha, ha.

Śaraṇāgati, the halo, the halo of Kṛṣṇa is śaraṇāgati. Through śaraṇāgati we can approach to Kṛṣṇa conception. Not enquiry, not barren enquiry, but sincere and substantial enquiry, and that requires śaraṇāgati.

Praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā. The praṇipāta, first you must give exclusive respect to Him otherwise you won't allow yourself to approach. If you want to approach Him at all, the first qualification is praṇipāta, you must surrender, that you are approaching a great thing, and great, great, great in the infinite, so praṇipāta, and then paripraśna somewhat, to certain extent.

And then service, to be utilised by Him, to be utilised by Him. That means to taste the juice, to serve means to taste the juice. By serving only we can connect, we can feel, we can have any experience through service. Just opposite to enjoyment and indifference. Enjoyment, indifference and service, and service as duty and service as love, loving service, service is generally of two kinds. Service in consideration from the standpoint of duty in the Vaikuṇṭha: that also fetches something. But service of love, actuated through love only, that is amply given, that gives us amply. And there is also gradation, śanta, dāsyā, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyura, gradation there. This is reality in this world. In the world of enjoyment also we find more intense enjoyment in the lady love, intense enjoyment, and this is the perverted reflection. So there also, that sort of, that type of divine divinity there in the service, so mādhyura-rasa, and there is also gradation.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Big things in the small tongue, in a mean tongue, noble things in a mean tongue, noble words in a mean tongue! Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Lotus things from lotus mouth.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaurāṅga Sundara. Gaurāṅga Sundara. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Humble. We may let things flow towards downward, the flow from high to down. The most down place can contain, ha, ha, may not allow anything to flow away from that place, the container. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: “My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya- līlā, 2.45]

“It is clear proof that I have no faith otherwise I could not have lived, I could not live in separation of that highest prospect.”

In this world also many men died of frustration, broken-hearted, a great loss cannot bear, dies broken-hearted.

So Mahāprabhu says, “That I am continuing My life, that is a proof positive that I have no attraction for Kṛṣṇa, otherwise I could not, I should not have lived, should not have lived.”

This is the standard, the direction, how highly valuable that Kṛṣṇa prema. Never go to pose and think that you are in possession of that. That can't come in anyone's possession. But it is a peculiar thing that the disciple he sees that, "It is in possession of my Gurudeva, or possession of Vaiṣṇava. I do not possess anything, but the Vaiṣṇava, it is in their possession I see, I can clearly see that it is in their possession."

But the Vaiṣṇava says, "No, no, it is not in my possession, it is my Guru's property. It is really the property of my Gurudeva. I am not fully aware whether it is with me. Of course when I say when he's a mediator, can't deny that something is passing through him. But I do not know it fully, I can't appreciate them fully. But it is passing anyhow through me."

Unknown and unknowable, a peculiar characteristic, adhokṣaja, the transaction of the adhokṣaja can't touch, but he's the agent, but he cannot, he's not beneficiary but he's the agent. None is beneficiary, everyone thinks they're mere agent. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That is so independent in characteristic, so independent, and valuable, the highest value. That cannot be subservient to the possessor, but still there is possessor.

And Kṛṣṇa Himself is to admit that, "Without My devotee I am nothing. I am nothing."

If we had all been animals then no worth of gold, ha, ha, ha. Gold has no worth amongst the beasts, the animals.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: Mahārāja, is Prahlāda Mahārāja still in this universe or has he left?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prahlāda Mahārāja?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Is he still living in this brahmāṇḍa, universe, or is he living somewhere else?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prahlāda Mahārāja. He can be conceived to live with Nṛsiṃhadeva in His zone in Vaikuṇṭha. In Vaikuṇṭha there are different zones also, and twenty-four of them have been mentioned, in different Purāṇas, and there is also a zone of Nṛsiṃha. He's there. Wherever there's Nṛsiṃhadeva there is Prahlāda, wherever, in Arcā-Mūrti also, in the Arcā, Prahlāda is inseparably connected with Nṛsiṃhadeva. His presence is not only in one place, in Vaikuṇṭha, and also in different places wherever there is Nṛsiṃhadeva. That is the ideal devotee of Nṛsiṃha, viśraya and āśraya. They're inseparably connected. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Kṛṣṇa is One, but there are so many Vighraha's everywhere there is Kṛṣṇa. And also we can say the separate Kṛṣṇa, there is some union in separation. Ha, ha. The Kṛṣṇa of that temple, Rādhārāṇī of that temple. She says that, "I have not got it." This is in Caitanya-caritāmṛta.

That Pratāparudra's queen, she wanted to give her, that mukta, to Sākṣi Gopāla, Sākṣi Gopāla - so she hesitated and came back. Then she got a dream. No. She thought that, "There is no hole on the nose so how can I put it into His nose?” So she came back, and got a dream.

“No, no. I have got a hole in My nose. In My childhood, My mother, to decorate Me with this nose ornament she created a hole. I have got that. You just give that ornament to Me what you wanted to give.”

Then she again went and found, “Yes, there is a hole,” and put the ornament.

Once, during my Gurudeva's time when this Bagh Bazaar Maṭh was installed, myself and Hayagrīva Brahmachārī, afterwards Mādhava Mahārāja, went to collect funds towards Dimondara [?] or some place. And there we approached a rich gentleman for collection, this utsava, “And for one days expenditure you please take it, bear it.”

Then he went to consult with his wife and came back and told, ha, ha, something else. “That my wife says that she wants to give a golden necklace to you. She saw that last night in a dream that a girl has come to her, ‘That I want to get a necklace, my necklace is stolen away, I want a necklace from you.’”

“And who are you?”

“I am Rādhārāṇī of Gauḍīya Maṭh Bagh Bazaar.”

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “She got such a dream, so she is ready to give that. You are coming from Gauḍīya Maṭh Bagh Bazaar? So she's willing to give to you a golden necklace for Rādhārāṇī, because the girl told that, ‘I am Rādhārāṇī of Gauḍīya Maṭh.’”

So Rādhārāṇī of Gauḍīya Maṭh, Rādhārāṇī of Chaitanya Maṭh, They're also different - One and different. That is the peculiar conception how we could put in our fleshy brain, limited brain. akigigraita ananta svarūpa [?] In the same Śrī Mūrti He has got His infinite phases.

“So I am Rādhārāṇī of Gauḍīya Maṭh Bagh Bazaar. I have come to - really, these ornaments were stolen perhaps a day or two before.”

Then I said yes, the ornament have been stolen we know, we know. Then your wife is very, very fortunate that Rādhārāṇī came to beg ornaments, especially necklace for Her, from your wife. She must be a devoted lady. Then she did so.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

[?] Mādhavendra Purī's Gopāla.

“The, My servant being afraid of the Muslim invaders, anyhow put Me in the bush here and he fled. And there a long time I am un-served and I am unfed. I'm waiting for Mādhavendra Purī. When he will come and take Me out and install Me and will begin My services? I am waiting for you Mādhavendra Purī long time.” Ha, ha, ha. “I'm very hungry, I'm very hungry.”

All these things, Gaura Haribol. What is not in the cause cannot be in the effect. But the cause is perfect but the effect this is perverted, this is vulnerable. And the real is such.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There was one devotee of Mahāprabhu, Raghunandana, in Śrīkhaṇḍa. Narahari Sarakara, Raghunandana, and another, Mukunda, Raghunandana's father, three devotees there. Raghunandana, he has been told to be incarnation of Pradyumna. Very beautiful and very devoted from boyhood.

And he, when Mukunda one day he went, he was a kaviṛāja, some call from a distance and he went to attend that, and asked Raghunandana, “You please make to eat, that is, serve the Deity.” Perhaps Gopāla or something, Raghunandana. “You are to offer, the offer made, then to Gopāla. And in the ordinary sense you are to make Him eat, my Deity.” This order he gave to his son, young son Raghunandana. Son means he’s of course more than fifteen to eighteen, something like that his age. He asked him, “You feed my Gopāla today. I am going. I can’t return.”

Then Raghunandana he, the (naividyam, the andam?) and the curry or what was given there, he appealed to Gopāla. “You take it, You take it.”

He says that He does not eat.

He began to cry, “What is this? My father will come and chastise me. You are not eating. How is this? You must have to eat.” And he began to cry. “My father ordered me that I must feed You, but You are not eating.” And began to cry such heartily that Gopāla had to eat.

Then the mother came to take out the bhoga phalla but there was nothing. “What is this? You have eaten the whole thing?”

“No, no, no. I have not eaten. The Deity has eaten.”

“No, no, you wicked son, what have you done? The Vighraha, the Arcā-Mūrti does He eat anything? Only looks over.”

“No. Father told me that, ‘you must feed Gopāla’ and in the beginning He did not come to feed, take, but I began to cry and He came and took everything.”

“What is this? No. We can’t believe it. You have eaten it.” He began to cry. Then the father came, “What the matter?” “This is so.”

“You boy, what do you say? It is impossible that the Deity will eat.”

“Yes my father, He did not eat in the beginning, but I began to cry, ‘my father requested me to feed You and You don’t eat. Then he’ll beat me.’ In this way, then He ate.”

Then his father told, “Can you show me? Can you show me my boy?”
“Yes, perhaps I can show.”

Then, when he was present he could not, but then it was arranged that he will be aloof and from afar he’s to look, and he could see that Raghunandana.

And when Raghunandana met with Mahāprabhu in Purī with his father, and uncle Narahari, Mahāprabhu is putting question to Mukunda. “You are Raghunandana’s father or Raghunandana is father to you?”
Mahāprabhu’s putting this question to Mukunda Sākha.

Then, Mukunda could understand the meaning. “Yes. Raghunandana is our father, because, yāñhā haite kṛṣṇa-bhakti sei guru haya.”

[Śuni' harṣe kahe prabhu - “kahile niścaya, yāñhā haite kṛṣṇa-bhakti sei guru haya”]

[Hearing Mukunda dāsa give this proper decision, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu confirmed it, saying, “Yes, it is correct. One who awakens devotion to Kṛṣṇa is certainly a spiritual master.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 15.117]

“He has got the external body from me, but we got our devotion from him, so he's our Guru, he's my father. He is my Guru, he is my father."

āmā sabāra kṛṣṇa-bhakti raghunandana haite, ataeva pitā - raghunandana āmāra niścite

["All of us have attained devotion to Kṛṣṇa due to Raghunandana.
Therefore in my mind he is my father."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 15.116]

"Yes, yāñhā haite kṛṣṇa-bhakti sei guru haya. Who is Guru? Who holds superior position? Whoever be in the question of flesh and blood in historical fact, but who gives Kṛṣṇa bhakti, he's Guru. You are all grateful to Raghunandana. To get your devotional family you are all indebted to him, that is Raghunandana."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So everything is possible, everything impossible. What is impossible to the fool that is possible to the educated, so many scientific researchers.

yā niśā sarva-bhūtānām, tasyām jāgarti saṁyamī [yasyām jāgrati
bhūtāni, sā niśā paśyato muneḥ]

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self-realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his uninterrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

What is true to an intelligent man, to an ordinary man that is nothing, that is ludicrous. So one who has got devotion he has got all the pastimes of līlā in him, it is real to him. But who has not got that sort of eye... anye buddha chat kulyad visaya dhuli te kamona sei para tattva baive leki te [?] The eye is covered with the exploiting and renunciation dust so cannot have. Their sight is not deep enough to pierce through the cover and to see substance within the cover.

sarvatya krsnera murti kari jal mal sei leki te pari akhini amore [?]

anyi bhuta cakru yal visaya dhuli te kamona sei para tattva baive leki te [?]

Covered with the dusts, so many, so many fleeting desires, kāma, kamana, vāsanā, vāsanā, so many, infinite number of desires, vāsanā. Like so many dusts covered our eyes. And then the renunciation cover, indifference, indifference, atheism. “Nothing better than me” If those covers of exploitation and of renunciation, then positive serving member I am in the universe it is good. Then the goodness, innate goodness of the environment will come out to his eye and heart.

“Yes, you are a gentleman and you are living in the society of a gentleman.”

And dacoits, you find yourself in the midst of the dacoits necessarily. Birds of the same feather flock together, flock together. You are born in your desired circle so you cannot but see if you look around, all exploitationist, all exploitationist. I deserved so and I have been thrust into such society, the all exploitationist. Exploitationists of different kinds.

Automatically we are being adjusted in that way according to our own desire we are pushed into a particular environment. And we find birds of the same feather flock together.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But you are so kind that non gentlemen also can come to you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, non gentlemen, gentlemen. Mahāprabhu came amongst the non gentle to make them gentle. And our Guru Mahārāja and others benevolently they came. And we non gentle came for that purpose and we are asked, “Try to help and see that all gentle and whatever non gentle you find try to cleanse it and then you will be able to become a gentleman.” Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So here we stop today.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Jaya om viṣṇu-pāda...

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu putting questions and Rāmānanda answering. In this posing the whole of the theological development was expressed there on the banks of the Godāvarī: very sacred place.

Devotee: So that's the meeting place of Lord Caitanya and Rāmānanda Rāya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Devotee: Opposite Raja Bihari?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And at that time Prabhupāda when he sent me there he converted my name into Rāmānanda Dāsa, and sent there. He gave me the name from Rāmendrasundar he converted to Rāmānanda Dāsa and sent me to discover the land, as well as to construct a temple, and to install footprints there. And I lived there for some time and purchased land also there in which the Maṭha is now established. The land was purchased by me, of course by collections.

Rāmānanda Rāya arcay godavari diti [?] Very sweet, sweet and grand, generous, sweetness and generosity mixed. Magnanimity and sweetness mixed. Only, that is the place where Mahāprabhu showed His real self, who is He. Who was He; that was shown to Rāmānanda Rāya only in that place, and never we find anywhere else. Rasa-rāja mahābhāva dui eka rūpa [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.282] Both Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa combined. The most secret ocean of the truth was shown there only once. And we never found that that was expressed, revealed in any other place. Rasa-rāja mahābhāva dui eka rūpa. Rāmānanda could not contain himself. He lost his senses. By visiting that combined Vighraha Rāmānanda fell unconscious.

Then Mahāprabhu touching his body again took him to consciousness. And then he saw that the sannyāsī is sitting on his front.

And then in a plea He left the place. That Mahāprabhu was Rādhā-Govinda Both combined.

That He Himself showed in that place.

The naked, positive and negative origin of the whole, how They are. The most prime cause is beauty, twofold, Predominating and Predominated. Predominated part of the beauty and Predominating part of the beauty; that is supposed to be the prime cause of the whole existence.

Mahāprabhu and Bhāgavatam says that. Not power, nor force, nothing of any other type, but beauty and love; that is the prime cause. That is a new grant to the world which was never given to the world, that the prime cause of the whole infinite is beauty and love. This is the speciality of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu.

So we need not be afraid. The apprehension is only superficial, māyā. But in the depths of our lives achievement no apprehension: all love and beauty. So our future is guaranteed in a most optimistic way. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja [?]

Devotee: I went to the town. I want to buy a picture of Kṛṣṇa, photograph. And there are many pictures of Kali which show that Kali is staying with her feet on a demon. She has killed some demon and she's standing with her feet on the chest of this demon. There is a story like this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh? What is that?

Devotee: There is a picture of Kali which shows that she is staying with her feet on the chest of a demon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kali is standing on the Śiva. Devotee: She's standing on Lord Śiva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lord Śiva.

Devotee: What is the story?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That means that generally the jīva soul is considered as śiva intrinsically. But those that are under bondage, there the māyā is standing over the jīva soul. Really jīva soul should be the master of Kali, the māyā śakti. But actually when jīva is captured by māyā then śakti is having the predominating part and the jīva is at her feet, at her disposal. It is shown like that. That śiva means jīva soul, falling, and she's māyā, the māyāic potency is standing on his chest. Then helplessly falling at the feet of the māyā potency the jīva, śiva, but in fact he should be, the jīva soul should be master of that force. But those that are in bondage their position is such, falling at the feet of the māyāic potency, illusory energy. They think that they're master here. When they have come to exploit their real position is at the feet of the illusory potency. That has been depicted there.

Devotee: So the jīva soul is compared to Śiva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fallen soul, jīva soul, soul in bondage, is compared as under the feet of the illusory energy. But she should not be so. Really his position is that he's master of that potency.

Devotee: So the picture does not mean that Kali is higher than Śiva because she's standing with her feet on the top of Śiva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. In the space of the fallen soul their position is such. But as śiva he must be lord of Kali.

Devotee: Yes, because the karmīs they misinterpret, they say Kali's higher because she's staying...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not interpretation but showing the fact, that this is really your position, you are śiva, but now under illusion you are her slave, you are being trampled down by the māyāic potency. You are being trampled by māyāic potency, but your real position is not so helpless, but you should be master of that potency. Pāśa-baddho bhaved jīvaḥ pāśa-muktaḥ sadāśivaḥ. When in bondage the position is such under the foot of the illusory potency. And when he's liberated he's over that potency.

Devotee: Yes. I understand now. The karmīs they say, they misinterpret, they say Kali is higher because she's standing on top of Śiva.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mama māyā duratyayā.

daivī hy eṣā guṇamayī, mama māyā duratyayā [mām eva ye

[“This “trimodal,” supernatural, (alluring) deluding energy of Mine is practically insurmountable. However, those who fully surrender exclusively unto Me can certainly surpass this formidable fantasy.”]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 7.14]

“If the individual jīva soul if he leaves My connection it is invincible, the māyāic śakti is invincible by you. But if you get My connection, mām eva ye prapadyante, māyām etāṁ taranti te, whenever you get My connection the illusory potency will leave you. Otherwise you are very meagre...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Many people come, for them to accommodate. During the birth ceremony of Mahāprabhu on Gaura Pūrṇimā the parikramā circumambulation, many people come here and to accommodate one gentleman he’s constructing a building. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Any question?

Devotee: I want to know, now I'm conditioned soul, I'm in māyā. I do not know my relationship to Kṛṣṇa. It is said that I have an eternal relationship to Kṛṣṇa and I can know when I become pure, completely purified, then I will know what kind of relationship I have.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. When the mist will be cleared the sun will...

Devotee: Yes, the sun will come out.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...be in its full pristine glory. The mist of misunderstanding, anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, that is a cover and that will be dissolved gradually and the internal relationship will appear.

Devotee: So this internal relationship, is this always the same or can this be also changed like from the parental loving affection to mādhyura, or from mādhyura to a servant? Do they have a change of this relationship?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will be known gradually when the barrier will be cleared, the cover between, and that will be vague it will come to me. The preventive wall between the two, that will be faded, thinner and thinner, and then it will be conceived in gradual process. Hare Kṛṣṇa. When in the stage of bhāva bhakti then it will come into understanding somewhat and then gradually it will be clear. Anartha-nivṛtti, tataḥ ruci, āsakti, then bhāva. When the devotion will reach the stage of bhāva then of course it will appear to certain extent in vague way. And then by gradual process the definite identification will be clear. Through the attraction, the quality of attraction, one will feel from Kṛṣṇa it will clear gradually. The attraction, the connection between the two is intervened by anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, these propensities of foreign things. And that will be thinner and thinner and then gradually the nature of attraction, in what rasa, and what depth and intensity, gradually it will come to be disclosed. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. And not imagination or vague: it is more clear than the sun. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, I was reading a book about Kṛṣṇa līlā and the difference between prākṛta and aprākṛta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prākṛta and aprākṛta?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Aprākṛta, He's always aprākṛta. Aprākṛta means similar to prākṛta, similar to human person, but it is not so. Not mundane but similar to mundane.

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, [nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

[“Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

Amongst all His pastimes the human type of pastimes is the best, it has been mentioned, human being. His humanly behaviour has been considered to be best suited, highest conception, not Godly, or grave and majestic. That is not the highest type. The simplicity, these ordinary humanly pastimes has been considered to be the best of all. That is the most original. And grandeur, awe, reverence, that is not liked by the yogīs of the higher type: the grand majesty, all these things, awe, reverence, very far distant relation, and human, as if, equal with us, very close, very intensely intimate. And that has been said to be the highest mercy there. That is His real, highest position, when He's such, so merciful. So merciful, so loving, so affectionate, just like in the same rank with His servitors. Sometimes mother Yaśodā whipping. He's crying, weeping, and carrying the shoes of His father. And the friends are also climbing on His shoulder. In this way, very homely: very, very homely.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Gaura Haribol.

His magnanimity, His love and affection is of such a high degree that He becomes so_____ [?] homely [?] the affection rise to...

...

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, when the Guru is here he engages us for something that Kṛṣṇa wants. But in the absence of our Guru we may do some devotional service according to our own initiative. How do we know if Kṛṣṇa wants that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We shall try to ask our internal Guru. We shall try to get dictation from the internal: “In such case what may be required of me my Master? Please reveal.” With this idea we are to move, that caitya Guru. Or if any other śikṣā Guru is available outside. If śikṣā Guru is not available then we are to appeal to our internal caitya Guru.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

[“O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

The sincere they won't have anything to repent. If he's sincere to his own self he'll have such dictation which will help him in his progress in his spiritual life. He'll ask his Master within and put to test that. “What, in such case, what should please my Gurudeva, then I shall do that. As much as I can guess, as much as I can understand, I can feel, I am doing that, that this sincerity will be the last resort.” But if any outside śikṣā Guru is available we must consult with them. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Sometimes śikṣā Gurus have differences of opinion, many śikṣā Gurus.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In that case also I'm to appeal to my own inner Guru. “What should I take, please suggest to me, the internal suggestion?” Otherwise, what can I do? In every case we are to do like that, if any difference of opinion in the outside guides then we are to appeal to our own conscience [?] No other alternative. Or if possible to another recognised śikṣā Guru I may approach against these two difference of opinions. That I can do. And if there also I fail then I must appeal to my internal Guru: no other alternative.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: If I ask the Guru within my heart, the caitya Guru, then how do I know that the Guru is speaking to me and not my mind? Maybe my mind is telling me something.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will be according to my own realised position. It may not be clear always, but we have no other alternative. Our inner judge, that is to decide finally, even if I come to my Gurudeva, that also by the inner selection took me there. I left my present environment and came to Swāmī Mahārāja, how? My internal guide helped me to accept him as Guru. So I can't neglect him, my dictator within. If he has taken me to a right Guru then he may not be a traitor. We can consult with him as a friend, reliable friend, who has taken me to such a personality.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: We're just neophytes, beginning devotees. We're not so pure we think to communicate with the caitya Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If that is so it will be better for us to get a śikṣā Guru to secure if possible. That will be easy for us, more helpful. But in extreme case when that is not possible then fervently to appeal to our own Guru within, caitya Guru: no other alternative but that. And when our real Master is also living, I am posted in some duty far away, but some urgent step to be taken for some consideration, and no time, must take some decision, then what will I do? I may appeal to my inner Guru, what he will be pleased to accept. As I may consider within I shall do that, if no time to take his order from far off, immediate decision is necessary for something, then also we do such things. No time to come his direct order: I must make the decision immediately. At that time, this will please my Gurudeva. With this assertion I shall take up the duty, work. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: On this Kṛṣṇa consciousness movement...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Niveditātmā, it is mentioned, one who has surrendered, he may not commit any offence. If he's surrendered and then appeals, "What am I to do my Master? Dictate me." And he'll do accordingly, sincerely, then if it is wrong also you are not to be a party to that wrong. It is like that, because not consciously he wanted to disobey him. You will try your utmost to obey him to cent percent, but from your position you are not a perfect man. So from your position, as much as possible you have done. He'll be satisfied with that. He's all-knowing. He's omniscient. He has tried his best. From our position we shall try our best and we'll be rewarded accordingly. There may not be any insincerity, duplicity, hypocrisy, self-suicidal.

Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati. [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]
One who is sincere, who is thinking, who is trying to get the good, he'll never be deceived. Gaura Haribol. We must be true to our own self, to our own conscience, in whatever plane we'll be. We must be true to our consciousness in that plane. Again when we rise up we must consider according to the stage of that plane. We must not be insincere in the thinking within our plane.

His dictation is also of similar type. According to our stage he gives us some order. In higher stage he gives another type of order, another higher stage another type of order. According to our capacity, our stage, our nature, the orders come to us, otherwise it would be impossible for us to make any progress. According to our stage our duty should be entrusted, and the result expected accordingly. A man who has got the capacity of lifting one mound, he may not be asked that, 'you must lift the weight of one hundred mounds.' Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: It seems Mahārāja sometimes we think we're sincere and we might have a little sincerity. But then we find out that we're insincere, because of other levels, or other things started coming in so we find out our sincerity was nothing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow. What does he say?

Devotee: Can you understand what I'm saying? Sometimes our sincerity, we're sincere, but then all of a sudden we realise that the sincerity we have is only a superficial thing.

Devotee: We think we're sincere, but the reality is that we're not very sincere. We think that we're very sincerely serving Kṛṣṇa but the reality becomes known that we're actually very shallow in sincerity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. That may be in all cases it is possible and according to our stage we will be dealt with.

Devotee: So it seems that the, when we have the insincerity, then maybe we can become sincere again.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A boy should be given the standard of examination of a boy, not a grown up man. Boy's examination, boy's questions in the examination of a boy will be like that of a boy, not of grown up man. A different standard, and gradually we'll be taken to the higher standard.

parokṣa-vādo vedo 'yaṁ, bālānām anuśāsanam [karma-mokṣāya karmāṇi, vidhatte hy agadaṁ yathā]

[“Childish and foolish people are attached to materialistic, fruitive activities, although the actual goal of life is to become free from such activities. Therefore, the Vedic injunctions indirectly lead one to the path of ultimate liberation by first prescribing fruitive religious activities, just as a father promises his child candy so that the child will take his medicine.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.44]

Just as a boy, a child will be guided with some modified policy, so that sort of process has been taken in to deal with us.

Devotee: Sometimes the Guru engages us in service which is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: Sometimes the Guru he engages us in service that is above our ability to perform, it's beyond our capacity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then you are to inform him that, 'It is very difficult for me to do this.' Then if he still urges then as you can you will do, you are to do. If you think that this is beyond your capacity you may just inform it to Gurudeva, your master that, 'I'm not fit to, I don't think me to be fit to discharge this sort of duty. You please consider.' But still if he says, 'No, you are to do this,' then you will do as much as you can, if you have faith in that Guru. If you think he's a real Guru you can do that, as much as you can. You must think then that he has some super motive to engage me in such a thing, some higher, some far-fetched idea. Then you'll do, engage yourself in that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Mahārāja, this Kṛṣṇa consciousness is very beautiful. The cult of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu is very, very sweet. Many people become attracted by Kṛṣṇa and by Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu. So why sometimes some devotees they're losing their taste and they're going away after some time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is: first thing it depends on the intensity of sukṛti, and second is of course free will, the circumstance. His independent will, the circumstance, and his previous initial merit. Every action is combination of several resultants, every action. In Bhagavad-gītā we find, pañcaitāni nibodha me karaṇaṁ ca pṛthag-vidham.

[pañcaitāni mahā-bāho, kāraṇāni nibodha me sāṅkhye kṛtānte proktāni, siddhaye sarvva-karmmaṇām]

[adhiṣṭhānaṁ tathā kart, karaṇaṁ ca pṛthag-vidham vividhāś ca pṛthak ceṣṭā, daivaṁ caivātra pañcamam]

["O mighty hero, in the scripture known as Sāṅkhya, or Vedānta, these five causes of the accomplishment of all actions have been described, and you may now learn of these from Me."]

[(With the help of these five factors, all actions are effected): The body
(the place of action), ego (the performer - in the form of the knot of spirit and matter), the separate senses, the different endeavours, and destiny, or the intervention of the Supreme Universal Controller - the Supersoul."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.13-4]

If one event he's to analyse then we are to find contribution from different parts. It is a combination of different forces. So generally his previous merit, and the present free will, and the environment, and the mercy of the Lord: it depends on these four, five things. That free will may commit Vaiṣṇava aparādha, and the previous merit, that means sukṛti, that keeps us floating on the standard, that level, that is the previous acquisition, keeps us on the standard of that type. And then the transaction of the free will: he may commit some offences also. And the environment, the paraphernalia around, their free will, their mercy. It depends on all these things. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, once one of your God brothers he was telling me that we're chanting Hare Rāma in the mahā-mantra but we're not supposed to say Rāma. He says this is not śuddha, we should say Rām.

He said that we're chanting Rāma, Hare Rāma, Hare Rāma..

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rā ma?

Devotee: Yes. He said this is not śuddha, not pure.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But Rām?

Devotee: Yes. But in kīrtana everybody's chanting Rāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Rāma: that is the true pronunciation. But if one says Rām that does not mean that will be nothing, somewhat. The internal feeling, that is more important, underlying the sound. This Kṛṣṇa, Kanhaiyā, Kānhā, anything one may say, but mainly it depends on the internal realisation of the meaning of the word, bhāva. Rādhā, some say Rāi, Kanhai, in this way, very adorable way of addressing, Kānhā, Kamani. But internal, the wealth is within the feeling of the meaning, internal feeling of the meaning.

One has got a written name but mother may call him by the same sound and not fully according to grammar or enunciation. But that does not affect, her affection is all in all. If the mother calls her child by a name, the name may not be pronounced in the very strict sense but the affection behind the name calling that is more valuable.

So Rāma or Rām, that may not be very, the Rāma and Rām, that is not to be considered very valuably. But the internal feeling with which he's taking the Name that is more and more important.

Devotee: So sometimes we're introducing mahā-mantra to new persons, and they have no idea, no feeling what is Rāma what is Kṛṣṇa. How should they pronounce?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They should do it naturally as Rāma not Rām. Rāma: that is the real pronunciation. But if one pronounces it as Rām that does not mean that the whole thing is spoiled. But Rāma: that is the correct pronunciation, grammatically correct. But everything depends on the heart, on the feeling, on the sincere dedication, surrender. That is the thing to be considered of most importance, the highest importance: your earnestness. The child calls the father papa or in any disfigured sound, but that is overlooked. The inner earnestness, that is to be reckoned.

Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Sometimes we're introducing the chanting process to many new persons, but because of some previous idea they do not like the Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra. So we can tell them something else like Govinda Jaya Jaya or something like that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That depends upon their stage of devotion, different variegated stages of devotion. Govinda Jaya Jaya, Govinda Jaya Jaya, but when asked to pronounce Hare Kṛṣṇa they do not show any encouragement there. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Our Guru Mahārāja has told us to chant minimum sixteen rounds. So for a neophyte devotee sometimes we don't have so much attraction for our chanting sixteen rounds. What can we do to get more attraction for chanting?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Naturally minor differences, in chanting, but he must engage himself in the service. Service of the Name, and service of Guru, Vaiṣṇava, they're almost equal. But still, the basis must be the service of the Name to certain extent. Your Guru Mahārāja introduced sixteen rounds. Our Guru Mahārāja told at least four rounds, because we were engaged more busily in the services. "You must see that the mālā may not fast. Some sort of services to the Nāma must be had, at least four rounds." That was his instruction. "But when you get leisure you can do more, more, more." Not only sixteen rounds but four sixteen rounds, one lākh: that is the general standard recommended by Mahāprabhu.

Devotee: One lākh?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One lākh, when one is not in an organised body, living individually, especially. But when in the organised body they have always got orders from the superiors to do this, that, and always engaged in service, there it is relaxed: in that case it is relaxed. But when a gr̥hastha living individually they should rather take one lākh: that is the general standard recommended by Mahāprabhu, and our Guru Mahārāja. But when in an organised body and they're required to do services, running here and there, sometimes so much busy that he can't sleep even in the night, in that case also he'll try at least four rounds, when he's getting no rest in twenty four hours, so busily engaged. But living individually as a gr̥hastha he should take one lākh. That was the general recommendation. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nine thirty, is it?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then I retire today.

...

...and Canada is more cold?

Devotee: Yes. Now they have snow all over Canada.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Mexico, Venezuela, they're hot country?

Devotee: Yes, similar to here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The southern side of the equator?

One Rāmānuja came with Acyutānanda in the first trip. Now I understand that Rāmānuja he came from the hippy section and again he has returned to that hippy. Is it? But for some time got some sukṛti, gathered some sukṛti. Helplessly wandering, the jīva soul: attracted by different direction. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Hari.

...

Then the kṛṣṇa-smṛti, opposite, kṛṣṇa-smṛti and opposite is deha-smṛti.

Gopī-gaṇe says:

deha-smṛti nāhi yāra, saṁsāra-kūpa kāhān tāra, [tāhā haite nā cāhe uddhāra viraha-samudra-jale, kāma-timiṅgile gile, gopī-gaṇe neha' tāra pāra]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu continued: “The gopīs are fallen in the great ocean of separation, and they are being devoured by the timiṅgila fish, which represent their ambition to serve You. The gopīs are to be delivered from the mouths of these timiṅgila fish, for they are pure devotees. Since they have no material conception of life, why should they aspire for liberation? The gopīs do not want that liberation desired by the yogīs and jñānīs, for they are already liberated from the ocean of material existence.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.142]

One who is unconscious of his material body, he has got no worldly connection, material connection. We are conscious of our material body and then come in connection with the material world, atmosphere. If we are unconscious, independent of this material body, no connection with the world, mortal. This is the medium between the material world and ātmā. First connection is mind, mental system, and then this body consciousness. Parīkṣit Mahārāja [Śukadeva] after finishing his Bhāgavata discourse in the conclusion he's warning the audience, especially Parīkṣit.

[na jātaḥ prāg abhūto 'dya, deha-vat tvam na naṅkṣyasi]

["O King, give up the animalistic mentality of thinking: 'I am going to die.' Unlike the body, you have not taken birth. There was not a time in the past when you did not exist, and you are not about to be destroyed."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.5.2]

"O King, that you will die, give up this animal consciousness. Eliminate it fully from your attention that you will die. Don't allow your attention to come down to material conception. You remain in your own soul conception. Take your stand firmly there. Why do you allow yourself to come down to the conception of this matter, your body: all these things? It is unnecessary. Don't allow your attention to come down to material consciousness. You are independent of that. Think of your soul, and the higher soul, and its achievement with the higher soul's prospect. Your transaction all upwards: stick to that. Why do you care to come down in this material conception of the world, or body, all these things? It is unnecessary. Independent of that you can live and move and very happily."

Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paśu-buddhi, this is animal consciousness: that I cannot stay without a body. What is this? You can stay without the body. The body's left here you also stay. Why do you allow yourself to come in this consciousness of matter which is mortal? Don't allow yourself to come down to have experience of this material world. This is animal consciousness. Kill it, butcher it. Tvaṁ tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi. That I shall die, this is animal consciousness. Just kill it, finally. At the same time try to soar up from soul to over-soul, from over-soul to the Nārāyaṇa conception, from there to the Kṛṣṇa conception. Try to live in Vraja connection with those divine damsels, how they're recklessly engaged in serving the sweet will of their Lord. They're all sacrificed emblem, prepared always.

That SS Army of Hitler with what: suicidal squadron, prepared for anything and everything.

So the Vraja gopīs are something like that, suicidal. For the slight satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa they ready to give up their whole, not only whole body, their whole prospect, whole thing, everything. Everything concerning, very: at second notice, such prepared-ness for the service of Kṛṣṇa with the whole risk of whole thing. That is the highest standard of life.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Hari. Sacrifice to the extreme we find. Sacrifice for the good. Sacrifice for the Absolute Good, and good, beauty, and bliss, ecstasy. So your abode will be very nearest according to the degree and intensity of sacrificing attitude. The nearer approach: by sacrifice we live, and by enjoying we lose, and by serving we thrive. By serving we thrive and by enjoying we lose. And renunciation is zero, no loss, no gain. In comparison with the positive acquisition it is loss. No loss, no gain, when there is no gain then that is a loss. In that sense that is a loss. Renunciation, mukti, salvation, mere liberation, that is a loss in comparison with the positive attainment of a servitor. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Reality is For Itself. It is for nothing else than Him, He. We are for Him. We are for Him. Our existence meant only for Him, service for Him. He's the integer. He's existing. He's all in all, and we are all subservient.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

nīlāmbhodhi-taṭe sadā sva-virahā-kṣepanvitam bāndhavaṁ śrīmad-bhāgavatī kathā madirayā sañjīvayan bhāti yaḥ śrīmad-bhāgavataṁ sadā sva-nayanāśru-pāyanaiḥ pūjayan gosvāmi-prabaro gadādhara-vibhūr-

[“On the shore of the broad blue ocean, Gadādhara Paṇḍita used to read Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam to Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who was suffering from the great internal pain of separation from Himself (Kṛṣṇa). Gadādhara Paṇḍita supplied the wine of Kṛṣṇa līlā to intoxicate his afflicted friend and give Him relief. As he read, tears would fall from his eyes like flower offerings onto the pages of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. May the pleasure of that brilliant personality, Gadādhara Paṇḍita, the best of the Goswāmīs, be my only object in writing this book.”]

[Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja originally composed this verse to introduce his summary study of the 18,000 verse Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. Just as Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura condensed the whole Bhāgavata principle into 1,000 verses in his Bhāgavata-arka-marici-mālā, Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja said he had a mind to consolidate it even more, to represent it within 300 verses, but he did not finish it.]

Mahāprabhu Gaurāṅga Sundar. Gaurāṅga Sundar. [?] Nimāi is in his room studying?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Peculiar boy! Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. He knows to play mṛdaṅga, he knows to sing, he knows to deliver lecture, he knows to explain the Sanskrit, his pronunciation of Sanskrit verse also very accurate and sweet. He's got qualities, but he's beside himself.

Devotee: No, he's not there Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not there.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He's down somewhere.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's playing with that child, that son, Sarvabhavana's son, Aniruddha, what's his name?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Aniruddha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, Abhimanyu, playing with Abhimanyu. Ha, ha, ha.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Is he?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No? He's not there?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. He's fond of milk. Ha, ha. Śukadeva Goswāmī's also stated, he only stood there where he found that one is milking the cow, stood for some time. And that man automatically took the pots of milk.

[sa go-dohana-mātraṁ hi, gr̥heṣu gr̥ha-medhinām avekṣate mahā-bhāgas, tīrthī-kurvaṁs tad āśramam]

["He [Śukadeva Goswāmī] was accustomed to stay at the door of a householder only long enough for a cow to be milked. And he did this just to sanctify the residence."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 1.4.8]

Go-dohana-mātraṁ, he's always moving, wandering. Only he was found to stand where he found that one is milking his cow, for some time, for the spiritual necessity, and taking some milk. No necessity of any house, or any room, or any dress, or anything else. Astonishing! Sixteen years old, but no dress, naked, and health is also full grown. No trace of austerity is there, full blown power, naked, with a vacant vision, searching vision for something else, transcendental, roaming about here and there. That is his external habit. Internally he's roaming in the land of infinite beauty and charm. And his personality also was a charm to all the stalwarts of the scholars of the day, the charm, a mysterious charm, his personality – no scholarship, no yoga, nothing – satisfied in himself he's roaming about – caring for nothing of this world. Only sometimes he's seen to stand where cow milking, that has been mentioned. That is perhaps for the inspiration, Kṛṣṇa's, at the intervention of Kṛṣṇa, to stand, and getting something, vanishing.

[“O saintly King, I was certainly situated perfectly in transcendence, yet I was still attracted by the delineation of the pastimes of the Lord, who is described by enlightened verses.”] [“That very Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam I shall recite before you because you are the most sincere devotee of Lord Kṛṣṇa. One who gives full attention and respect to hearing Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam achieves unflinching faith in the Supreme Lord, the giver of salvation.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.9-10]

His mind is always following the meaning of the uttamaḥ-śloka. “How wonderful description in the Sanskrit poems there are about Kṛṣṇa, what wonderful, what wonderful, what wonder, wonder, wonder, land of wonder, land of wonder, love, beauty, charm, ecstasy, whatnot.”

Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

svapne yathā śiraś-chedaṁ, [pañcatvādy ātmanaḥ svayam yasmāt paśyati dehasya, tata ātmā hy ajo 'maraḥ]

[“In a dream one can see his own head being cut off and thus understand that his actual self is standing apart from the dream experience. Similarly, while awake one can see that his body is a product of the five material elements. Therefore it is to be understood that the actual self, the soul, is distinct from the body it observes and is unborn and immortal.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.5.4]

A man may see that his body is falling there beheaded, but does not affect his existence or his perception. A body is beheaded there fallen, he’s seeing in his dream. So that connection with the body, the soul has got similar connection with this world. It is not affected. He may see standing the Earth vanished, but still he’s standing somewhere, Earth vanishes, it becomes pulverised, vanishes. So such is the independent position of the soul, but not dependent on material existence, but it thinks that material thing is indispensable necessary to maintain his existence, the wrong concoction. But in fact he may see in dream he's there but the whole Earth has vanished, the Earth is going away from under his feet. He may see in dream the very Earth is going away from my feet where I'm standing. So such is the connection with the material world he has got, no necessity of material conception for him to stand on, which seems to be so much indispensable for our being: it is not so. It is independent. In the mental system that is also independent of the material existence, what to speak of soul. Soul has nothing to do with this matter. This is some foreign concocted dream, dream substance, this matter. This is our poison to the soul. The material conception is rather poison to the soul – drawing soul towards opposite interest.

So the Māyāvādī, the Buddhist, “With the dissolution of the material conception nothing remains.” Nothing remains according to Buddhists. And according to Śaṅkara, “Only some non-differentiated consciousness remains, and no individual conception there can stand.”

But the Vaiṣṇava says, “No, there is a world of reality made of higher stuff than your soul is. Soul is vulnerable consciousness, and invulnerable conscious world is there. And if you can manage to enter there only by the interest of serving, getting service there, to render a service there, with that interest you can enter, contact entrance into that land, and you will be happy. And that sort of adopt-ability is within you. That is your svarūpa, the adopt-ability of the positive life is within the soul inherent. You are to grow, full bloom, full blown, you reach the Goloka stage – blossom, in blossomed condition. And material adopt-ability, mal adopt-ability has taken us in the negative side, in different stages. We are wandering for that. Not only unnecessary but it is injurious for the soul, fallen condition. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara.

Just as by swimming we can make progress, so also by hearing and kīrtana, chanting, we can make progress, śravaṇa kīrtana jali, to hear and to distribute it to others. What I've acquired I shall give it to others. In this way the progress is very fast, śravaṇa kīrtana, to take delivery from the capitalist and to give delivery to the customers. Indenting and exporting, in this way make fare progress, śravaṇa kīrtana, śravaṇa kīrtana, by passing. And the Absolute Capitalist He will supply, as much as we can make delivery to the customers. Mahāprabhu's dictation is something like that.

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

Give delivery of these goods to anyone and everyone and new light will come to you and distribute it to others. In this way dynamic, a passing life, progressive life you'll have.

Mahāprabhu Gaurāṅga Sundara. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Mahāprabhu Gaurāṅga Sundara. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Akṣayānanda Mahārāja, very cold?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No? You have got sufficient blanket?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: O yes, everything by your grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. His mercy: grace.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Our cold is how to catch the thread of that service.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Service?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What service? That you have got?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Our coldness, that we are cold so that the thread of service, bhakti proper.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your preparedness for service that is your capital.

Devotees: [Laugh]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Madhan Manohan Prabhu has sent a letter that he's coming to Vṛndāvana and he likes to purchase a plot there, and he has asked for my permission. Then he'll stay there up to ten, after that he may come here. But as soon as possible he wanted me to give, if I think it proper, to give him order purchase some plot there. He likes that place very much.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: O yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because, he says, none to criticise there. The devotees in any other place, people at large they want to criticise the Vaiṣṇava, the śikhā, the mālā, the very life.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. That is śanta rasa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Peaceful life, and the servant, they are ready to fight for, if necessary.

Swāmī Mahārāja invoked help, assistance from Kṛṣṇa. "Come to my help. I have been ordered by Your favourite to do this duty. Please help me. After discharging, or finishing this duty I shall again join Your play in Vṛndāvana. And there we shall play, we shall run, we shall...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Jump and roll.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...jump and we shall do anything and everything in a boisterous way.” Ha, ha, ha. “Join Your campaign. But now a little duty I have got to discharge. And that is ordered by Your most favourite person. And if You help me for that then Your friend will be, that most favourite friend will be pleased with You. You’ll get some advantage there.”

In this way he’s posing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Kṛṣṇa taba puṇya habe bhāi, “You will acquire good merit if You help me.”
[From Śrīla Swāmī Mahārāja’s Prayer to the Lotus Feet of Kṛṣṇa, written on the Jaladuta, Sept 13th 1965]

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. When Kṛṣṇa He held that Govardhana Giri with the little finger of the left hand, then after the function was over, His friends the cowherds they told, “You did not hold it alone. We also helped You with our sticks. You mind it. You could not do it alone.” So they’re sharing the pleasure. And also they think, they do not care to think about His extraordinary majesty or power or anything else. “One among us, but very beautiful, we cannot but live without Him. We don’t know why, what for. But anyhow if He’s not in our midst we are all lifeless. When He comes we get the power of merriment, anything.” Very life to them. “Some peculiar power He possesses, but still He’s one of them, one of us. If there is He is God, no, no, He can’t be God. We don’t admit that. He’s our friend. Who says that He’s God? We don’t care. He’s our friend, and very charming friend.”

Yaśodā also: “He’s my son. Those people that do not like that I may live in peace they say so many things, that, ‘He’s God, He’s so and He’s so.’ Why do they say like that? He’s my child. They’re so much jealous and envious they don’t like that I may stay, I may live peacefully with my son and husband. So envious they are they say that He’s God, He’s so and He’s so. No. He’s my child. They cannot tolerate such a beautiful child I have got, they can’t tolerate that, so they’re floating speculations of different types. I don't like these things. That will be some ominous thing to my child. Why He should go to be a god? Human beings as we are."

kr̥ṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa

["Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

Mahāprabhu taught all these things. Everyone's society seems to be so much valuable, why? Because Kṛṣṇa's original līlā is in this form. So the human society is created after His original social fashion, so they're so important, this human society, human form, human civilisation, after that, it's created after that. Sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa.

And this has been mutilated in these days to say that human creation that is the highest of all creation. "Of all creation, human section is the highest. So we are masters of the fossil world. We are masters. We have not to give explanation for our activities to anyone. We are the masters." That is the scientific civilisation. But sometimes they're afraid. "If higher cultured people are found in sukragraha [?] or any other star then we are nowhere. In flying saucer if they come once to attack with new type of weapons then we are nowhere." But before this they may fight with one another with atom bomb and they're finished.

Gaura Haribol. Suicidal, this is suicidal, after all, discordant plane. One cannot live without devouring his environment. That is the law of the land. If you want to live, stay, you must devour your environment, otherwise you can't stay. So suicidal plane, one eating another, one eating another; only then he can live, for the time being. So is this a land to live?

Then that chief told, “Yes, my astrologer told me, reported to me, that you have not seven but eight coins with you – with your – this night I’d planned to kill you both and to take that. But you have come voluntarily to hand it over to me. I’m much satisfied with your behaviour. I won’t accept them – but only, as you are a good man I shall help you to get away from the jungle towards the highway.”

“No, no. If you don’t accept please be kind enough to accept this, otherwise anyone will kill me for this, so you please accept.”

Then he accepted and helped him to get out.

Sanātana Goswāmī came back and asked his attendant, “Have you got one more?” “Yes, I have got one more.”

“You did not tell it so I could not know. Only one you have kept. If necessary for your service in any place with this coin you go back.”

Then Sanātana Goswāmī went alone: crossed the jungle path. And then he was in a mango tope [?] he’s sitting, too much tired, in Hajipur, Bihar. Then his brother-in-law was also serving under him, in the military department. He was sent to purchase some horses necessary for the battle. He, from the roof of a house suddenly found that in the mango tope a person seems like his brother-in-law, his wife's brother. And Sanātana Goswāmī was his sister's husband.

Devotee: They were brothers-in-law.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Both were brothers-in-law. And he came down and met him in a solitary garden. "What is this?"

"You don't spread it. I'm flying away. Leaving [?] against [?] though I was imprisoned [?] I'm going away. Don't make any..."

Devotee: Alarm.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Alarm, or don't inform it to others."

"Then you will die, in such winter season without any dress you are starting towards that.

Please accept this one blanket." A costly blanket he gave. "This is costly."

"No, save yourself and then whatever you'll do."

Then with that [?] Then Sanātana Goswāmī went to Benares and there he heard that Caitanyadeva has come back from Vṛndāvana and staying here in Benares. Then he ascertained that Caitanyadeva is in the house of Candraśekhara. And he, Mahāprabhu is sitting on the veranda of the Candraśekhara. And Sanātana Goswāmī just did not venture to enter into the house, he wanted to enter but could not, he passed through the gate and took his seat on the other side.

But he could not avoid Mahāprabhu's detection. Mahāprabhu asked the householder, Candraśekhara, "There is some vairāgī perhaps just outside the gate. Please call him to Me."

Then Candraśekhara went out and saw, but did not find any vairāgī. "No, there is no vairāgī there."

"But is anyone there, anyone else?" "Yes, there is a fakir."

"Yes, call that fakir."

Then that daraveśa, 'prabhu tomāya bolāya, āisa, daraveśa!', he told: "My Lord is calling you, sending for you. You fortunate daraveśa come within."

Śuni' ānande sanātana karilā praveśa, Mahāprabhu hurriedly came down and went to embrace him.

Sanātana told, "No, no, I'm so mean, I'm so wretched. Don't touch me. Don't touch me."

Prabhu kahe, – "tomā sparśi ātma pavitrite, Mahāprabhu says, "Only to purify Myself that I want to touch you Sanātana. You are so pure. You are so great. You possess Kṛṣṇa prema. You are so pure to the extreme. Only to purify Me I want to touch you."

In this way Sanātana was embraced.

[Sanātana Goswāmī then went to the house of Candraśekhara and sat down by the door. Understanding what was happening, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu spoke to Candraśekhara.] [Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said, “There is a devotee at your door. Please call him in.” Going outside, Candraśekhara could not see a Vaiṣṇava at his door.] [When Candraśekhara informed the Lord that no Vaiṣṇava was at his door, the Lord asked him, “Is there anyone at your door at all?”] [Candraśekhara replied, “There is a Muslim mendicant.” Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu immediately said, “Please bring him here.” Candraśekhara then spoke to Sanātana Goswāmī, who was still sitting beside the door.] [“O Muslim mendicant, please come in. The Lord is calling you.” Sanātana Goswāmī was very pleased to hear this order, and he entered Candraśekhara's house.] [As soon as Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu saw Sanātana Goswāmī in the courtyard, He immediately went up to him with great haste. After embracing him, the Lord was overwhelmed with ecstatic love.] [As soon as Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu touched Sanātana Goswāmī, Sanātana was also overwhelmed with ecstatic love. In a faltering voice, he said, “O my Lord, do not touch me.”] [Shoulder to shoulder, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu and Sanātana Goswāmī began to cry unlimitedly. Candraśekhara was very astonished to see this.] [Catching his hand, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu took Sanātana Goswāmī inside and made him sit in an elevated place next to Him.] [When Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu began cleansing Sanātana Goswāmī's body with His own transcendental hand, Sanātana Goswāmī said, "O my Lord, please do not touch me."] [The Lord replied, "I am touching you just to purify Myself because by the force of your devotional service you can purify the whole universe."] [“Saints of your calibre are themselves places of pilgrimage. Because of their purity, they are constant companions of the Lord, and therefore they can purify even the places of pilgrimage.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.46-56]

Then Sanātana had a talk, primary. And then Mahāprabhu was looking towards this valuable wrapper, casting glance. And Sanātana thought that, "Mahāprabhu does not like it. Repeatedly He's casting His eyes on this valuable [blanket]. I'm a beggar. I'm eating by begging, and this valuable wrapper around my neck it does not look well."

So Sanātana went to the Ganges to take bath and there he found that one Bengali gentleman, his kāñthā, his cloth, prepared from old dhotis by sewing together, and one Bengali beggar after cleansing it he has given it to be dried in the sun. Sanātana approached him, "O my friend, will you take this rag and give me your cloth to me."

He looks at his face, "You seem to be a man of consideration, but why do you laugh at me, ridicule me? This is highly valuable wrapper and you want to interchange. I don't understand your ways."

"No, no, you please be gracious. I appeal. It does not look well that I shall have. One gentleman has given it to me but it doesn't fit my livelihood." So anyhow he managed to get in exchange that old cloth for that wrapper.

And also Mahāprabhu felt that, bhadra karāñā [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.70] That big beard and moustache and a clean shave, and changing that valuable wrapper with that old cloth wrapper he came to Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu was highly pleased and gave him the dress which is now we find with the bābājīs, one for the upper part and another for the lower part, and kaupīna. And Tapana Miśra he went with new cloth, Sanātana did not accept. “Only give old, used one.” And with that old, used cloth he prepared his dress and went on the front of Mahāprabhu, and that was the bābājī dress of the present day.

In this way, two months Sanātana stayed there, and Mahāprabhu also to teach them full two months Mahāprabhu taught him about the devotional instructions of different Purāṇas, and that renowned ātmārāma śloka explanation.

When everything finished Sanātana Goswāmī told, “I want to hear those eighteen kinds of explanations You gave to a particular śloka of Bhāgavatam. I’d like to hear that if You please, if You think me fit to attend that please.”

Mahāprabhu told, “Generally I know variegated meanings come to My mind, that in the association of Sārvabhauma Paṇḍita that came at that time in My mind and I explained. Let Me try. Through your association what sort of explanations may come within My mind, let Me try.” In this way Mahāprabhu began to explain that śloka in different ways and it came to sixty one there; types of explanations from one śloka.

Then Sanātana Goswāmī told, “That You say of Yuga Avatāra, but who is the Yuga Avatāra in Kali-yuga?”

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] “Then this colour will be yellow, the figure will be such and such. And His behaviour will be to take everyone Kṛṣṇa Nāma, give Kṛṣṇa prema, He’s the Kali-yuga Avatāra?” Just meaning Mahāprabhu.

Mahāprabhu avoided, “You say all these cunning behaviour and hear about other things.” In this way avoided and went on.

And after the instruction and advices were finished then Sanātana Goswāmī, “You have given me the burden of responsibility of doing so many things which is not possible by this tiny soul. But if You grace me, You bless me, then I shall try what You have given me the responsibility of doing so many things.”

Lukta tīrtha udar vighraha prakasa, then śāstra prakasa, sadacar, all these śāstra.

Then Mahāprabhu told that, “I say that when you begin this work Kṛṣṇa will come to your help.”

“I do not know Kṛṣṇa. I know You alone. So if You bless me with Your feet dust then I get some inspiration.”

And Mahāprabhu put His hand on his head, and Sanātana Goswāmī forcibly took His feet on his head, “That this will help me when I shall begin.”

After that Mahāprabhu left for Purī and Sanātana Goswāmī anyhow stayed there.

“You go to Vṛndāvana. Rūpa is already trained in Allahabad and sent to Vṛndāvana with some charge...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and then both brothers there, and began to fulfil the orders of Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva, those two brothers. Then gradually Gopāla Bhaṭṭa came, Raghunātha dāsa went, then that Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa also went there. Then Jīva Goswāmī also joined lastly, six Goswāmīs and Lokanātha Goswāmī, Bhugarbha Goswāmī. There was a party of Mahāprabhu. They began to spread the teachings and practices of Mahāprabhu there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...scriptural injunction, the injunction of the general devotional side. And the internal, raga side, that was relied with Rūpa Goswāmī to analyse the affection, love, and the, our affinity, the mental, the sentimental side. That was taken up by Śrī Rūpa, the rasa-vihara, śanta, dāsyā, sākhyā, vātsalya. The external side by Sanātana and the internal side of love given Vṛndāvana, and that was entrusted with Śrī Rūpa, he's empowered, inspiration from Mahāprabhu for that. And Rūpa took up that anurāga side, the love affairs, divine love. He began to produce original scriptures. And Sanātana he collected many directions from different Purāṇas and other previous scriptures, holy scriptures, and by power of that he tried to prove that what Śrī Caitanyadeva has told, that is the real purpose of life. And in this way we can acquire that end of our life. The external side was supplied by Sanātana Goswāmī and the internal side by Rūpa Goswāmī. And Jīva Goswāmī afterwards came to prove and put that in Vedic and Vedāntic basis. That this is the object, the purpose of the Veda, the Vedānta, and the Purāṇa, they all say what's the gist, the very purport, what Mahāprabhu has endowed our Guru, Goswāmī, Sanātana, Rūpa has done, that is proved by the scriptures, living scriptures of all of the sanātana-dhāma. Devotee: Murārī Gupta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This Murārī Gupta in a way, that Tīrtha-vipra, to him. Suddenly in some places and then suppressed. In this way He showed.

Devotee: Sārvabhauma Bhaṭṭācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sārvabhauma, playfully, not direct, “That I am so.” To Tīrtha-vipra somewhat, and to Rāmānanda to the fullest extent, “That I am so and so.” That also in a suppressed way, somehow, “Don’t divulge it to others, don’t give it publicity.”

Devotee: Mahārāja, yesterday you were beginning to explain that Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī, he had composed fourteen śloka which is the basis of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Basis of all.

Devotee: Yes. But I think something else came in between and you did not explain. Could we hear that explanation once more Mahārāja, if it is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What?

Devotee: About these fourteen ślokas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is found in Caitanya-caritāmṛta [Ādi-līlā, 1-14] who is Mahāprabhu, who is Nityānanda Prabhu, who is Gadādhara, who is Advaita, this Pañca-Tattva. Six ślokas for Mahāprabhu, five devoted to Nityānanda Prabhu, perhaps two for Advaita Prabhu, one for Gadādhara Paṇḍita, another for Pañca-Tattva perhaps. These fourteen ślokas came from Svarūpa Dāmodara and that is the basis of the whole līlā of Mahāprabhu. He was the most intimate, Rādhārāṇī, Lalitā, and he knew everything. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Svarūpa Dāmodara is within our Guru paramparā but not Rāmānanda. Rāmānanda is nearer to Kṛṣṇa than to Rādhārāṇī.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viśākhā Nāma, between the Two, middle-man. A little inclined towards Kṛṣṇa. But Lalitā is exclusively in the support of Rādhārāṇī. And sometimes she becomes haughty, ha, ha, towards Kṛṣṇa, cruel, to deal with Him, to keep up the dignity of her Mistress Śrī Rādhikā. She is [?]

Devotee: Unconcerned.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Desperate, sometimes she becomes desperate, crosses the reason and, the plane of reason and rhyme. Uttugga-sauhrda-visesa-vasat pragalbham, Rūpa Goswāmī, he's describing her nature, Lalitā Devī.

[“I offer praṇāma unto the haughty Lalitā Devī who is charmingly endowed with many beautiful, sweet qualities (sulalita). She has natural expertise in all arts (lalita), thus her sevā self-manifests. She wipes away the glittering drops of perspiration which appear upon the lotus feet of Śrī Rādhā and Mādhava when They meet; and she is perpetually immersed in the most elevated mellow of sauhrda-rasa, or undivided absorption in fulfilling the heart's desire of her intimate friend Śrīmatī Rādhikā.”]
[Lalitastakam, 1]

Rūpa Goswāmī says, “I bow down to that great mistress Lalitā, whose nature is such. How? Rādhā-mukunda-pada-sambhava-gharmma-bindu-nirma. If she finds a little drop of sweat either in the foot of Rādhārāṇī or Mādhava she's besides herself and wants to take one million bodies. How eagerly she wants to remove that drop of sweat. That is her eagerness, earnestness of service of Both of Them. She can't tolerate that if a drop of sweat should come on Their feet she becomes mad to find it. And at least with one lākh of bodies, with that attitude she goes to remove that. So much affection she behaves towards Them. Rādhā-mukunda-pada-sambhava-gharmmabindu-, nirmmañcanopakarāṇe kṛta-

Devotee: Playful mood?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not playful, a little ugra [haughtiness]...

Devotee: Cruel?

Devotees: No. No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She crosses the limit of gentleness, discourteous, impertinence, some degree of impertinence is shown in her behaviour. Uttugga-sauhrda-visesa-vasat pragalbham. But over-talkative, she's something more, unnecessary, but that is only meant for the highest degree of her affection towards the Both. Can't tolerate, she becomes a little, prajalpa, talkative, over-talkative sometimes, crosses the limit of courtesy she's seen sometimes. But that is only for the extreme attraction for Their good.

Devotee: ... to approach that with utmost respect.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very guarded, well-guarded, we shall try to if possible.

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So he showed his stand, but still of such time on that. Śrutibhir vimṛgyām [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61], the Śruti, the Veda, from far away showing by fingers the braja-rasa in this side. Ha, ha. "In this side, go that side. We can't approach more. Devotee: There's a wonderful prayer...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee:...by the Śrutis personified in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, Sanātana, it's very beautiful..

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Bhāgavatam also, the Śruti they're trying to get their crime excused.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Forgiven.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They say that, “We say that we Śruti we failed in our duty to express You my Lord. We rather, what we expressed that was something like Brahman. But You are so and so, so playful, so sweet, so accommodating, we could not understand. We could not express also even like that, our failure when we asked for that.” The Śrutis are saying like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...Hyderabad, it is also within Andhra, Andhra Province. Mādhava Mahārāja [Janakabhai]: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This temple, so Hyderabad has got some influence there, the richest temple in the whole of India.

Mādhava Mahārāja: I wanted to invite you to come there Mahārāja so they could meet you. I wanted to invite you to Tirupati so that they can meet you and maybe they can make you the Ācārya there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. It is not possible for me to go so far. I wish you success from here.

Mādhava Mahārāja: They have put Bhakti Svarūpa Dāmodar Mahārāja, and myself, and Shankabrit dāsa, we are now...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Shankabrit, he is one South Indian devotee. They have put us on the Advisory Council to the Executive Officer.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Shankabrit is a disciple of Swāmī Mahārāja?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Yes, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He comes from Andhra or Keral?

Mādhava Mahārāja: He comes from, perhaps from Bangalore, I think he may be from Bangalore, I'm not sure. He's a notorious disciple of Śrīla Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tamil, Andhra, Tamil, and that Kanatak, and Kerala, four sections in the south.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Yes. So he wants us also to become active in the press, to bring up the quality of the printing. It's very bad quality at present. But they have all modern machinery, computers, and big, big machines. They're spending crores of rupees for printing press.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caru Swāmī, has he reached there?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Bhakti Caru Mahārāja is there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right.

Mādhava Mahārāja: He was lecturing with us and they liked him very much also. He gave a wonderful lecture, very scientific lecture for one hour and a half. They want him to write this lecture in a book and distribute it in Tamil also, in Telugu. So I also have some good news for you from Delhi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is this?

Mādhava Mahārāja: We had that big conference in Delhi you know...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That conference, yes, yes.

Mādhava Mahārāja: ...with two Nobel laureates. So in the newspaper it says, “Nobel laureate debunks theory of evolution.” Debunk.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bunk?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Debunk, ha, ha, ha.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Debunk.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Debunk means?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Means he has defeated the theory of evolution, he has thrown it out, Nobel laureate.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Defeats, means he defeated the theory of evolution.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. The Darwin evolution.

Devotees: Refuted. It is finished.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is finished, all right.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is crushed, evaporated.

Mādhava Mahārāja: It says, “Nobel laureate Professor Illya Prigosene

[?] of Belgium, here today, Darwin's theory of evolution about chance and necessity was no longer valid."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Hegel's 'Ideal Realism' is there to back, 'Ideal Realism.' The reality is an idea, the beginning of everything the idea first. 'Ideal Realism.' Idea is not an abstract imaginary thing but it is real. Everything is the effect of ideas, starting with an idea and then it is translated into action. Everywhere we find that. The beginning with idea, and then it realises itself into action. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Ideal Realism: that is Hegel's theory. And ours of course, consciousness first, then these are all effects of consciousness. So many kinds of experience, theirs rather connected, grathitha [?] means - just as, what is this to _____ [?] sūtre maṇi-gaṇā iva, in Gītā:

[mattaḥ parataram nānyat, kiñcid asti dhanañjaya mayi sarvam idaṁ protaṁ, sūtre maṇi-gaṇā iva]

["O Arjuna, there is nothing superior to Me. Everything depends on Me, just like pearls strung on a thread.] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.7]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Thread, threading.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Mayi sarvam idaṁ protaṁ, sūtre maṇi-gaṇā iva. "Just as in a thread so many jewels in a garland so I am within and everything is just like so many gems, jewels, and I am the sūtre grathitha [?] making them one, coming through, passing through them, sūtre. Mayi sarvam idaṁ protaṁ. Whatever you find it is all in Me in a thread, sūtre maṇi-gaṇā iva, just as in a thread so many jewels are connected to make it a garland. So I am within just like a thread."

So the beginning, the basis, the foundation, is He, the consciousness, the conscious will. And whatever everything is outwardly floating, the depth is the consciousness, He.

Devotees: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sūtre maṇi-gaṇā iva, in Bhagavad-gītā you'll find, sūtre maṇi-gaṇā iva.

raso 'ham apsu kaunteya, prabhāsmi śaśi-sūryayoḥ

[praṇavaḥ sarva-vedeṣu, śabdaḥ khe pauruṣam nṛṣu]

["O son of Kuntī, by the potency of the primordial element of taste, I am situated as the basis of the flavour of water; and by the opulence of effulgence, I am present in the sun and moon. I am present in the Vedas as their primeval sound vibration, the letter Om; I am present in the atmosphere as the primordial element of sound; and as the Supreme Male, I am present in all men."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.8]

"The very gist of everything, all pervading, that is My, apparent, My one function is that, one of My functions, the pervading all through, keeping them, holding them. Raso 'ham apsu kaunteya, prabhāsmi śaśi-sūryayoḥ. In this way, the very gist of everything within Myself. And the conclusion is sūtre maṇi-gaṇā iva. Just as a thread He contains so many kinds of gems and flowers and many things, but the thread is there unifying. My position is such."

Gaura Haribol.

Mādhava Mahārāja: So they said that when we presented our paper, we presented one paper...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the beginning. You will be able to pulverise. Ha, ha.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. They said we had established new school of thought. So I was wondering what will we call it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is not, this is the oldest school, this is the oldest school, we have taken it up again.

Mādhava Mahārāja: What should we call this school? They should give us a name, the new school of thought. We were thinking of calling it 'Interactionism,' Interaction of life and matter. Do you think that would be appropriate?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Parīkṣit Mahārāja is told in the conclusion of Bhāgavatam by Śukadeva Goswāmī:

tvam tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imām jahi

[na jātaḥ prāg abhūto 'dya, deha-vat tvam na naṅkṣyasi]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.5.2]

"That you will die, this is an animal consciousness. Don't allow you to come down to the phenomenal world. You are independent; you can stay independently in the world of consciousness. And that is your eternal life. You come down in consciousness and influenced by the consciousness of matter, then you began to die and be reborn, because this matter comes and goes. But you are eternal soul. Why do you allow yourself to come down to material consciousness? You can retain your own ego and everything, pure in the spiritual sky, the spiritual atmosphere, independent of this matter. Don't allow yourself to come, to indulge in, coming in material consciousness. If you do so you will die, and you will be born and death, birth and death; you will be victim to birth and death, because of your mal focused consciousness in this matter. Otherwise you can live independently, no necessity, no relativity of matter is necessary in your intrinsic life. This is, kill this wholesale, wholesale; butcher the idea. This is animal consciousness, paśu-buddhi, to come down and identify one with this physical frame. Why do you allow yourself to come down so low? That is the basis of spiritual consciousness. You can live and move freely. And you have got other prospects and resources in the spiritual world. Tvam tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim, that I shall die, this is animal consciousness. Just kill it."

And there's another...the conclusion of Bhāgavatam he says, warning, "Are you afraid of dying now, you Parīkṣit. That serpent will come and bite you and you will die. Are you afraid of your death now, still now?"

“No, no, no. By your grace I am fully established in the conscious world. Now, whatever the serpent may like may do with this body. I don’t care to know what part he’s coming and biting and whatever will be the effect. I don’t care for that. I am fully established in my spiritual position, foundation.”

After the conclusion of Bhāgavatam he was asked in such a way, and he answered, replied also in that way.

So we find that in Mahābharata we find that snake rolled around his neck and then put a bite on the forehead. But in Bhāgavatam the snake came and touched his feet and Parīkṣit Mahārāja left the world. During Mahābharata stage what is the forehead biting, in Bhāgavata only touching the toe of the feet. So much negligence to this material existence, so much intensity of negligence in the material experience that the author of Bhāgavata says that the material disturbance only touched the feet. Whereas Mahābharata says it touched the head, gave his bite into the head. So material consciousness has been shown less importance in Bhāgavatam; well established. Same thing, same fact, but ignored, ignored its influence, the influence of matter over soul, so hatefully negligently shown in Bhāgavatam. But Mahābharata, some effect, that went to attack in the head.

These material incidents are of no importance. This is under the leg, under the foot, to be trampled down, material consciousness, prosperity, its charm, all these material achievements to be trampled down under foot.

Here we’ve got a real position by drinking the nectar of the līlā of the Supreme Entity. What do we care for these material things, achievements, or prosperity, or knowledge, or scholarship? Nothing of the thing, neglectfully dealt. We rather drunk deep the nectar of Kṛṣṇa līlā. The Mahābharata is not realised such a high stage, not dealt with. Gaura Haribol.

Anyhow, good sign, you've got good news and victory. But what's the difficulty with ISKCON there? I am told that they already expressed that, "We don't want to connect with ISKCON." Is it true?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Tirupati.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tirupati. Anything like that?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Well, some devotees have gone to Tirupati, and they were not pleased with their activities.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who was the leader of that party?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Different, no, not party, but different devotees have gone whom they found that were too aggressive. So, he only wants to have those devotees who are not, er, who understand the mentality...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yea, anyhow, Swāmī Mahārāja, you are there, Swāmī Mahārāja is there.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Yes. They know Swāmī Mahārāja. They respect him very much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whether ISKCON or this Trust, Vedānta Trust, one and the same.

Mādhava Mahārāja: But they discriminate between good devotees and bad devotees, ha, ha. So they are very pleased with Bhakti Svarūpa Dāmodar Mahārāja, he is very pleased with him. He likes him very much. So we are very happy to have him there to work with. We have made some programmes of giving lectures to the staff of TTD, and started one temple programme in one small temple in the housing colony. And they want us to do naga-saṅkīrtana daily, simple programme. They don't want us to build one temple because already the temple is there. They simply want us to do naga-saṅkīrtana and give lectures on bhakti-yoga. Eventually they will give us some land. They want to get one hundred acres so we can build our institute.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: On the hill, or lowland?

Mādhava Mahārāja: On the lowland. The hill is considered Śeṣa-Nāga.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śeṣa-Nāga.

Mādhava Mahārāja: [?] considers that hill to be Śeṣa-Nāga.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: On which side, the temple, on the southern?

Mādhava Mahārāja: I'm not sure which side that is. That is the side toward the Tirupati, when you're coming up the hill...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The train from Gudru [?] from main line Gudru, Madras, Calcutta, from Gudru junction, a small, narrow gauge line going up, on which side of the line?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Well, when we're coming from Gudur [?] to Tirupati you can see that side of the hill. You can see on the hill there is the hoods; the heads of Śeṣa-Nāga. And that mountain goes around and it curls around at the bottom, just like the tail.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There was a quarrel between Śaṅkara and Rāmānuja sampradāya there. And both of them demanded - the Śaṅkarācārya sampradāya told, "It is Śiva Mūrti", and the Rāmānuja told, "No, He's Viṣṇu Mūrti, Nārāyaṇa." Then some weapons were placed there and the doors closed. Then, anyhow, it was found afterwards that the weapons of Nārāyaṇa had been caught by the hands of the Deity, and it was decided that He was Viṣṇu Mūrti not Śiva Mūrti. We are told like that. And also it is told that Rāmānuja was Śeṣa, Śeṣa Avatāra. Taking the body of a serpent, he entered through the drain and put the weapons into the hands of the Mūrti and then passed away, ha, ha, ha, ha, stealthily. There is a story like that. Balaji. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Mādhava Mahārāja: I also heard that Rāmānuja, he went up that hill with his knees, he tied his feet and he walked on his knees because he did not want to step on Śeṣa-Nāga, seven hills, seven mountains to cross, before getting to Baladeva.

Mahārāja, one Nobel laureate also stayed at our temple in Bombay. One Nobel prize winner, Nobel laureate, he stayed with us in Bhaktivedānta Institute in Bombay for two days.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is he?

Mādhava Mahārāja: His name is George Wall, he's from Harvard University, US. And he came and he stayed with us for two days and he gave lecture to the devotees in the temple, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Following your line, eh? Ha, ha, ha.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are proud of your knowledge, proud of your knowledge, and you want to lower down the position of the knowledge itself. You must hold that it is a primary thing, and they're all the effect of knowledge. And the stone producing knowledge, it is shameful to hear for the scholars. Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. And to value with the valuation of knowledge, that is, it is coming from the stone, that fossil fatherism. Ha, ha, ha.

Mādhava Mahārāja: He thinks that we come from the star, from the dying star he says man has been born. The star had to die so that man can be born.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Moon or Sun, everything came from the Sun but where from does the Sun come? Matter comes from matter. What is the new thing? Earth, Moon, all comes from the Sun, but Sun is also material substance. So matter comes from matter, no new thing there. This is all stale. And that is no explanation at all. From matter is dividing itself into different planets, what is the charm in the argument there? From big matter particles are thrown this side that side. Is it an explanation? ...sarge loko smin. Demonic and deity, what is from deity, adjective?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Divine.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Divine, the divine and demonic. The fossil father, that is demonic conception. The divine must come down from high to low. Divinity must be given the first preference in existence. Such noble thing, that is born only from stone? Suicidal to think that stone has given birth to divinity. What is this thing? How a man can think, a rational man?

Mādhava Mahārāja: It is very unreasonable, this idea is very unreasonable, but still, sometimes...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Unreasonable, but it is foolish, unfortunate and meanness, mean-heartedness, that stone has produced divinity.

Mādhava Mahārāja: How is it that so many big, big scholars have been fooled by this theory?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You'll be able, by the grace of Swāmī Mahārāja, to disperse them, throw them into the ocean. Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. We sold many of our science books, you know we have some science books that we made, and at that conference many people bought those books, at least fifty-per-cent of the members bought our books. We were all sold out. And also we sold some Bhagavad-gītās. So they're finding a lot of interest in our books now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Many books distributed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, there?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah, by Janaka Bhaya, at the meeting in Delhi.

Mādhava Mahārāja: They thought this was very interesting, our approach, combining Eastern and Western philosophy. Somehow, all over the world, interest is developing in consciousness. I don't know how but everyone is becoming interested.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because in the internal nature everyone cannot but have sympathy. This is after all foreign thing, the Darwin theory and all these are misconceptions, ignorance, that cannot have its own independent existence. Just like a cover, spare, that cannot be really, outcome, foreign, the superficial.

Mādhava Mahārāja: But why so many people now are becoming interested, at this time especially?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ignorance.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Before, not so many people were interested.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Though foreign, avantu [?], not, like parasite, it has come, it is not innate but it is come from out, but still, at the present that has got the over reigning power, the ignorance. So, but still it cannot be intrinsic. It is only foreign thing, indented, not natural, but like dress. Barshan siji nani yatha vihay [?] We can take it, we can leave it, like the cover, like a garment, not innate.

Mādhava Mahārāja: But why at this time, now at present they're giving up? Previously they were accepting and this time now they're giving up, why this time is so special?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. By this Kali-yuga the special grant of grace comes with Mahāprabhu gradually to help the people from such intense ignorance. Which is generally _____ [?] comes here to visit this mundane world. Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara, Kali. Just after winter comes summer, after summer rainy season, in this way the movement of the time. The Kali comes when ignorance gathered more. And then also to help the inmates of Kali a special grant also comes and thereby they're benefited and they can do away with the darkness by that higher knowledge, higher grace. Māyā, ignorance is there, light is also there. In some places sometimes light predominates and in some places suppose darkness predominates. But that does not mean that darkness must be a positive thing. Light is desirable. That is positive thing. Darkness may not be given the importance of light, though it is eternal.

Mādhava Mahārāja: I have one letter here from Bhakti Caru Mahārāja, he has written one letter from [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is in English or Bengali?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Bengali.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Govinda Mahārāja, Caru Swāmī [?]

...

To remove the defects of all other five darśanas Vyāsadeva had to compile Vedānta darśana in their form, in a logical form, Vedānta darśana. And the Bhāgavat is the commentary of that Vedānta darśana. Vedānta darśana is considered to be the flower in the tree, and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam the ripe fruit. In this way the adjustment of the Vedic culture has been given, a developed form. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīdhara Swāmī also in his commentary in the introduction of Bhāgavatam also shown this path, that how the root is the sat-saṅga, then the Gāyatrī, then the praṇava, oṁkāra, then Gāyatrī, then the tree Veda, and then the fruit, the flower, and then fruit, Bhāgavatam, the desired ripe fruit. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, raso vai saḥ, is full of juice, nectar. How it has come from Veda and where from Veda comes. All these things have been described in a very nutshell way.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So that is the right way to move to the people, as least who have got some faith in the Veda, they should be dealt in such a way. 'The Veda is developing in this way.' And to show skilfully the stages of development step by step, and just like a theorism in a logical way we are to show to the public that this is blossoming in this way, the bud blossoming into a flower and then to fruit, how. The intermediate steps should be explained, supplied; then it will be easy to make them convinced. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Vedaiś ca sarvair aham eva vedyah.

["I am situated (as the Supersoul) within the heart of all souls, and from Me arises the soul's remembrance, knowledge, and the dissipation of both (according to his karma, or action in the mundane plane). I am the exclusive knowable (ecstatic) principle of all the Vedas. I am the author of the Vedānta - Vedavyāsa, the expounder of the knowable meaning of the Vedas. And certainly I am the knower of the purport of the Vedas."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.15]

"I am the object, the aim, of all the Vedic mantrams, background. They're all aiming towards Me, to prove Me."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. In Bhāgavatam also it is said, “If it fails to do so, this varṇāśrama, this Vedic tol, school’s instructions, Vedic education, if they fail to take to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa then they’re useless. They’re wasting their energy. They’re committing suicide. And anyhow if they take us, any sort of training or education takes us to the conception of Kṛṣṇa to be the highest, it fulfils its object.”

dharmah svanuṣṭhithaḥ puṁsāṁ, viṣvaksena-kathāsu yaḥ notpādayed
yadi ratim, śrama eva hi kevalam

[“The occupational activities a man performs according to his own position are only so much useless labour if they do not provoke attraction for the message of the Personality of Godhead.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.8]

...

...but it could not produce the desired result, that Kṛṣṇa consciousness, then that’s all a waste of energy. And there is another, just the opposite.

ataḥ pumbhir dvija-śreṣṭhā, varṇāśrama-vibhāgaśaḥ svanuṣṭhitasya
dharmasya, saṁsiddhir hari-toṣaṇam

[“O best among the twice-born, it is therefore concluded that the highest perfection one can achieve by discharging the duties prescribed for one's own occupation according to caste divisions and orders of life is to please the Personality of Godhead.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.13]

But if one is found that he has reached to the stage of serving Kṛṣṇa then all his duties, past duties have been successful. The certificate can be issued to him blindly. He has reached the goal. So anyhow, whatever he did, all justified, because he reached the goal. And who misses the goal, then all his grandeur in discharging his duties of different stages, that all gone, because he misses the right end, the aim, missing the aim, object of those duties. So they're all wasted. It is in Bhāgavatam. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: How can I chanting properly? My chanting not properly now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Chant. By the living sources, by leaving of the evil influences aside, that sādhu and śāstra, first sādhu and then śāstra. From the association we are to draw, we are to try to get energy, direction, all in their association, favourable environment. When the medicine is failing to do its duty then we are advised to have a change of place, where unconsciously the air and water, everything, comes to our help to improve the health. Change, when the medicine fails to produce its result. So also, the environment, the environment and the energy within, two things, when the energy within is failing then strength must be acquired from the environment, favourable environment. That is the association, sat-saṅga, sat-saṅga. And the living, more living, the sādhus more living, and the next, passive saṅga, that is scripture. Sādhu śāstra, only two things can help us in our need. Guru is there. God sent sādhu for me, the agent, on His behalf. Then we can concentrate to him, to his submission. Otherwise the śikṣā Guru, the sādhu, and in want of that, the śāstra, the scriptures who can enlighten us about the thing we need.

sādhū-śāstra-kṛpāya [yadi kṛṣṇonmukha haya, sei jīva nistare, māyā tāhāre chāḍaya]

[“If the conditioned soul becomes Kṛṣṇa conscious by the mercy of saintly persons who voluntarily preach scriptural injunctions and help him to become Kṛṣṇa conscious, the conditioned soul is liberated from the clutches of māyā, who gives him up.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.120]

This is the only remedy, first sādhu, that is living scripture, and then passive, active and passive environment. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So, and how to get association? Only through serving attitude we can have cooperation, not by indifference, or by aggression, aggressive tendency. To get anything from higher, that means only through service we can, the attitude of serving, we can draw them towards us. We can make master over our lower things, but when we are in want of higher things then only through serving, praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā. By these three qualifications only we can imbibe things from higher sphere, serving attitude.

Devotee: ...control.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gradually it will be controlled. If you want to kill an animal it takes some time to kill it. Ha, ha. So the anartha, they're there, and to dispense with them some time is necessary. But that also, the energy of killing them, to remove them, that energy we should gather from higher sources, then with less energy we can do away with them.

[anyathā swatantra kāma anrthādi jāra dhāma, bhakti-patha sadā deya bhaṅga] kibā bā karite parekāma-krodha sadhākere, jadi haya sādhu-janara saṅga

["If lust is not controlled, then it becomes the breeding ground for a host of vices and checks one's advancement on the path of devotional service. However, if one stays in the association of the saintly devotees, then that association will carry him beyond the influence of lust, anger, and their friends."] [Śrīla Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura's Śrī Prema-bhakti-candrikā, 2.11]

What the lust and greed and anger can do harm to a seeker after truth, the sādhu, who is in the path of realisation of Divinity, if you can fortunately have the intimate association of a sādhu? What, in other words then they cannot do anything. Because something is being spent, but another side income, coming and going. If help coming from the higher, that supersedes, then the spending, expenditure, cannot make any harm, kāma-krodha sadhākere. And there is also _____ [?] intelligent adjustment, we can get relief. It is such in Narottama Ṭhākura's that:

'kāma' kṛṣṇa-karmārpaṇe, ['krodha' bhaktadveṣi-jāne, 'lobha' sādhu-saṅga harikathā 'moha' iṣṭa-lābha bine, 'mada' kṛṣṇa guṇagāne, niyukta kariba yathā tathā]

["Lust I will engage in offering the fruits of my work to Lord Kṛṣṇa. Anger I will direct towards the enemies of the devotees. Greed I will engage by being greedy to hear the topics of Lord Hari in the association of the saintly devotees. Bewilderment will be manifested because I cannot immediately attain my worshippable Lord. Madness will be there when I madly glorify the transcendental attributes of Lord Kṛṣṇa. In this way I will engage each of these in the service of Lord Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śrīla Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura’s Śrī Prema-bhakti-candrikā, 2.10]

Some impulse we feel within, try to utilise in the service of the impulse, that force, try to utilise it, regulate it in the service of Kṛṣṇa. Krodha bhakta-dveṣi-jāne. Some apathy, anger, try to use it against those that are antagonistic to the sādhu, to the Kṛṣṇa bhakta. Lobha sādhu-saṅge.

The greed you may try to engage in hearing from the lips of the sādhu some Hari kathā. Moha iṣṭa-labha-bine. Sometimes depression comes, try to utilise it when you are separated from a sādhu, iṣṭa-labha-bine. Mada kṛṣṇa-guṇa-gāne. Sometimes over energy appears within us. Engage that overflowing energy into dancing and chanting in the Name of Kṛṣṇa. Ha, ha. 'Mada' kṛṣṇa guṇagāne niyukta kariba yathā tathā. In this way some flow of energy, try to regulate them in the service of Kṛṣṇa. Anyhow manage it and you will be free from them in no time, in this way. And there is another thing.

[rajas tamaś ca sattvena, sattvaṁ copaśamena ca] etat sarvaṁ gurau bhaktyā, puruṣo hy añjasā jayet

[“One must conquer the modes of passion and ignorance by developing the mode of goodness, and then one must become detached from the mode of goodness by promoting oneself to the platform of śuddha-sattva. All this can be automatically done if one engages in the service of the spiritual master with faith and devotion. In this way one can conquer the influence of the modes of nature.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.15.25]

In Bhāgavatam it is mentioned, Devar̥ṣi Nārada is saying:

asaṅkalpāḥ jayet kāmāṁ, [krodhaṁ kāma-vivarjanāt arthānarthekṣayā lobhaṁ, bhayaṁ tattvāvamārśanāt]

[“By making plans with determination, one should give up lusty desires for sense gratification. Similarly, by giving up envy one should conquer anger, by discussing the disadvantages of accumulating wealth one should give up greed, and by discussing the truth one should give up fear.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.15.22]

You have got many designs and plans to carry out, asaṅkalpāḥ. Don't allow yourself to enter into such big, ambitious speculation. Thereby from the start you control. Don't allow yourself to be busy with big engagements in life, ambitious engagements. Asaṅkalpāḥ jayet kāmāṁ. Krodhaṁ kāma-vivarjanāt. And bad temper sometimes comes within you. Only you withdraw from the beginning. That don't settle, identify yourself fully with a particular plan, then any hindrance comes and you'll be full into anger. And if you're not very particularly addicted to a particular plan, no chance of being excited; that krodhaṁ kāma-vivarjanāt. Arthānarthekṣayā lobhaṁ. You have much greed for the money, you are to discriminate that what is the stage of money, money can do these things, whatever it can construct that automatically vanishes in course of time. So what is in the charm of money? Arthānarthekṣayā lobhaṁ. Bhayaṁ tattvāvamārśanāt. And if you've got any fear, apprehension, then you are to discriminate here in the plane, tattvāvamārśanāt. “Oh, so many things combined, this matter, the water, the ether, the combination of everything, and everything disappears, comes and stays for some time and disappears. So the birth and death in course of nature it is coming and going everywhere. Every second something is born and something is dying.” Calculating in this way you should leave your fear.

Etat sarvaṁ gurau bhaktyā. So many, a long list is given there in Bhāgavatam. And in the conclusion it is said, etat sarvaṁ gurau bhaktyā, puruṣo hy añjasā jayet. All these undesirables can be checked only by concentrating one's attention towards the service of his Guru. 'My Guru has ordered...oh, no fear, no other things, because my absolute guide he has ordered.' We may take this advantage and everything will disappear in no time. Etat sarvaṁ gurau bhaktyā, puruṣo hy añjasā jayet. Very easily you'll be able to cross over all these temptations and difficulties if you can concentrate only to the divine feet of your Guru Mahārāja. 'He is my guide. I'm not my own.

I belong to him. Whatever he'll instruct I must do without caring for my individual loss and gain.' In this way. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: How can you find a Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. Your Guru is already there, and who is nearer to him... Why you accepted him as Guru, what for? What did you see peculiar in him? And that peculiarity wherever you will find, there you can rely as Guru. Same nature, same temperament, same instruction, same object, things of that stage, that layer, that plane what attracted you. You did not come to a figure, not attracted by a figure only, the eye experience, but you are attracted by a particular ideal, proposal, instruction, and that will be your real guide. Wherever you'll find that your Guru is present there, in his instruction, in his advice, in his conception given about you and your environment, your prospect. All these things wherever you'll find you will find your Guru. In your Guru eye or anywhere, wherever you will find what attracted your inner heart, you must try to find out that. ...with the eye experience... experience, or touch experience, anything else, but the ideal, the advice.

Devotee: Most detectable with the heart.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prospect, ah, the heart, the unfolding of his heart. He gave you the prospects of some supernatural sweetness and prospect, hope. Wherever you will find things of that layer, there you can find your Guru. He's present there, and that is one with your Guru. The gist, the very existence of our Guru is of that consciousness, of that feeling, that sentiment, that hope, that knowledge, that light. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

The meaning of his words: our Guru Mahārāja departed forty four years ago, but we are living, but we have caught hold of his advices, the gist of his speech, advices, and his conduct, his movement. And looking after that and consulting that also with the similar scriptures and other past Vaiṣṇavas, making an adjustment we are moving forward so long. So long, and we don't think that we have deviated from his divine feet. We are still there. His divine feet still within our heart as fresh as ever. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Enlivening us always. And what he said we find in Bhāgavatam, in Gītā, more deeper and deeper in his line, progressing, not deviating, by his grace.

And whatever new things come to us, we try to adjust with them in such a way that it may improve his advice and we may have some adjustment with them. What position, if any new things come we are to also give adjustment with that, keeping his glory above all. In his line we are to make adjustments if new things we come across, keeping the standard given by him intact. Ha, ha, ha.

...what is high, what is low, with that universal standard we apply and we find the taste. “What is this? It is gold, or it is silver, or it is iron, or it is mud?” By applying that standard of knowledge we examine and place them accordingly. “Oh you mud, you earth, you have come with a posing of the gold, never, go away. Go, take your place down there. Only with a glittering colour you have come, the mud, to take the position of the gold.”

Ha, ha, ha. What do you say? The eternal standard, that test. Gaura Haribol. Acintya bhedābheda, advaya-jñāna, satyam, śivam, sundaram, the conception of the progressive substance, satyam, śivam, sundaram. The eternal existence, the knowledge, and the beauty, ānandam, charm, how the superior conception, one after another. Acintya bhedābheda, and bhedābheda and advaya-jñāna. One all-harmonising organic whole, and there is difference and common, and that is in the hand of the Absolute Power. And Absolute Power is not, there is not any anarchy, but there is not only justice, but above that there is mercy. Not only consciousness, judgement, decision, judiciousness, but there is beauty, there is love, holding the supreme position, sympathy.

“I am friendly. I am the Absolute Power but I am friendly to you all. So don’t be afraid.” ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānām, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca

[na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasām, sarva-loka-maheśvaram suhṛdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānām, jñātvā mām śāntim ṛcchati

[“I am the enjoyer of the results of sacrifice performed by the fruit-hunter, as well as the results of austerity performed by the liberation-seeker - I am their only worshipping object; I am Nārāyaṇa, the indwelling monitor of all planes of life, and the Supreme Worshipable Personality who awards liberation. And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee's most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 5.29]

You will attain peace, you will get peace, only when you find that the final controlling agent is my friend. Then you'll be, no apprehension you'll have. The ultimate controller is my friend so my interest is well represented there. Then only I can find ease, no anxiety. You are to only find that, that I am not in a chaotic environment, but it is considerate, judicious, and the ultimate dispenser is my friend. Ha, ha, ha. This conception gets us living relief from any anxiety we can apprehend. Is it not?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, in Gītā it is said, Kṛṣṇa says that: “I am all in all but I am friend to you all,” So no misgivings, ha, ha, ha, no apprehension.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Mahārāja, if one wants to spread Kṛṣṇa consciousness, sometimes he has to engage in big projects in order to make a big impact.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, if he's inspired, if inspiration is there, not individual ambition, then it will devour you, it is pratiṣṭhā. But if within you find the inspiration then you'll have no fear. If ordered, if from that side, then you are all right. Otherwise, not for your own individual name and fame, that is an anartha, that is, the agent of māyā will entice you and leave you in the darkness, ha, ha, after all. Pratiṣṭhā, one is pratiṣṭhā, the name and fame for individual aspiration, and the other the opposite rather to serve, to engage every nārtha for the service of Guru, to satisfy, to fulfil the order of the upper divinity. We must differentiate between the two.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Should one be afraid, should a person be afraid of his own personal individual...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So with the good association we can take any ambitious work, the faithful association, sādhu-saṅga. Our Venkatta Prabhu once he told me, in my Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam there is one poem composed by me, in the beginning, introduction.

antaḥ kavi-yaśas-kāmaṁ, sādhutāvaraṇaṁ bahiḥ śudhyantu sādhavaḥ sarvve, duṣcikitsyam imaṁ janam

["O saintly devotees, please purify this wrongdoer who on the pretext of saintliness desires in his heart the prestige of a poet, and who is thus afflicted with the practically incurable disease of insincerity."] [Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, 1.9]

There is a verse in the introduction I have written. "Within I have got some sort of ambition of being a poet, becoming a poet, ambition of a poet within. And outwardly I am under the cover of a sādhu, so a hopeless case for the doctors to treat. So I pray to the divine agents to come to my relief. This is my prayer.” This has been appreciated much by...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Satsvarūpa Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Satsvarūpa Mahārāja, ha, ha. He’s also writing something. Perhaps he might have, ha, ha, ha, felt himself in that...

...

...suspicious of our purity, that I may not be misguided. “Is it for the service of Guru-Gaurāṅga or some inner mal purpose, evil purpose within me?” We’ll be very alert in our self analysis, self analysis. So our Guru, Kavirāja Goswāmī and others, Mahāprabhu: ṭṭṇād api sunīcena [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3], purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha, jagāi mādhai haite muñi se pāpiṣṭha, purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha. [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.205] This is their, they’re suspicious, they’re rather definitely accusing own self. “You are sinner of the sinner. You are sinner always.” They’re alert to chastise their inner feeling, inner existence, “That you are meanest of the mean.” It is, whatever good you find it is all grace from outside coming to you. In that case you may consider yourself to be fortunate. But as for your intrinsic value, that is all meanness there, if you are to find. You are traitor, you have left the Kṛṣṇa consciousness, and come to compromise with the illusory energy. How can you rely on yourself? This is your innate nature. You are a foreign land, atom. How have you joined this māyic campaign? Why have you joined this māyic campaign? You must think it deeply. Why are you here? This is your fault. So you are well known, notorious to me. I can’t rely on you. Only by the grace of the sādhus that you have some ray of hope.” In this way one is to chastise his own self. Who is he, ke?

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura explains trṇād api sunīcena, “You consider yourself lower than a grass, blade of grass.” And he comes to explain why lower than a blade of grass. “It may be a material thing but still it has got its own position. And what about you? You are vikṛta, your position is lower than a material existence. Why? A man may be a fool, but he’s not mad. A mad man is worse than a fool. So you are vikṛta, you are misguided, you are determined to dig your own grave, so your position is lower than a blade of grass. It may be zero, but you are negative value, you have got.” In this way Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is explaining this trṇād api sunīcena. “Why you are meaner than the blade of grass, why? You are misguided. But it retains its zero position, but you’re in the negative side, progressing.” Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In this way. A straw has got no independence, but you have got independence, free will, but working in the negative side. So your position is worse. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. One has got no capital but one has got loan, he’s less than that poor man, a man who has got loan. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

_____ [?]

Our Guru Mahārāja used to say about the power of illusion, misconception. This is compared with the leg of a cock. The cock moves in such a way as if its leg is very strong, very, very strong. With such gait, such posture and gesture, the cock moves. But how much power is there?

So our Guru Mahārāja generally used, “This is māyā but it has got the ignorance. When compared with the potency of Kṛṣṇa what power he has got? That may be brittle and broken with the least energy. But when compared with the potency of the sādhus then of course māyā is nothing.”

And one who is a soldier under some Napoleonic general he won’t care for Alps, but otherwise, if one climbs into Alps he will die; single ambition. The general is there, his insinuation, his order, has got that sort of value, from all sides of intelligence, and other weapons and other things, food, weapons, the guidance of a general makes the soldiers invincible. So under the command of the grand preceptor, a soldier, a sādhu, can do anything and everything because the general is there. His genius is guiding. Otherwise, singularly fighting, a soldier, how much he has got the power? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Initiation a necessary part of everyone?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Dīkṣā, is it necessary for everyone?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, that is the general thing. Dīkṣā means what? Dīkṣā means divyaṁ jñānaṁ.

[divyaṁ jñānaṁ yato dadyāt, kuryāt pāpasya saṅkṣayam tasmād dīkṣeti sā proktā, deśikais tattva-kovidaiḥ]

[“The process by which divine knowledge (divyaṁ jñānaṁ) is given and sins are destroyed is called dīkṣā by the highly learned scholars who are expert in spiritual affairs.”] [Hari-bhakti- vilāsa, 27]

That is a process through which divine knowledge and power is imparted to a person; that is a process, not a form, where there's some material thing within the form, some substantial thing. There must be something given, not in terms of money or any material, but in form of knowledge and grace. Sometimes it is not detectable, just like homoeopathic globules. All the globules very similar, but the potency within, that is all in all. In a particular seed that big tree is within there. So the potency within, that is all-important. It will develop, express itself in proper time, whether it is a mustard seed, or very small, that is the seed of a banyan tree. The small seed can produce banyan tree, and the small seed very similar that mustard oil, seed, shrub; a homoeopathic globule. Akara [?] Only not the physical sound, but some good will within the sound, the knowledge, the prospect, everything, very fine, within the sound that is given to the disciple. And by cultivating that we gradually find, and the mania must be given, the sādhu-saṅga and others, otherwise it will die. It must be helped to develop naturally. The mania, some air, some water is necessary then it will prove that it is a banyan tree. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Mādhava Mahārāja: In the other religions Mahārāja, like Christianity and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Christianity truly followed, it will take you to the Christian conception of Godhead. But there is Absolute, there is comparison. There is also, that is relative position, but in comparison the difference between the Christian conception of Godhead, or Mohammedan conception of Allah, how Nārāyaṇa conception, Kṛṣṇa consciousness, how they may be more effective, and more beautiful, more giving.

Mādhava Mahārāja: But there's no initiation, no dīkṣā, in those religions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In some way or other something must be there. Some sort of, some form must be there. Different process in form, but they will require you to do something.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Baptising, confession.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Baptising, then also, the different birth I am told, the Jesus cross. I have got some regard for Jesus also, how he gave out for the people, in what way he sacrificed, and firm faith in God, in the conception of Godhead. But in God also, different type, different conceptions of Godhead is there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. In instalments, something is better than nothing, in this way. He has established that a spiritual gain is all in all and this material achievement is nothing, firmly established here. That is laudable, admirable, but the conception of the goal is not so high, according to us, and not so scientifically described.

...that spirit over matter, God over, the dispensation over everyone. All these things have been accepted and this cannot but be appreciated, such position of Godhead, the guardianship over man and animals. But we find there the transmigration is not there. Individuality has not been admitted to live in the creatures and animals, animals have got no soul. The other insects and trees, plants, no soul: and no birth and rebirth. These things of course, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has said, "To which particular section where he preached it was not necessary to say the whole truth there, some things are left."

parokṣa-vādo vedo 'yaṁ, bālānām anuśāsanam [karma-mokṣāya karmāṇi, vidhatte hy agadaṁ yathā]

[“Childish and foolish people are attached to materialistic, fruitive activities, although the actual goal of life is to become free from such activities. Therefore, the Vedic injunctions indirectly lead one to the path of ultimate liberation by first prescribing fruitive religious activities, just as a father promises his child candy so that the child will take his medicine.”]
[Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 11.3.44]

Just as when a child is to be taught the whole thing cannot be delivered at once, but by instalments. So we consider it that instalments suiting to the particular clan where he preached it. But that is primary education, but still it is education, we accept it.

And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has given it superior position of even that of Śaṅkara, the imagined God, the conception, the professing, to profess that ‘God is imaginary.’ But in Christianity and in Islam God is not imaginary, it is real. So in that sense it is superior to the Śaṅkara conception of so-called Vedānta, Hindu Vedānta.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Mādhava Mahārāja: I have one more question for you Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Mādhava Mahārāja: In order to understand a particular thing, one has to have experience of that thing and the absence of that thing. For instance, if you want to understand what you are, the self, if you want to understand the self that means you have to have experience...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of what you are not. Of course, that is a process of knowledge, yes. That this is this, and this is not that. What is Kṛṣṇa and what is not Kṛṣṇa, that is what is māyā.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But what is Kṛṣṇa, if you are to understand clearly what is Kṛṣṇa, what is non Kṛṣṇa that will automatically come.

Mādhava Mahārāja: So that is called in logic, logical corollaries.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you follow? So, whenever you like to have a proper conception of Kṛṣṇa you are to eliminate so many things that are apparent to Kṛṣṇa. In this way you are to develop your consciousness about Kṛṣṇa.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Is that true on...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Kṛṣṇa consciousness, even it is said, Vṛndāvana Kṛṣṇa, and then, lower, is Mathurā, Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa, and then Rāmacandra Kṛṣṇa, this Nārāyaṇa Kṛṣṇa. There are so many different conceptions of Godhead.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Is that true...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Even Kṛṣṇa Himself says that, “I feel much charm when I see My figure in Vṛndāvana.” The Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa says. “I am charmed to find My Vṛndāvana līlā.” This is higher.

Mādhava Mahārāja: But is that true also in the Absolute world? Absolute platform, to understand one thing means...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We can get a guess, we can get an approximate conception from far away. “Where is that Kṛṣṇa?” He’s fully known, we may say, to Rādhārāṇī, even not to Yaśodā. All His internal moods are not known to Yaśodā, as it is known to Śrī Rādhikā. In this way, as He’s so much open to His confidential friends, He’s not so much known to the servitors - in this way - so gradation of knowing, and jurisdiction also. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa.

Mādhava Mahārāja: I have written, we have written one paper...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rādhāramana Kṛṣṇa, then Yaśodā Nandana, then Devakī Nandana, Rukmiṇī-pati, different conceptions in the subtle differences, subtle consideration. There are so many differences, may be.

Brahmā cannot understand Kṛṣṇa as Nārāyaṇa, so different from Nārāyaṇa he found. “What is this? Nārāyaṇa is all in all. I am known to Him, He is my Master. Under His direction I work and I control the whole world,” Brahmā says. “But this cowboy, who is he? He does not care for me. I am even not known to him, he does not know me, does not care.” So he wanted to test Him, by stealing His companions, and also the cow calves. But he found that he’s nowhere.

And the example is given there very fine, that in the sun, in the daytime, we can’t detect the glow-worm, we can’t see the glow-worm in the daytime. And also, we can’t see the mist in night. Night, in amavasya, [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Dark moon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dark moon, the dark moon, and new moon, new moon and full moon. In the dark moon night we can’t see the mist. That is the māyā of Brahmā. Brahmā wanted to introduce some policy to test Kṛṣṇa, but that cannot be detected, detectable, as mist is not detectable in dark moon. And the knowledge also is just as the glow-worm cannot be detected in the day’s light, so also, the grace, or any assertive tendency of Brahmā is like that to Kṛṣṇa. The lower thing is disappeared in the higher intensity of the same thing. So Brahmā also could not detect, what is Kṛṣṇa, though he's so conversant with Nārāyaṇa.

So such special and revolutionary difference in the conception of the Reality, and we are to follow how through the grace of the sādhu and scripture, by their grace, by the light given by them. What is the difference between Nārāyaṇa, Rāmacandra, Dvārakesh? And very carefully we are to approach through the plane. Where is Nārāyaṇa? The Nārāyaṇa is greater, then Rāmacandra, then Dvārakesh, then Vṛndāvanesh. Very carefully we are to walk over, as if, to that plane to distinguish between the different conceptions of different positions of the Supreme Entity, of the Supreme Truth, the praṇipāta, paripraśna, sevā.

[tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisance, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

With these three acquisitions we can dare to approach to discriminate such different stages of the Absolute. By the Grace of Gurudeva it is possible, svarūpa-śakti, it is possible to discriminate. Gaura Haribol. It is done rather by the potency that is given, that is supplied from higher.

Sanātana Goswāmī says, "I am, what a tiny position I have got, meagre. I'm a man of no position. I am writing about, describing such, so many things about the harem of Kṛṣṇa. Rukminī is such and such, Satyabhāma is such and such. What audacity I have got that I am going to describe them, who are unknown to this plane. But someone is forcing my hand, and handling my pen, and making me to write.”

That will be seen. Wherever we say, or talk about that thing, “That Guru talks within me. I set myself aside and allow the Guru to talk through me, through me.” That is, the svarūpa-śakti is allowed, and the māyā and taṭasthā-śakti withdraws. And then it is possible that Divine flow may come down. One can set aside himself, his own ego, the ego surcharged with the knowledge of bodily experience, and allow the flow from the higher to come down and express Himself fully, to be this plane. Then only we can.

mukam karoti vācālaṁ panghum langhāyate [girīm yat kṛpā tam ahaṁ vande śrī gurun dīna-tāraṇam]

[“I offer my respectful obeisance unto Mādhava, Who is the Personification of transcendental bliss. By His mercy, a blind man can see the stars in the sky, a lame man can cross mountains, and a dumb man can speak eloquent words of poetry.”] [Bhavārtha Dipikā, maṅgala stotram, 1]

Then what is the necessity before going to speak from the Guru’s chair, invocation? First Guru, Gaurāṅga, Kṛṣṇa, and then to try to, that is to invite Them, “Come within me and You talk through me.” In this way. Is it not?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To help them to talk, to withdraw one's own egoistic experience of the world, of the lower order. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. He can speak about Him and none else, ha, ha. He can feel, setting aside, like audience we also, what is coming.

Once I remember in Gaya, only I was accompanying Guru Mahārāja. We went to visit a gentleman's house, invited, and there he delivered lecture. Of course, lecture means Kanada lecture. And peculiar points of higher type came down from him. And I was, I felt much disturbed. No pen I took with me. I thought that such new points are coming down and it must be noted. But so uneasy I felt because I could not note them, that I could not hear also very attentively. And I was cursing me, no pen to note, and whole disturbed I felt because I could not note, so I can't give full attention to hear, in such position. Then, I thought maybe anyhow, what to do but to accept the fate.

But it enhanced it more when Guru Mahārāja came back and told that, "You are a worthless man. So many fine points came through me today, that I also want to read them again." He told. "I also feel the necessity of reading it again, the points that came through me at that time."

So I was, I felt my position in the dilemma. In one side I thought myself very fortunate that I could appreciate those points to be very fine and high, because Guru Mahārāja himself says for him it was also necessary to see them again. So my appreciation and capacity is high, I was glad in that fact. And I could not collect them, when I thought like that, I cursed myself like anything. The fine points appreciated even by Guru Mahārāja, and he told that, "I wanted to see them once more." I could not give them.

So speaking about the Supreme Entity is something like that. The speaker is not master of the thought. Ha, ha. The speaker may not be considered to be the master of the thought. He's selected by His grace for the time being. We may think like that, he's a selected medium. Gaura Hari. And He's all-independent and our life is like that of a slave. We may be adored, we may be cast aside. Still, He's our master.

āśliṣya vā pāda-ratām pinaṣṭu mām, [adarśanān marma-hatām karotu vā yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampāṭo, mat-prāna-nāthas tu sa eva nāparaḥ]

["Kṛṣṇa may embrace me in love or trample me under His feet. He may break my heart by hiding Himself from me. Let that debauchee do whatever He likes, but He will always be the only Lord of my life."]
[Śikṣāṣṭakam, 8]

He may embrace me, put me in His lap, or He may kick me, throw me to... still, He's my Lord. I have no other alternative. Mahāprabhu told, "This sort of attitude, one, a devotee should have towards the Absolute, Kṛṣṇa. The highest type is there." Do you follow?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Yes Guru Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Thank you very much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Hari. With this new friend you have come.

Mādhava Mahārāja: He's been working with Bhaktivedānta Institute with me in Bombay for one year.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His name?

Mādhava Mahārāja: His name is Paramānanda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paramānanda. Oh, very pet name to our Guru Mahārāja. He came, Paramānanda Prabhu, we had one, and he came at the age of thirteen years. And he was very pet, and in the beginning time he came, Paramānanda Prabhu.

Mādhava Mahārāja: He's only seventeen.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That name is very dear to us, Paramānanda. He comes from America?

Mādhava Mahārāja: He's from Orissa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: O, Orissa. You know Bengali also?

Devotee: Actually Mahārāja I don't speak Bengali. I am unashamed to begin, but I don't speak Bengali.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What part of Orissa you come from?

Devotee: Gangam [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gangam, where?

Devotee: Barampur [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Barampur proper, town?

Devotee: No, near the one village Gondala [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Which? This side? Gondala, towards Aska [?]

Devotee: Near to Aska.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Near to Aska. Do you know anyone, any devotee of Gauḍīya Maṭh there? One Gaurāṅga Banamali, there are so many, who are our God brothers.

Devotee: I don't even know temple or Maṭh_Puruṣottama.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Puruṣottama does not come from...

Devotee: Bhaktivinoda Āśrama.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktivedānta?

Devotee: Bhaktivinoda Āśrama in Barampur.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Barampur. Founder, who is that? Nityānanda? Who has got a press and he established this Hari Bhakti Vilāsa and ...

Devotee: Ah, books, books, books.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Books, book publishing, that is Nityānanda, our God brother, in Barampur. And there is also a Temple there, there one small boy, boy of Miniakur State [?] Gopāla...

Devotee: Tomorrow I'm to go there.

Devotee: But now he's not small boy.

Devotee: No, no. He's now writing books: one press.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One press. That is Nityānanda. And that Purī Mahārāja, Nṛsimha Kavirāja, formerly Nṛsimha Kavirāja now Purī Mahārāja. And one of his colleagues is Tīrtha Mahārāja now, formerly he was Puruṣottama Brahmācārī, they're also preaching in that side.

Devotee: Tomorrow I'm to go there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And you come across Suja Nārāyaṇa Panday?

Devotee: I do not know him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You don't know.

Devotee: I am only reading that book, Bhaktivinoda Āsramas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Suja Nārāyaṇa Panday, he was, he lived for some time in Vṛndāvana also, sometimes in Bon Mahārāja's Maṭh. And Ānanda you know? He lived for some time in, Ānanda Panda, in ISKCON also.

Devotee: Ānanda Panda? Where is he, Bombay?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no. Here in, at Caitanya Candrodaya Maṭh and also in Vṛndāvana. For long time he lived there.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I know him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. You are known to those leaders? Nandavisaspati? Are you known to her, or Viśvanātha dāsa who was sometimes Governor of Orissa, and mukhavanti [?] chief minister, in the beginning, chief minister of Orissa?

Devotee: I did not know [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. You have heard their name, Congress Leaders? [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Do you know anything about Jagannātha, Utivadi Jagannātha? A section amongst the Vaiṣṇava, śuddha Vaiṣṇava there, Utivadi Jagannātha.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Utivadi Jagannātha, a type of Vaiṣṇava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Contemporary Vaiṣṇava, contemporary of Mahāprabhu, Śrī Caitanyadeva. He has got a sampradāya there, in big number. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What is that sampradāya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Utivadi sampradāya.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not of the four, not coming in the catuḥ sampradāya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Do you know Bāladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa? Have you heard his name? Govinda-bhasyam of Vedānta, came from Oriya, Orissa. Śyāmānanda Prabhu came, Rāmānanda Prabhu from Midnapur. One Govinda dāsa. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Now we have some interest, so we want to keep up the interest. So I will try to be back [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You met Sarvabhavan Prabhu yesterday?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Yes. I saw him yesterday.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He came here.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Yes. He was translating your Prapanna-jīvanāmṛta, he was doing the translation. I'm also going to see Venkatta. I will go to Vṛndāvana for half a day and I will also speak with him. Do you have anything I can say to him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, do, but you are not going to America soon?

Mādhava Mahārāja: No. I will be staying here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are to stay here.

Mādhava Mahārāja: I wish I could stay here with you all the time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Unlike Akṣayānanda Mahārāja. Ha, ha. I do not have such good fortune.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Akṣayānanda Mahārāja is your representative. Ha, ha, ha.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He represents you all.

Mādhava Mahārāja: Ha, ha. I do not like to have anybody represent me in this matter. Ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. You consult together and do whatever you like. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: What time do you want to go to Calcutta?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tomorrow, or the day after tomorrow?

Mādhava Mahārāja: No, today. We're going to Calcutta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Today?

Mādhava Mahārāja: Yes. In two more hours, in one or two more hours we'll go.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

...

Devotee: Always dancing with Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is a plane, so happy plane of life, planes of life, all plenary, so many different planes. Cowards live in a particular plane and the heroes also live in another plane, without caring for their life, and the coward dies many times before their death. Ha, ha. So different planes of life there are, different experience, different world, different world of different experience.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura watched when he was in Godrum that every day, early morning, a flow of wind from the eastern side, east-south-east corner, goes to Yoga-Piṭha side, Māyāpur side. “What’s the reason?” With inquisitive mind in the early morning he waits. “What’s this? Every day some wind passes from this side to that side.” Then one day the flash came into him. “Nṛsiṁhadeva goes to attend the maṅgala-ārātrikam of Mahāprabhu.” Then what is the dignity of Mahāprabhu that Nṛsiṁhadeva Himself, He runs to attend the maṅgala-ārātrikam? Different plenary existence, even in the conception of Godhead and service, His service.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Is this the reason why some devotees disagree with each other, because they are experiencing different planes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some difference in discrimination there may be, sesedikari ya nistha [?] Everyone thinks that his point is the highest, the relative position. In the relative thinking, such conception is there. A boy may think that, “My mother has got the greatest affection. So much affection I have never seen anywhere.” That is also existing, acintya bhedābheda, both relative and absolute consideration simultaneously. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, in the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa by Sanātana Goswāmī he is recommending the puraścaryā process before initiation. And there's one quote by our Swāmī Mahārāja in Madhya-līlā that states, "One must first undergo puraścaryā activities to bring success to the initiation of a devotee."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

dikṣa purascarya viddhi apeksa na kori, astas parsay na sakal udhari [?]
There is a śloka, Govinda Mahārāja [?]

no dīkṣāṁ na ca sat-kriyāṁ na ca puraścaryāṁ manāg īkṣate mantrō
'yam rasanā-sprṅ eva phalati śrī kṛṣṇa nāmātmakaḥ ākṛṣṭhiḥ kṛta-cetasāṁ sumanasāṁ uccāṭanaṁ cāmhasāṁ ācaṇḍālam amūka-loka sulabho vaśyaś ca mukti-śriyaḥ

no dīkṣāṁ na ca sat-kriyāṁ na ca puraścaryāṁ manāg īkṣate mantrō
'yam rasanā-sprṅ eva phalati śrī kṛṣṇa nāmātmakaḥ

[“The Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa is an attractive feature for many saintly, liberated people. It is the annihilator of all sinful reactions and is so powerful that save for the dumb who cannot chant it, it is readily available to everyone, including the lowest type of man, the caṇḍāla. The Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa is the controller of the opulence of liberation, and it is identical with Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Simply by touching the Holy Name with one's tongue, immediate effects are produced. Chanting the Holy Name does not depend on initiation, pious activities, or the puraścaryā regulative principles generally observed before initiation. The Holy Name does not wait for all these activities. It is self-sufficient.”] [Śrīla Rūpa Goswāmī's

Padyāvalī, 29] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 15.110]

The Kṛṣṇa Nāma is more catholic. It does not care for so many regulations. It is generally, these are all formalities to help the real function, innate function. Kṛṣṇa Nāma is more concerned with the inner love, inner attraction. And that is very rarely to be found. So, so many formalities have been recommended anyhow to put, to help, to awaken, that inner attraction that is love. It is more concerned with love. And by mechanical processes love cannot be produced, so sādhu- saṅga, by sādhu-saṅga, the association of a devotee of higher type who has already awakened within the love for Kṛṣṇa. When that is possible, no other means, other means have almost become useless. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So sādhu-saṅga.

sādhu-saṅge kṛṣṇa-nāma ei mātra cāi, saṁsāra jinite āra kona vasttu nāi

The real thing is our internal attraction, ruci, bhāva, bhakti, prema. And that prema in another's heart, that influence, just as in contagious disease also, infectious disease, so, ha, ha, ha, that infection, the prema in one's heart, in the heart of a devotee, if we mix with and serve them, that is the royal road, ha, ha, ha, royal road. Others, by pressure, by this and that, try hard to intensify the movement of the heart that is coming down, something like that. So, if we can get the association of the devotees, then that is the highest thing. And the prema, the influence of prema direct coming, the flow coming and going. And then when that is not available then so many things and processes are recommended to do their quota, to help the inner awakening of the internal attraction, or ruci, ruci, love divine, that is.

But sādhu-saṅga, and kīrtana, Nāma-kīrtana. So the lakshidars [?] it is quoted in Caitanya- caritāmṛta, where? no dīkṣāṁ laxidar [?] the brother of Śrīdhara Swāmī, Śrīdhara Swāmī has one brother, he [?]

There this śloka is mentioned [Rūpa Goswāmī's Padyāvalī, 29], and it is also quoted in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, [Madhya-līlā, 15.110]. Ākrṣṭhiḥ kṛta-cetasāṁ, those that have got little contribution towards the service, of small extent, ākrṣṭhiḥ kṛta-cetasāṁ. Kṛta means sukṛti, those that have got little amount of sukṛti, Kṛṣṇa Nāma draws them with only slight qualification. Kṛṣṇa Nāma is so generous with slight connection if it comes in contact it begins to act. Ākrṣṭhiḥ kṛta- cetasāṁ sumanasāṁ uccāṭanam cāmhasāṁ.

And those that are a little good minded, their sins are brushed away, uccāṭanam cāmhasāṁ, ācaṇḍālam amūka-loka sulabho. Even to the lowest, to the meanest position, it approaches to take up, not ordinary qualification, in the ordinary, in the general, even general qualification sometimes not necessary, goes down to draw from the meanest, from their lowest position, ācaṇḍālam amūka-loka sulabho.

Vaśyaś ca mukti-śriyaḥ, it is only – vaśyaś ca mukti-śriyaḥ – the resources that we can acquire after liberation proper, that is prema, it is only submissive to that, Kṛṣṇa Nāma. Only prema can control the Name. The higher type of love divine, that can have influence over the Name, can play with Him in any way, vaśyaś ca mukti-śriyaḥ.

No dīkṣāṁ na ca sat-kriyāṁ, it does not depend on any other things, like dīkṣā. Dīkṣā, that is mantra dīkṣā, that second initiation may not be necessary sometimes. But to help, second initiation has been introduced, but without second initiation, that is mantra, the help of tantra, it can work. Na ca sat-kriyāṁ, not in public works or good deeds in the worldly sense, can that have any contribution for getting the grace of the Name Divine, Kṛṣṇa Nāma.

Na ca puraścaryāṁ. And the śāstric process that in particular auspicious time, in particular holy place you should generally in the time of the solar eclipse or moon, lunar eclipse, and on the banks also of a sacred river, one will engage himself in counting the japam for thousands to limitation, limiting with thousands. All these fashions it does not care for. Na ca puraścaryāṁ manāg īkṣate mantro 'yam.

Mantro 'yam rasanā-sprṅ eva phalati. This mantram which contains Kṛṣṇa Nāma, that is so generous and broad, wider and very catholic view, the Kṛṣṇa mantra, the Kṛṣṇa Nāma, Kṛṣṇa Name. Rasanā-sprṅ eva phalati. Anyhow if it can come to touch the tongue it will produce the desired result. But only one thing to be presupposed, that the Nāma must be proper one, not a sham transaction, artificial, imitation transaction. A genuine Kṛṣṇa Nāma, that must be got from a Gurudeva, one who can pronounce, who can culture direct in the plane where Kṛṣṇa has got His līlā. In the Name the sound must be genuine sound originating from the wave of Goloka, Goloka, Kṛṣṇa's place. The quality will be high and the conditions, circumstances, the strictness in the circumstances may be loosened. This is the, on the whole. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The quality, that will be high, and other conditions conducive to help them that are recommended so long, so far, that is, that may be neglected if the Kṛṣṇa Nāma proper we get, then these formalities may not be of much importance. That is the meaning. So puraścaryā of course that is conducive, that may help us, but that contribution may not be given so much importance. The more importance has been given to get the real Name from a real Guru and then to cultivate it with the serving temperament along with the real associates. That is what is really necessary.

And these things are recommended only for the gr̥hastha that are living alone, always engaged in material engagements, worldly affairs. They will try. It is very difficult to have the eternal association and the service along with the devotees, unalloyed devotees. They should take to these advantages and may try to improve their condition gradually. For this, so many other things have been recommended.

But the main thing is that we must get the real thing, and the real mania is the association of the sādhu, and association means the serving attitude. Otherwise we can't have any association proper with the higher layer. Association means service, and service of the genuine sādhu, and with that company if we get the real Name we can go straight and very shortly, shortly. That is the purpose of all the advice we find in different places, in different forms in the scriptures.

Hari-bhakti-vilāsa; that is mainly recommended for the householders who generally have a secluded life, may not have company easily with the association. They will take this sort of advantage, as occasionally in particular time and particular place they must give their attention to this thought and accumulate something, something, collect. That is the main idea.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Ha, ha. Once, our Guru Mahārāja wanted to pass the Puruṣottama month that occurred in the, perhaps August-September, during the day of Kṛṣṇa Janmāṣṭamī, Puruṣottama month, he wanted to pass it in Vṛndāvana. And sent Mādhava Mahārāja, you know, you have seen the Founder of Chaitanya Gauḍīya Maṭh?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: No Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mādhava Mahārāja.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was then Hayagrīva Brahmachāri, white clad. He sent him, wanted to send him in advance to hire a house in Mathurā. And the day he had to start for Mathurā for hiring the house in advance, that was Janmāṣṭamī, the birthday of Kṛṣṇa. And we are all fasting, and those that cannot fast, they may take some juice [?] in this way we observed the day, Janmāṣṭamī day, the birthday of Kṛṣṇa. Prabhupāda ordered his personal cook, “Give some rice to Hayagrīva Brahmachāri. Prepare for him, that he will have to take the journey, and by fasting if he undertakes the journey there may be disturbance in the activity there in Mathurā.” And he must find out a house because after two days Prabhupāda is starting for there with his party. He asked, “Give him food.” Food means rice, not only other things, not anukalpa, but he proposed to give him rice. So such is the way.

That Kṛṣṇa Nāma, Kṛṣṇa mantra, it does not matter much about rules and regulations, but this is rāga-mārga, anurāga. And one must be fit for such stage. But Hayagrīva Prabhu anyhow took, not rice but some other things as anukalpa and started...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:...then he used to take fast, complete fast he used to observe. But for the service, he negligently, disregard of this viddhi-mārga, this ordinary physical regulation.

Vaidhī-bhāva, vaidhī bhakta du karastu raga de bhava nava te [?] So long we do not get any clue of the rāga-mārga, that the method of love and affection, we are to respect and observe so many rulings as are given to us, extended to us from the śāstra. But whenever we have got a tinge of that higher thing, the ruci, the greed, the sincere earnestness, for the truth, other formalities may be neglected. Or we should not waste our time for making too much for those formalities. The central thread is our sincere attraction. If that is anyhow achieved then we must not waste our time in allowing us to attend this side and that side. We attentively must follow that side, that most important inner thread, the sincere attraction for the love, and only with the help of the service of the devotees of that type of higher realisation.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Raghunātha dāsa placed all, he showed the, we understand the best example of following sankhya and all that, but still he was above it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, that will, in order to avoid the misapplication, we need not think that we have got that valuable thread of earnest attraction.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Then jump.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, we may not jump, may not be too much optimistic in our realisation, so the care must be taken for that, Ācārya. And only we shall try to stick to the rulings of the śāstra, but whenever there is any position for selection, whether this side or that side, whether the sādhu-sevā or the rulings of the śāstra, we must select the service of the devotees. Do you follow?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu nityam / dāsyāya te mama raso
'stu raso 'stu satyam

[Vilāpa-kusamāñjali, 16]

I am not, I have not attained such realisation of a higher type that I shall neglect all rulings and scriptures, the orders of the scriptures and thought, like the sahajiyā, that I have got that Kṛṣṇa prema and leaving everything aside I shall go in rāga-mārga. The lust, we may not misidentify love for lust. That sort of care must be taken. So the association of the real sādhu, that will make me right in my path. That is all important, the association, the normal association, higher association, that will do away, whatever difficulty will come, they will help to do it away. That is the all important thing, sādhu-saṅga, and then śāstra. But whenever the inner awakening of that love comes we shall try to take advantage of that valuable thing, not caring much for those that are meant for the ordinary people. But the sādhu-saṅga will guard me from all discrepancies.

_____ [?] Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

'sādhu saṅga,' 'sādhu saṅga,' - sarva śāstre kaya, lava-mātra sādhu-saṅge sarva-siddhi haya

[“The verdict of all revealed scriptures is that by even a moment’s association with a pure devotee, one can attain all success.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.54]

So when Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura’s recommendation if we closely try to follow we will find somewhat separate from that of Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī, because Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura’s recommendations are mostly for, not an organised sādhu saṅga, a solitary realisation. So he has given more stress to the life of a householder than that of a sannyāsī. “Remain a householder and strictly try to follow all these rulings.” We shall find more, such stress in the writings of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

But Prabhupāda he came with, he made it very cheap, the sādhu saṅga. He started a mission with the sādhus and then anyone and everyone he called and gave that sādhu saṅga, the services of the higher association, gradually. The first group is serving him, and the next group that is carrying out his order, another group serving the first class servants, then the second class servants. In this way all gets the chance of sādhu saṅga, sādhu saṅga, service of the Vaiṣṇava. That was very cheaply available. So all those rulings, they have not much value, which was meant for the secluded life, independent life of the gr̥hastha. That that could be neglected, only that they got advantage of cent percent time serving advantage, a serving chance, sādhu, Vaiṣṇava sevā. Vaiṣṇava sevā is very rarely available because a Vaiṣṇava generally does not like to take any service. That is the difficulty. Vaiṣṇava generally, their tendency is not to take service from anyone. But here, in an organised body, necessarily, because he’s serving a higher type, this ordinary service he may take from someone, ordinary service, this cooking, then cleansing the dress, if another man does then he can engage himself in the higher type of service. And they can earn more, so no chance of being loser. So in this way, this organised, when the Vaiṣṇava sevā was available, then the most effective, most promoting advantage, we got here so we could – certain degree. Am I clear? No?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So Vaiṣṇava sevā is very rarely to be found because no Vaiṣṇava wants to take service for himself. But here, in an organic body, it was so arranged that one Vaiṣṇava he's giving his service to another Vaiṣṇava of a lower type, but he's getting the advantage in serving of a higher type of Vaiṣṇava. So, on the whole he's a gainer, so he's not loser, so he can give chance to others to serve him, he's not become loser, and all together doing some higher form of service, engaged. So this is the key to attain the success being in the association of an organised body. That is their special advantage, to live in the association of the sādhus. What is very rarely available we can get here very cheaply, Vaiṣṇava sevā. Very cheaply we can get the chance of Vaiṣṇava sevā which is very rarely to be found.

And the Lord says that, "Who serves Me, he's not My real servant. But who serves My servant, he's My real servant."

Because when God receives his service and He wants to give something but he won't accept, the servant won't accept anything from the God. "No, no. I shall serve. I won't want anything as remuneration." So God cannot give anything to the servant. But if anyone serves His servant then He thinks that, "He's doing My duty." So He's very much inclined towards the servant of the servant. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

ye me bhakta-janāḥ partha, ne me bhaktaś ca te janāḥ mad bhaktānām
ca ye bhaktās, te me bhaktatamā mataḥ

["Those who worship Me directly are not real devotees; real devotees are those who are devoted to My devotees."] [Ādi Purāṇa]

"Those that are direct servitors, I do not care for them. But really, who serves My servants, they are My real servants. I am very much indebted to them, very much inclined to. Because what I cannot do, they, he's doing on My behalf."

Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So He's very much propitiated with them.
Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: In Caitanya līlā Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu would practice kīrtana at Śrīnivāsa Ācārya's house before They took this kīrtana to the people, there was some rehearsal, some practice behind closed doors, yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh? What do you say?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Lord Caitanya and the devotees...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was engaged in Kṛṣṇa kīrtana in Śrīvāsa Aṅgan, then some ordinary people...

Vidagdha-Mādhava: No, They would practice Their kīrtana together and then They would go out with the kīrtana.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Naga-saṅkīrtana.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: After some time practising with the devotees They would go and present the kīrtana to the people in general, yes?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. First He began kīrtana in the compound of Śrīvāsa Ācārya, Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita, and then when the opposition came from outside, then He took up the challenge and introduced big processional kīrtana along the roads, streets of Nadia town, Navadvīpa town. But before that He used to perform kīrtana within the compound of Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita, in his house, within the house of Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita. But a challenge came.

Some lodged complaint to the town controller, administrator, “That there at night we can't get sleep. These people they're chanting loudly and this mṛdaṅga playing. We feel much disturbed. You do some sort of restriction, otherwise we'll feel much disturbed."

Then that Kāzī, the ruler of the town, he came on a visit and found that in some other houses also they're playing with mṛdaṅga and kīrtana, dancing, all these things, and he opposed them. Perhaps they did not care. Then he broke the mṛdaṅga, the Kāzī, by his men, and went away.

And this news reached Nimāi Paṇḍita that, "Some of our neighbours had lodged complaint to the town's administrator and he came and visited. And those that are following us used to chant kīrtana in their own respective house with mṛdaṅga. Some of the mṛdaṅgas have been broken and they're warned against further saṅkīrtana in the house."

Then Mahāprabhu said, "Let Me see what administrator, what Kāzī comes to oppose Me." So ordered in a general, this processional kīrtana on the streets of Navadvīpa.

His quarter. And the Kāzī seeing that huge numbers collected, almost the whole town was mad to join that saṅkīrtana and dancing and chanting, and a huge mob. The Kāzī was much afraid and he entered into a corner of his house and hid himself there.

Then Mahāprabhu approached his, when He found no position in the road, then He entered the house of Kāzī. "Where is that Kāzī? You come out. Why do you disturb our saṅkīrtana. This is nothing of any political character. It is purely spiritual character. Why you have come to this?”

Then anyhow, Kāzī came very timid because the mob is overflowing mob, the Kāzī came out. And Mahāprabhu had a direct talk, and the Kāzī told that: “You are my nephew [?] in the relation of the neighbourhood. So though I have disturbed with you but you’re Hindus, a particular section of the so-called Hindus, they lodged a complaint and I had to take some step against that.”

“But why today you have hid yourself?”

“The day when I broke the mṛdaṅga, that very night I had a dream, and a furious dream; that one Nṛsiṃha Mūrti just coming over my breast, sitting over my breast. ‘I shall tear asunder your breast. You have disturbed My saṅkīrtana.’ So I was much afraid and I left that campaign, so I don’t do, I don’t like to disturb You any longer. Whatever You like You can do.” In this way.

Devotees: [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So, I’ve seen in our ISKCON many very wild kīrtanas. And I was wondering if there’s a proper mood, a proper attitude, or a guideline in how the group can derive the highest benefit in congregational chanting, if there’s a particular mood, or a particular consciousness in which the group could share and experience the Holy Name.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So our attention must always be given to the quality. But it is not possible to have it always. There are many types of devotees. So it has been mentioned that we should join such a kīrtana party, saṅkīrtana party, where at least the leader must be, at least one must be śuddha-bhakta, and under his guidance the different types of devotee may go on singing saṅkīrtana. But the guide, at least one, must be śuddha-bhakta, pure devotee. That has been told by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Otherwise we won't join that, at least one śuddha-bhakta amongst the guide.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] The purity of purpose you don't find in their saṅkīrtana, the standard, the pure standard you say?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Well, I had an experience recently where the boys were very frivolous and not very serious. And I was wondering if there was a way to preach to these boys how one can engage in a kīrtana, or what's the proper mood?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not self-control, nor proper devotional mood...

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...but only physical movements you find there. Not mental or spiritual adjustment.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Something like that. Sometimes just slapstick kind of comedy kind of things.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Some kind of exhibition.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes, some kind of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Playing mood, as if they're playing, showing a play.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Imitation, rather than the real, more or less imitating. But the boys may be something but the leader of that kīrtana must be bona fide. The main object must be connected. Some may be of that type. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. They're taking it very lightly, not seriously. Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. All may not come with real purpose, but ulterior motive also many have gathered. So such things are seen to occur.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Vidagdha Prabhu, you stayed last night here?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: No Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, you went away and come this morning?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any new face come there, no, yesterday?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yesterday, Jayapataka Mahārāja, he just left.

I find myself very busy with this work, but sometimes I think, ‘what can I do for you?’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. You engage yourself busily there. I will be satisfied with that. Devotee: What are you doing there?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I work with artists, clay sculpting, in clay, many figures will adorn the samādhi, devatas and kīrtana all around the building, and devotional personalities, Hanumānjī, Prahāda, King Pṛthu, Lakṣmī Devī, all around in many murals.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is devising the plan?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Who is?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I am.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Plan and construction, both sides you are looking after?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very good. Do it. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But those figures will be outside?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes. I just went to Vṛndāvana and on the way stopped by Taj Mahal, and although from far distance it was very nice, coming closer it was disappointment, it was dry.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He came, they came to consult with me, “What sort of figures we should carve, engrave there?” Because there is a question that the Vaiṣṇava figure, figures of the Vaiṣṇavas should be worshipped, respected, should be given some respect of worshipping, devotional respect, and not as mere decoration. The Śrī Mūrti of the Deities in Bagh Bazaar Maṭh, with some steel frame, Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa Mūrtis They’re placed over the doors, but Prabhupāda discarded Them. “Remove Them.” And the Rādhā-Govinda Mūrtis and other Mūrtis just on the doors in steel frame, that was removed, and some oṁkāra, praṇava was replaced there.

So Keśava Mahārāja, the Vedānta Society, they have placed as gate-man, gate-keeper, the Vaiṣṇava, the Jagāi Mādhāi, and Vāsudeva, and Devānanda Paṇḍita, like gate-keepers they have engaged the Mūrti, and I discarded it. I don’t enter the temple for that. Our Guru Mahārāja he placed Madhvācārya, Rāmānuja, and Viṣṇuswāmī and Nimbārka and made arrangement for their worship.

In the south we find engraved figures of so many Deities on the outside of the temples, but our Guru Mahārāja did not allow. The Vaiṣṇava should be, wherever we find such emblem, we must bow down, some sort of devotional regard should be paid to them. They should not be placed in such a way that others will belittle it. Then we’ll be responsible for that. The ordinary people they may thrust some mud on the face, this and that.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: And birds may come...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And birds may come and pass their stool on the head. These things are anti devotional. And when they came to me for that engravement or erecting the idols here in Vṛndāvana temple I advised in that way. Very cautiously you will do in such a way, go on very cautiously, that people at large may not have any chance of showing disregard to the figures, respectable, venerable figures. We should have such thing in our mind.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So what will be the condition here then?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: These things are sheltered but they're outside, so far.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not worshipped?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: No. That is the plan so far. But what about a mural, say, like a Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam scene with Mahārāja Parīkṣit and Śukadeva Goswāmī in a flat, a base relief? Yeah? Under a roof, is that acceptable or not?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some sort of shelter must be there so that crows and other birds may not come ordinarily and put some filthy things there.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I understand that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And also, there should be some arrangement of showing some respect, either flower garlands or some chandan paste, some sort of respect should be shown. For devotion, not for pleasure seeking, that should help our devotional temperament to arouse.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not just decoration.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not mere decoration.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: What about the demigods, let's say...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Demigods may be said first, only demigods have no value. Demigods not showing respect to the God proper, some sort.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: And a devotee kīrtana, just not specific devotees, but devotees in kīrtana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow some devotional respect should be given, in any position, that is desirable, not to belittle their connection.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: The idea behind the samādhi is, I believe, is to attract many...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At most the śanta-rasa devotees, śanta-rasa, that may be placed to certain extent, śanta-rasa. But those that are engaged in the service of different types, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyura-rasa servitors, they must be given some respectful environment. That should be the ideal to follow, that that may arouse respect and veneration into the heart of the sightseer.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So if a person can respect a living sādhu then certainly he'll respect the Mūrti. But if he can't respect the living sādhu then he'll make all offence to the Mūrti also.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Though we find it extensively used in the southern temples, in the temples in the south we find lavishly such things. But our Guru Mahārāja did not allow, the belittling. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. A respectable position we may give such those figures so that with the attitude of veneration people will look at them respectfully, in this way. So somewhat inside, but outside the temple, engraving such things - Gaura Haribol - according to one's own.

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitai Caitanya. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, I've seen in at least one purport where our Swāmī Mahārāja he says it's not possible to go back to Godhead in one lifetime. Then, on the other extreme, a friend of mine in ISKCON claims that Prabhupāda, our Swāmī Mahārāja, gave the arrangement that if we simply chant sixteen rounds daily, follow four regulative principals, and do some service, we're going back home, in this lifetime. Is this possible that the spiritual master can make such an arrangement?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There may be, in a particular case there may be. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written, in his way, that from the stage of varṇāśrama a man can go, a man can reach to the highest destination if he can utilise himself very properly. It is possible in one life to attain svarūpa-siddhi. But he told that from the conception of varṇāśrama, I found it, perhaps in Caitanya-Śikṣāmṛta or so. Anyhow it is not impossible but it is not to be trusted, very, in an ordinary way we can't trust it, but it is not impossible, so much. By the grace of the Lord anything may be possible, anything and everything may be possible, there cannot be anything impossible. But still, generally we must prepare ourselves not to put faith in such things, that in one life we have attained the highest aim. But at the same time we may think that it may not be impossible, because the grace of the Infinite is also infinite. One may have such chance, though very, very rare. Nothing is impossible by, from the Absolute Grace.

But what to that person who is not well-versed in very plane of highest realisation. Just as one zamīndār of Chinipur [?] came to ask Prabhupāda, taking him in a solitary place. "Have you seen Kṛṣṇa, have you seen?" Very earnestly.

And Prabhupāda answered, "If I say I have seen, or I may say I have not seen, what is that to you? You learn, your necessity will be to learn what is Kṛṣṇa and how to see Him. That is your concern. And another may deceive you, 'Yes, I have seen Kṛṣṇa.' You do not know what is Kṛṣṇa, how to see, he may deceive you, exploit you. So that is not necessary. It is necessary to learn who is Kṛṣṇa. Where is He? And those that attain Him, what is their position? What is what? We are to know that. Otherwise such statements have no value, whether one can get Kṛṣṇa or one cannot."

It depends on the knowledge of the enquirer, the direct realisation. Otherwise this is hearsay, ha, ha, no value to anyone. But still, it may give us some hope, "Yes, it is, let me try, let me try." But the trial must be in a proper line, may not be misguided. There are so many difficulties and hindrances on the way. So many things may come that we may misconceive something for Kṛṣṇa. It is also not impossible, in the way of siddhi, so many different mysterious powers, and so many sceneries may be seen in the way of one's sādhana. So the higher guidance may be always necessary, and the safe thing. Anyābhilāṣa, and the scripture as well as the living guide, always.

kṛṣṇa-bhakti-janma-mūla haya 'sādhū-saṅga' [kṛṣṇa-prema janme, teṅho punar mukhya aṅga]

["The root cause of devotional service to Lord Kṛṣṇa is association with advanced devotees. Even when one's dormant love for Kṛṣṇa awakens, association with devotees is still most essential."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.83]

The very root of Kṛṣṇa bhakti, the very seed, the very basis, is the association with a genuine devotee of Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa-prema janme, when one has attained the highest thing, that is love, that prema for Kṛṣṇa, punar mukhya aṅga, at that time also, at that stage also, the sādhu plays the important part. Under no circumstances are the sādhus eliminated from our circle of bhajana, devotion. Always under the guidance of the Guru, this Rūpa Mañjarī, or Lalitā, or Yaśodā, Nanda, Śrīdama, Sudama, under Their guidance and with Their association we are to do our quota. So when we are liberated, we have attained that stage, there also sādhus are playing important part. So sādhu, real association that is all important from the beginning to the end. And under no circumstances that can be eliminated, even in the highest stage when I am engaged in the real service, there also, so many I like. In the midst of so many friends I am discharging my duty, not alone, never alone. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From beginning to end. So it has been laid much stress and the beginners may not take it very happily, “Because between myself and Kṛṣṇa some other person will come to disturb the direct connection, that is not tolerable.” For the beginners it seems like that. But when one will come to higher realisation then they will feel. Just as I gave the example of the spectacles; the sight and the eye, there is something, the spectacles, but it enhances the view and not opposes. So sādhu never opposes but increases our inner relationship with, just as in telescope.

So, bhr̥tyasya-bhr̥tya-paricāraka-bhr̥tya-bhr̥tyasa [Mukunda-Mālā-stotra, 25].

So many guardians I have got, all well wishers, so I am safe. As many guardians I possess there in the higher circle I am so much safe for my well future. That is the line. So always I am servant of the servant of the servant of the servant, in this way they want. Outwardly it will be, “What is this? This is not desirable that I shall go so low and so many persons to tamper between.” Apparently it will seem like that, but it is not so, just the

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

That is not opaque. Transparent, more and more transparent, and helping, sympathising, and not taking a part of my morsel, crust of bread, not like bread, finite thing that if they come to take part then I will be loser. It is not like that. But they will come with infinite resources to me, to educate me about the infinite character of the thing. Of different type, different mentalities, different stage, different light, different shade, they will come to me to represent, all well-wishers, all givers.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Guru Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Could you tell us something of the character of Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu? Could you speak a little bit on Gaura līlā, of the character of Mahāprabhu?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Govinda Mahārāja [?] What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu's character. He just wants, he's requesting you to speak something about the character, ha, ha, of Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa and Rādhārāṇī combined, when Both of Them combine, He's very eager to grant the ordinary public persons to enter into the highest stage of realisation. When Both of them come down to the meanest circle to take them up into the highest position of realisation of giving Themselves, of distributing Themselves, Their all wealth. That is Mahāprabhu, Gaurāṅga.

"The highest wealth ever conceived, take, take it, I am bestowing it to you."

He comes and invites all. That Kṛṣṇa, when Kṛṣṇa is graciously distributing Himself He's Mahāprabhu, with Rādhārāṇī, both combined. Hare Kṛṣṇa. This is more wonderful than dream, than imagination, than any hallucination or speculation. Still, it is real. If we can accept it as so, then we have got the highest, possess the highest prospect, sukṛti, if I can take it in that way.

Sva-bhajana-vibhajana-prayojan-avatārī. Jīva Goswāmī gives this statement. When the Kṛṣṇa has got this object of life, He has come down to give out Himself to the public, sva-bhajana, vibhajana, wants to distribute amongst others, what is His own temperament, what He Himself is doing. He's eager to give it to others. His own function He's distributing to others, to the public. He has come in the form of Gaurāṅga. Sva-bhajana-vibhajana-prayojana, and avatārī means that highest conception of Godhead, He in such a pose that He wants to distribute Himself wholly to the public.

“Come, take possession of Myself, possession of Myself wholesale, come. I am the highest type of beauty, and charm, and sweetness, and anything you may conceive as desirable.”

Follow?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Kṛṣṇa Himself has become Guru. He has come Himself direct, to play the function of the Guru.

As an Ācārya, in the garb of an Ācārya Kṛṣṇa has come down. “I give you the clue, how, very shortly and very beautifully you can attain Me. I have come to help you to catch Me.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

“Take Me. I have come. And in this way I can be caught very easily.” Ha, ha, ha, ha. “If you want to catch Me, come this way, you thoroughly can capture Me.” Ha, ha, ha. “I am giving you the clue. The key of My storehouse you can come and loot, plunder, there.”

Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, when we chant śrī-kṛṣṇa-caitanya prabhu nityānanda, śrī-advaita gadādhara śrīvāsādi-gaura-bhakta-vṛnda, of course we have no doubt, but is that traced, that particular Pañca-Tattva mantra, is that traced? We can trace that in the writings of Bhaktivinoda perhaps? We don't have any doubt but for the purpose of, sometimes people may query, "From where have you got this mantra?" Of course as far as we're concerned there's no difficulty.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It has come from the paraphernalia, but I could not have any trace in any scripture. And at the same time I am to tell you, there are two types of this Pañca-Tattva mantra. One in the Narahari Sarakara School, instead of Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita they put the name of Narahari Sarakara, Pañca-Tattva. But the Goswāmīs have accepted Pañca-Tattva as these five. In Caitanya-caritāmṛta we find Pañca-Tattva including Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita instead of Narahari Sarakara. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. And this is generally accepted, but there is a particular school, they like to introduce Narahari Sarakara instead of Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita. But Sanātana Goswāmī and others have given this. And Svarūpa Dāmodara, the highest authority in the Caitanya School accepted Paṇḍita Śrīvāsa. In Caitanya-caritāmṛta this śloka is also mentioned there, Pañca-Tattva with Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, could you tell us something about Ekādaśī, how that arrangement took place? Ekādaśī, there's a story...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ekādaśī, yes, the history you may find in Hari-bhakti-vilāsa. But what I got, the purport from Guru Mahārāja, he told, he explained in an ontological way, that generally in the Ekādaśī tithi the tendency of enjoyment of Kṛṣṇa is increased, is increased. And so, the devotees on their part, they are exceptionally; become more busy to supply the objects of His enjoyment, this bhoga, for His bhoga, His enjoyment. And so they do not find much time to cook for themselves and engage themselves in their own livelihood. So upavāsa means they generally stay or live very near to Him to give, supply what is needed for His satisfaction, _____ [?] to live in the vicinity of Kṛṣṇa and minimise their own necessities of life. That is one aspect.

Another thing from Purāṇa we understand, the śina on the day of Ekādaśī, generally śina selects their abode in some of the crops, and so they should not be used by the ordinary devotees. In general it is said, it is mentioned somewhere, taha upavasa jaha nama vai [?] It is mentioned in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, when the Bengal devotees went to have a darśana of Śrī Caitanyadeva during the ratha-yatra, they went direct in a procession to the abode of Mahāprabhu, the residence of Mahāprabhu. Only offering their respect from Śrībhadrā [?] to Jagannātha, did not enter in. And there Mahāprabhu requested them to take some prasādam when they're coming from a long distance and the fatigue of the travelling, all the concern, considering all these things. And they took prasādam, and then, under the guidance of Mahāprabhu they came to have darśana of Jagannātha.

Then Pratāparudra Mahārāja, from the roof of his house, palace, he's looking at all these things and putting questions to Sārvabhauma Paṇḍita. "What is this? That generally people come to this place of pilgrimage and they make kora karma [?] and observe fasting, and then after having a darśana of Jagannātha they take food. But why these people without caring for the darśana of Jagannātha, or any fasting or any other observances, they're taking food, and also being united with Mahāprabhu without having darśana of Jagannātha Deva?"

In that place it is mentioned, "Where there is Mahā prasāda, no necessity, no question of any fasting.” It is mentioned there. And accordingly, many persons, especially the father of Natali Subash [?] Janaki Bosh [?], he was a Pleader in Kattack, every Ekādaśī day he visited Purī so that he may not have to fast, observe the Ekādaśī, then take prasādam, rice, anu-prasādam. So many go there and take.

But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, and śuddha-bhaktas, they ask us, that in that higher type of rāga-mārga that observance may not be necessary. But we do not consider ourselves in that position, so we observe fasting as recommended in Hari-bhakti-vilāsa.

So Ekādaśī, because Kṛṣṇa’s enjoying spirit increases, we should diminish our ordinary necessities of life in order to make more time to help His service. That is one underlying principle. And another, we should take not anything and everything, though in small quantities with a fasting mood, but some selected things where the sin does not enter in that particular time, or particular moment of the day, particular part of the time. From these two things we observe. We take something, not everything which we ordinarily take, and also we do not take much, anukalpa, means half feeding, less feeding, anukalpa means because we should rouse in our mind that this day the necessity I have got the special duty of supplying the services proper to my Master. This day He wants to receive more. It is by His will, it is His will, and I must abide by that.

Ekādaśī, especially in prapañca we find this doa bhatta [?], this ebb and tide, the whole nature is filled with more juice in the Ekādaśī day generally. And from the physical consideration also some say, if we observe fast before this full moon or new moon, no moon, then it is helpful for our physical health also, because the general ebb and tide wherever there is water. And eighty-five per cent in our body is water, so water, it will be wholesome for us also to observe some sort of fasting to keep our health regular normally. The physical meaning also is given in this way by some scholars.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

You are to take prasādam here, now, or to go away now? You have a call of your duty?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I can stay. I stay away enough. I should probably stay here for some time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Today you are to leave?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: No. I will stay.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whole day?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I have some duties in the afternoon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Duties in afternoon. So after taking prasādam you'll start for Māyāpur, is it?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Gaura Hari.

Kamalāsana: Mahārāja, Keith and I would like to know if we can stay here for a few weeks at your āśrama?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He's asking if he and Keith could stay a few weeks at the āśrama?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is he?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Kamalāsana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kamalāsana. Yes. You are at liberty to stay here as you like. Kamalāsana: Thank you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It is meant to help the bona fide devotees who want to enquire, to know about Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa and Gurudeva. It is meant for that purpose, so you live here as long as you like. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That is very kind. Kamalāsana: Yes.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: You're very kind Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So today we may stop here...

...

So new, Satya Nārāyaṇa...

Devotee: Satyānanda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Satyānanda, he's only newcomer, only he?

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: No. Ten years ago he was initiated by Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, newcomer...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Newcomer here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Did you visit this place here before, no?

Devotee: No. This is first time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: First time, and you alone?

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Vidagdha-Mādhava Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vidagdha-Mādhava Prabhu, you come alone or along with him?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I just came from Māyāpur, together.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Came from Māyāpur, but taken anything here, no?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: O yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any question?

Devotee: Well no, not yet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, good, ha, ha. Then if any of you put some question to open discussion.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I have a question. Yesterday you were saying if a pure devotee is leading a kīrtana then it is quite all right to join in this kīrtana. So my question is, how does one tell if a pure devotee is leading the kīrtana?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The kīrtana should be lead by at least one śuddha-bhakta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At least, at least one, the leader, at least one must be śuddha-bhakta. Then we can expect any good result from joining that kīrtana party.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But he's asking, how to know, how will we know if he's a śuddha- bhakta or not?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will be there according to, as we decide in every other case also, our previous knowledge, experience, and inner consciousness, and opinions of the bona fide known sādhus. Generally, wherever we take some decision, how do we do? What are the ingredients on the basis of which we take any decision? In any case our previous experience, our internal suggestion, and also the opinions which I know, that is also within my experience, opinions about him, whom we know to be bona fide, their opinion about that leader, and my experience, whatever I have gathered previously. And then again my spiritual free reason, free reason in the spiritual field, that is conscience. And by the help of them I am to assert.

If I have already heard about him, gathered opinion from the higher circle whom I can place confidence, that it should be the first thing. The second thing, my experience of the śāstra, the scripture, that this should be the sign of a good devotee. And then, my internal approval, the new suggestion, then my mind, that is imitation, it is imitation without any life within. If you have got experience of the world of spiritual vitality then you'll be able to detect whether that is lip deep or heart deep. You'll be able to feel that, what is the depth, what is the depth of the words? Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And you will have to acknowledge that only the tune, only music is not kīrtana. Kīrtana, Hari kīrtana is something other than music. So mere music, music also can appeal our sentiment, but mere music is not Hari kīrtana. Hari is the all important factor, and Hari means serving attitude, and service, that must have certificate from the bona fide Vaiṣṇava. In this way we are to understand things spiritual. Spiritual things, test should be spiritual standard, and that should be gathered from that circle. In this way we are to proceed to every judgement concerning spiritual questions, that test, sādhu-śāstra.

Sādhu-śāstra, guru-vākya, cittete koriyā aikya, Narottama Ṭhākura says [in Śrī Guru- vandanā]. The sādhu, the opinion of the devotees, śāstra, the opinion of the spiritual scripture, guru-vākya, and we must try to harmonise with them what we have heard from our Gurudeva, adjustment. And cittete koriyā aikya, and internal approval. I shall have to gather about the consideration of those three, then I can go forward. This is the general line to negotiate with every new thing, new approach. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

What we are to do? This is not only within this physical world, nor in the mental world, nor in the scientific jurisdiction, but passing that; and also passing the stage of siddhi, mukti, the plane of exploitation and the plane of renunciation. And also the plane of viddhi-bhakti, that is constitutional dedication. Rāga-bhakti, that is spontaneous, natural, self giving, self surrendering. The degree of self surrender, that is to be considered, and that is to be given the highest importance, surrender. Our temperament of surrender it vanishes in rāga-bhakti, anurāga-bhakti, self dedication, self dedication. Just as exploitation, ruthless exploitation, lawless exploitation in the lowest. And there also, lawless exploited tendency is at the acme of the highest. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is exploitation of two kinds, systematic and ruthless, lawless, and so, this is the perverted reflection. So, in the real world, reckless dedication, that is rāga-bhakti, not calculating. Calculated dedication in Vaikuṇṭha. So that is the standard, and accordingly our judgement should be taken or should be given. Gaura Haribol. The general conception is such, exploitation, dedication, and abscissa, marginal, no-man's-land; that is renunciation. Renunciation means above exploitation, but dedication begins positive side, to give, die to live, Hegelian theory, die to live. That is the theory to be followed. Prepare yourself to die a hard death and you'll find you'll be gainer thereby. No risk no gain. As much risk, as much done, so much gain: that is the main theory all through, dedication and exploitation opposite, and lawless, ruthless exploitation, and risky dedication. Gaura Haribol. In this way we are to measure things. The quality, quality, as much dedication, so much qualitative highness, but that must be to the good, Absolute Good, then it's guaranteed, otherwise everything is gone. Absolute Good is such. Praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā, tad viddhi:

[tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā

upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisance, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Higher knowledge is allowed only in such, towards such ethic, praṇipāt, paripraśna, sevā. If you have your liking at all for the enquiry of higher domain, you must couch yourself in this way, with this dress. That is, praṇipāt, surrender, paripraśna, honest enquiry, and sevā, that is the important thing. You are for Him, not He is for you. For Himself - Hegel - ha, ha, Hegel has given a good basis, ha, ha. Die to live, and, Reality is for Itself, and not for you, or everything. Reality cannot be dependent to any other thing, for His existence or to fulfil the purpose. He's independent in the beginning and the end, the future and the past. He's created by Himself, and future He's meant to maintain His existence for His own purpose, not subservient to any other purpose, then He's no Reality. So Reality is for Itself, Reality is by Itself, and your question, self determination, die to live. If you want to live a proper life you'll have to die as you are at present with false ego. That is the broad thing to be followed particularly, the basis of Vaiṣṇavism proper.

But not details mentioned there. What is the real conception of the Reality? It is Vraja līlā, it is Kṛṣṇa conception, all these things. There they're silent, that is, they're silent. But Mahāprabhu, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, has taken it. Reality in Its highest conception cannot but be Śrī Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana, the cow boy. And you are to enquire about that, why He's a cow boy? Why He's not a brāhmaṇa? Why He's not a yogī? Why He's not a king, a mere cow boy? Gaura Haribol.

The medium: not the sattya-guṇa brāhmaṇa, nor the raja-guṇa kṣatriya king, but in the vaiśya mentality, nor the śūdra also, in the middle, a type of aboriginal vaiśya. Not capitalist vaiśya, cow keeper. Cow, sattya-guṇa, amongst the animals the cows are representative of sattya-guṇa, śanta. And it is told that amongst the animals the cow birth is the last. After that, that animal gets chance of a human birth, to come for, to be prepared for independent action. Otherwise they're all enjoying or suffering the result of their past karma, no independent karma is possible in the paśu or in the devata, generally, only in the human, in the taṭasthā, in the middle position. They can, human birth is the only the basis of taking independent action, and all below, they're suffering or enjoying the results of their past, no independent action possible there. And the last animal birth is cow. Innocent and giving, giving to others by milk, by cultivation help to the society, less taking and more giving, innocent position. Then after that, the term finished, gets another chance of human birth and new karma can arise from human birth.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Cow keeping, cow keeper, cow keeping is a most easy duty, easy task. Go-wallahing [?] with the gopīs, cow keeping girls, cow keeping girls. Human, to select human species, and again therein cow keeping, and again therein cow keeping girls. That comes the highest position, highest posing rather, posing, by which we can give our maximum service to the Supreme Entity. Boys also to somewhat. Boys, girls, grown up men, in different types, śanta, dāsya, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyā in Vṛndāvana, the Yamunā, the peacock, the parrot, the cuckoo, the deer, they're very favourable to create a favourable environment for the simple and sweet pastimes. Simple and sweet, simplicity is near sweetness, basis of sweetness. Complexity is not, simplicity. Within simplicity sweetness lives in, a simple way of life, not gorgeous, half jungle.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

George Washington, after finishing the war, he went to farmer's life, we are told. In the last stage of his life he selected the life of a farmer. Not a warrior, or minister, or Prime Minister, or director, nothing else of the kind.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Anything?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes Mahārāja. Yesterday you were saying...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Though it is clear what you put: the first question?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Very clear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right, then?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So, we are going by Guru, śāstra and sādhu, and I would like to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, our heart's approval, our inner approval, we must give some trace there because that took me to my Guru. Guru is all in all, but who took me to that Guru? My inner sentiment, inner guide, it did not like anything else in the environment, but selected the advice. Who? I need not come, so many others they do not care to come, so many others that may ridicule this life. But what made me to come here? I cannot depreciate that internal approval, that conscience, sincerely. So that is also an important factor. Ultimately we are to depend on it most when collecting advice from the scriptures, when seeking advice and relying on the advice of a sādhu, my internal approval that my inner friend, that only takes me there. Otherwise I might not have come, so many others did not care to come. Who has taken me to this plane?

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

"One who sincerely wants real good he can never be deceived, can never be deceived, when really a seeker after truth. Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati. My dear boy, one who is sincerely hankering after truth, he can never come across anything unfortunate."

If apparently come across, misfortune, if apparently some misfortune comes to visit us in our way, that is to enhance our position, our improvement. Some sort of danger may come on the way, but if we are sincere they will come and test us and then they will beat the drum of my glory when they will be rejected, the temptations will be rejected, they will plead for us again. So sincerity, sincere hankering after the truth. And that is if we are to go to further and that is of course made of sukṛti, the grace of the divine agents that are wandering through this cursed land to help others unconsciously. That is the basis.

[bhaktis tu bhagavad-bhaktasaṅgena parijāyate]

sat-saṅgaḥ prāpyate pumbhiḥ sukṛtaiḥ pūrvva-saṅcitaiḥ

[“Actually we can recognise a sādhu by sukṛti. Apparently we can know him from the śāstras, the scriptures, because the śāstra helps us to know who is a sādhu, and the sādhu gives us the interpretation of the śāstra. So sādhu and śāstra are interdependent, but the sādhu holds the more important position and the śāstra has the secondary position. The living śāstra is the sādhu, but to know who is Guru, who is sādhu, we are to consult the descriptions given about them in the scriptures. The symptoms of the sādhu, both of the Guru as well as the disciple, have been written in the Bhāgavatam, in the Gītā and in the Upaniṣads.”]
[Bṛhan-nāradya Purāṇa]

And there, my unconscious help, unconsciously got help from the agents of the Lord who are wandering to do good to the people at large, that is accumulated, that has helped me to understand what is good and what is bad. That is sukṛti, ajñāta-sukṛti, jñāta-sukṛti, then śraddhā, then sādhu-saṅga. Then I have come on the surface to, in search of a sādhu and I have got my Guru, guide, and I’m there, and so many others necessary in the journey. And as much as possible I shall gather help from the outside when I’m passing through the street. Sādhana, śravaṇa-daśā, varaṇa-daśā, sādhanā-daśā, āpana-daśā, prapanna-daśā, five stages of sādhanā, of realisation. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So yesterday we, you were instructing me that these devotees should not be outside. So to avoid the mistake...

End of 81.12.30.C_81.12.31.A

81.12.31.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Vidagdha-Mādhava: ... you could possibly give me some śāstric...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What can you do? The management, the administration is there, authority.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes [?] reasonable argument [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And you can put your plan to them, and also you may put to them that, “Śrīdhara Mahārāja says that they should be put, the venerable figures or pictures should be put in such a way that the general people may feel tendency to show some respect to them. And not that they should be placed in the exposure and they will be neglected by the people and the birds, animals, etc. That is his advice.”

And they came for Vṛndāvana matter, and I already told them that though it is seen in the southern provinces, but still our Guru Mahārāja’s feeling, sentiment, was in this way, and we try to follow that as much as possible. And it should be observed. But if they do not, what can you do?

Now, another vital question will come whether you’ll be a party to that or not. That is your point, lookout. But you should try that they should be put in a honourable position. Śrī Mūrti, Śrī Vighraha, or any of the spiritual things, should be placed in such a venerable position, atmosphere, so that draws respect and devotion of the public. Not only knowledge is necessary, but respectability should be drawn. Is it not?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only knowledge, that above this, above this, but with due respect They should be placed, and highest honour should be given to Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa. But they have got their respective position of respectability, then only it will prove that Mahāprabhu is on the highest respect. Otherwise, on whose head he's placed if they're not respected then who'll go to respect the highest thing? Gradually distributed, the respect should be gradually distributed, and the publicity, pracāra, propaganda, means not only the dry knowledge but respectability, devotion also, in the exhibition. This is something like an exhibition. But exhibition must not be placed in such a way that it will be only the food of the archaeology, or only for dry siddhānta conception, knowledge. But the adjustment of the veneration, devotional tendency, must be depicted there, for the good of the public and propaganda.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not just for architecture.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not mere architecture, and to distribute the knowledge, the gradation of the hierarchy, not only the hierarchy, but the devotional spirit should be dealt with, mixed there, mingled. That is my understanding from Guru Mahārāja's conduct and I am to express that. Gaura Sundara. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, śravaṇa-daśā and varaṇa-daśā, second one.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Varaṇa-daśā, śravaṇa-daśā and varaṇa-daśā, that when satisfied, first hearing, that is a probational life, and varaṇa-daśā, “Yes, it is, śravaṇa, I am satisfied with śravaṇa, now I accept the guide, guru-karaṇa.” Varaṇa-daśā means I take admission, formal admission I take. “That I, we, accept you as our leader. Now, whatever you’ll say I must obey.” That is varaṇa-daśā. “I first accept the clan, different, the Christianity, the Mohammedanism, this thing that thing, but I come first to accept the particular creed, and next the man who’ll be able to satisfy me according to this creed, and will give me my desired end of life.” That is guru-karaṇa, to accept the creed and then to accept the guide, guru-karaṇa. Then varaṇa-daśā finished. Then sādhana-daśā begins. Under his guidance I am to go on with the practices. That is sādhana-daśā, the third. And then to come to realise, to attain some tangible position, that, “Yes, I am feeling what was in words, what was in propaganda, now my heart feels the touch of that thing.” That is āpana-daśā. And the prapanna-daśā, “I am well established and I can distribute it to others also.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Sundara. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Then there are five stages...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What? Five stages!

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Śravaṇa, varaṇa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śravaṇa, varaṇa, sādhana, sādhana, within the camp. Then āpana, to feel it, to come to the position of self experience of the thing, attainment of some, they come to come in touch with the reality, and then to be established in that real plane, and to, so that I can distribute it to others also.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: You were explaining that in a particular stage of realisation one experiences within the heart, one gets that connection and then establishes himself in that plane. Then he's more or less safe? He can go on in a safe way from that point? In other words, the external manifestation of Kṛṣṇa is the Guru. And the Guru helps one to contact caitya Guru, yes, the Paramātmā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: There's two questions. First question, when we have inner conviction are we safe? And second question, does the external Guru help us to contact the caitya Guru?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: That is the same? Is that the same? Are those two things the same?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only to contact, but the external Guru helps to prepare us so that we can infallibly read the direction of caitya Guru. Caitya Guru direction first we get in a raw way, and then mahāntaḥ Guru comes, with the help of caitya Guru we come to mahāntaḥ Guru, that caitya Guru's help in raw. Not very systematically clear, a general. Then we come to mahāntaḥ Guru. We feel that caitya Guru's internal hankering is being satisfied and elaborate and it is more beautifully decorated, delivered. Then, with the help of mahāntaḥ Guru we again come to find it in our caitya Guru. They're helping one another. By the help of the mahāntaḥ Guru caitya Guru becomes more clear, or more developed. The inner caitya Guru that becomes more clear, cleansed from the different thoughts, ideas, mixed up from yogīc and jñānic and karmī, so many classes, they're mixed. The raw things, they become more clear by the help of mahāntaḥ Guru. And they can give such adherence more and more to the mahāntaḥ Guru. In this way both help one another.

Otherwise cooperation is not possible. And sometimes it may also happen that after, with the help of caitya Guru we have come to mahāntaḥ Guru, then after accepting mahāntaḥ Guru my caitya Guru has again been covered. Then mahāntaḥ Guru will try to help him, to take him in again, and to cleanse the dirt that has covered my caitya Guru. Again, by his care we may get my caitya Guru back. Caitya Guru for the, temporarily may be buried, by anartha, by Vaiṣṇava aparādhā, then mahāntaḥ Guru comes to our relief.

Sometimes many joins the Mission and then goes away. The Guru is there. But Guru does not allow so easy to go off. He tries his best to take him again in and to make him understand firmly. "Why you have gone away?"

"For such and such things, so many things, giving this monetary connection more importance, or free mixing with the ladies. These disturbed me, I went away."

Then the mahāntaḥ Guru, if genuine, he will say, "No, no, this is in particular cases and that should be removed, that is not the real object. But for some purpose it has been allowed to certain extent for the good of them.” In this way he will explain the temporary connection. And again he will try to reinstate him. “These are of minor matters. In such grave and serious matters something, some dirt, may enter with some people coming within, but it will be finished in no time and he will get the real path. You won’t disturb yourself for this little, tiny, filthy things. Don’t go away.” In this way.

So many un grown, so many unfit persons join a Mission, so it is not impossible that some sort of anartha may again come to attack anyone, it is a fight within. And sometimes this party is winning ground and that party is losing. In this way, ultimately, the real party will win the battle. It is a battle, everyone’s heart will be a battle, because they’re sādḥaka, not siddha. They’re not fully realised souls, they’re also in the process of realisation, sometimes coming back, sometimes going ahead, more. In this way, on the whole, they will have to make progress. So some sort of consideration and generosity should be allowed.

I am in a hospital, I am to think that I am in a hospital, there are so many diseased persons. This is not a place where all the healthy persons will live in the hospital. It is not possible. I am also a patient. There are so many patients. Patients are of different types, even some may die, and some progressing, and may come some setback. But you have got real interest for recovering my health. Ignoring all these facts I must go on with the doctor, taking his help in medicine and in diet, then I will be cured.

It does not mean that so many patients dying, so many degrading, so I will also degrade. In the school also, all may not pass, so many meets failure, but still, a determined student must go through. So, a little unsuccessful cases should not discourage me to follow my path of eternal benefit. I should not be cowed down by seeing, but it is my vital interest. I must be wakeful to the fact that it is my vital, my only interest, I can’t leave it, go away. Everyone goes. I must fight single with the enemy.

The Casabianca, have you gone through that poem of Casabianca?

[By the English poet Felicia Dorothea Hemans, 1793 – 1835, first published in 1826]

“The boy stood on the burning deck,” the French boy. “Whence all but he had fled.” Ha, ha, ha, ha. “All may fly away, I shall fight singularly.” With such determination, because this is my right of interest, I have already understood. I have already realised. I can’t shirk back.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Such determined resolution must come from within if it is deep-rooted within our heart we find once. That this is the thing I was searching after.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: One question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: You mentioned that, some, everyone is in the hospital and some are patients and they can get cured by the instructions of the doctor. So someone who is patient, can he take the position of a doctor?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What he says, the inefficiency of a doctor?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No. Can a patient also become a doctor?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. When he's fully cured and he studies the medicine and the necessary education of a doctor he can be doctor.

Devotee: But before, while he's...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By the appointment, by qualification and also by the appointment. You see? The qualification necessary first, and the appointment from the higher, hierarchy, administration, then you can become a doctor in the hospital. The private practice you can do if you are qualified, but to get, as a doctor, to become a doctor of a hospital you have some sanction from above. As an ordinary sādhu you can help this and that, but to become an Ācārya of a big position, you should have some sanction from above, prapanna-daśā.

Devotee: Who will decide whether the patient is qualified?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He will feel it within. Only external, written sanction is not necessary, by a letter. But he's already awake in the internal world, and revolution, inspiration, that will come to him from the internal world. In such a way that these people are suffering and you know the medicine and you are seeing firm, "Go and help them." The urge, the power from within that, "You have got the medicine and the patient suffering around. Why do you not apply the medicine, administer the medicine to the patients?" The urge will come. And you may see in the dream, and in wakeful stage also you find such urge, that internal insinuation, that will come to you. Helplessly you will advance to help the patients, because you know the medicine, you know the symptoms of the disease, and you have got the medicine, and it cannot but engage yourself in the treatment. That will be in broad daylight conception you will find. That will be more real than you see this world. This world of experience through the channels of the senses may be vague, but that will be clear, more, within, urge. “Why do you not give the medicine? The man is suffering and know everything. You have yourself, after using that medicine, you are cured, and you find the man is suffering from the same disease, and you have the medicine in your hand, why should you not apply? What reason, what explanation you have got not to do such?” Not money making, or for fame, but internal urge to help them. And you will find the noble predecessors also have asked us to do so.

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

There is a ditch, a man will fall, and you know the fact, a man is going, blindly. You won't try to save him? This is natural right, this natural feeling. When that will be plain, so plain to you the man will fall and die in the ditch and if you don't help him you will be responsible. Ha, ha, ha. This common sense may be applied. But we must be sincere, and not for money, or for fame, or for any other worldly gain, that is the danger. Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā, the three mainly disturbing elements misguides us. But we are free from them, the street, the way, is broad and clear in which we shall walk, that is clear. Only these three things are disturbing, drawing me this side, that side, otherwise the way is clear. Do good, and what is good? God is good. And you will like to see that everyone becomes good by getting the God. God is good. God is good and great. Is it not? What is that general phrase? The God is good and great, or great and good. So, when that sincere feeling will be very clear to you, all your activities will be controlled by only that principal of life, and you will go on helping others. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Very tasteful and very safe and must be given to all. Let them come in a safe position in the dangerous zone, and to be happy. The medicine, tasteful medicine will make happy. That is in your possession. You cannot but do. And you will feel urge within that you help others, help others, with this real knowledge of walking. Where to go? How to go, and what for to go? All these general questions to be solved and helped, help to others.

'ke āmi,' 'kene āmāya jāre tāpa-traya', [ihā nāhi jāni – 'kemanē hita haya']

[“Who am I? Why do the threefold miseries always give me trouble? If I do not know this, how can I be benefited?”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.102]

Who am I? Why I am troubled? And how I can get my desired end? These fundamental problems should be solved. And if you have the solution you must give it to others. “Solve your problem, my friend, solve your problem.” That will be the mentality of a preacher, and very intense in Ācārya.

Devotee: Someone, he may have sincere urge to help others...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: ...but because he is not completely, may not understand danger...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If he's...

Devotee: ...and he may himself become infected.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, if he finds that if he goes to, then with the help of the higher agent he may approach, otherwise not, he'll be nowhere, he'll be lost. When he'll approach to cure a patient, the patient he'll not be able to cure, that patient's germ will attack him and he will also die with the patient. In that case he won't approach. With the help of a higher doctor he may inform to the higher doctor with better medicine, "That please, hopeless patient, please see him." He will approach a higher doctor. If there is any doubt that if I approach him with this meagre medicine and meagre instruments then I won't be able to cure him, rather, I shall die. If in that case you won't approach, you approach the doctor of higher position, superior position. Is it not, reasonable?

Devotee: Very reasonable.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

[“One who has taken his birth as a human being in the land of India [Bhārata-varṣa] should make his life successful and work for the benefit of all other people.”] [Caitanya-caritamṛta, Ādi-līla, 9.41]

But still it may be rarely found that doctor approaching with a good heart to cure the patient but he dies. That case is also not impossible. But that is not desirable.

Sometimes in a body when one approaches that relief work, some soldiers may be sacrificed before attaining the victory. The victorious party fighting with the enemy, they have also to incur some loss. So in a mission, in a propaganda, some soldiers who are asked to approach the rich men, to approach the women, sometimes some are lost. For the time being at least, but again they will come back. It may be possible.

But in a mission, as our Satsvarūpa Mahārāja has written in the biography of Swāmī Mahārāja, “Some drifted away but so many, more large number come to him again. And some old disciples left him, drifted away.” It is such a big campaign, some old disciples we find have gone away from him, but more large number has come towards him. But we expect that they will again come back, again come back. Because what taste they have got once, can’t forget.

What he has acquired that cannot be destroyed. Very eternal, durability is of very high degree. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So, na me bhaktaḥ pranaśyati?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Kaunteya pratijānīhi, na me bhaktaḥ pranaśyati.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kaunteya pratijānīhi, na me bhaktaḥ pranaśyati. [kṣipram bhavati dharmātmā, śaśvac-chāntim nigacchati kaunteya pratijānīhi, na me bhaktaḥ pranaśyati]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.31]

“The assurance is there. If only for the time being he has come to Me, may be seen for some time to go away, but ultimately he must come to Me again.”

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: I have one question about the conception of the Guru by the disciple, and that his conception of the Guru is absolute, but others may see the same person in a relative conception. So the doubt that I have is, a Guru seems to be relative or absolute...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally, in general it has been advised that one in the beginning he's to look towards his Guru as the representative of the Lord Himself, the Absolute Himself. But when he makes some progress and some inner awakening begins, then he will gradually find that Kṛṣṇa, that the Absolute is a particular system, organic whole. And He has got His potency of different variety. And according to his inner awakening his fitness for a particular class of service, that should be considered and he will be taken in to that immediate guide of that type of service. So one may go to see his Guru, gradually he will find, some will find sākhyā-rasa, some will go to vātsalya-rasa, some will go to mādhyura-rasa. According to his innate capacity, innate quality, he will be.

Mainly, the government, and then different departments of government. The acceptance of the government grants the service, then some examination, and then test. And he'll be put to a particular department and he'll find his immediate boss, under which he'll say, "He's my guide and under his direction I am to serve. And that is my maximum gain there." In general, it is like that.

First, a whole system one, and then in a particular department of the system arrangement, according to the awakening and my fitness it will be considered. Then, finally posted I shall find that he is my Guru, under his guidance I am to do anything and everything. So Kṛṣṇa Guru, then in different camps, Rādhārāṇī, Yaśodā, then in the mādhyura-rasa comes Rūpa Mañjarī to Guru, in this way. And sees that is oneness, unity, one and the same, but more efficient service may be drawn from this point, not from higher point. I have my best utility if I am located here only. I can be best interested if I'm located here. But if I'm located in some higher circle then I'll be the loser, I have not got such fitness so anomaly will be created. Do you follow?

Devotee: No.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He does not follow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You explain. You have followed?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not fully.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, not fully.

ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-

[“One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27]

In the beginning we are told that, “Ācārya, Guru is Myself.” And then [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī, the final Ācārya of prayojana, he says, mukunda-preṣṭhatve, sutatve guru-varam.

[na dharmam-nādharmam-śruti-gaṇa-niruktam-kila kuru vraje rādhā-śacī-sūnum-nandīśvara-pati-sutatve guru-varam mukunda-preṣṭhatve smara padam ajasram-nanu manaḥ]

[“Mind, don’t do the pious and impious deeds described in the Vedas. Intently serve Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa in Vraja. Always remember that Lord Caitanya is the son of Mahārāja Nanda and my Guru is most dear to Lord Mukunda.”] [Maṇaḥ-śikṣā, 2]

He’s not God himself but his most favourite is the position of Ācārya. We are to harmonise between. Do you understand?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sākṣād-dharitvena, kintu prabhor yaḥ priya eva tasya. [sākṣād-dharitvena samasta-śāstrair, uktas tathā bhāvyata eva sadbhiḥ kintu prabhor yaḥ priya eva tasya, vande guroḥ śrī-caraṇāravindam]

[“In the revealed scriptures it is declared that the spiritual master should be worshipped like the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and this injunction is obeyed by pure devotees of the Lord. The spiritual master is the most confidential servant of the Lord. Thus let us offer our respectful obeisances unto the lotus feet of our spiritual master.”] [Śrī Śrī Gurv-aṣṭaka, 7]

Ultimately we find the most favourite of Him, His potency, that is Guru. But in the beginning, in general, in śāstra also it is mentioned that, “Brahman means Kṛṣṇa as a whole.” But clear vision, the Nārāyaṇa, the Vasudeva, then Nārāyaṇa, then Rāmacandra, Dvārakesh, and the most clear estimation we find is Kṛṣṇa within.

trayisti syama itya varitam pura tatasya he vivat gatha gatim [?] vibhakta vai bhakta mam iti pramana mo naradesa [?]

When Kṛṣṇa, Uddhava, Balarāma, Three in a conference in Dvārakā, They saw that a mass of light is approaching towards Them. Then after a little found that there is a figure in the mass, in the light, within the light.
Then further approach then found, “Oh, this is a male figure.” Then very near, “Oh, there is Devarṣi Nārada coming.” In this way, from far off we get the conception of a whole.

Just as the Himalaya, a distant view of the Himalaya you can have many things, but as much as you approach there you will find a particular path but more clearly. Then when entered there you’ll find your Lord, your own men, and you will mix there. At that time you are not finding the whole Himalaya, you are located in a particular position. And there the desired end of your life is fulfilled, and not with the whole Himalaya.

So Kṛṣṇa from far approach, we see, we have got a clear sat-cit-ānanda, infinite, infinite Kṛṣṇa. Then as much as we shall approach, because we are small we’ll be located in a particular position. In this way, according to my fitness I will be taken in to a particular position of His service. And there, whatever I get in the portion of His service, I will be engaged and the fullest satisfaction of my nature I will draw from there.

The Guru means guide, the first guide, the wholesale of Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa attracting me. Then attraction makes me to make progress towards Him.
And I am a tiny fellow, and as much I gain, so many big visions, hazy big visions eliminated, and a particular place is more clear. In this way, in function, in size, in every matter, I’ll be located in a particular part of the infinite. And then as my duty towards that, that will draw for me the highest benefit.

In the rasa department, śanta, dāsya, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyura, all these departments, according to my capacity I’ll be given admission in a particular department of rasa in service. Then there also many departments, in mādhyura-rasa, śānta-rasa, then according to my innermost fitness I shall be located in a particular department. So many departments of service, in mādhyura-rasa some are engaged in garlanding, some about bed matters, some about cooking affairs, in this way different departments. According to my capacity and fitness I'll be taken in a particular department, and ultimately I'll be placed in a position. "Do your duty here." And immediate guide I shall see that he's my Guru, whatever he says I am to do that, and thereby I am getting my best benefit, properly located. Religion is proper adjustment.

There are so many Ācārya, even in the Gauḍīya Mission. You have come to Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja, some peculiarity in him. Again, he has got many departments of service, this book selling, then this delivering lectures, and others, according to your fitness you'll be given to serve in a particular department, in this way. But you are in connection with the whole ISKCON there. Wherever you are posted you are connected with the whole of ISKCON, but your specific duty is in a particular place. Gaura Hari. Not clear?

Devotee: Yes, but I've still...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You joined the ISKCON first, but what is ISKCON? ISKCON is a huge thing with so many departments, so many Maṭhs, so many duties. You joined ISKCON, a hazy thing, a big thing. Then after you were admitted you were taken in and placed to some direction, to some post, part. Your attention is directed and you go there and gradually get some duty to discharge. You are in the whole of ISKCON is yours, but still you have got a particular department and particular duty, more and more. You may come to the personal secretary of Swāmī Mahārāja maybe. Or someone preaching, or someone cooking department. For cooking himself and cooking Guru Mahārāja, and some goes, "Oh no, go there, go to America, go to China. A dangerous position to preach, go there." He's also got a duty. So adjustment, entrance into ISKCON and then adjustment begins. Religion is proper adjustment according to the fitness of the man given admission. Can't follow?

Devotee: I follow but still there's some questions.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Ask the question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: According to your fitness, your fitness and their necessity. The necessity in the hues and of different type, according to your fitness you'll be given a particular duty. What difficulty there may be in understanding this? Proper adjustment, that is infinite and you cannot swallow the infinite within you. You are detached, you are infinitesimal, and you are approaching the infinite. So you are to be located in a particular position of the infinite. You are to adjust in this way. You cannot devour the whole infinite within your belly. Do you follow? Do you like that, that I must devour the whole infinite within my belly? Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. So you are to be located in a particular infinitesimal position. And in your case you will draw maximum remuneration from that. If you are placed in some other place you will be loser. According to this fitness the adjustment comes to us. And it is quite reasonable.

Devotee: So, example, some person comes to this ISKCON movement and he will understand by reading my spiritual master's books that he must approach a Guru. And then he will approach one of the Guru's in our ISKCON movement and accept him on the absolute, as absolute. But I may not see that same person like that. So it's confusing to me how...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As much as possible we shall try towards Her satisfaction because our own hankering that is not a negligible factor. And also the advice given by the sādhus and the Guru and scriptures, and I am the person who is the, who is responsible after all for accepting anything and everything. I have accepted the Ācārya also on my own risk, and here also I'm to adjust according to myself. But we shall have to consider that my consideration may not be prejudiced by any mal object. That my selection may be genuine, may be sincere, and not to satisfy some ulterior motive, I'm to do that. I'm responsible ultimately for my own fortune.

Devotee: a new person, his selection [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The disciple is responsible, he's asking, Your Grace is speaking about the disciple is responsible for his selection.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, ultimately he's responsible. Why you have joined, how you have joined? On your own responsibility you have joined ISKCON. You have left Christianity, or Mohammedism, or Hinduism, you have joined ISKCON, on your responsibility. Ultimate responsibility is with the person who selects, who has got the right of selection, it is there only. We have jumped to Gauḍīya Mission, why? Taking the risk of anything else we have jumped, we have cast our fate. We are so much captured with the ideal, the beauty of the idea, that we jumped, left our previous environment and jumped to accept the new. Everyone is such, case is such.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa Saran Prabhu is here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! Hare Kṛṣṇa [?]

Devotee: A new man he accepts, he chooses a Guru, and he sees him as Absolute. But the God-brother of the Guru he may not see that he's absolute in the same way.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Then how to adjust? Devotee: Yes. How to adjust?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's not requested also to see he's absolute, he's not requested, he's brotherly position, but some outward respect he should show of a special character to help the new recruits. Whether the new recruits they have come to see him as absolute their sentiment may not be disturbed. This sort of consideration one should have. But internally he's not bound to accept his God-brother as his own Guru. Am I clear?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are not compelled, you are not bound, to see him as Swāmī Mahārāja, you are seeing your Guru, not in that light. But you should have some consideration that the new persons that are recruited by him and who are expected to see him as Guru Absolute, you may not disturb their sentiment or feeling. With such caution you are to behave.

Devotee: The confusion in my mind is that the conception is only relative to ones own position, that it's only absolute from your own position. If I, if a disciple sees his Guru as Absolute then it's difficult to say who is actually Absolute. It's very confusing to me.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Guru is Absolute, the two Absolute, God is Absolute, then Guru is Absolute.

Devotee: But the Guru is Absolute according to ones position.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now we are to think one thing. The God has also got different Avatāra, reverent attitude. You are to understand this mathematical, fundamental truth, that from zero if you add the zero it becomes zero. Zero into zero is zero. Zero minus zero is zero. So Infinite minus Infinite that is Infinite. Can you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So God may express Himself in different Avatāra, different type, still They're Infinite. His every posing is Infinite, but still there is also gradation, according to rasa, classification, a posing. He's One but different posing and there are differences in the posing. A King sometimes, a King as a general, a King as law maker, the King as husband and father, one man, but the question of superiority may be traced there also, what is the highest attitude of the King. He's one. So there is differentiated character in the Absolute but still He's one, in this way. He's got potency. You are approaching the son of a King, you can consider that if I capture the son the King will be captured. And that is not false, wholly. So God's favourite is also having some power of God. In this way we are to distribute. The Guru is favourite, Guru is not outside God. His own particular potency to deliver the fallen is there, enjoying maximum power, maximum power from Kṛṣṇa, Guru from Kṛṣṇa, in the department of delivering the fallen souls. We are to take in that way. But in Infinity that may not be divided like mundane things: quite separately. So we are to adjust in that way.

On the whole we want to say, and I have repeatedly said it, the Bhāgavata asks not to make much in the enquiry, that is to approach through knowledge, to know. That I'll be able to finish by my knowledge, I'll be able to satisfy my knowing faculty. I'll be able to measure the whole thing with my tiny brain. In a particular cell of my head I shall put the Infinite as a prisoner. Give up this position.

jñāne prayāsam udapāśya namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām bhavadīya-vārtām [sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatām tanu-vān-manobhir, ye prāyaśo 'jita jito 'py asi tais tri-lokyām]

["Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

This is the speciality Bhāgavata School, by surrender you'll be able to know, because He's super-subjective. He won't come to be the object of your tiny brain. If you work that way you will be disappointed. No tiny brain can finish, to know the whole thing by its power. So by surrendering, namanta eva, jīvanti.

When Mahāprabhu asking questions and Rāmānanda answering, then "Eho bahya, this is superficial. Our searching through jñāna, through knowledge, but that is superficial thing. That is not the real path." Then he came, "Give up the vanity of thinking you can know anything and everything." When he comes to surrender he comes to accept the real path to know Him, because if He makes Himself known to him he can know, and as much he can know that much.

Once I was asked, "If finite can know Infinite," one Ārya Samāj leader, "He's no Infinite." His statement is, "If finite can know Infinite then He's no Infinite."

And my answer was, if Infinite cannot make Himself known to finite then He's no Infinite. Infinite can make Himself known to finite according to its sweet will. But finite cannot force the Infinite to make Himself known to him. Do you follow?

Devotee: Hmm.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So it has been recommended that jñāne prayāsa, leaving, dismissing your vanity that you'll be able to know the Infinite. Dismiss that idea, that tendency, and surrender to Him, and accept the attitude of the negative to draw the positive. Positive cannot encroach out of itself, but in the negative. The positive can encroach and may be aggressive. And negative should put himself at the disposal of positive. Predominating Moiety and Predominated Moiety. Predominated Moiety is the potency, and Predominating Moiety is the possessor of the potency. Kṛṣṇa is the possessor of the potency, śaktimān, and śakti the potency at His disposal. So we are a part of potency, so we shall try with preparedness to receive Him. And when, according to His sweet will He comes to me I shall be able to get His touch. This is the path. No other path. So:

bhaktyāham ekayā grāhyaḥ [śraddhayātmā priyaḥ satām bhaktiḥ punāti man-niṣṭhā śvapākān api sambhavāt]

[“I, the Supreme Lord and the most Beloved, am attainable by the pure saints, by virtue of the potency of their exclusive devotion born of faith (śraddhā). Exclusive devotion in Me purifies even the lowest outcastes known as caṇḍālas. Śva means dog. Even the dog-eaters, that is, the lower section, can also be purified from their lower birth.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.21]

Only through devotion, dedication, their preparedness to put at His disposal, to be dealt by Him, with this attitude, this is the negative characteristic so as to invite the positive. To invite the positive, that should be the characteristic of the negative, and that by humility, modesty, self- abnegation to the extreme, self-sacrifice. These are the qualifications of a devotee, should be, to improve his negative characteristic, to draw. The super subject, I’m subject, I’m experiencing the objective world, and who is super subject I’m object to Him. When He will care to come down in my plane I will have some sort of feeling, sentiment, experience, that one has come. Very finer thing has come in my gross consciousness, come down. I find so much ecstatic joy. “Oh, how subtle a thing has descended into my plane of consciousness, how wonderful it is, never experienced before. A very sweet, fine consciousness has come down in my gross area of consciousness.” I’ll be benumbed, astonished, wondered, astounded.

māraḥ svayaṁ nu madhura-dyuti-maṇḍalaṁ nu, mādhyam eva nu mano-nayanāmṛtaṁ nu venī-mrjo nu mama jīvita-vallabho nu, kṛṣṇo 'yam abhyudayate mama locanāya

[“My dear friends, where is Kṛṣṇa, who is Cupid personified, brilliant as a kadamba flower? Where is Kṛṣṇa, sweetness Himself, the sweetest nectar for my eyes and mind? Where is Kṛṣṇa, who loosens the hair of the gopīs? He is the supreme source of divine bliss. He is my life and soul. Has He come before my eyes again?”] [Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam, 68]

The finest conception of the sweet knowledge coming down to a heart of a devotee and his gradual experience is in this way, represented by Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura. First approach he felt, “Oh, Divine Cupid has come down in my plane of consciousness, māraḥ svayaṁ nu madhura-dyuti. Oh, this is infinite ray of sweetness has come, madhura-dyuti. Mādhyam, the very gist of sweetness I find, it can never be otherwise conceived, madhura-dyuti-maṇḍalaṁ. Nayanām, Oh, it is capturing my eyes also with beauty and other experiences. Other channels of experience all captured by that finer and finest consciousness, captured, whole pervaded. Nayanāmṛtaṁ nu, my eyes also are feeling that exceptional sweetness. Venī-mrjo nu, Oh, He has accepted me as His sweetheart and He’s rubbing softly my venī, my hair, in mādhyam rasa He has accepted me. I’m now His. No other independent existence I have got. I am now fully, wholesale accepted by Him.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. No more, here I finish today. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura

Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Jaya om viṣṇu-pāda...

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: New year's day, nineteen thirty seven, this early morning Guru Mahārāja passed away. That also was Friday, first of January thirty seven, that was Friday, early morning. I attended his bed, sick bed, from two to four, and then another turn came to attend. I went to bed. Two of us were attending him...

[Unclear recording for about ten and a half minutes]

Then next day that was Saturday. Then at Calcutta Maṭha there is engagement, some gentlemen, perhaps some European gentlemen should come there, it was appointed so some of us must go there. And among the list my name was also. I was so much tired, can't move my body, still, what to do, must go. Must go, no disobedience is possible just after the demise of Guru Mahārāja. The general secretary he wants me to go. I remember I felt inability but anyhow dragged myself to Calcutta.

And when I'm in Rāma-ghāṭa station junction I found that Lalitā Prasād is walking on the platform. Some told that Lalitā Bābū is there. From the railway carriage we had a look on him. That is the first time I saw him. Afterwards, once more I saw him. Twice I have seen him, Lalitā Prasād. He was a bachelor. He had service in the writers [?] building, government clan. Then retiring he opened an āśrama. In the beginning he was living with Prabhupāda in Yoga-pīṭha, but after Kuñja Bābu came, became general secretary and began to start the propaganda work, Lalitā Prasād had some difference with Kuñja Bābu, and he went away gradually, cutting connection with brother, our Guru Mahārāja. And established an āśrama there in the birth place of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, that is the maternal uncle's house of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, that Udar [?]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura comes from Calcutta Dutta family, renowned, and from the same family Vivekananda also came, that Datta family of Hat Cola [?] a renowned family in Calcutta, Datta family, Hat Cola [?] Datta. Vivekananda also came out of that family, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura also. But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's mother's birthplace was Ula [?] and he was born in maternal uncle's house. They're also zamīndārs, mustafi [?] they're zamīndārs, big zamīndārs of the time. But there he was born so that place has been taken up by Lalitā Prasād and made an āśrama and he lived there.

After little long time Prabhupāda passed away sixty three, and Lalitā Prasād over hundred, one or two, hundred one or two he lived after that.

He appreciated my poem about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, I came to know through his sister. His sister came here some twenty years back perhaps or more. She told that, 'he has appreciated your poem about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura very much.' And sometimes the disciples also come here now and then. I give some five rupees, ten rupees, in this way. Looking of course in taking the name of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura anyhow going on. Not to such accuracy and intensity as our Guru Mahārāja did, but to certain extent some connection or other. Hare Kṛṣṇa. According to our Guru Mahārāja he had some connection with Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura but that is contaminated with the flesh connection, more, than spiritual. Ha, ha. Baba, bada. He was son, and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was his father, he can't forget that. Independent of that connection, of course he has got some idea but that is not very bona fide, we are told, and nearing towards sahajiyā vāda. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Madhvācārya has written a poem, Māyāvādā-Śata-Dūṣaṇī, a hundred poems against Māyāvādā. And our Guru Mahārāja, Prākṛta-rasa Śata-Dūṣaṇī, a hundred lines devoted to expose sahajiyāism, that is imitation of prema bhakti. What is lust, what is sense pleasure, to conceive that, to take that, in the place of divine love. This human love is conceived in a colour to be the divine love. What is so rare that even Brahmā and Śiva they cannot expect to possess that thing, that high thing. And they think they have already got, by, through imagination, imagining himself as a girl. And also, so much so that they imagine some gentleman, bābājī to be Kṛṣṇa. And they began to practice their relationship in that way, thinking that will be conducive, that will assist them to raise up their standard of life to that high creation, only by thinking, and in that way. A nasty thing, going on in the name. So the society looks down upon them as the pests of the society. So Prabhupāda gave a new line, the goswāmīns, you look at the śāstra and will find what is that.

manuṣyāṇāṁ sahasreṣu, kaścid yatati siddhaye yatatām api siddhānāṁ,
kaścin māṁ vetti tattvataḥ

[“Out of countless souls, some may have reached the human form of life, and among many thousands of human beings, some endeavour to attain direct perception of the individual soul and the Supersoul; and among many thousands of such aspirants who have attained to seeing the soul and the Supersoul, only a few receive actual perception of Me, Śyāmasundara.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.3] bahūnāṁ janmanāṁ ante, jñānavān māṁ prapadyate vāsudevaḥ sarvam

iti, sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ

[“After many, many births and deaths, one who is actually in knowledge surrenders unto Me, knowing Me to be the cause of all causes and all that is. Such a great soul is very rare.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.19]

tapasvibhyo ‘dhiko yogī, jñānibhyo ‘pi mato ‘dhikaḥ karmibhyaś cādhiko
yogī, tasmād yogī bhavārjuna

["A yogī is greater than an ascetic, a philosopher jñānī, or a fruitive working karmī.

Therefore, O Arjuna, always be a yogī."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.46] yoginām api sarveṣāṁ, mad-gatenāntarātmanā śraddhāvān bhajate yo

mām, sa me yuktatamo mataḥ

["In My opinion, of all types of yogīs, the most elevated of all is he who surrenders his heart to Me and serves Me in devotion with sincere, internal faith."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.47]

In Bhāgavatam [6.14.5], muktānām api siddhānām nārāyaṇa-parāyaṇa sudurlabhaḥ praśāntātmā

koṭīṣv api mahā-mune

["O great sage, among many millions who are liberated and perfect in knowledge of liberation, one may be a devotee of Lord Nārāyaṇa, or Kṛṣṇa. Such devotees, who are fully peaceful, are extremely rare."] &
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.150]

brāhmaṇānām sahasrebhyaḥ satra-yājī viśiṣyate satra-yāji-sahasrebhyaḥ sarvva-vedānta-pāragaḥ sarvva-vedānta-vit-koṭi yā viṣṇubhakto viśiṣyate vaiṣṇavānām sahasrebhyaḥ ekāntyeko viśiṣyate

[“Among many thousands of brāhmaṇas, a yajñika brāhmaṇa is best. Among thousands of yajñika brāhmaṇas, one who fully knows Vedānta is best. Among millions of knowers of Vedānta, one who is a devotee of Viṣṇu is best. And among thousands of devotees of Viṣṇu, one who is an unalloyed Vaiṣṇava is best.”] [Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa, 10.117] & [Bhakti-Sandarbha, 117]

In this way the steps are clearly shown, by climbing up by these steps then you are to go to that, you can go up to that place of wonderful dream. But that is more wonderful than dream, the Lord's harem. Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

We could feel also how it is possible imitating such a filthy plane. Sense pleasure and the sense pleasure of the Adhokṣaja, of the Divinity, just two opposites. South pole and north pole. Sense pleasure, that is the lowest conception of pleasure. And to seek the pleasure of the senses of the highest conception of the Deity, which generally seems to be impossible, to reach to that standard, how much sacrifice and self abnegation and self surrendering is required. It is infinitely intensified stage in which we can hope to come to such a position and to find the personal characteristic of the Lord in full. And then again to approach Him, and not only to touch His holy feet which is also impossible to the consciousness at large that we can touch His feet. What to speak of to raise one's self in a loving position and the love of the unreserved and of the highest type. This is dream of a dream.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. One may think of that very rarely, but to achieve that, that is almost impossible. It is such. It is such. By his personal touch one can't grasp it, but when they grasp, 'Yes, it can be conceived, His such behaviour, such loving behaviour with the highest type of loving devotees,' that may be thought out, but never with one's own achievement. We can come up to such height as to think that Lord is very affectionately playing with His most favourite group so much. And never any selfish touch that will brush you aside, down, if you go to approach direct with your conception of ego.

Guru janma sitay bhumay sitay paya sata guṇa [?] That is of such nature that on the head of my Gurudeva that looks very beautiful. This is of such type, thing of such type that on the head of my Gurudeva it looks very well, very beautiful. By nature it is such, that in the highest position of my imagination I may guess to have His, to see His position. It's so rarely seen and conceived that thing is to our society, our level, thinkers of our level.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

So first January, Friday, in nineteen thirty seven also such concurrence. In the middle also several times such concurrence must have been, must have happened, but I don't remember. But this time I remembered that. This Friday, first January, and this occurred, same with that, thirty seven. Perhaps after seven years or so it may come, but the leap year also to be taken into consideration. Hare Kṛṣṇa. One day increased in every four days in a year...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “The result has got no relation with your duty. You go on with doing your duty. Don’t leave it. And the result is in My hand. Don’t worry about the result. Only fully attend, concentrate only in discharging your duty. Whole attention devote only to discharge your duty, perfectly, and don’t look after the consequence. It is in My hand, not in yours. And Goering told, “A man who is afraid of the battlefield, and a woman who is afraid of childbirth, they are the worst kind of men and women. Women must not be afraid of the pain of childbirth. And a man must not be afraid of dying in the battlefield.” Goering told like that.

And that Willhelm Kaiser, in the first great war, about him we are told his mother was British and he was German. The German, generally, they hate the British. Once when he was young, he was playing with his mother's brother's son, maternal cousin, he was playing, and anyhow some strike came on the nose and blood oozing. Then he was very much enraged and told, "Let the British blood flow away from my body." The mother came from the British. So he was very much proud of that German blood. In that first war we are told of, 'Free nation and free ocean.' Kaiser fought for free nation and free ocean. "Why the British will have control over the whole of the ocean?" British was in full glory of its power at that time.

Badrinārāyaṇa: Mahārāja, the first time the Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta was spoken, was it Uttara from Parīkṣit Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The beginning is such.

Badrinārāyaṇa: He had that much realization?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very small time left between the hearing of Parīkṣit and his death. Śukadeva parted away after. There is another book where it is mentioned that Śukadeva went away and Parīkṣit had little time to be bitten by the snake.

And just at that time Uttara, Parīkṣit's mother came, approached him and told, "What you have heard, speak it, give darśana to me."

And in a small span of life, Parīkṣit he gave the summary, the substance of what he heard from Śukadeva. And that is the basis of Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta. Sanātana Goswāmī has mentioned. And there is a book, where it is mentioned. I forgot the name. It is mentioned there. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Sambandha jñāna, where we are, what is our environment, for this Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta is very helping, different stages of life, progress, step by step. [?] The peep of spiritual knowledge, and the highest attainment, in gradual process. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. The map we may have of the spiritual kingdom. Which country is where, which country is where. We have a conception of that. Then any anomaly we can correct immediately. Ke?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Dāsarātha Sūta Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Once Kṛṣṇa He became Dāsarātha Sūta, do you know? In Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa was sitting with Rukmiṇī, Satyabhāmā. And with some purpose he sent Garuḍa to bring some blue lotus. And Garuḍa went to bring lotus and that was under the jurisdiction of Hanumān. Hanumānji knew it and Kṛṣṇa wanted to check the pride, or something like that, of Garuḍa, Sudarśana and Satyabhāmā. These three He wanted to check their audacity.

Badrinārāyaṇa: In previous, in Rāmacandra līlā, Garuḍa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: checked, no, Garuḍa's pride was crushed by Hanumān. Ke?

Badrinārāyaṇa: Anurādhā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, Anurādhā come, taking so much risk.

[?] Hanumān's pride was

And then Sudarśana was also, he was just on the outside, gate keeper, his pride was also checked. Hanumān coming, "Jai Rāma Jai Rāma." He's chanting the Name of "Rāma Rāma." He does not know his object of worship Rāmacandra, none but Rāma.

Then Kṛṣṇa, He asked Satyabhāmā, "Oh, Hanumān is coming. I must take the figure of Rāmacandra and you take the figure Sītā."

Satyabhāmā could not do that. So she had to go under the throne. And He asked Rukmiṇī Devī, "You try to get the figure of Sītā."

Then Rukmiṇī managed that and she sat on His left side and Kṛṣṇa became Rāma.

Then Hanumān came and with those blue lotus worshipped Rāmacandra. And then after some time, then Satyabhāmā, she insulted rather, and her pride that she holds the highest position of all the queens, that was quenched.

And Sudarśana he was moving on the gateway. And Hanumān told him, “I have to go.” “Where do you go? I shall go and take permission and then I shall allow.”

Hanumān threw his finger within that round thing and suddenly swelled his finger and it became like a ring on the finger of Hanumān. And Garuḍa, he took him in his armpit.

Then Kṛṣṇa gradually released them. “Sudarśana, you are here. Oh: Garuḍa under the armpit.” “Yes, they came to disturb me.”

In this way He wanted to check their pride.

This is the līlā of the Lord. Everything is there but the standpoint is just the opposite. That is līlā, all surrender to the centre. Everything is just like this. It is perverted reflection. And that is original movement. So all similar, only the standpoint is just opposite, one fullest sacrifice and one fullest aggrandising principle. A question of the principle of adjustment, nothing more is necessary. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Inner internal adjustment, the question, the rub is there, adjustment.

Our Guru Mahārāja, every now and then he used this word. “Religion is proper adjustment.” We are improperly adjusted. Adjusting the whole, and the conception of the whole also varies according to different stages of understanding. The highest adjustment is beauty, adjustment with the love. That is the highest. So no complaint there can be necessarily only. If there is something else then that is defect in the adjustment, nothing less, adjustment; adjustment.

Poison becomes medicine and medicine becomes poison. What is medicine of Māyāvādī that is poison to the devotee. Liberation, the question of non differentiated liberation, that is the highest goal. That is their nectar. That is their highest form of medicine, diet. And that is poison to a Vaiṣṇava.

And none wants slavery. Everyone hates slavery. But slavery to the government, to Kṛṣṇa, that is the highest attainment according to Vaiṣṇava, most highly valued. But as much as, according to the degree of slavery, we get our position dignified. Slavery is not so cheap to that highest entity. Slavery means unconditioned surrender, wholesale surrender. It requires the greatest fortune to be so much self abnegated. Selfishness means aggression, exploitation. And to dissolve the so called selfishness of aggressive nature, leave it all, whole, and whole represented in its cause and that cause is love divine, and to have connection direct with Him.

Gaura Sundara. Gaura Sundara. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Then how it would be possible for me to live? It is so life sustaining, such nectar. So much high degree of sustenance I find from this nectar brought by Gaurāṅga that I can’t imagine if He did not come, how could I live. Without my such highest prospect of life. I could not know myself my own fulfilment. I was just a foreigner to my own self. He came and showed myself how beautiful I am, how high I am. So much dignity of mine He has shown to me. I was devoid of that, I was living so long, long ages. Gaurāṅga took the key of my own home, sweet home. He has given me the key of my own home, my sweet home. How could I live before if Gaurāṅga did not come? So much wealth I have got within me I could not know.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I gave the examples of Hitler in my religious lectures. Hitler classified the general public into four classes: clever lazy, clever industrious, stupid lazy, stupid industrious. He told that, “Generally I fear the working people who are clever and industrious. But clever and lazy I put them at the head of the department, a peculiar thing, clever and lazy. Because they are clever, they can manage and because lazy, at the time of need, they can come with fresh energy. And those that are clever and industrious, they are always labouring and labouring and they are finished, and at the time of need, no fresh energy can come from them. And those that are stupid and lazy, I try to give some sort of engagement, but I am always keeping myself far off from the stupid and industrious. They will do always wrong and some other hands will be necessary to do away with their wrong.”

So the karmīs, the exploitationists, they are stupid and industrious. And the stupid and lazy are renunciationists, Buddhists and Śāṅkara, the mukti karmī. And clever and industrious are the devotional group, clever and industrious. And clever and lazy is Kṛṣṇa. In this way I used to qualify to the public. The whole staff is clever and industrious. They are always engaged in service and cleverly, not misusing their energy. And the opposite is the karmī school, the exploitationists. They are digging their own grave. They are prey to the reaction. For every action there is equal and opposite. Or taking loan and thinking that I am making progress. Stupid and lazy, the Māyāvādī. Māyāvādī they only go to the abscissa and, “No; that is nothing, no more, no more land to go up.” They dig their own grave and enter there and finishes there, the stupid and lazy. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, you said that the goal of the Buddhists is the Virajā. What is that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Virajā prakṛti nirvana, in the verge, the last extremity of the exploiting energy, energy of exploitation, coming in no contact with their permanent soul within. And the Śaṅkara brahma nirvana, that comes to touch their own self, soul, and not towards upper connection of the souls.

apareyam itas tv anyāṁ, prakṛtiṁ viddhi me parāṁ [jīva-bhūtāṁ mahā-bāho, yayedam dhāryate jagat]

[“O mighty hero, Arjuna, this worldly nature known as external, is inferior. But distinct from this nature, you should know My marginal potency, comprised of the individual souls, to be superior. This world is accepted by this superior conscious potency as an object of exploitation for sense enjoyment, by the agency of each individuals fruit-hunting actions and reactions. The divine world emanates from My internal potency and the mundane world from My external potency. The potency of the living beings is known as marginal, on account of their medial adaptability - they may choose to reside either in the mundane plane or the divine.”]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 7.5]

Para-prakṛti, and the internal potency, unknown to them, to para-prakṛti, brahma nirvana: to come anyhow to the consciousness that I am a particle of consciousness, and no more. In the world of consciousness, there are so many things, but they do not care to know that, or to enter there. Āruhya kṛcchreṇa param padam tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādrṭa-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ.

[ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddhabuddhayaḥ āruhya kṛcchreṇa param padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nādr̥ta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ]

["O lotus-eyed Lord, although non devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

Go up to abscissa with the passport, go to the limit of the country, but without visa, have to come back. No other alternative. [?] told that, "Your visa example has given a very clear conception of the svarūpa śakti land." The visa. Passport is not everything. That is mukti, to go to the verge of the land. Last extremity you can go, passport. Passport of two kinds, one within the country and another to have a glance of the other country, standing only here, so this is that land and this is ours. Hare Kṛṣṇa. 'Virajā,' 'brahmaloka,' bhedi' 'paravyoma' pāya.

[upajiyā bāḍe latā 'brahmāṇḍa' bhedi' yāya, 'virajā,' 'brahmaloka,' bhedi' 'paravyoma' pāya tabe yāya tad upari 'goloka-vṛndāvana', 'kṛṣṇa-caraṇa'-kalpavṛkṣe kare ārohana]

["The creeper of devotion is born, and grows to pierce the wall of the universe. It crosses the Virajā River and the Brahman plane, and reaches to the Vaikuṇṭha plane. Then it grows further up to Goloka Vṛndāvana, finally reaching to embrace the wish-yielding tree of Kṛṣṇa's Lotus Feet."] [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.153-4]

Bhakti-latā, one who gets the seed of devotion, their progress goes and it crosses the area of Virajā and then that of Brahmaloḥa and then enters into Vaikuṇṭha, the spiritual cosmos. 'Virajā,' 'brahmaloḥa,' bhedi' 'paravyoma' pāya, the serving cosmos, they enter. And the lower part is calculative cosmos and the highest part is un calculative, spontaneous, automatic. Service is automatic, you do not know. Just as reflexive action, digestion and so many other things within our system is going on unknown of our consciousness, we do not know. Involuntary, automatic, that has got a technical name. The whole system of digestion we do not know anything. Without our knowledge they are doing, and that has got some technical name. So it is like that. Unconsciously they are engaged in service. They cannot but do that, this is Vraja, Vraja-bhumi. Brajabumi is taken by mother Maṇjula to ISKCON is it not?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Let us try to think it is all for the best. It is all for the best. We may or may not know. What is that?

Devotee: That is a video, Dāsarātha Sūta...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, he's come this side?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, our God-brothers were not successful in their preaching in Germany. They have tried for some years but they have not been successful there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But I heard, it is in Back To Godhead, Haṁsadūta Mahārāja went there, the German people they have banned any kīrtana and preaching in the public places. Only they can do within the room. And some broke the law and preached in the street, so they were put into prison. And Haṁsadūta Mahārāja went there and the case in the court and he pleaded himself and he impressed the solicitor of the opposite party as well as the judge that what they are doing it is for the service of the Lord. They have no right to stop it. Still they take the room, the judge also have an oath in the name of the Lord and justice in the court they take the name of the Lord, they take the oath in the name of the Lord. So it is over the government system. The law of God they admit that it is over the man made government, so they should not do this. And since they loosened their, slacked their control. I was told like that. Is it not true?

Why the German people they are apathetic, because the source is from America, they have got that apprehension. They are still suffering from the phobia. That Eisenhower who was the general of the opposite party, he was a German. Einstein he lived in Germany, who invented that atom bomb which concluded the war in; against Germany. So Germany is mainly afraid of the opposite camp. So much so that they do not like that something from America will come. In what colour it is coming and how, what colour it will take in the last time and what disaster they will come in our country: apprehension still lingering there.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Eisenhower was of German blood, and Einstein. They are the two main causes of the defeat of Germany. In both the great wars America came in the last time and crushed German people.

Clever and industrious, this is the very nature of German people.

Even Churchill, when it happened, came in such a position, war, that Germany will jump on the shore of England, it was apprehended. And France was captured. And Germany now must jump over England. At that time Churchill is giving warning to the people, “Don’t think that our navy will be able to protect them, even any time they may land some land force to the shore. The land soldiers you also be very much attentive, alert.” At that time he told, “They are working with German thoroughness.” That came from the mouth of Churchill, the worst enemy of Germany. German thoroughness, an idiomatic word, “What they do, they can do thoroughly. So much thoroughness in activity is never found elsewhere.” It came from the mouth of Churchill himself. “With German thoroughness. That is their national characteristic. What they do, they do well.”

Industrious and clever, and cheap. In British India the German mercantiles used to come to India, efficient, also the cheapest [?] none could compete with them. Then Japan came to compete with Germany, more cheap, but not good things. But Germans peculiarity, things are good and also cheap, so none could cope with them in this affair. A nation blessed with much exceptional quality. Their appreciation for India is solid.

So Rabindranatha, when our Guru Mahārāja wanted to send preachers to England, he sent his followers Bon Mahārāja and others to Rabindranatha, “Take his advice what he says.”

Rabindranatha told, “Oh, you want to go to England, but they are proud of their rulers, and we are ruled, so they won’t care to hear your words. And if you go to France, France also it can take easily, and also shake off easily. And America, the field has been wasted, exploited. So many yogīs and others went there to preach something, and they especially mixed with the ladies, with some yoga system and purchased bad name for India. So rather go to Germany. They have got real understanding. They do not take anything easily, but when they appreciate they take it rightly and hold it, accept it, a solid nation.” Rabindranatha told like that.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...theistic, naturally, generally they are theistic people. And also Huns, Huns means haṁsa. I told little before, I read in an English paper [?] Furious Frank and fiery Huns. Fiery Huns means German, and furious Frank perhaps at the time of Napoleon. The fight was a very strict fight. Huns means haṁsa. And haṁsa and paramahaṁsa, the two ancient sections, it is written in Bhāgavatam. The paramahaṁsa that are selected group given to religious life out and out, and haṁsa that was under them. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...told that they migrated from Malaysia to Germany and these places at some time, from when the attack came, Paraśurāma perhaps, in ancient, Paraśurāma.

Devotee: Paraśurāma, yes, and also King Yayati, Sarmistha and Devayani and King Yayati.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, Yayati. Yes, they migrated to those places. It is mentioned that the River Saravati, they crossed then the River Saravati and cast them on the other side. Saravati. What is that River Saravati I don't – it is mentioned there. They are banished on the other banks of Saravati. Maybe Volga or Rhine, Rhine is on the other side. Volga also passing from Germany, no? The greatest river in Europe coming from Russia is going, Volga. There's a book written by someone called Gaṅgā and Volga, a civilization on the banks of Gaṅgā and Volga. The Caspian Sea, the Kasya and Caspian, Kaśyapa is the father of the gods and demons. Perhaps his place, ancient abode was near Caspian Sea. And this varṣa, nava-varṣa, Bhārata-varṣa, Hari-varṣa, Kimpuruṣa-varṣa, Ilāvṛta-varṣa, the nine divisions in the globe; mentioned in Bhāgavatam. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Bali was sent to the Pātāla. Bali, raja, was sent by Vāmana Deva to the Pātāla. Pātāla means the urda, urda is the northern and south is the subterranean region. So in South America Bolivia is there, Bali-via, Bali lived there for some time, Bali-via.

But after all, the world of our sense experience is floating in our consciousness. This is the distinction, floating in the ocean of consciousness. Not that mind in the world, but world is in the mind. Mental sphere is more spacious than the world of experience of senses, the colour and the sound all superficial things floating on the ocean of consciousness. Consciousness is more deeper and more spacious than this mind. And the plane of intelligence, buddhi, that is more spacious and more deeper. In this way, the part of our sense experience is very small, very small, and floating in a part of, in a corner of our mental experience for births together. What we see, what we feel, that is a part of our consciousness. That is the real conception of things. Consciousness presupposes its experience, presupposed by the world of experience.

The cause is within and not in any external place. Then we can get out of it very quickly, if we can think so. It is difficult. We are accustomed to complain against our suffering, complain against others, that they are responsible, the environment responsible for my misery. But that is misunderstanding. When we will be able to realize the misery comes from within, sometimes individually, sometimes collectively. It comes from within, not from outside. Then, we'll get relief very soon. The experts they are of such opinion.

In Bhāgavatam it is one step further. When the misery will come to visit you, it is the result of your own action previous. Not only tolerate but if you can think that it is the grace of the Lord, not only the negative side, to tolerate, that my misery I am experiencing, I am undergoing the past actions, my results of my own bad action. Not only that, but with some positive tinge of nectar. It is the grace of the Lord, His sanction. His sanction is connected with this particular incident. And He is all good, unquestionable good. So there must be some good object in it.

tat te 'nukampāṁ [susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtāṁ vipākam hṛd-vāg-vapurbhir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya

bhāk]

[Lord Brahmā said: “One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed - such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

It is His grace. He wants me to purify as soon as possible, to release me as quickly as possible from my own action. That is His Grace. If we can feel that, very easily and very quickly we shall get out of this misery. That has been recommended by Bhāgavatam, to get out of the misery that comes from within. Nothing can occur, nothing can come without His sanction. And when His sanction is there, He is connected there. And His connection means His grace, all gracious. And we are to look to that. We are to invite that element of the great world above. And thereby we can promote our fortune, our fate, to be connected with that domain divine. No chaos, everything is cosmos. Cosmos connected with all good, we are to look like that.

Queen Kuntī Devī invited such adverse conditions. “Always keep me within adverse circumstance so that my heart can dive deep with a prayer to You for my welfare. If I am engaged by the apparent pleasing environment, thereby I lose Your memory and that is the great loss comparatively.”

These are the spiritual instructions of Bhāgavatam. In Gītā outwardly, man apaman jaya para jaya [?] Both sides, gain, loss, both transient, deal them with equal spirit. Stand direct and meet them, both sides. Success or failure, both equal, because the very plane is a concoction. Like a dream, to become a king in a dream, that is also false, and to become a beggar in the street in a dream, that is also false, of equal value. So here loss and gain in this plane all false. Don't allow yourself to be disturbed by the loss and gain, by the victory or by the failure. And prepare yourself for the greater harmony neglecting these adverse apparent nearer environment. Prepare yourself as a student of the higher study, neglecting all these troubles coming to you.

Be a little more ambitious, more ambitious, not to confine your ambition to this mortal area. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

I feel tired. I disperse talking now.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja met Indira [Gandhi], he reminded her, “That Indu, do you recognize me? I was there, the shop keeper, the agent of Bengal Chemical in [?] Road in Allahabad. You used to come with your father who was a regular purchaser of mine, medicines from my shop.”

Then she could recognize. “Oh, you need not come to me any longer. You will send your assistants to me and I shall consider this.” She told like that I heard.

I told that Indira name was given by Rabindranatha [Tagore] to Indira. Indira in European pronunciation, India, Indira, representing India. So Indira name was given by Rabindranatha. When she came to study for some time in Bharpur, university, Rabindranatha. [?] she received her education from perhaps [?] Jawaharlal [Nehru] was a student of [?] College and Indira was also student for some time in [?] And [?] he took training in Vṛṣabhānu [?] College. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: What is the meaning of the name Indira?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ind means resourcefulness, prosperity, aiśvarya. Indra the king of the heaven is Indra. Indra means master of property. And Indira means Lakṣmī from Ind who can give prosperity. Ra means to give, rati-dadati, rati-laxati, who can protect and who can give the prosperity. She is Indira, Lakṣmī Devī. Lakṣmī's name is Indira. Lakṣmī padalaya padma kamala sri haripriya indira lokamata ma hrabdhi tomaya rama [?] These are the names of Lakṣmī Devī. Lakṣmī, Padalaya, Padma, Kamala, Śrī, Haripriya, Indira, Lokamata, Ma, Hrabdhi tomaya, Rama. These are the synonyms for the name of Lakṣmī, in dictionary we find, Amara-Kośa, all synonymous [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Indra the king of heaven, the master of all resources, fine resources, Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Ultimately all goes to the Absolute. That is all relative position. The king, who is the king, that is relative, ultimately, that the king is not master of his own body, what to be master of the whole country. So the absolute, Indra means the absolute. The possessor of all resources is Kṛṣṇa. Everything goes to Kṛṣṇa when the rein is taken off, mukta pragraha [?] When the rein is taken off the horse the horse may run [?] and goes to the Absolute. Every word goes to the Absolute in its fullest meaning. And partially, relatively, it stands here and there.

So cure yourself quickly. The place was waiting for you, partially at least. Gaura Hari. Kṛṣṇa is the Absolute but He says:

ahaṁ bhakta-parārdhīno, [hy asvatantra iva dvija sādhubhir grasta-hṛdayo, bhaktair bhakta-jana-priyaḥ]

[The Lord tells Durvāsā: "I am the slave of My devotees; I have no freedom apart from their will. Because they are completely pure and devoted to Me, My heart is controlled by them, and I reside always in their hearts. I am dependent not only on My devotees, but even on the servants of My devotees. Even the servants of My devotees are dear to Me.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.63]

“I am controlled by My devotees. What can I do? I am not independent. I have got My partiality. I can’t avoid the request of My devotees. That is My weakness. What to do? Who have left everything and come to depend on Me, how can I discourage them? You say Durvāsā, how it is possible for Me, who has left everything for Me, and don’t want anything for Me, but if any request comes from their side,

_____ [?] how can I deny that? Is it possible? Ahaṁ bhakta-parārdhīno, hy asvatantra. Though I am Absolute, but still I have to come of My own accord to a relative position. A father, a husband, a son, all these relative positions I shall have to observe, of My own accord, though I am Absolute. I am assistant, they are all depending on Me and I shall have to look after them. The Absolute does not mean that He is all cruel: must be sympathetic also. What can I do? You say in the case of Ambarīṣa and yourself, you demand you are a brāhmaṇa, you demand you are a sannyāsī, but you fled for fear of your life. But Ambarīṣa is standing there. He is not going to step back when your created fire wanted to burn him. No padar padena cacala naiva [?] He did not get back, only one step back, no, he stood firmly.”

“If I am culprit, let punishment go on with me.” He did not back out.

But you, when Sudarśana came to charge you, you were flying from this to that, from the four corners of the world, running after for fear of your life. Who is more dignified position, Ambarīṣa or you? You are a brāhmaṇa, he’s a kṣatriya. But you yourself observed the Ekādaśī day, Dvādaśī, and time of pāraṇa you showed respect that Ekādaśī vrata for Me. And he also did that. He showed respect to Me by observing properly Ekādaśī vrata. And you thought he has dishonoured you. You were his guest. And before feeding you he has taken a drop of water to observe the Ekādaśī day and with concerns to Me. You yourself did that vrata and he also did that only for Me, not for self feeding, self gratification. You could not tolerate, you thought he has dishonoured you. So you say that you are a brāhmaṇa, very near to Me, and he's a kṣatriya, he's a little far off. He's gr̥hastha, he's farther. You are sannyāsī, you are nearer to Me, brāhmaṇa. But this is only a fashion. But practically he's nearer to Me. He's not afraid of getting any punishment. And still he's waiting for you. He's fasting."

"That my guest I have not fed, Durvāsā. He's running hither, thither, restless, how can I feed myself?" "He's still standing, waiting, and when you will go he will feed you and then he will take prasādam.

What do you say?" [?] Left everything and surrendered wholly to Me, should I not protect them? Little gratitude I must not have, only I am slave of your formality and not the spirit. Spirit I shall ignore and only formality I shall make much of? What do you say, Durvāsā? Go to him, you will have to go to him. And to see how magnanimous he is, he's still unfed, standing waiting for you. Go and see."

And Durvāsā had to come and then appreciate. Ambarīṣa came like a criminal. "What I have done? All these troubles to you brāhmaṇa, my guest, only for my fault. I am culprit, offender. Please be propitiated with me."

And Durvāsā fell flat. "Yes, so magnanimous. It is possible only for the devotees of Nārāyaṇa. You are so great. We think, we boast of our brāhmaṇa birth and our yogic attempt, but in fact you are real magnanimous people and we are far below.” In this way Durvāsā began to:

aho ananta-dāsānām, mahattvaṁ [dr̥ṣṭam adya me / kṛtāgasō 'pi yad rājan, mangalāni samīhase]

[“I have seen the greatness of the servitors of the Anantadeva, Śrī Nārāyaṇa. You are so magnanimous that although I am an offender you have prayed for me. You hold an unparalleled position in the whole universe.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.5.14]

“The greatness of the servitors of the Anantadeva, Nārāyaṇa, you all people hear how great, how magnanimous they are. Unparalleled position they hold in the whole universe.”

In this way he began to preach, that Durvāsā, whose very nature is always to find fault with others and to give them punishment by his yogic power. That is his nature. But he began to sing the song in praise of the devotees like Ambarīṣa.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Have you taken anything?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. The diet is everything now in this stage of your disease. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. But the God sent friends you have got, that is a good sign. Nitāi Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari. Badrinārāyaṇa Prabhu, he has gone?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Left. Untimely he has come, could catch the train. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Optimism, cent percent optimistic we shall have to become, cent percent optimistic, and no place, no room of pessimism. Kṛṣṇa bhakta, he will apprehend that I may not commit any offence, especially against Vaiṣṇavas. Very alert, they should have to become. So gracious, so valuable fortune we are aspiring after, so I must be very, very careful. It will raise, arouse envy, jealousy on different parts, that we are connected with such a great fortune. So as much as possible we must be very cautious, careful that no disturbance may come outside to do away with our motive, or our pure aspiration. Gaura Haribol. So Mahāprabhu told:

trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ

[“One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

In one word you must be conscious that you are living in a place which is worthless, no value. Trṇād api sunīcena, don't go to oppose anyone. No meaning of giving any opposition. It is all fictitious. Why should I lose my energy to give opposition to something, all fictitious? Taror api sahiṣṇunā, if any opposition comes to you, don't care for that. It is also unreal. Their motive is only superficial. That may not affect your inner train of, trend of thought. So don't be very careful about any opposition coming to you. Don't create any opposition to others, and still if any opposition comes to you, try not to care. It is all futile. Amāninā, and don't hanker after any appreciation from the ordinary public, any name and fame, appreciation, because they do not know. Their appreciation has got no value at all. They are all like madmen, they're besides themselves. Their own good they do not know. So their appreciation has got no value. Depreciation has also no value. So don't hanker after any appreciation from the public. Mānadena, and still you must be alert to give their due respect, otherwise they will come to disturb you. Like bribe, to show some, offer some respect to them, and go on with your own campaign. As much as undisturbed, try to make progress as rapidly as possible, because circumstance may cut off this opportunity and connection. So as much as the present circumstance you will be able to utilize, you try to do that. Live, live in the acting present.

Trust no future however pleasant! Let the dead past bury its dead! Act, act, in the living present! Heart within, and God overhead! [Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1807-82, U.S. poet]

With this policy, go on. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Now let us fall flat on the bed.

Infinite minus infinite is infinite. Zero minus zero is zero, zero plus zero is zero, zero into zero is zero. So is the question of infinite. Infinite plus infinite is infinite, infinite into infinite is infinite, infinite minus infinite is infinite. Beyond the reach of calculation, so adhokṣaja, beyond our jurisdiction of understanding. But He can connect us. He can connect us, we can't. Then, how we can have His connection? Only drawing His attention to connect with us, so that is by increasing our negative characteristic.

"I'm so helpless. My position is the worst position. I desire the best attention."

Sincerely by such prayer we can draw His attention. So try to increase the negative aspect of our, to draw His attention, that He may come down to us. We can't go up to His level, never, but He can come down. And how to attract Him to come down to my lower level, that is devotion. That is the very nature of devotion, to increase ones negative prospect, that "I am the lowest of the low. I am the most needy." Not the mere statement but such sincere feeling in one's own heart. That can draw. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. He's positive, the owner, possessor, He can exercise right by his power. We are dependent, relative position, potency. Master is He. He can utilize us. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyaḥ. No qualification is sufficient to draw His attention, these mundane qualities here, the knowledge of the scriptures, and sharp memory, intelligence, energy, all failure.

nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena [yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūm svām]

["One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Super-soul residing within everyone's heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self- manifest form directly before him.”] [Kāṭha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23] & [Muṇḍaka-Upaniṣad, 2.3.2]

Never, by no means, yam evaiṣa vṛnute, whomever He wants to speak with comes to connect. He can have a touch of Him. He can come, so subtle, so efficient, so powerful in all respects, holding higher position. So He can connect, but we cannot connect, going up. We're gross. Gross thing cannot enter, subtle thing can enter into gross. Ether can enter everywhere, but earth, stone cannot enter into ether. It can float on the ethereal ocean. So our position is gross. Consciousness, fine consciousness, very sharp intellect, that is also gross in comparison with His nature, energy, whole circle so fine.

So āroha-panthā, ascending method is a failure. Descending method, that after He descends to my level, by my earnest prayer, heartfelt prayer, that is bhakti, devotion, śaraṇāgati, surrender. “No other alternative, my Lord, without Your attention or Your grace, no other alternative.” Such sincere wave can touch Him and attract Him. Dainyam, humility is the beginning of śaraṇāgati, dainyam, humility. And not any show of humility, but most heartfelt sincere humility. Then, one helpless, humble, necessarily he will search for some support, then ātma-nivedanam, dainyam, ātma-nivedanam. When one feels himself quite helpless, then naturally he seeks for some support, so ātma-nivedanam. “Where to throw myself for any existence of improvement, or maintenance: where to? I have nothing. I am no entity, so some entity is necessary to depend on, to respond is necessary, direct desire. Goptṛtve varaṇ, and then to accept, You are my protector, You are my guardian, You are all in all. I throw myself in Your grace, sweet will. I have no other alternative, goptṛtve varaṇam. Rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāso. From the first of the idea, He is great, He is my mania, He must protect me. He must give me shelter, to foster such idea. bhakti anukul matra [?]

And what is favourable, such life, to accept that, and what is unfavourable, to reject that. This is śaraṇāgati. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. This is the basis of spiritual life, devotional life. Without this, no devotion can stand, can stay, can be considered theistic.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...nineteen thirty seven, this early morning Guru Mahārāja passed away. That also was Friday, first January, thirty seven, that was Friday, early morning. I attended his bed, sick bed, from two to four, and then another's turn came to attend. I went to bed. Two of us were attending him in a pair, two. Went to bed, and then suddenly, who cooked for him, that gentleman, generally we called him Mahārāja, Sajjan-mani [?] Mahārāja, came to rouse me.

“Come quickly. Prabhupāda perhaps he's going away. Come quickly.”

At once we, in the morning I came to his bed but sweat was with my body. At once I jumped out and went, but saw, could not see him any longer.

Just twenty four hours back he called me, the same, through Mahārāja, Sajjanānanda and asked me to sing śrī-rūpa-mañjarī, twenty four hours back; that is Thursday, early morning.

But this day we heard, after twelve o'clock new year's day began according to the English custom, so after twelve the whistles from different steamers and other places were pleased to show new year come.

Then also Prabhupāda was there, but perhaps at five o'clock, at five am he passed away. Then a special train was arranged from Salda Calcutta to Kṛṣṇaga: special train. We all came with him to Kṛṣṇaga. Then a bus was reserved – but could not be taken in the bus, so on the roof of the bus some of us climbed up, because he was lying in some temporarily arranged plank or something like that. Then when we with the bus we came to the Svarūpa-Ganga ghat, already dark. And we are all fasting, not even a drop of water. Then anyhow after crossing the Saraswatī River, other side, and we carried him on our shoulders to Māyāpur. There in some place, the vicinity where he lived before, from the beginning, before his sannyāsa, nearby that a place was dug.

But Kuñja Bābu [Śrīpād Bhakti Vilās] Tīrtha Mahārāja rejected that. “No, must have a Mandeer and a Nat Mandeer before that so this place will not suit.”

So it was removed to its present place, position, and there we began to dig ourselves, almost the whole night, by dark. And then his Śrī Mūrti was placed on āsana in a sitting posture with spectacles and what he used to wear every day. And such elegant and beautifully decorated he showed the posture which charmed me. I never saw him in such great Ācārya there, most dignified way I could see him there. And as usual the salts were given around his figure, and then earth. Earth could not touch his body, only salt, and then earth.

In this way when it came up to the neck I came out from the samādhi. I could not tolerate to see his face to be covered with salt. I came out.

And Keśava Mahārāja he was there, and others also [?] Then after the pit was filled up a Tulasī bidi was temporarily built there and the barrier around. Then we went to sing songs, suiting the time, viraha-saṅkīrtana from different places was sung, then some summary talk about him. One Bhāratī Mahārāja he was chanting. I asked him to chant that [?] the conclusion of the poem composed by Guru Mahārāja in conclusion of Caitanya-caritāmṛta Anubhāṣya there where he's mentioning about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura after his departure.

Yar samanya keha dari ayi nara deha nahi koila kṛṣṇa bhakti dhan [?]
“Never any man came in human figure who could spread the news of the Supreme so much for the benefit of the world.”

That was awakened in my mind, and at that time felt that he has moved his every nath to spread the cult given by Mahāprabhu. He strained his every nath to the finish to spread the advices or instructions of Mahāprabhu, Kṛṣṇa bhakti, the devotion of Kṛṣṇa. We never experience such personality before.

Then in the conclusion Vāsudeva Prabhu asked me to chant śrī-rūpa-mañjarī-pada, and I did so, because only two days ago he wanted to hear from my lips that song. Then the function was closed. Then of course so many men began to cry, some embracing another man and crying.

“How shall we live now? Only, we all came and joined here for the attraction of his holy feet. Now he has disappeared. How we are to live? The centre is removed, centre of interest of all of us suddenly removed. How can we live, and how to live hereafter, in what way?”

Perplexed for the time being. Anyhow his Mission is there, and what he has done we shall try our best to go on with that. That is a general faith. With that trend we are to go on in future life, in this way.

Then next day that was Saturday. Then at Calcutta Maṭha there is engagement, some gentlemen, perhaps some European gentlemen should come there, it was appointed so some of us must go there. And among the list my name was also. I was so much tired, can't move my body, still, what to do, must go. Must go, no disobedience is possible just after the demise of Guru Mahārāja. The general secretary he wants me to go. I remember I felt inability but anyhow dragged myself to Calcutta.

And when I'm in Rāma-ghāṭa station junction I found that Lalitā Prasād is walking on the platform. Some told that Lalitā Bābū is there. From the railway carriage we had a look on him. That is the first time I saw him. Afterwards, once more I saw him. Twice I have seen him, Lalitā Prasād. He was a bachelor. He had service in the writers [?] building, government clan. Then retiring he opened an āśrama. In the beginning he was living with Prabhupāda in Yoga-pīṭha, but after Kuñja Bābu came, became general secretary and began to start the propaganda work, Lalitā Prasād had some difference with Kuñja Bābu, and he went away gradually, cutting connection with brother, our Guru Mahārāja. And established an āśrama there in the birth place of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, that is the maternal uncle's house of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, that Ula.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura comes from Calcutta Datta family, renowned, and from the same family Vivekananda also came, that Datta family of Hat Cola [?] a renowned family in Calcutta, Datta family, Hat Cola [?] Datta. Vivekananda also came out of that family, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura also. But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's mother's birthplace was Ula, and he was born in maternal uncle's house. They're also zamīndārs, Mustafi Datta family, they're zamīndārs, big zamīndārs of that time. But there he was born, so that place has been taken up by Lalitā Prasād and made an āśrama and he lived there.

After, he lived long time, Prabhupāda passed away sixty three, and Lalitā Prasād over hundred, one or two, hundred one or two, he lived after that.

He appreciated my poem about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, I came to know through his sister. His sister came here some twenty years back perhaps or more. She told that, 'he has appreciated your poem about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura very much.'

And sometimes the disciples also come here now and then. I give some five rupees, ten rupees, this way looking. Of course taking the name of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura anyhow going on, not to such accuracy and intensity as our Guru Mahārāja did, but to certain extent some connection or other. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

According to our Guru Mahārāja he had some connection with Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura but that is contaminated with the flesh connection, more, than spiritual. Ha, ha. Baba, bada. He was son, and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was his father, he can't forget that. Independent of that connection – of course he has got some idea but that is not very bona fide, we are told, and nearing towards sahajiyā vāda. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Madhvācārya has written a poem, Māyāvādā-Śata-Dūṣaṇī, a hundred poems against Māyāvādā. And our Guru Mahārāja has written Prākṛta-rasa Śata-Dūṣaṇī, a hundred lines devoted to expose sahajiyāism; that is imitation of prema bhakti. What is lust, what is sense pleasure, to conceive that, to take that in the place of divine love. This human love is conceived in a colour to be the divine love. What is so rare that even Brahmā and Śiva they cannot expect to possess that thing, that high thing. And they think they have already got, by, through imagination, imagining himself as a girl. And also, so much so that they imagine some gentleman, bābājī to be Kṛṣṇa. And they began to practice their relationship in that way, thinking that will be conducive, that will assist them to raise up their standard of life to that high creation, only by thinking, and in that way. A nasty thing, going on in the name, so the society looks down upon them as the pests of the society, society outside.

So Prabhupāda gave a new line, that, “Goswāmīns, you look at the śāstra, you will find what is that.”

manuṣyāṇāṁ sahasreṣu, kaścid yatati siddhaye yatatām api siddhānāṁ,
kaścin māṁ vetti tattvataḥ

["Out of countless souls, some may have reached the human form of life, and among many thousands of human beings, some endeavour to attain direct perception of the individual soul and the Supersoul; and among many thousands of such aspirants who have attained to seeing the soul and the Supersoul, only a few receive actual perception of Me, Śyāmasundara."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.3] bahūnāṁ janmanāṁ ante, jñānavān mām prapadyate vāsudevaḥ sarvam

iti, sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ

["After many, many births and deaths, one who is actually in knowledge surrenders unto Me, knowing Me to be the cause of all causes and all that is. Such a great soul is very rare."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.19]

tapasvibhyo 'dhiko yogī, jñānibhyo 'pi mato 'dhikaḥ karmibhyaś cādhiko
yogī, tasmād yogī bhavārjuna

["A yogī is greater than an ascetic, a philosopher jñānī, or a fruitive working karmī. Therefore, O Arjuna, always be a yogī."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.46]

yoginām api sarveṣāṁ, mad-gatenāntarātmanā śraddhāvān bhajate yo
mām, sa me yuktatamo mataḥ

["In My opinion, of all types of yogīs, the most elevated of all is he who surrenders his heart to Me and serves Me in devotion with sincere, internal faith.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.47]

In Bhāgavatam [6.14.5],

muktānām api siddhānām nārāyaṇa-parāyaṇa sudurlabhaḥ praśāntātmā
koṭīśv api mahā-mune

[“O great sage, among many millions who are liberated and perfect in knowledge of liberation, one may be a devotee of Lord Nārāyaṇa, or Kṛṣṇa. Such devotees, who are fully peaceful, are extremely rare.”] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.150]

brāhmaṇānām sahasrebhyaḥ satra-yājī viśiṣyate satra-yāji-sahasrebhyaḥ
sarvva-vedānta-pāragaḥ sarvva-vedānta-vit-koṭi yā viṣṇubhakto viśiṣyate
vaiṣṇavānām sahasrebhyaḥ ekāntyeko viśiṣyate

[“Among many thousands of brāhmaṇas, a yajñika brāhmaṇa is best. Among thousands of yajñika brāhmaṇas, one who fully knows Vedānta is best. Among millions of knowers of Vedānta, one who is a devotee of Viṣṇu is best. And among thousands of devotees of Viṣṇu, one who is an unalloyed Vaiṣṇava is best.”] [Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa, 10.117] & [Bhakti-Sandarbha, 117]

In this way the steps are clearly shown, by climbing up by these steps then you are to go to that. You can go up to that place of wonderful dream. But that is more wonderful than dream, the Lord’s harem. Ha, ha.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

We could feel also how it is possible to imitate in such a filthy plane. Sense pleasure and the sense pleasure of the Adhokṣaja, of the Divinity, just two opposites. South pole and north pole. Sense pleasure, that is the lowest conception of pleasure. And to seek the pleasure of the senses of the highest conception of the Deity, which generally seems to be impossible, to reach to that standard, how much sacrifice and self abnegation and self surrendering is required. It is infinitely intensified stage in which we can hope to come to such a position and to find the personal characteristic of the Lord in full. And then again to approach Him and not only to touch His holy feet which is also impossible to the consciousness at large that we can touch His feet. What to speak of to raise one's self in a loving position and love of the unreserved and of the highest type. This is dream of a dream.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. One may think of that very rarely, but to achieve that, that is almost impossible. It is such. It is such. By his personal touch one can't grasp it, but when they grasp, 'Yes, it can be conceived, His such behaviour, such loving behaviour with the highest type of loving devotees,' that may be thought out, but never with one's own achievement. We can come up to such height as to think that Lord is very affectionately playing with His most favourite group so much. And never any selfish touch that will brush you aside, down, if you go to approach direct with your conception of ego.

Guru janma sitay bhumay sitay paya sata guṇa [?] That is of such nature that on the head of my Gurudeva that looks very beautiful. This is of such type, thing of such type, that on the head of my Gurudeva it looks very well, very beautiful. By nature it is such, that in the highest position of my imagination I may guess to have His, to see His position. It's so rarely seen and conceived that thing is to our society, our level, thinkers of our level.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

So first January, Friday, in nineteen thirty seven also such concurrence. In the middle also several times such concurrence must have been, must have happened, but I don't remember. But this time I remembered that. This Friday, first January, and this occurred, same with that, thirty seven. Perhaps after seven years or so it may come, but the leap year also to be taken into consideration. Hare Kṛṣṇa. One day increased in every four days in a year.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

After his separation I composed a poem. The beginning stanza is this.

nīte yasmin niśante nayana-jala-bharaiḥ snāta-gātrārbudānām ucchair utkrośatām śrī-vṛṣa-kapi-sutayā-dhīrayā svīya-goṣṭhīm pṛthvī gāḍhāndhakārair-hṛta-nayana-maṇivāvṛtā yena hīnā yatrāsau tatra śīghram kṛpaṇa-nayana he nīyatām kiṅkaro 'yam

[At the close of night, early morn, there were crores of devotees fleshly bathed, loudly wailing, their eyes overflowing with sorrowful tears of hopelessness. Śrīmatī Rādhikā, that radiantly beautiful queen of Vraja and daughter of King Vṛṣabhānu, had summoned Her intimate servant Śrī Dayita dāsa to return to Her divine camp, their personal family. Now in the absence of Nayana-maṇi mañjari, the Earth planet has been vacuumed into the deepest, vacant darkness. O! With no further delay, kindly accept this fallen soul as your servant. O Dayita dāsa, I am hoping against hope to be embraced within the fold of your divine company.]
[Śrī-Śrī Dayita-dāsa-daśakam, 1]

Nīte yasmin niśante, at the last moment of the night he was taken in by Śrī Rādhārāṇī as if She was very much impatient to tolerate his separation, svīya-goṣṭhīm. Nayana-jala-bharaiḥ snāta-gātrārbudānām, amongst hundreds, thousands of people who were weeping, weeping profusely so that they're taking bath in their own tears, snāta-gātrārbudānām, neglecting that, Rādhārāṇī took impatiently at once, drew him in Her camp, very impatiently. Yasmin niśante nayana-jala-bharaiḥ snāta-gātrārbudānām ucchair utkrośatām, and someone is crying aloud for the separation. But without caring for that Rādhārāṇī impatiently took him because She could not tolerate his separation any longer [?] Now, what was the condition of the Earth at that time? Pṛthvī gāḍhāndhakārair-hṛta-nayana-maṇī. Our Guru Mahārāja's secret name was Nayana-maṇi mañjari. Nayana-maṇi means this eyeball. If eyeball is taken out then the whole Earth is dark to that gentleman. The Nayana-maṇi was taken suddenly and the whole world was covered with darkness to the people, hṛta-nayana-maṇīvā, pṛthvī gāḍhāndhakārair, deep darkness came down as if the eyeball has been taken out of them, yena hīnā, by his separation. Yatrāsau tatra śīghram kṛpaṇa-nayana, addressing as if to one's own eye. "You are so miser. Where he's going, please take me hurriedly there towards that direction which way he's going. O my dear eye, take me in that side hurriedly, yatrāsau tatra śīghram kṛpaṇa-nayana he nīyatām kiṅkaro 'yam. Take this servant. Why you are so miser my eye? Take me hurriedly towards that direction which way he is going. And another internal meaning is kṛpaṇa-nayana he, he's Nayana-maṇi mañjari, his name. [?] you are so cruel to me Nayana." Nayana means Gurudeva. "You please take me where you are going along with you. Why you are so cruel to me?" Nayana he nīyatām. "Take this servant along with you, and very hurriedly."

In this way, this is the beginning in this way. There are perhaps eleven or twelve stanzas.

[Ten prayers, stanzas, offered in the mood of separation on the disappearance day of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura Prabhupāda, known as Śrī-Śrī Dayita-dāsa-daśakam]

And another śloka:

gaurendor asta-śaile kimu kanakaghano hema-hṛj-jambu-nadyā āvirbhūtaḥ pravarṣair nikhila-jana-padaṁ plāvayan dāva-dagdham gaurāvirbhāva-bhūmau rajasi ca sahasā saṁjugopa-svayaṁ svaṁ yatrāsau tatra śīghraṁ kṛpaṇa-nayana he nīyatāṁ kiṅkaro 'yam

[You appeared like a massive golden cloud above the horizon of the blue hills of Nīlācala, precisely where that golden moon Śrīman Mahāprabhu set. From your golden heart a golden shower has inundated suffering humanity, extinguishing the scorching blaze of worldly life. Suddenly disappearing, you have hidden yourself within the holy dust of the holy abode of Navadvīpa, where Śrī Caitanyadeva appeared. O! With no further delay, kindly accept this fallen soul as your servant. O Dayita dāsa, I am hoping against hope to be embraced within the fold of your divine company.] [Śrī-Śrī Dayita-dāsa-daśakam, 5]

Where Mahāprabhu came down, Gaurendu, the moon Gaurāṅga was set down where, this He was from, came out from that very place. And where Mahāprabhu came out he set down there, Navadvīpa. Mahāprabhu was born in Nadia and disappeared in Purī. And our Guru Mahārāja appeared from Purī and disappeared here in his birthplace. So gaurendor asta-śaile, where he, moon of Gaurāṅga was set down he took his birth, how? Kimu kanakaghano hema-hṛj-jambu-nadyā, a golden cloud, taking, drawing his lustre from that wonderful imaginary gold that comes from [?] he did such, a golden cloud, taking birth from the Purī there [?]

Where Mahāprabhu set down, Gaurendu, the moon Gaurāṅga set down where, this He was, sprang, came out from that very place. And where Mahāprabhu came out, he set down there, Navadvīpa. Mahāprabhu was born in Nadiyā and disappeared in Purī. And our Guru Mahārāja appeared from Purī and disappeared here in His birthplace. So gaurendor asta-śaile, where the moon of Gaurāṅga was set down, he took his birth how? Kimu kanakaghano hema- hrj-jambu-nadyā, a golden cloud, taking, drawing its lustre from that wonderful imaginary gold that comes out in Jambūdvīpa, sprung up in Jambūdvīpa, that special quality gold, is it such, such a golden cloud, taking birth from the Purī there? Jambu-nadyā, āvirbhūtaḥ pravarṣair nikhila- jana-padaṁ plāvayan dāva-dagdham. The whole country has been burned by the severe sun, and the famine, drought, and that cloud raining profusely the whole country, then came and suddenly disappeared in the place of appearance of Gaurāṅga. Is it so? In this way.

yā vāṇī kaṇṭha-lagnā vilasati satataṁ kṛṣṇa-caitanya-candre kaṇa-kroḍāḥ janānāṁ kimu nayana-gatāṁ saiva mūrtiṁ prakāśya [nilādrīśasya

[Through your voice, the wonderful explanations concerning Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu eternally resound with great joy. And how did those topics enter into the ears of the people at large and reveal before their very eyes the beautiful figure of Śrī Caitanyadeva? Once, by His glance, Lord Jagannātha, the universal master of Śrī Nilācala, arranged for you to appear in the holy place of Jagannātha Purī to spread the glories of Mahāprabhu everywhere. There you remain as the very pupil of His eyes. O! With no further delay, kindly accept this fallen soul as your servant. O Dayita dāsa, I am hoping against hope to be embraced within the fold of your divine company.] [Śrī-Śrī Dayita-dāsa-daśakam, 4]

The voice of Gaurāṅga, Saraswatī, our Guru Mahārāja's name was Saraswatī. Saraswatī means vāṇī, words. Yā vāṇī kaṇṭha-lagnā vilasati satataṁ kṛṣṇa-caitanya-candre. The voice what lived in connection with the throat of Śrī Gaurāṅga Mahāprabhu, is that, has that come out again from the ears, kaṇa-kroḍ, the lap of the ear of so many devotees who attended the talk of Gaurāṅga? From that ear, from that cave, has it come out again? Then, janānāṁ kimu nayana- gatāṁ saiva mūrtiṁ. Is it that that very, the words now have appeared in the form of a visionary type, that sound has been transformed into vision, mūrtiṁ prakāśya, visible, visibility? And when the Jagannātha He starts in the chariot, Prabhupāda was born just on the side of that way where that Jagannātha Ratha, the chariot of Jagannātha passes on the road, and just on the side Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura he hired a house and in that house Prabhupāda was born. So where Jagannātha cast His glance, from there it has got the Nayana-maṇi name. The Nayana-maṇi that is, the eyeball of Jagannātha was cast in that house, and from there it has taken a visible form who was originally in the voice of Gaurāṅga, Gaura-Saraswatī, Gaura vāṇī. Has that taken such form from the place where Jagannātha cast His glance on that house? Karṇa-kroḍāj janānām kimu nayana-gatām saiva mūrtiṁ prakāśya, and so one of his names was nayanatara, the eyeball. Is it for that one of his names was eyeball, Nayana-maṇi? Netra-tārābhidheyā, anyhow whatever it may be, my miser eye, take me hurriedly towards that direction in which way he's going away."

In this way some eleven or twelve stanzas I... Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, when did he get that name Nayana-maṇi?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He himself has expressed that in one place. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is Kamala- maṇi Mañjarī. Guṇa-maṇi Mañjarī is Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja, Guṇa Mañjarī. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is Kamala Mañjarī. And our Guru Mahārāja expressed his name, privately, Nayana-maṇi Mañjarī, to some people, we heard from him Nayana-maṇi Mañjarī. It is written in some place. Gaura Haribol.

Once in Rādhā-kuṇḍa, some of us were living with him for a month. At that time the aṣṭa-kālīya-līlā he was hearing, making to sing by some of the persons who were his devotees there. I followed him very closely, trying for a mental attitude to be very closer to his Vṛndāvana personality. In the daytime he used to live in a new built building. The month was this October perhaps, a little cold. The daytime in a new built building and at night time the new built building that was a little cold, so at night he used to stay in a tent spread just on a fallow land in the front of that building. He lived inside, and I took my position just on the gate of that tent, outside. At night I used to take my bedding just outside his gate, passed night.

One day, in morning time, he's coming to the pukha house, the building, I'm following him closely. There was no other man. He put his sleeper just before entering the room, and he thought that after entering the room he will take the sleeper with his hand and put it in a proper place, under the bedstead, and then he will. But whenever he left the sleeper and entered the room I took it, I took the sleeper. And after turning he came to take the sleeper he found that it is in my hand.

Then he told a simple sentence, ami sariye nitche [?] "That I am taking it away, this is the word."

But it came with so sweetness and softness that I had to think, 'Where from this voice is coming? It is not a voice, not a sound of this plane, this land. It is coming from some other land, some other plane, so soft and so sweet the voice came. Only the word is this, ami sariye nitche, that I am thinking it, only this much, nothing more. But it rang in my ear, that this is not a sound of this plane. This comes from some other world, some other world, so soft, so sweet, so heart capturing. Is this the way in which the conduct may behaviour occurs and so harmoniously there so sweet?

Kathā gānaṁ [Brahma-saṁhitā, 56] every speech, every word is like a song. A movement, gamanam nāṭyaṁ, movement means it is dancing. Every movement is like dancing, sweet, and every word coming out, it is song, singing. It has been described, everything modified with high degree of duty. In the land of duty everything is beautiful; everything is beautiful, everything having the touch of the beauty divine, charming. Charming, the prime cause is charming, attracting, charming, snatching the heart, soft. There is a land of such sort of existence. And our aspiration is after that sort of life, we aspire after. Rādhikā- mādhavāśāṁ. We can sincerely foster that sort of idea to feel attraction, a life of such a plane where everything is music, where everything is music character. The flute of Kṛṣṇa: that is guiding everything. That can draw out even the life from the body. The sound is so charming that as if the very feeling, sentiment, is as if it is coming out, wants to come out of the body, of the bodily existence. Whatever part of our body is touched with any sort of dealing, that seems to disconnect with other parts, and that party runs to move, to join, if it is possible to think. If the colour the eye wants to feed it: as if separating himself with other parts of the body. If ear hears the sound, ear wants to run towards that sound, even neglecting his connections with other parts of the body. Competition. 'I don't want your connection, this body. I want to run towards that direction. There is call from there, the ear will say, the eye will say, the touch will say, that competition. Whatever touch that wants to run away from the other friendly companions.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Once when Prabhupāda conducted the whole Braja maṇḍala parikramā, after that is finished he asked his disciples, "What positions have attracted you most? What position in Vṛndāvana has attracted you most?"

When it was asked to me I told that, 'Kadamkandi, the birthplace of Rūpa Goswāmī Prabhu's Bhajan sthali, between Nandagram Kṛṣṇa and Yavat Rādhārāṇī. Midway there was an āśrama where Rūpa Goswāmī settled and used to write the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu _____ [?] from there, generally. I told, 'That place attracted me most.'

Then after a year or two again when we had gone to Rādhā-kuṇḍa in his company, suddenly he told, “Your place,” that very place, “Your place.”

I’m astounded, ‘What is this, where is my place?’ “Your place, that Kadamkandi, Rūpa Goswāmī.”

I thought, O, two or three years ago he enquired which was very attractive to whom, and that is with some purpose, and he has kept it in his mind, and accordingly today he’s saying that, ‘Your place.’ ‘Your place.’

‘Where is my place?’ So he was so much particular about that, that is ruci parīkṣa, to test the, to examine the taste of a particular person to a particular līlā, for particular group of service. These are necessary in the Ācārya to test his disciples, which is the place where he’s to be located, where his taste stands. And accordingly in harmony with that innate taste he’s to help him in his march towards that land of glamour.

Rādhikā-mādhavāśāṁ, that our hoping against hope, that the highest hope, we are pinned down: our fate is pinned down there. The goal, the destination has been settled, and how to reach there, and when to reach there, and who, others will come to my help to reach there. The master, śikṣā Guru, dīkṣā Guru, whoever will help me to go there he’s my Guru. He’s my guide who will help me to go to my destination, which is located in this way: the hankering, the hankering, the station of my hankering, innate, innermost hankering, the station, the destination. Gaura Haribol. Rādhikā-mādhavāśāṁ prāpto yasya prathitaḥ kṛpayā śrī-gurum taṁ nato 'smi.

And who has helped me to locate my place of destination, rādhikā-mādhavāśāṁ prāpto, he has given, he has educated me how to aspire after, what to aspire after, and how we can go to Their aspired shelter: highest. All these I have got from whom, who is my all in all in life, the master of my life. This is a boat and he's the helmsman. I have surrendered to him. I have accepted, I have put myself in his boat and he's taking me towards the goal, the end of my life. Guru-karṇadhāram, helmsman, nṛ-deham has been compared with a boat. By utilising my resources in this body and mind my Gurudeva is rowing me towards the goal as helmsman, guru-karṇadhāram. One who has come in human species if he does not take this advantage he commits suicide. He commits suicide after coming in this human birth if he loses to take this advantage of crossing the ocean of life and death, life and death, birth and death, birth and death, birth and death. The ocean, the very nature is waves of birth and death, birth and death, to cross this ocean of birth and death. The helmsman is Gurudeva. And if one misses the chance he's committing suicide – in Bhāgavatam [11.20.17].

nṛ-deham ādyaṁ sulabhaṁ sudurllabhaṁ, plavaṁ sukalpaṁ guru-karṇadhāram mayānukūlena nabhasvateritaṁ, pumān bhavābdaḥ na taret sa ātmahā “Committer of suicide he is. And I’m helping so many boats,” Lord says, “So many boats are passing and I’m helping like a favourable wind. Helmsman is Guru and I am favourable wind. The boat is this human body. And you all should take the advantage of crossing this ocean of birth and death. It is compared to the infinite, this world, something like infinite. It is very difficult to cross this ocean of birth and death, birth and death. If you want to get away from these troubles, janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhi [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9] you must take the chance. You must take the chance, otherwise you’ll lose so much that it amounts to suicide.”

Mahāprabhu’s grace presupposes some sort of selection, but Nityānanda Prabhu’s grace no selection. Whoever He comes across he gets the grace. He’s so magnanimous, Nityānanda Prabhu, He’s so much magnanimous whoever He comes across on his way he gets benefit, he’s saved. So raw, indiscriminate, and so spacious His mercy. Most benevolent, generous, magnanimous: Nityānanda. But Mahāprabhu has a sort of discrimination. But Nityānanda Prabhu does not care for any discrimination, whether he’s fit or unfit; so worthy His mercy. Nitāi. Nitāi. So, heno nitāi vine bhāi rādhā kṛṣṇa pāite nāi [Mañḍa-śikṣā] Overlooking the grace of Nityānanda Prabhu, overlooking Him, never be courageous to go to Rādhā- Kṛṣṇa neglecting the grace of Nityānanda. So Swāmī Mahārāja has laid stress on Nityānanda, Balarāma. Nityānanda is Balarāma. Laid stress for the fallen, Nityānanda Prabhu’s grace is wealth, is real wealth, because discrimination has not got much place there. But in the grace, in the mercy of Gaurāṅga, magnanimity of Gaurāṅga, some sort of discrimination is there. Still not so much, but still we find a sort of discrimination. But Nityānanda Prabhu is more generous, so first go to Nityānanda. And by grace you will go to Mahāprabhu. And by the grace of Mahāprabhu you will easily reach the Rādhā-Govinda, Vṛndāvana. That is the way shown to us. Go to Nityānanda, from there to Śrī Gaurāṅga.

yathā yathā gaura padāravinde, vindeta bhaktim kṛta puṇya rāśiḥ tathā

[Prabodhānanda Saraswatī Ṭhākura says: “As much as we devote ourselves to the lotus feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga, we will automatically achieve the nectarine service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī in Vṛndāvana. An investment in Navadvīpa Dhāma will automatically take one to Vṛndāvana. How one will be carried there will be unknown to him. But those who have good fortune invest everything in the service of Gaurāṅga. If they do that, they will find that everything has automatically been offered to the divine feet of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. She will accept them in Her confidential service and give them engagement, saying: “Oh, you have a good recommendation from Navadvīpa; I immediately appoint you to this service.”] [Caitanya- candrāmṛta, 88]

Percolated by the mercy of Gaurāṅga, try to approach Rādhārāṇī, then no possibility of any dirt to enter and disturb you there in that plane. That will be percolated here by Gaurāṅga. You have got Gaurāṅga you are sure that you will very safely, smoothly, easily, and very intimately you will have the service of Rādhārāṇī. Otherwise it is very dangerous and sometimes suicidal, and reactionary, if you do not go through Gaurāṅga. If you want to approach direct to Vṛndāvana towards Rādhārāṇī it is very dangerous. You must go recommended by Śrī Gaurāṅga. That is, if you can appreciate the life of Gaurāṅga, the ideal of Gaurāṅga, the kāma and other things will be exhaustively eliminated. You'll be really purified to be acceptable to that domain of that highest līlā, or pastimes. This is the fact.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, there's a temple they say, some devotees they say there is the place where Lord Nityānanda and Lord Gaurāṅga met for the first time. There's a temple on New Māyāpur side. Is that true?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: There's a mandira...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Near Māyāpur, and it's told that Caitanya Mahāprabhu and Nityānanda Prabhu met there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is Goswāmī Mahārāja, the Gauḍīya Saṅga. I myself gave the name there, Nandan Ācārya Bhavan.

When Nityānanda Prabhu first visited Navadvīpa then He took His shelter in the Nandan Ācārya Bhavan, in a particular house in the town. Then Mahāprabhu told to His devotees that, "One great person has come here. Try to find out Him. I'm feeling in My heart that a great personage has come to visit the town, last night. I found that in a chariot, whose sign is that of Baladeva, kalajanga [?], came and enquiring here, 'Where is Nimāi Paṇḍita's house? Will you say, will you guide Me to where Nimāi Paṇḍita lives? Where does He live?’ I saw in a dream of that type.” Mahāprabhu, Nimāi Paṇḍita told to His friends. “So one great man must have come here to enquire about Him.” This was the advice of Mahāprabhu towards His paraphernalia.

And they tried to search for Him, such a big, great man, great person, but they came out in despair, disappointed. “No such person we could find.”

Then Mahāprabhu told, “Yes, let Me try. Come along with Me.” And He came at once to that Nandan Ācārya’s house and there found Nityānanda Prabhu is sitting on the veranda. And there meeting Nityānanda Prabhu lost His senses finding Nimāi Paṇḍita. And so many shedding tears and all these things, and Nityānanda Prabhu was introduced to the devotees and as the first acquaintance.

Now, in another time when some disturbance from Advaita Prabhu’s remark, Mahāprabhu left His place and at once He jumped in the Ganges. And Nityānanda Prabhu and Haridāsa Ṭhākura also jumped in the water of the Ganges and took Nimāi Paṇḍita out.

And after that Nimāi Paṇḍita told: “I am hiding Myself in the house of Nandana Ācārya. And you say to Advaita Ācārya that Nimāi Paṇḍita jumped into the Ganges, we could not find Him. And let us see what he will do.”

Advaita Prabhu remarked... Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Hari. Then, in another time also, Mahāprabhu hid Him in Nandana Ācārya’s house, some other time; these two times. Another time also, He went to Śāntipura or somewhere else and from there He came to Nandana Ācārya’s house; that was on the Śāntipura side near Ganges and on the side of Śāntipura His devotee's house was Nandana Ācārya's. And generally when He used to hide Himself, playfully, from the devotees, for some reason or other, He used to take His shelter in that house, Nandana Ācārya's house. First met with Nityānanda there, and in another two times also He used to hide Himself there.

And our Guru Mahārāja he sometimes repeated the founder of that Maṭha, that Bhakti Saranga Goswāmī, Aprākṛta Prabhu, who was afterwards Goswāmī Mahārāja, that is Nityānanda's connection, he has written something in his praise. He traced some sort of sentiment of Nityānanda in him. So following that when he established his Maṭha, and that Maṭha I – he did not want to establish his Maṭha there. He purchased a house nearby Yoga-pitha, and that was dispossessed by Kuñja Bābu. So out of that sentiment he did not want to have any centre here.

But my interest was that everyone who has come out of the main Maṭha they should have their own centre in that area. I tried my best, first I purchased some portion which I have given now to Paramahaṁsa Mahārāja, purchased that land and gradually Mādhava Mahārāja and me, I helped many to purchase land and to establish centre there. Because that was akin, it seemed to me, that any pilgrim when he likes to go to Māyāpur, the place was such that he may be looted there on the banks of that river. It was such a dangerous place. Now, after partition, so many Hindu residents from East Bengal have come so we find that influx of population. Otherwise it was a very solitary place. When I came here it was all jungle and even the leopards and jackals, so many hyenas and all to be found here.

So that place I, – he told that, “I won't have any, I purchased a house and that is out of possession now, forcibly possessed a portion, I won't make any centre here.”

But I requested him, ‘It is not possible. You are a remarkable follower of our Guru Mahārāja. You visited England also. And here in India you did so much important service to Guru Mahārāja. And you should have one centre there, at least only to show that Guru Mahārāja had disciples of such dignity. You must have.’ So anyhow I purchased the land with my money and I took the deed to him to Calcutta, ‘I have purchased in your name this land and you must have a centre there.’

And then he paid up the money to me.

And then I told that, ‘We heard that you have some connection with Nityānanda and this place Nityānanda first stayed and Mahāprabhu met Him here. So I think, and this also in the southern extremity of Māyāpur, this side. The centre is somewhere near the bridge and this has been the southern extremity of Māyāpur, and you have connection with Nityānanda, this must be the place of Nityānanda’s first visit, first shelter. So you may give it the name of Nandana Ācārya Bhavan.’

And he did so. There he has placed, installed, that Gaura-Nityānanda. This is the history underlying. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Goswāmī Mahārāja, Gauḍīya Saṅga. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, I always thought our Gurudeva had some special treasure, but he was not revealing that, but I think he has kept that treasure with you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is that?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Just what you tell us, it confirms exactly as he has preached. But he has also kept something, and I feel that he has kept it with you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. Maybe! So he might have repeatedly requested me, “I am taking them, please look after.” He told me, and I am going on according to my capacity and my realization. I cannot do outside that. What am I, and what he knew me to be, anyhow he requested me, it is true, several times. And he has gone, I am left, and I feel some sort of obligation as a student of Gauḍīya Mission to do some sort of duty for the sampradāya. I am doing as much as possible, and if sometimes reluctantly, you are pressing out from me some sort of service it may be got.

What I feel almost always that Guru Mahārāja wanted me to do some sort of service, and many of our mission stalwarts recommended me to preach, to be a preacher for the West, recommended that, “He is the fittest man to preach in the West.” But anyhow, it could not happen. And now I see that anyhow it is being effected to certain extent, I am doing. I am a slothful person by nature, I do not move, of reserved nature, of idle nature.

Our Guru Mahārāja remarked, “A comfort seeker. You are ease-lover.” His word was ease-lover. “You are ease-lover.” He told.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Of reserved type, of reserved mood, generally speak less, and think more. A man of more thinking and less speaking, that type I am. And sometimes childish mood also with me sometimes, very simple and open speaking. That is budugraha [?], the planet Budha [?] he has got much influence on me, in the horoscope. And he's of childish temperament, and a little poetic, and fond of little industry, and very childish in temperament. That Budha has got much influence and the Br̥haspati. Budha, Br̥haspati and Śani, these are the guiding stars in my horoscope. Br̥haspati means ontological knowledge. Bud means the poetic and childishness and poetic habit. And the Śani, Saturn means strong abnegation and connection with the caste outside Hindu. Śani means that. This stern abnegation, indifference, as well as touch with the persons outside varṇāśrama. That is Śani, and Bud, and Br̥haspati, these three are the guiding stars they are at their highest position. Gaura Hari. So, ontological reasoning comes from Br̥haspati, indifference to the worldly pleasure from Śani, and poetry and childish temperament from Bud, three things. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Haribol.

Sometimes the stalwarts in our mission used to say, used to express their grievance that "We serious persons of highest age and position eagerly try to mix with him. How is it that you mix with those children type persons?"

But I have got a nature to mix with the children. And they could not tolerate this.

"You are so sober, serious, and so endowed with high levelled philosophical talk, that we eagerly want to mix with you and talk with you, and we can't tolerate that you mix with the children, of the lower type."

They had some sort of complaint against me like that. That is my nature, a childish nature, temperament.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So, here we are so many children of a lower type, and you are so kindly mixing with us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are all serious talkers, not childish, serious talkers. You are engaging me in serious talk.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

My centre of interest is Mahāprabhu anyhow. And Mahāprabhu has taken me to my Guru Mahārāja. In selection of my Gurudeva, Mahāprabhu's part is almost cent percent. I have got some affection for Kṛṣṇa of Gītā, Gītā Kṛṣṇa, not so much for Vṛndāvana Kṛṣṇa, though in my childhood I had some mystic, transcendental regard for Vṛndāvana, Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa. In my childhood I visited several times a respectable temple of Rādhā-Govinda near our village, where my father, grandfather used to read Bhāgavatam every Kārtika month, one month in a year, they had to read Bhāgavatam there for a month. And in my childhood even when I was six perhaps, I visited that temple. And I remember that I saw with some mystic reverence in the temple, the Śrī Mūrti, and I still remember that how a mystic conception I got about Rādhā-Govinda there.

But consciously, perhaps some moral consideration, by predominating moral consideration I could not adjust with Kṛṣṇa līlā in Vṛndāvana, what Mahāprabhu has given to me. My regard for Mahāprabhu has taken me to Rādhārāṇī. And at present my highest centre in future is Rādhārāṇī, but present centre is Mahāprabhu. And from Mahāprabhu I have come to Gurudeva, to find out who will be the fittest preacher, fittest speaker about, giver of Mahāprabhu, and then I have come across to my Guru Mahārāja. The first centre was Mahāprabhu and that I came suddenly when I was reading in the fourth year class, age about twenty three. Mahāprabhu suddenly appeared in my heart, and captured, almost captured myself.

Otherwise, I was born in a smārta family, they're nyāyaic of the high type, logicians, the Indian logic, nyāya and smṛti, there was this Purāṇic and pūjā etc, and Bhāgavatam. Smṛti, Purāṇa and nyāya, three things predominated there.

But I had some sort of previous life's acquisition, because I had a tendency to become a sādhu, more than to become a householder in my future life. I felt it from my childhood, much attraction for the life of a sādhu, inner sannyāsī, but not of any particular shape. But Mahāprabhu gave me the real shape. He's my captor, Mahāprabhu, and through Him only I could come to Vṛndāvana.

So necessarily, my ideas of Vṛndāvana cannot go to the level of sahajiyāism. We are born haters of sahajiyāism, sahajiyā, born haters. They have got no place. But anyhow, when I got first connection with Mahāprabhu, these sahajiyās also seemed to me very close friends. Anyhow they are continuing the Name of Caitanyadeva, that was my point: whatever they may be, they may be pests of the society, but still they take the Name of Caitanyadeva Who is so near and dear to me. From that point even I could look after them with some regard, with some nearness. It was so much so to me. But coming to Gauḍīya Maṭha, I began to hate them once more, that they are misrepresenting Gaurāṅga, taking the Name of Gaurāṅga, but misrepresenting Him. Not doing any service, but doing a disservice to Gaurāṅga. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. What's the time?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Ten.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ten. Gaura Haribol. So, today, less question and more answer.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: More answers than questions, we are capable of not so many questions, as the answers you give.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It came in connection of my Guru Mahārāja because this is the day, this Friday and first January were combined and reminded me of him, that day, so I had to begin speaking without your enquiry. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: It is our great fortune.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The new friends, they have nothing to say, any urgent question?

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. What I speak to you in English, that is out of necessity. I have got no fine knowledge in English, I can't understand also, and also cannot speak, not habituated to speak. But anyhow, for some necessity, I try my best to express myself, and whatever comes, in a mutilated form.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Rather, we find your speech very eloquent.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But what I search, I'm guided by the thought, and not by the language. And it seems there are some who are carried by the language and not by the thought. But my temperament is to live and move in the thought and try to give vent to that.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But we find your speaking masterful.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not masterful, but less philosophical type.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: We find full command, absolute command.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't find accurate words always, does not come, especially now memory is being faded day by day, so I search after accurate words, but sometimes cannot find it, so I have to anyhow move in a curved way. I have to express my thoughts many times in a curved way because I do not find the accurate word in the front. Otherwise my way of speaking is very straight. But I can't be effective without accurate words, so I have to take some curved way sometimes. This is the instance with me. Gaura Haribol. But perhaps it carries weight. Thought is deep and nearer to the truth. As much as I have got my capacity, that is the nature, style of my speech, hitting the centre, and not on the outskirts. That is the aim of my, the general style of my speaking, hitting the centre. Things synthetical, not so much analytical, but synthetical, always touching the centre. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Capturing the centre, that is the way of my thinking. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. I'm not satisfied with anything, with any outskirts, any dress, but only the central reality. That is my nature. I want to understand the inner point. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

When Prabhupāda was living and he was giving discourses, so many others, even senior sannyāsīs and devotees they attended, then after that, some senior sannyāsīs, preachers, they also invited me, they asked, "What Prabhupāda told, repeat it to us." And I did, and they were satisfied. Prabhupāda's discourses were also very deep. The general public could not understand, deep philosophy, so I was requested to repeat his lecture by the respectable circle of our Guru Mahārāja's disciples. I could repeat it, at least to their satisfaction.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Even Madhusudhan Mahārāja and others always were of a very sceptic nature, not prepared to rely on any man, but they also speak that when they attend my lecture that we almost feel that it is in the line of Prabhupāda. Prabhupāda is delivering the discourse. So, my type of delivery is very akin to that of my Guru Mahārāja, by his grace. They say like that. Repeatedly they have told like that. That is the ontological colour, the ontological representation. Our Guru Mahārāja's lecture had this peculiarity, ontological nature. And my tendency is also towards that, the ontological understanding of the thing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. So, we may...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: We'll take your leave. Jaya om viṣṇu-pāda...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

avismṛtiḥ kṛṣṇa-padāravindayoḥ, kṣiṇoty abhadrāṇi ca śaṁ tanoti sattvasya śuddhiṁ paramātmā-bhaktiṁ, jñānaṁ ca vijñāna-virāgya-yuktam

[“For one who remembers the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, all inauspiciousness soon disappears, and one's good fortune expands. In other words, one becomes free from all material contamination, one attains liberation from repeated birth and death, and one's real spiritual life begins. As one's heart becomes gradually purified, one's devotion for the Lord within the heart awakens, and one realises the Paramātmā. Thus one gradually develops knowledge (jñāna), realisation (vijñāna), and renunciation (vairāgya).”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 12.12.55]

In Bhāgavata, avismṛtiḥ kṛṣṇa-padāravindayoḥ, kṣiṇoty abhadrāṇi, the undesirable elements that are within us, that will be diminished by the continuation of the remembrance of Kṛṣṇa. The undesirable elements will gradually vanish away. Padāravindayoḥ, kṣiṇoty abhadrāṇi ca śaṁ tanoti, and some positive conception of real [?] maṅgalam, of good, that will spread within us, śaṁ tanoti. Sattvasya śuddhiṁ, and our very existence will be purified. All other elements, non Kṛṣṇa elements will be purged out. Paramātmā-bhaktiṁ, jñānaṁ ca vijñāna-virāgya-yuktam. At the same time sambandha jñāna, unnecessary abnegation or indifference to non Kṛṣṇa will increase more and more. Smṛtiḥ, continued remembrance of Kṛṣṇa, to be merged in Kṛṣṇa consciousness, to remain merged in Kṛṣṇa consciousness, what is Kṛṣṇa, Who is Kṛṣṇa. Who am I to Him? What is my duty towards Him? Gradually all these things will come out from the foundation underground as much as the smṛtiḥ will be dense.

_____ [?] Nitāi. Nitāi. Any come from Māyāpur?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not yet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not yet.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That gentleman Satyānanda said he will come, but as yet not come.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But I see you five are here. Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Any question, from any quarter?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja, can you explain to me how Gāyatrī initiation helps the chanting of Hari-Nāma ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It helps to consolidate the foundation of Hari and His Name and everything, of course when the Vaiṣṇava interpretation we get from there. The Śāṅkara School interpretation they will conclude from Gāyatrī that everything ultimately is non differentiated and non specified, heavy mass. But the Vaiṣṇava understanding of Gāyatrī is different. Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam [1.1.1] begins, satyaṁ param dhīmahi. Gāyatrī, Bhāgavatam, Purāṇa, it is mentioned:

artho 'yaṁ brahma sūtrānām, bhāratārtha-vinirṇayaḥ gāyatrī bhāṣya rūpo 'sau, vedārthaḥ paribriṁhitaḥ

[“Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam represents the real purport of Vedānta-sūtra. And although it is very difficult to draw out the real purpose of the one hundred thousand verse epic Mahābhārata, the great history of the world, Śrīmad Bhāgavatam has come to give its real meaning. The mother of all Vedic knowledge is the Gāyatrī mantra. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam gives the gist of Gāyatrī in a very full-fledged way. And the supplementary truths of the Vedas are also found within Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam.”] [Garuḍa-Purāṇa]

This is said about Bhāgavatam in Purāṇa, what is Bhāgavatam. In Bhāgavatam itself it is said: nigama-kalpa-taror galitaṁ phalaṁ, [śuka-mukhād amṛta-drava-saṁyutam pibata bhāgavatam rasam ālayam, muhur aho rasikā bhuvi bhāvukāḥ]

[“O expert and thoughtful men, relish Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the mature fruit of the desire tree of Vedic literatures. It emanated from the lips of Śrī Śukadeva Gosvāmī. Therefore this fruit has become even more tasteful, although its nectarean juice was already relishable for all, including liberated souls.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 1.1.3]

The ripe fruit of the tree of Veda, but in another place it is said about Gāyatrī, artho 'yaṁ brahma sūtrānām, this gives the real meaning of Vedānta-sūtra compiled by Vedavyāsa collecting principal portions from the Upaniṣads, Vedānta. Artho 'yaṁ brahma sūtrānām, bhāratārtha-vinirṇayaḥ. The very gist of the whole of the Mahābhārata is represented here in Bhāgavatam, vinirṇayaḥ, all the meanings must come through this channel, bhāratārtha-vinirṇayaḥ. Gāyatrī bhāṣya rūpo 'sau, and this is the expansion of the proper meaning of Gāyatrī. Vedārthaḥ paribrimhitaḥ, and the whole meaning of the Veda has been reserved here in a nutshell. Veda-mātā-gāyatrī, Gāyatrī is considered the mother of Veda. In a nutshell the whole purport of the Veda is here.

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. I heard that Jīva Goswāmī Prabhu has given an explanation of the Gāyatrī, Brahma-Gāyatrī, but I did not come across that explanation. Myself I have evolved a sort of meaning leading it towards the end of, the conclusion of Bhāgavatam. Gāyatrī bhāṣya rūpo 'sau, the Bhāgavata is the bhāṣya, like the expansion of Gāyatrī so Gāyatrī's meaning must go to support the conclusion what Bhāgavata has given to us from the Vedas. And this is in this way.

Bhūr, bhuvaḥ, svaḥ, Bhūr means the world of sense experience, bhuvaḥ, the mental sphere, svaḥ, the plane that can be understood, caught by intelligence only, not by feeling, neither by physical senses, buddhi-loka. In this way finer and finer, higher and higher planes there are in the strata, in this mundane sphere also, gross, subtle, subtler, subtlest, in this way it is progressing, different planes, fourteen planes of living here, human in the beginning and seven others. Bhūr, Bhuvaḥ, Svaḥ, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Satyaloka: seven strata, or planes, from gross to fine. In this way it is developed.

Then Virajā, Virajā means the last limit of the material consciousness. Then Brahmaloḥa, where jīva soul is, that is the beginning of Vaikuṇṭhaloḥa, the marginal position, Virajā and Brahmaloḥa. Then the Vaikuṇṭha and Goloka: the land of service. The land of exploitation and the land of dedication, between the two, meeting place, this side Virajā, this is no man's land, buffer state, this side approaching towards exploiting world of Virajā, and that side Brahmaloḥa. Then Vaikuṇṭha begins.

So bhūr, bhuvaḥ, svaḥ, tat, savitur, varenyaṁ. Tat is the sum total of the world of exploitation, tat, savitur. Now a new thing which shows this mundane, savitur, means Surya, Sun, savitur, meaning who expresses things, from whom everything is emerging, savitur, [?]

Just as a lady gives birth to a child [?] from her womb a child is coming. So this experience of the material world is coming from a particular light, like the Sun is showing the planets. The Sun is the savitur, savitur means [?] That from whom all is emerging, the conception, and all sorts of conceptions of the material type they're coming only from the Sun. If Sun is withdrawn, no conception. So savitur means: in Bhagavad-gītā [13.34] also it is mentioned, "What is ātmā? As Sun is expressing the world, so your ātmā is expressing the world, that light, that spark, that knowledge. If that ātmā is withdrawn everything is dark. Your body, mind, everything gone, but the ātmā is there, the unit of knowledge is there, so to you everything is in consciousness. So savitur, varenyaṁ, which is giving birth, as if, to this whole world of your experience from the gross to the subtle, that savitur, that consciousness, savitur, varenyaṁ, which is respectful to that savitur, to that sort of consciousness which is giving birth to all this knowledge of variety. He's varenyaṁ, he's venerable plane, he's worshippable plane. That is Vaikuṇṭhaloḥa, made of higher knowledge, svarūpa-śakti, that bhargo. He's venerable bhargo. Bhargo means svarūpa-śakti and the very gist of svarūpa-śakti is the effulgence of this particular centre. And that is Śrī Rādhā.

Dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ param dhīmahi:

Bhāgavata [1.1.1] says. By His Dhāma, by His plane, by His light, all the misgivings and misunderstandings are cleared, a particular type of light, by the ray of which, all our ignorance disappears. That is the Dhāma, the very abode of the Lord is such that by the strength of its light all sorts of ignorance and misconception vanishes, that bhargo. Whose bhargo? It belongs to Deva. Who is Deva? Deva means, two meanings, Deva means [?] 'One whose a playful entity, and very beautiful, beauty and play, līlā and saundaryya, Devata, and He's bhargo, He's the proprietor of that Dhāma, and that beautiful sweet ray by which everything has been evolved.

Dhiyo yo naḥ pracodayāt, and dhī, dhīmahi, by the help of our pure consciousness we shall attend Him, serve Him, conscious service, dhīmahi, dhī means buddhi, jñāna, ānuśīlanam, cultivation. We shall get this conscious cultivation, dhīmahi. One day through our consciousness we can approach and render service to Him, dhīmahi. And what will be the result? Dhiyo yo naḥ pracodayāt. And He will, as remuneration, He will give us dhiyo, and the capacity of serving Him, of cultivating Him more and more. That is prema. He will give me prema as remuneration. Prema means the more capability of serving. So we shall serve Him and He will give more eligibility, more capacity, efficiency to serve more and more. This is the underlying meaning.

And the bhargo means the whole svarūpa-śakti represented by the ray that is the vaibhava of Śrī Rādhikā which is the mukhya-rasa combined. Mādhurya-rasa is the principal rasa and the most expansive which contains all the services of other rasa in Him. If mādhurya-rasa is there then vātsalya, sākhyā, dāsya, and śanta, everything is there, so the whole is the representation of Her, of Rādhikā. That is the meaning of Gāyatrī, going so deep as to make us understand.

So my Sanskrit poem is there. It is perhaps in the Kīrtana Mañjuṣā. I forget.

bhvādes tat savitur vareṇya-vihitaṁ kṣetra-jña sevyārthakaṁ bhargo vai vṛṣabhānu-jātma-vibhavaikārāadhanā śrī puram bhargo jyotir acintya iti tad rādhā-padaṁ dhīmahi)

gāyatrī-muralīṣṭa-kīrtana-dhanaṁ rādhā-padaṁ dhīmahi

By step by step I have given the meaning, the very purport in this way, the meaning of Gāyatrī. Veda- mātā-gāyatrī, the mother of the Veda, and that must be the highest thing we are to detect how it is accommodated and placed there. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. We are to discuss, follow, and only through the serving, by devotion, that is the serving attitude, we can enter into the depth of the subtle, spiritual plane, and we can realise more and more about the truth of the same.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.
Nitāi Caitanya. So none have come from Māyāpur today?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Today the Calcutta people may come there, in a weekly bus service? Today is Saturday. And Sarvabhavan Prabhu also may come? You don't know.

Devotee: I don't know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, can you tell us the story of the appearance of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, how She appeared.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How She appeared, She's eternal, that is what we're to understand first. She's eternal, but She's coming down to this plane that is how She's born, Kṛṣṇa is born, just like the Sun is born, something like that. After the night the Sun is being born, that is coming into our eye, it is there, nitya-līlā. In Goloka, in nitya-līlā They're always there. Only by Their grace sometimes we are given the chance of experiencing Their līlā in particular. That is something like exhibition [?]

Suppose the atom bomb is being manufactured in somewhere, and how it is done, it is shown in exhibition in India. What is going on in a big scale in some place that is being shown to a particular place in an exhibition, 'that these things are made in such a way.'

So in prapañca it is eternally going on, but is shown to us like exhibition in prapañca-līlā. You get the specimen is extending to you for your taste and then you try to enter for recruitment for customers. Just as the industrial arrangement is shown, exhibited in a place, what for, only to capture customers for business. So the prapañca-līlā comes to draw our attention to that, and then gradually we will enlist our name that we shall, we want these things and we shall get admission and gradually we shall try to have that. It is already there, nitya-līlā, but sometimes it is extended here like exhibition, or to recruit us, to capture us, to take us there.

In this way sometimes She comes. First Her father found Her in a tank on the lotus, a small, beautiful girl on the lotus, floating. And Vṛṣabhānu had no son, he took that beautiful...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...child, so one day when going to take bath in the tank found that on the lotus a very beautiful baby. So he took Her to his house and nurtured, and that was Rādhārāṇī. That we are told.

Devotee: Is it true that She never opened Her eyes until...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Sītā Devī also came in that way, when Janaka Rāja is ploughing in the field then suddenly a girl he found, she came out. So She's told to be the daughter of [?]

What is that?

Devotee: I heard that She never opened Her eyes until She would see Kṛṣṇa first, until Kṛṣṇa was in front of Her.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: There's a story...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No. There's a story that She did not open Her eyes until seeing Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. She was very beautiful but the eyes were closed. Then anyhow it was arranged that the Nanda Rāja and Vṛṣabhānu Rāja were friends and anyhow Yaśodā went to visit the famous girl picked up from the lotus, Yaśodā went to see that girl and along with Kṛṣṇa. And when Kṛṣṇa as a child also, and He approached towards Her and touched, Rādhārāṇī opened Her eyes and found Kṛṣṇa. It is mentioned in Purāṇa, that maybe. But this is not much. The divine arrangement may be such. Both of Them are very intimate, They know each other, They know one another, and They're also conscious that They have come here to show some drama like thing. They're fully conscious of that. Not only of Their personality, but Their father, mother, Their friends, everything They're fully conscious of, They were. They came to show a drama, something like that, nitya-līlā from nitya-līlā, just as in drama it is shown so They have come here to show some drama.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Who are you?

Devotee: Kamalāsana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he's Kṛṣṇasūta dāsa. He?

Devotee: Bhakta Pete.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And you?

Devotee: Dāsarātha Sūta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I was wondering, being a neophyte devotee, I was wondering what questions must be answered in one's mind or heart to know who your Guru is?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: How should one know in his heart who is his Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Who is his Guru?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śravaṇa-daśā, first is śravaṇa-daśā, you are to attend the lectures, advices, instructions, of so many probable Gurus. And then after that is finished you can come in conclusion by the suggestion of your inner spiritual conscience, that where do you find that which can satisfy, whose instructions, impressions, can satisfy the inner most demand of your heart. Then you are to select there, that such news, and such spacious wave, instructive waves are coming from a particular place and that will be wholesome for me. You are to decide that.

And the general is you will seek for the śāstra, left by the mahājānas, what should be the qualification of the Guru, and what should be the qualification of the disciple. With a particular proper mood you will approach the Guru, guided by the śāstra, that whose position is unquestionable, such śāstra. The śāstra, that is the opinion that comes from unquestionable spiritual masters, spiritual persons. You are to consult them, and also to consult your friends, and then to approach the person from which some average spiritual life may come, approach them personally one by one, the all possible instructors. And then you are to decide that your inner approval and accepting tendency select whom to be your eternal, who can appeal most to the deepest sentiment of your heart, the deepest earnestness of your heart can be satisfied, and you are to accept there your guide.

There are so many guides. You want to visit a place, suppose Africa. There are so many guides and you are to make acquaintance with them, then when found that this will be the most safe guide who can take me to the – to show me there, you are to accept that. Ultimately you will be the judge in the selection of your guide.

And the advices necessary from my own experience I am giving suggestion to you. The śāstra and sādhu consultation and then personal approach, and then to select whose association touches you deepest, you are to finally decide. That the approximate suggestion may be given in that way, the selection must come from you and in this way that will be safer. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, is it possible to spend too much time looking for a Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course as long as we are not satisfied, with maximum satisfaction we should not surrender anywhere and everywhere, should take some time. And at the same time must be earnest and we must try as soon as it is possible because human life is not a permanent thing. Any time it is vulnerable. Any time we may lose it. So we must be earnest, and at the same time, all possible forces you must tackle and satisfy yourself.

...the Ācāryas there, that eleven Ācāryas, you must come in touch with them direct, direct personally, or even through their writings, in any way you are to, if it may be said, to examine, to have a test about their instructions. And then you are to select that which is suiting you best, you can trust best, your best that 'I must throw myself here, whatever my future fate is.' With this idea you are to throw yourself down at the feet of such a great mahājana. But before throwing you finally, surrendering yourself finally, you'll try your best and in the shortest time possible to save you, so that the most undesirable disaster is to leave one's Guru, that is the greatest curse in one's life if one has to become separated from his selected Guru. So we shall try our best that we may not have to meet such disaster.

And always you'll pray to the Lord Who's transcendental, "Please help me to select my guide. Please send to me my guide." That will be your prayerful mood to the All Omniscient Almighty. "Please send me, show me my guide." With that prayerful mood you should examine. As much as possible, of course it is not possible for the disciple to know the Guru, as much as possible.

We also did such, wander and wander, here, there and tried to test as much as possible within our jurisdiction, but dissatisfied. Then finally were I was satisfied fully I threw myself there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Five years, more than five or six years I ran hither thither to different directions for finding, searching after Gurudeva. At last, after six years, the seventh year I came to his feet.

Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

More or less you were all attracted by Swāmī Mahārāja, so your general line will be to try with his appointed Ācāryas. But I don't say that there you will finalise. But if anything comes beyond from any other quarter beyond that, if it comes to you then you will try that also. Anyhow, their instructions, advices, and their discourse, or any books. Anyhow coming in their connection you are to select that where you find the thread of future union, of same taste, same liking, same aspiration, of the same cord that can come, that can bring harmony with the cord that is within your heart. As fast as possible it is necessary, and at the same time you must be considerate, not injudicious, impartial. Sincere, judicious, searching with earnestness you do.

Just as marriage, according to Hindu law, once married no separation is possible, according to Hindu law, selected for life. No divorce system here. Now it is introduced. When I was student of law then I read in a book, of course about Hindu laws this is a sacred thing, marriage. And Muslim and Christian marriage they're rather, they say, it is like some contract, marriage means contract, Christian. But Hindu marriage that is a life together, that is a sacred thing, a part of the sacred duty never to be separated, especially for the women. Now they're fighting for the equality of the women with men. But I'm not of that opinion. Because, the ideal of surrender, śakti, potency, ideal of surrendering. Surrender should be considerate and must be durable. Surrendering today in one place and next day in another place, this is foolish surrender, the name is impure, that surrender. Surrender is surrender. No withdraw is possible. That must be very unhappy. If we're to retreat after surrender that's most unhappy thing, that is no surrender, and especially in the case of the Omniscient and Almighty, very disastrous reaction to come back. Mahāprabhu:

āśliṣya vā pāda-ratām pinaṣṭu mām, adarśanān marma-hatām karotu vā yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampāṭo, mat-prāna-nāthas tu sa eva nāparaḥ

[Śikṣāṣṭakam, 8]

The purity of surrendering must be of this type. "Āśliṣya vā, He may embrace me with much adoration or, pāda-ratām, or I am holding fast the feet, and casts me, and throw me from there, pāda-ratām pinaṣṭu mām, casts me or places me by His foot, trample down under the foot, pāda-ratām pinaṣṭu. Adarśanān marma-hatām karotu, He may be totally indifferent towards me. That is more intolerable. Rather He may punish me, it is tolerable, but if He becomes indifferent that is more severe, adarśanān marma-hatām karotu. More so, yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampāṭo, showing me He's adoring another. My quota is given to another person; that is more intolerable. But whatever He may do I have no other alternative but to remain wholly under His guidance." That should be the type of quality of our surrender. Under no circumstances I shall have to go away from my Lord. This quality of surrender is recommended to be the highest for us to serve our purpose. In another place Rūpa Goswāmī Prabhu says:

viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ dīnabandho dayāṁ vā, gatiṁ iha na bhavattaḥ kācid anyā mamāsti [nīpatatu śata-koṭīṁ nīrbharaṁ vā navāmbhas, tad api
kila payodaḥ stūyate cātakena]

["O friend of the needy, whether You chastise me or reward me, in the whole wide world I have no other shelter but You. Whether the thunderbolt strikes or torrents of fresh waters shower down, the Cātaka bird (who drinks only the falling rainwater) perpetually goes on singing the glories of the rain cloud."] [Śrī-Rūpapādānām]

"Viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ dīnabandho dayāṁ vā. O Lord of the [?] of the dīnabandho, who are humble, the Master of the humble, of the poor, of the mean, O Master of the mean, dīnabandho, the friend of the mean, dīnabandho, viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ, You may punish me or You may show Your kindness to me. You can do anything and everything. You are at liberty to do anything and everything with me, dīnabandho dayāṁ vā. Gatiṁ iha na bhavattaḥ, but in no case, in any case, I have no other alternative but to stick strictly, sincerely and strictly to Your divine feet. I have no other alternative. So You may punish me or You may adore me. Viracaya mayi daṇḍaṁ dīnabandho dayāṁ vā, gatiṁ iha na bhavattaḥ kācid anyā mamāsti. How? Nīpatatu śata-koṭīṁ nīrbharaṁ vā navāmbhas, tad api kila payodaḥ stūyate cātakena. There is a kind of bird who only drinks from the rainwater and never from the water which is touching the ground: either river, or a fountain, or the ocean, or any, no water but the rainwater drinks. This is cātaka by name, in Sanskrit, cātaka, a kind of bird. They're all with their face up. Patit-jal, "A drop of water," it is said in this way. Patit-jal, Patit-jal. Their sound is like this. Patit-jal, Patit-jal, pure water, pure water. And this is the nature of their sound. Nīpatatu śata-koṭīṁ nīrbharaṁ. The sky may grant sufficient rainwater to them, or sometimes the thunder may come and he will be finished, nowhere. But still, they're always with their head up, "Water, water, water. Pure water, pure water." But instead of pure water thunder may come and finish him, but still no other, he'll never come to take water anywhere else.

That should be the attitude of a surrendered soul. To surrender to get Guru is such a great thing. Such gravity and purity and sincerity we must begin: well begun half done. Is it not? To get a real Guru, a bona fide Guru, that means a great thing, a great achievement in one's life [?] he will surely guide me to the proper destination.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Sundara. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

You come from New York?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And whose zone is it? Who is the Ācārya of that zone, where you come from?

Devotee: There are five at present.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Five in the whole New York, but in the particular portion of New York where you reside, who's the Ācārya of that portion?

Devotee: There are five. It's been a new GBC ruling that the five Ācāryas are Gurus for New York.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. The Ācārya is Hridayānanda, or Rāmeśvara, who is he?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Who are they?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or Bhaktipāda Kīrtanānanda?

Devotee: Kīrtanānanda Mahārāja, Bhāvānanda Mahārāja, Rāmeśvara...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All joint Ācārya?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, five in New York City.

Devotee: Harikeśa Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not zone division?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The zone of New York, they have a new decision and five Ācārya men will be there, may be selected.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, anyone, just as in Māyāpur, Bhāvānanda and Jayapataka.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: They have two, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Two, so five there?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I also did not know that. So there's Rāmeśvara Mahārāja, Kīrtanānanda Mahārāja, Bhāvānanda Mahārāja, Harikeśa Mahārāja, one more.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hridayānanda.

Devotee: No [?] he's not initiating Guru.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Satsvarūpa?

Devotee: No.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not sure of the last one.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. [?] Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. How are you attracted in this path, through books, first connection with ISKCON?

Devotee: I saw a Hari-Nāma party many years ago in California and I was thinking about it, but it's through a friend actually, through a devotee friend that brought me to the temple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who are they?

Devotee: He is, I don't believe he's initiated. He's in California at the present time. This is about seven years ago he brought me to the early

New York temple, and where I first saw Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Govinda. Then attraction developed over the years.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Did you see Swāmī Mahārāja?

Devotee: No, I wasn't able. I had a chance at one time but I was not able to see him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Could not. Have you met any of the Ācāryas?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whom have you met?

Devotee: I've spoken with Śrīla Bhāvānanda Mahārāja and Śrīla Kīrtanānanda Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhāvānanda Mahārāja, Kīrtanānanda Mahārāja. Jayapataka no?

Devotee: I haven't spoken with him personally. I've listened to him lecture.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lecture of Jayapataka Mahārāja?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, then lectures in papers or?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In person?

Devotee: In person, yes.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In person he heard the lecture.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you have seen him.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But you are not attracted by their speech, their lecture, or their books or anything, their instructions?

Devotee: I am attracted...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not impressed?

Devotee: I am attracted but not a hundred per cent. My heart has not directed me.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not one hundred per cent, not cent per cent.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Partially, partial appreciation. Then you try, the highest appreciation of your heart, that is hr̥daye nābhya nujñāto, the last decision will come from your own heart, core of your heart. More of heart than of brain. You are going, you are trying, you like to go to the land of heart, crossing the land of brain, plane of brain. Yes? The heart has got more valuation there, the land of heart, hṛdaye. Without brain an animal may live, but heart is indispensable. Is it not?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brainless animals may be there, no? Heart, the palpitation; that is the very heart. Heart represents love, and brain represents knowledge. And hands and legs represent labour, karma.

mukha-bāhūru-pādebhyaḥ, puruṣa-[syāśramaiḥ saha catvāro jajñire varṇā, guṇair viprādayaḥ pṛthak]

[“From the mouth of Brahmā, the brahminical order has come into existence. Similarly, from his arms, the kṣatriyas have come, from his waist the vaiśyas have come and from his legs the śūdras have come. These four orders and their spiritual counterparts (brahmacarya, gṛhastha, vānaprastha, and sannyāsa) combine to make society complete.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.2]

The heart good everywhere, brain represents brāhmaṇa section, the hand kṣatriya, the sword and the gun, that is kṣatriya, organiser, leader. And the thigh that is vaiśya, money, finance. And the leg that is śūdra, general labour, this varṇāśrama. General labour lowest portion, then finance, then this military, and the brāhmaṇas guide. Heart friend to all. If heart is paralysed, blood circulation stopped everywhere, everyone. So bhakti is like that, devotion, love is like that. As friend to all he lives, all living, the heart, he’s friendly to all.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

...took his shelter in some hotel, in some hostel, or where?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is mentioned in his life?

Devotee: Pennsylvania [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: When he entered New York where did he first stay, Śrīla Prabhupāda?

Devotee: [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Oh, one āśrama, there was one Māyāvādī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Āśrama, Ramakrishna Mission, no?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Not Ramakrishna Mission, but what was his name?

Devotee: [?]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mishra, Dr. Mishra, he was a Doctor and also somewhat some kind of preaching, some kind of āśrama he also had. So our Gurudeva stayed with him for some time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's still living?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Still living? I can't say.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But he did not come this side? Was he converted, no?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No. They used to quarrel because he was attached to the Śaṅkarācārya School. They would quarrel but always remain as friends, in spite of that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: And that Mishra used to give lectures and our Gurudeva would attend that, and he would ask our Gurudeva to sing saṅkīrtana. And then one day he asked our Gurudeva to speak something. So he spoke telling that, "What your Dr. Mishra is telling is all nonsense."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. "Then to whom have I given shelter?"

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. Yes. Then after that he never asked him to speak again. But somehow or other they remained friends.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gradually Mishra will have to be attracted.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, must be.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Dayadhara's last letter has been replied, no?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So both Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Prabhu and Dayadhara, both of them...

...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Oh.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you know?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. He tells...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He says sexual pleasure is the be all and end all of life.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Sambhoga Se Samādhi. He has written one book Sambhoga Se Samādhi, from sex then we get samādhi. That's his philosophy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sex indicates samādhi?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Gives, sambhoga se, from sex we'll get samādhi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Through?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Through sexual experience he will attain samādhi?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Samādhi means that is Māyāvāda Śaṅkara samādhi?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To be nowhere?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Somewhat, something like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So life is undesirable, anyhow to finish it?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that is Cārvāka, the most atheistic...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Cārvāka, yes. He's another Cārvāka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The English philosopher Epicurus or some gentleman, like Cārvāka.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah, he's like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: java jive sukham jive [?] Cārvāka says, "As long as you live, live happily." Java jive [?] "Yes, get loan and eat well."

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Get loan and that won't be cleared."

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Won't be paid.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "No necessity of clearing your debt. Anyhow secure let, that is, cheat others and live happily."

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] "If one's body is reduced to ashes then no question of coming back." Is this a philosophy of a gentleman? Can that satisfy a gentleman?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But that Rajneesh has disappeared now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only demonic, demons are also moralist, but piśāci, piśāci means...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Witch.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Witch? There's another, the treader on – piśāci means the lowest type of nasty people, nasty section. Demons are a little civilised and they also have some respect for some gods, Śiva, Brahmā, etc, and moral also. But the piśāci they're fond of eating stools and drinking urine.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The bāula is something perhaps?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bāula is in India...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I was told that they...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A particular Indian section, tending to that, but piśāci, bhūta, bhoti, a sort of the lowest order of spirit.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Black magic.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Black, not magic, black...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Witchcraft.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Piśāci, the meanest section of the ghost, they're fond of very filthy things, very nasty things. Their dealings, their habits, their houses, everything, they're very fond of very nasty things.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That Rajneesh, we told in the newspaper, “He is number one rākṣasa.” And they have published that widely. And he has disappeared now. No one knows where he’s gone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One facsimile on his behalf is, one second of Rajneesh is working there?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That has been said, but at the moment I’m told there is no, he’s gone somewhere, to America and nobody knows what is his present whereabouts. That we are told.

Devotee: I heard recently he bought a huge farm in Oregon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I was in Bombay, thirty three or so, then one high police officer told me, “There is one gentleman in the garb of a sādhu in some mountain there.” And he also was preaching something like that, “I am Kṛṣṇa, I am Kṛṣṇa.” And many ladies are going there and offering them to him and he’s enjoying one lady and other ladies are clapping their hands and saying, “How fortunate she is. She is being enjoyed by Kṛṣṇa Himself. And we are poor fated persons.” In this way that gentleman told me, he was a higher officer in the police, he said. But at that time that was not very widely spread. What will be the age of that gentleman, that Rajneesh, approximately?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Fifties.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eighties?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, no, fifties.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fifties, then that is not that man.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: When I was preaching...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Gujrat there are many of the Vallabhi sampradāya. I hear that the Vallabhi sampradāya they're not strictly moralist, so there they get indulgence of these nasty things.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: When we was preaching in Maharasthra, at that time many people they would see us saffron clad, because the Rajneesh they would wear some red cloth...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No new faces today, we're the same.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No new faces. [?] Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

This is Bhakta Keith?

Devotee: Jaya Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And here is Sitisuddha? And Dāsarātha Sūta?

Devotee: Kamalāśana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kamalāśana. Dāsarātha Sūta gone to Māyāpur?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, not feeling well.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not doing well, stomach trouble?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No. Previously he had some jaundice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jaundice?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah, and occasionally now just weakness strikes now and then. So on account of that he took some rest. He said, “I’m going to try and come. I may be late. I’ll try and come now.” Weakness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Any question?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Yesterday you said, you were mentioning to me that in the case of some advanced devotees, for some time they were eating less, for purpose of defeating Māyāvādīs. Who was that? What was that example?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is of two kinds. What I told, that is for the preaching staff. And there is another section that are not meant to preach for the time being, still, to show that to control the force of the mundane senses, some sort of abstention is necessary. While not engaged in any work, any sevā culture, service, only living a secluded life, austerity is necessary at that time. In the case of Raghunātha Dāsa, he was at that time not in a preaching mood, ostentatiously, but he showed his abnegation to the highest degree. And what I told, that was in the case of Rūpa Sanātana. They had to compete there with the Māyāvādī section, that though they recommend the yukta-vairāgya, but not for their enjoying purpose. To establish yukta-vairāgya and the Vraja bhajan, they had to practice more indifference in the abnegation, vairāgya to the highest degree in competition with the Māyāvādīs that they may not blame them that they are encouraging the sense pleasure.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Amazing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Even, so much so, that they did not take shelter under one tree for some long time. Every day under a separate tree they took shelter.

[“aniketa duñhe, vane yata vṛkṣa-gaṇa,] eka eka vṛkṣera tale eka eka rātri śayana

[“The brothers actually have no fixed residence. They reside beneath trees — one night under one tree and the next night under another.”]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.127]

One day under one tree, another day under the shade of another tree, in this way they wandered in Vṛndāvana, and spent their time in quest of the holy pastimes. They were conscious they were going to establish Vraja līlā, even mādhubhāsa-līlā, very similar to the mundane life. So, when they're to establish that, that is over and above the plane of renunciation, just as Śukadeva Goswāmī says, pariniṣṭhito 'pi nairguṇye, uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā grhīta-cetā rājarṣe,

ākhyānam yad adhītavān

["O saintly King, I was certainly situated perfectly in transcendence, yet I was still attracted by the delineation of the pastimes of the Lord, who is described by enlightened verses."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.9]

"Don't think that the līlā in Vṛndāvana, that has got any relationship with that of this mundane world. I am well established in the mood of renunciation for a long time, and what captured my attention, that is from the higher side. You are to conjecture that this dynamic character, that is of serving mood, not similar to this mundane mood. That is nothing to do with this world of enjoyment. That is world of service dedication."

To distinguish that, they had to strictly follow the life of highly renounced persons, which even these fellows cannot imitate. That was necessary, "That we are above nirguṇa, not any enjoying mood to be traced within us." It was necessary. Dāsa Goswāmī he played the part of a beginner, and a beginner, they should not enjoy in the name of bhajan, ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, yukta-vairāgya, in the name of yukta- vairāgya, they should not pass on the enjoying temperament, won't indulge in the name of yukta-vairāgya. They should not indulge in taking, in satisfying their senses. So, he showed that portion, yukta- vairāgya. Mahāprabhu also told, grāmya-kathā nā śunibe, grāmya-vārtā nā kahibe, bhāla nā khāibe āra

bhāla nā paribe

[“Do not talk like people in general or hear what they say. You should not eat very palatable food, nor should you dress very nicely.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 6.236]

“Don’t attempt, don’t mix with the people engaged in this mundane life. And don’t eat what is tasteful to your tongue. And also don’t use garments which are pleasing to dress, bhāla nā khāibe āra bhāla nā paribe, bhāla means to use the garments, the good garments.”

But those who take to the service in a missionary organization, it is a separate thing. They should use that yukta-vairāgya. Whatever is necessary to render maximum service, they should take that. Even sometimes milk, brain work, one who is engaged in brain work, some milk diet may be necessary for him. Or ordinary bodily, this physical labour, one should accept some dāl. That is cheap and nutritious. Of course, if he can digest that. Anyhow, maximum energy should be utilized in the service of the Vaiṣṇava and the sampradāya. In that case they may not mark much to accept the show of abnegation in the public. We do not want that they should be less fed and weak and won’t be able to render expected service. That is not.

And especially Rūpa Sanātana, by their life of abnegation, they established the theory. In the beginning it was difficult. The competition with the Māyāvādīns was very high, so he had to take that position, “That we are not less, we are not afraid of the life of renunciation in this body. Still, we recommend that this is not the be-all and end-all of life, the renunciation. The positive life is there. Yukta-vairāgya is necessary. We recommend yukta-vairāgya, but not for us. We are not inferior to you, but on principle we say that yukta-vairāgya is the most effective, in this way. Because we are to prepare for the service and not for the ultimate renunciation, to accept that is our goal. The abnegation is our goal, or renunciation is our goal, we don't admit that. There is a positive thing, there is a dynamic thing, there is a life of service, and we must,... but still that is not mundane, we support that, but not for the weakness which is required for renunciation, not for that purpose, but it is for the sake of the truth, we say."

So much so that when anyone visiting from Vṛndāvana used to come to see Mahāprabhu, then Mahāprabhu asked them, "How Rūpa Sanātana is doing there, how are they behaving, how living?"

They used to say, "Oh, their self abnegation, their renunciation is incomparable, unparalleled. Living one night under the shade of one tree, and the next day under another tree, not under the same tree, same shade, but some arrangement is ready there, every day meeting with new accommodation." [Caitanya- caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.127]

No attachment, 'that this is my pet place, this is very suitable, I shall live under this tree.' Not that. Every day aniketa, aniketaḥ sthira-matir, in Bhagavad-gita [12.19], no fixed living room or place, aniketa, no living place, no fixed living place. Today here, next day there, no attachment of a few of ears land, 'that here I must stay, I must cleanse.' Not like that. Akasa viti. Not fixed diet, whatever comes in whatever time, whatever day, and living on that, no, aniketa. Akasa viti means whatever comes out of its own accord, they are to take that. Not any fixed diet, of any definite diet, whatever comes each day, to be satisfied with that, akasa viti bhojan. And aniketa, no fixed place to lay down the body, aniketa, that is Vaikuṇṭha.

"Whatever, being accustomed to space and time and food, whatever by the will of the Lord is coming, that is my prasāda. He is making arrangements, whatever time, whatever day. I must not allow my time and energy to use for my comfort. I won't. No food, all right: one, two days without food."

[‘vipra-gr̥he’ sthūla-bhikṣā, kāhāṇ mādhu-karī]

śuṣka ruṭī-cānā civāya [bhoga parihari’]

["Śrīla Rūpa and Sanātana Gosvāmī beg a little food from the houses of brāhmaṇas. Giving up all kinds of material enjoyment, they take only some dry bread and fried chickpeas."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.128]

Śuṣka ruṭī-cānā civāya. Getting whatever by begging little, this fried gram [chickpeas] and also this dry bread that is stale, not fresh, cannot buy bhoga for them. But their previous habit was like respectable family members. They were the high officers of the king, so comfortable life they were accustomed with, but then they came out to take sannyāsa. But if we imitate that we will die. We will be finished. Because they are parṣada-bhakta, their body was not material. They could show such high standard, and still lived up to eighty, ninety years, and did so many works, produced so many writings, and established temples, discovery of holy places, collection of books. They did hard labour, and uncertain, minimum food, and uncertain minimum residence, only to lay down the body, where-so-ever. In this way, they have given such wealth. So many books, and that is collection from all sorts of scriptures, of very high rank, the comparative study. If we say brain work, then very high order brain work they produced in that poorly styled living. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And Dāsa Goswāmī, the prasāda of Jagannātha, stale, two three days after, cannot, that is given to the cows of Jagannātha, they also could not, due to bad odour could not take, he took that rice, and washed it with much water, again and again, and the little whatever was found, a little hard substance within that rotten rice with applying some salt he used to take that.

It came to Mahāprabhu that Raghunātha Dāsa, his father's income was twenty lākhs at that time. Twelve lākhs rent to give to the Nawab, and eight lākhs net income, only one son in the family. His position is such that the rotten rice whatever little hard substance in the middle, washing, eliminating the outskirts, with some salt he used to take that.

Mahāprabhu heard this, and one day He went to visit. "Raghunātha, you are taking such prasādam. Just now I want to take a morsel." He took. "Oh! So sweet! Raghunātha, you eat nectar prasādam, so sweet. I have taken much prasādam of many sorts, but so sweet prasādam I have never taken. Raghunātha, you don't give it to Me?"

Svarūpa Dāmodara caught hold of the hand of Mahāprabhu. "No, never, one, two, three, no more, it is not for you my Lord. It is for us."

Because,

[amānī mānada hañā kṛṣṇa-nāma sadā la'be] vraje rādhā-kṛṣṇa-sevā
mānase karibe

["Do not expect honour, but offer all respects to others. Always chant the Holy Name of Lord Kṛṣṇa, and within your mind render service to Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya- līlā, 6.237]

Because within, there Kṛṣṇa with Yaśodā, much eating, the butter, the other good things they are eating. Kṛṣṇa is meeting with the gopīs, talking with pleasure, all these things, and within encouraging all these sorts of enjoying substance, and outwardly, so much strict, for His own personal livelihood.

Otherwise people will say, “Oh, these fellows they are of the clan of Rajneesh. They’re all servants of Rajneesh. In ideal also they are debauch, the debauch idea of the Lord is very favourite to them and they themselves also go on in the name of God, they are passing so many adulteries, the Rajaneesh clan.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

But it is not for us to imitate. Only by physical imitation, that won’t give our, the object of fulfilment. So our mundane life, whatever is necessary to keep up this body we take that. The discomfort, the home comfort, the food comfort, we accept as much as necessary to keep up the energy. And then your body is vulnerable. No big imitation body is not vulnerable, we have to admit that. And according to take advantage from the physical world to keep up our standard energy and as much as possible to engage ourselves for the service which is already established by our masters with great penance and abnegation. Kṛṣṇa.

Mano bhaja samit keney sutrey siva smi evati [?] Kalidāsa says in Raghuvamśa, “That I have come with a great ambition to write about Raghuvamśa, such a renowned dynasty, and what capacity have I got to relate, to describe about their great heroism and magnanimity, all these things? But still, I may consider that so many other big poets have already described all their high ways, and mine will be only to follow them, just as, mano bhaja samit keney sutrey siva smi evati [?] The garland of gems, jewels, the first hole within the jewel is done by the some machinery, drill, the jewel is holed and the hole is created within the jewel, and then the thread passes through the jewel. The jewel garland, the thread passes through the hole. Holes are already made by some instrument, hard instrument, a steel needle or something like that, drilling machine. It creates a hole, and the thread can pass only through that.

So Rūpa and Sanātana, with the drilling machine, they have made the way and like threads we are passing through that easily, easily we are going. But they had to make the hole. Strict morality, abnegation, all these things, so that it will be possible for the people at large to think that though they have regard for the high sort of vilas, the pastimes of the Lord, but not for their sense satisfaction. That has been shown by their own example, ideal. And ours, like thread we are passing through that, quoting their words and sentences. They have established the ideal with the śāstra and we only refer to them and go on easily to the outset. They are not wanting in vairāgya, what you give such importance to. They are also more than that. Still, they have recommended that the sweet pastimes of the Lord, we must partake there, that is our highest fulfilment of life. And what you think, it is not that. It is all dedication and no exploitation. That is not sense exploitation of the insensible being Lord. Adhoksaja. Who has not got these mundane things there, all service. Service also can take such a shape. Such a sweet shape, that is the real, and this is the perverted reflection. The real happiness is there, because that is the highest stage of surrender to the Autocrat Enjoying Entity. It is of this form, the highest form of surrendering is in this way. That is the form in which the highest surrender is having its full play. And here it is shown, the reflection, and perverted, and that is original. That is good, this is bad, it is worst, and that is best, because of self abnegation, because of serving, dedication.

In fact, we are to understand the difference between dedication and exploitation. Dedication and exploitation. Dedication is pure, exploitation is filthy. We are to understand this plain thing, this primary thing, to differentiate between the two, exploitation and dedication. And exploitation to the highest and dedication to the highest, we have to conjecture in that way. Exploitation in the highest, that is the lowest form of living, and dedication to the highest, that is the highest form of life, purest form. We are to differentiate between the two principals of life, dedication. Here, wholesale dedication is not possible. In sattva-guṇa to a certain extent. Hare Kṛṣṇa. We can really feel the nobility, nobleness of dedication. It is above liberation. Liberation from exploitation, and after that begins dedication. This plenary thing we are to understand, the basis of bhakti, śuddha-bhakti. Mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām.

["The spotlessly pure-hearted and self-satisfied soul who has attained to his conscious divine nature neither grieves nor craves for anything. Seeing all beings equally (in the conception of My supreme energy), he gradually achieves supreme devotion (prema-bhakti) unto Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54]

When we attain our brahma-bhūtaḥ, our conscious identification purely, then we have got no affinity for this mundane achievement. We neither mourn if we lose anything here, neither we are joyful if we gain anything here. All loss and gain is equal for this mundane life. Then we can begin our life of dedication upwards. In Bhagavad-gītā it is mentioned, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām. Then only is it possible to enter into the domain of high devotion, parām bhaktiṁ labhate. After you have been fully relieved from your all sorts of attachment for this mundane world, name, fame, money, women, then delicious food, then all charms finished. Then only is it possible for you to enter into that land.

"To search after what is delicious to Me, what food is delicious to Me, with exemption of your interest. What is soft and touchable to Me, what is beautiful to Me, what is beautiful to My ear, you are to acquire those and apply for My satisfaction. Mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām."

Mahāprabhu says, "Eho bahya, this is also superficial, go deeper." [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59]

Mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām. Now he's eligible to enter, but he has not yet entered. He's eligible. He has acquired his eligibility when he has got no charm for this mundane acquisition. He has acquired his eligibility. Now he has to begin his life. When? Jñāne prayāsa, only through śraddhā. He has to enter, the śraddhā is the visa, with śraddhā he will negotiate to enter.

“He will find, he will relish My tidings. Whatever statement or relation comes to him about Me, he will very earnestly attend those things from the real, from the genuine source. ‘That what charming thoughts are coming from the mystic world, and there lies my real fortune.’ With such eagerness, they will very ardently hear when it is coming from the lips of the genuine persons, agents.”

Gaura Hari.

Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Vidagdha did not come yesterday?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He came last night. In the evening he came.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He came, from Calcutta?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Māyāpur.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And this morning went to Calcutta?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No. He went back the same evening, in the night.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why? Why did he come and immediately leave?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Some commitment there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But still, why? He stayed here one hour at least?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He came and what Your Grace was speaking yesterday he heard the tape. Just to hear the tape and then ran.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He has invented a world, 'that not two hours is necessary, only in five minutes I can finish the two hours work.' Ha, ha, ha, ha. He did not take anything also, no food, no prasādam?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No new news from him?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the flute of Kṛṣṇa, veṇu, is that in...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of different types, veṇu, mūralī and vaṁśī, of three types; in the length, also perhaps in volume or sweetness of the tune, there are different types, some very small, to keep always with Him, and some, mūralī perhaps the longest, vaṁśī, veṇu, mūralī. That is given in Bhakti-rasāmṛta- sindu, maybe.

gāyatrī muralīṣṭa-kīrttana-dhanam rādhāpadam dhīmahi

What is mūralī? The tune, the sound of mūralī attracts to one's highest duty; "Engage yourself, the chance has come. Come to serve Me."

_____ [?] The sound of mūralī, the sweet sound of mūralī attracts us to engage, offers the chance of engaging ourselves in His service, confidential service, mūralī. That is the highest fulfilment of life, the highest fulfilment of life. And Gāyatrī, what is the meaning? That singing which we can get liberation: and liberation in the positive sense, to be engaged in service. Liberation, the negative side only to get out of the negative side, but that is not liberation of the positive conception. The positive conception of liberation is self determination, svarūpa-siddhi, to be located in one's highest duty, service function, in the organic whole. So, by the singing this song which gives us liberation proper, and the mūralī sound, that is also song. Gāyatrī means song, the song of the Vedas which gives us the highest form of liberation. So, Gāyatrī leading towards mūralī: that is also sweet sound which attracts and engages us in the highest form of service. So, mūralī, the beginning is Gāyatrī syama gan, veda gan [?] and the highest object, the mūralī attracting, "Engage yourself in the service of similar thing." Do you find, follow?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So Gāyatrī and mūralī, mūralī in its highest form, and Gayatri in the beginner form. Gānat trāyate, the song which gives us liberation, emancipation. And there also mūralī attracts, “Come to serve Me here.” So similar things, and the kīrtana of Mahāprabhu is also, Nāma kīrtana, in the middle, leading, combining the two. Gāyatrī muralīṣṭa- kīrtana- dhanam. Ista mana wipeta [?] What is the real object, the real purpose, what is the purpose of mūralī, that is the muralīṣṭa, kīrtana: that is the wealth of Gāyatrī. And what is that? Mūralī is connected with whom? The highest pleasure of Kṛṣṇa is in the company of Rādhārāṇī, so the Gāyatrī is guiding us really, if we can follow, towards that Rādhā Dāsyam. That meaning has been drawn from Gāyatrī by myself, by the grace of my Guru Mahārāja.

And I heard that Jīva Goswāmī Prabhu has also given such sort of meaning to Gāyatrī, but I did not come across. He has also given a positive meaning of Gāyatrī. I don’t know; it might be something like this, because, vedaiś ca sarvair aham eva vedyah [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.15], śrutibhir vimṛgyām [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61] That is the leading instruction which will guide us everywhere, whenever we shall read anything, our seeking tendency, characteristic, must be of such order to have its fulfilment.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaurāṅga Sundara.

Rūpa and Sanātana were above eighty. Raghunātha Dāsa. And we heard that Jīva Goswāmī went up to ninety. And he began also from a very young age. Longest period engaged in service, from perhaps twenty to ninety. So when he first came to Navadvīpa he met Nityānanda Prabhu. He wandered along with him in the Dhāma and then asked him, “Go direct to Vṛndāvana.”

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So, the vaṁśī and mūralī and veṇu, they are servitors...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Vidagdha-Mādhava: ...a pastime about Gauri dāsa Paṇḍita. Gauri dāsa Paṇḍita, a devotee of Lord Caitanya, to do with his Deities. I was told these Gaura Nitāi Deities were made in the presence of Lord Caitanya. Do you know anything about that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It is told that both Nityānanda Prabhu and Mahāprabhu went to Kalna where Gauri dāsa Paṇḍita had his quarters, by swimming over the Ganges, and suddenly They presented Themselves in his quarters.

Gauri dāsa Paṇḍita is in sākhyā-rasa, he was Subal perhaps, Subal sakhā. And he also could anyhow intuitively recognize Them, and They lived there a day or two. And when They wanted to come away, then Gauri dāsa Paṇḍita was so much disturbed for Their separation, so much pained, that, “I can’t stand Your separation, Your going away. I won’t live if You leave me and go away now.”

They said, “No no, We shall not go.” Then, “We shall remain with you.” “How?”

“You construct two Mūrtis according to Our figures.”

And he did so, then, exactly similar Mūrtis were made from wood. “And here you place Them, now you go on worshipping.”

“No no, that won’t do.”

“Then what do you want? This is Mūrti. We and Mūrtis are one and same.” “No, no, no. I won’t accept that.”

“Then what do you like?”

“If You say that the Mūrtis are the same, then I shall place You and the Mūrtis may go.”

It was done, “Yes you do.” Then Nityānanda Prabhu and Mahāprabhu were placed on the throne and the two Mūrtis were going away.

“What is this? You are going? You say You are kept?” “No, no, no, in anyhow, We have escaped.”

“You are very cunning. You have escaped anyhow.”

“No, no, open the lock and see whether We are there or not.” “Yes it is there, and they’re Mūrti, and You are going, leaving.”

“Then, whatever you like, either take both of Us or take both of Them.

Whatever you like you put there.”

“I want to put Them there.”

In this way again changed. Then again began to walk, the Mūrtis, in this way, once or twice it was verified, and what to do? They went off and those Mūrtis remained there. It has been told.

Subal sakhā, the most intimate among the friendly group of Kṛṣṇa, Subal, who had some connection with mādhyura-rasa. Sometimes Subal he played proxy for Rādhārāṇī. Subal was closely connected, and his figure and face something like Rādhārāṇī, colour, all these things. So Subal milan, there is a particular pastime of Kṛṣṇa named Subal milan.

Subal was sent to Rādhārāṇī's house and he took the dress of Rādhārāṇī, and remained in the home, and Rādhārāṇī, taking the dress of Subal with a calf on her breast, She went to see Kṛṣṇa in the daytime in the forest. And Kṛṣṇa could not recognize Her.

“O Subal, you came back! You couldn't manage to bring Her here? I can't tolerate, I can't endure.” Rādhārāṇī, in the garb of Subal said, “No no, it is not very easy to take Her in the daytime here.” Then Kṛṣṇa fell and lost consciousness.

Then Rādhārāṇī said, “My Lord? You could not feel, You could not know, You could not recognize Your maidservant? So little liking for Me in You that You could not recognize Me, Your maidservant I am? I have come.”

Then He regained His consciousness.

The high talks, very high talks, these things are there.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

So Subal, the bhāva, sneha, mana, praṇaya, raga, anurāga, bhāva, the stage of prema, the height, then next mahābhāva is only reserved for Rādhārāṇī. And the bhāva not found, that is found in vātsalya-rasa, and only one in sākhyā-rasa, Subal. Subal can attain to the intensity of prema, to the degree of bhāva, only Subal, no other friends of Kṛṣṇa. Subal can have bhāva-daśā. So, love is so intense that he [?] leaves everything but unmindful, lost himself in the intensity of love, bhāva. And mahābhāva, complete forgetfulness of Herself, that is only found in Rādhārāṇī, total forgetfulness. Movements are automatic, but forgetfulness of Her own self, mahābhāva, but the pastimes are being done regular. And bhāva in vātsalya-rasa, Yaśodā: and in sākhyā-rasa Subal, bhāva-daśā, perplexed, half-conscious, sober degree of ecstasy. That individual consciousness half mad, that stage, overpowered by ecstatic love, duties are done rightly, but half-forgetfulness of their own self, bhāva, mahābhāva. Then the last śloka by Rāya Rāmānanda:

pahilehi rāga nayana-bhaṅge bhela, anudina bāḍhala, avadhi nā gela nā
so ramaṇa, nā hāma ramaṇī, duṅhu-mana manobhava peṣala jāni' e sakhi, se-saba prema-kāhinī, kānu-ṭhāme kahabi vichurala jāni'

[nā khoṇjaluṅ dūtī, nā khoṇjaluṅ ān, duṅhukeri milane madhya ta pāñca-
bāṇa ab sohi virāga, tuṅhu bheli dūtī, su-purukha-premaki aichana rīti]

[“Alas, before We met there was an initial attachment between Us brought about by an exchange of glances. In this way attachment evolved. That attachment has gradually begun to grow, and there is no limit to it. Now, that attachment has become a natural sequence between Ourselves. It is not that it is due to Kṛṣṇa, the enjoyer, nor is it due to Me, for I am the enjoyed. It is not like that. This attachment was made possible by mutual meeting. This mutual exchange of attraction is known as manobhava, or Cupid. Kṛṣṇa’s mind and My mind have merged together. Now, during this time of separation, it is very difficult to explain these loving affairs. My dear friend, Kṛṣṇa might have forgotten all these things. However, you can understand and bring this message to Him, but during Our first meeting there was no messenger between Us, nor did I request anyone to see Him. Indeed, Cupid's five arrows were our via media. Now, during this separation, that attraction has increased to another ecstatic state. My dear friend, please act as a messenger on My behalf because if one is in love with a beautiful person, this is the consequence.'] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.194]

That leads to the, to produce Mahāprabhu – not to produce, it is eternal, the parallel, Mahāprabhu. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. [?]

Devotee: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: So these Deities of Caitanya, Gaurāṅga...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is Subal sakhā in Kalna.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: ...and Nityānanda, They are very much looking like the original Lord Caitanya and Nityānanda?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Those Vighrahas, as well as here established by Viṣṇu Prīya Devī, that was originally prepared by some carpenter. And it is told Viṣṇu Prīya Devī rejected, “That this is not after the likeness.” Then the last production was so enlivening and so perfect that Viṣṇu Prīya Devī she suddenly brought her cloth down to hide her face, bashfully.

Generally, the ladies, the wife, they do not show in daytime their face to the husband, husband and other superior male persons. They hide their face, the young wives, young girls, hide their face with the shade of the cloth.

It was so accurately presented, the Mūrti, that suddenly she hid her face, she drew the head dress, because it was, but in gradual process that might have been otherwise.

Anyhow, the Mūrtis are very similar to that of Mahāprabhu. That was, those Mūrtis only when Mahāprabhu living, Mahāprabhu and Nityānanda Prabhu living, at that time those Mūrtis of Kalna were prepared.

Here also it may be, then Mahāprabhu was a sannyāsī in Nīlācala, it might have been prepared at that time, then other Mūrtis afterwards Mahāprabhu’s departure. One we find engraved in the outside of the temple of Jagannātha on high level, sannyāsa Mūrti of Mahāprabhu engraved there in the Jagannātha temple.

And another, Mahāprabhu, Rāmacandra and Kṛṣṇa, three combined Vighraha established in Jagannātha compound and daily worshipping there. Daruvan, vaṁśī, and daṇḍa kamaṇḍalu, in this way. The colour of Mahāprabhu, and the posture of Kṛṣṇa with veṇu, the two hands in the middle, and colour and sannyāsa daṇḍa kamaṇḍalu in the lower side, and the upper Rāmacandra daruvan in this way. It is found in the Jagannātha temple in the compound. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Murārī Gupta, we find in Murārī Gupta’s poems in praise of Mahāprabhu such figure that was shown to Murārī Gupta. He was, Murārī Gupta was a devotee of Rāmacandra. So Mahāprabhu showed that Rāmacandra combined with Kṛṣṇa and then Mahāprabhu.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. [?] ...return when?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: After darśana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After taking prasādam?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: After darśana Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just now?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: In some time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have got busy engagement there? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi.

Here is Dāsarātha Prabhu? Oh [?] Both, ailing not only in sight but also in memory. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: In the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam class, the verse explains that the mind is a combination of the mode of goodness and ego, egoism in the mode of sattva-guṇa, whereas the intelligence is egoism and passion. As I understand in Bhagavad-gītā intelligence is over the mind, mind over senses, intelligence over mind. So how is it that the intelligence – this is a complicated question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He says, according to Bhāgavata the mind is a mixture of sattva-guṇa and ahaṅkāra, and the buddhi is a mixture of raja-guṇa and ahaṅkāra, ego, and mind is sattva-guṇa mixed with ego. Then why, if buddhi is above mind...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where do you find it?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Where do you find it? Where's the verse?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is not mind, that is called citta, citta is over buddhi according to Bhāgavatam, not mind. Sanka vikalpa mana [?] But in Bhāgavatam, citta, that is given superior place to buddhi and ātmā. Cit means caitan, that aspect of caitan, that the first stage. Citta [?]

Vāsudeva, and ahaṅkāra is Pradyumna, buddhi is Aniruddha. Pradyumna is mind. Saṅkarṣaṇa is ahaṅkāra. Vāsudeva citta, and Saṅkarṣaṇa is mind, no, ahaṅkāra. And mind is Pradyumna and buddhi is Aniruddha. In this way it has been classified there. Vāsudeva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha. Pradyumna more sentiment, feeling is predominating in Pradyumna. Aniruddha, that is fine decisive faculty is connected with Aniruddha. And ahaṅkāra, the asserting tendency, that is Saṅkarṣaṇa. And citta, the higher conscious plane, that is citta, that represents Vāsudeva. Vāsudeva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Pradyumna, Aniruddha, in this way.

Where do you find this, what you say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Where is the verse?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: It's in the third canto. I'll get the verse next time I come.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Next time you come with reference where it is mentioned. Gaura Hari. Prakṛtermahān ahaṅkara pancatran mahatrāṇi. In this way it is developing, prakṛtermahān, mahat-tattva has been called citta, the first stage. The development which can be traced in the first stage, negative side: that is citta. Then ahaṅkāra means Saṅkarṣaṇa, Vāsudeva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Balarāma. Vāsudeva representing Kṛṣṇa and then Saṅkarṣaṇa Balarāma, ahaṅkara pancatran mahatrāṇi, and again in lower stage that Pradyumna and Aniruddha. In this way it has been described there.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Pradyumna is Garbhodakaśāyī, and Aniruddha is Kṣīrodakaśāyī representative, and Saṅkarṣaṇa Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī Śrī Purusa, and Vāsudeva is above. In the wholesale creation Their position is such. And individual cases are also in this way. The first transformation is mahat-tattva, or citta. Then next developed condition is Saṅkarṣaṇa, ahaṅkara. Then comes mental impulse, Pradyumna. And then judgement begins with Aniruddha, buddhi. Decision begins, discrimination begins.

...

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. [?] Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Any question from the newcomers?

Devotee: I'd like to know why in our mandeers we worship Gaura-Nitāi? Prabhupāda has instructed us to worship Gaura-Nitāi. But I see mostly in Gauḍīya Maṭha temples only Caitanya Mahāprabhu is there. Did Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Mahārāja, did he...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I understand. It is only your question, or supported by any other of you? What do you say? He has put a question, he has got some doubt, and any other of you have got that same suspicion? Why Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura he installed Rādhā-Govinda and Mahāprabhu in all places of his temple? And Swāmī Mahārāja he has given some special stress on Gaura-Nityānanda, Kṛṣṇa-Balarāma, what is the reason? This sort of deviation or modification, what should there be any meaning, or only chance, or on principle? Following some principle or only chance coincidence? What do you think?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Must be a principle.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And I ask other friends also. Are they interested to hear this?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Would you like to hear that Prabhu?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu is called mahā-vadanyāya, magnanimous, more merciful than Kṛṣṇa. And Nityānanda Prabhu is little more than Mahāprabhu. Whom Mahāprabhu rejected, Nityānanda Prabhu accepted them. He had got such position and power, more magnanimous. The extension of His magnanimity was greater towards the fallen.

So Swāmī Mahārāja has taken that chance because he was approaching to the fallen people who had got least regard for the Indian theistic conception, who was supposed to have. Exceptional cases may be there, but in general they may have got less regard towards the Vedic truths, and the special Vedic conception of the Godhead as Kṛṣṇa. So he sought the help of Nityānanda Prabhu, the most magnanimous amongst the Gauḍīya sampradāya, Gauḍīya Ācārya. That is one thing.

And another thing comes in my mind that Nityānanda Prabhu had some special affinity towards the race, towards the caste from which Swāmī Mahārāja had come out, this suvarṇa-vaṇik, the golden tradesmen, he comes from that section. And Nityānanda Prabhu had some special favour to that caste. They're little civilised, still because they're in trade of gold which is generally discouraged in Bhāgavatam.

Kali, we find in Bhāgavatam, when he came to take possession of India, the karma-kṣetra, the selected place where according to karma one will get the chance of his future, can modify his future prospect. Then Parīkṣit Mahārāja met him in Kurukṣetra and challenged and Kali submitted to him and there was a truce. Kali wanted, Kali asked him for a few places where he may have his full control, dyūtaṁ, pānaṁ, striyaḥ, sūnā. Where these sorts of transactions will be in vogue, there the Kali will remain with his full freedom. In other places he won't have any entry, admission. A contract was formed there. First these four places, dyūtaṁ, gambling: pānaṁ, intoxication: striyaḥ, unlicensed visiting women: and sūnā means this butchering. These four places Parīkṣit Mahārāja granted. [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.17.38] Then another place he specially sought permission for, and that is this, exchange market or something, that is suvarṇa.

punaś ca yācamānāya, jāta-rūpam adāt prabhuḥ

[tato 'nṛtaṁ madaṁ kāmaṁ, rajo vairāṁ ca pañcamam]

[The personality of Kali asked for something more, and because of his begging, the King gave him permission to live where there is gold, because wherever there is gold there is also falsity, intoxication, lust, envy, and enmity.] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.17.39]

Then again he prayed for another place and that is jātam and suvarṇam, where the trade of gold exists, jāta-rūpam, trading in golden things. And Parīkṣit Mahārāja gave his consent to that also. So suvarṇa-vaṇik, that are specially meant to trade in gold, they were generally condemned for their trade. And he came from that school. But their conduct was gentle. But because they're trading in gold so they're considered to be of lower caste among the Hindus.

But Nityānanda Prabhu when He came to preach about Mahāprabhu here in Bengal, requested by Caitanyadeva when He was in Purī, He was not of very scholarly type outwardly, Nityānanda Prabhu. He appealed to the masses generally, and these civilised and neglected persons, the golden traders who were not considered to be holding a higher position in the society, they generally came under His feet, under His direction.

So much so that one Uddhāraṇa Daṭṭa, the leader amongst the suvarṇa-vaṇik, gold merchants, he was very closely intimate to Nityānanda Prabhu. And Nityānanda Prabhu took prasādam from him; he used to cook for Nityānanda Prabhu.

So Nityānanda Prabhu's special grace to that particular generation and Nityānanda Prabhu's most magnanimous characteristic for the fallen, both combined had got some influence over Swāmī Mahārāja. And he, with the, with his capital of Nityānanda, that mood, the mood of Nityānanda Prabhu, he approached the western people who are considered to be the mleccha, outcasts, who were very difficult to convince them about Vedic truth. So Nityānanda Prabhu's grace would be most effective in their recruitment, in the process of their recruitment. With this idea the most gracious, Mahāprabhu is gracious, and more gracious Nityānanda Prabhu has been taken to, His care. His mercy was especially appealed for by him. This is my conviction. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Anything more? Am I clear? What do you think? What I've told, is it clear to you?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, if any question on that, you may put. Any other question on that issue from anyone?

So, once in Madras, when we were working there, then one boy when we were in Elor [?] in Andhra Pradesh, in some dharmaśālā, myself and Mādhava Mahārāja, then Hayagrīva Brahmācārī, were preaching there and collecting funds. One boy was with us and he suddenly connected with a girl there. And he was caught by the local people, and we drove him from our party, rather, sent him to Madras. And Guru Mahārāja was expected to come here soon. Anyhow we sent him to the headquarters Madras. And there was old Tīrtha Mahārāja who went to England, he gave him a good beating, and the brahmācārī fled from the Maṭha. Then, after six months we also returned to Madras centre and Guru Mahārāja also came for the opening function of the lecture hall there.

In the meantime that boy he reconnected with us again and used to come and offering, “I have done once, I have done wrong. I may be pardoned. Please accept me.”

We told him, ‘Guru Mahārāja is coming very shortly and you come at that time.’ And when Guru Mahārāja went there then he also came. Then we put his question, ‘this is the fact, now he’s repentant. Six months he’s waiting here and there, and he wants to join us again. He’s repentant.’

Then Guru Mahārāja told, our Prabhupāda told a peculiar thing. “When he has got connection with another’s woman, paradar, another’s wife, I can’t accept him because Mahāprabhu did not, that Kālā Kṛṣṇadāsa. But Nityānanda Prabhu gave him shelter: who was rejected by Mahāprabhu. So it will be your duty to keep him.”

We were perplexed. ‘Then are we outside you? You can’t accept and we are your servants, how can we accept then?’ A peculiar thing.

But he told, “Nityānanda Prabhu did so.”

Kālā Kṛṣṇadāsa he connected with some lady in Malava [?] and Mahāprabhu took him from that place, and reaching Purī He dismissed him from the party. “Now you go home.”

But Nityānanda Prabhu He gave some engagement. “Now go, but go to Śacī Devī and inform her that Mahāprabhu has reached Purī safely from His two year tour program, He has reached there safely.” So gave some engagement to him.

So it is possible, Mahāprabhu, sometimes apparently going against, the direction of Mahāprabhu, this Nityānanda Prabhu He extended His mercy more we find. And that could not be ignored by Mahāprabhu, what He did. His relationship with Mahāprabhu so intimate, if disobeying Him Nityānanda Prabhu showed more extension in His mercy, Mahāprabhu had no other alternative but to accept that. That was Their relation, we find.

So the most extended boundary of magnanimity we find in Nityānanda Prabhu. And that weapon was used by Swāmī Mahārāja in his approach in his battle in the west, that weapon of magnanimity of the greatest strength from Nityānanda Prabhu. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Hari. The most extensive magnanimity, with the backing of that, and the duty, his gratitude, thankfulness to Nityānanda Prabhu he has specially installed Nityānanda Prabhu in his temples.

“Only by the most extensive grace of Nityānanda Prabhu I’m indebted to Him, to His grace. So I should be a traitor if I do not give such honour to Him, special honour to Him.”

So he has done so. And also, general recruitment towards, Nityānanda Prabhu belongs to sākhyā-rasa, so general recruitment he has got that side and he has expressed his free function also of that type. At the same time he admitted that his Guru was representation of Rādhārāṇī. That is also written by himself in the very poem, “That my Gurudeva who represents Rādhārāṇī, he has ordered me to do this service. And You Kṛṣṇa if You come to my help then he will be pleased.”

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...Mahāprabhu and our Ācārya paramparā, Guru paramparā, we find all the Gurus they're all of mādhyura-rasa not sākhyā-rasa. Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanya then Svarūpa, Rūpa, Sanātana, Raghunātha, Kavirāja, Narottama, Viśvanātha Cakravartī, all the, Gaura Kīśora Bābājī Mahārāja, our Prabhupāda, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, all of mādhyura-rasa Ācārya. And Prabhupāda our Guru Mahārāja also followed the same path, Rādhā-Govinda and Both of Them combined, Mahāprabhu, not Baladeva. Where Rādhārāṇī is Baladeva cannot stay there by the side of Kṛṣṇa because there will be a clash in the service of rasa. Baladeva is the elder brother of Kṛṣṇa and He, Kṛṣṇa is with His elder brother Rādhārāṇī cannot approach Kṛṣṇa at that time, so when Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa are there, Baladeva can't come there. There is a clash in vātsalya and sākhyā-rasa and mādhyura-rasa. And Prabhupāda closely followed this line, that Mahāprabhu can stay, both Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa combined, nothing else, so where Rādhā- Govinda is, then Mahāprabhu can stay in the same place. Both combined, but no other rasa, representation, to be there. Only the sakhīs of Rādhārāṇī, the girl friends of Rādhārāṇī, they can stay there. They are also of the same tendency of mādhyura-rasa service to Kṛṣṇa, so they may stay with Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa.

So when I heard that Swāmī Mahārāja had installed Rādhā-Govinda, and there some sakhīs also in Their side, but where Kṛṣṇa Baladeva, separately, no other. Some cow boys maybe Śrīdam, Sudam may be installed there, and Gaura-Nityānanda They are also, this Advaita, Gadādhara they may be place there, but not Rādhārāṇī. Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa, mādhyura-rasa service, only sakhīs, the she friends of Rādhārāṇī, they can be installed in the same place, in the same room, same place. This is by the analysis of the rasa, the ontology of love. If it is analogy, the psychology, the emotional aspect, purity: to be considered finely, then we are to follow these things. We have to understand in their line. So, it is general recruitment in sākhyā-rasa, and by the grace of Nityānanda Prabhu and Baladeva, that was effected, and he achieved a great success by following that path. So, to show his real gratitude to Baladeva, Nityānanda, he installed Them specially. Gaura Haribol. That I can see, to harmonize his ways and our Guru Mahārāja, from whom he got his spiritual beginning. At least what is shown in this life.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Where is Vidagdha Prabhu, has he come, no?

Devotee: Vidagdha, he will be coming a little later.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Last evening, did he come, no?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So after two or three days he will come and hear the tape, is it?

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Have you seen that portrait of Swāmī Mahārāja came here different times, and the photo is there?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: O Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the newcomers, have they seen?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Several times he visited here and some sort of photo has been kept. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. And in that room on the other side, when he came last, he took his rest there for two hours in the noon, last time. And when he came first, he lived nearly a month at that house where you are living, with two, Acyutānanda, Rāmānuja. And Pisima, Madan's mother, she also came and lived there, and I gave one cook there. She was living in that house. And civic address was given to him from the town, at that time, first time, it was arranged. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, which room was Swāmī Mahārāja staying in?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I know that place. He's asking which room, which place?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In that place, only two hours he took rest at noon, and generally he used to sit here, myself here and he was here. And he lived nearly a month in that building, where they are living now.

The Caitanya Candrodaya Maṭha had not appeared at that time. I asked Acyutānanda to try for land in that position, where it is now located, that between Gauḍīya Saṅga Āśrama and Dāmodara Mahārāja there is a long gap; you try to find a place, purchase a place there, and that was done, Acyutānanda. At that time Jayapataka Mahārāja first came.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. I am more than forty years here. Ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. From [nineteen] forty two, continuously staying here, but it was purchased in forty one, in the beginning of forty one. And by the end of forty I reached here and lived in a rented house. In forty two, I began my living here, in a hut, thatched hut. I of course did not try for any propaganda, out of my nature.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. The peculiarity of this place is this; aparādha-bhañjan- pāt. The greatest sinners also get their offences pardoned in this place by Mahāprabhu.

When after five years of His sannyāsa, travelling over the whole southern places of pilgrimage, Mahāprabhu came to visit His birthplace according to the custom of the sannyāsīs, and this side He will go to Vṛndāvana He thought. He came, and when He reached here, the whole Southern India conquered by Him. The only independent Hindu king, Pratāparudra, near Bengal, the whole Bengal captured by Mohammedans and the Hindu independent emperor was Pratāparudra. And his very scholarly minister Sārvabhauma, they fell on the holy feet of Mahāprabhu. And the people of Bengal heard all these things after that when He came back, about age thirty. Mostly the whole of Bengal fell on His feet, with repentance.

“That I could not understand or appreciate You, Your greatness. Please forgive us.”

And the stalwarts of them, they also came to beg forgiveness and Mahāprabhu absolved them, pardoned, general pardon. “Yes, I absolve you of any offence committed against Me.” And this is the place.

kuliyā-grāmete āsi' śrī-kṛṣṇa-caitanya, hena nāhi, yā 're prabhu nā karilā dhanya

[“At Koladvīpa - the Govarddhana Hill of Vṛndāvana, concealed in Śrī Navadvīpa Dhāma - the Most Generous Absolute expressed Himself in His maximum generosity. Without considering any crime, He absolved whoever He found. He accepted them all.”] [Caitanya-Bhāgavat: Antya, 3.541]

Everyone got his fulfilment, whoever asked favour from Him. All satisfied. All the heinous persons, they were given admission in the holy life. Aparādhā, this is Govardhana, Gupta Govardhana, Navadvīpa Gupta Vṛndāvana, more magnanimous than Vṛndāvana, the Dhāma for the fallen. And the Govardhana is here and the Rādhā-Kuṇḍa on the other side; the most holy place for the fallen. I selected this to be my eternal home. And this is Govinda-Kuṇḍa.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya.

And in my last days you are coming in numbers here and I think it's ornamentation, your visit is ornamenting. Ornament you know, decoration, ornament? By your presence, this place is being ornamented. What do you think? So many bright faces are coming here to attain the advices of the great master. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. You are attracted to the advice of the great master, great messiah who gave entrance, according to us, to the highest prospect of human kind.

One lady, an American lady perhaps, when she delivered lecture in this hall she told, “I can't forget that we have come to this fate of Kṛṣṇa consciousness because we felt much encouragement in the idea that we can live as a family member of Godhead. It is inconceivable that we can live with God as a family member. This idea captured our heart and we have left everything and joined the holy feet of Swāmī Mahārāja. So intimate connection with God is possible? It is impossible. God is high and higher and far, far away from a tiny soul. We may not have any nearer approach. Only from far away we shall have some recollection we must satisfy us with that only. But what is this? The devotees can come, embrace, even ride on His shoulder, the sākhyā-rasa, and in mādhyura-rasa the what-not, Yaśodā in vātsalya-rasa whipping Him. So much thick and thin relationship, is it possible with God? And if anyone gives such hope we can do anything and everything for him, such prospect.” And not fervently as I say, but she told like that, “That this has drawn us to this, why we want to live, the prospect that we can live as family members with God. God is so gracious, so close and intimate friend of us? If it’s a dream, still it’s better to die in such dream.”

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Ha, ha, ha. Dayādhara Prabhu, Svarūpa Dāmodara, this Mādhavānanda, who have got the charge of crushing the Darwin theory of the fossil beginning of the world, they should be given to understand especially this expression of Śukadeva Goswāmī.

tvam tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imām jahi

[na jātaḥ prāg abhūto 'dya, deha-vat tvam na nañkṣyasi]

[“O King, give up the animalistic mentality of thinking: ‘I am going to die.’

Unlike the body, you have not taken birth. There was not a time in the past when you did not exist, and you are not about to be destroyed.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.5.2]

“You are flesh and blood, your identification with the gross that is animal consciousness. Do away with that and then you will have your real life, your real existence, and real identification, independent of this fossil conception, the flesh conception, the material conception. You are there, you are a child of that soil. This is the truth. Anyhow you have connected with this fossil consciousness, flesh consciousness, material consciousness. That is your danger, the real danger in you there, your connection. And that has forcibly taken you down in the world of life and death, living and dying, birth and death. Only this misconception has engraved you, buried you in the material world. But really you are not a child of this sphere. That is not concoction, this is concoction.”

So Swāmī Mahārāja meant you this that crush the fossil-ism, the fossil is the parent. Fossil father-ism, crush it. Establish a spiritual infinite. It's all spiritual. The fossil is also a part of this spiritual stage, a stage of consciousness. The fossil conception is a part of so many conceptions in the spiritual plane. The original substance is spirit, is soul, is consciousness, and fossil forms a part of that conscious portion, conscious substance. Not that fossil produced consciousness, is in one part. Consciousness is infinite and everything in the ocean, somewhere some ice, somewhere moss, somewhere some iron, all in the ocean, the different conceptions. The fossil, that the consciousness is all in all, everything forming a part, having a shelter there. Tvaṁ tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi.

yathā nabhasi meghaugho, reṇur vā pārthivo 'nile evaṁ draṣṭari dṛsyatvam, āropitam abuddhibhiḥ

["The unintelligent equate the sky with the clouds, the air with the dust particles floating in it, and think that the sky is cloudy or that the air is dirty."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.3.31]

Another approaching towards that same fact. Just as you find the patches of cloud in the sky, or so many dusts in the air, so the material conception, dr̥syatva, is there. That in a conscious sky and somewhere these patches of cloud and the dust in the air. You can't see the air because dust is in the air. You can't see the sky because of clouds in the sky. The background is consciousness and there we find somewhere dust, somewhere cloud, and you say it is in the sky but you can't see the sky. So draṣṭari, the subjective, consciousness is in the background and whatever you experience this is, that is floating there in the conscious ocean. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So consciousness is the background and there is developed position in consciousness, Bhūr, Bhuvar, Svar, Mahar, Janar, from Brahmaloka. And service is added and it is enhanced. A sweet structure begins from there when service is added to consciousness. Service can construct a beautiful capitol, country, all these things. It is there, only you are to feel and enter and join your service, your appointed service. You will think, 'This is my home. This appointment seems to be very friendly to me. Again I have come here.' This means the innate capacity or nature, svarūpa, which is covered now by ignorance, of misconception of things.

Just like a mad man leaving his own sweet home he's wandering in the street and he thinks it is imperative to collect the pieces of paper or cloth:

that is his business, which is absurd. His brain is focused in such a direction that he thinks that, 'It is my duty to collect the pieces of paper and cloth and some pebble,' in this way. But what is his real, innate wealth of heart, if he can remember his home, his father, mother, wife, his home, home sweet home. He's banished, the consciousness is forcibly focused to some mal engagement.

So the position of so many, including so many philosophers, scientists, political leaders and all focused towards external direction. They're collecting, some collecting more pebble, some collecting more pieces of cloth, or pieces of paper, in this way.

Swāmī Mahārāja told, League of Nations, and, what is this?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: UNESCO.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: UNESCO. That is the world committee?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Barking, the dogs barking, and both equal. Rather that is more dangerous, capturing the brainy people, but of equal value, of same value, casting their attention towards material substance which is illusion, misconception. And they're with big posing they're giving so much importance to that thing and that thing, just as so many dogs they also bark to have possession of a particular thing.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: United Nations.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not more than that. With this courage he refuted, wanted to kick that League of Nations.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: United Nations.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This sort of conception is waiting for our prospect.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Mahāprabhu-Nityānanda. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu. Gurudeva. Gurudeva. Gurudeva. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara.

[?] Who is there?

Devotee: Dāsarātha sūta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dāsarātha sūta. How you are doing?
Dāsarātha sūta: OK.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Feeling better? Dāsarātha sūta: A little.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You were sick? Dāsarātha sūta: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Any other question, from any quarter?

Parvat Mahārāja: What is the meaning, or rather the utility behind the sannyāsa order in our sampradāya when Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu has said that it was forbidden, sannyāsa in this age?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: That same question, how that we're accepting sannyāsa in our sampradāya that sannyāsa has been forbidden, that Lord Caitanya quoted one verse.

aśvamedham gavāmbham, sannyāsam pala-paitṛkam [devareṇa sutotpattim, kalau pañca vivarjayet]

["In this age of Kali, the five acts known as karma-kaṇḍa are forbidden: the offering of a horse in sacrifice, the offering of a cow in sacrifice, the acceptance of the order of sannyāsa, the offering of oblations of flesh to the forefathers, and a man's begetting children in his brother's wife."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 9.6.7] [Malamāsatatva-dhṛta Brahma-Vaivarta Purāṇa, Kṛṣṇa-jaṇma-khaṇḍa, 185.180]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is explained there because it is a general question, not only of Gauḍīya sampradāya, but Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya, even Śaṅkara, Buddha. Buddha they may not care for such direction of Purāṇa, but Śaṅkara School, and other Vaiṣṇava School they all accept. Śaṅkara was a sannyāsī and his successors were all sannyāsīns mostly, then Rāmānuja also, Madhvācārya also, and Viṣṇuswāmī sampradāya also.

The meaning is this, their interpretation is this. In Kali-yuga sannyāsa of the strict sense, that karma- sannyāsa is meant karma-sannyāsa, that you leave everything. That sannyāsa is not possible in Kali-yuga. In Satya-yuga it is told, as long as the bones will exist a man will live. According to the durability of the bone the life will be there. In Treta perhaps the nervous system or something like that. And in Kali it is told, Kala vamna gata prana [?]

Their longevity depends on food. So sannyāsa in the strict sense is not possible in Kali, this is karma- sannyāsa, to leave all possible activities and to go on. Like Vālmīki, years after he's engaged tapasya. Even the white ants have capture his whole body and reduced the flesh into earth, still he's there with the help of the bones, Vālmīki is there. Then again by the help of some spiritual miracle the whole body was evolved.

So in Kali-yuga without food, in all other penances also they're specially arranged for Kali-yuga. Only continued twenty four hours fasting is allowed in Kali-yuga, not more than that. But in other ages at least twelve days fasting, that was general rule, twelve days, praja putra [?] If he has done anything wrong, in the smṛti śāstra that so many praja putra, one praja putra means twelve days fasting, that was the principal of punishment for any commitment of sin. But in Kali-yuga only twenty four hours fasting is the maximum because without food the man or the animal cannot live. So karma-sannyāsa, extremely connecting you with the material giving and taking, you won't stand. So the Vaiṣṇava tridaṇḍī-sannyāsa which is not very extreme, take prasādam, do service, this sort of modified that:

yuktāhāra-vihārasya, [yukta-ceṣṭasya karmasu / yukta-svapnābodbodhasya, yogo bhavati duḥkha-hā]

["For a person who eats, relaxes, and exerts himself in all duties in a regulated way, and who keeps regular hours in proper measure, the practice of yoga gradually becomes the source of dispelling all worldly suffering."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.17]

When living on this principal you can take sannyāsa. Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa. Śaṅkarācārya and Rāmānuja, all the pioneers of different sampradāyas they took sannyāsa. But it has been interpreted as karma-sannyāsa. Sannyāsa is of several kinds. What is this? Vidvata. Narottama sannyāsa, vidvat sannyāsa is considered in the section of the salvationist to be the highest. Their idea is when one has fully realised that his connection with the material world is a negative one, he will perish, he will finish his material case, encasement, and he enters into the spiritual sky, spiritual sphere. When one fully established in this firm consciousness that my connection with material world is only injurious to me, he will kill his own body and go away to the sky, vidvat sannyāsa. And narottama,

[yaḥ svakāt parato vecha, jāta-nirveda ātmavān] / hṛdi kṛtvā hariṁ gehāt, pravrajat sa narottamaḥ

[“A narottama, or first class human being, is one who awakens and understands, either by himself or from others, the falsity and misery of this material world and thus leaves home and depends fully on the Personality of Godhead residing within the heart.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.13.27]

The narottama system of sannyāsa that he realised the presence, the existence of God within his heart. And thinking of Him he leaves his present engagement and duties of the household and he goes outside, anywhere and everywhere, under a tree, or under, in the cave, anyhow wherever he gets, careless of his physical. But whatever he gets he does not immediately cleanse his body, but whatever he gets he takes, not getting, fasting, in this way. Hṛdi kṛtvā hariṁ, pravrajat, comes out of the household for, finally coming out, pravrajat, this is narottama sannyāsa.

And there are also different stages in sannyāsa. It is also mentioned. But tridaṇḍa-sannyāsa, when they engage themselves in the service of Godhead by spreading His news and doing some good to the public, that characteristic is different. It is categorically different. They're not leaving, they're not disgusted with the temptation of this world, the engagement of this world. But they have engaged themselves in the higher duty of the upper world, through agent. So their body has got utility. From remaining here, having, maintaining connection here, indenting higher things from above and distributing that to the environment. So that is another conception of sannyāsa. This has got some positive value.

Just as incarnation of God coming down, and His favourite parṣada, friends, servitors also, sent by Him to come down to do some service to help of this. They're also sub-agents who are getting some engagement from the higher agent, and as sub-agents they're moving and there they can earn more wealth than those who are very eager to disconnect from this material campaign. But these people they try to utilise their connection with this mundane and from here they want to earn something substantial, a wealth of the upper house. They're engaged as God's agent, they work as God's agent, that sannyāsa. They will take prasādam and do duty, as in Vaiṣṇava. They're also engaged, service intake is also somewhat that. Vaiṣṇava in this extension of the Vaiṣṇava here, their life.

Sannyāsa means some wholesale truce, armistice, when both the fighting parties they're ordered by the general to leave their weapons, what is that? Armistice or something? First class they want to imitate that, but these they try to utilise their present position in the service of the Lord. Not only armistice, not only stopping, leaving the weapon, but with those weapons that are already wounded in the battlefield and jackals and tigers and wolves are coming to devour the half dead persons, with the weapon they go and relieve them. Something like that. Not to leave the arms, but with the arms they want to save the half wounded persons, injured persons, driving away the wolves and the jackals that are trying to feed on their flesh, when they're helplessly falling on the battlefield. Something like that.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Vidagdha Prabhu came.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What's the news?

Vidagdha-Mādhava: I have a question about something you said yesterday about this Deity of Lord Caitanya that Viṣṇu Prīya Devī she moved her cloth: is that a different Deity from Gauridāsa Paṇḍita, his Deity?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: When mother Śacī covered her head, you told...

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Viṣṇu Prīya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viṣṇu Prīya Devī.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Sorry, Viṣṇu Prīya Devī...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viṣṇu Prīya Devī. She covered her head when she looked at the Mūrti of Mahāprabhu. It was so similar to Mahāprabhu Himself.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Is that the same Deity as Gauridāsa Paṇḍita's Deity?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Is that Gauridāsa Paṇḍita's Deity, the same Deity? He's asking.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That was given first, the Gauridāsa Paṇḍita, that was installed first, and this later on. But posture may be different.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Where is this Deity? Can we find this other Deity? We know Gauridāsa Paṇḍita's Deity is in...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Is there.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Yes but is this Deity also there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But so many installations have taken place in the middle, here also like that. As the advice, instructions, when They come here by the influence of time They become...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the position of a Gauḍīya student is not very particular for the Deities. They're more concerned with the eye to see the Deity. This fleshy eye cannot have real conception of the Deity. The eye is necessary, and eye is got from, eye we get from the Guru, ajñāna-timirāndhasya. Dīkṣā, divyaṁ jñānaṁ yato dadyāt, kuryāt pāpasya saṅkṣayam [tasmād dīkṣeti sā proktā, deśikais tattva-kovidaiḥ]

["The process by which divine knowledge (divyaṁ jñānaṁ) is given and sins are destroyed is called dīkṣā by the highly learned scholars who are expert in spiritual affairs."] [Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, 27 - from Viṣṇu-Yamala]

That cannot, that is, the Deity proper not to be experienced by our fleshy senses, atīndriya. The real figure, the real personification of the Lord, not to be got through the eyes, or ears, or anything, but inner eye, inner ear, and that we get from Guru, and Vaiṣṇava, sādhu. So we are more concerned with sādhu- saṅga to get real eye and to look to the Deity. We cannot see the Deity because it is made of higher stuff than we see with our eye. We are subject and that is made of super subjective element. So, that I can see Him, that is imagination, that is a false notion. I can't see Him. If I approach the Deity to see in the external sense I shall stand there and pray, "Let Him see me. His glance may be cast upon me then I'll be purified." With this idea we shall stand before the Deity. I can't see Him but He can see me. He's there. I can see with the fleshy eye as stone, or wood, or something else, or some mineral substance I can see. So I can't see. He's adhokṣaja, but He can see me. "Let Him cast His glance, His graceful glance towards me and I may be cleansed from the anomaly, from different prejudices of this mundane world, may be purified." With this idea, God is always on the subjective line and never in the objective. Still He comes with some object it's said, only for the most fallen, of very lower śraddhā. Then they may think, 'O, God is here. I am doing that thing, that thing,' to give engagement in the lowest strata. But real sight, real seeing of the God... Ke?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Govinda Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...is not there. He's adhokṣaja. And we must try to clear the dirt from our eyes, and we must feel that He can see me. And when Dhruva and other devotees see Him, what is the position? He comes down, captures the heart, the consciousness, and it overflows. The overflowing emotions or sentiments coming out, and I can see Him there, but not any material body. It comes down from the layer of Paramātmā to the layer of jīvātmā, and controlling the soul He comes to control the mind. He can come everywhere, mind, and then controlling the eyes and ears, and so overflowing emotions that when I spread my eye flows I see He's there, He's really there. And He can make us see, and He can speak. This eye may think that I'm hearing His voice. It is possible, but that must be effected from higher to lower. My senses cannot approach Him. He's adhokṣaja always. He can come down but I can't go up. But with the sādhu when we soar from this sort of material consideration, then gradually through the help of serving attitude we can go against the current. After crossing the world of exploitation and that of renunciation, and with the help of the visa we can enter into that land, and there we can have. And that is with sevonmukhe hi jihvādau, that my whole inner body is made of serving nature: that can contact, permanently. That can contact with Him permanently, that eye, that ear, in order to mind of the service, and to make that possible from permanent grant we find from the Yogamāyā there. And independent visa I can go here and there or everywhere, we can get that sort of license. Then we can see Him. Always we shall think, He's all independent, adhokṣaja, above the plane of our experience, beyond the land of our experience, buddhi-grāhyam atīndriyam [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.21]. Anyhow with our spiritual reasoning we can contact with Him, somewhat, from here, atīndriyam, not in the realm of sense experience but higher. In the higher plane we are to enquire about Him, buddhi-grāhyam atīndriyam, not within the jurisdiction of our senses, transcendental. So we are to try to take up our existence to the transcendental world to have any connection about Him. That is all-important.

tīrtha-yātrā pariśrama sakal manera bhrama sarva siddhi govinda caran
[Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura]

One who has got that clue, that sort of suggestion within him, then he will avoid to thrive by visiting the material places of Him, tīrtha-yātrā pariśrama. They will try to make much, to engage his whole energy to pierce through the different planes in the consciousness, to enter permanently in that domain. The whole energy should be used, utilised to pierce the cloud, the cloudy atmosphere, and to go up, and there I shall be able to find, by the help of svarūpa-śakti. This is only for the beginners.

Just as a child has been supplied some dolls for his play and for also his primary education, but when little grown up he'll be given pen and paper, but in the beginning some gross like chalk and on the earth, 'you practice ABC.' When little grown up, 'take pen and paper and try to practice some sort of writing.' More grown up, 'utilise it for some purpose, write this document, write this book, or something what is useful and necessary, not mere practising,' in this way.

arcayam eva haraye, pūjām yaḥ śraddhāyehate / na tad-bhakteṣu cānyeṣu, sa bhaktaḥ prākṛtaḥ smṛtaḥ

["A devotee who faithfully worships the Deity, but does not properly respect the Vaiṣṇavas or the people in general is called a materialistic devotee, and is considered to be in the lowest position of devotional service."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.47]

Of the lowest type of devotee, he will be very eager to see the material connection of the Supreme. But more conscious and higher connection of the Supreme Lord in madhyama-adhikāra, they will try to enquire there, in the plane of knowledge and consciousness. In the plane of consciousness he'll enquire about God and His men, and not in the material mundane representation.

So, when Parvat Mahārāja as a sannyāsī went to visit Badrinārāyaṇa he was punished by Guru Mahārāja. That leaving away any service entrusted by Guru Mahārāja, neglecting that service he went to satisfy his lower whims connected with some holy idea to go to visit the tīrtha, the Deity. I was a beginner and that gave us a great impression, that to engage under the direction of Guru Mahārāja that is so high, that leaving that if I go to visit the holy places that is a punishable crime. Then, to remain in service under the direction of a sādhu, how higher position. I could understand that I have to abstain and strictly I observed that. So much so that, I'm fond of Bhagavad-gītā, from the beginning, but I remained in Kurukṣetra for three years but I did not go to visit the place where Kṛṣṇa is said to have delivered Bhagavad-gītā there. I did not go, because I heard of that impression that without his opinion, I'm with him, I'm carrying his order. I'm with him. If I go to visit some place according to my whim, I'm disconnecting me from him, from Vaikuṇṭha, and going, wandering in the mundane sphere. Can't you follow, do you follow that?

Devotees: Yes.

Vidagdha-Mādhava: Mahārāja, sometimes our Swāmī Mahārāja would distribute prasādam by his own hand. And I've brought some pieces of prasādam here, I was wondering if you might distribute this to the devotees.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] And other persons are coming...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So we'll take your leave now.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, [amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ]

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

As you talked yesterday, when walking in the town, so many push, and abusive language. Mahāprabhu is seeing all these things, Nityānanda Prabhu also.

Nityānanda Prabhu Himself was treated like, so heinously, even... Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The earthen pot was thrown on His face, the face of Nityānanda Prabhu, by them, the townsmen of Navadvīpa.

Of course He approached them, "Take the Name of Kṛṣṇa." That was His offence. And the earthen pot was thrown down on Him, and the blood oozing.

News reached to Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu came with furious attitude. “The blood oozing from Nityānanda, blood shed of Nityānanda? I shall finish them in Navadvīpa.” With so much rage He came out, with cakra.

Nityānanda Prabhu pacified Him, “Do You forget Yourself? You are no longer that Kṛṣṇa of Dvārakā, cakradhari. Now, You have come for some other purpose. You don’t forget Yourself.”

Mahāprabhu composed Himself. “I can’t tolerate bloodshed of Nityānanda Prabhu.” Hare Kṛṣṇa.

“Two rogues. One of them came to beat Me, then another gentleman he stopped him.” “O! You stopped him?” Mahāprabhu embraced him. “You helped Nityānanda?”

Then the other man’s heart melted. “We two are one and the same, and he is graced?” He began to cry aloud with ‘Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa.’ The other gentleman, he was bewildered, and perplexed, and fell on the feet. “I have committed a wrong to Nityānanda Prabhu.”

“If Nityānanda Prabhu accepts you, pardons you, then you will be pardoned.”

Nityānanda Prabhu: “The two fruits on the same branch, one is delivered, why the other will remain?”

Please accept him also.”

Then both of them: immediate conversion of the both of the rogues of the rogues, Jagāi Mādhāi. [mahā-krpā-pātra prabhura jagāi, mādhai,] ‘patita-pāvana’ nāmera sākṣī dui bhāi

[Jagāi and Mādhāi, the eighty-ninth and ninetieth branches of the tree, were the greatest recipients of Lord Caitanya’s mercy. These two brothers were the witnesses who proved that Lord Caitanya was rightly named Patita-pāvana, “the deliverer of the fallen souls.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 10.120]

From the vision of eternity they came to magnify the position of Gaura-Nityānanda. Their sacrifice, Jagāi Mādhāi, their example was sacrifice. And that enhanced the dignity and the magnanimity of Gaura-Nityānanda.

Just as Judas. I think when Jesus carrying the cross on his shoulder, he's going to the place where he will be crucified. And both sides crowd of innumerable men and women, and he's going, hanging his head. Suddenly, he looked, he cast a glance, and there was Judas. He's going, hanging head, crowds both sides, with the cross on his shoulder he's approaching towards the crucifying land. Suddenly he cast his glance on the face of Judas. Judas saw something in his eye; ran away from there half mad, threw off the bribe to the persons. “What have I done?” In this way he began to repent. Converted Judas. I think what Judas saw in the eye of Christ, and Christ also suddenly, hanging head he's going, suddenly he saw Judas' face. And Judas, in the manner of ju-jitsu he fell down.

I think that in the eye of Christ it was such that, “Judas, your sacrifice for my name and fame is immensely great. I am indebted to you. I am indebted to you. In the history I am taking the advantage of your name. That you have betrayed me, that is a great sacrifice in you, to uplift my name. I am indebted, eternally indebted to you Judas. You are going down, and raising me up. Your eternal fame is lost to increase my fame in the world, and activity, in that way. So, you forgive me. Judas, you forgive me. I am using your life to purchase my fame. It is necessary for the good of the world, and I have taken you.”

In Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Kavirāja Goswāmī says, patita-pāvana' nāmera sākṣī dui bhāi, mahā-kṛpā-pātra prabhura jagāi, mādhai, 'patita-pāvana' nāmera sākṣī dui bhāi.

“We must not estimate them to be of a very lowly order. They are the evidences which made the Name of our Lord so great. So heinous they were, and they were converted in a second. Such power Mahāprabhu had in Him. They are standing witness to the magnanimity and mystic strength of Mahāprabhu. They stand witness, so we must bow down to them. Their life from the consideration of eternal standpoint: great sacrifice.”

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, ekhon je brahmakule caitanyer ari, ta'ke jani caitanyer lila-pustikari. [I know that these enemies of Lord Caitanya, coming from brāhmaṇa background, are actually assistants for giving nourishment to Lord Caitanya's pastime.] [From Prathana Lalasamayi (Prayer of eager longing), Song Four, The Secret of Lord Caitanya's Enemies, 11]

“Even in these days, when we find so many enemies to Śrī Caitanyadeva, we are to look at them as they're enhancing the magnanimity of Śrī Caitanyadeva, from the indirect side.”

Direct and indirect, indirectly they are contrast to the generosity of Śrī Caitanyadeva, encouraging us from the negative side. And Śrī Caitanyadeva selected the place of His activity or His līlā, such place He selected, just as the kāla-kali, the time and the space, both most unfavourable. Kali-kāla is unfavourable at this factor of time and also the place, the Bengal, the Tantric. Tantric means, “We are masters, the prakṛti, we are Śiva and we are masters of the world. Bhavani bhatta, we are lords of all potencies. We only want to realize that fact, that we are lord of the worldly forces. Śivo ham, I am the highest.” The field is for that. So Kali is the most unfavourable time and unfavourable space, where Mahāprabhu appeared. They are to remind us of the fact, ekhon je brahmakule caitanyer ari, ari means enemy, foe. Whom we find in the brāhmaṇa section here, caitanyer lila-pustikari, they are to enhance, they are also contributors in the līlā of Śrī Caitanya, from the negative side. We have to adjust in this way. Śrī Caitanyadeva came in such atmosphere to preach.

Once, just before freedom came to India, the Muslim section under the leadership of [Muhammad Ali] Jinnah began to torture the Hindu section very much. Then both the Bengals under one province, and one Mohammedan, Sula Badi [?] he was the chief minister here; and Jinnah, he recommended the Muslims direct action; attack the Hindus. That was his direct action. And in East Bengal where they had the majority of the Mohammedans, especially Noah Kali [?] district, rowdyism went to its extreme. The ladies and the properties were looted, killed; so much so that all madly flying towards West Bengal from East Bengal. And they were butchered on the way, so much anarchy. All were cowed down.

Then Gandhi came out, this I saw in newspaper, suddenly he came to Calcutta. And he was an apostle of ahimsā. Then Gandhi told that, “I think my burial place will be in Noah Kali [?] I am going to sacrifice my life there. Otherwise, like so many cowards, the Hindus are all flying away from the place. I can’t tolerate this. I am going there to be killed.”

And he went. But his personality was world personality. So many reporters from the different parts of the world, and Sula Badi [?] also no other alternative but to make a special arrangement for his protection, he had to make, so a special group of police was given to protect him. But he anyhow, he went there; dismissed the police protection. In the beginning they remained for some time in the room, then next, “No.” He began to walk. “I want to be killed.” Of course, empty handed, he went to walk, sometimes by the boat, he went to take, to go hither thither in this way. The Muslims, they disturbed him from far off, throwing stools etc., and other insulting arrangements.

But then at that time [Lord Louis] Mountbatten came and the British already decided to give independence, the [Clement] Attlee, the head of the Labour Party. After Churchill, the Labour Party came in power and Attlee was the leader. And he was broad minded enough to order that, "Now India should be given independence." And Lord Mountbatten, he was selected, "You please arrange."

Previously, before that, Mr. Warble [?], a military general, he was in charge of India, but he was not very efficient.

But Mountbatten was a very efficient man. He did not talk much, very sober and silent, but very grave and powerful, and well decisive man. He controlled Jinnah.

Jawaharlal [Pandit Nehru] ran to Noah Kali [?] to see, to consult Gandhi there, in that position, that dangerous position, anyhow, by the help of helicopter or something.

But Gandhi, I saw, could not tolerate so much cowardice. This dangerous spot is most acute, and he was bold enough to face that, very courageous.

And when leaving India, the general in charge of the Eastern force, Achinlay [?] perhaps, or someone, he told plainly that, "We are retiring from India only for the boldness of one man, and he is Mr. Gandhi. He infused so much boldness to the whole nation that we have to retire from here. We did not fear any military organization or intimidation of the anarchists. Not for intimidation from the anarchists are we leaving, but we are leaving for Gandhi."

Though this fellow claimed that Netaji Subash Bose had much contribution, because from the side of Japan he attacked India, but he was repulsed by the British.

So, Gandhi was a very brave man.

Then in Calcutta, when India was getting independence, then Suda Badi's [?] life was in danger in Calcutta, there also the rioting; Hindus and Muslims were rioting. Many a time in Calcutta it happened, Hindu, Muslim rioting, severe rioting. And at that time, the Hindus, they wanted to take retaliation of the West Bengal, wanted to kill Suda Badi, chief minister of that time.

And Gandhi gave him shelter. "No. Such cowardly assassination I can't allow." He took Suda Badi in his own house where he lived, Elagata [?] He gave shelter to Suda Badi.

Infuriated West Bengal people charged Gandhi. "You go away! We shall kill him."

"Never! You may take out my dead body, but not my living body can you take out from here. You may kill. I won't go to harm you. You may kill me. I am at your disposal. And then you may take my dead body out of this house. As long as I live I shall protect my friend Suda Badi." That was the place.

And there is a picture, photo of Gandhi. Raja Gopalachari he got charge of West Bengal, he was the Governor here, power already transferred. Hindu Muslim riots were going on, very acute, in Chitpur and Harrison Road, at that junction. And Gandhi came there, and with folded palms he was praying to the mob, "Don't!" And his eyes like bullets coming out from the body, red and very open and excited eyes, and with folded hands in this way, "Don't do it." In this way, he's appealing to the mob engaged in such a riot. The photo is there of that man.

But from the standard of Gauḍīya Maṭha we do not care for him. This is misused. This sort of moral powers has been misused only for material aims and objects, and rather drawing a screen to the spiritual one.

When he was in Purī, he won't enter the temple, because the untouchables are not allowed to enter there. He's espousing the cause of the untouchable section. But his wife, without his notice, she went to have a darśana of Jagannātha. And when it came to his notice, he was very much enraged with his wife, “Why have you gone?”

Too much, Jagannātha is not the master of his wife, and his wife is cent per cent under, is his property, he thinks, and Jagannātha is none, that thing.

He was invited once, beforehand, to see Gauḍīya Maṭha. He told, “Is there any cherka, that sewing machine?”

“No no, there is Deity, Rādhā-Govinda, Mahāprabhu.” “No! Cherka is my God!”

He told, Cherka is his God, he has got that sort of idea, that narrow idea.

At the same time, that Teelok [?], before him, he was also a patriot, a notable renowned patriot Maharastra, Teelok, brahmin. He told, “I can sacrifice truth to country.”

And Gandhi told, “I can sacrifice country to truth.”

But this is his conception of truth. Gauḍīya Maṭha hates it, the conception of his truth. His truth only limited, to the limited standard of, conception of ahimsā. But Gītā has rejected that.

Arjuna also wanted a sort of non martial attitude. “I shall rather live on begging, than to kill my superiors, my teachers, my grandfathers, my relatives. Only for the greed of kingdom, no, rather, I shall beg and live. I won’t.”

But Kṛṣṇa discouraged it, “What do you say? This is sheer cowardice. This is tamo guṇa, your affinity towards material things. But religion is meant for some higher purpose of life, where no consideration, death and living, and dying are very non important factors there, in our eternal realization, in the realization of our eternal good in life. To sacrifice the body, body has no, it is a negative existence, it is not so important. The dharma, the duty is connected with higher purpose of life. It has got a relation in the eternal benefit of our life. And what you say, that is only this temporary and the mundane life, good or bad, you are labouring there. So give up this neutered temperament, a mean temperament in the garb of magnanimity.”

So, Mahāprabhu came in the most adverse circumstances, and adverse position to time and space, both unfavourable, and there Mahāprabhu had to come and to face the environment of challenge, and He began, to begin His work. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

kaler doṣa-nidhe rājann asti hy eko mahān guṇaḥ kīrttanād eva kṛṣṇasya mukta-saṅgaḥ param vrajet

[Śukadeva Goswāmī tells Parīkṣit Mahārāja: “O King, the age of Kali, the repository of all evils, has but one glorious characteristic: in this age, those who simply chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa are liberated and reach the Supreme Lord.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.3.51]

When you have got a particular seed, which, without manure, in the barren land also that will produce fruit, something like that. Mahāprabhu came with a seed to sow in a most unfavourable land. But: then why the question of offences, ten offences, etc? But we should consider it with the idea that how lofty is the goal, the destination of this Name. We must keep it in our mind, that these troubles, these unfavourable space and time, and that is not much, and the offences not much in consideration with the most lofty destination that has been promised as our prospect.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... pumān viriñcatām eti tataḥ param hi mām.

[svadharma-niṣṭhaḥ śata-janmabhiḥ pumān, viriñcatām eti tataḥ param hi mām avyākṛtaṁ bhāgavato 'tha vaiṣṇavaṁ, padaṁ yathāhaṁ vibudhāḥ kalātyaye]

[“A person who executes his occupational duty properly for one hundred births becomes qualified to occupy the post of Brahmā, and if he becomes more qualified, he can approach Lord Śiva. A person who is directly surrendered to Lord Kṛṣṇa or Viṣṇu in unalloyed devotional service is immediately promoted to the spiritual planets. Lord Śiva and other demigods attain these planets after the destruction of this material world.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.24.29]

After hundreds of lives the dutiful religious life takes us to the post, makes us eligible for the post of a Brahmā, the administrator of the whole globe, whole, so many solar systems, brahmāṇḍas. Tataḥ param hi mām. Then Mahādeva says, “I’m beyond all material creation, the world of exploitation. I’m above that.

Avyākṛtaṁ. Not very easily intelligible am I, some things renunciation, some things devotion, some things connecting with the exploiting world. I’m a peculiar type of entity.” Mahādeva: and devotee, vaiṣṇavānām yathā śambhuḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.16] “I’m fighting with the Lord, sometimes going against, with weapon I’m going to fight with my Lord. I’m master who controls the whole, the force who controls the whole of the world of exploitation; I’m master of that, leader of the opposition party, advaya-jñāna. I’m the first revolt against the harmony, īśāvāsyam, that all is one. No. I’m not along with You. I have separate existence.”

“Avyākṛtaṁ, not very plainly understood, my position. It is hazy, it is unintelligible, it is perplexing, avyākṛtaṁ. Tataḥ param hi mām, avyākṛtaṁ bhāgavato 'tha vaiṣṇavaṁ. But there is another section above me, after me, vaiṣṇavaṁ, padaṁ. They are living in a place known as the land of the Vaiṣṇavas. Yathāhaṁ vibudhāḥ kalātyaye. And I aspire to occupy that position. I aspire to get a visa of that land in any good future time. Yathāhaṁ vibudhāḥ. O gods, kalātyaye, and the wholesale dissolution of the whole exploitation land will be withdrawn into the subtle-most existence. At that time I hope that I will enter that higher region. Bhāgavato 'tha vaiṣṇavaṁ, padaṁ yathāhaṁ vibudhāḥ kalātyaye. O gods, I aspire after, I’m waiting for the time.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... Saraswatī Ṭhākura. Almost always he's in speaking mood in praise of Mahāprabhu. So much so, in his hymn I mentioned:

kr̥payā hari-kīrtana-mūrti-dharaṁ, [dharaṇī-bhara-hāraka-gaura-janam janakādhika-vatsala-snigdha-padaṁ, praṇamāmi sadā prabhupāda-padam]

[Bestowing his grace upon all souls, he is Hari kīrtana incarnate. As the associate of Śrī Gaura, he relieves Mother Earth of the burden of offences committed upon her. And he is so gracious that his endearance of all beings excels that of even a father. I make my obeisance unto him - the mine of all these qualities; perpetually do I bow down to the effulgence emanating from the toenails of the holy feet of my Divine Master.] [Śrī Śrī Prabhupāda-padma-stavakaḥ, 8]

Just, the kīrtana has been personified in his figure when he came here, always chanting. And sometimes he told, as if in a repentant mood, “We are not speaking in these days about the greatness, nobleness of Nāma, Nāma-bhajan.” Yet all his attempt only to mean that the Name of the Lord, the Holy Name, that is the most great aspect, noble aspect of the Lord, especially in the case to save the fallen souls. That was the only purpose of his life. Still, sometimes he showed that, “I’m not speaking about the nobility of the Name. What I am doing?” In this way.

Sanātana Goswāmī has written:

jayati jayati nāmānanda rūpam murarer, viramita nija dharma dhyāna pujyadhi yatna katham api sakṛdāttam muktidaṁ prānināṁ yat, paramāmṛtam ekaṁ jīvanaṁ bhuṣanaṁ me

[“Let ecstasy in the service of the Divine Name be victorious. If somehow we can come in contact with that sound, nāma rupaṁ murāreḥ, then all our other activities will be paralysed; we will have no necessity of performing any other activity. Our many variegated duties will have no importance to us at all if we can achieve the service of the Divine Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, 1.1.9]

Sanātana Goswāmī: “Let the ecstasy coming from taking the Holy Name may be victorious. Nāmānanda rūpam murarer, ānanda, ecstasy, nāmānanda, it is coming out from the service of the Name. That may be victorious all over tendencies that are found in the world, it may prevail, crowned with success, may have the greatest influence over everything. Viramita nija dharma dhyāna pujyadhi, which can paralyse all our holy tendencies, not only ordinary tendencies, all other holy tendencies, attempts, may be stopped. It is so powerful. Nija dharma, duty, in every phase of life, when the ecstasy coming out of the Holy Name may paralyse all other duties has come I think, dharma, duty. Dhyāna, our conscious movement of meditation, meditating attempt: that also is paralysed. Nija, dharma, dhyāna, pūjā, and the attempt, this arcana, the pūjā, the serving temperament, becomes so much intense that all other attempts are for the moment we forget, make us forget. Viramita nija dharma dhyāna pujyadhi yatna, nija dharma, in discharging our duties that is what is in the nature of karma, holy pious karma. Then dhyāna means in the area of pure consciousness, conscious attempt. And pūjā our reverent offering to the Lord, that is also. Dhyāna puṇyadhi yatna, katham api sakṛdāttam muktidaṁ prānināṁ yat. It's so powerful, in any way if we can come to have a holy touch of that Holy Name, katham api, anyhow, if we can, if we're blessed with the slight connection of that Holy Name, katham api sakṛdāttam muktidaṁ prānināṁ yat, the liberation from all undesirable things at once effected. So disinfecting in character. Katham api sakṛdāttam muktidaṁ prānināṁ yat, paramāmṛtam ekaṁ jīvanaṁ bhuṣanaṁ me. And one can feel it is sustaining the very life, life's sustainer, life giving, enlivening. Jīvanaṁ bhuṣanaṁ, and also decoration, not only life but the decoration also, the vilasa, is also we find from that sound, Vaikuṇṭha Nāma, the Name."

Rūpa Goswāmī says:

nikhila-śruti-mauli ratna mālā, dyuti nīrājita-pāda-paṅkajānta

ayi mukta-kulair upāsyamānaṁ, paritas tvāṁ hari-nāma saṁśrayāmi

["The acme of all the Vedas, the Upaniṣads, are like a string of transcendental jewels. The tips of the toes of Your lotus feet, O Holy Name, are eternally worshipped by the radiance emanating from those jewels. You are constantly worshipped by the great liberated souls (headed by Nārada and Śuka, whose hearts are reposed in complete absence of worldly aspirations). Therefore, O Name Divine, I surrender unto You in every time, place, and circumstance."] [Nāmāṣṭakam, 1]

Rūpa Goswāmī Prabhu's approach towards the greatness of the Name, holiness, highly holy nature of the Name is such. Nikhila-śruti-mauli ratna mālā, dyuti. We cannot find in ordinary śruti the mention and the praise of the Holy Name. But those that are finest and highest expressive in the thought of śruti, Veda, the highest, Veda means revealed truth, the finest and highest revelation we find that they're meant in the praise of the Holy Name, the holy sound aspect of the Lord. And they're considered to be the highest amongst the revealed truth. The highest quality of revealed truth only is seen as if, nīrājita, as if with its light, nīrājita means āratika, trying to show the holy figure of the Lord, the light, nīrājita-pāda-paṅkajānta. And what is the highest type of revealed truth is only trying to show us the pāda-paṅkajānta, the lowest: the highest revealed truth is trying to show us, connect us with the lowest portion of the holy figure, pāda-paṅkajānta. Ayi mukta-kulair upāsya. Where we should begin? Our proper beginning will be with the holy feet. If we try to focus on other parts of the Lord that will be something like misguidance. The proper beginning must be to the lowest position, and then gradually we shall go up. That will be the healthy progress, line of progress, pāda-paṅkajānta. Ayi mukta-kulair upāsyamānaṁ. O Name, the ordinary men that are in bondage can't approach You. Your real realisation and Your proper dealings, service, is only possible by those who are really masters of all the illusory tendencies. Only they can be liberated. The highly liberated souls can only approach You. Ayi mukta-kulair upāsyamānaṁ, paritas. And they're all around You, in a crowd as if, the liberated souls are trying to give their obeisance to You. Paritas tvām hari-nām saṁśrayāmi. And I am praying to get a shelter on Your holy feet."

This is spoken by Rūpa Goswāmī, in Padma-Purāṇa we find, nāmānanda rūpam, in Padma-Purāṇa. What is the poem?

nāma cintāmaṇiḥ kṛṣṇaś, caitanya-rasa-vigrahaḥ pūrṇaḥ śuddho nitya-mukto, 'bhinnatvān nāma-nāminoḥ

[“The Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa is full of transcendental bliss. It blesses the devotee with all fulfilment, for it is non-different from Kṛṣṇa, the fountain source of all pleasure. Therefore it is also by nature the embodiment of all transcendental mellows. It is complete, pure, eternal and ever liberated from all material conditioning because the Name of Kṛṣṇa and Kṛṣṇa Himself are identical.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta- sindu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.233] & [Padma-Purāṇa]

Nāma cintāmaṇiḥ kṛṣṇaś, caitanya-rasa-vigrahaḥ. The Name of the Lord, Kṛṣṇa, is just like cintāmaṇi. Cintāmaṇi is a kind of jewel, the possessor of which, whatever He will think it will automatically come to Him, cintāmaṇi, like kalpa-vṛkṣa, whatever is wanted... [?]

Nāma cintāmaṇiḥ kṛṣṇaś, a particular kind of jewel, the possessor, whatever He thinks, at once that comes to Him. That is cintāmaṇi. Nāma cintāmaṇiḥ kṛṣṇaś, Kṛṣṇa Nāma is cintāmaṇi. Any holy benefit we may get from, out of it, we can expect to get. It can supply all the necessary demands of our inner heart in the holiest transaction. Nāma cintāmaṇiḥ kṛṣṇaś, Kṛṣṇa’s Name is such, and caitanya-rasa- vigrahaḥ, we shall try to think it that ecstasy personified and purely of spiritual play. Caitanya-rasa, the rasa, ecstasy, and that is purely spiritual. Spiritual means that is of serving attitude, serving tendency: no least trace there could be made of exploitation, or renunciation or negligence, indifferent. It commands our active sympathy, draws our attention in a natural way. That is the nature of service, our submission, subjugation can be produced by its charming presence, caitanya-rasa-vigrahaḥ. Nāma cintāmaṇiḥ kṛṣṇaś, caitanya-rasa-vigrahaḥ. Rasa, our innate, the element which can, the fine element, the fine and the pious element, that can attract our inner-most attention and interest towards it, rasa. Caitanya-rasa-vigrahaḥ, and that is conscious, that is pure consciousness, that is serving wave, serving, sympathetic wave towards the aim, destination, that current. The rasa-vigrahaḥ, and that is personified, rasa-vigrahaḥ. Nitya, that is eternal, never ending. Mukta, it is free, having no obligation to any other entity, nitya, mukta. Then śuddho, pūrṇaḥ, that is absolute in nature. And purity, śuddha means purity. Purity we are to understand what is purity, always our aim will be that only service is purity.

na hi jñānena sadṛśaṁ, pavitraṁ iha vidyate / [tat svayaṁ yoga-saṁsiddhaḥ, kālenātmani vindati] ["Among the aforementioned practices of sacrifice, austerity, and yoga, there is nothing as pure as divine knowledge. After a long time, a person who has achieved perfection in his practice on the path of selfless action realises such knowledge spontaneously within his heart."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.38]

It is written in Bhagavad-gītā, pavitra, work can never be, our energising in this plane can never be pure. It is inevitable it must be impure, filthy. No energy can move here without creating some disturbance in the environment, so no purity, normal, is possible to locate here in this plane of exploitation, gross or subtle. But exploitation is inevitably connected with this mundane life. Then, renunciation is said, comparatively, to be pure, na hi jñānena sadṛśaṁ, pavitraṁ, that is it withdraws from the plane of exploitation and retains to be its own internal selfish condition. But that gradually equates to zero. Still, comparatively it is considered to be pure, than the meditation, the knowledge.

As Kant, the German philosopher says, "Good will only can be pure, but no action can be pure."

But we say, 'Even good will can never be pure if it is in the relativity of the mundane world.' So na hi jñānena sadṛśaṁ, pavitraṁ iha vidyate, it is comparatively, the jñāna. But Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam says, naiṣkarmyam apy acyuta-bhāva-varjitaṁ, na śobhate jñānam alaṁ nirañjanam kutaḥ punaḥ śaśvad abhadraṁ īśvare, na cārpitaṁ karma yad apy akāraṇam

["Knowledge of self-realisation, even though free from all material affinity, does not look well if devoid of a conception of the Infallible (God). What, then, is the use of fruitive activities, which are naturally painful from the very beginning and transient by nature, if they are not utilised for the devotional service of the Lord?”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.12]

Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says that even that renowned knowledge, naiṣkarmya, naiṣkarmya- paramāṁ- siddhiṁ [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.49]. In Bhāgavatam [12.13.18] also naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ, but jñāna vairāgya bhakti sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ.

[śrīmad-bhāgavatam purāṇam amalāṁ yad vaiṣṇavānāṁ priyāṁ yasmin pāramahaṁsyam ekam amalāṁ jñānaṁ param gīyate tatra jñāna-virāga-bhakti-sahitaṁ naiṣkarmyam āviṣkṛtaṁ tac chr̥ṇvan su-paṭhan vicāraṇa paro bhaktyā vimucyen naraḥ]

[“Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is the spotless Purāṇa. It is especially dear to the Vaiṣṇavas; it has knowledge that is especially appreciated by the paramahaṁsas. When carefully studied, heard, and understood again and again, it opens the door to pure devotion through which one never returns to the bondage of illusion.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.18]

Naiṣkarmya, that is absent of assertion. Karma means to assert, self-assertion, that is karma. Absence of self-assertion, that is naiṣkarmya. But Bhāgavatam says, “No. That is not the real criterion of purity. That naiṣkarmya, comparatively it is admitted by some to be pure, but real purity can never be without the connection of the service of Kṛṣṇa.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Naiṣkarmyam apy acyuta-bhāva-varjitaṁ, na śobhate, acyuta-bhāva-varjitaṁ, who has no connection with Acyuta, with Kṛṣṇa, that sort of strike, the stage of strike in the worldly transaction cannot be considered as the standard purity, na śobhate jñānam alaṁ nirañjanam. So śuddha, what is śuddha? As much as it is producing the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa the calculation of the purity will depend on it. As much as surrender and surrendered service for the centre, for the Absolute Good, it will be considered so much pure. Nitya śuddha, always who takes the Name of the Lord, satisfied only with the sound aspect, or engaged in the service of the sound aspect of God, he's always pure. He has no ambition in this world of elevation, neither elevationist nor he has any quest for the perfect rest in the renounced stage, but he's self-dedicating soul. Who is taking the Name of the Lord and is fascinated by the charm of the sound aspect of the Lord, he's considered to be above the plane of exploitation as well as renunciation. He's deeply engaged in the service. So much that he does not want anything, only the connection of the sound aspect is satisfying him highly. He's so much niṣkiñcana, he does not want anything, only the Name is suffice, the Name of Kṛṣṇa is sufficient for him. He's so easily satisfied; no demand.

Nitya-śuddha, nitya-mukta, pūrṇaḥ śuddho nitya-mukto, 'bhinnatvān nāma-nāminoḥ. And why it is so? Because the sound is inseparably represented with the subject itself, or Himself, there cannot be any sound where the whole representation of the Absolute is not present.

Bhinnatvān nāma-nāminoḥ. It is, deho dehi vibagha guhyam. In the mundane conception we find that the name, the figure, the colour, different aspects they have got their separate existence, they can be separately conceived. But it is not the way, not the nature about the things which is divine. Every part is present everywhere. Here the eye can see, the hand can touch and catch. But in the case of the Vaikuṇṭha, divinity, especially of the Lord, the eye can see, eye can hear, eye can touch. Feet can see, feet can touch, feet can smell. In this way, just as in our mind, mind can see, mind can hear, mind can touch, mind can smell: central position, but I cannot do so.

So He's the most central thing that can act in any way. The part and the whole cannot be differentiated, in general. But still, when He likes He's got that capacity also. To a particular class of devotee He's found with His full fledged figurative characteristic. The eye's so beautiful in different way, the nose beauty is another way. So all-pervading omniscience, omnipotence, these are servants of His will of Him. We may take it like that. On the basis of that, all sorts of knowledge, all sorts of energies are only in a serving attitude, waiting His order. Though He has got figure, but not with the limitation of the figure. Though in figure, still He's infinite in His character.

So pūrṇaḥ śuddho nitya-mukto, 'bhinnatvān nāma-nāminoḥ, the Name, the sound representation is not quite different from the original existence, the original conception by different ways, the colour can have, our eyes can have a particular aspect of Him, our ear can have another. The ear, the sound, the tongue, our touch, they may hanker for different aspects of Him. But still there is unity and it is inconceivable. But the Name, the sound aspect is the most gracious and it is far reaching, especially meant for the fallen souls to take them up. That is the peculiarity in – by His free will it has been endowed with, 'bhinnatvān nāma- nāminoḥ.

tuṇḍe tāṇḍavinī ratim vitanute tuṇḍāvalī-labdhave

[kaṇṇa-kroḍa-kaḍambinī ghaṭayate kaṇṇārbudebhyaḥ sprhām cetaḥ-prāṅgaṇa-saṅginī vijayate sarvendriyāñāṁ kṛtim no jāne janitā kiyadbhir amṛtaiḥ kṛṣṇeti varṇa-dvayī]

[“When the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa appears on the lips of a devotee, it begins madly dancing. Then the Name takes over and handles him as if the person to whom the lips belong loses all control over his lips, and the devotee says: ‘With one mouth, how much can I gather the ecstasy of the Holy Name? I need millions of mouths to taste its unlimited sweetness. I’ll never feel any satisfaction by chanting with only one mouth.’”] [Vidagdha-Mādhava, 1.15]

In Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu another:

tuṇḍe tāṇḍavinī ratim vitanute tuṇḍāvalī-labdhaye

karṇa-kroḍa-kaḍambinī ghaṭayate karṇārbudebhyaḥ sprhām

We are finite and we are going to venture to talk about infinite. So only dig-darśana, śrutibhir vimṛgyām [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61], only showing that this side the partial aspect, this side we can. Tuṇḍe tāṇḍavinī ratim vitanute tuṇḍāvalī-labdhaye. It is seen sometimes when one is taking the Name he's so charmingly engaged, tuṇḍāvalī-labdhaye, ratim vitanute tuṇḍāvalī. Only one lip or one tongue, it cannot satisfy me by taking the Name. Hundreds and thousands of tongues are necessary. Such sort of mystic feeling arises in ones heart if one can come to have to such a position to take the Name of the Lord. 'One tongue, what one tongue can do?'

Just as the gopīs wanted: "Why not thousands of eyes; the creator has given to us?" Jedi jedi krsna

_____ [?] "The Brahmā, the creator, he does not know, he cannot do justice in creation." They're blaming him. "He does not know what is proper creation. One who will have the opportunity of looking at the face of Kṛṣṇa, he has given only two eyes, the creator, he does not know how to create."

_____ [?] "There only two eyes have been attached to him who'll get the opportunity of looking at the beauty of the face of Kṛṣṇa. What is this? This is sheer injustice, intolerable."

So tuṇḍe tāṇḍavinī ratim vitanute, when the Name comes down in the heart, from there the wave is coming towards the tongue. The inspiration coming from above, from the plane of Paramātmā in the plane of jīvātmā enters the heart. And there, and from the heart, the inspiration comes to the tongue and the tongue begins to dance, engaged in a mad dance taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa. Tuṇḍe tāṇḍavinī ratiṁ vitanute tuṇḍāvalī. And he feels, the heart feels only one tongue is very, very insufficient. Thousands of tongues are necessary. The current from the heart is passing, is rushing in such a big magnitude that one tongue cannot pass the sound. Thousands of tongues necessary. The current is coming and rushing towards the tongue to produce sound in the atmosphere.

Karṇa-kroḍa-kaḍambinī ghaṭayate karṇārbudebhyaḥ sprhām. Again when that sound enters the ears he feels ‘one or two ears can’t receive, thousands of ears necessary to receive the sound,’ karṇārbudebhyaḥ sprhām. Such sort of hankering, earnestness, arises within the heart.

Cetaḥ-prāṅgaṇa-saṅginī vijayate sarvendriyāñāṁ kṛtiṁ. And sometimes when perplexed by these thoughts – unconscious. By the clash of these coming and going and the meagre supply, sometimes the rush of the current is so much that it seems that the whole thing is going to be paralysed. Effacement, no movement is possible at all, so much raja has come. Prāṅgaṇa-saṅginī vijayate sarvendriyāñāṁ kṛtiṁ. And the whole function of all the senses are going to be at a standstill, so much rush. Prāṅgaṇa-saṅginī vijayate sarvendriyāñāṁ kṛtiṁ. All the functions of all the senses, all movements are going to be blocked. No jāne janitā kiyadbhir amṛtaiḥ kṛṣṇeti varṇa-dvayī. I fail to understand that how much magnitude of ecstasy has been allotted in the Name of the Lord, kiyadbhir amṛtaiḥ. How much nectar of what sort of degree, it is with the Holy Name, I can’t assert.”

This is the sayings of the devotees, the Name is such, within, nāmānanda.

In the desert the presence of water by glass or pipe it is meagre, but when the water comes from the cloud it may inundate the whole thing in a moment. So we’re tiny persons concerned with tiny things. But His position, His grant is so much, so deep. Ānanda-śukha, we can't be happy with this thing, that thing, and you, if we secure something that vanishes immediately. But the infinite happiness, its characteristic and its purity, that cannot be conceived by us. But still it is there, and we are also here, it is also true. We want rasa, the infinite rasa is there, and still we are hankering for a drop of nectar. That is also true. And how we are to be joined with that ocean of ānandam, rasam, ecstasy, happiness, everything, joy is there. It is true and we are also so many beggars for a drop; it is also true. And there are so many agents that are to connect us with their departments. And our demand may be satisfied, our hankering, our thirst may be quenched, and more than enough. We can get so much that we can't store it within us, we are to give away to others. We can come nearer to such ocean of joy or ecstasy, and by His agents, through His agents it is possible.

Ke? [?]

In Name, there may be aparādha, ābhāsa, all these things to be considered. It is also mentioned in Padma-Purāṇa, the ten kinds of offences against the Name. The beginner should be careful about that, know and be careful to avoid them. Padma-Purāṇa, there are eighteen Purāṇas. Purāṇa means, vedartha purāṇath purāṇam, two characteristics of Purāṇa, Jīva Goswāmī Prabhu has mentioned in his Bhāgavata Sandarbha, purāṇath purāṇam, fulfilling, that is supplementary to Veda. In this sense it is known as Purāṇa. Vedartha purāṇath. What is not plain, expressive in the Veda, the Purāṇa has come as to do supplementary work for that, vedartha purāṇath, and also purāṇam, which is not found in the Veda that we can find in the Purāṇa. That even ancient Purāṇa, Purāṇa means ancient. Veda nigadhi padam.

It is in Veda and we find in the Purāṇa also Vāmana Avatāra, because Veda also comes after every creation. After the wholesale dissolution then when creation begins Veda comes from Nārāyaṇa to Brahmā. So Purāṇa, there are so many seers, ṛṣis, that can collect and keep the occurrences that took place in the previous creation, kalpa. In the time of previous, the wholesale dissolution and even before that there world and there was history and that history has been retained here in Purāṇa, which is not in the Veda. So Purāṇa is not to be neglected as the Brahman School or the Ārya Samāj, they neglect Purāṇa. But Jīva Goswāmī Prabhu has lifted high the position of Purāṇa. Bhāgavata is also Purāṇa, Mahā Purāṇa. Because Purāṇa should not be neglected that it has not got the dignity with the same rank with the Veda, but not so. Even previous to Veda, so many incidents we can find in Purāṇa. It can record this time Veda, precedent to that, so purāṇam.

So Purāṇa, there are eighteen Purāṇas and they're classified tamasik, rajasik, sattvik. Padma-Purāṇa is one of the sattvika Purāṇas, and there we find mentioned which, favour of, protection of the devotional school, especially. Sattvika Purāṇa deals with Nārāyaṇa...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...things, promoting the devotion of Kṛṣṇa, Hari, Nārāyaṇa, is found there. So in Padma-Purāṇa we find ten offences against the Name. One who will take the path of the Name, by the use of the Holy Name of the Lord when one wants to enter into that domain they will be careful about these ten offences. What are they? I'm enumerating one by one, the first and most important, sādhu-nindā, they will avoid, sādhu:

satam ninda namnah paramam aparadham vitanute [Padma-Purāṇa, Brahmā-khanda, 25.15-18, 22-23] [Gauḍīya Kanthahara, 17.69-75]

The great offence is committed when we give blame to the sādhus, to the real agents of the Lord. Satam ninda namnah paramam aparadham vitanute. Sādhu-nindā. Who are the sādhus? Sat, what is eternal, connecting with that. Who are trying to distribute the eternal aspect of the whole; they're considered as sādhus. And those that are in the garment of sādhu but dealing with material things, "O, take this, it will save you from disease. It will give some help in your business." All these mundane things, who are dealing with these in the garb of sādhu they're not real sādhu. Or, who are trying to take us to other demigods. Demigods means they're departmental helps, they can give this thing, that thing, so many things of mundane type. So to lead us to the particular mundane god, that means to fulfil some aspiration of the mundane nature. So such agents of demigods are not to be considered as sādhu. Who are dealing with reality, that is Nārāyaṇa or Kṛṣṇa, Vaikuṇṭha vastu, the infinite, they're real sādhus. And we must be careful not to speak anything against them, very careful, sata-nindā.

And also śāstra-nindā, in that case also it is such that those śāstra, there are many kinds of scripture, but those śāstra, scriptures that tell about Kṛṣṇa, Nārāyaṇa, Viṣṇu, that is the eternal aspect of the Lord, līlā of the Lord, those śāstras must not be blamed. That will be suicidal, because, yatah khyatim kathamu, they have come to help us, and I'm blaming him, that is, I'm losing the chance of getting the help from them. So Name, He does not like that, "My agents should be insulted, abused, blamed." So Name is not satisfied. "That I'm sending My messenger to help you and you are blaming him, you are dealing badly with him." Then He becomes dissatisfied, śāstra-nindā.

Then, guroravajna, to undermine the Guru, in the general sense when we come to the Guru by the result of my own previous sukṛti I have come to Guru. And there is a time when both of them should have a chance of test, not suddenly one should accept, but he must satisfy himself to the possible satisfaction, to the possible judgement, what is possible in that stage. And then he will surrender. And once surrendering he should not very easily retire them, retire from him, from his shelter. He's the most valuable.

Even everywhere it may be applied. Suppose I may continue a business, I'm approaching a capitalist, I must not connect with him very easily, must not put any trust in him very easily. I must satisfy myself that I may have connection and he will help me. But once after satisfying me from, by all points I have connected with him and making transactions, giving and taking, giving and taking, suddenly we should not disconnect with him. There may be disturbance or loss in my business life.

So in the spiritual matter also we shall try our utmost to study as much as possible by the help of the scriptures, by the help of the reliable other sādhus, I shall have to select where I shall surrender my life, I can rely that he will be able to remove my difficulties wholesale, as much as possible. The most serious connection in our spiritual eternal life, so there, before establishing that connection we shall try to satisfy myself in all possible ways that I have come to the real party where from I may get my best benefit. So with such clear and pure faith we should try to establish the holy relationship as if as pure as with much purity I'm approaching to the holiest Lord. With that sort of sincerity and unprejudiced purity we shall approach. And also invoking the highest help of the Supreme Entity, that, "Please help me to have a choice in my master of this life, of life eternal." So it is a very serious thing, the most serious in our life. And what should be our dealing? We should try our best not to find fault there, not to find fault there. Once I have accepted I must not be very frivolous to play with such sort of dignified relationship. We must be very serious, serious and very careful to maintain that sort of holy relationship as much as I can accord I'll try. I must not believe myself always to the fullest.

Just as it has been told that in the Ganges water, martyāsad-dhīḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.15.26] Gurudeva he's also seen to eat, to sleep, and also to pass the stools, pass urine, sometimes suffering from disease. All these things may disturb our mind, may say, "He's an ordinary person, ordinary man. So why should I try to have my highest respect and highest regard for him?" These things may come in our mind, martyāsad-dhīḥ, the signs, the symptoms of mortal world is sometimes seen in him, in sādhus also, in Vaiṣṇavas also. Vaiṣṇavas may come in different sections. Haridāsa Ṭhākura came in the Mohammedan section. So many paṣada came in the lower sections, not in the brāhmaṇas. In Ganges water as we find that it may be filthy, from material consideration, but the purifying attitude of it is independent of this material aspect. We are to see like that. This is another thing. The purification capacity that is beyond the conception of our material capacity, material good or bad, we are to distinguish there.

The Śrī Mūrti outwardly if we exercise our physical senses it may be of stone, or wood, or any mineral substance, or earthen Mūrti. But are we to look to that? That is martya buddhi. We shall try that, "The Lord is here, attracted by the affection, by the love of the sādhu. He is there." As in the purifying tendency in Ganges water, so the purifying tendency is in the Śrī Vighraha, in the form, in every connection of Him. Independent of our physical senses and physical calculative mind, transcending all the stage of knowledge which is collected from the sense experience, beyond that there is something, and that is to be tested only by śāstra-cakṣuḥ, veda-cakṣuḥ, sādhu-cakṣuḥ, only by the opinion of the sādhu and by the advice which is mentioned in the śāstra.

It is said that, paśu pasyati gandhena [?] Generally the animals they see things by their nose, scent. Veda pasyanti paṇḍita [?] The paṇḍita, the scholars, they see things not through their eye experience, but by the advice of the Veda. They should try to see things what is mentioned in the Veda, in the scriptures.

And, raja pasyanti garna bhang [?] And the King the King sees through the eye, that is through the spies. Raja sees the country only through his ear; that is through the spy.

Cakṣuḥ varma [?] Ordinary people they see things with their fleshy eye. But, vede pasyanti paṇḍita, paṇḍita sees not by his eye, but śāstra-cakṣuḥ.

Srute kita vasa [?] The śruti, the Veda, the truth coming from a pure channel enters the ear and it will guide the eye to see, how to see. That is the way to see things divine. So the ordinary eye experience, or mind experience, won't be able to make me judge right and wrong what is with the sādhu and Guru. So very carefully we shall: so when we shall accept Guru our guidance will be of that nature, and so that it may not be disconnected in any way, in any time. It will be very much deplorable if things happen like that. So we'll be very careful in our selection of Guru. That is the most valuable judgement, and most serious and valuable judgement in our life to select our master of eternal life, master of my divine prospect. It is not possible to know about him wholly from this plane. Still, as much as possible, with the help of the sādhu, and with the help of the scriptures, we shall come to select. And when we have surrendered, not so easily we shall withdraw from there. But that does not mean that the blind faith should be encouraged, blind shade. Our spiritual consciousness with the spiritual purity and hankering that I must be wakeful that I'm under his guidance, I'm doing.

bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo viraktir, anyatra [caiṣa trika eka-kālah
prapadyamānasya yathāśnataḥ syus, tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo
'nughāsam]

[“As with every mouthful an eater feels the threefold effects of his satisfaction, his stomach being filled, and his hunger being dispelled, in the same way when a surrendered soul serves the Lord he realises devotion of three natures simultaneously: devotion in love, the personal appearance of the Lord who is the abode of love, and detachment from all other things.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.42]

These things when we are hungry, we are weak, hungry, we have some tendency earnestness for eating, weak and dissatisfied. By our bhajan, after surrender the transaction that will go on, that will give me these three things. Bhakti, my tendency to serve, tendency for divine service will increase with accelerated motion: with acceleration. Pareśānubhavo. I must have some conception of what is reality. What is reality, proper? Some sort, what is Brahman, what is Paramātmā, what is Nārāyaṇa, what is Kṛṣṇa, what is sat, what is cit, what is ānandam – all these principles we shall have some sort of conception and that I'm advancing, we must feel. Pareśānubhavo anyatra viraktir. And my indifference, or my, for other things than what is holy, that will increase. That is my withdrawal from mundane world, what is opposite to affection, to love, my hatred for non God and non holy things; that will also increase. So these things, just as when we take food our hankering for eating also decreases, and when hungry I'm weak, the weakness also removed by every morsel. And tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo, the hunger removed, tuṣṭiḥ, satisfaction, and kṣudapāyo, and the tendency to eat, these three things by every morsel we experience. So also we shall experience in our heart our progress towards the realisation of the holy object.

So – and fourth, that is to imagine various types of meanings in the Name of the Lord, from dictionary and other places. Hari means to snatch away. Hari means lion. Hari means serpent. Hari means lotus. So many meanings the Hari word has got. So we must not indulge us to analyse and think of different meanings of that word. Hari means who can attract everything of us.

[prabhu kahe,] -- “kṛṣṇa-nāmera bahu artha nā māni “śyāma-sundara’ ‘yaśodā-nandana,’ – [ei-mātra jāni]

[Lord Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu replied, “I do not accept many different meanings for the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa. I know only that Lord Kṛṣṇa is Śyāmasundara and Yaśodānandana. That's all I know.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 7.85]

Kṛṣṇa who can draw and who can give some pleasure: many things we may have to find there, but no, the central thing. All the meanings must be carried to the central force, or degree, to the centre, to the prime cause.

So - and the fifth, the fourth is to think that Kṛṣṇa is of course Nārāyaṇa, They're Supreme God, but there are other gods also, the Kali, the Śiva, the Indra, the Surya the Sun, there are others. To think that they're equal to Kṛṣṇa, any demigod is equal to Him, to indulge in thinking this way that is also aparādha. Then the sixth, to think, "Yes, Kṛṣṇa Nāma, to take the Name, that is a good thing no doubt, but there are other names also. To make donations, the penances, then so many other things, sacrifice for the country, for others, all these things. They're also not to be blamed. They're all equal." If we think like that then also we commit offences to the Absolute realisation.

Then, to give Name, to distribute Name to anyone and everyone, without being inspired, to begin the action like a trade: the Goswāmīns, the Yati Goswāmīns, they are doing. By their generation, the son of a Guru is Guru, whether he may be qualified or not, he's Guru. So without being in a proper position of distributing the Name, if you once take up that position of a Guru then he'll be, he will fall. That will commence aparādha. Taking the Name, he did not find any inspiration within to give it to others, but for his fame and name he wants, he takes up the position of a Guru and begins to make disciples. That is also offence to the Name.

And there is another: too much, namno balad papa-buddhir. The Holy Name can remove all sorts of impurities, sins, offences, so let me go on with committing so many sins, and so many crimes, and I shall take Name and everything will be purified. If with this spirit we take the Name, that the Name is to serve, to clean my sins and impurity in me, with this spirit if we approach to take the Name it will not be real service of the Name but it will be offences.

Then another, if I make too much of my material achievement, then as if the anchor is there and the boat is rowing it will go round the anchor the boat will move. So when we have a particular attachment to a particular mundane matter and I'm taking Name, then I shall wander about that anchor, that thing of my highest attachment. So the anchor should be taken in and boat should be allowed to go to the destination where the Guru will take me. There will be much change, transformation in the mind by taking the Name, and the soul will be taken to another direction and we must be a party to that. We must not be reluctant and to try to stay fixed in ones present position with much attachment. That attachment should be severed and we should allow ourselves the transformation. We must make cooperation with the necessary transformation of our mental system, with progress.

And another, we must not think that we're going to a foreign land, but that is my home, sweet, sweet home. He's my best friend. With this consciousness that the Lord whose Name I'm taking He's my best friend. I'm going to my highest friend, the centre of the highest love and attraction for me. I'm going home, not to a foreign land. So these things should be observed and we must be careful about all these things.

And the nāmābhāsa of four kinds: sāṅketyaṁ, parihāsyā, stobha, helanam, nāmābhāsa. Not the pure Name, nor for any attraction for this mundane, but only liberation. We want only freedom. We're afraid of serving life. The serving, that is also to give my own interest to others. I shall live only for him. I shall not have any separate interest of my own. All these things may not disturb. That is healthy, that is holy, and that is my inner life giving sweetness, or ecstasy. In this way, my own of my own, in this way we shall try, so the confidence should be created. So with the object of serving Vaiṣṇava and Viṣṇu, Kṛṣṇa and His paraphernalia, with this object we shall take the Holy Name. So the exploitation as well as renunciation: nāmābhāsa, due to affinity towards renunciation, the result of renunciation. So bhoga, tyāga, we must eliminate and we shall try to have in our object the service of the Lord and His devotees. With this aim in us we shall go on taking the Name.

So it is late, now I dissolve. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Rāma. Śrī

Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Prabhu Nityānanda Śrī Advaita Gadādhara Śrīvāsa Ādi Gaura Bhakta Vṛnda.

...

Where is Vidagdha Prabhu, Calcutta or Māyāpur?

Devotee: Calcutta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Calcutta. Vanu asked questions?

Devotee: Yes. He's asking about Om̐, the Om̐kāra, he's saying it's a representation Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā and the jīva. So if you chant Om̐ then can you achieve Kṛṣṇa prema? Or what platform does one reach by chanting Om̐?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may be that I want to hear something more, then I can take up that question. But the answer of Om̐kāra in the primary stage it is meant Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Maheśvara, a-u-ma, a, u, and ma. Ma-kara, Mahādeva: u-kara, Viṣṇu palan [?]: and a-kara, sisti [?] Brahmā, a-u-ma. A Viṣṇu, u Brahmā, sattya, raja, tama, akṣaram asmy, [Bhagavad-gītā, 10.25], sattya, raja, tama, from this side. And the highest conception of that, three tattva, it may come to jñāna, bala, krīya, ca. Jñāna means Vāsudeva, Baladeva, and krīya śakti, represented by Rādhārāṇī, three tattva. And Baladeva here is thought to be the source of jīva, Baladeva, the source of general jīva in different rasa is Baladeva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, source of all different ahaṅkāra representation. The most primitive representation of the jīva is Baladeva, and Vāsudeva leading to Kṛṣṇa conception, and Rādhārāṇī the source of the highest quality ecstasy. And She's the source of all servitors in Her group of mādihurya-rasa. Mādihurya-rasa concerns that is included in Rādhārāṇī's group, Her aṅga-jyoti. They're considered within constructing the atom in the halo of Her divine body, figure, Her existence. And jīva in general their source is represented by Baladeva, jñāna, bala, kṛīya, ca. A-u-ma, that is reflected here in this, Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Maheśvara, sattya, raja, tama, Brahmā raja, Viṣṇu sattya, and tama Mahādeva. In a nutshell this much can be said. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The Vanu is a beginner and he's discussing or thinking of all these matters. He should rather be particular in the lower steps, strata. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: He's asking if the same result can be achieved through chanting Om̐ as through chanting...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: If we chant Hare Kṛṣṇa and chant Om̐, can we get the same result, he's asking?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That depends upon the realised stage of the person. Dāsa Goswāmī says that, "The ordinary talk in this Vṛndāvana is higher than so many Vedic sādhana in other places." That depends upon the angle of vision. Mahāprabhu, He's chanting an ordinary śloka and finding there the meaning of the highest type corresponding.

yaḥ kaumāra-haraḥ [sa eva hi varas tā eva caitra-kṣapās te conmīlita-mālatī-surabhayaḥ prauḍhāḥ kadambānilāḥ sā caivāsmi tathāpi tatra surata-vyāpāra-līlā-vidhau revā-rodhasi vetasī-taru-tale cetaḥ samutkaṇṭhate]

[“That very Personality Who stole My heart during My youth is now again
My Master. These are the same moonlit nights of the month of Caitra.
The same fragrance of mālatī flowers is there, and the same sweet breezes are blowing from the kadamba forest. In Our intimate relationship, I am also the same lover, yet My mind is not happy here. I am eager to go back to that place on the bank of the Revā under the Vetasī tree. That is My desire.”] [Kāvya-prakāśa] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 1.78]

An ordinary śloka, in the worldly sense it is a nasty one, but in His vision it is showing, when I see, suppose in a glass looking down but we may trace the luminary bodies on the sky. We’re looking down in a glass but we see the reflection of the highest place, in that way. So Mahāprabhu and devotees of that layer, wherever they’re casting their glance cannot see but that. According to ones stage he’s directed to see things around.
What was his question?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: If we chant Kṛṣṇa Nāma and Omkāra...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah! So Nāma, one who commits nāmāparādha that is something, and a paramahansa he may call any other thing, but that is giving him encouragement there, the uddīpana, the excitement:
showing according to their stages. Just as your instance, Om, a-u-ma, generally it is known Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Maheśvara, but everything can be traced in its highest point to Kṛṣṇa līlā, everything.

Mahāprabhu when He began, after coming from Gaya, to teach grammar; and in every point He's taking Kṛṣṇa.

The students were astounded. "What's this?"

He's teaching grammar, vyākaraṇa, and there is the verb, the adjective, the noun, all these things, but He's explaining them connecting with Kṛṣṇa, everywhere.

The students were perplexed. Then they went to the former teacher of Mahāprabhu, Gaṅgādāsa Paṇḍita. "We are students of Nimāi Paṇḍita and He used to teach us in such a way that we can't get that sort of life elsewhere. But now after coming from Gaya He's not teaching properly. Everywhere He's trying to trace the existence and the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa līlā. So for which we have come to be taught by Him, our objects are not being fulfilled. You please ask Him to teach us in a proper way, in a normal way."

"Yes. You ask Him to come to me. I shall instruct Him to do so."

They informed Mahāprabhu, Nimāi Paṇḍita, that, "Gaṅgādāsa Paṇḍita has asked You to see him, Your former teacher."

"Yes, I shall see him." He went to see him, to pay His respect to His former teacher Gaṅgādāsa Paṇḍita.

"Oh, You went to Gaya, You have done Your duty as a son to Your parents. You are fortunate enough in all these things I'm talking. Your students came to me that after returning from Gaya You are not teaching them properly. Please do that. I request You. Of course You have got devotion. It is a very fortunate thing. But that does not matter that You will leave the proper instruction of the grammar and other books," he cried.

Then Mahāprabhu told: "By the grace of your feet dust, what I teach I don't think that anyone can come and to challenge that. I shall go, and I shall begin to teach, and I invite all the scholars, let them come and challenge My explanations if they have got some..."

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Every word, in the meaning of its fullest extent comes to Kṛṣṇa. Everything has its connection with the Absolute Centre.

Madhvācārya has mentioned this: Jahat sata aja sata mukta pragraha vrti [?] Ugra [?] means lagan [?] the rein. If the rein is taken off from the mouth of the horse it gets its fullest speed. So every meaning of every word if it is allowed to take its fullest speed it shows that it has got, it runs to Kṛṣṇa the Absolute Centre, anyhow, everything. As in taking the word Indra: Indra means aiśvarya, the majesty. Madhvācārya says that, “To an ordinary person if you call Indra, he will say, ‘Oh, Indra is my neighbour.’ He’ll think that name is meaning ‘man.’ Then some will think Indra is the King of the Heaven, ‘He’s Indra.’ Indra means ‘who has got aiśvarya, power, or majesty.’ And in the absolute sense the source of all majesty is only Kṛṣṇa. It is the outcome from everything emanating from Him. So every word has got its meaning, everything, has got its furthest connection of origin in the Absolute Cause. So, but there is adjustment, there are stages, according to the realisation of the estimator, the seer, the conceiver, the meaning will come to him to such extent, such quality, such magnitude. So, the point of adjustment, and according to that sometimes no further: that is also divine limitation.

[prabhu kahe,] -- “kṛṣṇa-nāmera bahu artha nā māni “śyāma-sundara’ ‘yaśodā-nandana,’ – ei-mātra jāni

[Lord Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu replied, “I do not accept many different meanings for the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa. I know only that Lord Kṛṣṇa is Śyāmasundara and Yaśodānandana. That’s all I know.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 7.85]

Kṛṣṇa: who can attract He's Kṛṣṇa, and give some pleasure, from the lowest stage to the highest. But the higher realised soul won't care for these little Kṛṣṇas. Kṛṣṇa is He, Kṛṣṇa is my Lord.

The āsuras say, "Oh, Kṛṣṇa is a great general." Some say, "He's a most cunning fellow." The friends, "No, He's equal to one of us."

When Kṛṣṇa lifted up the Govardhana the sakhās told, "You did not, You could not carry it singly, we also helped You so it was possible for You."

This jñāna-sunya-bhakti, they also fix the Absolute in a particular position. But that is holding highest position, of a type.

Yaśodā, "He's my son, no, He can't be Infinite, He can't be Absolute, He's my son, my child: I shall look after His welfare otherwise He'll be spoiled." She's taking the feet dust of a sādhu and putting on the head of her son.

So this is also jñāna-sunya-bhakti, very beautiful, very tasteful. And only through the knowledge if we go in every step with the measuring standard: "How much He's big, how..."

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In my Premadhāma-stotra I have also written something. The highest conception of Absolute cannot but be the highest form of ānandam, rasam, rasa. And that is conscious rasa. And Mahāprabhu's dancing, that indicates that is full of rasa, and kīrtana that is distribution of that rasa. His dancing means He has got the acme of rasa, or feeling, and His kīrtana means He's eager to distribute that to others. So, scientifically if we come to search who is Mahāprabhu, we cannot but find that He's the Ultimate Reality. He's mad in feeling His own internal nectar, and dancing is the outcome, result of that. And He's chanting, that is, He's distributing that to others. And that should be the real character of the Absolute rasa. Progressive giving, dynamic rasa, not static rasa, dynamic rasa, must try to extend itself to the outside, to extend Himself outside. And rasa, He Himself, His position is almost mad in drinking His own inner nectar, sokam, martya, nrtya and kīrtana. So, following quite closely and surely follow the character of Mahāprabhu, we cannot but think that He is the Absolute representation. By following this thread, if we approach towards Him? Yes.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

If infinite cannot make Himself known to finite, He's no infinite. The basis of all this: Infinite can make Himself known to the finite, and that is the basis of all our knowledge, and achievement, everything. It is all His sweet will. It is His sweet will, His nature, natural sweet will that we can talk, we can move, we can aspire about Him. Otherwise, we cannot have any connection with Him. His good will is at the back. To have His connection in any way, however meagre it may be, His cooperation, His good will, at the bottom, at the foundation, otherwise it is impossible. If that is withdrawn, we are atheists. Our nature will be that of an atheist, of the pure type. Just like Māyāvādī, that innocent atheist.

But Yāmunācārya says, tesam ajnana eva aparādha na tu isa ta dosa [?] “Their ignorance is their offence. Let them live without any hindrance in their life. May they live long. And they are not to be blamed. But their ignorance is to be blamed.” Yāmunācārya. “Let them live happily, but they are not to be blamed, I am not going to blame them, but their ignorance is the root of all their misfortune. Not that they are to be blamed.” With this gesture, Yāmunācārya has discarded them generously, tesam ajanam eva aparadhyate na tu isata dosa [?] “Let them live so long, I can’t put blame on them. That, what is to be blamed that is their ignorance.” A piteous remark: a pitiful remark.

Parvat Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you are giving so much mercy to us, and we feel so much attraction to you, just like to our Guru Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. We may come from the same plane, similar plane, but he has got more power, magnitude. With his power he has inundated the whole of the world. And I am a tiny soul, sitting in a corner of the place, and praying for some, “water, water” to quench my thirst. But he has inundated the world with water, the sweet water. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Parvat Mahārāja: You're helping us along the same path.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. But our source is one and the same. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Where is it found that he proposed to make me President of ISKCON?

Aranya Mahārāja: In the third volume of the Līlāmṛta.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Our Satsvarūpa Mahārāja has written that in the biography of our Gurudeva.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From Acyutānanda?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, from Acyutānanda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now I can remember when he gave that proposal. I remember. I forgot.

Parvat Mahārāja: What is written?

Aranya Mahārāja: It is written that Śrīla Prabhupāda asked Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja to become President of ISKCON Society, in nineteen seventy three I think.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And as my nature is to come backwards I refused, always to come backwards. And so Prabhupāda remarked, "You are ease-lover," he remarked on me, "You are ease-lover." I am ease-lover person, ease-loving person. I am afraid of assertion, asserting myself. Not an asserting agent or medium. To collect more, that is my nature. Hearing is very appreciable by all, our God-brothers appreciated much for my acute listening, acute and accurate listening.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Aranya Mahārāja: Maybe it is meant by that statement that, “With ease, everyone can love you.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is their goodness. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Or easily you have taken love of Kṛṣṇa, ease-lover, so easily you have got love.

Parvat Mahārāja: And easily you’re giving.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And very recently I am approaching towards that, I think I am approaching. I have more attraction for Mahāprabhu and Rādhārāṇī, and Rāmacandra. I am fond of generosity, self-giving. But Kṛṣṇa seems to me absorbing energy. But I am fond of giving, distributing away, ātma-nivedanam, self-sacrifice attracts me most. So when I think about Rādhārāṇī I lose my existence. I think of Mahāprabhu and my connection to Kṛṣṇa has been given by Mahāprabhu only. Because Mahāprabhu recommends Kṛṣṇa, I have come to Kṛṣṇa. I have got some independent attraction towards Kṛṣṇa through Gītā. But Vṛndāvana Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu has given me, and Rādhārāṇī. I am more attracted by Their personality, than that of Kṛṣṇa. That is my inner nature, I say to you, that is my nature. I am more impressed by sacrifice, magnanimity, ātma-nivedanam, self-giving.

But recently, very recently, I have got some special attraction towards Kṛṣṇa, because, without that, I can't enter into the camp of Rādhārāṇī. We must have His mercy first, then we can enter that camp, otherwise it is impossible. So, the necessity of that sort of feeling is drawing me towards Kṛṣṇa, in a natural, and wide, and comprehensive way, the kiśora Kṛṣṇa of Vṛndāvana. And a general charm, not extraordinary, always present, but the inner drawing wave; that is in such stage. More attracted, captured by self-giving. Where there is self-giving, that attracts me most, than taking.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

What do you say? So, here we may stop today. What's the time?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Five to ten.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Five to ten, almost ten o'clock. Going to high degree of confession, nothing, it is nothing, it is depending on Him, so we have got nothing. The wholesale dependence, the acquisition by dependence: another way of capturing. No formal right, but a new way of conquering things, new way of capturing, not ordinary way of capturing which is known to the world, new way of capturing. No external right could be established, but always without possession to get the facility of the wholesale possession. That is potency, that is negative, negative, but negative has got also its demand, its existence to keep out, to keep out, to maintain, to make its assertion for the positive, in that way, not assertive, but drawing nature. Predominated and Predominating Moiety, in our Prabhupāda's expression: Predominating Moiety and Predominated Moiety, Two halves. To Kṛṣṇa, the Predominated Moiety is indispensable. We, belonging to Predominated Moiety, our necessity is for the Predominating. But, for the Predominating Moiety, the Predominated Moiety is absolutely necessary. It has been dealt with in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, perhaps in the first part, fourth chapter. And for which Kṛṣṇa has to come as Śrī Caitanya Deva, Mahāprabhu, to appreciate the position of the Predominated Moiety. The comparison has been drawn. How much necessity of the Predominating Moiety towards the Predominated? And what is the corresponding feeling of the Predominated Moiety towards the Predominating? That is dealt there, weighed almost, to a certain extent. And Kavirāja Goswāmī says that the side of Rādhārāṇī is hanging down more and Kṛṣṇa going that way. What is that?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Scales.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Because the ecstasy which we find in Kṛṣṇa when He has got the association of Rādhārāṇī, the intensity of ecstasy, and Rādhārāṇī when She's getting the closer association of Kṛṣṇa and Her intensive ecstasy has being weighed down. And he proved that Rādhārāṇī when She feels Kṛṣṇa's union, Her ecstasy is much more than that of Kṛṣṇa, so She's the gainer. She's the gainer, though She's completely dependent on Kṛṣṇa, without Kṛṣṇa, She cannot think of anything, but Kṛṣṇa can think anything and everything without Her, externally. But here, neither externally nor internally, to maintain Her life is possible without Kṛṣṇa. But Kṛṣṇa, Rādhārāṇī only in the case of mana, that is a necessary stage of love, only can dismiss Kṛṣṇa, but Kṛṣṇa finally dismissed Her. Not within, but without, and joined the Dvārakā campaign, and so many others. So sacrifice, self-giving, self-offering is much more here than that side. So the gain is also weighed and shown that this Rādhārāṇī's side has got greater weight.

Gaura Haribol. High talks, mad talks: so, high talks mean mad talks.
Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: There's one, suchanda-vacanaṁ, devaṁ divya-tanuṁ suchanda- vacanaṁ. [From a prayer to Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, composed by Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja] Describing you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura. Nitāi Gaura. Nitāi. Pralap vakra [?] Mahāprabhu says that is pralap vakra, anadhikāra, where we have got no right we are talking. No right, no right, we are talking, these are all useless talking. Gaura Haribol. Pralarp, a madman's delirium, it is a sort of delirium to us, madman's delirium.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

So, we stop here today. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Jaya om viṣṇu-pāda...

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...in his own address, in Caitanya Candrodaya Maṭha he told, "Yes, I look after Govinda Mahārāja as my affectionate child." Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Your Divine Grace, I'd like to offer this to you. Yesterday I got so much inspiration from your lecture that I wanted to write a little something, so I put some of my thoughts down there for you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is this?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He wrote, Kṛṣṇa Smṛti Sudar Prabhu has written a prayer to you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is therein?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He can read to you?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He can read.

Kṛṣṇa Smṛti Sudar dāsa: The six opulences of our spiritual master. As we have aspired for wealth, of house, family, and position, we discovered through our spiritual master the supreme wealth, the Holy Name. Sometimes we try to renounce this world and then become like stone. After some time we find a diamond, the supreme renouncer, who is our spiritual master. We are always looking at different ways to become famous, but the supreme fame is to serve the dust of the lotus feet of our spiritual master. We all have enthusiasm to desire knowledge, but the supreme knowledge is bhakta sevā given by our spiritual master. At times we are so much involved with our physical strength, our own health, that we forget the supreme strength of our spiritual master's glance. How much beauty can the living entity have without the supreme beauty of the spiritual master's love? Your worthless servant, Kṛṣṇa Smṛti Sudar dāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You please read it again. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

...

Of course, really we can see the Supreme Entity on the head of our Guru Mahārāja. That has been said by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. A hundred times bright we see the object of our Supreme love just over the head of our Guru Mahārāja. That is the key to have a real sight of the Supreme Entity.

But the conception of Guru is dynamic. It is not static. As far as we shall go, approach nearer to some, new things will appear to us. Some will come in newer and newer colour, but it is the same, so the position of the Guru is also like that. Not that he's changing his colour or his view. But that my ignorance is being removed more and more, and a clear sight I am having of him: a dynamic, not static. This we shall try to understand, the position of Guru, God, everything. As much as the cover will be removed, the vision will be deeper and deeper, clearer and clearer. Deeper and deeper we shall have ever new aspect in our conception about the whole, not only of Guru, Guru, Lord, everything.

A dynamic we shall always try to remember this that he's dynamic in his characteristic and of variegated nature at the same time. I am seeing him in one way, another is seeing him in another colour, it is possible, according to His will. He's to command, control. So the whole experience coming from the subjective, controlled by the subjective world, and not by the objective world. The super-subject is controlling the subject, to have experience of the environment, and not that the environment is exciting the senses, and through that it is trying to establish itself in the subjective realm. We don't admit that sort of Darwin theory, 'the object is all in all, he's the master hand,' no. The subject is all in all, and in a negligible part of this subjective whole, the objective conception is floating. Just as a piece of ice is floating in the ocean, so the objective world of experience is floating in a negligible part of the world. Just as prison house in a particular negligible place of the whole normal country. The country is normal we may think, then the prison house located in a particular place, and not very desirable: desirability only to educate the criminals. That is the optimistic or positive side. And negative, the undesirable punishment. Undesirable punishment of the criminals: that is the negative side, and the positive to remove their offences and to purify them. That is the positive, and that is located in a particular place and not to be comparable with the normal lives, and positions, freedom, all these comforts of the ordinary people who are not in the prison. So the conception of this māyāic world is negligible, perverted reflection, chāyeva durgā [Brahma-saṁhitā, 44] Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: The normal condition of the living entity is that with the Supreme, our eternal relationship. There are different philosophies coming in America, different swāmīs are preaching ultimately different conclusions. One conclusion is that the highest relationship we've ever got, that the living entity has gotten to is the brahmajyoti, Brahman realisation. And the other philosophy is that ultimately we have a - the highest form is conjugal love. So if the living entity has fallen from the spiritual world, what was our position originally? I don't know if that's clear or not.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Ah! Is your question, 'how did we fall here?'

Devotee: If one time we were in the spiritual world full of bliss and knowledge and happiness...

...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Old question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We are not to think that we were in the spiritual world. We are to think that we were in the taṭasthā loka, in the marginal position.

[jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa'] kṛṣṇera 'taṭasthā-śakti' bhedābheda-prakāśa' [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108]

The marginal potency, who has come out of the marginal potency, not the dedicating internal potency of Kṛṣṇa, nor the external potency of self seeking tendency, separate consciousness, consciousness of separate interest. That is the world, when the separate interest consciousness is prevailing, that is this world. And the Kṛṣṇa interest consciousness prevailing, that is the svarūpa śakti internal world. And the margin between the two is taṭasthā, that is the marginal potency, a peculiar position, inconceivable peculiar position, the margin between the two. The meeting place of two opposite forces, one in-carrying to the centre, and one out-carrying from the centre, and the margin, Virajā. And that is also conceived in two different ways, nearing this side is Virajā, and nearing the upper side is Brahmaloka. Generally jīva comes from Brahmaloka. And he comes to this side and some going that side, in this way the beginning we are to conceive.

But we have got adopt-ability within us for either of the worlds, the adopt-ability. That is not clear, vague, in germinal form, undetectable. And that by the influence of the environment it takes its way to this side, that side, in this way: and that depends on something that is also inconceivably a peculiar thing, free will. That is responsible, neither the God nor the māyā. The ultimate responsibility however subtle and small it may be in quantity and quality, still it is free will. The responsibility is with free will, however meagre, helpless, and vulnerable it may be. It has been traced finally that because he's conscious unit, consciousness devoid of freedom it cannot be. It is unthinkable, inconceivable and un-exist-able.

Consciousness means free, and devoid of consciousness means matter. So because jīva is a unit of consciousness it is free, but it is very small, and the freedom is also very, very weak. Anyhow the first action began with his consent, that free will, and then the environment came. Just as in the case of a buffer state, inclination, cooperation, some sort of meagre consent, passive consent also, then the power from the next place comes to help him, and captures him. Just as Russia came to capture Afghanistan, with little consciousness, something, some consent, and taking advantage of that consent he entered and captured, in this way. The buffer state is in danger in this way.

So marginal potency we are to see. No blame to be put on the shoulder of Kṛṣṇa, neither māyā. But you are responsible for your own. You are weak, your thinking, your capacity, your everything is weak, but only with the help of the friendly big you can become big. And that is also always dependent big.

And that is the development in the negative side. As much dedication: you have nothing in calculation, but you are becoming master, that is the most inconceivable and wonderful magnanimity of what is called bhakti or love. Even the Absolute can be controlled by His negative potency. The potency in the eye of law has no position, but only position by the dint of the positive. Ostentatiously power is in the hand of the positive, but negative has got its own power to attract the positive in the law of relativity. Positive cannot stand without the negative, so He's also dependent on the negative. Aggressing and aggressed, predominating and predominated. Guru is on the side of predominated.

In continuance to yesterday's lecture I should say something more about Gurudeva.

Once, when I came in the beginning I found that Professor Nisikanta Sanyal he has written an address during the Vyāsa pūjā day, the day of advent of our Guru Mahārāja, in English.

And he mentioned there, "Because I do not know Kṛṣṇa, because you say that I have got some relation with Kṛṣṇa, so I go to seek my relationship with Kṛṣṇa, otherwise not."

I could not understand this, in the beginning.

"I know you. You say that my duty is to serve Kṛṣṇa, so I consider it is my duty to serve Kṛṣṇa, otherwise not."

I failed to understand this meaning of this passage in the beginning. Then after some years when in Rādhā-kuṇḍa our Guru Mahārāja he lived for a month and took some of his, several disciples there, in the month of Kārtika, urja-vrata.

Then one day, Paramānanda Prabhu was his pet disciple, and he came at the age of thirteen, perhaps he was the first or second disciple of him, child. He suddenly came from his morning walk, and put questions, told Prabhupāda that “dowei, that is the dewan, Chief Minister of Bharatpur State, he’s circumambulating Rādhā-kuṇḍa, and his wife and others, some other men and women, by lying and measuring, lie down and then mark, and again here lie down, then mark, in this way: the whole of Rādhā- kuṇḍa.”

Then Paramānanda Prabhu came and told Prabhupāda, “They also have great respect for Rādhārāṇī.” Then Prabhupāda came out with his remark. “Yes, they have got real respect for Kṛṣṇa, and because Rādhārāṇī is favourite to Kṛṣṇa so they have got some concern with Rādhārāṇī. But ours is the opposite. This is to be remarked. We want Rādhārāṇī as our own, and because Rādhārāṇī wants Kṛṣṇa, so we have got our duty towards Kṛṣṇa. This is to be followed. Our main concern is with Rādhārāṇī and because She wants Kṛṣṇa, so we have got also some necessity in Kṛṣṇa.”

Then more clearly, there are so many jīva that comes out of the personal halo of particular great types of service. And Rādhārāṇī’s service is considered to be the most comprehensive, and in quality of the highest. So those that have got their resemblance, or some remote connection with Her lustre, units in the lustre of Her spiritual body, they know their immediate Mistress is Rādhārāṇī, direct contact with Her. And whatever Rādhārāṇī does they follow. Inseparably connected with Her. That is a particular group. So also so many souls, unit of souls around: within the halo of Baladeva, and different main servitors, moiety.

So Prabhupāda told, “We are really śakta, we are worshipper of śakti, potency, but not vidha-śakta but śuddha-śakta. We are, our, we’re also more concerned with the original potential half, potential half, in different aspects.”

And also we find: balav puspa pata [?] She’s named, as just in a lata, in a creeper, so many branches, so many leaves, so many flowers, all these things, and so the whole is a creeper, so in the śakti of different types also. The main is someone, and other constituent parts, ornamental parts there, in this way. They never want Kṛṣṇa in direct connection; that is their innate nature, want direct connection. But Rādhārāṇī sometimes, She in any plea, under some plea, She allows some private contact of them with Kṛṣṇa. That is Her...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...we lose our taste, our taste is lost there when we go to measure things with a rod, with a standard in our heart, so jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]. Locate yourself in a sort of infinite limitation. Infinite limitation is jñāna-sunya-bhakti, crossing the stage where we hanker after the infinite characteristic of the Supreme. That is not very tasteful. This is the statement of the devotees and Mahāprabhu, to go to measure the huge, the aiśvarya, the majesty, the magnanimity. All these things are great attributes they may be, they are, but that won't serve our purpose to its highest interest.

We tiny fellow, we should be adjusted in such a position that with the seeming finite environment, apparent finite environment, and the infinite characteristic must be left below. That we find in jñāna-sunya-bhakti, in Bhāgavatam. That is most suiting and most beneficial to us, we find as grace, we can thrive there most. That is the conclusion. Don't go to tackle the infinite characteristic of the Absolute. There you'll lose. The attempt of measurement, you'll be lost there. You can't get anything in return as any benefit. So jñāna-sunya-bhakti. Tackle the plane of affection and love. There you'll be more – you'll be gainer, more gainer there. That is the be all and end all of the teachings of Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu, jñāna-sunya-bhakti.

But sometimes it is necessary for the preacher to prove, show to the public what status the jñāna-sunya- bhakti has got in its ontological comparison in discussion. But ultimately we accept that only to bury it underground and there to put up a plant of Tulasī. Jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva. But that is indirect aspect of our attainment, not direct. Without taking to the knowing or understanding element within us, eliminating from the beginning, we can achieve the highest point.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has said that kaniṣṭha adhikārī if fortunately he comes in contact with uttama adhikārī, the madhyama adhikārī that is the ocean of science, knowledge, he can easily, unconsciously he can cross over and go to jñāna-sunya-bhakti, prema-bhakti. Jñāne parisamāpyate, karmākhilam, jñāne parisamāpyate.

[śreyān dravyamayād yajñāḥ, jñāna-yajñāḥ parantapa sarvaṁ karmākhilam pārtha, jñāne parisamāpyate]

["O Arjuna, subduer of the enemy, of those various sacrifices, the sacrifice of knowledge as mentioned, brahmāgnāḥ apare [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.25] is far superior to the sacrifice of various articles, indicated by brahmārpaṇaṁ brahma haviḥ [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.24], because all action ultimately culminates in knowledge.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.33]

And jñāna takes us to prema and disappears. But the kaniṣṭha adhikārī if he comes in connection from the beginning, fortunately, with an uttama adhikārī, then unconsciously he can cross over the ocean of knowledge and he may have got his settlement in the devotional space, stage. And the madhyama adhikāra, this jñāna bhakti, that is a little dangerous. Sometimes we may be lost while in the midst of calculation. There is possibility if we have no bona fide connection with the higher devotional school. That is dangerous, ‘that we are subject and everything is object of my calculation, of my measurement.’ That attitude is dangerous, ‘that there cannot be super-subject.’ I must be conscious always that the higher realm that has got subjective character and not objective. If we can have that sort of consciousness then there is possibility of commitment of error very small.

Just like the Māyāvādī, they consider Brahman but they cannot consider Para-Brahman. ‘Brahmāsmi, brahma-bhūta, the status of jīva is that of Brahman.’ But then the Para-Brahman aspect is there, the Puruṣottama aspect is there, Vāsudeva aspect.

bahūnāṁ janmanāṁ ante, jñānavān māṁ prapadyate vāsudevaḥ sarvaṁ
iti, sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ

Such a jñānī is very rarely to be found who can, vāsudevaḥ sarvam, who can see Para-Brahman, Puruṣottama. So jñāna is very dangerous, jñāna, this knowing, 'I shall know everything. I am subject and everything will be my object. What cannot be within the jurisdiction of my objective sensation, experience, I won't admit that. I won't admit that to be existent at all.' There we eliminate the adhokṣaja realm. The Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya, all the Ācārya are eliminated there, 'that I am the subject, and everything must be the object of my knowledge. Then I shall stand guarantee for their existence, otherwise not.' That is a dangerous way of thinking and the Māyāvādīns they vanish here.

And those that can really accept the existence of Super-subjective realm, 'I'm subject and these things are object: then there's super existence to which I'm object, and He's subject.' In this way it is gone to the infinite. And only by sevāya we can pass those places, pierce through that land. By walking I cannot go over the sea, and by walking I cannot go to the moon, in this way. So only by the acceptance of our serving nature we can go through, we can walk through the ways of the higher region. That is to be reckoned. That is all-important factor that is the basis of the real devotion, that there are domains which is made of higher things than we are made of.

vaikuṇṭhara pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya, [māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya]

["The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53]

The earth, the water, the air, everything is consciousness, and of higher quality than we, our subjective existence are of. This idea we must try to foster, understand and follow. Then we can have some sort of conception that which side the God lives, where the God lives, what is the domain of the God. And it is not imagination, or speculation, or hallucination. That is concrete. We can have that sort of faith within us, higher subjective, higher, higher subjective characteristic of things. Just in the lower also objective, this mud, then the dry earth, then the stone, then the iron, in this way developing in grossness. The water, then the grossness is also increasing, so subtly also increasing in the subjective character there. This we are to realise primarily, then our religious life will be genuine. Otherwise imagination, we can't depend on that. Now our speculation, emotion, I'm thinking that I have achieved anything and everything like Nadiyānanda and his brothers. And then I shall find I'm nowhere. This is not imagination, this is reality, and what sort of reality, that we are to understand very firmly. That will be the basis of our religious life, that sort of conception will be basis. And then we'll be able to know about our progress, whether it is genuine or it is concoction. Imagination of a thing is not is not that thing. And it will come inevitably.

This Bābājī Mahārāja told, Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja he was living in a hut on the banks of the Ganges. Another gentleman he also taking such robe of a bābājī constructed another hut nearby. And he began to imitate Bābājī Mahārāja, physically, his dress, his taking food, and any other process also he began to imitate. Then someone came and placed this to Bābājī Mahārāja, perhaps one of his, one who had some respect for him.

Then Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja remarked, "Only if a lady enters into a labour room and imitates the sounds of another lady who is producing, giving birth to a child – generally when ladies they give birth to a child they feel some sort of pain and some sort of sound also perhaps they may produce or something like that. But the lady who has got no child in the womb and if she enters into the room of labour and imitates that sound no child will come out."

So only physical imitation of a sādhu that won't do, that won't do.

Śuddha-sattva, the sattva-guṇa, sattva, raja, tama, and there is viśuddha-sattva. Mahādeva says in Bhāgavatam, sattvam viśuddham vasudeva śabditam, [yad īyate tatra pumān apāvṛtaḥ sattve ca tasmin bhagavān vāsudevo, hy adhokṣajo me namasā

vidhīyate]

["I am always engaged in offering obeisances to Lord Vāsudeva in pure Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Kṛṣṇa consciousness is always pure consciousness, in which the Supreme Personality of Godhead, known as Vāsudeva, is revealed without any covering."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.3.23]

It is there, a concrete thing, sattvam viśuddham. Just as the knowledge, the consciousness is a finer substance than the iron and earth. It is a wonderful thing this consciousness this is easily understood, wonderful thing in comparison with the earthen pot and other, the iron. So also, this is sattva-guṇa, which is in the relativity of this material world, and viśuddha-sattva, who has got no connection with material conception. It can conceive itself, viśuddha-sattva, sattvam viśuddham vasudeva śabditam. The world there is made of all consciousness, not of any material substance, sattvam viśuddham vasudeva śabditam. It is continued. The knowing aspect of this world is continued to be finer and finer and finest in this way, and merges in prema, in love. So sattvam viśuddham vasudeva śabditam, what is Vāsudeva in proper? Vāsudeva means viśuddha-sattva, the finest substance, finest substance, vasudeva śabditam.

Yad īyate tatra pumān apāvṛtaḥ. And if we can find the pumān, pumān means Puruṣa, that is the Predominating aspect, the personal conception there in that plane, in the finest conception of spiritual substance, when we can by close connection we can detect that that is personal existence, then that is Vāsudeva. That is no longer a substance of objective existence, but subjective existence we can trace Para-Brahman Vāsudeva.

Mahādeva says that, “My head is always bowing on that, showing reverence to that existence, that viśuddha-sattva. Sattvam viśuddham vasudeva śabditam, that is known as Vasudeva, the father of Kṛṣṇa, and there Vāsudeva which grows higher from that foundation, Vasudeva is a foundation and Vāsudeva again springing up higher. That is Vāsudeva. Vāsudeva who is seen, who could be seen through Vasudeva that as if He’s coming from Vasudeva, the higher existence, that is Vāsudeva. And my head is always connected that I’m always conscious of the fact and my head is drawn incessantly connected, tied with that consciousness. So it was not possible to take my head from that layer and to bow down to my so- called father-in-law Dakṣa.”

This is when Durgā Devī asked Śiva when that – the thing is that Dakṣa, the father of Satī, he arranged for a sacrifice and invited all the gods and they came. And Śiva he also joined, he was invited and joined. But Brahmā, the father of Dakṣa, he did not show any respect to Dakṣa. Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa He also did not, and all other gods showed some respect to Dakṣa, but Śiva did not.

Though Dakṣa was enraged, “I’m his father-in-law. Why he should not show respect to me?” So he announced another sacrifice, a great utsava, and invited all the gods, and did not invite Mahādeva. It is to insult him he began a bigger sacrificial ceremony and did not send any invitation to Śiva.

Then all are going to attend the ceremony, and because Śiva is not invited, so Dakṣa’s daughter, Śiva’s wife, Satī, she can’t go because her husband is not invited. Then she could not control her, she asked permission from Śiva that, “Allow me to attend the function.”

Mahādeva told, “He has purposely eliminated us to insult, so if you go there the situation won’t be happy, so it is better not to go there.”

But she did not mind it. “No, my father’s house, so many sisters and others as kinsmen are attending and I won’t go, that cannot be.” In this way.

Then Śiva: “If you like you may go, but I don’t voluntarily allow you to go. You may go.”

Then Satī went there. Ah! Then Satī asked, “Then why did you not show obeisance to Dakṣa? He has eliminated you what for? Because you did not show any respect. After all he’s your wife’s father, that is father-in-law, so you should have shown some respect to him.”

Then in answer to that Śiva says this śloka in Bhāgavatam.

sattvam viśuddham vasudeva śabditam, yad īyate tatra pumān apāvṛtaḥ sattve ca tasmin bhagavān vāsudevo, hy adhokṣajo me namasā
vidhīyate

[“I am always engaged in offering obeisances to Lord Vāsudeva in pure Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Kṛṣṇa consciousness is always pure consciousness, in which the Supreme Personality of Godhead, known as Vāsudeva, is revealed without any covering.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.3.23]

“Devī, to speak you really, my heart, my head is always connected with Vāsudeva. Where is that Vāsudeva? Sattvam viśuddham, viśuddha-sattva is Vāsudeva, and who is supposed to be seen on that plane, in the plane Vāsudeva who is playing. The playing, the higher substance, that on the basis of Vāsudeva, that foundation He’s living and doing His pastimes, His movement there. There my head is always connected, and to take it from there and to put it to any other lower position, it is impossible for me. So I could not. My exclusive and final respect is connected with Vāsudeva always. So to withdraw from that position and to show some respect to any other place that was not possible for me. This is the – not to insult him, but the fact is such. It has got some positive meaning.”

So there this śloka, viśuddha-sattva, the sattva means higher substance, that is the knowing substance, and then viśuddha-sattva, it is produced to the higher direction, viśuddha-sattva. And there we find that original conception, and this world is only a perverted reflection of that. We come to understand like this.

So the meaning of everything when the rein is taken off it runs towards the – to connect it with the highest cause. So meanings of different stages we find, in Hare Kṛṣṇa mahā-mantra, everywhere, in every mantra of Veda, everywhere. The meaning from the superficial to the internal, and inner, innermost, in this way the meaning of everything will connect with Kṛṣṇa, the Absolute Good, the Autocrat, the Loving Substance. In this way meanings will vary according to different stages.

The conception of the Sun: a child he may have some sort of conception of the Sun or Moon, the grown persons they will have some greater. In this way, the scientific they will have more, closer conception. In this way everything goes to the infinite position in connection with Him. He's everything, He's infinite. Everything is infinite. Soul's prospect is also infinite and goes to that jñāna-sunya-bhakti and takes some shape of finite characteristic there, jñāna-sunya. And when we're in the stage of calculation everything becomes infinite. And when it comes again in the position of tastefulness it has to locate, the journey is finished and there some hut is built and begins to stay and enjoy his life in a particular duty being fixed.

So Mahāprabhu has asked, “Come to this stage and leave your horse, or your conveyance, and construct a hut and live here and no further.”

The jñāna is like a horse on which we can ride and go, make progress, jñāna proper. And generally it comes and stops in the Virajā Brahmāloka. Buddhists stop their chariot in Virajā. And Śaṅkara he stops his chariot, the horses, in the Brahmāloka. Then comes Rāmānuja. With the help of the devotees, take the service. Visa, to accept a visa you must prove some interest there on that land, someone is there, some person, some interest, real interest, and they'll be satisfied, then they'll issue visa. Show some interest there. So if you want to enter that land you must have some interest there, and then the visa will be allowed. Not your interest, but the interest to be located there, then you'll be taken in. So your ruci, you are going to serve, not to rob that land, but you are to contribute something to the land, some interest, then you'll be allowed to enter.

Parvat Mahārāja: Haribol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, why is it that we're accepting the name Kṛṣṇa, rather there are so many names of Kṛṣṇa, Gopāla, Govinda, Vāsudeva, why especially the name Kṛṣṇa we are chanting?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: According to the position of one's realisation Kṛṣṇa is also in a Vaikuṇṭha name. There is in Veda the Kṛṣṇa name is mentioned as that of āsura, demon. And in Vaikuṇṭha also the Nārāyaṇa is in the centre, and twenty four delegated figures around Him, and there is also one whose name is Kṛṣṇa. And then that Svayaṁ Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa, then Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa, Mathurā Kṛṣṇa, there is also differentiation.

So according to the quality of differentiation the name Kṛṣṇa will have its importance.

The Māyāvādī they also have some sort of faith in Kṛṣṇa, but that is this side, in māyā. They also have respect for Kṛṣṇa, but Brahman is above Kṛṣṇa, in that way.

According to the nature of realisation, the meaning, the purpose of Kṛṣṇa differs. And from, the source from which the first impression is coming and guiding us, it will depend on that. And we'll find that the highest is Kṛṣṇa, Who can attract everyone. Kṛṣṇa, akārṣaṇ, the centre of gravitation can give, the attraction can give the – create the cosmos, attraction.

The Sun, Moon, so many planets, they're all depending on the force of attraction. So many molecules and atoms by attraction they're producing things. Different shapes, different colours, everything is combination of attraction. It depends on attraction in its differentiative character, otherwise all would be dissolved, no figure, nothing, this attraction. So attraction and when the attraction when endowed with life that is love. And the centre of love that is two-fold, positive, negative, and They're attracted by one another, each other. Everyone, even the jīva has got some attraction; it can attract something around him. The attraction Absolute that is Kṛṣṇa and when that is living that is love, the centre of love, centre of prema is Kṛṣṇa. And nothing else is necessary. Everyone's dire necessity in his existence is attraction. So Kṛṣṇa, He attracts, wholesale attractor of us, wholesale attractor.

I feel that when we take the name Kṛṣṇa every nerve is attracted. The very existence is channelled outside Him, His interest, the attraction, wholesale attraction of everything comes from that centre, Kṛṣṇa. And we must be conscious of the fact of our existence, that the basic principle of our life is almost solved. Where we take our stand, that is attraction, there we stand. The earth, everything stands on that plane, moves by the attraction.

On the higher zone there is no attraction so they cannot walk. After coming down from this sputnik they cannot walk as they do here, is it not? Have you not found in paper, that they cannot walk coming out of that – sputnik, they cannot walk as on the earth. They have to do something like swim.

Parvat Mahārāja: Gravity is different.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No gravity, no gravitation. So the attraction is our foundation. No attraction we cannot move, inert, attraction helps us in all phases of our life. We cannot eliminate its utility and necessity from our existence, but we must be conscious of that. And there our satisfaction can stay safe.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Attraction, and that sort of attraction attracts me, safe, the love also attracts in the living, the physical attraction and the living attraction is love, affection. That is very happy thing, pleasing, no doubt, attraction. So we say that the point of attraction is loving, not – and the loving in the charming camp banish our enquiry. If we're satisfied with love, then our imagination and our aspiration for further enquiry and discovery is finished.

'I have got my desired end, the taste of love. That seems to be the highest thing of our aspiration. We can stop, our journey's stopped there if we can land in a loving land, in the land of love.'

That is explicitly given in Bhāgavatam and especially inaugurated by Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanya Deva, prema, bhāgavat-prema, that mystic realisation of charm and beauty. That is our innate enquiry, we are to detect that. In the heart of our heart the space and the enquiry is only for such things which can quench our thirst, and nothing else. Knowledge is only making enquiry, why. Why enquiry? To find inner satisfaction, his enquiry is to satisfy the inner interest, inner enquiry. And when he finds it he's finished.

‘No more enquiry necessary. I’ve got my desired thing for which I was in searching mood life after life. I have got that.’

And this is prema, affection, love, beauty, charm, which can stop our progress with guarantee.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

[“The yogī who is a worshipper of the Supersoul is superior to persons engrossed in severe austerities such as the cāndrāyaṇa, superior to the worshippers of Brahman, and superior to the fruitive workers. Know this certainly to be My conclusion. Therefore, O Arjuna, be a yogī.”]

Certainly this is My opinion.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.47]

“When he has got My service, My sevā, then everything finished, all eliminated, everything dismissed. He has engaged in My service. Mad-gatenāntarātmanā śraddhāvān bhajate yo mām. He’s the highest of all the yogīs, all the jñānīs, all the tapasvis, all the karmīs, who has come to Me and who has got full engagement, cent per cent engagement in Me. I consider him to be the highest. Otherwise there are tapasvis, yogīs, jñānīs, etc, so many, siddhas, attempting students. But when he has got the service in Me, the student life finished, enquiry finished. He will be busy then how to satisfy Me. He’s engaged all his talents only that nitya-sevā. And that is also of infinite character, not finite. Different departments of service and evolving different type of – the garland, the bed, the food, so many departments, diplomatic section: so many sections there. And he’s engaged there and he’s fully engrossed in his duty. Everyone’s duty is infinite. You may use your talent to its best limit to show how improved service you can render. The scope is there. But mainly it is service, not enquiry for any other fortune. You’re not a fortune seeker any longer. Fortune is fixed, and there you are showing your genius in that limitation. And you find that you are thriving there most.”

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...subsidiary friends to come in direct contact with Kṛṣṇa. But the very nature of the sakhīs, the friends of Her, they never want any contact, direct contact with Kṛṣṇa. Always the very nature of serving tendency is such that they seek the best satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa and they are fully conscious that Rādhārāṇī alone can supply that happiness to Him.

‘And we shall all help Her so that She being helped by our services approaches to satisfy the desires of Kṛṣṇa. And thereby we will be more – will shall derive more benefit. If we approach direct we will be loser. But if we approach Kṛṣṇa through Rādhārāṇī, in every way we shall derive more benefit.’

So Rādhā-kaiṅkaryam, Rādhā-dāsyā, that has been told for us to be our highest, the summa bonum of our life, highest end, Rādhā-kaiṅkaryā general sense, but in a particular, we are servitors in different [?]

[?] kaiṅkaryā of Kṛṣṇa in a This is in mādhyama-rasa, in vātsalya-rasa, in sākhyā-rasa, and the Guru represents the highest position. In its highest conception he holds the position in every rasa the direct servitor of Kṛṣṇa. It reaches gradually there, in its highest conception. But relatively, again we are required to come down a little more. From Rādhārāṇī there is Lalitā group sakhī, and there are so many groups of sakhī, and the Rūpa Mañjarī, the principal of the girl servitors. And so on in the vātsalya-rasa, sākhyā-rasa, dāsyā-rasa, everywhere, in this way.

But we are more concerned with the mādhyura-rasa, as in our mantra, the Rūpānuga sampradāya, and in the mantra, and in the Guru paramparā we find that all within mādhyura-rasa. That mādhyura-rasa is the combination of all rasa. Ādi-rasa, one of its names and [?] is Ādi-rasa. That is the most original rasa is this rasa and it is the combination of all rasa, the sākhyā, the vātsalya, dāsya, śanta, all the essence of all other rasa is present in mādhyura-rasa. Or the mukhya-rasa, that is principal rasa in the service of Kṛṣṇa, kiśora Kṛṣṇa.

And our highest approach should be the service of Rādhārāṇī in the hierarchy, and it is Her business to look after the real satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, and none else can do so. Only She's the fittest to render real service to Kṛṣṇa. And we should be accordingly adjusted under Her serving hierarchy in a proper place. Then we'll be best beneficiary. Otherwise if we're located here and there wrongly then we're gone. We can't hope what will be our normal position and normal gain. Only properly located we'll be able to draw our most, our salary, our remuneration, in the term of love. Love, attraction towards Kṛṣṇa, that will be more and more, and that is the coin by which we are paid, the coin of love, more attraction towards Kṛṣṇa if properly located. And then our service, our remuneration will be more. Otherwise we shall have to labour on some anomaly. And to the fine adjustment we shall have to come anyhow.

That is the, and the nearest leader we shall see through whom the order for the necessary service is reaching me, and who is taking my service and passing it through the proper channel to Kṛṣṇa. And they're not hindrances, not opaque, but transparent. Not only transparent but they're helping more. Our capacity will be enhanced. When it is passing through that it will be purer, purer. Any anomaly, that will be purified and it will be taken to Kṛṣṇa in its purest quality.

So they're all guardians, they're all well-wishers, and though they're mediator, standing in the middle, not hampering but improving my fortune, in this way we are to reckon. So we are seeing always: dāsa-dāsa-dāsānudāsatvam, this is the clue they're giving.

Mahāprabhu says, so many devotees say that, "Only the direct servant, I can't tolerate that teja [?] that who are in power by direct."

Just as we can get best benefit of the Sun if we're adjusted in a particular distance. If we're put in the nearer we'll be burned to ashes. So adjustment is a very precious thing, proper adjustment. There we get our best benefit, adjustment. So in the question of adjustment and our innate value, valuation of calculation we are posted, quality, quantity, we are posted in a particular place, position, where we can get most. That is wanted.

Our Guru Mahārāja used in his last days, often he used: "Religion is proper adjustment, proper adjustment."

So we shall try to adjust to realise to understand this maxim: that is the Hegel's, as I always say, "Die to live." Die to live. This is Vaikuṇṭha. Death is finished in this world. But in the eternal world where death is absent, there 'die to live' means by sacrifice we can become great. Here also partially, one may give up the money, he gets the fame, the life of a fame. So 'Die to live,' and, 'Everything is for Himself.' We are to adjust with this, that He's the enjoyer, and we're supplier of His enjoyment. That is our natural position and we can thrive only in that plane, in that attitude. By giving we can thrive, to Him, we are to accommodate ourselves with this tendency. Through service we live, and through renunciation, exploitation, we die.

That is our innate nature. We must adjust ourselves with that principle. Then we are invincible. We are invincible. None, nothing in the world can take away from this principle of life, if we can adjust properly what is service, what is dedication, what is surrender, and how helpful that is to us. Especially when we're in the midst of gross exploitation, and if not so, renunciation of any type. The renunciation and exploitation, these are the two general enemies of the devotees. And if we can cross these two enemy lands then of course then there is Vaikuṇṭha, and the highest position is that of automatic, spontaneous surrendering love of Kṛṣṇaloka.

Mainly, these few planes we are to be acquainted with, what is what. Then we can maintain our consciousness, ourselves in the plane of Kṛṣṇaloka, Goloka Vṛndāvana. What is Vṛndāvana? In the ontological conception we must have such idea. And if we can adjust with this we can be invincible. And we'll be bold enough to announce to the world, so many, all the souls we find:

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, āmāra ājñāya [guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

Quite confident, strongly established in such position, anyone I see I shall say, “Oh, what are you doing? Save yourself. Come in contact with Kṛṣṇaloka. You'll be saved and prosper beyond your conception. Why do you lose your capital, investing them in this mundane and filthy world of exploitation? Everyone is trying to exploit the vitiated world. Why do you put your energy, capital, in this filthy and mundane world? Go. Come. And put your investment, whatever you have got, little, on such bank, invulnerable bank you deposit. It will come to you in time of need and immensely beyond your expectation you'll have profit there.” In this way we are to approach one and all whatever he be.

Swāmī Mahārāja told, “So many dogs in the UNO they’re talking about Russia and America and this Iran, this oil problem is the greatest problem for the civilisation nowadays. And because the Arabian countries they’re in possession of that oil everyone is looking with a greedy eye, and talking and gesturing, posturing. All these things to that oil centre.”

America, two or three years ago declared that, ‘Oil is indispensable to keep up our civilisation. So without oil we shall die, we shall have to die. It is better that we shall fight. We shall fight and die. Why should we die for want of oil? Our civilisation will be finished if we don’t get the oil. So why should we be finished in that way? Rather, we shall give a fight, and then if we can’t attain victory we shall die. We won’t allow our civilisation to die fasting, but rather in a battlefield.’ That was declared two or three years ago. I remember I saw it in a paper.

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. I passed last night with some apprehension after hearing from Ambujaka Prabhu about the present position of ISKCON, I'm very much troubled at heart. The great ISKCON of Swāmī Mahārāja. They're keeping something else, can't keep the standard of his purity of purpose, engaged in self-seeking, or materialistic grandeur, formality. They're at stake, the present position. It is very deplorable to me. We feel proud, infinitely proud we feel for his great success to carry out the message of Mahāprabhu so far and wide, capturing the whole of the world. And so soon if that structure be slackened it is a very deplorable thing. Where is Ambujaka Prabhu?

Aranya Mahārāja: He's in Calcutta. He's getting his things to come here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's gone to Calcutta?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, to bring some things, belongings.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But what he told, as he presented, that very soon it will be dismembered. It's very difficult to conceive things in that way. How to keep it up to standard? That is our great pride.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

I don't know whether it is too much candid, they say even Jayapataka Mahārāja he will also leave. His apprehension is like that he will also leave. He's so energetically moving on all sides to keep up the dignity of – he says that he will also come and leave the administration and will come, because he's simple and he's plain thinking man. He can't remain in that diplomatic circle for long. That is his opinion. I don't think so much, but still whatever shadow he cast in my mind I passed last night, an unpleasant night I passed herein. Let Kṛṣṇa save, Guru Mahārāja save, let Swāmī Mahārāja help such great child, great child the ISKCON, the pride of us all. Gaura Haribol. Kṛṣṇa knows well than we are, nothing is, it is not so favourite to us than His. He's most favourite. He knows everything and well, more than us. But from our position we deplore. Let God save, let Kṛṣṇa save, Guru Mahārāja, Mahāprabhu save from such dismemberment, disruption.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

I had the conception of Madhyadwīpa project, that if they remained and wants to take you all again, the Madhyadwīpa will also enter into the ISKCON. That idea I fostered within. It will remain intact, Swāmī Mahārāja's glory.

It is true I now remember that Swāmī Mahārāja requested me, I now remember clearly, to take the post of President in the ISKCON. I remember that.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I forgot, but now when reminded I can recollect that yes, he proposed me to be the President of ISKCON. But he has gone. So early he has finished his duty. Kṛṣṇa has called him.

Acyutānanda once told, he was sent by my advice to stay with Dāmodara Mahārāja and to find some land there for purchasing. And he went and lived there for few days. And Dāmodara Mahārāja a little crack vent somewhat. Leaving him in his house he went for collection, and few days food only in store, and finishing that Acyutānanda he's fasting. After one days fast he came away to me.

Then what's the matter?

“Dāmodara Mahārāja gone out and the food he kept for me that is finished in two days. And I'm fasting the last day wholesale, and today also I have to fast I have come here.”

Yes you did. Then Govinda Mahārāja or someone he, “Why did you not come yesterday?” “He told that he will come back.”

“Unnecessarily you are observing fast one day and a half without anything.”

He told, “Kṛṣṇa dancing.” That was his very charming reply he made, “Kṛṣṇa dancing. He has no time to think of others. And we are cast aside by the wave of His dancing, hither and thither, and some falling, some breaking his legs, and some losing consciousness. But He's engaged in His dancing.” Something like that, I'm elaborating, he told, “Kṛṣṇa dancing, He has no time to think about us. And we are suffering, we are cast aside by the wave of His joyful dancing, and we are thrown this side, that side, no care, no caretaker of us.”

The Kṛṣṇa dancing: the līlā of the Lord. And this is of course our desirable thing that He will dance.

And we shall rather fall at His feet, “Dance over my chest my Lord. Why do You dance on the earth?”

Devotee: You told us an example of Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī, about the pregnant woman and a woman who's not really pregnant, just imitating.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Imitation is not realisation. We are to know it as a general thing that imitation is not proper realisation, the outward imitation. The taking the dress of a sannyāsī is not real sannyāsī, but mockery. That is rather offensive: without realising a particular position you take. If I take the dress of a king or a police officer I'll be punished, If I take the police officer's dress or anyone to deceive the public I should be punished. So in the spiritual world no such punishment is seen from this plane, but punishment it attacks there on the higher plane. But now there are agents who make us careful about the imitationists. 'Don't mix with them. Try to understand what is the real symptom of a real thing. Don't approach the sham, the adulterated goods. Don't approach to buy or purchase the adulterated things. All that glitters is not gold. Glittering is not the only qualification of gold, there's something more.' Something like that. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is a general thing, but it is very difficult to understand the highly valued things. There is every possibility of being imitation. Imitation comes in the market why: to get more money. So highly valued things will have most, greater imitation, they're more dangerous than the ordinary exploitationist.

You see, you know the Rāma Rāvaṇa Jeda [?] Mahi Rāvaṇa [?] have you heard, anyone of you? When Rāma is engaged in fighting with Rāvaṇa in Laṅkā, Śrī Laṅkā, many of the heroes of the Rāvaṇa group had been killed, then Rāvaṇa disappointed remembered that one of his sons is living underground in the lower world, subterranean.

Perhaps as I was told the atomic war there creating town underground: is it not, to save persons from atomic attack.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Fallout shelter, bomb shelter they call that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the technical name of that?

Aranya Mahārāja: Bomb shelter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bomb shelter? No, some other.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Fallout shelter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that will be controlled by the machine man, robot. The robot controls the subterranean town.

Anyhow that Mahi Rāvaṇa [?], Rāvaṇa's one son, he lived in the subterranean town of his own, and he was informed and he came to see Rāvaṇa and told, heard, 'So many things have happened. Almost all the stalwarts are killed in the battle with Rāma.'

After hearing, the Mahi Rāvaṇa also as went to advise Rāvaṇa that, "Why in this unfortunate battle you have engaged yourself? Still there is time. You may be saved if you respectfully return Sītā Devī, His beloved wife, only wife He has got. Generally the kings they have got any number of wives. He has got only one wife. How beloved She is to Him, and you have taken Her. It is very deplorable father. You give Her back to Rāma and get a truce, a peace.”

But Rāvaṇa enraged, “What do you know? I have called you only to help me, not to instruct me.” “Then of course if you wish, desire so, I’m ready to sacrifice my life.”

So he was a highly qualified magician. He anyhow managed, Rāma-Lakṣmaṇa, he wanted: he planned to carry Rāma-Lakṣmaṇa to his subterranean palace.

And Vibhiṣana, the brother who had sided Rāmacandra, he cautioned Rāma. “The most dangerous mystic hypnotist, magician, son of Rāvaṇa has come, and something inconceivable is going to happen. You, Hanumān, Sugriva, keep Rāma-Lakṣmaṇa in a very guarded position. I suppose he will try his best to steal Rāma-Lakṣmaṇa from our midst. I think if his plan will be such, so guard Them in any way, especially in the night when They will sleep.”

Then Hanumān, they constructed a temporary room and Hanumān is guarding: night guard always. And Vibhiṣana he’s giving a view, surveying the whole battle position of the army and he’s patrolling, and now and then coming: “Hanumān, are you ready, none have entered?”

“Yes. Some came to enter. One came in the form of Kausalya, Rāma’s mother.”

“I can’t see Rāmacandra. I can’t keep my life any more. Please show my affectionate son, Rāma.”

“In this way I have dismissed her. No. Where Kausalya for so long, and only today you have come? I don’t believe in you. Then came as Rāmacandra’s father-in-law, Janaka, in this, that, in so many forms.”

“Very careful, if your father comes don’t allow him to enter within. Guard very strictly.” In this way his appealing, warning, and he’s patrolling the whole position.

Then, when so many attempts failed, that Mahi Rāvaṇa he had some new play, plan. He took the figure of Vibhiṣana himself, and came.

“Hanumān, are you very careful? Very careful you should remain. If your father himself comes don't allow him to enter.”

“No, no.”

“But are They safe? Are you sure?” “Yes, They are safe.”

“Let me go, enter and see whether They're in safe order or not.”

Hanumān thought, ‘the Vibhiṣana he's my guide. He told about this mischievous plan and he's the most interested person.’ He allowed him to enter.

Then Vibhiṣana again came in his patrol, “Hanumān, are you alert?”

“What is this? Just a minute ago you entered the room and you told – oh,” finished, Hanumān finished, went, no Rāma-Lakṣmaṇa there. “What can I do? Then a demon has taken away those sleeping masters of ours. What to do?”

“But there is the door, there is a hole, and if you can go there, there is a subterranean town.”

And Hanumān also went, and anyhow there is a story how he killed that demon and took out Rāma- Lakṣmaṇa on his shoulders [?] that Vibhiṣana's imitation.

So the highest thing we want to aspire after, and if imitation is there how loss can be effected on us, on our fortune. So we must be careful about the imitation. And Bābājī Mahārāja has warned in a plain way that śuddha life is very rare, it is not very cheap. What we have come after by our inconceivable great fortune, it is not cheap. We must try to follow, to be acquainted with the steps. Bhūr, Bhuvar, Svar, Maha, Jana, Tapa, Satya, Virajā, Brahmaloaka, then Vaikuṇṭha, Paravyoma, then Goloka, in this way. The steps we must not omit, and try to know something about the nature of those steps.

When the sound is coming, 'Oh, it must have come from that plane: it is sound which can be produced, the vibration, it is only from that plane.' In this way we must acquaint ourselves. The sound, the Name, why mantram, the Name, it may be everywhere, even in a book you can find, but why the sound comes from a Guru? Who is living in that plane the sound of that plane, that will come within us and awaken us. Just as homoeopathic globule, externally it is all one and the same, but, nāmākṣara bahiraya batu nāma kabu naya. But the meaning must have such depth which when it will exert, it will show, take me to Goloka.

The creeper of devotion will grow and pierce through the different planes, atmosphere, and go direct to Kṛṣṇa pāda, Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead, and there it will take its place and that will surround him. His holy feet, generally, at His feet means His own paraphernalia. And gradually Kṛṣṇa will located himself in a proper serving school and then give him engagement fully in His holy service.

Sambandha jñāna, that is sambandha jñāna, sambandha, abhidheya, prayojana, in three groups we are to understand the thing. Sambandha, place, purpose, position, all these things: and destination, prayojana, and abhidheya means the means to attain the goal. That is in three heads we are to understand, under three heads. Sambandha jñāna and prayojana and abhidheya, under these three classifications we are to understand, or to realise the nature of the whole thing which we aspire after.

Aranya Mahārāja: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, when you first came here you were worshipping Śālagrāma- śilā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. We came with Giridhari. We came here with Govardhana-śilā. Mahāprabhu gave Govardhana-śilā to Raghunātha dāsa Goswāmī. So in Vṛndāvana His followers generally they begin the worship, go on with Govardhana-śilā. Here the, that is in rāga-mārga, Goloka process. But Śālagrāma- śilā is a system of Vaikuṇṭha, it is in Vaikuṇṭha.

So our Guru Mahārāja he wanted to show that Goloka is above Vaikuṇṭha. So one who has climbed up to Goloka, necessarily he has passed the Vaikuṇṭha, that is Śālagrāma worshipping. But that is not our end. That is probationary, something. Mahāprabhu gave Giridhari, and Prabhupāda also, generally he used to give Giridhari, Govardhana-śilā to his devotees, especially the householders, Govardhana-śilā. He told, “You worship, as He’s Kṛṣṇa. Worship Him.”

And Raghunātha dāsa Goswāmī also he, the other half he has supplied. It is mentioned that Tulasī Mañjarī, this gunja, the kind of beautiful seeds to be had somewhere that is known as gunja-phal. A favourite of Kṛṣṇa also in the garland made of all that beautiful red and little black and almost the whole body is red. Gunja-phal, a garland of that putting on the Govardhana and that is conceived as Rādhārāṇī, the small garland. It is in Caitanya-caritāmṛta we find. This Govardhana-śilā, that is meaning Kṛṣṇa, and that small garland of gunja-phal, that is Rādhārāṇī. With this idea Rādhā-Govinda worshipping continued by Dāsa Goswāmī Prabhu, who is supposed, who is accepted the Ācārya of our highest goal, destination, prayojana Ācārya. And whose famous poem, āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit, [kālo mayātigamitaḥ kila sāmpratam hi tvaṁ cet kṛpaṁ mayi vidhāsyasi naiva kiṁ me, prānair vrajema ca varoru bakārināpi?]

[“O Varoru my beautiful, most magnanimous Goddess, my heart is flooded with an ocean of nectarean hopes. I have somehow been passing time until now eagerly longing for Your grace, which is an ocean of ever cherished nectar. If still You do not bestow Your mercy on me then of what use to me are my life, the land of Vraja, or even Śrī Kṛṣṇa who without You, is simply a mighty hero, the destroyer of demoniac forces like Baka.”] [Vilāpa-Kusumāñjali, 102] [From Śrī Bhakti Rakṣaka Bhajana Madhuri, p 39]

When Prabhupāda used to chant this śloka, we found him most excited and sometimes shedding tears. This is Rādhā-dāsyā. This is the basis of Rādhā-dāsyā, to be our highest realisation. Āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit, kālo mayātigamitaḥ. Dāsa Goswāmī he’s addressing Rādhārāṇī in this way. “O my Mistress, or my Lady, so long a time I’m passing my days with a great hope, a great, great hope, amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit. I can’t, now it is surpassing my forbearance, toleration, I can’t continue more. What for? Āśābharair. Āśābharair. The forceful, or the heavy hope, and surcharged, weighty hope, āśābharair...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...something like that. Amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ. And You are, if it is made of nectar, and also nectarine ocean, infinite. His character is infinite sweetness.

Āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit, kālo mayātigamitaḥ. Anyhow I have dragged myself to such extent, to such position anyhow. Now my forbearance is almost finished, my toleration finished, I can't move any more. My whole energy is always going to be finished, just now.

Āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit, kālo mayātigamitaḥ kila sāmprataṁ hi, tvaṁ cet kṛpaṁ mayi. Now, immediately, if You don't grant Your gracious look towards me, cast Your gracious and pitiful look towards this humble soul, kālo mayātigamitaḥ kila sāmprataṁ hi, tvaṁ cet kṛpaṁ mayi vidhāsyasi, if You do not extend a drop of nectar of Your grace at this time, the last moment, sāmprataṁ hi. Āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit, kālo mayātigamitaḥ kila sāmprataṁ hi, tvaṁ cet kṛpaṁ mayi vidhāsyasi naiva kiṁ me, prānair. I do not like to continue to live any longer. I can't live. I have come to the last point. I won't be able to live any longer, prānair. And I do not like also to live. I don't like to live, kiṁ me, prānair.

Vrajema ca, and what is the necessity of this Vraja? It is a farce to me. The real achievement of Vraja is absent. What is the necessity of this paraphernalia, vrajema ca?

Varoru bakārināpi? If You say Kṛṣṇa is there, no, forgive me, I don't have any direct contact with Kṛṣṇa I don't want, if I may not get Your grace. Kṛṣṇa is Yours. Without You none can give Kṛṣṇa. He's the play-doll to You. I have at least understood that thing. I may be unfit otherwise, but I'm sure that I have come to realise this point, that Kṛṣṇa is totally a play-doll in Your hands. You are so big. So I don't want Kṛṣṇa. I want Your grace. I want Your grace, and without You nothing is palatable to me."

And this is the highest aim of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, Rādhā-kaiṅkaryya. Do you follow? Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And Mahāprabhu gave him this Giridhari and that guñja-mālā, "And go on, that is the emblem in this plane and you approach."

And this is all show, certificate, a sort of certificate, this Nārāyaṇa-śilā and the Vaikuṇṭha characteristic, this upa-ved-saṁskāra, the red cloth, there are so many lākhs certificate granted. 'Yes, you can, you are to pass. You pass this stage and go there.' The check in station, something like, 'Yes, you pass. Otherwise the imitation, or the exploiting imitationist will capture you, and will deceive you, so pass by this way.'

Pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. That was the tenor of the whole preaching of our Guru Mahārāja. "Rāgapāṭha, that is over our head. We're not fit to climb to that higher plane from here. We are to aspire after. Only we shall aspire after such higher thing. That is the place of my Guru Mahārāja. I won't venture to approach that plane. Of course I shall have to go there only for the service of my Guru Mahārāja, but I shall come back and remain here in the lower plane."

So that was the tenor of the whole for preaching movement of our Guru Mahārāja, pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. First acclimatise you with this plane, and then you'll be called for the service in that higher, inconceivable plane, of inconceivable fortune, or achievement. So that was to make your position strong in this plane. Be habituated with the acquaintance of the proper plane of Vaikuṇṭha, then above Vaikuṇṭha. Don't go over-lapping without coming through this plane you'll go direct there and, duṣṭa phala karibe arjjana. You'll get something instead of that thing, real thing. You'll be misguided by the sham agents. Gradually you are to understand, to be acquainted with different layers. In this way after crossing you will go to the safe – don't try to get that very high – you consolidate your position here, the camp, keep, and from here you'll go to negotiate that. And have your base here. And that is your land of achievement, that is of dream. A dreamy land of achievement you foster in this way. And if you don't go to swallow it just now and it will be missed, don't think like that. You consolidate your position such, and your aspiration there. Maintain your position in this plane, and your aspiration for that plane. That will be safe. And the time will come when you feel that irresistibly you are taken up. Up till now you wait in this position. Don't go unwanted. Don't try to enter the plane unwanted. And don't think that they've not got proper eye on you. They're seeing everything and when the time will come you will feel irresistible attraction is taking you there forcibly. Don't think that only with imagination you will achieve that thing. It is reality, and it is all conscious. And it has got its guardian's eye, the watching eye, the loving eye, of justice, mercy, over you all. You are not missed in that eye, in His calculation. Don't think like that. They're all love, they're all accommodating, their loving, affectionate eye over us all. So you don't try to hurriedly try to approach the realm, should not be a trespasser. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. That has been taught by our Guru Mahārāja. Try to increase your efficiency, and don't be greedy to occupy the post. [?]

Aranya Mahārāja: ...because one boy he brought from Vṛndāvana two Govardhana-śilās, Daśaratha sūta, so we were wondering...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] ... attempt, preaching. This is arcana. But we should not neglect the arcana. But, the preacher they have no time, not in a settled station they live. A life unsettled, today here, the next time there, in this way moving. So they're meant to do anything and everything mentally, manasic. They're supposed to be madhyama-adhikārī, the middle class. And the primary section, they should be given more facilities in the arcana, worship. And those that are considered to be preachers, they're expected to do everything mentally: and prasāda also in that way. The kaniṣṭha- adhikārī he will take the things and offer to the Deity and then he'll think it is prasādam, with mantram, then he takes. But a sannyāsī whatever comes to him he offers mentally, not any physical arrangement, mentally he offers, and then takes his prasādam. And uttama-adhikārī he does not feel the necessity of offering. Whatever is coming, "He's sending, Kṛṣṇa's sending this to me." With this conception he takes. No mantram, nothing, no offering function, neither mentally nor physically. So the sannyāsīns, the preachers, they're generally meant to go here, there, everywhere, so where the purity of the arcana may not be possible to be maintained. So it is not very imperative to them. But still if he does so it is no harm, rather it may improve another nature within. Giridhārī. So no any hard and fast rules: wherever and whenever possible he may keep in the box and if possible he may offer something and then take, in this way not any hard and fast rule there. If you begin in that way, otherwise It is kept in the box. You may think of Him and whenever you'll find it useful you may put Him there and make arrangement for regular worship and bhoga.

Aranya Mahārāja: We were thinking that maybe we would establish Them in Madhyadwīpa, put Them there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. And then keep It intact and when some shelter will be there, you may put there.

When I came here, I came with three pieces of śilā, and whatever in the daytime after cooking I offered śilā and once, and chanting bhoga-āratī. Not much worshipping, but whatever I took I offered Him with bhoga-āratī. And engaged myself in daytime in reading, and after night taking, counting the beads. And in day, because no money, so light was utilised in reading, and at night no light but counting, in this way. And I had to eat something, I offered in the noon time and took that by bhoga-āratī shutting the door outside chanting the bhoga-āratī. I cooked for myself, and took Ganges water, went to take bath in the Ganges. From nineteen forty one, the last part of forty, December, I came here. And only two rupees rent, I got a house there. Two rupees monthly rent. Then that was taken by another. I went to the Manipur side on the banks of the Ganges, there for almost one year and a half, and four rupees rent. A complete house surrounded by the wall. Two rooms, one veranda and that, one covered veranda, another the platform, and another cooking room, and the well, and the latrine, and compound wall, four katta [?] or so, only four rupees a month.

Then Sakhī Bābu, who was a multi millionaire, constructed Guru Mahārāja's house and the big temple in Mahāprabhu's birthplace, he purchased this land for me, when I came here in a cottage to live, in [nineteen] forty two, the ratha-yātrā day, the ratha-yātrā of Jagannātha. That day I entered the cottage here, forty two: from that time living here.

And that year came a flood, within one month and a half, as if I was living in a boat. The current is passing from all sides and I'm living in a boat. And one serpent, one snake on the thatch, and in the mosquito I'm under the serpent; one month and a half I lived there.

And another gentleman was with me. We put Prabhupāda's photograph and that Giridhari also in place. And the floor, that was transformed into mud by the flood. Then I took some bricks and some sand there, and then put some mat, that āsana, and there taking my seat I used to do arcana in a general way, Guru's photograph, Param Guru's photograph, and the Giridhari.

Then after the temple had been constructed the Vighraha's came. Then one gentleman he presented the Śālagrāma. The Śālagrāma is a very strict one in its nature. So many Śālagrāma's they have Their natures also are explained in the scripture, Hari-bhakti-vilāsa. It is Varāha Nṛsiṃhadeva or something like. Śālagrāma is very strict. If any person, not quite fit, he begins the worship, then for the offence he will be punished. This is His nature. But that man he was a great paṇḍita, aṣṭa-tīrtha, eight examinations in the Sanskrit Department he passed, and he was Professor in Molvaria [?] College and also in Navadvīpa College: a brāhmaṇa of Midnapore. He could not keep it. Anyhow he managed to send it to me, and I have taken Him and He's being worshipped here, good or bad. Today I stop here. Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... that was modified by Nityānanda in Bengal, yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'gaura'- upadeśa, transformed.

bhaja gaurāṅga, kaha gaurāṅga laha gauranger nāma, yei jana gaurāṅga bhaje sei amāra prāna

[“Worship Gaurāṅga, speak of Gaurāṅga, chant Gaurāṅga's Name. Whoever worships Śrī Gaurāṅga is My life and soul. Come straight to the campaign of Śrī Caitanya and you will safely attain Vṛndāvana.”]

_____ [?] Kṛṣṇa bhajan, that is rather little difficult, come through Gaura bhajan and that will automatically come to you within with Gaura bhajan, Gaurāṅga. And automatically you'll find you are in the midst of Vṛndāvana without any special attempt, endeavour.

It will be, just take your seat in a particular plane of New York and you'll find 'I am in New York.'

A particular plane to accept Gaurāṅga, most benevolent Kṛṣṇa, because Kṛṣṇa and Rādhārāṇī combined, Both are combined, the most desirable, highest, mightiest, present in one place. You find the last śloka of Rāya Rāmānanda: when Mahāprabhu enquired, "It was all right what you have told, I accept it as the zenith of our destination, of our prospect. But still, can you conceive anything else more than that?"

When this question was put to Rāmānanda Rāya he was little perplexed. "Above this is there anyone in the world to enquire? Sometimes I feel in the inner most portion of my heart, and I have composed also one poem accordingly. But does He mean, does He hit that point?" So he came, "I do not know that there is anyone in the world who can search after that thing. I don't find it anywhere in the scriptures of the great predecessors. But still something peeps in my mind at times, and that, I think it is my whim when He enquires something more, further, I take out to You. Whether You like it or not I don't know because it is beyond the record hitherto come to this world. But sometimes it's peeping in my mind. And let me try." He came with the representation.

And Mahāprabhu after hearing some portion He put His hand on his mouth. "No more." Bhakti Caru Swāmī: What was that actually Mahārāja? What was Rāmānanda Rāya going to say?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Māyāvādīns say, they take, 'Oh, here we have got our point, the both combined, the Rādhā-Govinda combined.' They say that, 'I belong to You,' in the bhakti step, the first is 'I belong to You,' that sakhīya, as a, no tadīya, 'I am Yours.' First stage of devotion is 'I belong to You.' And the highest is, 'You belong to me.' Rādhārāṇī madīya. Tadīya Chandravālī etc, in the highest stage, 'we belong to You.' And higher than that, 'You belong to me.' Tadīya, madīya, then 'tad aham.' 'I am Him.' They come to that. But that māyāvāda has been eliminated totally in the beginning.

brahma-bhūtaḥ prasannātmā, [na śocati na kāṅkṣati samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām]

["The spotlessly pure-hearted and self-satisfied soul who has attained to his conscious divine nature neither grieves nor craves for anything. Seeing all beings equally (in the conception of My supreme energy), he gradually achieves supreme devotion (prema-bhakti) unto Me."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54]

Wrong, so what should it be? And Mahāprabhu going to cover his mouth, "Don't." It may not be, it's hitting Mahāprabhu; it hits Śrī Caitanya Deva. Rasa-rāja mahābhāva dui eka rūpa [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.282] If Both of Them combined then the transformation produces that Rādhārāṇī's mood captures that of Kṛṣṇa and, sva-bhajana-vibhajana-prayojan- avatari. Searching after Himself, as I described in Gadādhara Prabhu's śloka.

nīlāmbhodhi-taṭe sadā sva-virahā-kṣepanvitaṁ bāndhavaṁ [śrīmad-bhāgavatī kathā madirayā sañjīvayan bhāti yaḥ śrīmad-bhāgavataṁ sadā sva-nayanāśru-pāyanaiḥ pūjayan gosvāmi-prabaro gadādhara-vibhūr-bhūyāt mad-ekā-gatiḥ]

["On the shore of the broad blue ocean, Gadādhara Paṇḍita used to read Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam to Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who was suffering from the great internal pain of separation from Himself (Kṛṣṇa). Gadādhara Paṇḍita supplied the wine of Kṛṣṇa līlā to intoxicate his afflicted friend and give Him relief. As he read, tears would fall from his eyes like flower offerings onto the pages of Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam. May the pleasure of that brilliant personality, Gadādhara Paṇḍita, the best of the Goswāmīs, be my only object in writing this book.”]

What is, I conceived a shortest book from the gist of Bhāgavatam. There in the praṇāma of Gadādhara Goswāmī I put this śloka. That nīlāmbhodhi-taṭe, on the banks of the infinite ocean, sadā sva-virahā-kṣepanvitam bāndhavam, his friend who is always madly engaged in separation of His own self, and deeply merged in grief. [?] Who? Sva-virahā-kṣepa, [?] by the separation of His own self He’s feeling a great grief thereby, that madly grief, bhāgavatī madirayā. Gadādhara Goswāmī is helping Him to listen to Bhāgavatam, reading Bhāgavatam. And that serves as some intoxication to Him, to relieve Him from His own pain. Just as in the world if the patient feels severe pain then morphine injection or something, or the wine is administered to save him from the pain. So Gadādhara Prabhu Goswāmī he’s only reading Bhāgavatam to his friend. And what is the condition of the friend; that He’s suffering severely. And what is the cause of His suffering; virahā, separation. And what is – ātmā-virahā, kṛṣṇānusandhāna, Kṛṣṇa is searching after Him in the mood of Rādhārāṇī.

So that is mentioned in the last śloka of Rāmānanda Rāya, and he says, “I don’t know whether it will help You, will be tasteful to You, I don’t know. We don’t find it anywhere, but sometimes it peeps in my mind and I have composed a song and I am reciting it to You.”

pahilehi rāga nayana-bhaṅge bhela, anudina bāḍhala, avadhi nā gela nā nā khoṅjaluṅ dūtī, nā khoṅjaluṅ ān, duṅhukeri milane madhya ta pāñcabāṇa ab sohi virāga, tuṅhu bheli dūtī, su-purukha-premaki aichana rīti

[“Alas, before We met there was an initial attachment between Us brought about by an exchange of glances. In this way attachment evolved. That attachment has gradually begun to grow, and there is no limit to it. Now, that attachment has become a natural sequence between Ourselves. It is not that it is due to Kṛṣṇa, the enjoyer, nor is it due to Me, for I am the enjoyed. It is not like that. This attachment was made possible by mutual meeting. This mutual exchange of attraction is known as manobhava, or Cupid.

Kṛṣṇa's mind and My mind have merged together. Now, during this time of separation, it is very difficult to explain these loving affairs. My dear friend, Kṛṣṇa might have forgotten all these things. However, you can understand and bring this message to Him, but during Our first meeting there was no messenger between Us, nor did I request anyone to see Him. Indeed, Cupid's five arrows were our via media. Now, during this separation, that attraction has increased to another ecstatic state. My dear friend, please act as a messenger on My behalf because if one is in love with a beautiful person, this is the consequence.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.194]

That represents the principle on which Mahāprabhu represented Himself here and so Mahāprabhu went to shut his mouth. “Don't come out with that.” Just as when He showed His own līlā, Avatāra, rasa-rāja mahābhāva dui eka rūpa [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.282] it was also like that.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, to whom did He show the combined form of Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa? Did He show it...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To Rāmānanda Rāya, there only we find this: and of course Svarūpa Dāmodara new it because he has given that conception of Mahāprabhu, rādhā-bhāva-dyuti- suvalitaṁ naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam.

[rādhā kṛṣṇa-praṇaya-vikṛtir hlādinī śaktir asmād ekātmānāv api bhuvi purā deha-bhedaṁ gatau tau caitanyākhyam prakāṣam adhunā tad-dvayaṁ caikyam āptaṁ rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitaṁ naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam]

["I worship Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is Kṛṣṇa Himself, enriched with the emotions and radiance of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. As the Predominating and Predominated Moieties, Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa are eternally one, with separate individual identities. Now They have again united as Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. This inconceivable transformation of the Lord's internal pleasure-giving potency has arisen from the loving affairs of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.5]

Svarūpa knew everything of Mahāprabhu and he supplied this steel frame on which the whole Caitanya līlā is based, the fourteen ślokaṣ we find in Caitanya-caritāmṛta. And Sanātana Goswāmī, Rūpa Goswāmī, their basis is also supplied by Svarūpa Dāmodara. Saksad mahaprabhu dvitiya svarup [?] Whatever Mahāprabhu did Svarūpa Dāmodara knew everything.

Sei slokera artha jane ekala svarupa [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 9-16, 133, ?] Only one single person, Svarūpa Dāmodara, he knew the śloka Mahāprabhu pronounced just before the chariot, yaḥ kaumāra-haraḥ. [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 1.78] And [?] by chance Rūpa Goswāmī was present in that particular year there, and Rūpa Goswāmī of course heard and taking out the meaning, or the real purpose of the śloka he composed another śloka.

priyaḥ so 'yaṁ kṛṣṇaḥ saḥacari kuru-kṣetra-militas [tathāhaṁ sā rādhā tad idam ubhayoḥ saṅgama-sukham tathāpy antaḥ-khelan-madhura-muralī-pañcama-juṣe mano me kālindī-pulina-vipināya sprḥayati]

[Upon arriving in Kurukṣetra, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī said: “O My dear friend, now I am at last reunited with My most beloved Kṛṣṇa in Kurukṣetra. I am the same Rādhārāṇī, and He is the same Kṛṣṇa. We are enjoying Our meeting, but still I wish to return to the banks of the Kālindī, where I could hear the sweet melody of His flute sounding the fifth note beneath the trees of the Vṛndāvana forest.”] [Padyāvalī, 383]

The substance he took out and he gave understandable to us what is the purpose for which Mahāprabhu is singing that śloka which is outwardly not very well. But what is His purpose, internal purpose, taking out and composing a śloka, priyaḥ so 'yaṁ kṛṣṇaḥ saḥacari kuru-kṣetra. That Kurukṣetra, so Jagannātha, the Subhadrā is there, Balarāma is there, so it represents the characteristic of Kṛṣṇa in Dvārakā. And sometimes eager to go to the bhuvan, Vṛndāvana and Mahāprabhu just taking, Sei sloka suni radha kunjela sakala badha kṛṣṇa prapti prakṛti haila [?]

That Bhāgavata śloka,

[“The gopīs spoke thus: ‘Dear Lord, whose navel is just like a lotus flower,

Your lotus feet are the only shelter for those who have fallen into the deep well of material existence. Your feet are worshipped and meditated upon by great mystic yogīs and highly learned philosophers. We wish that these lotus feet may also be awakened within our hearts, although we are only ordinary persons engaged in household affairs.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.82.49] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.136]

And the reply, mayi bhaktir hi bhūtānām, amṛtatvāya kalpate diṣṭyā yad āsīn mat sneho, bhavatīnām mad-āpanaḥ

[“My dear gopīs, everyone considers themselves fortunate if they possess devotion for Me, and by that they achieve an eternal life of nectar. But I must admit that I consider Myself most fortunate because I have come in touch with the wonderful affection found in your hearts.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.42.44]

“The whole world if they have some devotion towards Me they are saved, they are saved from mortality. But I am so that I myself think, considers, that I am fortunate to have your company. The whole world may think, ‘If they get Me their highest fortune,’ and that Myself I think that I have fortunately come by chance, I have got your affection. So your affection is so valuable. So that stands guarantee that I am yours. I consider that I have fortunately come in contact with your affection and your affection is so valuable. So you may think, may clearly take it for granted, for sure, you may remain assured that I am always yours.”

Raso 'py asya, param dṛṣṭvā nivartate. [viṣayā vinivartante, nirāhārya dehinaḥ rasa-varjaṁ raso 'py asya, paraṁ dṛṣṭvā nivartate]

["Although the person of gross corporeal consciousness may avoid sense objects by external renunciation, his eagerness for sense enjoyment remains within. However, inner attachment to sense objects is spontaneously denounced by the person of properly adjusted intelligence, due to his having had a glimpse of the all-attractive beauty of the Supreme Truth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.59]

"I have got so much ecstasy of tastefulness in your company that I cannot but be yours."

Sei sloka suni radha kunjela sakala bhada kṛṣṇa prapti prakṛti haila [?] And after hearing, listening to this sort of confession from Kṛṣṇa, Rādhārāṇī was fully satisfied. "Yes, He is Mine." And with this confidence Rādhārāṇī came back to Vṛndāvana. "Wherever He may be in plea of discharging other duties He may have perhaps, but still wherever He'll be He's Mine." With this proud feeling in Her heart Rādhārāṇī came back to Vṛndāvana. So Mahāprabhu says, yaḥ kaumāra-haraḥ sa eva hi varas tā eva caitra-kṣapās te conmīlita-

mālatī-surabhayaḥ prauḍhāḥ kadambānilāḥ sā caivāsmi tathāpi tatra surata-vyāpāra-līlā-vidhau revā-rodhasi vetasī-taru-tale cetaḥ
samutkaṇṭhate

["That very Personality Who stole My heart during My youth is now again My Master. These are the same moonlit nights of the month of Caitra. The same fragrance of mālatī flowers is there, and the same sweet breezes are blowing from the kadamba forest. In Our intimate relationship, I am also the same lover, yet My mind is not happy here. I am eager to go back to that place on the bank of the Revā under the Vetasī tree. That is My desire.”] [Padyāvalī] & [Kāvya-prakāśa] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 1.78]

An ordinary śloka and ordinary nayika, nayaka, hero and heroine, and only in plea of that Mahāprabhu is tasting the highest ecstasy divine in His heart. And Svarūpa Goswāmī took it out to write, for our, to persons like us, ordinary calibre. This is the purpose of Mahāprabhu’s song.

And so it is for the highest satisfaction of Rādhārāṇī that, “He’s Mine.”

So this is the highest prospect of all those that are in the group of Rādhārāṇī. “Kṛṣṇa, He’s always exclusively attached to our camp, to our Mistress.” With that pride they can move. And that is the highest; the acme of our achievement or realisation, that Kṛṣṇa belongs to Rādhārāṇī.

We are proud, the whole Gauḍīya sampradāya is proud of that. The Absolute will, the Autocrat, He’s no longer Autocrat. He’s only the caught, caught hold in a cage, and we must approach that cage. The Autocrat is caught in a cage. He’s imprisoned. Gaura Haribol. Now the despot, none can control Him, but He’s controlled, just like the royal Bengal tiger in the cage. Gaura Haribol. And this is the clue, āśraya- vighraha, it is impossible, but only in one place it has been possible. And we belong to that group, so our pride knows no bounds. Our Gurudeva, we should think we may not be audacious enough to declare that, but our Guru and the paramparā they’re proud of that, they’re proud. And anyhow we have come to that camp and our prospect may lie on that way. What do you think Akṣayānanda Mahārāja? That should be our way of thinking.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura

Haribol. Nitāi.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura he thought that he will construct a cottage just near Dvaipayan Road and pass his whole life there.

But Mahāprabhu requested him, “What do you think, where to go, no. You are to discover My birthplace here. I want you to do this service.”

Then he could not do so, engaged himself in the discovery and there to place Mahāprabhu Vighraha, and to propagate His benevolence, His preaching, all these things.

And our Guru Mahārāja, from childhood he was given, life given to this idea, but he was in a... Eh?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...preparatory stage on reading scriptures, and taking the Name, in this way.

When Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura saw that, ‘I am, very soon I have to go away from this world,’ he requested our Guru Mahārāja to take the charge.

But Guru Mahārāja he modestly refused, ‘That I don’t like to accept all these troubles, some things. I’m engaged in a secluded life in taking Hari Nāma and given to the study of the śāstra. But what you want to place on my head that means the connection with the public and that is very disturbing. I do not like that.’ Then Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura told, ‘Then what do you mean? You don’t like to accept the service of Mahāprabhu, and you say that will be troublesome to you. Do you like to be a māyāvādī, nirviśeṣa, is that your aim, free from all troubles? You don’t like to take troubles for Mahāprabhu's service?'

Then he had a shock in his mind, as he told. Then he was preparing himself, and somehow Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura disappeared. Necessarily some sort of burden came to him and still he was thinking what to do. 'What to do? I'm not very, I don't think myself fit to deal with the public. Naturally I'm of secluded nature. I shall go through the scripture and take Hari Nāma, in this way I shall pass my life, but what to do. What to do?'

Then he suddenly found that, he was also fond of publishing books from the beginning, Caitanya- caritāmṛta and other Journals also, but suddenly found when he's deeply engaged in thinking what to do, he found a piece of paper, by the wave of the wind, suddenly came on his front. And he collected it and read that Mahāprabhu gave four directions to Sanātana Goswāmī on His behalf to do those things in Vṛndāvana.

Śrī Vighraha prakash, lupta tīrtha udhav, Vaiṣṇava sadācāra [?] and something other, these four things Mahāprabhu ordered Sanātana Goswāmī to do on His behalf.

[Mahāprabhu gave Sanātana four responsibilities: (1) to preach pure devotional service by establishing the doctrines of pure devotion; (2) to discover and make known the various places where Kṛṣṇa had His pastimes; (3) to establish the service of the Deity of Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana; and (4), to establish proper Vaiṣṇava behaviour through compiling a Vaiṣṇava rule book or smṛti, and in this way make the foundations of a Vaiṣṇava society.

"O Sanātana, you should broadcast the revealed scriptures on devotional service and excavate the lost places of pilgrimage in the district of Mathurā. Establish the Deity service of Lord Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana. You should also compile a scripture containing the rules of devotional practice and preach these practices." Caitanya-caritāmṛta, 2.23.97-8]

And suddenly that paper he found and took it that it is the desire of Mahāprabhu. “Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Mahāprabhu, they want these four things from me.” Then he was thinking, “How it can be effected? I’m not prepared constitutionally for mixing with the public at large.”

Then Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja disappeared. And that very day Sakhī Bābu and Kuñja Bābu they came to visit Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja. I heard from Sakhī Bābu direct that, “We came to see him but we came and heard that last night he disappeared.”

And there was a quarrel between the particular sections who had much adherence of Bābājī Mahārāja, and the sahajiyā camp on the other side their large number. Both parties say that, “We should bury his body within our compound.”

And this party, the Gaura Kiśora Mahārāja’s special party, they found themselves weak, so they wanted to inform that, “The only disciple, and he’s respectable, we must inform him.” They sent a messenger to Prabhupāda, to bring him to help about the proper burial for Gaura Kiśora Bābājī’s holy body. And the messenger was Kuṣja Bābu. He passed matrices by the time perhaps and joined some postal service in Calcutta, but anyhow he also came along with Sakhī Bābu. I heard it direct from the mouth of Sakhī Bābu.

And also it is mentioned, it is published also in paper. Professor Sanyal wrote a book, in vyāsa-pūjā there it is mentioned in English.

Then Prabhupāda he somehow or other he heard that Bābājī Mahārāja had left the world last night. He was coming to attend. And on the Ganges ghāṭa both met, he met Kuñja Bābu on the other side. And both of them came and Prabhupāda had to come to Police Station to plead on behalf of the direct disciples of Gaura Kiśora Bābājī, not disciples but followers, disciple was perhaps only one and that is our Guru Mahārāja: the followers.

And then, of course there was a hot discussion, I'm not going into details, the bābājī's they were discouraged on the front of the officer and they went away. And the bona fide followers they buried the holy body of Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja. Prabhupāda was present there.

And then Sakhī Bābu and Kuñja Bābu went to meet Prabhupāda in Māyāpur where he was living at the time, Caitanya Maṭha at present. And then there Prabhupāda began to talk about Mahāprabhu and His grace.

Sakhī Bābu told, "We can't understand his speech very much, can't appreciate. But only we could detect this much that he's trying to – as if to devour us something with utmost. Sometimes he's putting his clap on the table, slapping his hand on the table, and face is red, and highly excited as if he wants to bring some nectar towards us. He's trying to bring us some nectar but he fails. He had not much impression on us, much reaction on us, and so desperately he's slapping and trying to push something within us. That we could find, we can remember." Sakhī Bābu told.

"But anyhow we came back and gradually we began to go there, connect with him. And Kuñja Bābu he had some knack of mixing with the public, and that was when he could understand. In the beginning he was of that Vivekānanda minded, and it took some time to convert him. And then when he came and realised a bit, then he wanted to make propaganda of such thing. That Ramakrishna Mission they're spreading such a broad view thing, and they're all rubbish. Then such a valuable thing Mahāprabhu has given to us, and that is being misused and misrepresented. This valuable thing must be taken before the public and we must go to Calcutta, the cosmopolitan town, and there we shall be able to meet persons of various nationality and caste and all these things, educated society. It must be taken there."

So by his special wish the Calcutta centre was established in a rented house near Parisnath [?] temple. And from there the present propaganda began there. And Swāmī Mahārāja met him, our Guru Mahārāja, first there. One Mr. Noreen Malik [?], his class friend, I heard from Swāmī Mahārāja himself, "Noreen Malik took me one night, one evening to meet Prabhupāda. But there is one brahmacārī; that is grown up, unmarried person dedicated his life to the cause, for the preaching of Mahāprabhu's śikṣā and will you go to see him?"

"Yes. Let us go. We went to him. And when he heard that we are just come out from the College perhaps, Scottish Church College, then he, with little more interest talked with us. And what I heard from him I found that so long Mahāprabhu's teachings have come to be delivered in a proper hand. Before, the Goswāmīns and others in the name of Mahāprabhu they twisted His things, but here," as he told me, "A proper hand, Mahāprabhu's śikṣā has come and it will gradually develop in time properly, and will be spread to its desirable manner. In this way I had conception and came back."

And then next he met in Allahabad after long time, Prabhupāda, and gradually came to accept Prabhupāda's grace. In this way Prabhupāda began.

So Kuñja Bābu's contribution, but at the same time it is also mentioned, we are to mention that Kuñja Bābu had some ulterior motive also, along with this sort of help. His sons and his brother they also went there with him, they all took, especially his brother Samvit, he did some personal service to Prabhupāda in his young age. But when grown up, the education and all their necessities they're supplied from the Maṭha fund. So some of the Maṭha members did not look at it with good idea, 'that why so many sannyāsīns they're collecting funds and that is being utilised for family maintenance of Kuñja Bābu? Why should it be?' Still, Kuñja Bābu did many things.

Once, I also, as a representative of the sannyāsīns put this matter to Prabhupāda.

And Prabhupāda said, "Why do you bother with all these things? This is not good for you. For the service of Kṛṣṇa if it is necessary to draw, to pour the money into the water, that also should be done by us."

And when going to Madras, nineteen thirty, December thirtieth, suddenly he came with Bhāgavatam, "Here is your answer, reply, sva-pāda-mūlam bhajataḥ."

I was surprised, ‘what is my answer?’ Then when I found the śloka, ‘Oh, I questioned about Kuñja Bābu and he gives the reply here from Bhāgavatam.

sva-pāda-mūlam bhajataḥ priyasya, tyaktānya-bhāvasya hariḥ pareśaḥ vikarma yac cotpatitaṁ kathañcid, dhunoti sarvaṁ hr̥di sanniviṣṭaḥ

[“One who has thus given up all other engagements and has taken full shelter at the lotus feet of Hari, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, is very dear to the Lord. Indeed, if such a surrendered soul accidentally commits some sinful activity, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who is seated within everyone’s heart, immediately takes away the reaction to such sin.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.42]

It is mentioned there. Then hearing that I could remember, ‘Oh, this is the answer of my previous question what I put in Mangalgiri [?] Dagmangala [?] In Mangalgiri we were going to that pada pitha temple. There in Dagmangala Prabhupāda was staying and I put this question on behalf of so many there. And answer was given a few weeks after in Madras. Then I could understand, that one who has come in touch of a śuddha bhakti campaign, pure devotional campaign, that who has come in connection with Kṛṣṇa, no penances is necessary for him. Because the penance, the daṇḍa, the punishment for his misdeed – punishment has been recommended in the karma-kāṇḍa, and jñāna-kāṇḍa also, repentance etc. But who has got connection with śuddha bhakti no provision of any sort of penances or punishment. Only whatever he’s doing that is the most efficient thing, engagement. That is the highest engagement, purest engagement, and that can purify very shortly all the discrepancies that are in the devotion.

Sva-pāda-mūlam bhajataḥ, who has come to serve Him, priyasya, tyaktānya-bhāvasya hariḥ pareśaḥ, whose ultimate aim is exhaustively eliminated, he does not want anything but Kṛṣṇa. But so many previous tendencies are always in his mental system, for his case, priyasya, tyaktānya- bhāvasya hariḥ pareśaḥ, vikarma yac cotpatitaṁ kathañcid. Anyhow his previous mental impulses of different type may remain, for that, no punishment, no, nothing of the character is necessary.

Priyasya, tyaktānya-bhāvasya hariḥ pareśaḥ, vikarma yac cotpatitaṁ kathañcid, dhunoti sarvaṁ hr̥di sanniviṣṭaḥ. Because by his serving attitude, Hari is coming nearer to him. He's extending Himself to him. So automatically every inauspicious, ominous things will have to retire forever. That is the principle, it is there. So no other prāyaścitta, no other punishment is necessary, only for those who are connected, must have real connection with śuddha bhakti, the purest devotion; dedication, so undesirable things will be driven away automatically in no time. The Hari's service is the most effective to drive away the inauspicious things. That is there. So anyone who has joined this mission they may have their previous tendencies in the mind, but if he's true to his own, not in a trading, or with ulterior motive he has come, but he wants at heart, if it is so then all the discrepancies they must vanish gradually and forever. And no other method is necessary. That was shown to me. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And there is another śloka also parallel.

devarṣi-bhūtāpta-nṛṇāṁ pitṛṇāṁ, na kiṅkaro nāyam ṛṇī ca rājan sarvātmanā yaḥ śaraṇaṁ śaraṇyaṁ, gato mukundaṁ parihṛtya kartam

[“Anyone who has taken shelter at the lotus feet of Mukunda, the giver of liberation, giving up all kinds of obligation, and has taken to the path in all seriousness, owes neither duties nor obligations to the demigods, sages, general living entities, family members, humankind or forefathers.”]
[Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 11.5.41]

Devaṛṣi, all these doing, we are indebted, born indebted we are with loan, to ṛṣi, devata, pitṛi, society, but if we...

sarva-dharmān parityajya, [mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

[“Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

...as śaraṇāgata, then these debts we are not to clear. These two ślokaś, this what we should do, if I do not do that. And what is desirable as our duty, if we take to exclusive Hari bhajan then if we neglect our duty we are not responsible for that. Kṛṣṇa will adjust that on our account. One thing, we neglect our duty: another thing, what is objectionable, if that comes within us, that also, both our positive duty and our obligation for our previous action, or any filthy connection, anything. One who is śaraṇāgata, one who is surrendered to the feet of Kṛṣṇa and if that is genuine character, not a sham one, then we should not waste our least energy to any other direction. Then we’ll be loser. Pitā na sa syāj jananī na sā syāt, in this way, and, gurur na sa syāt sva jano na sa syāt.

[gurur na sa syāt sva jano na sa syāt, pitā na sa syāj jananī na sā syāt daivaṁ na tat syān na patiś ca sa syān, na mocayed yaḥ samupeta mr̥tyum]

[R̥ṣabhadeva says: “Even a spiritual master, relative, parent, husband, or demigod who cannot save us from repeated birth and death should be abandoned at once.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.5.18]

No obligation to anyone if we enter into Kṛṣṇa, of course when we enter Kṛṣṇa conception the Guru and the servitors of Kṛṣṇa, that is included within Kṛṣṇa, that is not outside. Gurur na sa syāt, that Guru if goes anti direction, that Guru will be given up: but only to concentrate all our energy at the disposal of the real Guru. In this way it will be mentioned.
Gurur na sa syāt sva jano na sa syāt. Gurur na sa syāt example with Bali Mahārāja. Sva jano na sa syāt example of Vibhiṣana, he left Rāvaṇa and his clans. Pitā na sa syāj, Prahlāda is example. Jananī na sā syāt, the example with Bharata, the son of Kaikeyi, he neglected his mother.
Daivaṁ na tat syān, the example with Khatvāṅga Raja, who gave up instantaneously the sympathy of the devata and went and surrendered himself to Nārāyaṇa. Na patiś ca sa syān, the yajña patnis, the wives of the brāhmaṇas, engaged in sacrifice on the verge, outskirts of Mathurā:
they’re the proof. Disobeying their husbands they went to meet Kṛṣṇa. Na mocayed yaḥ samupeta mr̥tyum, only the extreme external gain has been dealt with here, that one who cannot save me from my highest danger, what interest I may have for him? I’m always plodding in the difficulties of mortality, janma-mr̥tyu-jarā- vyādhi [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9], and who can’t save me from that general and the real trouble of mine, what adoration I may have for him? So it is mentioned there, na mocayed yaḥ samupeta mr̥tyum. But in the positive sense it may be explained in another way. Without Kṛṣṇa bhajan the life is considered to be that of a dead man. Life is only there in its self determined stage, svarūpa-siddhi, there we are.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “I remain eternally indebted to you. I have nothing with which I can clear out your debt. Your service is of so higher quality.” His defeat: Kṛṣṇa’s defeat.

But that is broken here. “I can’t, I fail, I can’t.”

The universe of mundane and divine flow, every attempt and movement, the Vedas and allied scriptures which guide everyone's worship - all are initiated by Me alone. Realising this hidden treasure, the virtuous souls who are blessed with fine theistic intellect surpass the standards of duty and non-duty, and embrace the paramount path of love divine, rāga-mārga, and adore Me forever."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 10.8]

"In other words, I have given, seeing your yogyatā, fitness, the whole I have given to you. Under your consideration I have nothing more that with which I shall go clear your debt. ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...I chanted this śloka we find in Caitanya Bhāgavat.

[?] "I prepared the greatest medicine, named pipalikanda, which is the highest remedy of any kind of catching cold. But I see the cough, the coldness is increased, is increasingly attacking, and that is the fated to be, cannot be, it is beyond treatment, it seems to be beyond treatment. It will take its own course towards the doom."

That was the utterance of Mahāprabhu. Pipalikanda, pipal means that chill, a small fruit like this, very helpful for cold treatment. Just as pipali is also a little biter or pungent, so pipali, that is also a little pungent. And according to Ayurveda that is the best medicine for the cold, pipalikanda, a preparation of that particular shrub, pipali. I forgot the English name.

But Mahāprabhu says, “I came with pipalikanda, the best medicine for the Kali-yuga, I came with that.

But I find that they are making intrigue against Me, so they are fated to be doomed.”

That was His decision. And then He went to take sannyāsa at Katwa. He left His household life and straight went to Katwa within a few days, and the day is coming tomorrow. Tomorrow night, about three o'clock, that is day after tomorrow, He reached, He crossed the Ganges by swimming and with wet cloth He went to Katwa, straight. By nine or ten o'clock He reached there a distance of twenty five miles, from Māyāpur to Katwa almost twenty five miles. With the wet cloth, swimming the Ganges personally, He went there.

And Keśava Bhāratī with his paraphernalia he was sitting. Suddenly he found as if the Sun is rising, is coming, in such a glorious mood he feels that Sun coming to him. Then he offered, he could not accept that. “We are charmed by Your beauty, Your personality, and You are so young, only twenty four or something, or more younger. What about Your mother, Your wife, Your guardians? Without consulting them I can't venture to give You the robe of renunciation.” Keśava Bhāratī told.

And there was so many, that was a holy time, makara-saṅkrāntī, a famous tithi, and many came to take bath in the Ganges, that occasion. And they also came to see the āśrama of the sannyāsī. And many persons crowded there, a big throng. And they all opposed, “If Keśava Bhāratī you give sannyāsa to this young, charming, beautiful boy, then we will break down your āśrama immediately. It can't be.” They were opposed.

Then Keśava Bhāratī asked Mahāprabhu, Nimāi Paṇḍita, “So, You are that Nimāi Paṇḍita about whom we have heard so much? Many big scholars that came to conquer in Navadvīpa, the renowned place for the scholars of nyāya and You have defeated them, that Digvijayī and others, You are that Nimāi Paṇḍita?”

“Yes.”

“I can give You sannyāsa, but You must take the permission of Your guardians to me.” Mahāprabhu at once suddenly went, and going to get permission.

Then again, He was stopped. “The extraordinary personality which You possess, You can do anything and everything. You will go, You will charm Your guardians and get permission and You will come. Nothing is impossible for You. You’ve got such a look, that commanding look, commanding appearance. You can do anything and everything. So, consider Yourself, and we are also considering.”

The movement, the whole day, crores of the ordinary public are very much enraged. “We can’t allow you sannyāsī, to give sannyāsa to this boy, this young boy, impossible. What do you think? We shall smash your āśrama.”

Then kīrtana was begun. The whole day, whole night passed in saṅkīrtana and that convulsion movement, and the next day also. His will is prevailing. Gradually the mob, they were prepared for what is inevitable, that gradually controlled. And all began to cry.

Nimāi Paṇḍita put the mantram to Keśava Bhāratī: “Is this the mantram you will offer, I got in dream?” “Yes, yes, this is mantram, the Name also.”

In this way, the next day, afternoon, the sannyāsa function began. By that time the maternal uncle of Mahāprabhu, Candraśekhara Ācārya reached there. He was there, and he was asked to do the function on behalf of Caitanyadeva, Nimāi Paṇḍita. He began to chant and dance, and all the audience influenced by Him.

The barber was asked to shave. He can't venture to touch His body. "I can't touch." Anyhow, ordered repeatedly, at last he had to do the service. The shaving the beautiful curling hair of the beautiful face of the twenty four years genius boy, shaved. The barber promised, "I won't touch with this hand anyone else for my occupation. I shall rather eat begging. This is my last service. This hand I won't touch anybodies body from today." So he began the occupation of a sweetmeat-maker, the barber, became sweetmeat- maker.

Then after sannyāsa, began to dance mad, began to chant the śloka of Bhāgavatam:

etāṁ sa āsthāya parātmā-niṣṭhāṁ, adhyāsitāṁ pūrvatamair maharṣibhiḥ
aham tariṣyāmi duranta-pāraṁ, tamo mukundāṅghri-niṣevayaiva

[(As a brāhmaṇa from Avantī-deśa said:)] "I shall cross over the insurmountable ocean of nescience by being firmly fixed in the service of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa. This was approved by the previous ācāryas, who were fixed in firm devotion to the Lord, Paramātmā, the Supreme Personality of Godhead." [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.23.57] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya,3.6]

Tridaṇḍī-bhikṣu [?] eleventh canto [chapter seven]. Kṛṣṇa Himself is giving description of this sannyāsa to Uddhava. It is mentioned there, tridaṇḍī-bhikṣu. And what was sung by tridaṇḍī-bhikṣu, that passage was sung by Mahāprabhu.

"I have accepted this garb. This is favourable to My life of bhajan. None have any claim in the society over Me, and exclusively I shall be able to devote Myself for the service of Kṛṣṇa. I am going to Vṛndāvana, no other engagement, no other connection with anybody, anything I have after this sannyāsa.”

In this way, with ecstatic madness He began to dance and chant. Bhāratī also came to embrace Him, and both the Guru and the disciple clutching at their hands began to dance, and so many also began to chant and dance, in this way.

Then suddenly His whim came, “I shall go to Vṛndāvana immediately, during the evening time.” And He ran towards near the jungle, He entered into the jungle.”

And Nityānanda Prabhu, Candraśekhara Ācārya, Mukunda and Jagadānanda, these four followed Him.

He’s in trance, running sometimes, and crying sometimes, “I am going to Vṛndāvana. Exclusively I am devoted to serve Kṛṣṇa. I see no other duty I have got.” He’s running.

And they were also trying to follow Him as much; but He surpassed them. Night came; they were perplexed, lost His connection, all these, three, four. Then after some time, the winter night sometime they could hear that a very piteous tone, crying, coming to touch their ears, from a particular direction. Then in the dense darkness of the night, following that voice, they went that side.

And as He’s falling on the earth, on the ground, crying in a very piteous tone, “Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa.” kāhāṅ mora prāna nātha muralī-vadana, kāhāṅ karoṅ kāhāṅ pāṅ vrajendra-nandana

[“Where is my beloved Kṛṣṇa? I can’t tolerate His separation. Where is the Lord of My life, who is playing His flute? What shall I do now? Where should I go to find the son of Mahārāja Nanda?”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.15]

“Where is My beloved Kṛṣṇa? I can’t tolerate His separation. Where should I go, where shall I find Him?”

In this way, in piteous tone, heart-rending tone, He’s crying. And then they went near and managed to put some water on the eye and on the face, and then again He came out of the swoon.

“Who are you? I am going to Vṛndāvana. You are disturbing Me. Why?”

Again He got up and began His charge running towards that way. But in a bewildered stage, no consciousness of any particular direction: running, going to Vṛndāvana. But the great attraction of the devotees in Navadvīpa, Śāntipura, did not allow Him to go towards the west. But anyhow, the attraction came; He is going, and the attraction this side. In this way He came gradually to the way of Śāntipura. From Nadia He went and He went that side, and the attraction of the devotees, gradually they took to this course, and He came towards Kalna, Dubrarājpura.

And the trance also passing away; Nityānanda Prabhu came in His front. He found a sannyāsī. “I am going to Vṛndāvana. A sannyāsī is in My front. Who are you sannyāsī Śrīpād? Where do you go?”

“I’m going to Vṛndāvana with You.”

“Oh, you are going to Vṛndāvana? Yes, yes, very good. How far Vṛndāvana is from here?”

“No, no, We are come very near. Just You see the Yamunā.” Nityananda Prabhu showed Ganges there near Kalna. “You have come to the Yamunā, and after crossing, we shall get Vṛndāvana. Come, I am going to Vṛndāvana with You.”

...

So tomorrow we observe Mahāprabhu in His own house, from the hands of Śacī Devī, Mahāprabhu took food. In Bengal, generally, that day inauguration of Lakṣmī pūjā, some [?] some sort of cakes are prepared. So tomorrow that cake will be prepared.

And at night, dugda lag lagi [?] When Mahāprabhu thought that next morning, or in the later part of the night He will leave Navadvīpa, so He attracted His devotees in such a way that almost every leading devotee came to see Him in the evening. And those that are coming they're taking a flower garland. And so many garlands and He's putting again that garland to the neck of other devotees. And the devotees do not know: only four of the devotees knew that He will go, but ordinary devotees they don't know that this is the last night of His stay in Nadiyā. And whoever is coming to see Him, He's giving the advice.

[“Blessing everyone with affection and placing His own flower garlands around their necks, Śrī Gaura Hari instructed them to return to their homes and fully engage in the service and worship of Kṛṣṇa with all devotion. He said: “Always engage in thinking, remembering, hearing and speaking about Kṛṣṇa in all situations, whether awake or sleeping, eating or resting. If you have affection for Me, please promise that you will never cultivate anything other than Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa is the benevolent father and supreme cause of the whole universe and all beings. One who deliberately avoids worshipping his own transcendental father, is considered most fallen and suffers birth after birth.”] [Caitanya-Bhāgavat, Madhya, 28, 25-28] & [Śrī Bhakti Rakṣaka Bhajana Madhuri, p 16]

From His own neck, He is putting the garlands on the other devotees, and says: “Under any condition, don’t leave this Kṛṣṇa Nāma. Wherever, while eating, staying, sleeping, waking, always take the Name of Kṛṣṇa. Sabākāre diyā, ajña kareṇa gaura-hari. This is My last request to you all My friends. Kṛṣṇa kaha giyā, always talk about Kṛṣṇa, nothing else. Ki bhojane, while eating, ki śayane, sleeping, kibā jāgarane, or waking, aharniśa cinta kṛṣṇa, day and night think of Kṛṣṇa, balaha badane, and pronounce on your tongue.

Jagatera pitā kṛṣṇa ye na bhaje bāpa, He’s the origin of us all, He’s our father. We have come from Him. Pitṛ-drohī pātakīra janme janme tāpa, and the son who has no gratitude towards the father, he’s sure to be punished birth after birth. Hari-Nāma mahā-mantra, this is not ordinary mantra, but this is mahā-mantra. Sarva mantra sara, this is the great among the great mantra, sarva mantra sara, and the very essence of all the mantras ever known to the world, sarva mantra sara. Sarvaka balite nahi ara [?] Only take to this, always, always. No other restriction to be followed on this account.”

He was telling in this way. And they were all coming; some intuitively because that was the last night, so almost all coming. Then late at night, that Śrīdhara Kholaveca, who used to make trade on the plantain tree, the fruit, ripe or green, and that inner stem in the plantain, and then leaves also on which to take food, he had a trade on these things. And Mahāprabhu used to snatch it from him every day. Giving less price He used to collect the good things snatching from him. And that Śrīdhara came to see Him late at night with a green gourd, or what is that big fruit? Laow [?]

Devotees: Mellon? Jackfruit?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not jackfruit; this is a vegetable thing.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Squash.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Mahāprabhu asked, Mahāprabhu thought that Śrīdhara, “I took almost the whole life snatching from him so many vegetables snatching from him, and in this last night, he has taken this vegetable and I can’t leave it.” So asked His mother, “Mother, Śrīdhara has presented this vegetable...”

Parvat Mahārāja: Squash?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not squash, but a big size, you will see it here.

“And so, think how it may be prepared.” And at that very time, one came with some milk. Then Mahāprabhu asked, “Mother, with this milk and this lauw [?], prepare some sort of sweet food, paramāṇna.”

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Sweet-rice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dugha laga lagi [?] its name. That vegetable boiled in the milk with some sugar. That was prepared and Mahāprabhu took it.

Then almost about three o'clock or so, or even before, He came away. Śacī Devī knew, she had got some clue, she was staying, guarding at the door. Mahāprabhu bowed down to her, and like a stone figure, statue, Śacī Devī, mother, sat there.

Then the early morning, the devotees are coming to see Him, they found that Śacī Devī is like a statue, she is sitting at the door, door opened, everything empty. “What’s the matter Śacī Devī?”

“Oh, I was waiting for you, you devotees. You take possession of the house. I am waiting for you. I can’t enter into the house any more, any longer. I shall go anywhere and everywhere. You take possession. You are His devotees. You are real heir of His property, you take possession. I am going.” In this way.

They began to throng around her and to console her. “You will go? What about that girl, wife, He left, only fourteen years old? Who will protect her? You can’t shun the responsibility given to you. It is on your shoulders.” In this way, they came and they consoled her and took her again into the home, and wailing began there.

And in Katwa also, that thing was being done. Then after three days fasting and running, Mahāprabhu was taken to Śāntipura, Advaita-bhavan by Nityānanda. Nityānanda, when He found that He's sure to guide Him towards Śāntipura, He sent other followers, "Go ask Advaita Prabhu to come with a boat here in this ghāṭa, bathing place, and run to Navadvīpa to inform Śacī Devī that we have taken Him again in this side, Śāntipura, and take her in palanquin here in Śāntipura." Managed by Nityānanda Prabhu.

Then Nityānanda Prabhu took Him to Ganges, "Yes, yes, this is Yamunā."

Mahāprabhu jumped into the river after three days fasting. Yamunā darśana, Mahāprabhu took His bath. Taking His bath, suddenly found that one boat came by Him and some old man with beard rising from the boat with some red cloth etc. Then Mahāprabhu, finishing His bath He's on the bank and then he came, the old man came and bowed down to Him.

And Mahāprabhu marked his face, "Oh! I think you are Advaita Ācārya."
"Yes, I am him."

"Oh! How do you know that I'm in Vṛndāvana? How could you find? How could you know?"

"No, no, I'm not in Vṛndāvana. Wherever You are present that is Vṛndāvana. And by my fortune, You have come to the banks of the Ganges."

Then whole thing turned within the mind of Mahāprabhu. "Oh, then that sannyāsī is Nityānanda." He finds, He's finding the face of, prabhu kahe nityananda amila kanail ganga ke ami jamuna koila.

"Oh, Nityānanda had Me enticed, led Me to the banks of the Ganges and plainly told that this is Yamunā and He has taken Me to the Yamunā."

The whole trance disappeared.

Advaita Ācārya told, “Yes, Nityānanda did not speak wrong. In scriptures it is mentioned that Yamunā falls in Ganges near Allahabad and generally it is in the western side of the Bhagavati, the Yamunā. And on the other side, the eastern side, there is the Ganges. So You have now taken Your bath in Yamunā proper according to scripture. Now, give up Your wet clothing, and I have taken this dry [?] for sannyaśī, kaupīna, You please accept. This is my [?] And today after three days of fasting, You are to get something in my, I pray to be a guest in my house to take something, as Your begging diet. Your begging diet must, should take place in my home today. Please be kind with me.”

What to do? They all took Him in the boat, and took to Śāntipura. And the next day morning Śacī Devī was taken there. And about ten days or twelve days, Mahāprabhu remained in Śāntipura, met Śacī Devī, so many chanting and singing, dancing, all these things. After that He took His way to Nīlācala, Jagannātha Purī, it was arranged with them.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Then Vidagdha Prabhu will be in difficulty. He won't be able to come here. I have ordered him to go on with the service there to Swāmī Mahārāja. It does not matter. He may stay, and go on with the service, all right. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

In an ordinary way if we think that they are justified to do so to keep up their position as they think. To keep up the constitution, the institution to save, that those that are going there, they are hearing something, and thinking that we are below the standard, so it will be difficult for them to keep regard of us. So to save us, we must construct some wall between the two, that that influence may not come and lose the confidence of the general newcomers, especially on us, so non-cooperation in the beginning. I apprehended that they may not stop there only, but take some aggressive measure also they may take. God save them. Hare Kṛṣṇa. But what to do? I'm very slowly and cautiously going on with my own considered opinion, going ahead, as far as possible, with much restraint. I don't feel any enthusiasm or encouragement going against them. That is the creation of Swāmī Mahārāja who has done such a big work for Mahāprabhu and my Gurudeva. So much so almost impossible thing has been done by him. And his created institute that should be saved at any cost: a great thing, inconceivably great thing that should be saved. Only that the standard may not be lowered, at the same time, that is whatever we have understood and we have realized to be the truth. Only to a particular section, we want to keep it intact, that this is the standard of the estimation of the consideration of the realization of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu and our Gurudeva and Swāmī Mahārāja also. The standard of the culture is of this type.

Parvat Mahārāja: It seems like we are on the platform of friends and enemies.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The yesterday perhaps for the first time I heard, I can't trust it even, that Bhāvānanda Mahārāja, he trampled down his foot on a book named the Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, the very gist of all the Vaiṣṇava scriptures prepared by our Guru Mahārāja, Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra. I can't trust such heinous work being done by him. I can't follow, can't conceive that that scripture containing the very gist of Bhāgavatam, Gītā, and all other Vaiṣṇava scriptures, including the Goswāmīns, the pramāṇa, that is the most useful weapon of the preachers, sannyāsīns. It was prepared to that line. And that has been trampled down under foot. I can't conceive. So much so that I...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...happy if I can hear again, “No, no, this is false information.” I’ll be happy then, because I thought him to be very simple, a candid person, and trying his utmost to follow the line of Mahāprabhu. Hare Kṛṣṇa. This horrible thing: anyhow, we may have to be converted into stone if we are to hear these things from the Ācāryas of Swāmī Mahārāja, appointed by direct appointment. I shudder to think it. Hare Kṛṣṇa. It may be false. I would like to hear that it is false news.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

So Mahāprabhu is leaving His gr̥hastha līlā and preparing for His sannyāsa. From the only tomorrow at dead of night He will leave His home and go for the public.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Parvat Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu swims across the Ganges at what time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By three o'clock or so.

Parvat Mahārāja: In the morning?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At night, yes.

Parvat Mahārāja: Tomorrow. Would it be auspicious if we do that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm?

Aranya Mahārāja: To swim across the Ganges? I don't think so.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is a very painful story for us to think, that Mahāprabhu is doing in this way. The devotees of Mahāprabhu, they are not very happy to see Him in His sannyāsa līlā. You see wherever His Śrī Mūrti has been installed, none is in sannyāsa. The devotees don't like to see Him in sannyāsa. Just as the gopīs don't like to see Kṛṣṇa of Dvārakā, Kṛṣṇa of Gītā, they don't like. Dvārakā, Mathurā Kṛṣṇa, they want to avoid. "Kṛṣṇa of Vṛndāvana we want." They don't allow to trespass that Dvārakā conception. With much grief they are forced to look at, as it occurred in Kurukṣetra and Prabhasa Tīrtha. They are none, who was master of Kṛṣṇa, now they are none, can't see. So in that position, their followers cannot tolerate. These are fine things of divine sentiments, sentimental truth.

That Satadanya Mahārāja, he is in charge of Caitanya Candrodaya Maṭha now, is it not? Satadanya?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Under Bhāvānanda and Jayapataka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Disconnected, non-cooperate.

Devotees: Martial law, dictatorship, just like in Poland.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, not martial, but they're not happy to do that. But on policy they are to, for the time being, they are to test what effect it can have. They also have some affection for me. But still, to save their institution from the present crisis, what they think like that, it is a crisis, temporarily they are giving trial to this particular injunction.

Devotee: Temporary injunction.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I think like that. I think like that.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: You are very merciful.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But they cannot forget me totally. The newcomers may think like that, but the old that have seen me along with Swāmī Mahārāja there, it will be very difficult for them to bar, to put such a rigid law between the two, for those old men that have said how intimately Swāmī Mahārāja dealt with me. It will be very difficult for them. But still they, as a policy to take, in the check, the flow is coming this side.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So...

Devotee: With Caru Swāmī?

Devotee: No, alone, I will meet them there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So [To Kṛṣṇa Smṛti Sudha re: Tīrtha Yatra] you may begin with Katwa...

Devotee: [?]

Aranya Mahārāja: No, he's saying you should begin with Katwa.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And then two days after.

Devotee: The day after tomorrow Caitanya Mahāprabhu taken sannyāsa, in Katwa. Aranya Mahārāja: That's twenty five miles from here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Twenty five miles, Katwa station.

Devotee: One hour journey.

Aranya Mahārāja: By train?

Devotee: By train, bus also.

Aranya Mahārāja: So maybe we can go, today, and visit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You may do one thing in the meantime, you may go to Śāntipura and come back, and then day after tomorrow go to Katwa, come back, and then you start via Calcutta towards Purī, and then to the South.

Devotee: Ok. Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: Śāntipura Advaita Ācārya's house.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu often He went to Śāntipura and stayed a few days there chanting and dancing and so many līlās performed in Śāntipura, the home of Advaita Ācārya.

Aranya Mahārāja: Cross the river, take rikshaw?

Devotee: Yes, or you go by bus [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Direct train also, from Svarūpa Ganja the narrow gauge train that is via Krishnanaga direct goes to Śāntipura. If you take the train in Krishnanaga...

Devotee: Bus also always.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Always bus also. Go to Krishnanaga and from there to Śāntipura.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The town Śāntipura, just at the extremity of the Śāntipura town, there is one temple known as Babla [?] that is conceived to be the old home of Advaita Ācārya. The town is a little off. And there is one, that is Kulia, Haridāsa Ṭhākura's bhajan-kuṭīra is there, nearby in Kulia, these two, this Advaita Prabhu's home and Haridāsa Ṭhākura's bhajan-kuṭīra, two things to see there. And when you go to Kalna, the Gauridāsa Paṇḍita, Gaura-Nityānanda that was installed during the lifetime of Gaura- Nityānanda there in Kalna. You can go see and come back, and also go to Śāntipura come back, and go to Katwa come back. And then you via Calcutta go to Purī, and you may take halt in Remuṇā also, the Kṣīra-corā-Gopīnātha.

Aranya Mahārāja: How many hours to Katwa?

Devotee: Katwa is one hour journey.

Aranya Mahārāja: And Śāntipura?

Devotee: You go here, go to Kalna, Gauridāsa Paṇḍita, then go to Śāntipura.

Aranya Mahārāja: How?

Devotee: Over the Ganges and then rikshaw.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: taxi available, direct, but that will be costly. If five or six of you go...

Devotee: Over the Ganges, Svarūpa Ganj there is many cars also, direct.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So if you like to go in a group...

Aranya Mahārāja: Cheaper to go with taxi.

Parvat Mahārāja: Gaura-Nitāi came and became the Deity?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Became the Deity, yes, it is told like that. And then he said, “No, no, I don’t believe. You have managed anyhow to escape from the room.” Then put Them again, and “You go.” And the Deities were taken out and he under lock and key. Then the Deities began to walk. And he found, entered and found that They are petrified, Gaura-Nityānanda, like Deity. There this has been told.

It is all hypnotism, the highest hypnotism, satya-saṅkalpa. Let there be water, there was water, let there be light, there was light. Such willpower is at the back of all this creation what we see, satya-saṅkalpa.

His will is all. We are to prepare ourselves to come to such a conception about the creation. His will. So, subjective causality, the cause is subjective.

Consciousness is the original substance, not the fossil. Fossil is floating in a negligent part of consciousness: the consciousness is the ocean and some iceberg is floating on it. So all these are floating on the ocean of consciousness in different gradation, satya-saṅkalpa.

The lower things, more or less perverted reflection of the higher; and lower cannot create higher. It is common sense. In higher things we may find here and there according to the degree of our misconception, something unnecessary, un-useful, undesirable, and hard and soft; all these, for our own misguided subjective feeling.

In the fullest length of our vision everything is good, serving Kṛṣṇa from their different positions, serving Kṛṣṇa. The transformation is according to the transformation within our consciousness, the seer. The seer is the responsible for different kinds of sight, the deviation in the seer from the standpoint of the Absolute interest, these differences.

There is difference in so many things. Māyāvādīs say that these are all false. The Vaiṣṇavas do not say false. Nemo namast akincana [?] “There is no variegated-ness.”

But variegated-ness is there. Otherwise why it is mentioned? It is a disease, but disease is a real thing. So, medicine, doctor, all these are necessary to cure the disease. We can't say that disease is false. Then what is the necessity of curing?

So world is real, for the bondage, otherwise why the necessity of the Vedas, the Avatāras, the sādhus and to canvass, ‘That don't, this is not the normal place, it is abnormal. Go to be reinstated in your normal place, go to home, back to God.’ What is the necessity of uttering all these advices if it is not there? That is the contradiction between the Vaiṣṇava and the Māyāvāda. This is also here. It is also real. The error is real, the disease is real. This is one point. Another point, and that is the highest, cause is a differentiated one, not a static non-differentiated thing. There is hierarchy, everything is there. What we find here, this is the reflection, but perverted, but it is the reflection of the original. Otherwise how can it come here? If it is not in the cause, it cannot come in the effect. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

It is deplorable, but it seems to be true that the whole ISKCON administration is tottering. It is a very deplorable thing. But we see as a fact. And generally such things happen because the Ācārya can, they, there is a tendency to depend on their own disciples more. With their help, they like to go on with their work according to their free will. But the God-brothers, they may not rely much, because almost of equal status. They cannot order them forcefully to take up some duty and to carry out that. The difference comes from there. And there is some scientific basis of that. The vātsalya-rasa and the sākhyā-rasa: sākhyā-rasa is with God-brothers, and the vātsalya-rasa with the disciples. And vātsalya-rasa is stronger than sākhyā-rasa, so the vātsalya-rasa asserts itself, and the sākhyā-rasa is slackened: then scientific basis. But it depends on the Ācārya to be very careful that not so soon they should not go to depend on their disciples more. But in the beginning at least, they should rely more on the friends, these brothers, God- brothers. Very soon, if very soon, they go to depend on their disciples and the relationship with the friendly circle will be slackened. They will be, they cannot but be indifferent, so some elimination is possible, is likely.

And I told that so many good souls that came through Swāmī Mahārāja to throng under the flag of Mahāprabhu, Gauḍīya Maṭha, they will fast and die. So, some relief work should be done. That was my intention, and not, avoiding all possible clashes with the main institution, no clash with the main institution. No competition but only relief work. That was my – the big souls, the great souls, they are going, being aloof, and going away and becoming indifferent to Swāmī Mahārāja and Mahāprabhu, our Guru Mahārāja, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and Kṛṣṇa. And I shall stand and tolerate all these things seeing I shall feel that I won't see. That is difficult for me. So I ask my friends, "Start a relief work, to save those old friends that may not be encouraged by the present organizers."

But it is obvious that they will rely more on the sons than the brothers. It is a general thing. And we had a sad experience in our own institution like that. So I could conjecture that such things may come, may occur. And indifferently we shall try to help them somewhat, otherwise we'll be responsible to Mahāprabhu.

Though personally I'm not fit to carry on the responsibility of many devotees, and so and especially in this old age, it is not possible. So I ask you to create a separate institution nearby and sometimes possible help from me, and you go in your own way. In that way I can help you. That was my intention. So from the beginning I told, close to me, "Get one institution, independent, and go on working from that centre, and come now and then and consult with me. And I shall give my help as much as possible, from my present position, whatever is possible. That is my intention. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The living man is going to die, to tolerate this view and this is not very easy for another living man. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Die to live. The constitution is not everything, but still it has got some efficacy to help the people. Organisation to help the people is necessary, but a bogus organisation is not desirable. A bankrupt organisation; the capital must be there.

Once in Kulna, when talking with an important follower of Ramakrishna Mission, I had to give some analogy. “The big signboards are there, Ramakrishna Mission, Bharata Sevā Āśrama, Congress Sevā, all these, but the auditor goes, they will find all bankrupt. Only signboards there, but the real position is that of a bankrupt. No capital. So mere signboard won’t do, and a business practice and capacity, that won’t do. The capital must be there, should be there. What is the capital? The capital is necessary. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. [?] The cottage industry may also be encouraged if the capital is there, in small ways, but must be a substantial and a living thing. And dead man’s gesticulation that is convulsion. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Aranya Mahārāja: You are our capital.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not myself. Yes, Swāmī Mahārāja, Guru Mahārāja, Mahāprabhu, Bhāgavata, Kṛṣṇa, there are so many things. Swāmī Mahārāja passed away, the other day I will pass away. But you may, everyone will have to stand on his leg, that means must have some considerable position, considerable conception, considerable realization of for what we have come. That will be our safe position.

That gentleman, it is very deplorable that Pradyumna he has turned to be atheist. He came so far and now suddenly bankrupt? No faith in Kṛṣṇa? All was just a show, mere show? Or so hurried depression, degradation, how it is possible? How he could commit Vaiṣṇava aparādha or so hurried degradation, almost atheist? Maybe some despair, dejection may come, may suffer from dejection, despair, but atheist? I can't consider that what, his śraddhā bankrupt, and his śraddhā was only a show, only an imitative play; a dramatic show? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. He may not have unity with the institution as a whole, but separately he must go on in his own way. How can he leave the idea and become an atheist? It is all inconceivable to me.

Gaura Haribol, Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Ha, ha, ha, ha, their_____ [?] this rule, that none from here will go to see Śrīdhara Mahārāja. This has been banned. The curiosity of the people in general: that will be increased; "What for?"

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: "There must be something great over there. Let me see what's there."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Such a big Mission, they feel endangered?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. Actually they are in danger Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're all in danger from that man, and "Who is that man? We hear of something that he was an intimate friend to our Guru Mahārāja, our Founder, and now he's a danger to this Mission, what's the matter? We must have to have a look, have a peep of it before going, some idea of the dangerous spot from whom we shall be very careful. What is that thing?"

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The safest place has become the most dangerous.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "What are those Nāma-aparādhās from which we shall sit tight to save ourselves? We have some conception of Nāma-aparādhās, offences against the Holy Name, then we shall try to avoid them. What is that matter?” Gaura Haribol.

But I do not aspire after anything, but I’m going on, only giving response and attending the immediate call of duty. No plan, no speculation, nothing of the kind. Only the immediate call of duty I am doing and I am answering and attending. That is my idea. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

When I mildly refused conditionally to my Guru Mahārāja to go the west for preaching, I told, “I don’t think myself so fit.” I avoided, and Guru Mahārāja left me.

Then one of the ancient sannyāsīns, he told me in Bombay, “Swāmīji, I feel within my mind that I shall fall at your feet. You have checked such an ambitious chance. If you went to the west, a big name you could acquire easily as a western preacher, but you left it so easily.”

I simply told, “Yes, Mahārāja. You please bless me that no other ambition may enter into my heart, but to become a servant of Mahāprabhu. I crave for such benediction from you all. I don’t feel, of becoming, no temptation for big name I have got I think, and may not enter it again into my heart, but Mahāprabhu may capture the whole of my heart. That I pray for your blessings.”

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: And we are praying for your blessings.

Aranya Mahārāja: That that may happen to us.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: The same thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That should be the prayer of all others, I feel, everyone, that Kṛṣṇa may capture every nook and corner of our heart, we'll be blessed, we'll be fortunate, there cannot be any other fortunate to be thought out. Let Him capture every point, every atom of our existence. That should be our summon bonum of our life. The wholesale capturing by Him and His devotees, and nothing remains. That should be our prayer. What more? We have come out for that, the truth, the highest conception of the truth; that will transform me into its own part and parcel. Nirguṇa, and not anything left with separate interest in the saṁguṇa world. There is our aim of life. And let it continue with... Mahāprabhu. Gaurāṅga Sundara. Live in the eternity, member of the eternity, only in relativity of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, nothing else.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So, Kamalāsana Prabhu has not come today?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's here? But every day he comes from Māyāpur?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He has one good friend of his there, Kanva Prabhu. He does garden work and Kamalāsana also likes garden work, and all that where we lived there, he cleaned all the outside.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That's Kṛṣṇa Kīṅkara?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: And also Kamalāsana, the whole outside section... Kamalāsana: I got permission to take as many flowers as I wanted and plant them...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, you are not to return there today? Generally after the class he goes to Māyāpur, and again before evening he comes here, I am told.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But he can't go to Māyāpur today?
Kamalāsana: I'm going to prepare the flower beds today.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No. He's not going. He's working on a garden, here.

Aranya Mahārāja: The point is, are you allowed to go and come to and from Māyāpur? Kamalāsana: Well, it's because no one knows where I really live.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And what about that Haripāda?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He left this morning to go to Vṛndāvana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At the departure of Swāmī Mahārāja, perhaps from Māyāpur, I came to ISKCON and Jayapataka Mahārāja, he very heartily requested me, that I explain there that śloka of Kurukṣetra, āhuś ca te nalina-nābha [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.82.49] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.136]. Perhaps that was very striking to Jayapataka Mahārāja. He came to request me, "Please go with us to America. This beautiful śloka of Bhāgavatam you are to explain there."

He requested.

‘It is impossible for me in this old age to go there. In general I’m very idle type man. Again, in this old age, to take the trouble of going so far to take such risk is not possible for me. Forgive me.’

But very earnestly he requested me, “You go to explain the śloka of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam there. That is necessary.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Organizations there are innumerable, but what for? That is in question, the organization. Organization is good of course, if it is prepared to render service cent per cent to the real principle. That we should remember, everywhere, otherwise it is a burden.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: They say that, “Śrīdhara Mahārāja is all right, but those devotees who go to hear him, they are poison. Mahārāja is all right, but the devotees going, they have got separate interest.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the symptom of a thing of all rightness. A good thing he poisons everything. That is the logic: “Śrīdhara Mahārāja is all right, but anyone coming in contact with him, they are poison, poisoned by him!” They’re committing suicide.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What else?

Parvat Mahārāja: They say we are poison, but we are coming here to become free from the poison that we were eating there.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But this is the most valuable poison we have ever found in our life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You also approach there, and with your heart, then you will also be poisoned. That is Kṛṣṇa poisoning.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: This poisoning here is very sweet. It is killing all anarthas this poison here. We are very anxious for this poison, like cataka bird.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Visasya visamud daran [?] Poison also medicine in some disease: yes, poison, poison to māyā. It has also been described in Kṛṣṇa līlā, we find in the song, they say, the gopīs, perhaps Rādhārāṇī, is bitten by the black snake, so no hope of Her being cured. The black snake has bitten Her. The Kṛṣṇa conception has poisoned. Sarva-dharmān parityajya [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]. He leaves all phases of duties, and if that sort of poison enters your body, he leaves all sorts of normal, so called normal life here, normal duties all left. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] He says that, what did you answer to him?

Parvat Mahārāja: He didn't tell me, these other devotees. I went to get my suitcase out of there to bring here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] He (Satadhanya Mahārāja) addressed to other servitors of the [Māyāpur] Maṭha, when he was getting away with his own baggage.

Parvat Mahārāja: Renouncing. Deeper realizations, very high realizations, he is keeping them for himself, but now you are giving them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...Ācārya, present Ācārya, "That if you can collect such articles for your paper, your paper standard will be raised up." And saying that he repeatedly requested me, wherever, in Madras, Bombay: "Send articles please. Prabhupāda remarked about your articles is such: it will raise the standard of the paper." That was one thing.

Then the Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, that poem produced very good influence in his heart. He remarked in different way and expressed that, "There is someone left to say my say in future." That was his remark. "That what I want to say, in future it is remaining, I'm going satisfied."

That is the development in the conception of the Gauḍīya ontological representation, how from Brahman, Paramātmā, Nārāyaṇa is higher, and from Nārāyaṇa how Kṛṣṇa conception is higher. And in Kṛṣṇa conception how mādhyura-rasa, Vṛndāvana Kṛṣṇa is higher. And then how Rādhā-dāsyam, Rādhā- kairākṛyā is the highest. It is shown there by gradual process. The real bhajan of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava it climbs...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...may be affectionate, but even Lalitā Prasād who was anti Guru Mahārāja. He also appreciated because it is written in the name of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, common interest, so he also expressed her appreciation for this śloka, this Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. What is Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura? In comparison with other Ācāryas, spiritual preceptors, what is his position? It was depicted there by gradual development. The gradual development of the theism, of the theistic realisation, that was shown there and Prabhupāda appreciated that very much. The comparative study of the real theism, how it grows, very logically.

That Rāmānanda Rāya, the topics of Mahāprabhu and Rāmānanda Rāya that is very, very sweet in my heart, and my heart follows that very closely as if making it one with me. So much so that the development in the theistic conception of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, the Bhāgavata School, as it was expressed in the discourse of Mahāprabhu and Rāya Rāmānanda. Mahāprabhu is asking and Rāmānanda replying, in this process how step by step it climbed up to the highest.

I closely followed that and that is the key to all my talk. There in one place it is found in the varṇāśrama how gradually it is developing step by step. We are to follow that strictly. Strictly and sincerely we are to follow, then everything we can have a conception of, what is Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava, what is Bhāgavata Dharma, what is Kṛṣṇa consciousness. It is there. And any true student of that discourse divine he may have the real conception, entrance into the very private, into the secret of the whole Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava theology. It is there. And then of course in Sanātana śikṣā, Rūpa śikṣā: there elaborately. But in a nut shell the whole system is to be found there, from top to bottom there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And that is within my heart always.

Gaura-Nityānanda. Gaura-Nityānanda. Nitāi-Gaura-Gadādhara. Nitāi-Gaura-Gadādhara.

I like and I feel that I'm at their feet. I want to secure my position near the feet of Rāya Rāmānanda and Mahāprabhu, Svarūpa Dāmodara. No other wealth has any charm in my life here in the world, or in Vaikuṇṭha, anywhere else. What the ISKCON will do, harm to me? I want to take my position there, firm, eternal position under the feet of my master.

Ratna-cintāmaṇi, Kavirāja Goswāmī has mentioned there the talk is discovering valuable after valuable, more and more valuable gems and gems in gradual process. Go deeper, go deeper, to get more valuable gems. Go deeper in this way. It has been given by instalment.

Sciata [?], sona, ratna-cintāmaṇi [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8, 294] In this process the valuable, more valuable, more valuable things have been distributed there in that talk. "It is a public thing. It is there. Go and take and loot. It is open to all. It is open to all. Go and drink to the fullest extent of your capacity. Quench your all hankering, thirst. It is there."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

In Gaura-līlā, the nectar of Kṛṣṇa-līlā is not confined to a limited circle, but is being distributed on all sides. It is just as if from all ten sides of the nectarine lake of Kṛṣṇa-līlā hundreds of streams are flowing.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 25.271]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakta-gana, suna mora sadenya bhajan [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 25.272?] Śrī Govinda Mahārāja has appreciation for this very much. It is written in Caitanya-caritāmṛta. What is Mahāprabhu? Kavirāja Goswāmī is giving description about Mahāprabhu. Who is He? Just from a divine infinite lake so many hundreds of currents are coming out of nectar. Nectarine currents are in thousands coming out from a particular divine lake. And all those currents are kṛṣṇa-līlā amṛta, and coming out from the lake who is Mahāprabhu. Who is Mahāprabhu: from whom in thousand ways the variegated nature of Kṛṣṇa-līlā coming out. Kṛṣṇa-līlā amṛta-sara, tāra śata śata dhara. Hundreds of streams are coming out of a particular inconceivable divine lake, and the current of kṛṣṇa-līlā amṛta, the nectarine pastimes of Kṛṣṇa is coming out. And the lake has been compared with Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva, oozing out from Him in every movement, His glance, His appearance, His talk, His dancing, His kīrtana, His ordinary discourse with His devotees. In different variegated nature and a beautiful way only kṛṣṇa-līlā amṛta and the streams are oozing in different place, of different taste, peculiar. Unthinkable sweetness there coming out from Him from every posture, gesture, look, movement, Kṛṣṇa coming out; that is Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu. When if one can understand Him that, raso 'py asya, paramṁ drṣṭva nivartate...

[“However, inner attachment to sense objects is spontaneously denounced by the person of a properly adjusted intelligence, due to his having had a glimpse of the all-attractive beauty of the Supreme Truth.”]

...by direct, by instalment according to the capability of those for whom I give. But one who will have such fine understanding, as to understand, as to know, as to feel this is also His order but to a particular group. But more intelligent and higher minded persons they may cross those rulings and advance further. So many scriptures to be ignored, many sādhu's of that level to be ignored: and even the society and well-wishers, well-wishers of different interest. Everything should be ignored if you want Me as Kṛṣṇa, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa, especially in Vṛndāvana, Vraja. I can't tolerate any partner of any shade in My dealings of everyone, no partner. I am the Absolute Enjoyer. No partnership I can tolerate. Even to whom you should have obligation, the Guru section, pita, mātā, the relatives, the parents, so-called superiors, none I can tolerate. Then I'm not there cent per cent. If you want Me then I want to have cent per cent in quality. You may have to attend those duties but outwardly, a show. But the inner most heart I want wholesale. There I am. I am there. Otherwise you will have to come to My outer expression. So many other forms I have got to engage you in that holy life. But brajendra-nandan, if you want brajendra-kīśora, no other path."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Svajanam ārya-pathaṁ ca hitvā, bhejur mukunda-pada-vīm śrutibhir vimṛgyām.

[āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām, vṛndāvane kim api gulma-latauṣadhīnām

[“The gopīs of Vṛndāvana have given up the association of their husbands, sons and other family members, who are very difficult to renounce, and they have sacrificed even their religious principles to take shelter of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, which are sought after by even the Vedas. O grant me the fortune to be born as a blade of grass in Vṛndāvana, so that I may take the dust of those great souls upon my head.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61]

“Because, the rulings, law books, religious law books also, they can’t express what they’re aiming at, such a thing, śrutibhir vimṛgyām. All the revealed truths, revealed expressions, they’re also aiming towards this, but can’t express fully. That is, My nature is such, and most selfish in that respect. So selfish even the scriptures cannot measure it, they fail to measure and express that I’m so selfish. But, you will try to understand that is your absolute good. Absolute good, absolute cannot be, cannot admit any secondary position. He can’t tolerate that He’ll be second to someone, because He’s Absolute, not second to anyone. So no partnership is conceivable there. I’m such.”

But, connotation increases denotation decreases, denotation increases connotation decreases, in logic we read. Connotation increases denotation decreases, in this way. This conception is there everywhere.

muktānām api siddhānām nārāyaṇa-parāyaṇa [sudurlabhaḥ praśāntātmā koṭīṣv api mahā-mune]

["O great sage, among many millions who are liberated and perfect in knowledge of liberation, one may be a devotee of Lord Nārāyaṇa, or Kṛṣṇa. Such devotees, who are fully peaceful, are extremely rare."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.14. 5] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.150]

Karmibhyaś cādhiko yogī, jñānibhyo [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.46] Yoginām api sarveṣāṁ, mad-gatena, śraddhā [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.47]

[tapasvibhyo 'dhiko yogī, jñānibhyo 'pi mato 'dhikaḥ karmibhyaś cādhiko yogī, tasmād yogī bhavārjuna yoginām api sarveṣāṁ, mad-gatenāntarātmanā śraddhāvān bhajate yo māṁ, sa me yuktatamo mataḥ]

["The yogī who is a worshipper of the Supersoul is superior to persons engrossed in severe austerities such as the cāndrāyaṇa, superior to the worshippers of Brahman, and superior to the fruitive workers. Know this certainly to be My conclusion. Therefore, O Arjuna, be a yogī."] ["Among all types of yogīs, the most elevated of all is the devotee who has full faith in the authoritative pure devotional scriptures, and who adores Me with all their heart by hearing and singing My divine glories, rendering all services unto Me. Certainly this is My opinion."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.46-7]

The gradual process, elimination and improvement: improvement means elimination. So those that are very particular about quality, they cannot mix with the mass, hankering for mass qualification or capacity. They're always trying to go up, in eliminative nature. They're ruthlessly progressing of eliminating nature.

Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja in his mahāprasthāna when he's making advance, the Draupadī, Sahadeva, Nakula, all, falling down and asking, "Why it is so? We are so keenly or so intimately connected with you Mahārāja, you are going away, you are going up, and we fall down."

Carelessly Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja going up, "Oh, you had such defects so you fell down one by one, Draupadī, Sahadeva, Nakula, Arjuna, Bhīma – "Why I am falling down?" – you had some such defect of this nature so you fall down." Without caring he's marching onward.

Then should we mark that this is a type of selfishness? No. To advance towards truth it cannot be so. Truth is distributed by Himself. Truth, not only wholesome, distributive also, self distributing in nature, so I'm going only to enhance that. By serving Him I'm going to help Him to self distribution. It is universal. Apparently it may be thought to be very narrowed in the worldly sense, in the external sense, but it is more universal from the qualitative difference.

Eliminating stone, earth, water, we are going to ether, but ether is more extensive than the earth. Water is more extensive than the earth; then the air is more extensive, spacious, than the water, in this way. The sukṣma, the gross is being eliminated and we're going to approach towards sukṣma, subtle, from subtler to subtlest. But in one sense that is more accommodating.

Truth: so Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa, whimsical, Absolute Good whimsical; that is at the back of every form of truth. So outwardly eliminating but inwardly it is accommodating.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura. So quality is valuable, it is precious. Quantity is available, it is very cheap, quantity here we find. But here in this mundane plane the nature of quality is very rarely found.

Different nature we find, even in the Ācārya, goṣṭhy-ānandī, whatever they have in a collective way they want get it, enjoy. And there are some who very eager to improve their qualitative realisation, do not care much for the environment, but more careful towards inner realisation. But when anyone is used by the Absolute to do any work he will have to do that. He'll be given such nature. Arurakta [?] The stage when just he's going to climb the stage, that āpana-daśā, that in his own plane: amongst them two kinds, goṣṭhyānandī and viviktānandī [aka bhajanānandī].

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in the Hari-Nāma-cintāmaṇi it describes about the āpana-daśā and those different stages. And Bhaktivinoda says that there are persons who have arcana-pravṛtti and those have saṅkīrtana-pravṛtti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm? Bhāratī Mahārāja: Arcana-pravṛtti...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Arcana-pravṛtti in āpana-daśā ?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes, no, not in that but generally sādhakas may have arcana-pravṛtti or saṅkīrtana- pravṛtti. So are these comparisons...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Arcana temperament in the highest stage it is to be found in Rāmānuja sampradāya, in Vaiṣṇava, the arcana may attain final stage. But in Goloka arcana is secondary, and the rāga service that is primary. Arcana, not arcana proper but takes the shape of arcana we find in Nimbarka sampradāya, something like arcana. And opposite, rāga sevā we find in Vallabha sampradāya, Viṣṇuswāmī, Vallabha sampradāya, sevā. They even do not like to pronounce the name arcana, but 'sevā I'm doing.'

And kīrtana is in Gauḍīya sampradāya and what seems to be arcana is not real arcana. It is what Rūpa, Sanātana did themselves, Goswāmīns: that is a kind of sevā, not much of arcana. Arcana is there when scripture plays the part, important play. But heart within, the satisfaction of the inner heart, that plays the important part in bhajan, sevā.

In Vraja-maṇḍala about Kṛṣṇa, Gopāla, all these things, the rāga-mārga, the inner inclination, tendency, that is more valuable, is considered to be more valuable than what is recommended in the scriptures in arcana-mārga.

Once, in Gauḍīya you may find, one such question was put to our Guru Mahārāja. “That Rūpa, Sanātana, their Govinda Mandira, all these temples have been established by them, Deities installed, so they also did arcanam.”

Then Guru Mahārāja told, “No. What they did that is bhajan. Arcana is indirect, through the scripture, bhajan from heart to heart, direct approach. So apparently people may think that they’re making arcana but it is not so. Bhajan means direct service, and arcana through the scriptural rules. So Rūpa, Sanātana were not followers of, or the Goswāmīns, were not followers of arcana though they installed Deities, temples, etc. More concerned with inner sentiment, that is bhajan. And more care taken to the rules regulations of the śāstra that is arcana.”

That will help gradually to arouse our internal feeling, sentiment, so arcana is not to be condemned but if any distinction to be thought out it is like that. The bhajan more hearty and the arcana more scriptural.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Arcana is more jñāna-miśrā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śāstra-niṣṭha. Śāstra-niṣṭha. Śrutibhir vimṛgyām [from the verse beginning āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So this platform of āpana is extremely advanced, very advanced, āpana-daśā is very advanced stage.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. Svarūpa-siddhi, advanced stage.

...

... general maintain, consolidate your position where you are, that you may not have to go back. Then you must march and that is the object of your consolidated position.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja [ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

[“Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

So relative things to be attended because we may go down, but the object is to go onward absolute, absolute consideration, it is not a static one. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise it will be a stagnant, rotten thing. Progressing nature there always should be, and the same time to maintain ones advanced position also. So relative only to maintain the present position, and absolute consideration to go up, further, onward. So that is our aim and this is our position that we may not go down.

But the nature of government whether democratic or autocratic, what sort of government should be, utilise, administer to the people through them, that is all important.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja's tone that when he has got recognition from Swāmī Mahārāja to do the function of the Ācārya, then necessarily he's in absolute position.

But I do not recognise his position to be so. Still he's a student, madhyama-adhikārī, at most, at best.

Then there's Ādikeśa, he was an Ācārya?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, only GBC.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only GBC.

Parvat Mahārāja: He was trying to be an Ācārya.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He desires of becoming an Ācārya, we're told.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And I was told that one Ācārya he has married his own disciple?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, he didn't do it, he had some desire to do that, and then he checked that desire.

Parvat Mahārāja: He asked the GBC's permission.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He requested it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is he?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Harikeśa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Harikeśa is more afraid, Harikeśa is more afraid of me that he wants to keep the standard of the Ācārya. He's there to criticise the standard of Ācārya.

“We are all perfect, we are supposed to be perfect.”

But that gentleman he does not recognise that position in us...

...

... He's the son of our aunt Śacī Devī. Śacī Devī is our aunt and He's born of her, so what greater position He may hold than us? [?] Then of course we are to admit that He's over-intelligent and endowed with some great prospect. That does not mean that He will say that we are nothing, and He's all perfect.”

...

You may go through that tridaṇḍī-bhikṣu [?] Kṛṣṇa Himself is chanting that how he was disturbed by the public, that brāhmaṇa of Avantīpur, that tridaṇḍī-bhikṣu, how the public disturbed him. Collecting some food he's placing on the bank of a river and eating. Some came and passed urine there, so much it is mentioned. And of course it is coming from the mouth of Kṛṣṇa Himself. The public is, may be so boisterous, so rude, so cruel, so beastly in their temperament. That collecting some food by begging and he's taking that, and one came and began to pass urine. What more can take? Then they will put so many questions. He's tired of answering them, he's keeping silence. Then giving some slap. “You don't say anything, you must be a thief, or dacoit.” In this way this is [?] And this passes through the notice of Kṛṣṇa Himself. But it is necessary for the improvement of the sādhu's condition. So He does not interfere. It helps them indirectly. That may be hateful to the world at large that they may not have any charm in future for such life, mystery life.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Jyoti Vasu, he recently died in Jaipur.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He's the chief minister.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, Jyoti Mai Vasu [?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Any reaction in Bengal?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Reaction that one of the strong members of the Communist Party went away, not much. He has a big majority still. Mai Vasu [?] he was an assembly member only, but fighting member, man of learning, he was somewhat a learned man, in law.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: He was favourable to some degree towards ISKCON.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Favourable?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yeah, he had some connection with Bhāvānanda and Jayapataka. He carried some influence for ISKCON.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So natural, his father – was going to commit suicide: action reaction, ā-virincyād amaṅgalam, karmaṇām pariṇāmitvād, ā-virincyād amaṇ...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... Rādhārāṇī's brother, not direct, Rādhārāṇī's brother is Śrīdam. Śrīdam is Rādhārāṇī's brother, elder brother. And Subal he has also intimate connection with Rādhārāṇī's father-in-law's house. He had free access there when very young, and almost similar to She, as Rādhārāṇī. He was very beautiful and he could give proxy of Rādhārāṇī. Subal milan.

Once, Subal at noontime, when Kṛṣṇa hankered after Rādhārāṇī's company so much, Subal was sent to fetch Her, in noontime. And Subal went there and took the garments of Rādhārāṇī and stayed in the harem. And Rādhārāṇī took the garments – She was dressed by the garment like Subal. And anyhow She managed to get out of the house, and with a young calf on Her breast She approached to Kṛṣṇa.

So much so imitation, Kṛṣṇa could not detect, “Oh, Subal you come back. You can’t manage to take Her here?”

“Yes.” Rādhārāṇī in the garb of Subal answered, “Yes, it is very difficult. I could not manage to take Her.”

Then Kṛṣṇa going to faint, in half fainted form fell down.

Then Rādhārāṇī fell on His feet. “Eh, can’t recognise Your eternal maidservant, You My Lord? You fail to recognise Me. I’m Your eternal servitor maidservant and You can’t recognise Me My Lord. I have come.”

No. Rādhārāṇī put in merry joke. “I could not take Her, but if you ask I can bring Candra. Should I make any attempt for that?”

“No, no, no. You don’t understand My heart. I don’t want Candra now. My hankering to the extreme for Rādhārāṇī.”

Then Rādhārāṇī could not be taken. What to do? Then He was going to faint. Then She came out, “I’m Your eternal maidservant. You could not recognise Me My master, this is Myself.” With such things.

And Subal was very similar and very intimate to the friend of Rādhārāṇī’s father-in-law, Subal. Among all the friends he was very reliable, especially in the case of this mādhyura-rasa connection. So Subal, though in friendly rasa he can reach up to bhāva intensity. No other friends can attain up to bhāva-daśā, sneha, mana, pranaya, rāga, anurāga, bhāva, so intensified prema that it comes, reaches to the condition of bhāva, then mahābhāva. That is only in mādhyura-rasa and with Rādhārāṇī. Subal means sākhyā-rasa, but because of his connection with mādhyura-rasa, the friends rasa could reach up to bhāva, bhāva-daśā. So much intensity he could reach, he could acquire.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So, I like if possible you can go to see Ekacākrā, Nityānanda Prabhu's birthplace. He's all in all of Gaura-maṇḍala. Mahāprabhu left the whole responsibility of Gaura-maṇḍala to Nityānanda. And He did his best inconceivably preaching the Name of Śrī Gaurāṅga here. You can look how advanced the position is here, you can experience yourself. If you go out the people will come like dog to bite you. In such position Nityānanda Prabhu He could capture so many on the side of Mahāprabhu.

Mahāprabhu when He sent Nityānanda Prabhu, "No other person is eligible to manage in Bengal, in Gaura-maṇḍala, but You Śrīpāda. Only You can manage there."

He had the knack to appeal to the masses. The scholar section eliminated and the mass conversion was made by Nityānanda, and very few scholars, but mass conversion that was led by Nityānanda Prabhu here in Bengal. So Nityānanda Prabhu's birthplace is Ekacākrā, Bīrbhum District.

I went there while coming from Vṛndāvana via Dhambad [?], Bholpur [?], Malapur [?] station, and from Malapur of course now bus, I hired a bullock cart and deposited my beddings there and I walked behind that bullock cart. And then I stayed there one night, and there was a gentleman in charge, one Bidu Visanca Padar [?], he was M.A., B.L., he also read from Baharampur College and he could understand me. And he welcomed me there very much, and when I come began to shed tears, that Bidu Visanca Padar. Secluded educated man in that village, he slept almost alone, no one to talk of his level. So anyhow he began to shed tears, Bidu Visanca Padar. Only once I went there. That is in nineteen forty, December, I visited the place. Now much improvement must have been made there.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Gaura Sundara. So many places are shown as the līlā- sthāna, the places of pastimes in His early days, where did He do what things, that is also mentioned. Garbhavas [?], is a place.

And there is another place where Bhīma, Bhīmasen, one of the Pāṇḍavas, he killed one Baka-rākṣasa there, Ekacākrā. When they were in disguise, moving in different places, they came to Ekacākrā, Pāṇḍavas with Kuntī. And there that Baka-rākṣasa was a big demon and he was killed by Bhīma. That is also shown a little far, few furlongs, under the tree that deed was done, Ekacākrā. The Pāṇḍavas living with a brāhmaṇa family in secrecy, and the Baka-rākṣasa the demon, they would eat human bodies also, so he was devastating the locality.

So the king, or the chief of that locality had a contract with him that, “Every day I shall send in a cart some paramāṇna, that boiled milk-rice, to some huge quantity, and two bullocks, and the man who will guide the bullocks, and large quantity of that milk-rice, will reach you every day timely. You don’t devastate my land, don’t disturb my subjects.”

And that was done, that one man must go, human body, and two bullocks, and that huge quantity of milk-rice, he used to devour, that Baka. Now, he managed that every family should give a man who will guide that bullock cart and be food of that demon.

So in the house Kuntī took her shelter with five sons, the turn came to their family one day. And in the family there was a mourning picture, “Who is to go to be devoured by the demon, to be his food today?”

Then hearing about the wailing in the family Kuntī came to ask, “What’s the matter? Why do you mourn so much? What’s the matter?”

Then they gave the description that such is the matter.

“Oh, it does not matter. You have only son, you should not. The son says, ‘I shall go.’ The father says, ‘No, I shall go.’ The daughter says, ‘I shall go.’ In this way. Then Kuntī told, “We are living here very comfortably for so long a time, so you need not, I have got five sons, I shall send one. We are very much satisfied with your dealings. As guest we are living very happily. I shall give one son. You don’t bother.”

“No, no, no. You are our guest. Guests should be treated like Nārāyaṇa, it is in the scripture. How can I do? We can’t accept that, your offer.”

Then Kuntī came out, “I have got such a son I think he will go and kill the demon and relieve your locality forever.”

Anyhow hearing that, that was managed, Kuntī Devī asked Bhīmasen. Bhīma was very much pleased. He can’t eat to his full belly there by collection. So much paramāṇna, that is milk-rice, this large quantity, “Yes, very nice thing, engagement.” Bhīma went there and no sooner he reached there he took down that paramāṇna there in the big pot and began to eat, himself, to drink it there.

And that demon, enraged, he came, “What’s the matter? That man’s so bold. I shall eat him for he’s eating my food.”

Bhīma does not care, he has got sweet preparation of paramāṇna, he’s taking carelessly.

Then he’s coming with tree branches, broken branches of trees and began, and in one hand Bhīma he’s protecting himself and with the right hand he’s going on taking. Then when it’s finished he came out and there was a fight and the demon Bak was killed there, Bakaśura. Ekacākrā Bakarākṣasa [?]

And nearby, a few furlongs southern, to the south, southern position, the garbhavas [?] where Hadāi Paṇḍita had his small cottage where Nityānanda Prabhu came. And up to twelve years He lived here, then one sannyāsī came and begged the child for him, for his servant. For that was the custom of the day, he could not deny their beautiful son of twelve years only, so brisk and smart and very beautiful. But the parents had no other alternative but to give it in the beggar's pot. He was taken when twelve years. And then He wandered with that sādhu almost all the places of pilgrimage in India in His boyhood. Then when He was about twenty years He wandered to different tīrthas with the sannyāsī. And when He was about thirty two then Mahāprabhu came out with His saṅkīrtana-līlā, and Nityānanda Prabhu gradually joined.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Then Mahāprabhu - Nityānanda Prabhu has come here and He hid Himself in the house of Nandan Ācārya. Mahāprabhu had a dream at night that one sādhu He has come in a chariot, and the chariot is Haladhara's, just like that of Balarāma. And He's making enquiry here, "Where is the house located of Nimāi Paṇḍita? Where is Nimāi Paṇḍita? Where does He live?" He had that dream.

And in the morning He asked His friends, "That a great personage has visited Navadvīpa, has come to visit Navadvīpa. You please try to find out Him, where He's putting up."

Then they went around the town, and as much as much as possible they searched but did not have any clue. "No great person has come here. We have searched all possible localities but no such person."

Then Mahāprabhu told, "Let Me try. Come along with Me."

And He came direct to Nandan Ācārya's bhavan, and there when entered the compound found a big, very grown up, beautiful body, just sitting on the veranda. And Mahāprabhu went there and offering His respect to His Nityānanda Prabhu He eyed Himself, looked at Him very deeply. Then perhaps They embraced and fainted. "I have got My Lord."

Before that He expressed, "Kṛṣṇa has come here. Where is He? I went to Vṛndāvana, I found the throne is empty, vacant. Kṛṣṇa is not there now. He has come here I'm told."

In this way, intuitively He's saying like that, it appears like that, "That I searched Kṛṣṇa but could not find there in Vṛndāvana. Wherever I went the throne is empty. And I was told that Kṛṣṇa has come recently to Navadvīpa. So I ran here."

In this way He was talking. Then finding Mahāprabhu, embraced Him, fainted.

The other devotees they can't make out what's the matter. "A newcomer, a stranger, and so close intimation: what's the matter? Who are They, so deep connection, inconceivably deep? We are so long with Nityānanda but we are far off, and this newcomer so deeply connected that after embracing fainted."

Then gradually when They arose Nityānanda Prabhu joined the saṅkīrtana campaign and became the leader of the party.

In Jagāi, Mādhāi case He offered Himself to be the opponent, or offered Himself as their food. And He was wounded, blood oozing, Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanya, He, Śrī Gaurāṅga, lost His temper, invited cakram to destroy the whole atheist section. Nityānanda Prabhu checked Him, cautioned Him, "What are You doing? Don't You forget in this līlā not to use any force, but only love is the weapon to conquer the heart of the fallen, and no use of force." He cautioned Mahāprabhu.

But He lost His temper, Mahāprabhu, "Blood oozing from Nityānanda's body," could not: this is the Godhead in the God, He can't tolerate His own promise.

Just as Kṛṣṇa did in the case of Bhīṣma, when Bhīṣma with folded palms fell on the gate, "Oh, an insignificant person I am and to keep up my promise You break Your promise."

Kṛṣṇa promised that He won't catch any weapon in Kurukṣetra war, Kurukṣetra battle. And Bhīṣma he also promised that, "I shall force Kṛṣṇa to catch weapon in today's battle." And he so vehemently, desperately Bhīṣma fought that day that Arjuna could not protect him. And when Arjuna was, his activities almost stopped, he began to throw weapon to Kṛṣṇa. And Kṛṣṇa seeing Arjuna helpless He jumped out of the chariot and with the cakram in His hand He went to attack Bhīṣma, walking.

Then Arjuna also jumped, got his consciousness back, jumped and cried, "No, no, my friend, why You are going? You are breaking Your promise."

"No. You Dhanañjaya, do you think that without you the battle of Kurukṣetra cannot be won? Do you think like that? I alone attain the victory in this battle and make Mahārāja Yudhiṣṭhira – I shall install him on the throne. Who can oppose this I shall see."

On the other side Bhīṣma's wish has been fulfilled, "He has taken that weapon," and he with folded palms, "How great You are. A tiny soul like myself, to keep up my promise You have broken Your promise. How high minded, how noble You are my Lord."

So that is the nature of God. For His own servant He does not hesitate to put Himself in the lower position, to keep up the dignity of the position of the devotees. That is His nature.

Here also when Mahāprabhu saw that blood oozing from Nityānanda's head He could not contain Himself and He came out with – from within, unconscious of His Gaura līlā to give a good lesson to the rogues of Nadiyā.

But Nityānanda Prabhu pacified Him, "No, don't do so. You forget Your promise that You have come to take up the fallen souls, to deliver them, and this is not the way in this time."

Then Mahāprabhu was stopped. And anyhow, Nityānanda Prabhu in the front, He came to forgive them, and necessarily Mahāprabhu also had to come to forgive them. Their heart was transformed totally. This Jagāi Mādhāi was converted fully and surrendered themselves under the feet of Gaura-Nitāi.

And when the two notorious rogues, guṇḍās, were converted, then the enemy party they became afraid. “What’s the matter? Those great rogues, notorious, now they’re on that side, then no longer I could attack Them in any way I like.” In this way: by Nityānanda Prabhu’s favour.

And Haridāsa Ṭhākura was also with Nityānanda at that time. The first batch of preaching party, Haridāsa and Nityānanda, Mahāprabhu sent Them both. He’s sitting in the home and sent these two, “Go from door to door and ask them, ‘What are you doing? Take the Name of Kṛṣṇa.’” This Kṛṣṇa saṅkīrtana propaganda, the first party was composed of Nityānanda and Haridāsa, went from door to door, wherever:

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viśaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

Whomever They’re meeting, “Oh, take the Name of Kṛṣṇa.” In this way They began the propaganda.

And now you are spreading lākhs or crores of books as the consequence of that small beginning from door to door preaching of Nityānanda and Haridāsa.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi.

Back to home, back to God; back to home. What is the necessity of visiting door to door, door to door, and to ask them to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa? The necessity is, 'You come home. Why you are wandering in the troublesome foreign places, foreign countries, and undergoing so much misery unnecessarily? Why? Come home, come home, sweet, sweet home. Everything is there.' It is the general question to answer the suppressed pain of every animal, every animation; every life. Wherever there is life within that some innate tendency, feeling of misery, uneasiness, this is a general question. If the creeper, stone, [demi-]god, man, tigers, elephants, everywhere this is a general demand to get out of the uneasiness in the midst of which we are. So only one medicine: Kṛṣṇa Nāma. So it is the most general demand of the whole animation and not any sectarian or any partial dealings. The most general dealing, not only to human beings but to all creation, the whole creation here, the only inner demand, expressed or unexpressed but the demand is there. The removal of all discomfort, this attempt, 'Come home, everything there. To take the Name of Kṛṣṇa that is the means, most easiest means to take you, to guide you to your home. Come to homeland.' Homeland: that is the general nature of our preaching to one and all, including the beasts, the vegetable kingdom, the stones; everywhere. Where there is life some inconceivable uneasiness is there. And to give that perfect happiness, to call them towards home, come home. All, in other words, all more or less mad crack, crack brained. Just as that is in the civilised language, what will it be?

Devotees: Crazy, insane.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Insane, all are insane, and to remind him of his home. He forgot his own, his guardian, his son, his father, his wife, children. You may think whatever is wanted for our fullest comfort, everything is there, only he's forgetful of that and wandering here and there. Endlessly wandering and being pained in different order of experience. To be reinstated in his former consciousness, previous consciousness that you are a family member and your family is doing very well and you come there.

So the call with Kṛṣṇa Nāma, through Kṛṣṇa Nāma; call everyone to his home, so it is the most general duty we are asked to do. We are asked to do, general need, not to give the food, or clothing, or medicine, or this or that. These all only go to the outer coating and not the inner person. The inner persons demand is this, and the outer cases, the garments, the coat, the cloth, the, this and that. This food only to the fleshy garment and we are eating one another. To maintain our outer coating we are eating one another. We are living at the cost of others: our environment we are eating. Just as a mad man he bites his own hand, and he tears his own hair. So we are eating the environment creating disturbance to one another. This is our position here, most abnormal. To relieve us from such abnormal life and to take us to a normal life proper, that is our campaign, our duty, through Kṛṣṇa Nāma.

Proper adjustment: mal- adjusted you are, you are eating each other. Adjust yourself properly. Don't be cruel to the environment and at the same time to you, your own self. That is the news we're carrying from our Guru and Gaurāṅga, Bhāgavata, Gītā, all these things. Our holy duty we have accepted fortunately to be that only. We are soldiers of that war which from disharmony, discord, wants to take everything towards harmony. Relief work, we're soldiers to do relief work. They're sufferers, not bodily but the deeper suffering, suffering in the deepest plane where the real person exists, in that plane.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

So you try to visit if possible the birthplace of Nityānanda. This Hadāi and Padmāvatī, there they gave their son Nityānanda as alms to the sannyāsī. And some say that sannyāsī was no other than Mādhavendra Purī. And Nityānanda Prabhu, Advaita Prabhu, as well as Īśvara Purī Guru of Mahāprabhu, They are three disciples of Mādhavendra Purī. Advaita Prabhu, Nityānanda Prabhu and Īśvara Purī who was accepted as Guru by Mahāprabhu: these three they're all disciples of Mādhavendra Purī. So Mādhavendra Purī might have taken Nityānanda from His father, from His parents. And they, giving the loving child to the sannyāsī became almost mad.

Loke bala hadai oja haila padal [?] The local people began to say that the Hadāi Gosai has become mad. Loke bala hadai oja haila padal [?] (We are the title?) He has become mad. Giving away such an affection child like Nityānanda to the sannyāsī he became mad. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And the place of Kavirāja Goswāmī's birthplace also very near to Katwa, that Jamapur [?]

There is a sahaḥjiyā Maṭha there, I visited once. Kavirāja Goswāmī who gave the best scripture in the world, according to me, Śrī Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Rāya Rāmānanda, Rūpa śikṣā, Sanātana śikṣā, and Mahāprabhu's samādhi pastimes. When Mahāprabhu had samādhi and He used to see Kṛṣṇa līlā in Govardhana sometimes, in Yamunā sometimes, and that has been described in such a way by Kavirāja Goswāmī, that even your little sincerity who have got in the ordinary scholars, they can also say, many of them has said, that how Kṛṣṇa līlā is aprākṛta, if we go through Caitanya-caritāmṛta we can have some idea. Kavirāja Goswāmī has described the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa with the gopīs. Generally that excites the feeling of lust in ordinary minds, but some of the scholars have already remarked that is not the pastimes of the lust of our level, but it is of some higher level, though similar to this kāma kriya but it is not so. The description of Kavirāja Goswāmī has been successful to give that idea to the public. The Kṛṣṇa līlā is not like ordinary human pastimes. Kavirāja.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura

Haribol.

This day in the year Mahāprabhu stayed the last day of His family stay. This afternoon He'll meet many of His friends and will appeal to them fervently to take to Kṛṣṇa Nāma.

“Whatever you do, in every engagement, you try to take Kṛṣṇa always with you. Whatever, eating, sleeping, walking, whatever you are physically engaged in, but go on with the consciousness of Kṛṣṇa. Don't...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...friends and relations in His birthplace, if we are to say so in this Navadvīpa. And then by the end of this night He left Navadvīpa for all. Then after five years He came, and of course here and there, but not entered His home, only approached to the front of His house and cast a glance towards His house through the door.

And we are told Viṣṇupriyā Devī she, with a very dirty, wrapping her body with a very dirty cover, fell flat in the front of His feet. Mahāprabhu Caitanyadeva could understand that it must be she, and He put His, took off His sandals there. “Try to remove your pain of separation with the help of these two sandals.” And He went away. And those sandals we are told are still on the throne of Viṣṇupriyā here, left by Mahāprabhu, the wooden sandals that were left. They say that those sandals, very old wooden sandals are still shown there, left by Mahāprabhu. And Viṣṇupriyā Devī used to worship them, those wooden sandals, after five years of His sannyāsa.

Then He moved towards Vṛndāvana via Rāmakeli, and after accepting Rūpa, Sanātana, from there He came back again to Śāntipura, and then from there to Purī. And from Purī He went straight via Benares to Vṛndāvana. And full month of this Pauṣa [Dec-Jan], this month, the extreme cold, passed in Vṛndāvana visiting different places of the Kṛṣṇa līlā. And then came in the beginning of the Māgha [Jan-Feb], this time, finishing Pauṣa He came to take bath in Prayāga, His attendant Balabha, and there Rūpa met Him in Prayāga. And for nearly a fortnight He stopped there and educated Śrī Rūpa in rāga-bhakti. And then Rūpa was asked to go to Vṛndāvana, and entrusted with some duties, then came to Benares and there met Sanātana. And two months He lived there in Benares and there instructed Sanātana in a little elaborate way.

And also that was the capital of the māyāvādīs, this Benares. And He met the leader anyhow and he was converted.

Then He went back to Purī, Mahāprabhu, for six years. Twenty four years, the half of His life He was in Navadvīpa, another six years He had toured in different parts of India. And the other eighteen years left, first six years of them He used to meet with so many devotees. And the last twelve years almost cut off His connection with the public and engaged Himself deeply in the cultivation of the separation pains, if we're to say so, of Śrī Rādhikā, vipralambha. Full twelve years He engaged Himself how Rādhārāṇī did, or what was Her different mental stages, that deep and fiery, ostentatiously, outwardly, that fiery separation has been depicted for twelve years more.

And Rāmānanda Rāya and Svarūpa Dāmodara they were very close assistants, attendants and especially Svarūpa Dāmodara always, day and night attended Him, with several other friends. Sometimes rubbing His face on the wall, "I can't tolerate the separation." In this way sometimes running into the sea, sometimes jumping into the thorny plane, in this way intense restlessness, mad restlessness in the separation for Kṛṣṇa. That was depicted by Him, half mad, most intense pains of separation of Kṛṣṇa.

So our union with Kṛṣṇa that can produce what intensity of ecstasy: we may try to measure the intensity of ecstasy in union by the hankering. By measuring the degree of hankering for Kṛṣṇa's union we can measure what sort of intense pleasure one can have when he'll be in union with Kṛṣṇa. Negatively the measurement is there. As much as hunger so much is the pleasure in taking the food.

[nānopacāra-kṛta-pūjanam ārta-bandhoḥ, premṇaiva bhakta-hṛdayam sukha-vidrutam syāt] yāvat kṣud asti jaṭhare jaraṭhā pipāsā, tāvat sukhāya bhavato nanu bhakṣya-peye

[Rāmānanda Rāya continued, “ ‘As long as there is hunger and thirst within the stomach, varieties of food and drink make one feel very happy. Similarly, when the Lord is worshipped with pure love, the various activities performed in the course of that worship awaken transcendental bliss in the heart of the devotee.’] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.69]

According to the degree of hunger the pleasure of eating comes. Yāvat kṣud asti, food and hunger. As much hunger we have got in our belly, so much I shall feel the pleasure when taking the food, tāvat sukhāya bhavato nanu bhakṣya-peye, food and drink. So the fire of separation can give us some evidence that what is the pleasure of union with Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ke?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Kamalāsana Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kamalāsana. So not only Kṛṣṇa is necessary for us, but the degree of necessity is so much, so urgent, so imminent, so – inner necessity. Not only that we shall leave this adverse circumstance and come to Kṛṣṇa, that is only in śānta-rasa, but dāśya, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhyā, to enter into the deepest part. Without Kṛṣṇa how we suffer, and by attaining Him how we can enjoy. What necessity we have with Him in the deepest self of us, the deepest self, the necessity for Kṛṣṇa is so intense and so great, so inviting, so urgent, as is shown.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. It is a general, not a sectarian thing. It is never sectarian, the most general of all generals. Our relation with Kṛṣṇa is the general of all generals. Universal of all universal of our conception: universal of our conception, that is also provincial. But Kṛṣṇa consciousness we need the universal of the universal. There's no question of sectarianism coming here, most wide.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Just law of gravitation, law of attraction, this is a general thing, and the basis of which so many inventions, discoveries are being made. So the attraction, the love, that is the object, that is the object of every existence, to acquire love, satisfaction, pleasure, happiness. We can't eliminate us from that. When we say apparently that die to live, apparently we may think that one giving his life for his country that is he's embracing pain, suffering, apparently. And that is very much praised. But that has got its far-fetched object of getting pleasure, joy, happiness, in subtle plane. So our attraction for joy, for happiness, that is the most basic and general thing, but we are to pay for that. For higher class of happiness we are to pay, we are to sacrifice lower class of pleasure.

Gaura Haribol. Rāma. Rāma. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Aranya Mahārāja: How long did Lord Nityānanda live for? How long did He stay on the planet for?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We don't know. After Mahāprabhu disappeared also He stayed for some time and then He disappeared. Vṛndāvana dāsa Ṭhākura was the last disciple of Him.

He's deploring that, "I have got that birth, but not few days back I could see all the līlā of Caitanyadeva in Navadvīpa. Those places I see with my own eyes, His house, His tol, the market, the Śrīdhara, the Jagāi Mādhāi udar, His bedding place. All left only few days ago I could have my bath. I could see that līlā with my own eyes."

Vṛndāvana dāsa Ṭhākura's mourning. And he was the last disciple of Nityānanda Prabhu it is mentioned. Not long time, when Mahāprabhu departed, very soon, within few years, Nityānanda Prabhu, Advaita Prabhu, the paraphernalia was withdrawn. Only the Goswāmīns they live for long time in Vṛndāvana. And this Bengal came under Śrīnivāsa Ācārya, Narottama, Śyāmānanda, and His Jāhnavā Devī, and Advaita Prabhu's son Acyutānanda, and some of Narahari Sarakara's family, two or three. These were moving in Bengal as representatives of Śrī Caitanyadeva, and also the sons of Śivānanda, Kavi Karṇapūra, etc, they were there. If you go through Bhakti-ratnākara then you can have some idea about after the withdrawal of Mahāprabhu and His own paraphernalia, what was the position here.

Parvat Mahārāja: Mahārāja, how does the concept of good and evil appear?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whenever we enter into the attempt of separate interest we deviate from common interest and enter into separate interest. Master of our own and we should live on our own earning, this idea.

bhayaṁ dvitīyābhīniveśataḥ syād, īśād apetasya viparyyayo 'smṛtiḥ tan-māyayāto budha ābhajet taṁ, bhaktyaikayeśaṁ guru-devatātmā

[“Fear arises when a living entity misidentifies himself as the material body because of absorption in the external, illusory energy of the Lord. When the living entity thus turns away from the Supreme Lord, he also forgets his own constitutional position as a servant of the Lord. This bewildering, fearful condition is effected by the potency for illusion, called māyā. Therefore, an intelligent person should engage unflinchingly in the unalloyed devotional service of the Lord, under the guidance of a bona fide spiritual master, whom he should accept as his worshipping deity and as his very life and soul.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.37]

Bhayaṁ dvitīyābhiniveśataḥ syād, īśād apetasya, dvitīyābhiniveśa, consciousness of separate interest, not within. Of course the ground of such possibility has been given to us to understand as taṭasthā-śakti, the marginal potency. That is a peculiar thing with adopt-ability of both forms of life. In kūṭa-sthaḥ, undetectable, selfish acquaintance, kūṭa-sthaḥ.

Dvau bhūta-sargau loke ‘smin [Bhagavad-gītā, 16.6] Kṣaraś cākṣara eva ca [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.16]

[dvau bhūta-sargau loke ‘smin, daiva āsura eva ca

daivo vistaraśaḥ prokta, āsuraṁ pārtha me śṛṇu]

[“O Pārtha, the living beings in this world are seen to be of two natures - godly and demoniac. I have already elaborately described the godly nature to you, so now hear from Me about the demoniac nature.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 16.6]

[dvāv imau puruṣau loke, kṣaraś cākṣara eva ca kṣaraḥ sarvāṇi bhūtāni, kūṭastho 'kṣara ucyate]

[uttamaḥ puruṣas tv anyah, paramātmety udāhṛtaḥ yo loka-trayam āviśya, bibharti avyaya īśvaraḥ]

["In this world, there are two kinds of souls: the fallible and the infallible. All beings from Lord Brahmā down to the lowest stationary life-forms are known as fallible (as they have deviated from their intrinsic nature). But the personalities who are eternally situated in their divine nature are known as infallible (personal associates of the Lord.)"] ["But totally distinct from both these types of souls, there is a Supreme Person who is known as Paramātmā, the Supersoul. He is the Supreme Lord. Entering into the three worlds in His eternal form, He maintains all beings in the universe."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.16-17]

In Bhagavad-gītā it is mentioned, the two kinds of creation we find here, one dynamic one static, non-differentiated, and one dynamic or expressive. Kṣaraḥ sarvāṇi bhūtāni. Kṣaraḥ, all we see belongs to the area of kṣaraḥ. And kūṭastho 'kṣara ucyate, what is undetectable, undifferentiable to us, a plane thing, plane sheet, what is there we can't find, we can't understand. That background is ākṣara.

"And I am above these two."

[yasmāt] kṣaram atīto 'ham, akṣarād api cottamaḥ ato 'smi loke vede ca, prathitaḥ puruṣottamaḥ

["Because I am transcendental to the fallible souls and also superior to My infallible eternal associates, My glories are sung in the world and in the scriptures as Puruṣottama, the Supreme Person."] [Bhagavad- gītā, 15.18]

So above Brahmaloḥa, the Brahman, Virajā, Brahmaloḥa, that has been told as ākṣara area. And this is kṣaraḥ, changing and transformation. And that is, no influence of transformation is seen there, static, the marginal potency.

"And above that is My domain, akṣarād api cottamaḥ, better is My position, My domain. There I live, and if you can come enter that domain, yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama, he can live there happily."

[na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ

yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama]

["My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire

- nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode."] [Bhagavad- gītā, 15.6]

That is the land of dedication and land of service, and here a land of self aggrandisement, here. And that of self surrendering to the prime cause, to the harmony, the harmonious waves, to come with the harmony of the waves that are coming from the centre of all good, all love. To tune ourselves to dance with the waves of that loving world, that is what is necessary we are told for us.

Parvat Mahārāja: In Christian theology they have a personalised controller of evil, the Devil, or Satan. In our understanding is there a personal controller of evil?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is temptation personified to take us out from that universal harmony of God. Adam and Eve, they were living happily, as if in the verge of the level of śaraṇāgati, self surrendered stage. And just over the same, in the beginning of the self surrendered area they were living, and it was possible so to entice them. The tree of knowledge, that is, “You look after your own self. Why do you depend on God, His will? You exercise your free will and come to live happily.” And that sort of enticement induced them. They’re in the lowest verge and they were enticed and came to eat the fruit of the knowledge, take to their own responsibility of their livelihood and their improvement in life, everything. In one word they took the responsibility of their life in their own hands. That is to eat the fruit of the tree of knowledge, knowledge means this. ‘Know yourself and assert yourself. Your own good you try to understand yourself. Don’t depend on God.’ So śaraṇāgati deviated this and then they began to earn bread with the sweat of their brow. ‘Live on your own responsibility.’ That’s the idea, no difficulty, only this difficulty that when they were already in that plane how they could fall down, just like Jaya, Vijaya? Jaya, Vijaya they were just in the verge. That is not very sure. The no-man’s land in the middle, buffer state, and the people living nearby the buffer state they have to undergo some sort of trouble now and then: something like that.

Parvat Mahārāja: So the personality of Kali, he would be...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kali, something like Satan, the māyā. Kali's a little different of course; on the whole māyā, the enticing principle, attracting against the dispensation of the Lord, God. The anti God principle: that is apparently māyā. But Satan is also within the jurisdiction of God but still he's allowed his existence, to entice. That is also in that point of view in the help to the positive existence of the domain of the Lord. Opposition party is necessary for the good administration; something like that.

Parvat Mahārāja: So in a play of Kavi Karṇapūra, Caitanya-candrodaya, we see that Kali, adharma, amita, they appear as personalities. Do they have subtle bodies?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kali we find what is the position, that the jīva soul śiva under her foot and she's in a demonic posture continuing her devastating killing, butchering of the jīva soul. But ultimately it is meant that it is dealing this sort of punishment only to the demonic persons, not to the devotees. But the demons are victims of her ruthless repression and wholesale murder. They're all demons. This is suicidal area. We call her mother and the mother is punishing us ruthlessly because we are fallen at her feet. And by punishment she wants to purify us in the first stage. In Bhāgavatam it is said, nunam nanam agad nadya santim nitya ca sarva [?] tesam esa prasamor danda pasu nanglago yata [?]

Baladeva says that for the animals this advice cannot be effective, so only the stick; the rod is used to guide the animals. So those that have got animalistic impulse, such āsura, the demons, they're to be punished ruthlessly. They're to be dealt with ruthless punishment, the āsura, then some sort of enquiry will awake in them, then the plane of advice will come. Otherwise they won't care to hear. Only by punishment their bad propensities will be controlled to certain extent, then he will care to hear your advice, give attention to your advice and then your preaching will begin. But in the crude form of criminal tendency this physical punishment is necessary.

So Kali is the type of potency here who is in charge of that ruthless punishment to the lower section of jīva who are endowed with demonic energy to devastate the whole area. That is the idea. And the jīva helplessly under, the soul minor, and the manager, the mind, the intelligence, the ego, they're asserting on behalf of the soul. The soul is under the feet, like minor, he's the proprietor. If he's withdrawn these managers, this ego, bad reason, the impulse, can't do anything. They're not the party, but like the administration, mal- administration, not the proprietor. And the proprietor under her feet, and she's punishing those managers and workers doing mischief in the name of doing good to the proprietor: some such idea.

Parvat Mahārāja: My question is now that these are subtle entities which exist on the subtle plane just like demigods have subtle bodies, ghosts have subtle bodies? Now these personalities like the personality of Kali whose ruling Kali-yuga, adharmā, mīṭa, lust, greed, are they subtle entities with subtle bodies affecting people in a subtle mind?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He says that Kali and the different personalities, are they actually in sukṣma- deha, they've got subtle bodies, sukṣma-deha? They're existing in personality form?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. In subtle bodies they're always eternally existing, and in gross bodies sometimes come out. Just as the Sun coming sometimes but at night we don't see the Sun but it is there. So whenever necessary she comes. Just as a military, when the ordinary administration fails the military is called, not always, but military is there: something like that. They come when the position is very intense they come to work, otherwise they're in the background. And this brahmāṇḍa or may be necessary in another brahmāṇḍa. In another brahmāṇḍa they may be expressively doing their duty, in this way. Generally if you take that then sometimes in the back and sometimes coming in the front, when the position is very acute they come on the surface, otherwise the principle is there. They're also nitya, this māyā nitya, the world is nitya, as much as, that is also the necessity is eternal because if the world is eternal then necessity of this sort of tendency in the ordinary public to revolt, to come to demonic activity. That is also eternal and to face with that rebel the government force is also eternal to control the situation. Just as,

yadā yadā hi dharmasya, glānir bhavati bhārata [abhyutthānam
adharmasya, tadātmānaṁ sṛjāmy aham]

["O Bhārata, whenever there is a decline of religion and an uprising of irreligion, I personally appear, like a being born in this world."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.7]

Sometimes He Himself comes to establish peace. So also sometimes the police, the military is sent to quench the dacoit character of the people, to save the ordinary subjects from the great disturbance.

When Bhagavān comes to relieve the people that is a civil attempt, and when Kali is sent to pacify the situation that is some military, or police, in that way. But Kṛṣṇa's coming to pacify, to clear the disturbance here, or by sādhu, that is like some civil attempt. And that is military and police attempt by Kali and others, to control the wicked persons.

Parvat Mahārāja: Now when Mahārāja Parīkṣit was here the personality of Kali appeared...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kali and Kali are two different.

Parvat Mahārāja: Yeah. I'm speaking about the Kali that appeared to Mahārāja Parīkṣit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, that Kali. Yes. Kali, he's also there. He, you may suppose him to be the collective – his basis, his origin, from the collective bad deeds of ordinary people, and that is not individual but collectively acquired bad fortune by the so many people. That brings, draws Kali here.

Just as a man has, sometimes he may feel his health a little wholesome and sometimes feels his body with discomfort. So the Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara, Kali, in ones own individual life also one can feel sometimes favourable, sometimes unfavourable. So in the life of the mass people sometimes good and sometimes bad, as the result of their own karma, collectively. Then bad times come, Kali comes. And again Kali vanishes after giving his punishment to the people in different ways, he vanishes.

The sin, the bad result of the sin when punishment is given then Kali disappears. And then again Satya-yuga comes, Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara, Kali, in this way it is moving in a circle. Just as after winter the summer, the rainy season, again winter, autumn, in this way it is passing through.

The good time and bad time in the individual person, and so in a national position also sometimes good sometimes bad. And the whole creation also earned by the collective karma. The resultant of that is calculated and given the circumstance favourable, unfavourable for the work: favourable circumstance for the work and unfavourable circumstance. Kali is unfavourable and it is earned by the collective action of so many people. And he's not a separate person jealously or out of envy he has come to punish the jīva. It is not. It is acquired by their own karma, a mass effect, the result of karma by the masses, a resultant. So many forces have brought down here unfavourable circumstances to them. That is Kali kāla, that is unfavourable time, and favourable time is considered as Satya, and gradually deviated Tretā, Dvāpara, and then Kali, and viewed the most unfavourable time for us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is only the result of our own karma, and collective, not personal, one individual. That is acquired by the bad circumstances, unfavourable circumstance which we earn by our own karma, not individually but a mass collective effect. That is Kali.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any more question? Is that clear, no, Kali, the conception of Kali?

Parvat Mahārāja: But he becomes a person.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Time and space is acquired by our karma, individual as well as collective. Time also acquired by our karma. The environment we acquire by our karma. And that is in time, in space, in different characters. So Kali, our mass fortune, mass fate, acquired such unfavourable time. That is the result, consequence of our own karma. The bad time, or the bad place, even the bad body, all here acquired by our karma, evil karma, the gradation is there. The consequence of karma is bad and there is gradation. Do you follow?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, is the personality of Kali a jīva or a person like that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Everything is seen in the Vedic culture as jīva, person. Even the grahan sugah grahan [?], the chaya, the Rahu, they are all conception of jīva, because it is the part of the subjective conception in the universe. The objective thing is the product of subjective consciousness, so even the shade has been considered as jīva. The whole conception of whole thing comes from the plane of consciousness, so degree of consciousness, but they're all considered as jīva. More or less everything is conscious. This is a basic conception of the Vedic truth. You can approach anything and everything only through the view of consciousness. That is...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Presupposed?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just recommendation, yes. Eh? Not presupposed, but that has got at least preference. Everything we must see as consciousness, as a person. Consciousness means person. We shall try to view, to count everything as with personality. Even the fossilism also, because everything is a part of consciousness. A diseased part, a paralysed part, there is also some sort of sensation, otherwise it can't stay. The moving body, some part is paralysed, but there is the degree, vitality is less but it is there, otherwise it can't stand. So whatever we see that is a part of consciousness. Consciousness can have experience of consciousness. That is its own soil, own element, and the attribution of the fossilism or the materialism, that is a foreign thing.

Swāmī Mahārāja told that, "You try to crush the fossil theory."

So if you understand this you'll be able to eliminate fossilism forever. Do you see? The first hand you are to accept anything as conscious. Then according to degree what is of its variety whether it is less fossil or intense fossil. But that is consciousness as a paralysed part of a body. The feeling is there still, otherwise it will have been rotten and vanished. The vitality is still there though apparently paralysed. Do you follow?

Parvat Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Can you understand?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then we can do away with fossilism. First approach of everything will be with the idea of consciousness because we're in the plane of consciousness. And consciousness is its own plane, own player. We can only approach everything through consciousness. Whatever is seen, the object, subject, the transaction, it will be done, the seeing, the hearing, that is also all living, all consciousness. My sight means the object of my sight: the seer and the seeing transaction all conscious. Can't you follow?

Parvat Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then you are above. tvam tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi

[na jātaḥ prāg abhūto 'dya, deha-vat tvam na naṅkṣyasi]

["O King, give up the animalistic mentality of thinking: "I am going to die." Unlike the body, you have not taken birth. There was not a time in the past when you did not exist, and you are not about to be destroyed."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.5.2]

After the whole Bhāgavata is chanted Śukadeva Goswāmī appealing to his disciple...

End of 82.01.13.B

82.01.13.C

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Such is the case with us at present, but just the opposite we are to understand. We have no right from consciousness to come to fossil and then to conceive everything in the terms of fossil, matter. Do you follow?

Parvat Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You? This will be the basic conception to have estimate of anything and everything around us. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. That is foreign, matter is foreign to us, but consciousness is our home, and what we live, and move, and see, and hear, everything is made of consciousness. That is our home understanding. And to indent matter from foreign land, from the land of māyā, measurement, not in Vaikuṇṭha, immeasurable world. That is foreign things to indent, matter. We are a child of that soil. And this is, I want to mean a guest, matter is an evil guest, trespasser to our home. We are a child of that soil. Our home is there. We can think and do everything in terms of consciousness. That is the reality with us. This is a foreign, artificial conception of the world. There is Satan. Satan's business is to take us to calculate in the terms of fossil. 'You are master. You are to enjoy.'

No. We are all one, there our revered things around, so a diabolical change, wholesale change, this Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Only the matter consciousness, only floating in the ocean of consciousness in one part, the fossil conception, matter conception, and that has got its gradation. And that also seems to us infinite. We feel we are in the midst of infinite matter, material consciousness. But if we go home and take view from that plane then we'll see that this is a very negligent part. My home is more, more spacious and more real and more near to me, that home plane. So we shall try to go to our home plane. That is Vaikuṇṭha, the plane of service, where there's not exploitation, not taking but giving, the plane of service. That is pure, where we dedicate. The plane of dedication is pure, and exploitation, however apparently it may be good, ultimately it is all wrong and all injurious. It cannot be good to any person, any living thing.

So wholesale the Kṛṣṇa consciousness means – you see the Unesco, the scientists, they're seeing this, this, chemical thing will create atom bomb, that is all dog barking Swāmī Mahārāja told. The scholars with the material interest they're talking this thing, that thing, this will be utilised by the human senses, human being, all meaningless like dog barking. If both the talk of the diplomats, as well as the scientists, both who deal with matter, all dog barking. Can't you understand?

Devotees: Yes, first class.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From such a level you are to fight. You must take your stand in such a plane and fight. You can blow, push them out. It's not clear?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, first class.

Parvat Mahārāja: Super clear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Parvat Mahārāja: It seems like the Devil is doing so much propaganda to get the innocent people to their side.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No innocent people here.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All culprits. Not only culprits, but we may go further, they're all traitors. We betrayed our loving Lord. Why you have come this side, this world? Everything belongs to Him. And instead of rendering service to Him, we have come to exploit His own things. We are traitors. We should be punished severely and we will understand this punishment is not sufficient. 'Punish me more.' Then the day of liberation will come very near. 'Oh, his character, correction has come in him. No punishment any longer.'

tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtaṁ vipākam hṛd-vāg-vapurahir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya

bhāk

["One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed – such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

He'll be fit to get total liberation whenever, the moment when he'll understand that, 'I'm a criminal of the first order and more punishment should be dealt on me.' The punishment is not meant with the idea of envy, but only to cure. So when our heart is cured the very moment the punishment will be stopped by the Lord. The omniscient, He's all looking, all searching eye overhead always. No longer punishment is necessary. He has fully realised his own position and absolved him. Only we are to feel sincerely, 'More punishment I should have been given. I'm a traitor. I've betrayed my Lord by so many actions, by my bad example.' In this way some repentance will come in us in whatever position we're in. Then our promotion is ensured very soon. He'll take us, give us, our duty will be entrusted.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. A radical change, not only mortification, repairment won't do, to repair, a radical change. Up to Brahmā, ā-viriñcyād amaṅgalam.

[karmaṇām pariṇāmitvād, ā-viriñcyād amaṅgalam vipaścin naśvaram paśyed, adṛṣtam api drṣṭa-vat]

[“An intelligent person should see that any material activity is subject to constant transformation and that even on the planet of Lord Brahmā there is thus simply unhappiness. Indeed, a wise man can understand that just as all he has seen is temporary, similarly, all things within the universe have a beginning and an end.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.19.18]

The creator is also within prison, is within the jurisdiction of the law, the creator of this brahmāṇḍa, what to speak of us, ā-viriñcyād, viriñci means Brahmā the creator of this world. He’s also [?] of course he’s with the Supreme, who can produce law. And we are His own, that is our solace. No cruelty but necessity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. And where is Kamalāsana?

Devotees: Here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All white clad, hmm?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: A little faded cloth, half white, white shirt. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: White means truth, and black means false, sin. So black is the emblem of sin, and white is the emblem of sattya-guṇa, that is goodness, white. So red represents raja-guṇa [?]

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Dayal Nitāi.

In Madras, with one of the chief Ācāryas of Madhva School, Satyavan Tīrtha, with biggest followers in that sampradāya he commands. We went to see him, myself, Bon Mahārāja, and Mādhava Mahārāja then Brahmācārī Hayagrīva, see him and to collect some funds from him for our installation of the Deities there in Madras Maṭha. So many, Barristers, Advocates, educated persons are all around him, many of them his disciples, followers. Then the talk about the Arcā-Mūrti came in.

He told that, “Within Arcā-Mūrti there is God. The Lord is within that Mūrti, that Vighraha.” We told, no, the Arcā-Mūrti wholesale is the Lord, He is all conscious.

Then, unfortunately, the expression came from his mouth, “If I hit with a club the Śālagrāma, Viṣṇu śīlā, it is crushed, it is broken to pieces.”

Then we put our hands over the ears, that it is un-hearable.

All were astonished, the whole party. “What is this, that our Ācārya has spoken something and they put their hand on the ear? That is beneath hearing? What is this?” He came out with his argument.

I had already heard one śloka in Bhāgavatam from our Guru Mahārāja, and there I got some mystic basis, as I told you today.

sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, brahmātmakatva-lakṣaṇam vastv advitīyaṁ
tan-niṣṭhaṁ, kaivalyaika-prayojanam

[ādi-madhyāvasāneṣu, vairāgyākhyāna-saṁyutam hari-līlā-kathā-vrātā-
,mṛtānandita-sat-suram

sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, brahmātmakatva-lakṣaṇam vastv advitīyaṁ
tan-niṣṭhaṁ, kaivalyaika-prayojanam]

[“From beginning to end, the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is full of narrations that encourage renunciation of material life, as well as nectarine accounts of Lord Hari’s transcendental pastimes, which give ecstasy to the saintly devotees and demigods. This Bhāgavatam is the essence of all Vedānta philosophy because its subject matter is the Absolute Truth, which, while non-different from the spirit soul, is the ultimate reality, one without a second. The goal of this literature is exclusive devotional service unto that Supreme Truth.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.11-12]

I heard, at that time I was a beginner, newcomer, but still my hearing capacity is a little acute. What I heard, this came to my mind to refute him. I just pronounced this śloka, on the basis of that I advanced. Here we are to notice that kaivalya. Kaivalya means oneness. Sarva-vedānta-sāraṁ yad, brahmādi, that Brahman, Paramātmā, Bhagavān, this representation is all in all. It is proved in Vedānta. And Bhāgavat also in the same line of thinking with Vedānta, will be given. Sarva-vedāntasāraṁ yad, brahmātmakatva-lakṣaṇam. Generally ordinary scholars they mistake Brahman, ātmā means Brahman and ātmā, tat tvam asi, 'I am Brahman.' But Jīva Goswāmī has explained in a very different and very natural way. He quoted that in the beginning Bhāgavatam promised, brahmeti paramātmēti, bhagavān iti śabdyate.

[vadanti tat tattva-vidas, tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam brahmeti paramātmēti, bhagavān iti śabdyate]

["Learned transcendentalists who know the Absolute Truth call this non-dual substance Brahman, Paramātmā or Bhagavān."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.11]

Brahman, Paramātmā and Bhagavān, three conceptions of the Godhead, with little difference, They're one and same. Here also, brahmātmakatva-lakṣaṇam, not that Brahman and jīva, but Brahman, Paramātmā and Bhagavān of similar nature They are. But according to different sections They are viewed in different ways, but one and same thing, brahmātmakatva-lakṣaṇam. And that is vastv advitīyaṁ, this is the conception of the Absolute. The conception of the Absolute is such, advitīyaṁ tan-niṣṭhaṁ, pertaining to that, kaivalyaika-prayojanam, our necessity is kaivalya. Kaivalya, that is oneness [?] without any participation here. Here and there, by misconception. It is an eternal flow of comprehensive knowledge. No other material and other conceptions will be allowed to enter into it. Then the kaivalya, this oneness is disturbed. Kaivalyaika-prayojanam, we must not allow us within our spiritual transaction some eye experience, or ear experience of the material world to enter into and spoil our whole conception. Am I clear, no?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, very careful: I was going to put that kaivalyaika-prayojanam, what is, what the scripture wants us to understand, we shall take something of it and then mix this material experience with it and jumble and spoil the whole thing. But we must retain wholesale that śrauta; that revealed truth. Our material experience may stand evidence or witness or may not. But we won't allow us to deviate from the conception what was given by the revealed truth, Veda. Do you follow?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kaivalyaika-prayojanam, that taken to practical things, I put this question to him. When Kṛṣṇa He was hit by arrow by Jarā's arrow, the blood oozing, was it?

"Yes, bloodshed was there." Is that material blood? "No."

Why? We are seeing with our eye the material blood is oozing from His body.

"No, no, His body is not material. That is only a show to the deluded. That is māyā."

This also, if you hit the Śālagrāma it is broken, this is also māyā. We deviate from that position, just as blood oozing from the body of the Lord; that is māyā. Because we can't think that Kṛṣṇa had any material body: all spiritual body, and why the blood coming and seems similar to our blood. We won't recognise that as material blood. So also what we say that is deceived, our senses are being deceived by the material existence. We won't allow us to come away from what is recommended in the Vedas that all conscious.

So what I told today, we have no right to come out of the conscious plane to have some material conception and enter and mix with them and to prepare a khichari. Khichari you know?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All hodgepodge; so material experience must not be allowed to trespass into the plane of consciousness. We are a child of consciousness. We live, move, we eat, everything is conscious, the food, whatever we do there, they're all conscious. We are child of that soil. And this conception is foreign to us. But now we have finished us, we have misidentified and come to identify with this base nature and think everything in the terms, even if I go to think about soul or God, some sort of material conception I carry from here and try to make it with this material.

Nigay bhogay goray laghi gauranga [?] Our Prabhupāda remarked against the Śīśir [Kumār] Ghose, the writer of Lord Gaurāṅga and Amiya Nimai Charit, "You have constructed your Gaurāṅga with the elements of your own enjoyment, whims of this world. You have constructed a Gaurāṅga of your own, not Gaurāṅga as He is. You don't want to take Him."

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Who was that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prabhupāda told about Śīśir Ghose, the Amṛta Bāzzār Patrikā's Founder, and writer of Lord Gaurāṅga, and Amiya Nimai Charit, and others, a pseudo Vaiṣṇava. A good scholar and political man also he was. Nigay bhogay goray laghi gauranga [?] "You have constructed your Gaurāṅga fitting your own whim.” Nigay bhogay. So our conception of God is also constructed by some material things carried there, so:

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā [upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

[“You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Praṇipāta means complete non-cooperation with this material world, praṇipāta. The surrender: that I have finished with this material enterprise. I have nothing to enquire here. That means praṇipāta, surrender. Paripraśna, and to eager, honest enquiry about, and then sevā, all in all, I want to dedicate, surrender to that truth. Not that to fetch that truth and to put in my pocket, or my iron chest, and to use it for the satisfaction of my base ego, not that. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, I may stop here today.

Devotee: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...has no meaning [?] Gaura Haribol.

Aranya Mahārāja: The spiritual master is forcing open the eyes of the disciple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Forcibly opening.

["I was blind in the darkness of ignorance but my Spiritual Master applied the ointment of proper spiritual knowledge and thus opened my eyes. Unto him I offer my respectful obeisances."]

The cataract is removed from the eyes, then,

["The process by which divine knowledge (divyaṁ jñānaṁ) is given and sins are destroyed is called dīkṣā by the highly learned scholars who are expert in spiritual affairs."] [Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, 27]

Dīkṣā means divyaṁ jñānaṁ yato dadyāt, transcendental knowledge is imparted in a process and that is dīkṣā proper, divyaṁ jñānaṁ yato. That centre standpoint calculated knowledge, not part interest calculated knowledge.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Gaura Hari. Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the law is not respecter of any person. The law of nature, the law of exploitation has such reaction, reaction of such quality that even the creator of this world he won't be spared, cannot get scot free, ā-viriñcyād amaṅgalam.

[karmaṇām pariṇāmitvād, ā-viriñcyād amaṅgalam vipaścin naśvaram paśyed, adṛṣṭam api dṛṣṭa-vat]

["An intelligent person should see that any material activity is subject to constant transformation and that even on the planet of Lord Brahmā there is thus simply unhappiness. Indeed, a wise man can understand that just as all he has seen is temporary, similarly, all things within the universe have a beginning and an end."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.19.18]

So take care of yourself. Don't measure your improved stage in this relative position, men, money, intelligence, knowledge of this world, etc, all reactionary. So you try, evaṁ lokam param vidyān, naśvaraṁ karma-nirmitam sa-tulyātiśayadhvaṁsaṁ, yathā maṇḍala-vartinām

[“One cannot find permanent happiness even on the heavenly planets, which one can attain in the next life by ritualistic ceremonies and sacrifices. Even in material heaven the living entity is disturbed by rivalry with his equals and envy of those superior to him. And since one’s residence in heaven is finished with the exhaustion of pious fruitive activities, the denizens of heaven are afflicted by fear, anticipating the destruction of their heavenly life. Thus they resemble kings who, though enviously admired by ordinary citizens, are constantly harassed by enemy kings and who therefore never attain actual happiness.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.20]

With the basis of such conception try to find out your ways what you select. This is permanent plane, in the beginner’s life in a permanent plane. Or to become heir of a royal family or government, the successor of a mundane king, or to begin a life of a beggar in a higher plane which is above all these reactions. Select.

And to do that the Buddha, the Śaṅkara they come to recommend the eternal sleep, the dissolution of the ego. But that is negative.

Now the question of positive came, positive life, whether it is possible. Rāmānujācārya he brought very strongly opposing Śaṅkara. “There is a positive life and that is in Vaikuṇṭha. You cannot be master, but as a servant if you want to live there is a plane where you can live. And the service is not mean, service is noble, free service, accept the life of free service in a fair land. That is nobility, and that is not slavery as you think here.”

Already in the scripture, but Rāmānuja in his philosophical discussions from Vedānta he strongly advocated this, after Śaṅkara, the renunciationist school, then of course Madhvācārya, Nimbarka, Viṣṇuswāmī. It was there in the Veda, in Upaniṣad, in Purāṇa, but the scholars misunderstood and finalised the fate in inconceivable infinite slumber.

But adhokṣaja, we can retain our identity and live a noble life, but that is of service of the higher, not of the lower. In the lower area in the name of master we rather begin practically servant. But there the servants in character, in name, but they really enjoy a master's life because all fair. No appreciation of unfairness there. Such a high position. It is better to serve in heaven than to reign in hell. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Adhokṣaja. And Mahāprabhu took it to the standard of Bhāgavatam, that in a loving place, the service in its highest form is that of really affection and loving sphere. The competition is there of dedicating, of dedication, in the noble plane, all from nobility.

Here, in summer, we may in a richly decorated air conditioned room we may find some sort of comfort. But in the society if the poorest man he also gets the facility of air conditioned position. The poorest man in the society he enjoys the air conditioned position, but here it is very costly. So the soil is such the poorest man is not ill-fed there, highly fed in all ways, the plane is such, kathā gānaṁ, gamanam, nāṭyaṁ, kalpa-taru.

[śriyaḥ kāntāḥ kāntaḥ parama-puruṣaḥ kalpataravo drumā bhūmiś cintāmaṇigaṇamayī toyam amṛtam kathā gānaṁ nāṭyaṁ gamanam api vaṁśī priyasakhī cid ānandaṁ jyotiḥ param api tad āsvādyam api ca sa yatra kṣīrābdhiḥ sravati surabhībhyaś ca sumahān nimeṣārddhākhyo vā vrajati na hi yatrāpi samayaḥ bhaje śvetadvīpaṁ tam aham iha golokam iti yaṁ vidantas te santaḥ kṣiti-virala-cārāḥ katipaye]

["That place where the Divine Goddesses of Fortune are the Beloved, and Kṛṣṇa, the Supreme Male, is the only Lover; all the trees are Divine wish-fulfilling trees, the soil is made of Transcendental Gems and the water is nectar; where every word is a song, every movement is dancing, the flute is the dear-most companion, sunlight and moonlight are Divine Ecstasy, and all that be is Divine, and enjoyable; where a great ocean of milk eternally flows from the udders of billions of surabhī cows and the Divine time is eternally present, never suffering the estrangement of past and future for even a split second . . .that Supreme Transcendental Abode of Śvetadvīpa do I adore. Practically no one in this world knows that place but for only a few pure devotees - and they know it as Goloka.”] [Brahma-saṁhitā, 56]

That is, all their words are music. All walking is dancing. Some sort of conception has been given here, that the harmony is in such a degree there that everything is sweet there. There is a song in Bengali, Se moran saroga saman [?] There may be such a death which one may aspire after like heaven. Se moran saroga saman. That kind of death is compared with heaven, a happy death. So the plane is such that everyone, the giver, taker, everyone becomes happy hearted, within their heart. We can guess that is built by self sacrifice and service, not with the idea of exploitation, so it cannot but be a happy one we can conjecture. Here we cannot live without exploiting the environment, and there the opposite, so cannot but be happy. All are, everyone giving, none taking. Everyone is eager to give. To take, that is crime there, so there everyone becomes happy. And here everyone is busy to take, not to give. What is given that is also got with interest in future, sarga. So no giving practically in the true sense it is available here, is possible here, such a vitiated plane it is. Pure giving, pure gift is not possible here, all false, black marketing. Everything is black marketing here, whose thing, who gives, all on false basis, ownership of false basis. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

...

Today He will reach to Śāntipura by two o'clock to the Ganges near Śāntipura, two o'clock or so: one or two o'clock. He's wandering in the meadow, in the paddy fields of this Radhadeśa in Birban District side. It is very astonishing to mark that in the worldly sense also the extraordinary great scholar, He is in such a consciousness of an infant. Such simplicity when He's coming down from His trance. Transcendental world, when He's coming down to this world of sense experience, so to say.

Then Nityānanda Prabhu was so familiar and known, He's just on the front. Nityānanda Prabhu could conceive so He managed anyhow so that Mahāprabhu's trance is coming down, and He suddenly – there is a big lake and thousands of cows and buffaloes from the surrounding villages graze there, and so many cow boys also.

Seeing the cows Mahāprabhu says, "Gokula go braja go."

The cows are their main trade, milkmen, gopa, the keeper of cows.

So He came to a cow boy, "Oh, so many cows together, thousands of cows here, this must be Vṛndāvana, then I'm already come to Vṛndāvana. I have come. So many cows."

Then one cow boy He asked – when they saw Mahāprabhu they began to chant 'Haribol' the cow boys, 'Haribol.'

"Oh, Haribol and so many cows, cow boys, then I have reached Vṛndāvana. I have reached Vṛndāvana, at least nearby."

And Nityānanda Prabhu could trace this sort of coming down from the trance to this world of conception. He asked the cow boys, privately, He taught the cow boys privately, "If Mahāprabhu, if this sannyāsī asks you, 'Which way I should go to Vṛndāvana?' you show this road." He managed anyhow.

And then Mahāprabhu necessarily asked one, “What way I shall go to Vṛndāvana?” Nityānanda Prabhu already advised so they told, ‘This is the way You go to Vṛndāvana.’”

And Mahāprabhu is going. And Nityānanda Prabhu in the meantime He managed to just come before Him. Then gradually Mahāprabhu saw that a man is going in front of Him and He’s in red robe, a sannyāsī.

Then Mahāprabhu asked, “Śrīpād, Gosai, where do you go, you Śrīpād?”

The Śrīpād that is a respectable title for the sannyāsīns, generally they’re addressed by that Śrīpād. “Śrīpād, where are you going?”

“Yes, I’m going to Vṛndāvana along with You.”

“Oh, is it, you’re going to Vṛndāvana, all right, let Me...”

Like an infant, this childish simplicity. Then when Nityānanda Prabhu guided Him to Ganges, the Ganges bank, “You see the Yamunā.”

Then Mahāprabhu thought, “I have come to Yamunā.”

aho bhāgya, yamunāre pāiluṅ daraśana, [eta bali' yamunāra karena stavana]

[The Lord said: “Oh, what good fortune! Now I have seen the River Yamunā.” Thus thinking the Ganges to be the River Yamunā, Caitanya Mahāprabhu began to offer prayers to it.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.27]

“What a great fortune I have that I have got the sight of the Yamunā herself.”

Then He jumped in the water of the Ganges with a śloka chanting stol [?] this Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛta, son of Śivānanda who wrote Caitanya-candrodaya: a good scholar, a good poet also.

cid-ānanda-bhanoḥ sadā nanda-sunoḥ, para-prema-pātri drava-brahma-gātrī aghānām lavitrī jagat-kṣema-dhātrī, pavitrī-kriyān no vapur mitra-putrī

[“O daughter of the sun: although you have appeared in the form of water, you are most dear to the son of Nanda, who is the spiritual sun. You dispel the sins of all sinners. Please purify this mortal body.”]
[Caitanya-candrodaya-nāṭakam, 5.13]

This śloka, what Mahāprabhu told, Kavi Karṇapūra has expressed His idea in this Sanskrit verse. Cid- ānanda-bhanoḥ sadā nanda-sunoḥ, cid- ānanda-bhanoḥ, bhanoḥ means Sūrya, sun. Cid-ānanda, jñāna moi ānanda, the conscious ecstasy, the son of conscious ecstasy, He’s Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa the son of conscious son of ecstasy. Cid-ānanda-bhanoḥ sadā nanda-sunoḥ, the son of Nanda, He’s represented. Who is He? Son of conscious ecstasy. Cid-ānanda-bhanoḥ sadā nanda-sunoḥ, para-prema-pātri. You are much beloved of Him, you Yamunā. Yamunā the person pervading the river.

In Vedic culture one is accustomed to see everything in its personal conception, the water, the Ganges, the watery body but there is personality behind. The Yamunā, the watery body personal really Sindhu.

Rāmacandra when He wanted to construct a bridge to Laṅkā He made penances fasting and worshipping the ocean, the sea god. The sea god, the person representing the sea, sea did not care. Then Rāmacandra was enraged and asked Lakṣmaṇa, “My brother Lakṣmaṇa, give Me a bow and arrow. I’m observing whole day fast, worshipping the sea, and ask, pray to him to come to Me to help to construct a bridge over him, if he may kindly allow. But he does not care to come to Me. I’m approaching him so respectfully. But I can’t tolerate this audacity, impertinence. Bring Me, I shall make it dry, the whole sea I shall make it dry. The whole water I shall absorb, My arrows will absorb.”

Then at this the sea god was very much afraid and came hurriedly to Him. “What do You say my Lord?

I could not understand You. You are Nārāyaṇa.”

“I want to construct a bridge over you. You please don’t mind it. It is My urgent necessity.” “Yes, I shall help You in all respects.”

So in Vedic conception of the truth, everything, the Earth has got its personality, personal representation, body, the hills, the river, everything. Because, the other day as I told that,

tvam tu rājan mariṣyeti, paśu-buddhim imāṁ jahi

[na jātaḥ prāg abhūto 'dya, deha-vat tvam na naṅkṣyasi]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.5.2]

We must do away with our animal consciousness, our identification with the material substance. Independent of material conception we can live and move; every one of us. So really in our proper existence we think about not in material terms but in spiritual terms. What I see, I see a tree, but when mentally I see a tree, suppose in a dream I'm seeing a tree, what did I see at that time? No connection with material eye, but I see the colour. I hear the sound in dream. So really we are in contact with that conscious objectiveness. That is our direct, we detect, we miss that and come at once to this material conception that is the physical sense perception. But in the middle some non material conception as we find dream that is intercepting. We ignore that. So really, before coming to sense perception we are to pass through mental conception. That is cid-ābhasa. And more accurately that is cetana, that is consciousness. The objective we leave when we can live in the conscious world. Both the subject and the object is of almost equal substance.

So Mahāprabhu jumps into Yamunā. He's addressing her so, "You are favourite to Kṛṣṇa, para-prema- pātri drava-brahma-gātrī, but your body is liquid. Your body is liquid but you are within, the person is there. Para-prema-pātri, and you are very favourite to nanda-sūta, the son of Nanda. Cid-ānanda-bhanoḥ sadā nanda-sunoḥ, para-prema-pātri drava-brahma-gātrī, drava- brahma, the liquefied consciousness: brahma, jāla-brahma, śabda-brahma. Śabda-brahma means the sound -ised consciousness. Just as liquefied, so sound, which is transformed into sound, the brahma, the cetana, the consciousness; that has been transformed into a form of sound, śabda-brahma. Śabda-brahma, jāla-brahma.

Mahāprabhu says, "Sārvabhauma, you are worshipping Dāru-brahma [the apparent wooden Lord Jagannātha]. In the consciousness that brahma in the conception of Dāru, He's transformed as if it's in a Dāru. And jāla-brahma, and Vācaspati your brother, he's near jāla-brahma, that brahma, that consciousness appeared in the form of water."

So para-prema-pātri drava-brahma-gātrī, aghānām lavitrī. You can do away with all the sins of the people. Aghānām, aghā means pāpa, sin. You can wash away the sins of the persons sinful, aghānām lavitrī. Cid-ānanda-bhanoḥ sadā nanda-sunoḥ, para-prema-pātri drava- brahma-gātrī, aghānām lavitrī jagat-kṣema-dhātrī. And you can endow the world with kalyāṇa, good, auspicious, maṅgalam. You can extend goodness to the world. Jagat-kṣema-dhātrī, pavitrī- kriyān no vapur mitra-putrī. Mitra-putrī means you are daughter of the Sun. Pavitrī-kriyā, you please purify My body.”

With this prayer Mahāprabhu jumped into Ganges, thinking that, “I have come to Vṛndāvana and this is Yamunā and I’m taking My bath there.” With this idea, this day in the year it happened like that, after some time. Mahāprabhu’s every līlā is nitya. All His pastimes are eternal, coexisting; coexistent in space and time, not only coexistence.

When I was a student of philosophy I was told that, “Coexistent is the criterion by which we can find, we can feel the idea of space, we can know. Space means coexistence. Space is that form of thought which can accommodate coexistence: and time, succession. Time, there cannot be coexistence in time.” That was the opinion.

But later on another philosopher came and told, “No, in time also coexistence is possible. How? I’m uttering a sentence, and the first word is kept in mind and when the last word finished then joining them I find the meaning. So that is there, the first words meaning is there and that last words meaning when finished then I understand the meaning of the whole. So coexistence is possible in time also.”

So nitya-līlā means all His līlā coexistent in time also, nitya-līlā. So, what I was going to say? Aghānām lavitrī jagat-kṣema-dhātrī, pavitrī-kriyān no vapur mitra-putrī. “You purify Me.” Oh, then today also we can conceive that Mahāprabhu after His sannyāsa He passed by this way and then after mid day He will reach the Ganges, where these friends the other day via Kalna they went to Śāntipura. They crossed the banks of the Ganges. Somewhere there He will cross this afternoon and reach Śāntipura, Advaita-bhavan. And there, after three days fasting He will take some prasādam which was cooked very ardently by Sītā Ṭhākuraṇī, Advaita Prabhu's wife. Very affectionate she was to Mahāprabhu from the beginning. In the birth day of Mahāprabhu we find that Sītā Ṭhākuraṇī is going with many ornaments to decorate Mahāprabhu, Nimāi, at that time. So today is the day we may think that Mahāprabhu will pass this side and there He'll take bath and go to Advaita-bhavan, and after almost fasting three days He'll take prasādam. And in the evening He will begin chanting. And Mukunda Daṭṭa he will sing. Advaita Prabhu also sings.

ki kahiba re sakhi ājuka ānanda ora, cira-dine mādharma mandire mora

[Advaita Ācārya said: “My dear friends, what shall I say? Today I have received the highest transcendental pleasure. After many, many days, Lord Kṛṣṇa is in My house.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.114]

“I am so joyful today. What I shall say to you my friend? After long separation the Mādharma has come to my cottage.”

And Mukunda also sang another song. Mukunda was following these three days with Mahāprabhu, four days, sānkrantī, four days fasting. They are also fasting with Prabhu.

[rātri-dine poḍe mana soyāsti nā pāṇ], yāhāṇ gele kānu pāṇ, tāhāṇ uḍi' yāṇ

["My feeling is like this: My mind burns day and night, and I can get no rest. If there were some place I could go to meet Kṛṣṇa, I would immediately fly there."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 3.125]

Mukunda, anyhow Mukunda sang and the meaning, "That if I get those two pakhi dana, two wings, then wherever Kānu is, my friend Kanhaiyā, I like to fly there." This sort of song was sung by Mukunda.

Then Mahāprabhu fainted. And encouraged by the spirit of this song He rose and began to dance and chant, in the evening. Yāhāñ gele kānu pāñ, tāhāñ uḍi' yāñ.

And there was Acyutānanda, a five year young boy almost, or little more, youngest son of Advaita Ācārya.

One gentleman came and asked, "Who is the sannyāsa Guru of Caitanyadeva?"

Then Advaita Prabhu told, "Keśava Bhāratī, he's His sannyāsa Guru." He was speaking like that.

Then the boy Acyutānanda protested. "What do you say father? Jagat Guru Caitanya Gosāṣi, He's the Guru of all. Caitanyadeva is the Guru of all, the whole world, of three worlds, of fourteen worlds. You say that He has also Guru. You will ruin the whole world I see." In this way in a chastising mood the boy is saying to his father. "You say He has Guru. He's the Guru of all Gurus. He's the Guru of all Gurus. And you say He has His Guru, someone or other one. You will mar the whole thing." That is Acyutānanda.

And Mahāprabhu after sannyāsa He had so much affection with Acyutānanda. He took him, embraced him, took him on His lap.

“Acyutānanda, Ācārya is My father so you are My brother, ācārya more pita, so you are My young brother.”

That Acyutānanda. When grown up Acyutānanda took initiation from Gadādhara Paṇḍita. He came in the Gadādhara line. Six sons Advaita Prabhu had. The elder three they went to smārta sampradāya, but the younger three came this side, Kṛṣṇa Miśra, Acyutānanda, and Gopāla, three came to Vaiṣṇavism. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Divided into two, Advaita’s family, latter on.

In Narottama Ṭhākura’s poem [Manaḥ-śikṣā], aiming at the so-called scholars amongst the sons of Advaita, sei paśu baḍa durācāra, they did not have any recognition for Nityānanda Prabhu, scholarly ego. And Nityānanda Prabhu generally He mixed and converted amongst, and moved with the masses. And they were in vanity of scholarship, these Advaita sons. So Narottama Ṭhākura had to say in a song, vidyā- kule ki karibe tāra.

nitāi-pada-kamala koṭi candra-suśītala, ye chāyāya jagat juḍāya hena nitāi vine bhāi rādhā-kṛṣṇa pāite nāi, dṛdha kari' dhara nitāir pāy

Nitāi nā bālila mukhe majila saṁsāra-sukhe, vidyā-kule ki karibe tāra. What value has the scholarship he may have or expect from? Nitāi nā bālila mukhe majila saṁsāra-sukhe, sei paśu baḍa durācāra. He’s still in contamination with animal consciousness, paśu, baḍa durācāra. And whatever type of Vedānta he may culture, cultivate, but still he’s in the midst of bad practices, malpractices. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kule ki karibe tāra. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Mahāprabhu the next day, that is tomorrow morning, Śacī Devī will come from Śāntipura. And about ten days Mahāprabhu will live there, and then He will, after satisfying His mother and other friends here He went towards Purī. And four followed Him.

Here we find some difference in number, Caitanya-Bhāgavata and Caitanya-caritāmṛta. Caitanya-caritāmṛta says that four, these Nityānanda, Mukunda, Jagadānanda, and Dāmodara Paṇḍita, these four followed Him. But in Caitanya-Bhāgavata we find another two, Gadādhara and Brahmānanda. And it is told that Brahmānanda and Dāmodara Paṇḍit were one and same, then Gadādhara. But in Caitanya-caritāmṛta we find Gadādhara went there afterwards. So some sort of differences. But generally we accept in the case of difference Caitanya-caritāmṛta to be the highest authority, because it is written afterwards and considering all possible alternative questions. The adjustment there may be considered to be the final.

Prabhupāda also has written in his letter to, perhaps addressed to Sambidānanda when he was reading in London, there is a letter. “The wholesale of Caitanya-caritāmṛta we accept as perfect evidence. And other books, Caitanya-Bhāgavata and Caitanya-mangala, or Bhakti-ratnākara, partially: some siddhānta from somewhere, geographical description from somewhere, and historical from somewhere. But what Caitanya-caritāmṛta has given, that we accept wholesale.”

To the atheist one is one Bhimam [?] mundane scholar, one Bhimam Majumdar, he has written a thesis on Caitanya līlā perhaps. I’m told he tried his best to find out the anomalies in Caitanya līlā. And that man, he’s very afraid of Gauḍīya Maṭha. And very cleverly he has avoided that and now and then tried to pinch the Gauḍīya Maṭha palm at respectable distance. He wrote that, “Prema-vivarta is a book where we find, it is published by Gauḍīya Maṭha in the name of Paṇḍita Jagadānanda. But we do not find in any other place that such book was written by Jagadānanda, no reference. And especially all the siddhāntas what the Gauḍīya Maṭha at present preach, that is to be found in that book.”

In other words he wants to say that Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura he has made forgery. In the name of Jagadānanda Paṇḍita he...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...make it go to the public. It may go in the name of Jagadānanda to the public. That was his aim, but cleverly he is putting such language. “Only the Gauḍīya Maṭha siddhāntas they are found wholesale. And this book is told to come from Jagadānanda, but we do find any trace in any place about that.”

So he, as here also in Caitanya-caritāmṛta we find four followed Mahāprabhu from Bengal to Orissa. But Caitanya-Bhāgavata says there are six in number. Then what we are to accept? You see the anomaly, they are not omniscient. The Vaiṣṇavas, Vṛndāvana, paṣada, Kavirāja Goswāmī, they are all paṣada bhakta, they are all omniscient, but you judge how omniscient they are. One omniscient is differing from another omniscient. In this way he’s trying his best to discredit Mahāprabhu and His teachings to the public. He was a Professor of Padnai [?] University and he wrote a thesis on Caitanya.

But if he comes to me I shall say, I shall say that that is a grand idea of hypnotism. Mahāprabhu how disappeared? Some say in the Jagannātha, some say in the Gopīnātha, Tota Gopīnātha, some say He passed over the sea. But I assert that everything is true. Everything is possible. Try to refute it. As He willed to show His passing to any group He could show like that. He had that ability. Even the yogīs can do such feats, what to mention about Mahāprabhu, Lord Himself? If so many yogīs they may attain such siddhi that they can show himself in different bodies aṇimā, laghimā, vyāpti, kāmāvasāyitā, all these siddhis. A yogī, he's here, he can show that he's there also, kāyavyūha, it is possible. So what do you say you materialist fool? What do you know about the ways and the laws of the spiritual world? P.C. Raya, that magician, P.C. Raya, can befool you. You are a fodder of an ordinary worldly magician and you venture to make your remark on a plane you don't know what it is of nature? You want to: what is air you want to, the quality of earth to thrust on the quality of the air or either.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

[“O King, Śrī Kṛṣṇa then appeared as a thunderbolt to the wrestlers, as the supreme male to the men, as Cupid incarnate to the ladies, as a friend to the cow herdsman; as an emperor to the wicked kings, as a child to His father and mother, as death to Kāṁsa, as the universal form of the world to the ignorant; as the Supreme Truth to the yogīs, as the Supreme Worshipful Lord to the Vṛṣṇis - and along with Baladeva He entered the arena.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.43.17]

When Kṛṣṇa is entering into the arena of Kāṁsa then so many different sections are having different view about Him. In the same place they are. But a particular section there, “Oh, the great unknown is coming.” Some say, “Oh, my son approaching, He is the real ruler, fittest ruler of us.” In this way some see He is according to their realization, stage of realization. It is possible.

Dhṛtarāṣṭra could see Him, could see Him without his blindness being removed. “Temporarily please remove my blindness, I can have a darśana of You.”

“No. Physical blindness need not be removed. I say you see Me.” Then he could see Him, but he was blind.

What is this? So it is His will. Not only He controls His own, Himself, but He controls all the subject that will attempt to feel Him. All other subsidiary subjective existence: super-subjective, supreme subjective existence can control all the subsidiary, so many subjective units. It is not non-scientific. Just as Sun can control by attraction so many planets. The bigger mass can control the movements of the smaller mass. So the supreme subjective existence should control the all minor subordinate, subjective existence, and that is not non-scientific. It is quite understandable.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

The laws and rules of the material world we want to thrust on the spiritual substance. There are separate law. Separate nature and separate law, everything is separate there. This law cannot work there. To take everything under this law that is stupidity, foolishness. Hare Kṛṣṇa. They have got their own law. And we are to understand, we are to read and understand the nature of the law of things of the higher level.

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā / [upadekṣyanti te jñānam, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

[“You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

The sevā: that has put the hammer on our heads. We mundane creatures, we want to think in our term. We want to get some benefit, some exploitation. No exploitation, no relation. We are sons of exploiting soil. No exploitation, no relation. But there is another land, just the opposite. If you don't like to be exploited, no entrance is possible in that holy land. You may thank your stars if you offer yourself for dedication. Still if you are accepted you will thank your stars. That your offering of self dedication how far it will be genuine, that is to be considered. Only lip deep dedication is no dedication. Dedication proper has its criterion. And those that are experts of that land they can measure it. They can recognise what is dedication. Only to pronounce in the mouth that I am dedicated soul.

Just as one man, one headmaster in Purī, when he met us when we are going towards Madras; Bon Maharaja, myself, then Mādhava Mahārāja, then Hayagrīva Brahmācārī, and another Sad Mahārāja: constructing the footprints of Mahāprabhu. A party was sent by Guru Mahārāja and we reached Purī and in a hired house the Maṭha was established there, Para Kuti [?], by name.

Then one Paraśurāma Patanayaka, a Brahmo type man, senior teacher, head master perhaps of some school. Anyhow he knew that the Gauḍīya Maṭha people they were out and out spiritualists, they do not care for anyone, even the scholars of India. “They are very bigoted and they only accept Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu or Goswāmīs and don’t care for anything and everything. And they say they are master, they are dealing with God and they can only give God and none else. Such vanity they have got.”

So he came to approach and proposed, “Do you think that God exists really?”

And one of us: “Yes we believe so, we think so. And our own lives you can take it as witness to that evidence. Because we believe and so we have come out to search Him.”

Then, “Can we get Him?”

“We think yes, we can get Him.” “Can you show Him?”

“Yes, if you come in our way we hope you will be able to see Him.” “How we can see Him?”

Then someone of us told, “Śaraṇāgati, by surrendering to Him we can come nearer and nearer to Him and we can see Him.”

“Yes, I am śaraṇāgata. I am śaraṇāgata. I have surrendered myself. If you test it, if you ask me to jump into the ocean I shall do at once.”

Then our party was little perplexed when he put this, he says, “I am already surrendered soul. You test me, you ask me to jump and I shall at once jump.” He told.

Then anyhow it came from my mind that what you say that is just the opposite of śaraṇāgati. A surrendered soul, we find in the scriptures, that his sincere feeling will be such, 'I can't become śaraṇāgata, I can't surrender.' As much as he will be able to surrender, so much he will feel I cannot surrender myself. The opposite what you say. Then he was nonplussed, and our party also got some relief.

So śaraṇāgata: from what point I came to this? That is surrendering, sevayā, paripraśnena sevayā, our fitness, our certificate. My certificate for my fitness won't do. That certificate must come from a bona-fide circle. Hare Kṛṣṇa. What is surrender, what is dedication, but something like this is there we can hope. We have nothing to aspire after, this is all stale. The material, the world of material conception is finished. Nothing, no charm here to attract me, then praṇipāt is possible. Now the search, Vedānta, athāto brahma-jijñāsā, then this plane where I am living this is unsatisfactory. I have no charm here. Then I am to inquire, sincere inquiring, paripraśna then sevā.

You will be ordered, your search should be in such a way that you won't be, retain your master-ship on that plane. You will have to become a servant, a slave of that higher plane. If you like to serve, the wholesale serving attitude of self-giving, not getting anything in return, are you ready to be so selfless? Then you can come in contact with some higher realm. But before that you are to know that you can't, you won't be able to assert there in any way. That is merging. The exploiting agent that will vanish, that will have to vanish for eternity. Your exploiting ego is to be dissolved finally, so you as you are can't be traced any longer. A wholesale conversion, are you ready?

That is recruitment of the coolies of the charvagan [?] on the oil mines. We are told they are black marketing so many men, purchasing, and taking them and use them to be coolie in their; so many capitalist have such sort of bad name. So you are, you will be asked to be lost, as in the calculation of your loss and gain as you are in the present, you'll be lost. And some other golden figure from you, that will merge and he will claim that, ‘Yes I am within you.’ Now I have got the chance I shall enter and live here. Die to live. He is for Himself. But if we accept this then we will be astonished to find that He’s not for Himself but He’s for all.

And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee’s most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity.”]
[Bhagavad- gītā, 5.29]

“Apparently I enjoy everything. I am the enjoyer of everything apparently, bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ. Sarva-loka-maheśvaram, controller of everything: autocrat. Suhrdaṁ sarva- bhūtānāṁ, the next, I am your friend. I am your friend. Then only you can have conception of real peace of mind. This is the adjustment. I am everything. And you have no position. But I am your friend at the same time. Bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ, everything meant for Me. Sarva-loka- maheśvaram, it is a fact. And I control everything; that is also a fact. But suhrdaṁ sarva-bhūtānāṁ, My temperament, My nature is that I represent the interest of all of you in a friendly way. If you can adjust yourself with this position you are all right, you will get peace, otherwise your case is hopeless. You must try to adjust yourself in such a way with the centre and not keeping the power within your hand, within your fist. That is not the key; that is not the clue to success, to the highest success.”

According to the nature one lives in a particular phase of life. Someone is conscious of money, some hunt for mundane sense pleasure. And some they are always trying to see the transcendental truth at the back of everything in the general, most accommodating spacious cause, want to search after the root.

yato vā imāni bhūtāni jāyante, [yena jātāni jīvanti

[“The Supreme Brahman is the origin and shelter of all living beings. When there is creation, He brings them forth from their original state, and at the time of annihilation, He devours them. After creation, everything rests in His omnipotence, and after annihilation, everything again returns to rest in Him.”] [Taittirīya Upaniṣad, 3.1]

Where from what we see everything has sprung up. Yena jātāni jīvanti, what is maintaining the whole. Yat prayanty, again entering into that prime, non-differentiated cause. Abhiṣamviśanti, sometimes seems to lose its own existence totally like suṣupti, sound sleep. Tad vijijñāsa, try to enter after Him, after that cause. Tad eva brahma, and He is the most spacious, all accommodating substance. If you can know that you may know everything.

One doctor, I met him for some purpose; consult some disease or so. I told to him that brahma-jñāna is all accommodating. One who knows Him can know everything.

He told, “I don’t believe that. You are trying to inquire after Brahman?”
“Yes. We are trying.”

“Do you know everything?” I could not answer.

He told “Why have you come to me? I am examining the chest of that patient. Do you know what is there, in the chest of that patient?”

“I don’t know. I am trying to go that side.”

“Then why do you say by knowing one thing you can know everything?”

I did not try to continue the questioning and we there stopped. But afterwards I thought that what he told that, ‘What is the anomaly in the body of this patient, can’t you say?’ I can’t say that. Then what should have been my answer? Now I have come to some explanation, explanatory answer.

It is possible when we come to this resolution that anything and everything depends on His sweet will. In that way we can think that I know everything. The first plane is the result of his own karma, and the last plane that His will, His sweet will, that is the cause of everything. Every detail can be explained only by one answer, it is His will. Kṛṣṇe ca, kṛṣṇe rca, kṛṣṇe līlā [?] In one word the answer of all the questions. And that is real. He can control, He can withdraw, He can make it otherwise. Even the dead son of His Guru He took him back. It is possible. The laws of this world, laws, rules, all these: all futile. Then at the very bottom His will and to know that to know everything. His will, it is His will. And we are told, sometimes we hear also from some sort of people, whatever occurs, Kṛṣṇe rca, govinda rca [?] It is His will, His līlā. Practically, really it is so. But the intermediate stages we may not know. And the very call, the starting call, everything known. It depends on Him. To know that is to know everything. That is, go to Him, offer to Him, no other duty. No other remedy, all remedy of all anomaly is in Him. To know this is to know everything, to know everything, in some way, not only some, but in a real way. That is the central truth. The one controller, He is the cause of everything. That is to become sārva-jñā, to know all, in one sense, in the real sense. Otherwise how much may be the extensive character of our knowledge? That is limited: to infinite that has no place at all. The wide experience has got no value when it is compared with the infinite, only a speck, and that also relative. Now it is, little after, that will be nowhere, no certainty. But to know this, that it is His will. That is to know everything, in a form, in the real form. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

The justification of this saying of Kṛṣṇa: "Leave every duty, give up all your duties, come to My feet. No reaction, no repentance you will have to undergo. I assure you. I assure you, give up all your duties when coming towards Me. All your duties are on one side and I am another side. I am more weighty; I am bigger. Whatever you can conceive to stand against Me, all futile. I am so. In this way try to understand Me. You will get peace. Otherwise no peace is possible. What you are searching innately, to have it – impossible." Tad vijijñāsa tad eva brahma.

["The Supreme Brahman is the origin and shelter of all living beings. When there is creation, He brings them forth from their original state, and at the time of annihilation, He devours them. After creation, everything rests in His omnipotence, and after annihilation, everything again returns to rest in Him."] [Taittirīya Upaniṣad, 3.1]

Searching this and that, A.B.C.D, in infinite character; drop all these engagements. Search Him with the fine comb: that is proper engagement, other attempts all futile, useless, foolish.

[Prahāda Mahārāja says: "Persons who are strongly entrapped by the consciousness of enjoying material life, and who have therefore accepted as their leader or Guru a similar blind man attached to external sense objects, cannot understand that the goal of life is to return home, back to Godhead, and engage in the service of Lord Viṣṇu. As blind men guided by another blind man miss the right path and fall into a ditch, materially attached men led by another materially attached man are bound by the ropes of fruitive labour, which are made of very strong cords, and they continue again and again in materialistic life, suffering the threefold miseries."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.31]

You are making much of a mole hill. You are on the surface and the superficial things you are after. But that is nothing at all. That is a product of my whims. Dive deep, learn what to be searched. What to search, learn that. Na te viduḥ svārtha-gatiṁ hi viṣṇuṁ, our internal search is after Viṣṇu, not for the superficial, so many glamour. We can't understand so we are aimlessly wandering and being tired. Durāśayā ye bahir-arthamāninaḥ, making much of the superficial, the cover, leaving away the substance within, of the fruit. Andhā yathāndhair upanīyamānās, just as one blind is guiding another blind. The transaction is like that. Andhā yathāndhair upanīyamānās, one blind man is guiding another blind man, both of them blind about their object of search. Such is the condition. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. So all wild goose chasing: very busy about nothing. In Bhāgavatam, Śukadeva Goswāmī in his beginning says:

śrotavyādīni rājendra nṛṇāṃ santi sahasraśaḥ [apaśyatām ātma-tattvaṃ gr̥heṣu gr̥ha-medhinām]

[Śukadeva Goswāmī said to King Parīkṣit: "Those persons who are materially engrossed, being blind to the knowledge of ultimate truth, have many subject matters for hearing in human society, O Emperor."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.2]

Thousands of engagements are awaiting us. No want there, śrotavyādīni, what is to be attained by ear, what is to be attained by eye [?] there are thousands, limitless, no want of that, for whom? Apaśyatām ātma-tattvaṃ. No diagnosis: who does not know himself, who does not have recognition about his inner existence, nature, for him thousands of engagements. But one who knows himself, what is necessity, only one. Śrotavyādīni rājendra nṛṇāṃ santi sahasraśaḥ, apaśyatām ātma-tattvaṃ. Not examined, the inner nature is not examined, what is its necessity, only running here, thither, thither. Gr̥heṣu gr̥ha-medhinām, and the false centre of their life they have created and running after phantasmagoria. That is the case with us all here. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The government of the land, the government of the people: for the people, and by the people. Government of the people, yes, it is all right. For the people, it is also all right, but not by the people. By the experts; by the experts, not by masses, mass is ignorant. What do they know of their own benefit and welfare, these fallible creatures? Abraham Lincoln, or who is that gentleman that gave the basis of democracy? This is conceived to be the democratic government; of the people, by the people, and for the people. Government of the people, for the people, and by the people, the basis of democratic government, and they all dance in the name of democracy. Vox populi is not vox dei. But vox dei should be vox populi, should be.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...birth and death, then he commits suicide. He loses such a chance, a great and most valuable chance that it amounts to suicide. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Mahāprabhu. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. No question came today.

...

Parvat Mahārāja: ...then where it fits, our independent will, our free will, where does it fit?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your free will is a part of the Absolute free will.

Parvat Mahārāja: So one can say therefore I do whatever I want and that's the Supreme will?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. But the nature of spiritual substance is such that every atomic existence is free, but free is limited. He's limited and everything belonging to him is limited. And with Absolute the whole thing is Absolute. This is to be applied in all things, not only freedom. In magnitude, in intelligence, in freedom, in every way in a system there is part and there is whole, the relation between the part and the whole. Every cell of your body has some sort of freedom, and still it is within the organisation, everything. Everything, suppose in a family when it is in harmony, there is the guardian, and there is hierarchy of the guardian, and free submission of all of the family to the guardian. Is it not possible? That obedience to the higher guardian: does it mean self effacement completely if free service is not possible? What do you think? Free service, loving service, loving offering: if one loves another does it mean that he loses his existence? Eh?

Parvat Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Even you may die for him, but does it mean that you have no freedom? If through love you want to sacrifice wholesale for the object of your love, you do so much submission, but does it mean that you have no existence at all? If you like to efface yourself, your unitary, your specific existence cannot be maintained thereby, it is gone? Free offering means all forced? One may offer something being enforced and freely. Is it not possible? To offer means by compulsion: free cooperation is not possible? What do you conceive about that? Retaining your freedom you cannot surrender to your superior? If coerced, forced, no happiness, happiness vanishes, dematerialised. And when free you can enjoy what is known as free will, love. Love means free sacrifice. Love presupposes free sacrifice. Sacrifice, but when it is free sacrifice, that is prema. Attraction, free attraction existing between the free entities: that is called prema. Force, but not force of the meanest nature, but the highest natured force that is, and that force even can take down the Absolute to the finite. Infinite can be subservient to finite. It is such a force. So sacrifice and freedom can go together. Sacrifice does not mean that losing ones freedom, free identity. What do you think?

Parvat Mahārāja: It seems that the supreme free will of the Infinite is sanctioning the free will of the minute part.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When you are aiming at that, then in that case you will aim everything in a similar angle of vision. Then the Absolute is enjoying, He's continuing His līlā. When the freedom in the absolute sense you consider, then the whole thing within Him, in His body, is as one; and it is His līlā, līlā vāda. In one sense you will give wholesale to Him, and in another sense you will take something out of Him: that cannot be. When in every way you are thinking, your form of thought, you attribute whole thing to Him, then in that sense He's one, advaya-jñāna, He's going on with His līlā.

And no one to be aggrieved existing outside, none is aggrieved existing outside, all within Him. He's going on with His līlā. No separate entity to be aggrieved. He's all in all, the wholesale in one, the whole system, it is He only. The absolute freedom, absolute existence, absolute nature, in all phases if you come to that oneness, then no one to grudge, none left to grudge. He's within Him. It is His līlā. He's going on with His own play. None to say against that, and if you with partial representation you got to give some importance then it is divided there. But it's not divided equally: proportionately, superior, inferior.

In a hierarchy in official circle, the higher, higher officer he's prevailing through the clerks and other lower. Whatever he'll say they have to obey. That does not mean that they do not exist. The officer's position, his power, can be supposed to work through everyone, his direction. And whatever anomaly he's coming to correct. He's already there, pervading. So, so many gods, but Kṛṣṇa pervading everywhere, whenever necessary He can control. So such, go to the higher plane there.

yathā mahānti bhūtāni, bhūteṣūccāvaceṣv anu / praviṣṭāny apraviṣṭāni, tathā teṣu na teṣv aham

["O Brahmā, please know that the universal elements enter into the cosmos and at the same time do not enter into the cosmos; similarly, I also exist within everything and at the same time I am outside everything."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.9.35]

In Bhāgavatam, in Bhagavad-gītā, mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitaḥ. na ca mat-sthāni bhūtāni, paśya me yogam aiśvaram

[bhūta-bhṛn na ca bhūta-stho, mamātmā bhūta-bhāvanaḥ]

["In an un-manifest manner, I pervade this entire universe, and everything conceivable is situated within Me - and yet, I am not situated within that total entity."] ["And again, that is also not situated in Me. Just behold My inconceivable simultaneous one and different (acintya-bhedābheda) nature as the perfect, omnipotent, omniscient originator and Lord of the universe! Although My very Self is the mainstay and guardian of all beings, I am not implicated by them."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.4-5]

"I am everywhere, everything in Me. I am nowhere, nothing in Me. Note the peculiar mystic position of Mine in relation to all.”

In Bhāgavatam, yathā mahānti bhūtāni, bhūteṣūccāvaceṣv anu, praviṣṭāny apraviṣṭāni, the great created masses, water, air, fire, heat, ether, how they exist intermingled. One is within everything and also not there always. The ether is within the earth, within the water, within the fire, heat, everywhere, and still there is somewhere He's not there. If necessary He can assert.

Just as relative positions, the paramount power here, the central authority of India, but still I'm considered to be the possessor of this land. But within twenty four hours notice, or even a minute's notice if necessary for battle they can occupy this position, their right is enshrined. In this way adjusted, the powers, the figures, everything adjusted in this way. Not assert, always, everyone does not assert. God does not assert, everywhere, it is His will.

“I am everywhere, I am nowhere. Everything in Me, nothing in Me. Paśya me yogam aiśvaram. Try to understand the peculiar position that I have got.”

So in everything you are to follow this dictum. Whether we exist or we do not exist, God exists. I do not exist, only God exists, we can't take that. And we also cannot take what the Śaṅkara, “That this is mal existence, in proper existence we and God one and same thing.” And that is sāyujya mukti, brahman, that is non-specified, non-dynamic some substance, non- differentiated substance, nirviśeṣa.

But we follow according to the Vaiṣṇava Ācārya this bhedābheda can be maintained all through in the true organisation, not only in the mundane, in the true aspect of the whole. That is also, this is the perverted reflection, one and many, adjust in this way, one and many is always there. The kāṣṭhā-kalā, one and many, the foundation and the – the container and the contained, the relationship is always there, everywhere, and both of them are true. But the power, the lord-ship, that is adjusted in different ways, small or big. Space, time, power, in every way some adjusted position between the two, finite and infinite. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Ha, ha, so, jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3], so finite cannot know Infinite, but Infinite can make Himself known to finite. So through sevā, service, we are to get His will in our favour, then as much as He will be known to me, He makes Himself known to me I'll have to be satisfied with that knowledge. I cannot think that the Infinite will be imprisoned in one cell of the finite brain. That is futile, that is foolishness. To know and finish all the characteristics of Infinite, for a finite being, it is sheer foolishness. So knowledge, this enquiry, has been discarded, to some certain extent. What is necessary for my real benefit to be reinstated in a proper adjusted position, sevā. Without knowing the whole I can be placed in my highest position where I can draw my best benefit, sevā.

The gopīs were not big scholars. They did not care to know anything, but they were particular for service. And they could draw the best benefit from the Absolute. Not through scholarship but by sacrifice and service at another plane. Don't apply yourself in the plane of force, nor indifference and knowledge, but try to apply to be utilised. Utility, you try to live in the plane of utility, as a whole, utility as a whole, try to achieve. Seek your achievement in that plane of utility. Neither karma energising: foolish energising has no value: so foolish enquiry also has no value. But utility, try to find out your small quota in the Infinite utility; that is service, that is plane of love. You can be best benefited in that plane. So try to find a short cut to enter into the plane of utility, and give service, be utilised, and then you will be most benefited. That is the line. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Do you follow, to certain extent?

Parvat Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, that utility, usefulness, and usefulness which is decided by the highest quarter. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That is service.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Jñāna- sunya-bhakti, I repeatedly told that I came to that plane where Mahāprabhu is recommending jñāna- sunya-bhakti. Jñāna-miśrā-bhakti, karma-miśrā, rejected, jñāna-miśrā rejected: jñāna-sunya-bhakti – a hammer came on my head. Jñāna-sunya-bhakti, jñāna is to be eliminated? Searching, that means surrender is greater than searching, with self interest. Surrender to the Absolute decision is better than searching for self interest. That is done in terms of finite. By surrendering we can utilise the intelligence and justice of the Absolute, so that is infinitely higher. The Divinity has its peculiar character of this type. By surrendering we come to such a higher plane, we are allowed to live with such a high order of people that cannot be conceivable from our mundane self searching plane. Cannot accommodate what sort of generous dealing we may have by surrendering, by coming, taking ourselves to the foot of the noble. Their line of thinking is noble, and ours more or less satanic, self searching. Self searching means to create disturbance in the environment. And by sacrifice we come in the plane of the noble where one can thrive by sacrifice, service. So diabolical change, die to live, die to live, if you want to live an honourable life you'll have to die wholesale, of this mundane, everything to be banished, good or bad.

'dvaite bhadṛābhadrā-jñāna, saba-'manodharma', ['ei bhāla, ei manda',-ei saba 'bhrama']

["In the material world, conceptions of good and bad are all mental concoctions. Therefore, saying, 'This is good, this is bad,' is a mistake."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.176]

Good and bad, calculated from this reasoning, this side of thinking, and that is all false.

So Hegel's idea is very sweet, 'Die to live.' A very general word, 'die to live.' Learn to die, and you won't die, you will see that you are immortal. Die in body consideration, but if you ignore your body consideration with body interest you will find yourself in soul plane, it is immortal.

Like Socrates: and he could reject all the favourable proposals to save him, "No, give me the poison glass." And unhesitatingly he took it. "I know sure that I'm immortal. To prove that I'm immortal I'm hatefully rejecting this material prospect, to take, I'm dying." Die to live. "I'm immortal. The connection with the mortality it is injurious to me. I prove it by dying."

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Hari. All right, a request coming from some quarter.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

...

...in order to pacify the āsura these things have been adopted. In this way Mahāprabhu has given explanation. Gaura Haribol.

The Vasudeva's son Vāsudeva, that is also eternal, and Nandanandan that also eternal. Svayaṁ- Bhagavān is Nandanandan, and Vāsudeva is kāyavyūha of Nandanandan. Svayaṁ- Bhagavān: Svayaṁ- prakāśa, Svayaṁ-prakāśa-vilāsa. Prakāśa: prābhava-prakāśa, vaibhava- prakāśa. Vilāsa: prābhava-vilāsa, vaibhava-vilāsa. In this way, from Svayaṁ- Bhagavān it is deviating, different conceptions in intensity, prakāśa, vaibhava, outcome incarnation. But Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Nandanandan, that has been told to be original Absolute in prema-loka.

You are to go through Caitanya-caritāmṛta there when this prakāśa, vilāsa, and also it has been in Laghu- Bhāgavatāmṛta by Rūpa Goswāmī. Before dealing the whole thing you are to go through Laghu- Bhāgavatāmṛta, original, and at least Caitanya-caritāmṛta, is explained there, and the tika also by our Guru Mahārāja, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura tika. Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya, and this Anubhāṣya, Caitanya- caritāmṛta you are to contact with them, very closely, and then you take the pen, how to refute. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

You take to the notice of the ISKCON who has especially published those books, whether it has got real connection with the manuscripts. First read it, and find difference, and then refer to the original quarter, whether they have published in this way. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: This is definitely the book. The book he's referring to, we're certain that this is the book.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Who is the responsible officer of the publication? Satsvarūpa?

Aranya Mahārāja: Rāmeśvara Mahārāja in Los Angeles, but Jayadwaita

Mahārāja does all the editing. Jayadwaita Mahārāja in Philadelphia is the chief editor, and Rāmeśvara Mahārāja is the publisher.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you may refer to them, ‘That this we find, then what’s the matter? I bring to your notice it has been done, and what to do against that, you think and do.’

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: And this man has another article coming again next month, in the same, he’s written at the end, ‘To be continued.’ So next month he’s going to make more points.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It’ll be very sad.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He’s made a dedicated effort. He’s fault finding very meticulously, very technical manner.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They went to get that Bhakti Kuṭīra in Purī and in that auction they’re defeated. So they have got some complain and lapse. And perhaps from there he has got the insinuation, and starting against.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: We had another idea is that we think that Satsvarūpa has criticised Bhakti Vilās Tīrtha Mahārāja in the biography; and that will also cause it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. That may be, yes. The other day that Rūpa Vilās, means that Bhāgavata Mahārāja from Bagh Bazaar Maṭha, he also came, “That in the books of the ISKCON are drastic criticisms against us is published. So they want to discredit us all.” He asked me, “We are told that they have some affectionate connection with you, so you try to pacify them so they may not do so. Otherwise we shall be also forced to take the opposition movement.” That Bhāgavata Mahārāja came the other day, at night, met me here. Hare Kṛṣṇa. His grievance is also like that. “Only Keśava Mahārāja and yourself exempted and all others including us are drastically criticised. And thousands and lākhs of books are with such criticism against us is being spread throughout the world. So for our self protection we are to oppose.” This was his remark. So when he will see that in a paper the criticism has been out, they have also got paper, they will also...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Counter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, attempt, it will be difficult thing. Anyhow you inform it to the central authority. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: This statement is here Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You first go through Caitanya-caritāmṛta and the commentary.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Regarding that Nandanandana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. All these things are there, then you will, and in Bhāgavata’s Tipani of Sanātana Goswāmī, that is the authority. Jīva Goswāmī’s also there, Rūpa Goswāmī’s Laghu- Bhāgavatāmṛta, and Dashami-Tipani of Sanātana Goswāmī. And also Viśvanātha Cakravartī, all these authorities you are to consult. And in the beginning you go through Caitanya-caritāmṛta and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's commentary and Prabhupāda's [Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī] commentary; then prepare yourself what should be the ground of protest. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Parvat Mahārāja: In Bhagavad-gītā Kṛṣṇa says in the verse:

traiguṇya-viṣayā vedā, nistraiguṇyo bhavāṛjuna [nirdvandvo nitya-sattva-stho, niryoga-kṣema ātmavān]

[“O Arjuna, when defining non-devotional paths based on action and knowledge, the Vedas deal with the three modes of material nature. Foolish men, whose intelligence is covered by exploitation and renunciation, engage themselves in the cultivation of action and knowledge. Thus, they remain in ignorance of the principal object aimed at by the Vedas, which is transcendence beyond the three modes of material nature. But Arjuna, you be free from duality, live in the association of My eternal devotees, and give up all pursuits for gain and preservation. Then by buddhi-yoga, dedicating your intelligence to Me, reach that plane which is free from material qualities, and situate yourself in that transcendence which is the object of the Vedas. In other words, withdrawing yourself from the cultivation of action and knowledge, engage exclusively in the path of devotion as commanded by the Vedas.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.45]

At the end he says, niryoga-kṣema ātmavān. Śrīla Prabhupāda says that, in the translation, “Be transcendental to all the modes, be free from all dualities and from all anxieties for gain and safety, and be established in the Self.” And this Self here is with capital letter. Now, my question is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Self means ātmā.

Parvat Mahārāja: Ātmā, the soul.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Denounce your relationship and cooperation with the mental and physical plane, and concentrate in the plane of your self, ātmā. And the ātmās function, the natural function of ātmā is with Paramātmā, and not with the material world, you will find. Ātmā tuṣṭaḥ [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.55], to withdraw from the different planes where we move and live: in this way. Amnamay kosha, prāṇamaya kosha, manomaya kosha, vijñānamaya kosha and ānandamay kosha. Different planes of life.

The first stage, the most gross plane is the physical body, amnamay. Amnamay that is by feeding we are compelled to maintain. Food is necessary to keep up a particular plane, that is amnamay, amna means food. If you give up the food, that plane will die. That is amnamay kosha, one state, the outward state, outward encasement. And then next, subtle case, is prāṇamaya kosha, vitality. That is said to be a particular encasement, finer, to this physical encasement. Then manomaya kosha, then the mental system within that: a third, finer plane, encasement of ātmā. And then vijñānamaya kosha, there lives ātmā, the taṭasthā-śakti. And ānandamay kosha, that is the plane where svarūpa-śakti Bhagavān lives. Where the Godhead with His own paraphernalia lives in ānandamay kosha, the most fine plane.

So differentiation from gross to subtle, so differentiation stage. So self means withdraw to your soul leaving aside your attachment and your connection with these three gross encasements outside. That is amnamay kosha, prāṇamaya kosha, and manomaya kosha, and concentrate, withdraw in the ātmā kosha, then you'll find that self determination, that svarūpa-siddhi, ātmā tuṣṭaḥ. Then you will find you will feel a natural attraction from the Paramātmā and you will be asked to cooperate with that inner centre within you. That is the meaning: the self.

uddhared ātmanātmānam, nātmānam avasādayet

ātmaiva hy ātmano bandhur, ātmaiva ripur ātmanaḥ

[“The living being must be delivered from the dark well of material life by means of the mind detached from sense objects, and he must never in any way be flung down into the material world by the mind enchanted by sense objects - because the mind is sometimes his friend, and in another situation the very same mind is rather the enemy.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.5]

This is improper self that I’m human being, I’m a beast, I’m a [demi-]god, all improper, that is identification with improper self conception. Your proper self conception if you attain that you will find that your relationship with Paramātmā. You will feel the attraction there for Paramātmā, not any attraction for this filthy gross atmosphere. Withdraw to the self conception. Your self is within a particular system in God conception. And now your contact with the so many gross elements have forcibly taken you away from your internal and proper vision towards outside, bahirmukha, and forced you to come and connect with the outer world. We try to withdraw, neti, neti, neti, this is not, this is not, this is not. Tanma, tanma, tanma, that is not, that is not, in this way eliminate everything and go to your self.

Satyavak: Venkaṭa and Parisevana they're just coming after one hour maybe.

Parvat Mahārāja: Paramātmā realisation is also realisation of the Personality of Godhead as Paramātmā also seems to be person.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In deeper vision, Paramātmā is seen as Vāsudeva. It is above Brahman, that Kṣīrodakaśāyī, Kṣīrodakaśāyī as Antaryāmī within ātmā, jīvātmā, and with watchful attention we can understand His dictation also from within, inner voice. And sometimes the yogīs they feel them in the _____ [?] they imagine Him here. It is mentioned in Bhagavad-gītā. So Brahman conception, Paramātmā conception, then that becomes Vāsudeva conception. When clear, more clear, Paramātmā conception leads to Vāsudeva conception. General yogīs are concerned with that. That all comprehensive aspect is Brahman, and all permeating aspect is Paramātmā. And everywhere with more deeper vision it is seen to be personal. Superficial vision it is hazy, impersonal. Nothing is impersonal in this world. Every molecule, atom, if completely viewed, there must be person. That is, person means consciousness, all consciousness.

Māyā is illusion. Māyā is also personal, Māyā as a whole is person. She's repenting, "Oh Kṛṣṇa, You have created me, or I'm with You, but the people say," we find in Dhāma Parikramā, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's writing, "Where is Kṛṣṇa, I'm not there. I'm eternally created only to be aloof of You. What is this? You must accept me as Your maidservant."

Kṛṣṇa will say, "Yes, yes, you are also serving Me but indirect way, so that is service, be satisfied, don't repent." In that way His solace. So with the farthest vision everything is conscious.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Braja līlā, the extension in Braja līlā, there we find as the point has arisen, Kātyānanī pūjā, gopīs are rendering respect to – gopīs were supposed to hold the highest position, they're rendering respect to Kātyānanī Devī who is entrusted with the management of this ordinary world. She's also given some petition, "Help me so that we can be united with Kṛṣṇa easily. Don't give any opposition Devī. Be pleased with us."

The farthest extremity is also harmonised there, the stealing, the lying, to speak lie, to steal things. Kṛṣṇa is so perfect that even these filthy things are also harmonised in His character it is seen, the debauchery, all harmonised. He's so good, so pure, that everything coming in connection with Him receives its highest realisation, appreciation. Nothing is filthy; only aggrandisement. Exploitation is filthy and renunciation also filthy. The highest conception of harmony can harmonise everything. He's so good. Nothing is wrong from that angle of vision; that has got a place and position in the adjustment of the whole, the final adjustment. The Absolute Good is so good, anything coming in His connection it is harmonised [?] that we find in Kṛṣṇa līlā, in Braja līlā. His immorality is more than our conceived moral standard. Like the touchstone, whatever comes in its touch it is gold, the harmony in its highest sense, Absolute Good. Murdering, stealing, debauchery in the ordinary sense: that has no question, no place there, so universal in character. And the ownership is also indisputable. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Unity, still it is dynamic. The Pantheistic School they can't keep the dynamic. When they have conception of oneness, all merged in non-differentiated thing. But the Vaiṣṇava School, all one, but it is dynamic, the difference there. Līlāmaya, līlā, it is His līlā, it is His play, sweet play.

And you are all surrounded there, you are being fostered from there, you get your everything from there. Amṛtam, the nectarine food is supplied to you from there. And He's of such. You are not of separate existence. You also do not like to maintain common interest. His interest is your interest, but He's Absolute Good. Absolute Good means good for all, no enemy. But the enemy that is in līlā playing, just as in play also there are two parties, enemy, but enemy of play is not ordinary enemy. So if in human play there may not be any enemy, a seeming enemy, so in Him the enemy is also something like friend.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Mahāprabhu. Gaurāṅga Sundara.

Parvat Mahārāja: I have a doubt about a point that our Gurudeva has made, and that is that when Lord Rāmacandra was present the sages actually prayed to be closer associates to Him, and in their next life they appeared as gopīs. So how is it that the gopīs in their previous lives they were sages, jñānīs?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sages, yes. The cause is to be traced from the sukr̥ti, the innate nature, that is connection with the nirguṇa plane, so, ātmārāmāś ca munayo, [nirgranthā apy urukrame kurvanty ahaitukīm bhaktim, ittham-bhūta guṇo hariḥ]

[“Those sages who, being merged in the bliss of the spirit soul, are totally free from the binding knot of mental images - they too engage in the unmotivated service of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the performer of marvellous deeds. This is but one of the qualities of the Supreme Lord Hari, who charms the entire world.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 1.7.10]

All sages are not of equal temperament. Some sages, prāyeṇa munayo rājan, nivṛttā vidhi-ṣedhataḥ nairguṇya-sthā ramante sma, guṇānukathane hareḥ

[“O King Parīkṣit, mainly the topmost transcendentalists, who are above the regulative principles and restrictions, take pleasure in describing the glories of the Lord.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.7]

There are so many sages who are fated to go towards nirguṇa. Due to their ajñāta and jñāta sukṛti that will guide them towards that unconsciously. That is the case everywhere, the sukṛti is our guide. Gradually it comes to assert in favourable connection and then we can select the way of our work in life.

So the muni, their mental tendency was like a masculine temperament in the mind, and some sort of renunciation and these penances, all those mixed in the mind. But anyhow their inner sukṛti when they come to see Rāmacandra, there awakened some attraction for that. Not to enjoy but to serve, this very close connection service of Rāmacandra. Rāmacandra was also, though Kṛṣṇa within, but outwardly He's Rāmacandra. And outwardly they're moaning, but internal awakening to come in close connection, very intense connection; family connection with the Lord.

Then they, there are so many ladies also may be when they see Rāmacandra their heart attracted towards Him as to serve like a wife. But Rāmacandra's was promise was priti suta vadi, that only one wife He will take. Rāmacandra's father had thousands of wives, but Rāmacandra took only one wife. That was His disposition.

So Rāmacandra told them that, “Yes, you have got some attraction in connection of My spiritual body, not enjoyment but service, but it is not possible. I'm avowed in this Avatāra in a particular way I'm couched. You will get it in Kṛṣṇa Avatāra. There it is possible. The Svayaṁ-Bhagavān He comes promised for such service giving attitude. So you will have your fulfilment when I shall come as Kṛṣṇa. At that time your prayer will be fulfilled."

That was the arrangement, no anomaly. No anomaly because Kṛṣṇa the Svayaṁ-Rūpa that is the most original and that is the very gist of all Avatāra; the most accommodating plane, most subtle and most accommodating. In all other Incarnations a partial duty attached, but the most universal duty to attract all and to react accordingly, that is possible in the Svayaṁ-Bhagavān cases. They're grouped in different ways and one; there's no overlapping. The vātsalya-rasa, the mother rank, the father rank, the friend rank, in their own rank, in their own rasa they want to serve Him, to love Him. But the most accommodating, and most original, and most subtle, and the most liberal, as you say, is Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa. Even crossing the limit of our conceived morality does not stand here. He's Absolute, He's over law. He's so good, so affectionate, that no consideration of any law is necessary there. He's able to accommodate everyone beyond law, beyond question.

Only to understand and adjust for ourselves we go and venture to put some law on Him, 'He's of such nature, such nature,' but it is very futile. How much can we know about the Infinite? But dig-darśana, only we can say, 'somewhat like this,' to give consolation to our understanding we utter, 'somewhat like that, somewhat like that.' But that is ocean, so explanation by knowledge is not possible. Still, to satisfy our suspicious mind, everything is possible in Him. He's infinite. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So Rāmacandra He was not satisfied, and also it is seen in exceptional case, when Rāmacandra had the necessity of the help of Garuḍa who was connected with Kṛṣṇa more than Hanumān: Hanumān and Rāmacandra, and Garuḍa with Kṛṣṇa. When it was necessity in Laṅkā He had to remember Garuḍa when He was tied by nagapasa, was tied by the serpents.

Then Brahmā informed Him, “Oh, You remember Your servant Garuḍa. As soon as he’ll approach the snakes will disappear.”

And when Garuḍa came and snakes disappeared, They were free, then Garuḍa wanted one boon from Rāmacandra. “I want to see, I know You are my Master but You are in the figure of Rāmacandra. And that is monopoly of Your servant Hanumān. But if You are propitiated with me, please show me once that Dvāpara-yuga Kṛṣṇa Avatāra.”

Rāmacandra answered, “Yes, it may be managed privately only.”

“Yes, I’m arranging.” By his [?] Garuḍa constructed a temporary room by his wings. And Rāmacandra within that He showed His Kṛṣṇa Rūpa to Garuḍa.

So the confidential arrangement is there within, and the court arrangement is something. Hanumān is there, he won’t like that ‘my Lord Rāmacandra,’ and Hanumān also got a chance in Dvāpara-yuga. When Garuḍa went fetch some blue lotus he met, that was only in the jurisdiction of Hanumān. When there Hanumān also opposed him in a playful way, and Garuḍa did not care about Hanumān. Hanumān playfully managed, tested the power of Garuḍa.

And very shortly I’m going.

Then Garuḍa was defeated in fight with Hanumān, and Hanumān took Garuḍa in his armpit, and took the blue lotus and went to Dvārakā, Kṛṣṇa.

And Kṛṣṇa went, “Jai Rāma, Jai Rāma.”

Hanumān is always loudly taking the Name of Rāma, “Jai, all victory to Rāma,” in this way approaching.

Kṛṣṇa knew that Hanumān wants to see Rāmacandra, not Kṛṣṇa, so He asked His queens, “Take the shape of Sītā and just take your position on My left side. I’m taking the shape of Rāmacandra. Hanumān is approaching with ‘Jai Rāma’ and he should be pleased.”

We are told that Satyabhāmā could not: Rukmiṇī took the shape, the bodily appearance of Sītā. And Hanumān came and with the blue lotus he worshipped Kṛṣṇa, this Rukmiṇī Kṛṣṇa, no, Rāma-Sītā he saw.

And Sudarśana was guarding the gate, and Hanumān came and Sudarśana won’t allow him to enter the compound. Hanumān put his finger within and suddenly made it so big that like a ring on the finger Sudarśana, and Garuḍa there under the armpit. And Satyabhāmā she could not take the appearance of Sītā, she had to take shelter under the throne. Then these three they had some sort of pride, so Kṛṣṇa in this particular līlā He checked these three, their vanity. And Hanumān came and worshipped.

Then, “Who is your, what is on your finger?”

“Oh, some circular cakra, some disc, he was wandering, roaming there and did not allow me to enter, so I put him there.”

Then, “Who is in your armpit?”

“Yes, one bird, from him I heard that You want these blue lotus, and he could not do it, I have collected. I have desired to see You my God.”

“Release him, release him.”

Then Hanumān says, “Who is there under the throne? There is a lady.” Then Satyabhāmā came out.

So the pride, the vanity of these three was checked by the will of Kṛṣṇa. In this way: all līlā. So Hanumān got chance in the Kṛṣṇa līlā to see his heart’s God, Rāmacandra. And Garuḍa also took the advantage in Rāma līlā to have his darśana with Kṛṣṇa in Laṅkā.

...is utilised by Mahāprabhu in the south in His argument. The muni, Daṇḍakaranya vāsī-ṛṣis, and the śruti, they got the chance of the participation in the mādhyura-rasa-līlā of Kṛṣṇa. Whereas Lakṣmī Devī herself she did not get admission. What is the cause?"

And then he was nonplussed, that Vyeṅkaṭa Bhaṭṭa, father of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa Goswāmī. "I could not think that there was so much in the underground, in siddhānta, in understanding. Simply we know Lakṣmī Devī is above, all Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa, and Kṛṣṇa comes out, incarnation of Nārāyaṇa."

But Mahāprabhu told, "No. Kṛṣṇa is above Nārāyaṇa. Otherwise Lakṣmī Devī, she had got privilege of full service of Nārāyaṇa, why she's hankering after rasa-līlā? So something wanting in Nārāyaṇa and that is existing in Kṛṣṇa. So aspiration of Lakṣmī Devī for rasa, but Lakṣmī Devī does not get entrance. On the other hand the muni ṛṣis they're getting, because they wanted to approach through the gopīs, under the guidance of the gopīs and taking the attitude of gopī. But Lakṣmī Devī keeping up her divine character she wanted to approach rasa, but that is not possible. That is not possible. She did, took penances, tried her best to have access, but barred from that opportunity, Lakṣmī Devī herself. But on the other hand, the gopīs when they come to meet Nārāyaṇa they give some honour and praise for their attraction for Kṛṣṇa, not connection with Nārāyaṇa. Nārāyaṇa has got no internal charm for them. But Lakṣmī Devī had her charm for Kṛṣṇa's līlā, mādhyura-rasa. So we are to decide hereby Who is where, whether Kṛṣṇa or Nārāyaṇa, Who is holding the supreme position."

Mahāprabhu's argument was always with common sense, accepting common sense. He also put to the sannyāsīns of Benares, 'that Śiva is the absolute.’ Mahāprabhu put His argument, “Take the case of Gaṅgā. Gaṅgā comes from the feet of Nārāyaṇa and Śiva takes her on his head. Decide what is the position of Nārāyaṇa and Śiva. Who is oozing from the lotus feet, the divine feet, that is on the head of Śiva. She decides the relationship between Śiva and – Śiva is His servant, vaiṣṇavānām yathā śambhuḥ, as it is mentioned in Bhāgavatam [12.13.16], that is the real conception of things.” So Mahāprabhu’s ways were like that, by the common example He used to establish His position, the different conceptions, superiority of different conceptions of divinity.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Nanda-Yaśodā had their original, the most original superior personality, and Drona and Dharā were absorbed in them.

And also there is mention in the scripture that so many heavenly prostitutes were amongst the gopīs, sarvesya [?]. Madhvācārya has taken resort to that, mentioned that. But the Gauḍīya Goswāmīns can’t tolerate. They might have been absorbed for their higher benefit, but the real party was that of Goloka party. They’re eternal and they’re higher than the higher. They’re higher than the highest, the Goloka gopī party, the original, so, Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa nitya līlā koila prakasa [?]

Ordinary conception of the Māyāvādī Smārta School it was something like that, “That Kṛṣṇa we consider to be the God. But He came with the ordinary people, the gopīs, the gopa, and they were all delivered by Him. His friends, His parents, His beloved, all mundane, but He’s super-mundane and by His connection even in a filthy nature delivered them.”

That is the conception of the Smārta School.

But the Vaiṣṇava School they think, Sapaṁśada siddha dhama saha avatari [?]

Mahāprabhu came in Navadvīpa with His own place, own capitol, with His own paraphernalia, not He Himself came alone in a jungle, but He came with all His paraphernalia.

When a king goes to visit a place he takes his own paraphernalia there, raja-cavati [?]. The king is moving, going to visit that place; that does not mean that he’s going singly.

So they say that when He comes down with His own paraphernalia He comes. His own capitol, He’s come with whole here, so everywhere, that is the case. And whatever is told by other scripture, that are not meant for the most deep thinkers, so many absorbed there. Just as in Avatāra also, Avatāra of lower order is absorbed in the Avatāra of higher order.

When a king comes to visit a particular place, the special power of magistrate and other officers all merged in the king. Whatever he says practically, whatever he says they have to carry out. All their special powers disappear and enter into the higher. Whenever the higher comes to a lower, apparently they’re non entity. Whatever he will say, the whole power absorbed there, so like that.

When Svayaṁ-Bhagavān came the Yuga Avatāra entered there, in Mahāprabhu also, rādhā-govinda- milita-tanu. When astavincha chata yuga [?] then the time of Yuga Avatāra only to preach Nāma- saṅkīrtana absorbed in Him. That is the case always.

So Kṛṣṇa does not come always with gopī līlā, only astavincha chata yuga [?], only in one day of Brahmā, astavincha chata yuga, one yuga in Brahmā, not every day, not every yuga, Dvāpara, but once in a day of Brahmā. And Brahmā's day is sahasra yuga padhyanta [?] hundred yugas is one day of Brahmā. And only that one yuga in thousand yuga that Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa appears; in all other yugas only Yuga Avatāra not Svayaṁ-Bhagavān. It has been taken out by the Goswāmīns that Kṛṣṇa not only a chance coincidence Avatāra but nitya-līlā.

This is the highest, which seems to be the highest that has got its own position in the universe, in the topmost place. And He comes just as exhibition He comes to exhibit here in this prapañca. And as the Sun is passing through all the countries, so also He's līlā passes through the whole universe. Sun sets here, rises in another place. So Kṛṣṇa līlā is also like that in the brahmāṇḍa and it has got its original position intact in the highest quarter, nitya-līlā, and nitya and the highest.

So, they're to explain, though it is not explicitly stated in Bhāgavatam, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, the word is mentioned. But the Goswāmīns they by consulting all other scriptures and the spirit of Bhāgavatam they are discovering the internal position of Kṛṣṇa. They say that in Bhāgavatam, nanda-tanuja not only so, the Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, vasudeva manaseja [?] in the mental sphere. But they say, they go so far that He comes out of the body of Nanda, nanda-tanuja it is mentioned, nanda-tanuja. So the closest connection with Nanda than Vasudeva, it is mentioned in many places nanda-tanuja and some other expression.

Not without any purpose we are to bring out the real thing. So they say and finding reference from other scriptures when Vasudeva took his son to the Nanda's camp in the room of her, Yaśodā gave birth to a baby girl, female baby, he put there, Vasudeva did not detect that there was another, male baby, there. Vasudeva put his own son Vāsudeva there and took the female baby in return. And this Vāsudeva baby that entered into Yaśodā-Nandan. That is their finding, consulting all other, many scriptures, and the expression, the hint from Bhāgavatam. The Goswāmīs, Sanātana Goswāmī and others they have established, have come to such conclusion to harmonise all the scriptures about the Kṛṣṇa līlā. So Nanda- nandan was there. Yaśodā gave birth to twins, male and female, and Vasudeva only found the female and put his male child there and took the female child. And the male child Vāsudeva entered, was absorbed into Nanda-nandan. And as long as He was there, and He's always there, vṛndāvanam parityajya sa kvacit naiva gacchati.

[kṛṣṇo 'nyo yadu-sambhūto yaḥ pūrṇaḥ so 'styataḥ paraḥ vṛndāvanam parityajya sa kvacit naiva gacchati dvibhujāḥ sarvadā so 'tra na kadacit caturbhūjaḥ gopyaikayā yutas tatra parikīḍati nityadā]

["The Kṛṣṇa known as Yadu-kumāra is Vāsudeva Kṛṣṇa. He is different from the Kṛṣṇa who is the son of Nanda Mahārāja. Yadu-kumāra Kṛṣṇa manifests His pastimes in the cities of Dvārakā and Mathurā, but Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the son of Nanda Mahārāja never at any time leaves Vṛndāvana, even for a moment. That original Personality of Godhead Kṛṣṇa who is Svayaṁ Bhagavān always manifests two arms. He never manifests four arms. He is always by the right hand side of the foremost of gopīs, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, and He never leaves Vṛndāvana."] [Laghu-Bhāgavatāmṛta, Pūrva-khaṇḍa, 165]

Only externally or internally but He's always in Vṛndāvana, that Svayaṁ Bhagavān, the highest conception of Godhead is always in Vṛndāvana. But sometimes the worldly people can have the experience of that, and sometimes they do not see. But He's always there. Only the question that He is or He's not, that we're disconnected, the switch is off. When switch is on we can see, and switch is off we can't see [?] transcendental.

So Drona, the gopīs also, and there are different sections of gopīs, they're newcomers, that svarūpa- siddha, those that are svarūpa-siddha before they attain vastu-siddhi, the highest stage, they are to be born there where the prapañca-līlā is going on. There they get the chance of being born, and then first participation in direct līlā of Kṛṣṇa, then they enter vastu-siddhi. They enter permanently there, get post, engagement.

These things have been, in details, discussed and analysed, and discussed and given out to us by the Goswāmīns to keep the harmony of all the scriptures and with the ontology of the thing, as they get inspiration from Mahāprabhu. What is the meaning of Svayaṁ Bhagavān? Bhagavān, this adjective may be used to any incarnation, but Svayaṁ Bhagavān the source of all Bhagavān, that is Svayaṁ Bhagavān. How to think and understand Him? In that case so many arguments, and so much information, and so many authorities have been collected, and the Goswāmīns have done. By the blessings of Mahāprabhu they came to such a conclusion, and they have left for us. And we are to follow that. We are to try to understand that. What is this, what is that?

And it is not very possible to know, and to retain also the different divisions of His show, how He showed this Svayaṁ Bhagavān and His prakāśa and vilāsa. Prakāśa also two kinds, prabhāva and vaibhava: and the vilāsa also has prabhāva and vaibhava, so four classifications. And also it is written clearly that vaibhava prakāśa Kṛṣṇa is Śrī Balarāma. Balarāma is vaibhava prakāśa of Kṛṣṇa. And the devakī-tanuja, Kṛṣṇa,

He Himself also vaibhava prakāśa of Svayaṁ Bhagavān: so devakī-tanuja with two hands in Mathurā and Balarāma in Vṛndāvana, They're of equal rank. The Balarāma of Vṛndāvana is equal to two-handed Vāsudeva in Mathurā, of equal rank. It has been clearly described in Caritāmṛta and Laghu-Bhāgavatāmṛta. So we are to follow closely that.

And so also in the case of Rādhārāṇī, the gopīs they're also come out, their spring is Rādhārāṇī, the mādhyura-rasa gopīs. The Svayaṁ Bhagavān is always with Svayaṁ Rūpa, Svayaṁ Rūp and Svayaṁ Rūpa, Rādhārāṇī. In the rasa the Svayaṁ Bhagavān He was always by the side of Rādhārāṇī. And by the side of other gopīs not Svayaṁ Bhagavān, there Svayaṁ Prakāśa of Kṛṣṇa as the first double, facsimile or something like that we'll say. The first class double and the second class double in this way. When in rasa, only Svayaṁ Bhagavān with Her, with Rādhārāṇī. At the side of Rādhārāṇī is Svayaṁ Bhagavān, and at the side of other gopīs that Svayaṁ Prakāśa; not Svayaṁ Rūpa, Svayaṁ Prakāśa.

In this way the gradation is there. As much devotedness, so much intensity in Bhāgavata, in Godhead, in this way it is distributed. And the love is the highest criterion, and then power, in this way it is distributed. According to devotion, the nature and degree of devotion, Godhead also distributes Himself to the devotees in a particular gradation. So the devotees are hankering for the service of Rādhārāṇī's camp. Why? The Svayaṁ Bhagavān is always with Her. And others are of lower order. So the Rādhā kainkarya, that has been settled for us to be the highest achievement for that. Through Rādhārāṇī we can have the taste of the service of the Svayaṁ Bhagavān. So many things to be known!

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. A qualitative difference! Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... their commentary, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and Prabhupāda. That is comprehensive. Still if you like, you want to consult Laghu-Bhāgavatāmṛta, the origin Rūpa Goswāmī, and also Dashami-Tipani by Sanātana Goswāmī on Bhāgavatam.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tipani means the commentary of the commentary, the highest commentary. So that is Tipani, prepared by Sanātana Goswāmī himself who had blessing from Mahāprabhu, “That wherever you’ll look Kṛṣṇa will help you at that time.”

And he told that, “If You put Your foot on my head, then I can get such courage.”

“Yes, I’m putting My hand on your head. Kṛṣṇa will help you when you begin your writing.”

And Sanātana forcibly took His foot on his head. “Now I’m sanguine that Kṛṣṇa will help me when I...” So this is the route that Sanātana Goswāmī has given, that is our supreme court. And if we try to go against that we shall have fear of committing offence against the true decision which comes from Mahāprabhu and Sanātana Goswāmī. So we shall have to manage in any other way. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: ...person who offers prasāda to the Lord, prasāda may be in gradation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Suiting to the adhikārī. Generally I have arranged that one dal and laphra, and sour, that is for general. And for the patient one particular rasa [?] which may be suitable for them. And for the respectable guest some sort of little fair diet.

Mahāprabhu always used to say that, Morai deha laphra danjan pita bana deha bhakta gane [?] “The rich dishes you should serve amongst the Vaiṣṇava, but to Me I’m a sannyāsī, only ordinary things you give to Me.”

So on the background of that only to keep the body and soul together we should tread and that we can collect some maximum energy and to devotee for the service, for the necessity. Milk may not be necessary for the body labourer, but the brain labourer they must have some milk food. In this consideration there is distinction. In our previous Maṭha of Guru Mahārāja also it was like that, little milk. And there was Sundarānanda, the editor of Gauḍīya, he could not digest milk so the chānā, chānā you know?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yea, chick peas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That was necessary for him, and milk for some, we ordinary people with dal and gal. There is a saying among the Vaiṣṇava society. “One who can tolerate this dal and gal, gal means abuse, blaming. Then if you want to become a Vaiṣṇava you must be prepared to be abused very much from your superiors. You must not be ready, must not be very self respective, seeker of respect, but you should be prepared always to be punished, to be abused. And also not much food but only nutritious and less costly is dal, the pulse. And so you must be prepared for the less costly nutritious food, this dal, and gal means abuse of the Vaiṣṇava.” Ha, ha, ha. Their chastisement and the ordinary less valuable nutritious food is dal.

So Mahāprabhu says, laphra banjan [?] “I’ve not climbed up to that superior section that he will think that, ‘O, Jagannātha has taken.’”

Svarūpa Dāmodara was very clever, he put some, “You please taste how Jagannātha has tasted it.” Then Mahāprabhu was defeated.

Of course, a devotee must try to see that how Jagannātha has tasted, if it is very salty, or very bitter, or how it is, Jagannātha has tasted. In that way it is sent to the Infinite, and not limited to one’s personal responsibility and risk if it’s connected with the Infinite.

And Jagadānanda he did not know so much ontological question. He put the rich thing in Mahāprabhu’s pot and watching from far away whether Mahāprabhu is taking. If He does not take then he’ll go and close his door and he’ll fast, continue fasting. And by fear of that Mahāprabhu had to take something: in this way. Pita bana deha bhakta gane teji yosam nadosaya [?]

They will be able to adjust, but we’ll be caught by the tongue taste material world. ‘This is sweet, this is very tasteful.’ The material taste and sweetness will caste us down in the material world, so not rich tasteful dishes for us.

And Dāsa Goswāmī went to the extreme. The Jagannātha prasāda what was even rotten it was thrown to the cows and the cows also took away their mouth from, and he took that. And with much water washing the external portion, the very little substance what was found in the midst, he collected that and applying some salt he used to take that, for long time. And he was the son of eighteen lākhs, twenty lākhs of rupees income, father’s only son. And he showed such example how a Vaiṣṇava should behave.

But they’re all parṣada bhakta. They can, they have kept the standard, and they can live without food also. But we can’t. We are to follow the middle path, that whatever will be suitable to keep up my body and that I shall save the energy and devote for the service, my adopt-ability will be according to yukta- vairāgya.

yuktāhāra-vihārasya, [yukta-ceṣṭasya karmasu / yukta-svapnābodbodhasya, yogo bhavati duḥkha-hā]

Not more rich, not more poor. What will keep up my body and supply my best energy and that should be devoted in the service of Kṛṣṇa. That will be our line of adopt-ability with the external world, yukta- vairāgya. Not only of food, yuktāhāra-vihārasya, also walking, and also sleeping, whatever is necessary, will keep me fit for the service. I’m a servant. I must not neglect my food and become weak and won't be able to render service. That will also be a loss to me. So only that much what will keep myself fit for service of my nature for which I'm meant. That sort I shall take from the rest, the sleep, the movement. Always sitting, that also may be harmful. So yukta, āhāra, vihā, saran, all these things will be temperate, snāna, exposure, in every way of life we shall be moderate. And the standard will be how I shall collect maximum energy that can be devoted in the service of Kṛṣṇa and Vaiṣṇava. That should be our ideal. Adi kena udayanca cavati paramatava [?] If too extreme that will harm our cause, adhikāra, much more vairāgya and less vairāgya, only middle path. And that is, one rule may not apply all, by individual case it will be accordingly. Someone cannot digest dal, someone cannot digest milk. Someone cannot tolerate cold, someone cannot tolerate heat. In this way, so individual case should also be considered, the general rule is that. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Dāsa Goswāmī was the prayojana Ācārya, then what was his...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prayojana, because he hit the point, the Rādhā-dāsyā, the Svayaṁ-Bhagavān and Rādhārāṇī, Svayaṁ-Rūpa, Svayaṁ-Rūp. The qualitative current that is passing within the two, minimum of that, a point of that quality current we want. That is our maximum, highest prayojana is there. The Svayaṁ-Rūp and Svayaṁ-Rūpa, when that class of positive and negative connected, are playing, that is the highest of highest order. And however smallest point we want of that quality, so rūpānuga dara. And that is also maximum in quantity in that less grown girl devotees. They have got a free entrance into the deepest līlā. But the grown up she friends, sakhī, cannot approach; not approachable by them, but is approachable by this Rūpa Mañjarī class. So these are very high talks, we're not eligible to speak of, about all these things.

["While spiritual awareness is like night for the living beings enchanted by materialism, the self- realised soul remains awake, directly relishing the divine ecstasy of his uninterrupted spiritual intelligence. On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

One section is awake, another is sleeping there, a plane. Just as Swāmī Mahārāja told to Acyutānanda, “If I, what we’re talking in a particular layer, if say to you you’ll faint. That your consciousness will rise there to the point of zero; you won’t be able to understand, beyond the area of your consciousness. If you try to be conscious of that it will be reduced to zero point, not understandable. That means you’ll faint.”

Yā niśā, where one is awakening another is sleeping in that plane, and where the others are awake and the sādhus sleeping there, in this way. Yā niśā sarva-bhūtānām, tasyām jāgarti saṁyamī. They have one particular plane where they're fully awake, but ordinary people are sleeping there, no consciousness they can raise there. And the sādhus they also do not take down their consciousness to the filthy area where the ordinary people are very much busy. They're sleeping, they cannot, they also faint here, no trace of their consciousness in that area, in this

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. So I want to retire now.

...from his principle. If we find out that plane as our shelter no adversity can remove, has the power to remove us from that plane. Such sort of mysterious affinity we have there within us. The suicidal squad does not care for anything but for the cause. Kāma-rūpa group there is another, sambandha-rūpa, kāma-rūpacar. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. It's difficult to find such a plane where once if we can take our stand, no question of removal. Not flickering; none can separate the innate function. Back to God, back to home, home means that, inseparable. So sweet, so sweet, inseparable, the sign of home is such.

If separated, Koila tabu kabu najiyai [?] Mahāprabhu says, "I forcibly separated, it is impossible; almost he dies."

Just as the fish separated from the water they will die; something like that. But here, death is not possible, soul is eternal. So as Swāmī Mahārāja told to Acyutānanda, ‘you will faint.’ In that plane you will faint, you may live, but fainting. Takhoile setana yadi haya taj yog kabana haya yog [?] Separation is impossible: still if any way forcibly anyone can attempt to do it he will die almost, he will faint. He cannot maintain his consciousness, not a child of that soil, that is.

yā niśā sarva-bhūtānām, tasyām jāgarti saṁyamī / yasyām jāgrati
bhūtāni, sā niśā paśyato muneḥ

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Hari. So manodharma means changing. Buddhiloka is more stable, the plane of judiciousness, that is more real, more stable. Then Ātmāloka is further more. In this way, the Paramātmāloka which is, according to our progress, we reach higher plane, and there it is possible for us to live for long time. Sanātana Goswāmī has showed the gradation, how the sādḥaka is taken to a particular place and after living for some time; dissatisfaction. Again, some connection is given, and he’s taken in the upper layer, thereafter some, the same dissatisfaction. Then some arrangement is made, some higher connection reaches him, and he’s taken in the higher plane. In this way, he’s gradually taken up to Vṛndāvana, through different positions, Vaikuṇṭha, then Ayodhyā, Dvārakā, then Vṛndāvana, in this way. The Satyaloka, Śivaloka, Vaikuṇṭhaloka, in this way, progressing. Gopakumara: Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta. His life began in a lower plane, gradually going up, showing the importance of different planes.

Parvat Mahārāja: I have a question about this, that Gopakumar he seems to have the same inner nature, even though he’s going through the different planes, he doesn’t seem to be changing himself, until he finds the plane in which he actually finds full satisfaction. But he’s not, seemingly, changing himself. His identity doesn’t seem to be changing, as he goes through the different planes he’s always perfectly situated in his inner nature.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Parvat Mahārāja: Gopakumar, he's going to these different places, as you mentioned, but he's not affected. He's always remaining in his own constitutional position. He's a vrajavāsī, always, he's not changing, he's not being affected...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So, our inner self is located there. If our inner self, by construction it is meant for Vraja, then the progress will be like that, line, up to that realization he cannot feel any satisfaction. He cannot fully identify himself with other plenary activities. If one who has got his innate nature in Vaikuṇṭha, in Vaikuntha there the termination, he'll remain there satisfied. But this Gopakumar means, the name is hitting his innermost tendency.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gopakumar, this name was given to him only by Sanātana Goswāmī that his innate nature is gopa. But if one's innate nature is vaikuṇṭha-vāsī, Nārāyaṇa sevāka, then he will go to Vaikuṇṭha, and there he will stay satisfactorily forever. Gopakumar: suppose we cannot see, but through x-ray it can be seen. So if a sādhu can see what is his inner nature, is he a unit of Goloka, and unit also of what group, not only in Goloka, in sākhyā-rasa, mādhyā-rasa, where his innate nature, by x-ray it is seen, and then that name has been given, Gopakumar.

[About fifty seconds of Bengali [?] conversation]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The very innate nature, the perfect innate nature, according to that, the name has been given to him, allotted to him: Gopakumar. And one who is in his self-determined stage, who is Gopakumar, his line of sādhana will be like this. He won't be satisfied anywhere, in any plane. Gradually he will go there, and there his sādhana will be finished. The means to end will be finished there, and he's satisfied there because he has got his own plane, own home. Gopakumar means whose innate home is gopa, with the gopas, he's Gopakumar. And if one Vaikuṇṭha sevāka, he will stop in Vaikuṇṭha. This Hanumān, kapiḥ, Rāma sevāka, he will stop in Ayodhyā. That is the inner diagnosis is there. The innate nature is that of gopa so he won't be satisfied – though he may be offered many things on the way, but he won't be satisfied as long as he cannot reach the Vṛndāvana. All tasteless, sometimes for the time being he's trying to adjust with the environment, but he can't, fails, dissatisfied. Again a new thing is given to him. He's trying his best to accommodate him with the circumstances, paraphernalia, but he can't. His inner tendency does not allow him to settle there permanently; uneasiness, dissatisfaction. Then, a higher plane, next higher, next higher, in this way he won't be free, or won't be satisfied in any environment, until and unless he reaches to that plane.

Parvat Mahārāja: How is it that one develops this innate nature? Is it developed?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is not developed, discovered.

kr̥ti-sādhyā bhavet sādhyā-bhāva sā sādhanābhidhā nitya-siddhasya bhāvasya prākāṭyaṁ hṛdi sādhyatā

[“The process of devotional service, beginning with chanting and hearing, is called sādhana-bhakti. This includes the regulative principles that are intended to awaken one to devotional service. Devotional service is always dormant in everyone’s heart, and by the offenceless chanting of the Holy Names of the Kṛṣṇa, one’s original dormant Kṛṣṇa consciousness is awakened, as the beginning of sādhana-bhakti. This can be divided into many different parts, such as, faith, association with devotees, initiation by the spiritual master, engagement in devotional service under the instructions of a spiritual master, steadiness in devotional service and the awakening of a taste for devotional service. In this way, one can become attached to Kṛṣṇa and His service, and when this attachment is intensified, it results in ecstatic love for Kṛṣṇa.”]
[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.2.2]

What is already there, only to discover, to remove the covering, sādhana means that. It is there. It is there in very germinal form, inactive, covered, inactive, to remove the cover, and then it will assert itself.

Parvat Mahārāja: So that means that the souls that are in the brahmajyoti, they have their innate positions also?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A thousand times that has been answered by me. That is adopt-ability there, both sides. The brahmajyoti, how can he enter into this mundane world? The possibility, the adopt-ability, we are to consider there. This is undetectable stage, undetectable stage. Only with the influence of the lower it can come to the lower region, and with the help of the higher, it can go to the higher region, the adopt- ability in the seed. You are to think out what it can be. It is in the buffer state, in the abscissa, an undetectable subtle thing. But the adopt-ability, endowed with the adopt-ability of both the sides, the higher and the lower. If it is possible that it can come lower, there is possibility it can go higher. But by very minute observation one can detect what is the higher possibility in him. Then it is caught that its higher adopt-ability, possibility, prospect in life is up to Vraja, up to Vaikuṇṭha. In Vraja also in different rasa, that is very subtle form, undetectable way, it is there, that is the svarūpa. And without that svarūpa, how we can come down here, from the tat, undetectable position? That is Brahman, ākṣara.

[dvāv imau puruṣau loke, kṣaraś cākṣara eva ca] / kṣaraḥ sarvāṇi bhūtāni, kūṭa-stho 'kṣara ucyate

[“In this world, there are two kinds of souls: the fallible and the infallible. All beings from Lord Brahmā down to the lowest stationary life-forms are known as fallible (as they have deviated from their intrinsic nature). But the personalities who are eternally situated in their divine nature are known as infallible (personal associates of the Lord).”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.16]

Kūṭa-sthaḥ, undetectable, something like unknowable position, so subtle, so the possibility. Taṭasthā, margin means neither actively participating in any side. But there is possibility there of participation on both the sides. Such is the wonderful position where the taṭasthā jīva comes. This is their question. Very impertinent question; it cannot be solved and conceived very easily. But we must have to adjust with it.

[jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa',] kṛṣṇera 'taṭasthā-śakti' bhedābheda-prakāśa'

[“The constitutional nature of the jīva soul is that of an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa; the jīva soul is a manifestation of divinity which is one with Kṛṣṇa and different from Him. The jīva souls are the marginal potency of the Lord.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108]

By conclusion it comes like that, is created with the adopt-ability. That is undetectable. So it is there. The disease is there. And the cure is our desirable. And to go, for a patient to go into the details of how that disease can come in a body, that is with the doctor, and the medical student, not the patient. The patient practically wants relief. Relief is his question, important, how he can get relief. That is the important necessity in him.

So, jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3], don't try to know the whole mystery of the infinite mysterious power. You have no right to enter into all the details. Then you will be another infinite, so this is impossibility, jñāne prayāsam. You are finite, you want to measure the whole of the infinite? Absurd! Don't go to crash your brain, your head against the hill. What is your immediate relief, try for that, the cure of the disease, that is your business. So, jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva. Submit to the infinite, and try to have your own quota, mind that, mind your own business. Don't go to interfere with others, in their affairs. That is, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam directs us, “Mind your own business, how you can get the best benefit within the whole, that is your own business, that should be your own business.”

So, jñāna-sunya-bhakti: just as you eliminate your energy in the exploitation, so eliminate your curiosity of knowing everything. That is also an anartha, undesirable. That is your enemy. In the way of your search for the real goal they're enemy. How can I let loose all the energy I accumulated? How can I leave of them? With so much endeavour I have acquired some energy; why should I leave them? Because you are going to drown in the water with those energies, with those gold coins, leave the gold coins, and then you can swim easily. The heavy gold coins will take you down. Leave the gold coins and be light and swim across the river. So energy so long acquired, leave. So, the curiosity for knowing everything, that is also a subtle burden to you. Leave it; mind your own business, surrender. Surrendering, the curiosity is against, it is enemy to surrender. Curiosity of knowing this thing, that thing, many things: that is an enemy to the principle of surrendering. He will look after. He's infinite. He's all-good. Curiosity or the nature of the knowledge, he wants to take his own right by calculation, whether I am being given anything less, whether I am being deceived. In the plane I am going to enter, whether there is any possibility of deceiving me, so I want to know. I can't [put] faith in the environment. But they can't tolerate; for this atheist, eliminate him. Faithless, suspicious and another word, who has got no faith, eliminate. Eliminate them, they're not simple, plain, do not learn to believe the environment.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Sceptic.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sceptic, eliminate the sceptic. Sceptic is not fitted to live here. The sceptic should be eliminated. It is not a plane for the sceptic to live. Like spies they have entered. They are spies of the lower area. They should be eliminated. Only the candidate faithful, optimistic, they will be given entrance, admission here, the plane of surrender. None can deceive; by very nature deception is foreign to them. And anyone within his heart with some scepticism, they won't like his company. He's searching, searching, with some doubt, that man, we should not have such company here. The spy of māyā has entered. He wants to take measure of everything, and then to accept. That man must be undesirable in this soil.

Do you feel, follow? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Simple simplicity, then mixed with confidence, surrendering to the whole soil. Surrender only is accepted there.

"If you come to calculate and to exact your gain here, such people we don't want. They should not live here, enter here. He wants his calculation for his own selfish view, selfish end."

If you can give more, suppose if you're cheated, you'll think that, 'I am fortunate.’ Are you prepared for that? If you’re cheated by anyone there, you should have to consider, ‘I am blessed, I am fortunate enough.’

There is a story in the Rāmānuja section. Rāmānuja had a very favourite gr̥hastha bhakta, householder. Some Dhanur Dāsa or something was his name. Very favourite, so much so that even the sannyāsīns, the renounced souls, they also had some jealousy over that. Then, Rāmānuja made an arrangement one day. When the sannyāsīns went to take their bath, their clothing was somewhere perhaps in the sun or so. Rāmānuja asked one of his disciples just, “They have put their bahirvas [outer cloth?] and kaupīna in a particular place, misplace them, change their position.”

Then when they came after taking bath, “Where is my cloth? O, you have taken it!” Also, “You have taken mine!”

In this way they began to create a row.

Rāmānuja came, “What’s the matter? You are only, kaupīna is your only wealth, and so much attachment to that, that only they’re misplaced, and you are making the Maṭha simply a place of battle? What is this?” Then anyhow subsided!

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...reflected itself in the heart, unjust, very cruel. Then Nanda took Him on his lap and untied: in this way, could not be tied.

So Veda, the Upaniṣads says, ucatistha dasangalam [?] Whatever you can conceive to be the perfect, He's exceeding over that by twelve fingers, transcendental. Can't come, He won't come under the jurisdiction of your any conception however high of height it may be by nature. It is always transcendental. Whatever height you may reach, still He's above that. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So whatever achievement we have, if we can connect with Him, He's all in all, He's the owner, He's the enjoyer, it is His, He's the owner, He's the enjoyer. I also belong to Him. Only with this sort of conception you can come to your normal position. Otherwise you're suffering from diseased knowledge, false knowledge. If you want proper adjustment with the Absolute, you are to set yourself in such similar position. You belong to Him. Everything belongs to Him. That is, He's by Himself and He's for Himself. By itself and for itself. He's at the root of everything and He's the future of everything. In this way we're to adjust ourselves with the Absolute, then we can hope to come nearer to Him. Otherwise we are going far, far away for our selfish attainment. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. No standard can measure Him in any respect.

Mr. Einstein has said that, "A thing as it is, and something more."

The measurement, what is the measurement and something more. He's going, or He's diminishing, that must be added there. What it is, it is not that, it is some qualification, some more qualification should be added there. You limit in the Infinite. What a thing is, and not only that thing, but something more to be added there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. The possibility and prospect should be added in a particular thing when you're going to calculate. This is the length, breadth and height, then something more you are to add there, for its possibility. Every second changing, everything changing, and by the whim of the Supreme Will depending: everything for its existence on His Divine Will and environment and whole environment of the Divine Will. So uncertain, nothing is certain here, because it depends on the sweet will of Him. So without calculating Him, your calculation is not perfect. The Supreme Will at the back of everything, whatever you can go to calculate. Something more you have to add there, because it is dependent on some other force. The calculation of the Sun, the planets, the brahmāṇḍa, and whatever it is, all changing, based on His Sweet Will. No definite calculation or gain can do.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Whatever, wandering through the different stages of life according to our past karma, wherever we are placed, whatever qualification we have got, we are to surrender to the Infinite, to the Absolute Will. And that can take us nearer to His plane, karmārpaṇa; then jñāna-miśrā.

So here in India, that hedonist, or worshippers of many gods there are, but in the end the connection is mantramic, "Whatever I have done, the result, the consequence, I'm offering to Kṛṣṇa." This Durgā pūjā, this pūjā, that pūjā, so many pūjās are done. Then after finishing the whole ceremony there is one connection, one mantra. Dikṛte tat karma phalaṁ [?] "Whatever I have done, the result of the consequence of this, I am offering to Kṛṣṇa." Sri kṛsnaya samarpitam astu [?] The link is there. According to my whim, my mental tendency, I'm bound to do something. But the ṛṣis, the well-wishers, the guardians of society, spiritual society, they have given the link there. "Connect it, whatever you do, connect it with Kṛṣṇa."

yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat / [yat tapasyasi kaunteya, tat kuruṣva mad arpaṇam]

[“O son of Kuntī, whatever you do, whatever you eat, whatever you offer in sacrifice, whatever you offer in charity, and whatever austere vows you may keep - do everything as an offering unto Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.27]

So Rāmānanda-saṁvāda, the basis was begun with varṇāśrama, then next the Kṛṣṇa karmārpaṇa, because indirectly varṇāśrama dharma connected with Kṛṣṇa everywhere. But to feel direct connection with Kṛṣṇa with all the results, all the fruits, that is one step higher. And then, to give up that and to accept the conscious plane, dismissing the material energy, that no faith in the material energy. But spiritual energy, that is more efficient and powerful, we should take to that. And placed in such a plane of spiritual substance, I’m spirit. I’m nothing to do with matter. Samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54], I am brahman, I am cetana, I am conscious, and my necessity with the material energy is nil. So attainment of material acquisition, or loss, both, I won’t be affected by that, by the loss and gain of the material plane, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54]

“He’s eligible from that basis, he’s eligible really to seek Me, to search after Me, when the charm of material acquisition disappears from his heart totally. He has got a better position.”

But Mahāprabhu says, “Eho bahya [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59], this is also lower conception. Go higher, deeper. This is also superficial. Mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām, he has not attained any devotional attraction there, but only independent of material loss or gain. But that does not mean, withdrawal from the negative side does not mean that he has attained some position in the positive world. So eho bahya, this is also superficial, go further.”

Then he came, “Jñāna-sunya-bhakti, the taste for Kṛṣṇa kathā, for the tidings, for the narration about the līlā of Kṛṣṇa. Wherever he may be posted, in whatever shade of life he may be posted. But if he’s seen to have some taste, his liking the Kṛṣṇa kathā, the story of Kṛṣṇa is very pleasing his heart.”

“Here you are,” Mahāprabhu says. “Eho bahya, age kaha ara. Now I admit that when taste for Kṛṣṇa kathā is to be traced in any jīva it is a sure, positive link, independent of his external position, wherever he may be. He may be a beast even, Hanumān, Garuḍa, but the taste, the partiality, likeness for Kṛṣṇa; that is to be traced in his heart. Here it has begun. Then go further.”

Then from this to śanta-rasa, then dāsyā, sākhyā, vātsalyā, in this way.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Ha, ha. Cold! Ha, ha, ha. Now feeling hot, now cold, ha, ha, ha. What to do? Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. See the position, the stable position of this material world. No dependence, now this, now that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. From here we are to begin, in such unsettled position. And such things also may be felt when one is well established there.

yata dekha vaisnavera vyavahara-duhkha, niscaya janiha sei parananda sukha [visaya-madandha saba kicchui na jane, vidya kula, dhana-made vaisnava na cine]

[“When you see a Vaiṣṇava of the highest order who seems to be suffering from material misery, you should know for sure that he is really experiencing the highest ecstasy. (When ordinary people see that a devotee has no material wealth of his own, that he is not enjoying the mellows of family life and has no important position in society, they think that he is suffering. They do not understand that a devotee takes no pleasure in wealth, women, and prestige, but takes transcendental pleasure in humbly serving the Lord.) Bewildered by sense enjoyment and puffed up with pride in their knowledge, education, birth, wealth, beauty, and so on, the ignorant people in general cannot understand the activities or position of a Vaiṣṇava. (One should not think, however, that because a devotee does not consider these things important that he is therefore ignorant. A devotee simply cannot be understood in terms of birth, beauty, education or wealth.) A Vaiṣṇava, on the other hand never considers birth, education, and wealth to be important qualifications, but distributes the Lord’s mercy to everyone, regardless of their social position.”]

[Caitanya-Bhagavata, Madhya, 9.240-241] & [Gauḍīya-Kanthara, 3.49]

If Kṛṣṇa’s will is at backing direct, then everything is possible. Even Kṛṣṇa Himself, He’s being the prey of the arrow of that Jarā, hunter. But that does not harm His Absolute position in any way, He’s such. He’s not bound to show His invulnerable aspect towards us.

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, [nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa

[“Lord Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

This is aprākṛta-svarūpa, adhokṣaja, transcendental. And then aprākṛta means very similar to prākṛta, but not prākṛta. That is fifth and last and the highest stage, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam says. That His fullest play is to be found even in connection what we think to be non harmonised. What cannot be harmonised with His real character, that is also found within the harmony. That is His highest, the nature of highest harmony is such, to make the impossible possible, in all phases. In vulnerability, in morality, in many other aspects, what is thought to be the most nasty: that may be most pure in purity coming in His connection. There the perfection of the Absolutes pastimes. Whenever anything is getting His connection, whatever show, or whatever sort of play it may show, that is all right. That is all right because it has His connection. So filthy things, the minutest gets the quality of the greatest, of the biggest, most filthy, that can get the position of the purest. He’s so miraculous. He’s mystic. He’s miracle. So when in His connection, everything, the meanest thing is highest. And without His connection the purest thing is the most mean. He’s such. His characteristic is such.

“I’m everywhere, I’m nowhere. Everything in Me, I’m in nothing. So I’m beyond all your comprehension and calculation. That means that you are accustomed to calculate and conceive things in a particular way, I’m far, far beyond that.”

Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura. “His conception, His figure is very sweet, very sweet. Madhuram madhuram vadanam madhuram, His face, sweeter than His body, madhuram madhuram vadanam madhuram, His figure, His conception. Then His conception of His face: face is the mirror of the heart, that is very sweeter. Madhu gandhi mṛdu smitam etad aho, and then the smiling on the face that is very, very sweet. Madhuram madhuram madhuram madhuram. Then what should I go to say and narrate, everything sweet, sweet, sweet, sweet!” There he ends, Bilvamaṅgala.

Sweetness, existence, then knowledge, categorically different from existence, then ānandam, sweetness, that is also categorically different, from consciousness as well as mere existence. That is fulfilment, sat-cit-ānandam, sat-cit-ānanda-vigraha. Ānandam, sweetness is the original substance, and it presupposes conception, and that presupposes existence, sat-cit-ānandam. Ānandam is the integer, akhila- rasāmṛta-murtiḥ, in its variegated nature, harmonised one whole. Plurality and unity harmonised. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Sundara. Gaurāṅga Sundara. Today

“The responsibility is Mine. You go on taking the Name, as much as you can, especially that of Gaurāṅga. The rest you leave with Me. I’m responsible. You obey My order.”

But our sceptic mind won’t allow. I want to make progress calculating every inch, whether which side I'm being taken in. We are a child of that particular soil, without calculation of our interest, we won't take a step forwards. We're very reasonable and very judicious. Is it possible to become a fool, won't rely on a beggar? What is this?

acintyāḥ khalu ye bhāvā na tāṁs tarkeṇa yojayet / [prakṛtibhyaḥ param yacca tad-acintyasya lakṣam] ["That which is inconceivable can never be understood through the logic and reason of the mind. The very symptom that something is inconceivable is that it is beyond logical comprehension."] [Skanda- Purāṇa] & [Mahābharata, Bhiṣma Parva, 5.22]

It is above your calculation. What really you want for, that is not within your calculation. That is above calculation. Our calculation is fruitless, meaningless there. Really, what is your inner aspiration, your calculation can never guide you there, it is something more. That calculation path you are to shun, to abandon: and take another path, of faith. Faith: that is necessary. Your faith also very meagre. To infinite possibility, how your faith can conceive? How good, how noble your faith can conceive? That is also within limitation.

But there are things you'll be astounded to think, as Swāmī Mahārāja told to Acyutānanda, "You'll faint." Your understanding can never reach that standard. Such great things are there. So please give up that mania of depending on your calculation, your reason, judiciousness, all these things. Give up this shackle, undesirable shackle. Faith also very meagre, how much you can put faith in? It is more and more infinite, and your internal aspiration for that. So give up the calculative life. Come to faith, and try to increase the boundary of your faith, only in the company of the sādhus who are dealing with that faith substance. Leaving life of calculation, come to increase your faith in the association of those that are making cultivation about faith. Connecting yourself, persons with higher and higher faith, there your fortune lies, and never otherwise. The shackle of your calculation, this buddhi, the consideration of this, this is a cage, a nasty cage. Break it down, smash it. Come to faith; that can emulate your fortune, really, in the standard of the infinite. That is the standard to measure the infinite: only faith. That is also very little, new. Still, by developing that side you can come out of this cage, the cage of knowledge, the knowledge within the cage. Smaller cage or higher cage, bigger cage, it is cage after all.

[“In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in

It can be nurtured within a favourable company and then it grows. And independent of our calculative worldly prospect it passes through, śraddhā, sādhu-saṅga, anartha-nivṛttiḥ, then ruci, āsakti, then bhāva-bhakti, sneha, mana, praṇaya, in this way it vanishes. It disappears into the will of Kṛṣṇa in the svarūpa-śakti kingdom, and feels, it can feel, the heart, the faith will arouse some feeling within us, hr̥daye nābhya nujñāto [Mānu-Saṁhitā, 2.1]. The heart, the inner thirst: that will be quenched. That will say that, “I have come in a proper soil.” The inner most feeling of our interest, the inner most interest: that will come as evidence to me. “Yes, yes, I’m going home, sweet, sweet home. I feel that I’m going to home. I am come to home.” That inner evidence, hr̥daye nābhya nujñāto, from the core of the heart the approval will come, “I want this. Kālidāsa in Śakuntalā, one of the very notable dramas in ancient India in Sanskrit: Śakuntalā of Kālidāsa. When history, Śakuntalā she was brought up in an āśrama. And Mahārāja Dusanta he went hunting and there he met Śakuntalā and he was charmed with her beauty or nature anyhow. Privately they married in gandharva style. But Śakuntalā was left there. And suddenly mahārṣi Durvāsā visited that āśrama. All absent, engaged in some duty, and Śakuntalā she was sitting, absent minded, thinking about her future and the king. Durvāsā, he was of very angry type. You know that Durvāsā from Ambarīṣa uvāca, easily enraged and cursing. So he came and also perhaps begged something for him, but she was unmindful, could not hear, so gave her some curse. “You are thinking whom he will forget you totally.” So that was with Dusanta.

In the meantime Śakuntalā felt that child in her womb and when that was out, mahārṣi Karna, the āśrama leader, he with two of his disciples and one old lady sent her to Mahārāja Dusanta. They went there, but the king forgot the whole thing as the result of the curse of Durvāsā Ṛṣi. He could not remember anything.

And another thing, miraculous incident, the king gave his ring to Śakuntalā. “This is my presentation to you. Whenever necessary you will show, use it.”

_____ [?] The curse of the fortune also! When going Śakuntalā confident that, “His ring with me, king’s ring.” But when she took bath on the way of her journey, some fish at that time took off that ring and he swallowed that ring, the fish.

So Śakuntalā went there and the king forgot everything. Śakuntalā asked the brahmacārīs of the āśrama, they put the question. The ministers and so many gentlemen in the court totally refused them, “I don’t know anything about such agreement. It is impossible.”

Then they asked Śakuntalā, “You plead for yourself. She does not like to hear us, no.”

Then Śakuntalā tried, and perhaps she related also the circumstance in the environment and things that happened. And also perhaps it was informed that his child is in her womb. But still he could not remember and could not recognise. So wholly frustrated, disappointed, what to do, and about to come back.

Then the priest of the king told, “You Mahārāja, she says so earnestly that we cannot disbelieve her. But one thing may be done. You have no child, but she says that she’s with child, put him under the care of your priest, put her under the care. And when she will give birth to the child, he must be your heir and royal signs must be seen in his body. It will be detected there like that.”

With the advice of his priest, minister, Mahārāja arranged like that. “All right, take her to the house of my priest, brāhmaṇa priest, there she will be allowed to stay.”

And then, those that came, one old lady and two brahmacārīs of the āśrama, they left her to her fate and they went away back to āśrama.

Then Śakuntalā when she was led to the house of the brāhmaṇa priest she was so much disheartened and disappointed she prayed to the Lord. “I’m not untrue, and such is my fate. Oh mother earth, give me shelter in your lap. I don’t like to show my face in such position of insult and disregard.”

At the same time there was some miracle. Śakuntalā was born from a Ṛṣi in the womb of Urvaśī.

Suddenly Urvaśī appeared and took her above, up, it is mentioned, in the heaven.

Then the priest who was guiding her, he came and described, related the thing, “An astonishing incident, some lady with halo, with jyoti, like lightening she appeared and took her and went up: a most astounding event.” What to do, he finished anyhow.

After a few days one fisherman is caught by the police, that he came to sell the ring. He caught a fish and when cutting he found the ring in the belly of the fish. Necessarily he came to sell it to a shop, and the shopkeeper saw that there is some stamp of the name of the king there. So he told the police and the police caught the fisherman, and took to the king with the ring.

Hmm. In the meantime, I forgot to say. When Durvāsā was casting his curse he’s going away, the two other she friends of Śakuntalā they were coming from some business, or from the river after bath, or anyhow. They heard that already that Durvāsā has cursed her, and they fell to the feet of the Ṛṣi, “What have you done? She’s innocent. You have cast a curse on her. Be propitiated.”

Then by their request the Ṛṣi told, “That if she can show any sign to the king then the king will again remember the whole thing.”

They were confident then, “That yes, king’s ring with her, and she may show then everything will be clear.”

But the ring was taken off when going in the river while taking bath.

Now the ring has come to the king, the whole thing came in his mind, and he began to repent. “What mischief I have done. The innocent lady, and she’s with child. And I have no heir. My heir is with her. And I have so rudely and with ingratitude I have done so much wrong to her.” He began to: now no rest, no sleep, no relishing any food, he was repentant. Anyhow what to do, it is finished.

Then he was invited by Indra to help him in his fight with the demons. Dusanta went to help. When coming back after finishing the battle, in the āśrama of Kaśyapa he found a boy, grown up boy, after, boy of seven or eight, something like that, he’s fighting with a lion...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...tiger, they're not very he wants to be, not a very furious character. They don't like to harm the boy. But boy is teasing the lion, sometimes taking out his tongue, sometimes drawing his ears, and the case of the manes sometimes tearing in this way he's fighting, teasing the lion.

Devotee: Fighting or playing?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Playing. But the lion does not like that, but still boy won't let it off.

So Dusyanta saw him, stroke him, and he after seeing, he found that the boy's figure is almost similar to that of him, his eyes, nose, a facsimile. "What is this? If my boy in Śakuntalā: if she has given the birth of a child, and his age also would have been like this, and my facsimile."

At this time there were so many she friends of Śakuntalā there. They tried to help the lion and take off the boy. Boy won't come. Then they say, "We are giving, we are producing you a śakunta."

Śakunta means a doll bird, doll of a bird. That is in Sanskrit śakunta.

When he pronounced the word śakunta, the she friend of Śakuntalā, "Where is my mother Śakunta, Śakuntalā? My mother, yes, I shall go to her."

Then the king was again astonished, "Oh, śakunta, Śakuntalā, then Śakuntalā must be here." Then he came nearer and enquired about the matter and it was found that Śakuntalā is there living and this boy his own son. Then of course they were presented together and by mutual arrangement Śakuntalā and the boy – the name of the boy was Bhārata, and they were all taken in.

I wanted to come to one śloka, that when Śakuntalā is starting from the āśrama towards the king, at that time these two brahmacārīns who were asked by the leader of the āśrama Karna Muni, the guardian of the āśrama, “Tomorrow morning you will start, you three with Śakuntalā will start towards the capitol.” Then in the morning they arose and seeing, there is a śloka:

Yate katosta se karam pati dosa dinam aviskrto dina purasara eka tat kara [?]

Ei yudya esya yuga padma pasamo daya ban loke niyam mata evatma dasam tadesu [?]

That śloka is there. Kālidāsa has described, giving description. The Sun is coming and the Moon is going down. Yate katosta se karam pati dosa dinam [?] The Moon is supposed to be the fosterer, the feeder of so many auṣadhi, so many herbs, medicine that can cure many diseases miraculously. And they get their food from the ray of Moon. So such Moon who can cure so many catastrophe, he's forced to go down. And on the other side the Sun who has got his charioteer, Ulna [?], who is Ulna is born before full grown, and he's considered to be ominous. The untimely born child is generally taken as ominous. So the ominous personified just on his front, in his face, with this liability also the Sun is rising, on its rise, and the master of the miraculous medicine, the Moon, is going down. This is very peculiar thing. Yate katosta se karam pati dosa dinam aviskrto dina purasara eka aka [?] Both of them are luminary bodies, tejan [?] powerful, just, yuga padma pasamo daya [?] But one in danger and another in prospect. Esya yuga padma pasamo daya ban loke niyam mata evatma dasam tadesu [?] As if it is warning the people at large, “Be prepared that your present stage won't continue. If you're in danger, danger will not remain for long time. And if you're in prosperity, in good position, you'll have to lose that in the course of time.” So this is teaching us, teaching the people at large, the public, the whole, especially the intelligentsia. “Read it from the law of nature that nothing remains permanent here, and be prepared accordingly.”

And here also giving some hint to Śakuntalā, “You are going with some great prospect that you’ll be queen there, but beware of the hand behind. What you want to enjoy, going to enjoy your prospect, that you may lose your fortune.”

So, and a similar śloka we find in Marga [?] the kavya, where the famous poet he has described Kṛṣṇa līlā, Marga [?] Kundavan apas sri sri madam bhoja kadam leti mokam kadam [?] The red flowers which at night with the ray of the Moon flourishes, but in day they’re a little discouraged. And padam, this lily, lotus, it flourishes in daytime with Sun rays and when day is gone they’re a little discouraged. So the morning coming the [?] they were so much pleased by the Moon light they’re going down. And on the other hand the lotus section they’re being very cheerful. Simultaneously one part is discouraged, another part is encouraged, here side by side. By changes of events someone feels encouragement, someone discouragement. Kundavan apas sri sri madam bhoja kadam [?] And the Moon going down and the Sun rising! [?] When the night passing the owls they’re naturally morose, disappointed. On the other hand the chakrava section their custom is that at night the male and female they must be separated by nature. It is the nature when night falls, the evening, the pair must be separated, and when day will come they will meet. This is the fashion of that class of birds. Generally they stay at the side of the river, and when night comes if one remains this side, another will go the other side of the river. This is the fashion. And daytime then again they will meet. When they can see at night so when day comes they’re disappointed. At the same time the chakrava section they’re very much cheerful, now they’ll meet. [?]

Whether we like it or not this is the very nature of the nature. This is inevitable so we must be prepared for such differences in time, and in our fate. And Bhagavad-gītā has come to adjust us here. You have no hand on the external thing. What is necessary to you to adjust yourself with these dualities, the duality is there, man apa man jaya para jaya [?] Good, bad, this, you can't interfere. Then what precaution should you take? Your internal adjustment without any care, you can thrive. It cannot affect you really. It is some wave, external wave. Because you give much attention to that superficial wave you are discouraged. But don't care for that. Your real improvement is independent of this good or bad what is seen on the surface. Your prospect, real prospect is within, not on the surface where such things are inevitable to come. So don't care for that, in any, whatever the physical circumstance may come. You neglect it. It will come and you will of course have to tolerate but don't be much attentive to that. You go on with your internal affairs and that is the key to the success of your life. And many times it is repeated in Bhagavad-gītā. This sort of advice has been repeated in many places.

And one, I forgot his name, one German scholar he told that, "This is the peculiar advice of Bhagavad- gītā and this is the only remedy to emulate our lot, to gain, to improve our lot. And this is the highest theology in the whole of the world. This is not found anywhere so explicitly as it is suggesting in Bhagavad-gītā that you can't change the superficial incidents, circumstance."

But that does not mean that you are lost. Only don't care for them and take your mind to your own thing without caring these dualities of the world. You can't fight with them, that is to fight with your own shadow. It is unnecessary at all, this dual thing, rāga-dveṣa, because you have got affinity for something and you have got jealousy for something. The both, jealousy and your, the two kinds of prejudice, in favour and in opposition, you must conquer this sort of feeling. And then you march on to your goal, otherwise your energy will be hopelessly lost. And this is the key to success of your life, this rāga-dveṣa, affinity and indifference, this jealousy, something, rāga-dveṣa. Man apa man jaya para jaya [?] They will be always, you don't care for that, go on your own way, that is the:

rāga-dveṣa-vimuktais tu, viṣayān indriyaiś caran / ātma-vaśyair vidheyātmā, prasādam adhigacchati ["However, a true devotee on the path of renunciation in devotion (yukta-vairāgya) acts exclusively for My transcendental satisfaction. Abandoning attachment and envy, although accepting sense objects with his controlled senses, he attains full contentment of heart."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.64]

If you want really the peace of mind which is independent of the incidents of any kind of the phenomenal world, the peace is independent, it does not depend on the external events at all, the peace of mind. It is a separate thing. One may find peace of mind in very unfavourable circumstances, and another man in his very favourable circumstances he may not find peace in his mind, always anxiety, anxiety. 'If I lose it, if I lose it,' he's in possession but still, 'I may lose it, I may lose it.' The anxiety is making him suffer. So peace is independent. What is the object of the search of all of us, that peace, real peace, that is independent of the incidents which apparently seem to be favourable or unfavourable; it does not matter at all. Don't care for that.

sukha-duḥkhe same kṛtvā, lābhālābhau jayājayau / tato yuddhāya yujiyasva, naivam pāpam avāpsyasi ["Knowing pleasure and pain, gain and loss, and victory and defeat to be one and the same - fight. You will be unaffected by sin."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.38]

Whatever you do you don't entangle with these two waves, these superficial waves of the world. Don't care for that. Ignore them; trample them under your feet. You create your mentality in such a way that you trample down this favourable, unfavourable, and go on with your duty.
That will fetch the real value for your labour, your energy. You're devoting your energy cent per cent for His duty. Don't care for the success. If you're devoting sincerely your energy that will be counted, and those things won't be counted, the success or un-success won't be counted for you. So be indifferent to the external events and go on internally discharging His duty. That is the clue to success. Don't enter into the world of success, world of peace. Rāga-dveṣa-vimuktais tu [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.64], our sympathy or apathy for external things, one who's liberated, independent of this sympathy and apathy to the worldly event, viṣayān indriyaiś caran, in this indifferent way he's taking his food, bath, working, all these things: indifferent. Ātma-vaśyair, and he's more concerned towards inner world, his ātmā, soul. Vidheyātmā, and can control by the interest of his soul he can control the interest of the mind and that is world interest. Prasādam adhigacchati, he's sure to reach the plane of real peace. He will find that one day he will find himself settled in the plane of peacefulness. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

...two Bhārata at least, one Rṣabhadeva's eldest son was Bhārata who left his kingdom and went to the forest to the ṛṣis and who had to take another birth by nurturing a deer, infant deer, and again got the birth of a deer.

And then next Jaḍa Bharata, a brāhmaṇa's son who was saved by the goddess Kālī when he was taken by the dacoits to sacrifice before her in Kurukṣetra, Badra Kālī. The dacoits picked up Bharata. He was non resisting, and very good figure, auspicious.

They thought, 'If we can give sacrifice before the goddess of Kālī then we'll be fortunate enough to get a chance of looting.'

He did not resist, Bharata, "Whatever the dispensing of the Lord let that happen." He did not give any resistance. "Take." Going, and when putting they will cut him asunder. "All His will," thorough submission to the will of the inevitable Lord!

But the goddess Kālī could not tolerate this. She came with her sword in her hand to cut up the dacoits and let loose that Bharata.

In the last moment the nature revolves against truth mongers. We are to wait for the reaction in the nature for reasonable time. That is what is necessary. Up and down, up, down, up, down, so that is in extreme cases he comes out. Inevitable, change is inevitable here, Satya, Tretā, Dvāpara, Kali. The very nature of the time and space, in this way it is set by the nature.

As far as happiness derived from sense enjoyment is concerned, it can be obtained automatically in course of time, just as in course of time we obtain miseries even though we do not desire them.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.18]

It is turning, and the nature, good, bad, good, bad, good, bad, in this way it is adjusted. So you need not attempt for any pleasure, as you do not attempt for sorrow, misery. Misery comes of its own accord to you, so happiness will also come of its own accord to you. You need not take any trouble to earn happiness. It is there, adjusted, good, bad, good, bad, good, bad, in this way, action reaction, action reaction. In this way it is adjusted. That is the very nature of things. So you won't be mindful for this thing, good, bad. But you must be all attentive to something else, the third thing. What is that thing? Tasyaiva hetoḥ prayateta kovido, na labhyate yad bhramatām upary adhaḥ, tal labhyate duḥkhavad anyataḥ, to discover your own nature. The gems are covered there, jewels are covered there. This is not a plane to give your attention for any real benefit. Dive deep into the internal world and there you'll find most valuable, more and more valuable things. That is the tenor of the discourse of Mahāprabhu and Rāya Rāmānanda. Go deeper, go deeper, go deeper, deeper. Dive deep within you. There you will also find so many assistants, the sādhus there you'll find.

Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Long journey, long journey to the infinite, so many happenings may come on the way, so we must not be dejected here. We are also a member of the infinite world, a particle though we are, but the nature of infinite with us also. So we must not be discouraged by the finite waves of good, bad, calculation, false calculation. After all this is māyā, it's measurable. Nothing on this surface has any infinite value. So we must not be, must not waste our time making us busy with the finite character of the world. Try to come in the consideration, enter the consideration of the infinite, eternal, of infinite prospect. We must draw our attention towards that, and neglecting the present intimacy with the finite aspect of the world, the superficial.

From non-existence to existence, eternity, that is from mortality to eternity, then from darkness to light, and from misery to ecstasy.
